ROXANA SHOOTING UNDER PROBE

ORGANIZATION TO WORK FOR AMENDMENTS

Bar of State Asked To Support Judiciary Reform

NO ADDITIONAL EXPENSE NEEDED

Proposed Measures To Be Analyzed And Explained

(By The Associated Press.)

AUSTIN, June 20.—The business of explaining to the voters of Texas the provisions and aims of the four proposed amendments to the state constitution awaiting popular vote August 1 was begun here today by a steering committee of the state organization supporting the amendments.

A thorough analysis of the higher court amendment was the first move of the active campaign to carry all four. It was addressed to the "bar of the state, invoking aid of the county associations and members" in furthering the adoption of the amendment by the people.

Under the judiciary amendment, the Supreme court could be made a full nine-member body, the court of criminal appeals could be made five members, while civil appeals courts would be limited to 12 in number with a limit of 36 judges for all. The Supreme court would be authorized to transfer district judges to relieve crowded dockets.

No New Judges

No new judges would be necessary and no additional expense would be involved. In increasing the higher court memberships, the present members of the commissions of appeals merely would be advanced to the status of a full fledged justice.

The amendment is designed to speed up court work and effect economy of operation.

The statement analyzing it was signed by W. A. Keeling, Austin, former attorney general, general chairman of the state organization, Hugh R. Robertson, San Antonio; G. N. Harrison, Brownwood; Will G. Barber, San Marcos, and W. B. Bates of Houston, it follows:

"The amendment provides for a supreme court of no more than nine judges, instead of a supreme court of three judges and commissions of appeal of six judges. In our judgement, such a court of nine members would be no more expensive than at the present system; will add to the dignity and importance of the membership as a whole, and, no doubt, make available for service upon the bench of distinguished members of the bar of Texas who would not be attracted by the judicial position in the supreme court without equality in importance with the present ruling membership.

More Efficiency

"Such a court of nine members will function more efficiently than a court of three and two commissions of three members each, and the enlarged court will render better service. Decisions would be more authoritative in recognizing existing precedents, establishing new precedents, and probably avoiding conflict which is made to appear by reason of the adoption of an opinion, perhaps not sound law, or in accordance with other decisions, because of the correct disposition of the case made by the judges passing thereon.

"Should the amendment be adopted, an appeal direct to the Supreme Court can be had from a decision by a trial court holding a statute void. This decision will relieve courts of civil appeals of much unnecessary labor, and avoid wholly unnecessary delay in the court, because such a case must finally reach the Supreme Court.

"If the amendment prevails the Supreme court will remain open at all times and its present enforced vacation of more than three months would be abrogated.

"If the amendment is adopted the (See AMENDMENTS—P. 4, Col. 3)

France Italy Are Not Represented At Meeting

(By The Associated Press.)

GENEVA, June 20.—Extension of the 5-5-3 principle in naval strength to cruisers, destroyers and submarines by the United States, Great Britain and Japan was proposed today to the three-power naval limitation conference by the American legation.

Opening the conference proposed by President Coolidge, a proposal was made by Ambassador Gibson, chairman. He expressed regret that France and Italy were not active participants in the conference and urged Japan, Great Britain with the United States to assume all responsibility for initiating further naval limitation.

GENEVA, June 20. (AP)—Reduction in size of battle ships of the future from the present limit of 35,000 tons to under 30,000 tons was recommended by W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty, Great Britain's representative at the naval conference.

He thus opened matters which had been settled by the Washington conference.

LIKE TRUCK TESTS

The new fire truck which pumped water to supply the needs of the city for 14 hours Friday night and Saturday, threw in that time approximately 400 gallons a minute or a total of 236,000 gallons. The truck was stopped twice the last time, being eight hours and 45 minutes before the completion of the work.

This was considered an excellent test for the new truck and members of the fire department are well pleased with the work.

J. A. Parker Gives Up To Officers At White Deer

While the bullet-ridden body of Charlie Blair, 53 years old, lies in the G. C. Malone undertaking parlor here, the Carson county grand jury which convened today is investigating the circumstances which led J. A. Parker to shoot the man late Sunday afternoon in Roxana.

Parker went to White Deer soon after the shooting and surrendered to a deputy, then he refused to make further statements than that he had killed Blair. He was taken to jail at Panhandle, but no charges had been filed early this afternoon.

Blair and Mrs. Parker are said to have been sitting in a car at a Roxana filling station when Parker came up and began shooting with a pistol. Blair was struck in the arm and left lung. The latter injury caused his death before he could be given emergency treatment. He is a driller, but the details of his relatives are not yet known and the body is being held pending the outcome of the investigation.

Parker is about 26 years old, and is the owner of a machine shop in Roxana.

Mrs. Parker is said to have been slightly injured by one of the bullets intended for Blair.

COMMON SENSE IS APPLIED TO RANCH

C. C. French, well known industrial agent for the Fort Worth Stockyards company, recently in an interview pointed out the advantages of co-operative marketing of livestock.

He called attention to an Eastland county community which organized to cut out middle men's profits and to learn more about livestock marketing.

Carload lots of animals were made up, and a member of the organization personally accompanied the stock. After seeing the animals sold in the best manner, the representative studied the market and ascertained the demands of the period.

This is said to be the only organization of the kind in Texas. As Col. French says, "Such a body in every community would mean a great deal to the farmers, as well as to the livestock industry. The industry cannot thrive unless the farmer and rancher thrive with it—and co-operative marketing has certainly proved a success in this Eastland county community."

THIS MAN KIMES CAN BE CAUGHT

Mat Kimes, with the avowed intention of bettering—in his fashion—the record of the James brothers, could hardly wish better publicity than he is now getting.

He has become something of a mystery—this youth with his daring and luck. An ordinary boy of 21 years of age would not long be at liberty, but Kimes seems to have created a reputation which protects him by scaring many of those who are able to recognize him.

He will be caught, of course but that day should be hastened in the interest of law enforcement. It is not good for the morals of would-be offenders to see the law so long defied. While a wholesale man hunt would be undignified, in a way, on the part of officers, yet when a bandit becomes a menace to the entire Southwest something should be done about it.

The state of Oklahoma has three regular officers and nine special officers spending full time on Kimes' trail. Furthermore the offers aggregating $50,000 for the robber dead or alive will not add to his safety. The luck of young Kimes will fail him one of

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — No one desires to mingle a sour note with the echo of Lindbergh's reception here, but unless Congress has prohibited it in special session overnight, it is no crime to chronicle the interesting and the amusing.

Young Mr. Lindbergh had failed to capitalize or commercialize his great feat, but as he stepped onto American soil he found that he was almost as lonely in this respect as when he flew to Paris.

The fact that Postoffice Department and the War Department stretched a point to increase revenues and recruiting respectively is nothing to become indignant about, but Lindbergh's own attitude toward personal gain is in contrast. Everyone had something to gain but him.

The story of how Lindbergh's father was bludgeoned politically by the reactionary leaders has several times been told. They descended to such tricks as calling him "Von Lindenberg" and assailed his patriotism.

Yet all such reactionaries crashed into the grand rush to give young Lindbergh the glad hand. The list of such men prominent in the reception, who wouldn't have spoken to Lindbergh's admirable father, was rather long. What young Lindbergh thought of all this would be interesting to know. Sons often become more progressive than their fathers, but never more conservative.

When Lindbergh arrived, less than half of the modest $75,000 fund which Washington decided to raise for the occasion had been collected. But the 50,000 to 100,000 visitors here on Lindbergh day found these days, and his name will be a memory, not a threat.

that business folk of the capital had apparently undertaken to raise a hundred times as much from both tourists and natives. Virtually every saleable commodity had borne the name of Lindbergh all week long.

Clothiers, telegraph companies, railroads, hotels, jewelers, hot dog magnates, fountain pen makers, restaurants, automobile salesmen — these and many more made money out of the youth who himself had refused to commercialize his heroism.

TWINKLES

Driving in mud without chains gives the land lubbers a helpless sensation, but wonder what the aviator feels like in an air pocket.

Women's greatest accomplishment is not bringing up themselves, but in bringing up others.

Lindbergh ate little food on his flight, and if he had even chewed gum the big advertisers would have named the brand by this time.

Texas, biggest of states, is not as inconvenient as some Easterners would have their people believe. Every region of the state soon will have natural gas available for fuel.

"We use biscuit cutter methods," says Dr. Crane, "in making men." Yes, and some of the well-cut ones are half baked.

Speaking of gold digging, advertising skillfully done is the best digger there is. But the ads should be newsy, dignified and sincere.

PRESS FORUM

ATTRIBUTIVE

Pampa Daily News: Farmers with a penchant for figures are startled to find that some years the hired man had the better job. Much of the trend toward labor-saving devices may be attributed to this cause.

If the farmer has only discovered this late in the game that quite frequently the hired man has the best end of the deal, he is arriving late at a conclusion that the employing class as a whole long ago realized. It is not true that it is better to work for wages than to operate a business or an enterprise as the owner, but in spots it is a fact, and those spots occur with alarming frequency in periods of depression, whether that be industrial or agricultural. When these times arrive, as they have always done and we hope they will not always do, the man whose only concern is the task of stretching his weekly pay envelope over the sometimes resulting high prices of living commodities has no such mental worries as becloud the fellow who has to supply that weekly envelope and finance his own business. Admittedly the problem becomes equally acute for the hired man, if the boss goes to the wall and the status of owner and employee ceases to exist, but more and more it becomes evident that stabilized employing forces endeavor not to cut down employment and even if possible, not to reduce pay. In these circumstances the boss continues to shoulder his own worries and the hired hand's. The greatest trouble between capital and labor exists in inability to get them together on the common ground of economic conditions. The hired hand who does not have to struggle with the problem of equipment and investment balanced against a falling market has always seen the reason for an increase in of wages in periods of prosperity, but not of decrease in the corresponding times of depression. The farmer is no exception to the employing rules, especially in view of a slump in agricultural prices of recent years. Still there is no reason for the agriculturist brought up against the startling revelation of his own figures to decide to give up running his own farm and become an employe. There is still a living on the farm, especially for the diversified farmer. What the farmer should do is to remember the economic facts he has acquired in times of depression for thoughtful and constructive application in periods of prosperity.—State Press in Dallas News.

Texans Break Losing Streak In Defeating Omaha

(By The Associated Press.) OMAHA, June 20.—The Amarillo Texans broke into the win column here yesterday, taking the second game of a double-header.

The scores were 2 to 6 and 4 to 3. Morgan was beaten in the first game, being taken out in the second inning in favor of Clark, whom Sissell replaced in the third. Sissell, newcomer, let the locals down with four hits for the rest of the game.

Manager Kelly is now back in the line-up, as is Fiedler, who was injured recently.

Fuller Again Is Victor For Borger Over Pampa Grays

Lefty Fuller is still the Gray's jinx, as the result of yesterday's battle indicates. The Borger Pacers took a 6 to 3 victory.

It was however, one of the best exhibitions of ball the Grays have dish up this year, and Patterson pitched winning ball. Weeks had his customary errors at the wrong time and it was good-bye ball game for the local boys.

Gober was the shining light at bat, with two singles, a walk, and an out. The boys just can't hit Fuller and for no good reason at all, it seems. When it came to fielding, Shaw and Hunter gave an exhibition of fly gathering that has never been beaten in these parts, oldtimers say. Both made sensational catches of balls that were labeled for extra base blows.

Rowe played a nice game in the garden having 5 putouts to his credit. The Pampa outfield had 14 of the 24 put-outs.

Narrin, the Pacer catcher, had the three singles, Gober's error and an out. In the second Borger was the game when Weeks made two errors in a row, letting in two runs after Narrin and Fuller had singled.

The hitting was light. Borger got six hits to Pampa's five. Both pitchers were right, and the diminutive Patterson had the Pacers popping flies, nineteen of them going out by the sky route. Fuller had eight strikeouts to his credit and Patterson one.

Batteries: Borger—Fuller and Narrin; Pampa—Patterson and Clayton.

Oilers Surprise Claude, Winning By Score of 7-2

The Pampa Oilers took the fast Claude nine into camp yesterday on the home lot and handed them a 7 to 2 trimming. It was a better local club than the one that lost in the small town three weeks ago.

Voss for the Oilers pitched nice ball, allowing only 8 well scattered hits, while his teammates garnered 14 singles off Pegram, who was such a puzzle to them in Claude.

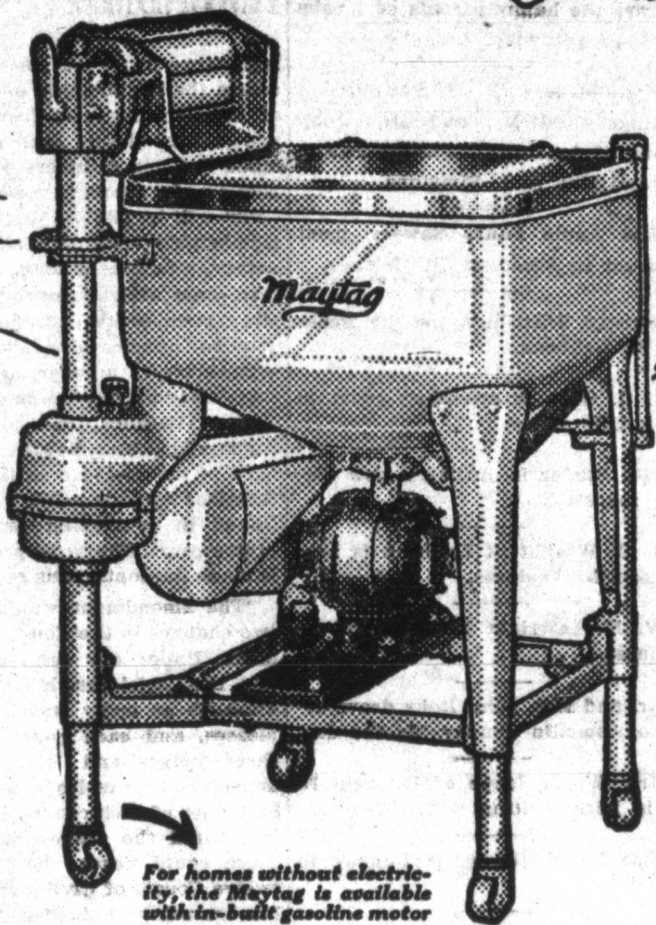

When it came to hitting, Ray had the honors undivided, getting four safe singles, one a double on four trips to bat. Sherrad and Hearndon had their usual good day at bat. Thompson and McNamara played well in the field.

Pegram still had some of the boys swinging at his "hop ball", getting 11 strikeouts to Voss' five. Christian and Rutherford were the most valuable men on the Claude line-up. They came here expecting a neasy time, but the Oilers sprung a surprise.

The Oilers will play the Borger Oilers Thursday afternoon at the home park. Borger oil companies have a fast team and will provide stiff opposition for the locals. Batteries: Claude, Pegram and Collins; Pampa Oilers, Voss and Sherrad. Time of game 1:23.

legislature may, at its option, increase the membership of the Courts of Criminal Appeals from three to five judges. Should such increase be made the two members of the Commission of Appeals now assisting that Court will be eligible for full fledged membership with equal power and authority to render final decisions of that court of last resort, and thereafter membership of the Court of Criminal Appeals cannot be increased beyond five in number, and no additional expense will be created by the change. Reasons for abolishing the commissions and elevating the standard of membership in the Court of Criminal Appeals are the same mentioned in connection with the Supreme court. The same provision also is made for continuous session.

The amendment would make but two changes in the Court of Civil Appeals. Under our present Constitution, the Legislature has the power to establish as many such courts as it pleases, and each court must have three judges and no more. The amendment provides a maximum of 36 judges of such courts. Consequently, should the amendment prevail there could never be more than twelve Courts of Civil Appeals of not less than three judges each. The multiplication of Courts of Civil Appeals would be avoided, and this would make for a limitation of expense rather than increased expenditures for the judiciary system.

The amendment would make only one new provision with reference to the District Courts. Authority would be granted the Supreme Court, under such regulations as the Legislature may prescribe to transfer district judges of the state out of and beyond their districts where congestion of business requires. This provision doubtless would result in the eliminating the creation of additional judicial districts. Litigants are primarily interested in the prompt disposition of their cases and there is no reason why a district judge not busy on his own district should not be dispatched for service in some other district. A district judge unable to promptly dispose of the business on his own docket should welcome such assistance.

The amendment does not provide any court of its constitutional status; does not take from any court its constitutional jurisdiction, does not increase the number of judges in the state, but is likely to prevent increases in the number thereof and effect a saving to the taxpayers of the State.
