'OUT OF MUD' SLOGAN IN THE BOND ELECTION

McLean Asks Pampa For Big Affirmative Majority

RURAL ROADS TO BE HELPED

Regular County Funds Would Still Be Available

"Gray County Out of the Mud" is the slogan of road bond issue enthusiasts this week.

The election of next Wednesday will give another opportunity for county people to make use of the $14,000,000 or more of property valuations to construct good roads.

Based upon this large figure, the assessments in taxes to retire the bond issue over a long period will not be great, and as the valuation increases the tax rate may be lowered, it is pointed out.

There are in the county 92 miles of state-designated highways—22 miles on the Postal highway, 22 miles on the Pampa-Jericho-Clarendon route, 28 miles on the Fort Elliot highway, and 14 miles along the Southwest trail.

The State and the Federal government will give aid on the construction of good roads along the designated highways, matching the amount the county spends. The bond issue will also build and maintain lateral roads from the interior of the county. The regular county road funds, which on account of the oil development will be large, may still be used for rural roads in various parts of the county.

Warrants may be issued from time to time to build local roads, construct bridges over the North Fork near Lefors and over the McClellan creek north of McLean.

Voting of the bond issue will quickly lead to the development of a road program connecting every part of the county with the main highways and making every community a desirable place in which to live.

Pampa's vote is expected to be the deciding one, since the population of the county is concentrated here and this city's failure to cast a large affirmative vote would be very disappointing to the committees which are organizing to promote the bond issue. The committee has letters from McLean telling of the campaign opening there, and urging Pampa voters to cast a heavy majority for the bonds. A two-thirds majority is necessary for passage.

Twenty Cities To Be Represented In Congress of Nations

WICHITA FALLS, March 23.—More than 20 cities in West Texas are planning to be in Wichita Falls for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention prepared to represent some foreign nation and to carry out the idea of the Congress of Nations. Advances to this effect have been received by the convention department of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce. A number of other cities or towns are expected to come to represent some foreign nations and to dress in correct costumes. This will make the parade, it is believed, "one of the most colorful of the kind ever held in the United States."

Some of the cities which have agreed to send their representatives in costumes of some foreign country are as follows: Paducah, Olton, Spur, Amarillo, Olney, Abernathy, Lubbock, Turkey, Vernon, Waco, Chamrock, Chillicothe, Haskell, Stamford, Crowell, Memphis, Cisco, Seymour, Graham, Breckenridge, Childress, Plainview, Fort Worth, Ranger, Sweetwater and Abilene.

Twenty-Five Men Working Out For The Pampa Team

Baseball got under way in earnest yesterday afternoon when 25 aspirants for places on the team had their initial workouts. Batting practice was the order of the day, and by the way the boys pounded the pill it appears some heavy hitting is going to be seen this season.

Manager Gober is very enthusiastic about the number turning out, and expects to have a job on his hands choosing a regular team. The infield will be scraped and graded and infield practice will commence held daily at 5 p. m. and anyone wanting a chance to show his wares should report.

Long and Varied Program Arranged By The C. of C.

The numbers will include a piano solo by Miss Nina Cliff, song and dance by Miss Lucille Moody and George Heinbockle; a duet by Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Stokley; saxophone solo by Laverne Lavender; dance by Ed Beville; solo by Mr. Stocking; reading by Mrs. Morton, and duet by Mrs. A. H. Doucette and E. E. Fisher. Special numbers will be given by a troupe from the Grand theatre.

SHANGHAI IS STILL UNRULY AFTER RIOTS

DEMONSTRATION STAGED TODAY

World Revolution Is Planned, Says General Hsi

(By The Associated Press.)
SHANGHAI, March 23.—A night of comparative quiet after two days and nights of chaos and disorder was followed today by a resumption of firing in the northern part of Shanghai, not far from the border of the international settlement, where a small remnant of northern troops is still holding out.

Nevertheless, the general situation in and around Cuymore is more peaceful than at any time since the vanguard of the southern armies marched into Shanghai Monday.

American troops suffered their first casualty last night when a Marine patrolling the customs jetty was slightly wounded by a bullet.

SHANGHAI, March 23.—Shanghai has become the base for world revolution, says a manifesto issued today by General Pal Teung Hsi, Cantonese commander. He continues by stating that foreigners must not be attacked or their property destroyed. For 80 years manifestos have stated that imperialists are under the protection of unequal treaties, which, according to Hsi, has reduced China to a state of vassalage. Foreign imperialists have checked the development of Chinese education and industries, according to the manifesto.

The statement continues by stating that special privileges have been secured but that the Chinese are awakening and Shanghai will become a strong base for Chinese nationalism.

SHANGHAI, March 23.—An armed mob numbering approximately 500 persons made a demonstration today before the British posts guarding the boundary of international settlement. The demonstrators fired their rifles into the air, but the troops did not fire. The mob finally withdrew.

Magnolia Starts Carbon Plant, Employing Nearly 100 Men and Is Enlarging Gasoline Plant Lines

Excavations and general foundation work began yesterday on the Magnolia Petroleum company's carbon black plant about 4 miles southeast of Pampa.

The construction of this plant will provide employment for about 100 men during the next two months, and a smaller number for a greater time.

A two-unit plant is being constructed at this time. Seventy-two buildings, each 118 feet long, are being erected for the burners. The consumption will likely be 15,000,000 feet daily or more of gas from the south Pampa oil and gas pool.

The Magnolia company is completing its gasoline plant on the Meriton lease 5 1-2 miles southeast of Pampa, and is starting a 10-inch pipe line into the field. A smaller line is in use now, and easthead gasoline has been made for several weeks. The gasoline is of such high gravity that it is sent to Beaumont for blending before being sold commercially.

Six big Bessemer engines of 165 horse power each are housed in the long, neatly kept power room of the plant, and these may be heard in Pampa on any still day. The cost of the plant is about $350,000.

Leopold Well Is Looking Good; No Production Yet

Erroneous reports about the Leopold well 3 1-2 miles north of Pampa caused many people to visit the test today.

Although the showing is very good there was no oil in the hole at noon—except a little on the bit—and the gas was negligible.

Drilled to 3,350 feet, the test is about 90 feet below sea level. The elevation is 667 feet. Drillers topped the hole at 2,580 feet.

Preparations were under way early this afternoon to drill in the test. It was hoped to get good production from the gray, sandy lime which the bit has penetrated.

(By The Associated Press.)

L. J. Hoover, cafe owner, was arrested. The shooting followed a quarrel which started when Phillips stumbled over a menu sign in front of Hoover's cafe.

BETTER HOMES

It is somewhat strange that so common a thing as the home should be a dull, comfortless place in a mechanical sense, yet such is the case in a majority of American residences even today. With conveniences like electric lights, gas, hot and cold water, bath rooms, and built-in features, the wealthy classes have for several years been fortunate, but the American bungalow with these features is comparatively new.

The first American Homes congress was held recently in Des Moines, where home-builders, home-makers, and home-advisers gathered from all parts of the country. This meeting came to two major conclusions: 1. That the basis of American democracy is religion. 2. That proper companionship of parents and children in a home all are proud of is the basis of true religious worship. Breaking down of home companionship has deeply affected religion.

A beautiful, convenient residence is no guarantor of a happy home, but the absence of comforts may cause entertainment and pleasure to be sought elsewhere. This is particularly true of the rural home. Home building is a science, especially as it concerns the mother. Running water in the rural kitchen is not often enough found. The garage is too often more convenient than the house.

Women themselves are partly to be blamed, for their failure to insist upon proper equipment has resulted in a lack of study of home economics and mechanics. Proper grouping of kitchen furniture, choice of proper heights for chairs and tables, and selection of a few dependable utensils would help much in lightening kitchen work in the average rural home. The better city homes have skilled architects and home furnishers plan well, but not so in the country in most cases.

But the model of today is as wonderful as finely designed factory, and it is not too expensive. Better residences will help to make American home life desirable. Of course it is necessary to live in any kind of home, as Guest ably said in the famous poem. But living is rather dull in a hovel.

A science service informs us that a new device operated by clock work will stir the contents of cooking utensils without attention. To many this will seem a useless device for the lazy, yet within the next few years new wonders in the realm of the home will come to pass. In some countries the bath is an event—Spain, for instance—but in America only refinements in machinery or motor power can afford a thrill.

Ah, Now This Is a Fish of Another Color

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — Mexico and China now present the two most vital situations in the purview of the State Department.

It may be said that the two most important bureaus in the State Department at this moment are the Division of Mexican affairs and the Division of Far Eastern affairs.

The theory presumably is that the men manning these divisions should know China and the Mexicans, respectively. From that standpoint, the qualifications of the personnel of the Far Eastern division seem very high. The experience of the personnel in the Mexican division, on the other hand, is rather surprising as gleaned from the records.

Claim Superiority. This series of articles is pretty concerned with the bitter incipient revolt of members of the consular service against alleged discrimination in favor of wealth and socially prominent members of the diplomatic branch, in violation of the spirit of the Rogers Act. The consular men claim that they have officers eminently better fitted for important posts than the diplomatic officers, who are getting a proportionate majority of them.

When the department wants an expert on a foreign country, it has to come to the consular service," they say. "The diplomatic men specialize in tea-slinging and that's why they say we don't make good diplomats. We do the work."

Then, as proof, they point to the Mexican and Far Eastern divisions.

The head of the Mexican division is Franklin Mott Gunther, a $9,000 a year Class I man of means. Gunther has served in Paris, Lisbon, Rio de Janeiro, Christiania, London, the Hague and Rome. He has never been in Mexico. Last year he is said to have spent several months touring Europe while the Mexican crisis heated up.

Everywhere But Mexico. The assistant chief of the division is Richard Cornelius Tania, a remarkable character whose record credits him with 17 years as a clerk, letter carrier and stenographer. He was born in Holland and rose from a clerkship in the department to his present high post. But he has never been in Mexico and doesn't know the country.

Last on the list—at $3,560 a year—is Major Edward Prindie Lowrey, the only representative of the consular service in this division. Consular men say he does all the work for his high-salaried superiors. He was a vice consul in Havana in 1921, and in 1922 was sent to Mexico, where he became a consul in 1925. He is said to know Mexico from top to bottom and late in 1926 the powers that be in the department pulled him back here to help out.

A Real Expert. Turning to the Far Eastern division, one finds Nelson T. Johnson to be its chief at $8,000. Johnson learned the Chinese language more than 20 years ago and became a student interpreter in China, where he served in the consular service for 18 years. He was brought back as an expert assistant at the Washington Arms conference.

The assistant chief is John K. Caldwell, at $7,000 a year. Caldwell became a student interpreter in Japan 21 years ago and was a consular officer in Yokohama, Dainy, Vladivostok, Kobe, Tokyo and Chita. He knows his Japan as well as Johnson knows his China.

Willis Peck, another $7,000 man in the division, was instructor to the governor of Chihli province in 1906-08. He was born in China and served with the consular service in Peking, Tsintau, Hankow, Shanghai and Tientsin until 1924, when he was brought into the division.

With the exception of one bed, the Hill crest hospital is full at the present time. There are four special nurses in attendance on patients.

Mr. A. Moore, a lineman of the Bell Telephone company had his foot crushed and broken when a pole fell.

Miss Estelle Caraway, operated on last week, underwent a major operation Tuesday morning and is doing nicely.

TWINKLES

Truth will out: Mrs. Catt is for trousers for women for the same reason she advocates long skirts.

This gasoline price-cut will not last, folks—we will buy a flivver and then the price is sure to go up.

Scribes can now quote Texas politicians at will, not that they really care to, however.

We begin to suspect some of these Chinese are going to confess they have been reading about Herrin, Ill., in our yellow journals.

He who will not vote for good roads probably does not intend to use the old ones.

Grape Fruit From Rio Grande Valley On British Markets

HOUSTON, March 22.—Rio Grande Valley grapefruit growers are entering the British markets with the aid of cotton men.

Every once in a while Houston cotton shippers have sent to European connections samples of Texas grapefruit. Englishmen have liked them so well that the British steamship Nessian of the Leyland Line sailed from Houston carrying fifty cases to Liverpool and Manchester for English consumption.

Not that it has anything to do with the grapefruit, but as a matter of common interest, the agents of the ships here noted that she carried three cases of oil well machinery to the British ports for trans-shipment to Calcutta, India.

Other cargo included 12,000 bales of cotton, 1,493 bags of cottonseed meal, 1,590 pockets of rice, and 888 pieces of lumber.

WHEN I WAS TWENTY-ONE
BY JOSEPH KAYE

At 21—George Harvey was a Reporter.

WHEN I reached my eighteenth birthday my native state of Vermont was not big enough, I needed more room. I wanted to educate a whole lot of people at once, so I went to the Springfield Republican. I had collected enough money in some way to buy my ticket and financed my first enterprise by borrowing the entire legacy bequeathed by my grandmother to my sister, amounting to ten dollars. With that store of capital I ventured forth and in due course of time I reached the office of Samuel Bowles, the younger.

"The first question for consideration that arose related to compensation for services, presumably to be rendered. He asked me politely, but firmly, how much I expected, I had my dreams of opulence due to arrive at that time, but when I looked upon that impassive face and reflected that perhaps after all I was not absolutely essential to the successful continuance of the Republican my courage cozed out and from the $15 a week that I had fondly anticipated spending I got down to ten dollars. He said six was about right. To that I demurred and we discussed the subject thoroughly. Finally we compromised on $5.

"I passed my twenty-first birthday as a reporter, serving after the Springfield Republican, the Chicago News and the New York World in turn.—G. B. M. Harvey."

TODAY:—George Harvey graduated from his newspaper work and after becoming a distinguished magazine editor and political writer, resigned, and for some time served as ambassador to Great Britain.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THE HONEYMOON

WOULD you not be indignant if for the origin of that divine habit, the honeymoon, I could give you nothing more romantic than the theory that it dates back to the time when a prospective husband captured his woman and dragged her by the hair to his cave, where, to prevent her from appealing to her relatives for release, he kept her for a time in seclusion?

Likewise, wouldn't you hate me, hopeful girls, and you, sanguine youths, scoff at me, were I to tell you that because love has been likened to the moon, which begins to wane when at its full, the married couple's period of mutual affection is called the "honeymoon"?

Both theories have been advanced for the origin of the custom and its name. The fact is, however, that the honeymoon is traced back directly to an ancient practice of the Teutons by which newly wedded couples drank mead or hydromel (honey wine) for thirty days after their marriage—the "honey month," or "honeymoon."

To the glory of the honeymoon it is said that it was to this custom that Attila, the cruel and invincible king of the Huns, succumbed. It is said that his death was caused by drinking too much on his wedding night.

TYPEWRITING CONTEST FOR SCHOOLS ANNOUNCED

CANYON, March 23.—The State Inter-Scholastic league is gradually widening its activities so that students of high schools who have points of strength in any line can find contests.

This year district number one of the Inter-Scholastic league which composes 23 counties will have its first typewriting contest. The date for this contest has not been definitely fixed, but Director General W. E. Lockhart of Canyon believes that the contest will take place at the time of the general meet, April 22 and 23. All high schools having affiliated units in typewriting are eligible to compete. A large number of Panhandle schools have strong commercial departments and it is expected that a large number of typists will enter this contest.

Canyon is making preparation to care for more than 100 high school students during the district meet.

Senator Smith W. Brookhart says that most of the troubles of the farmer are due to the deflation policy of the federal reserve system.

Rural Club Sets Record In Contests And Other Work

(By The Associated Press.)

COLLEGE STATION, March 23.—Here's what a lot of women did: Their home demonstration club in Armstrong county entered a dress contest and won first prize in the county and then paid $14 on expenses for their winner to go to the Agricultural and Mechanical college short course. They gave eight demonstrations during the year and one vegetable contest and their exhibit at the Tri-State fair at Amarillo won first place.

"They've paid an indebtedness of $138.75 on the piano at the church," writes Etta Mullican to the extension department of the college, "and they've sent a miscellaneous box to the Orphan's Home at Amarillo and have sent flowers to the sick."

"Besides this they did their regular club canning, sewing and food work as well as all other clubs."

The record was made by the Fairview Busy Bees who also found time to entertain all the other country clubs and gave four community dinners to their husbands.

THE ASTERS AND TREES

"W H E R E all fond of the autumn," said the Red-Stalked or Purple-Stemmed Aster, "though some of us stay around longer than others of us if that is the correct way for me to speak."

"I am well known and well liked, I believe. My name is as it is because my stem is reddish. There are a number of flowers on various little stems from my one big stem and I'm of a violet color or pale lavender color."

"We have thin leaves which aren't very big, quite different from the leaves of our cousin, Large-Leaved Aster."

"Those cousins, as you can guess, have large leaves. Their name tells you that."

"Ah, yes," said Billie Brownie, "I do

"Oh, Do Tell Me the Secret," said Billie Brownie.

know that bit of information now that I have seen those cousins of yours."

Then Billie Brownie went and called on Late Purple Aster.

The Late Purple Asters were larger flowers, with long, thin petals and yellow centers.

"You see," they told Billie Brownie, "we're very fond of brilliant coloring, and the autumn is the time when the coloring is so wonderful."

"Of course, when we arrive in the middle of the summer the coloring is beautiful, for the harvest makes it so rich and lovely, and then the Golden-rod are about, and they are so splendidly gay and bright in appearance. "Then the Black-Eyed Susans are about, and all of the different Aster relatives are to be found in the different home spots."

"And from the middle of the summer on it seems to us as though the coloring grew more wonderful day after day, week after week."

"When the autumn is actually here, then it gets so that its beauty is beyond expression."

"We wondered how it could be so beautiful this year as, day after day, it did become more marvelous and the trees told us a secret and the shrubs and the vines said that the secret was one in which they shared, too."

"But they told me we could tell the secret to anyone really interested in Nature."

"And we can see that you are, Billie Brownie."

"Oh, do tell me the secret," said Billie Brownie. "It will give me so much pleasure to hear it."

"We asked the trees how it was that they grew lovelier each day and how it was that they could become so wonderful."

"It seemed to us that each day we could not see them any more beautiful, and yet they were more beautiful and we could tell that people felt the same way about them."

"People would say that the days were so wonderful that they could not describe them—that they had used up all their words."

"And the trees told us this: "Late Purple Asters, the trees said as they swayed in the breeze, 'we are Mother Nature's children, and we want to look our best for our mother before we take off our finery and go to sleep.'"

"We are so pleased that she is pleased that we go on each day trying to look better and better, each of us doing the same."

"We add a dash of color here or a dash of color there, and we just try to please her more and more and more. And, as we try to please her more and more and more, we keep improving ourselves and looking better and better."

"You know, this is the secret: When we receive praise which is deserved from one we so dearly love we do better and better and better."

"Praise only makes us want to show that we will not disappoint the one who thinks so well of us. We will be worthy of that praise."

"That was the secret the trees told us," the flowers ended.

And Billie Brownie thought it was a beautiful secret, but he was glad that all could hear the secret who were really interested in Nature. (Copyright.)

Coolidge Proclaims American Forest Week In Message That Outlines a Conservation Policy

The week of April 24-30 has been officially designated for nation-wide observance as "American Forest Week" by President Coolidge, in a proclamation just made public.

This year will mark the seventh annual observance of the week. President Harding in 1921 having issued the first proclamation which brought the Federal Government behind the movement. Of the numerous weeks observed in the country, this is the only one to which the Government of the United States has given recognition and support.

The President proclaimed the 1927 American Forest Week "in the belief that no other of our internal problems is of greater moment than the rehabilitation of our forests, now so hopefully begun but needing the strong support of our collective will and intelligence." He emphasized the importance of farm forestry as a means for lessening agricultural surpluses and meeting the problem of agricultural overproduction, and the resulting depression in the farming industry. Regarding the part forestry might play in farm relief the President said:

Suitable Timber Land. "One-fourth of our soil is better suited for timber-growing than anything else. I can not escape the conviction that our industrial and agricultural stability will be strengthened by bringing into full productive use this great empire of land. Although much progress has been made in public forestry and hopeful beginnings in private forestry, we still have a vast acreage of idle or semi-idle forest land, and another large aggregate of poor farm land that might more profitably grow timber instead of adding to the problem of agricultural overproduction."

Agriculture would find in timber growing a strong ally, the President said, providing markets for farm produce and for surplus labor.

American Forest Week this year will assume an international scope through the fact that Canada will observe forest week at the same time. Through the Department of State, the Mexican Government also has been invited to participate in this year's campaign for the protection, perpetuation and right use of the forests.

Many Fires Last Year

In making public the President's proclamation, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine pointed out that special significance is attached to the observance of the week in 1927 in view of the disastrous fire season through which the country passed last summer and of the need for bringing home to the people of the nation the necessity for adequate protection of the forests. Cooperation between the Federal Government and the States under the Clarke-McNary act has just got into full swing as well, he said, and 41 states and the territories of Hawaii and Porto Rico are now cooperating with the Government in the forest protection and reforestation activities for which the law provides. Thirty states have appointed Extension Foresters and are cooperating with the Government in assisting farmers in the handling of their woodlands.

The week will be directed by an American Forest week committee, of which Frank O. Lowden of Illinois is chairman. Nearly 100 organizations, representing a wide variety of interests, are cooperating, among them associations representing outdoor, wild life, and recreational interests, the lumber industry, consumers of forest products, labor, scientific, civic, and women's organizations, as well as the State and Federal Governments. The American Federation of Labor, the Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange, the American Legion, the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, the Boy Scouts, and Camp Fire Girls, the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, General Federation of Women's Clubs, Young Women's Christian Association, National Catholic Welfare Conference, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America are included among the cooperating organizations. Local Forest Week committees are being organized in every State.

Said the President—

The text of the President's proclamation follows, in part:

In accordance with the custom established by my predecessor, I have yearly proclaimed an American Forest Week. I do so again in the belief that no other of our internal problems is of greater moment than the rehabilitation of our forests, now so hopefully begun but needing the strong support of our collective will and intelligence. Through joint arrangement, Canada is observing forest week concurrently with us.

Rural Industry Help

Consider what blessings the use of this land for intensive forest culture would bring to our country. Our migratory forest industries would be stabilized and made permanent. Rural industry would be greatly strengthened and vitalized. Agriculture would find in silviculture a strong ally, providing markets for farm produce and for surplus labor. Our farms themselves contain nearly a third of our woodland—an enormous potential farm asset if handled for continuous timber crops. With widespread forest culture, new wealth would spring up for the support of roads, schools, and local government, and the rural regions would enjoy a larger share of the national prosperity. For some of our surplus capital now seeking investment abroad, new outlets would be found in forest production. Our people would then have an assured supply of timber and would see the hills and the waste places reclothed with forests for their pleasure and inspiration.

American Forest Week gives a useful opportunity for taking counsel on what can and should be done to bring these neglected and waiting lands into use. It also gives an opportunity for each citizen to consider his own responsibility in the common task. It is not enough that the Federal and State Governments have joined hands with the landowner in the first step toward forest rehabilitation, protection against fire. Every citizen whose thoughtless act may endanger the woods has the obligation of respecting the forest and guarding it from its worst enemy, fire.

Calls On All

Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, do hereby designate and set aside an American Forest Week the week beginning April 24 and ending April 30, in this year of 1927; and I do earnestly urge that during that week the thought of all citizens be directed to the need of preventing forest fires and to the measures necessary to the preservation and wise use of our forests. I recommend to the governors of the several states that they likewise designate this for special observance, and that where practicable and not in conflict with law or custom, Arbor Day be observed on some day of the same week. I urge that in each state special exercises be held in the schools and that the press and the general public give consideration to the forest needs of their respective commonwealths, to the adequacy of such legislation as may be on their sta-

SHE SPENDS MILLIONS AS STATE BUDGETER

TOPEKA, Kans.—Lucy Stoners take heed. Many women who manage only a family allowance refuse to use their husband's name, yet Mrs. C. W. Wetherton, who budgets the income of the whole state of Kansas, and annually directs the spending of more than 25,000,000 dollars, signs her husbands name to all financial documents. Her only way of asserting her individuality is to prefix "Mrs."

When the Kansas senate refused confirmation as budget director to Norton A. Turner, Mrs. Wetherton, the assistant, assumed all the duties of that office. She had formerly been assistant state auditor. In the last two years, Mrs. Wetherton has controlled a budget of 55,000,000 dollars.

KENNEDY ERRS, TURNS MISTAKES TO RECORDS

MADISON, Wis.—Kenneth R. Kennedy, amateur 440 yard champion, won a world's record through capitalizing a mistake. He matched his mark through capitalizing another.

Kennedy sprinted too soon in a Big Ten race in 1925 and felt his legs quitting, but finished somehow and won in the record time of 48 3-5 seconds. Soon after, at the amateur championships in Philadelphia, he chose a lane which made him run four yards extra, but discovered his error, took an early lead and matched his former mark.

Now he is convinced that any sort of success is won more handily by taking an early lead and holding it.

YANKS' OFFICE SHUT;

BRADENTON, Fla.—The Phillies have a young outfielder who might have been with the New York club if the Yankee's office had been open the day he called.

Dick Spaulding, who made an impressive semi-pro record, was advised by Bob Shawkey to call on the New York Americans for a trial. He did so, but the office was closed when he paid his visit. He then went back to his semi-pro outfit and later signed with the Philadelphia Nationals.

Hogs and Lambs Higher, Cattle Are Weaker In K. C.

KANSAS CITY STOCK YARDS, March 23.—The lamb market after showing an uneven trend last week has developed a 15 to 35 cent advance under an active trade. The supply was short of urgent needs. Hog prices touched the low point of the season late last week, but have rallied sharply. The lighter weights made the largest advance. Receipts were light and will continue so. Cattle receipts were larger than expected, but supply was evenly distributed to the various classes, giving a chance for broad demand to show. Prices ruled weak to 15 cents lower.

Receipts yesterday were 15,500 cattle, 7,000 hogs and 4,000 sheep, compared with 13,000 cattle, 6,000 hogs and 4,000 sheep a week ago, and 12,750 cattle, 9,175 hogs and 11,725 sheep a year ago.

Prices for fat steers were weak to 15 cents lower than last week's close and generally 40 to 60 cents under the extreme high point of the season recorded 10 days ago. The weakest point in the trade was at the outset and later there was a stronger undertone that proved sufficient to effect a good clearance. Because today's supply was unusually large there will be light runs the rest of the week. No steers with outstanding finish arrived today. Some choice steers sold at $11 to $11.50; good steers $10 to $11 and fairly good kinds $9 to $10. Southern meal and hull fed steers ought steady. Medium cows at $5.50 to $8 to $9.50. Cows and heifers were $6.50 predominated. Good heifers sold at $8.50 to $9.25. Veal calves were weak to 50 cents lower at $11 to $12.

Prices for stockers and feeders were slightly lower than last week's close and fully 50 cents under early last week. Receipts were fairly liberal. The lower price level increased and with the spring season here the outlet will continue broad.

Hog prices came in for an uneven advance of 10 to 25 cents. The light weight classes rallied the most and extreme heavy weights the least. Trade was active on all classes. Chicago had 45,000, compared with a total of 30,000 in Kansas City, St. Louis, St. Joseph and Omaha. Receipts here will continue light. The 140 to 170 pound hogs sold at $11.50 to $11.75; 170 to 230 pounds $11.10 to $11.50; 230 to 260 pounds $10.85 to $11.10; 260 to 300 pounds $10.60 to $11.85; packing sows $9.50 to $10; stags $9 to $10 and stock hogs and pigs $11.50 to $12.50.

Sheep and lambs were quoted 25 to 35 cents higher than late last week. Fed lambs in full fleece sold at $14.75 to $15.10. Some ewes at $9.75 made the top price for the season. Some shorn wethers sold at $8.85. Shorn lambs are quoted at $12.75 to $13.50, woolled yearlings $11.50 to $12.50 and wethers $10 to $10.50.

General conditions in the horse and mule trade remain unchanged at firm prices. Another special horse auction will be held Monday, March 26.

War In Balkans Is a Possibility

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, March 23.—European diplomacy today was engaged nervously in the task of averting trouble, perhaps war, in the Balkans, which it has been feared might arise ever since the conclusion of the treaty of Tirana between Italy and Albania.

The Italian protests to Belgrade against alleged military preparations aimed at Albania have drawn denials from the Jugo-Slav government by representatives both in Belgrade and Geneva. The Jugo-Slav government also has invited the military attaches of the powers to ascertain the truth of the Italian charges for themselves.

It was authoritatively stated that the British minister in Belgrade called at the Jugo-Slav foreign office today and advised Jugo-Slavia to act with greatest moderation in connection with the tension over Albania. In some quarters the suspicion has been advanced that Italy is seeking a pretext to satisfy her "Adriatic ambition."

SEEN About New York

NEW YORK, March 23.—The "landlady" of a Greenwich Village studio boasts a bathroom in a tree, built and fitted out by herself. She enters and leaves by a ladder, through a door which opens outward against the tree, which is in a rear courtyard. The trunk of the tree supports one wall of the bathroom, the wall of an eight-story building forms another wall and the upper part of the studio a third. The fourth wall, made of packing case boards, has a window. The branches shelter the tar-paper roof.

New York and its immediate environs has numerous residences of unusual or individual design, but one of the most unique is that perched on steel girders atop a hill on Riverside Drive. The house, a large affair, has the appearance of being built on stilts on the side of the hill.

It is so situated that it commands a birds-eye view of the Hudson at a bend of the river—one reason for the odd foundation—and there is no likelihood of the view being obstructed.

A cobweb growth of radio antenna covers the roofs of New York, providing the tenement sections with clothes lines and arguments.

Most tenement house clothes lines are fastened to pilleys at back windows, and most of them are far too short. Consequently harassed housewives welcomed the appearance of anywhere from a dozen to 100 wires upon each roof.

Radio fans protest hotly when they find wet clothes interfering with reception, but the women who do the washing see no reason for complaint. There is even a suspicion that some of them pick the antenna leading into flats nearest their own.

A ride on the several Elevated lines which parallel the north and south boundaries of attenuated Manhattan is a lesson in political economy and sociology. The Ninth avenue line follows the transatlantic docks, the Sixth avenue, after passing miles of apartments housing the great office-worker class, dives through the financial district, the Second and Third avenue lines tap the teeming East Side and the flats of the manual labor to the North.
