Pampa Harvesters Battle Sandies In Mud, Losing 26-0

BREAKS HELP TO RUN SCORE UP NEAR LAST

Team Makes a Good Showing, Despite Fumbling

FIRST DOWNS ARE 8 TO 5

Roberts is Pampa Star and Hudgins With Sand Storm

By STAFF CORRESPONDENT AMARILLO, Sept. 24.—A fighting Pampa eleven faced the heavy, fast Golden Sandstorm here this afternoon on a slippery field and fought the Amarilloans to two earned touchdowns. Harvester fumbles late in the game ran up the score against them, however, the final result being 26 to 0 in favor of the Sandies.

The score does not indicate the battle the Harvesters put up against the 32 Sandies who were used during the game. Hudgins, Amarillo halfback, scored the first touchdown by plunging 15 yards through right tackle in the first quarter. This came after three line plays and a long left end run, soon after play started.

Harvesters Tighten

The Harvesters tightened and held their own the rest of the quarter. The second period saw the Pampa boys plowing through the Sand Storm, and Roberts, fullback, was the chief offensive star. There was no scoring in this quarter.

In the third quarter Walker, Amarillo right halfback, plunged 2 yards through the line for a touchdown after line bucks had run the ball near the goal line. These two touchdowns, with extra points by place kicks, represented Amarillo's driving power.

The fourth quarter was a loose affair, with the Harvesters opening up their offensive, only to see the breaks go against them. First, Walstad fumbled and Doeblner recovered and ran 25 yards. A 20-yard run around left end took the ball across. A few minutes later Hudgins intercepted an attempted pass and dashed 40 yards for another counter. This ended the scoring. Neither try for goal in the fourth quarter was successful.

Amarillo's heavy backfield held the margin of victory. Hudgins was half of the Storm's fury, and Walker was sensational.

Pampa Line Strong

The Pampa line showed unusual early season form, and attracted undisguised commendation from the Amarillo fans. In the backfield, Roberts was the principal threat, although Walstad and Hardin showed

Soldiers Held In Girl's Death Finally Released

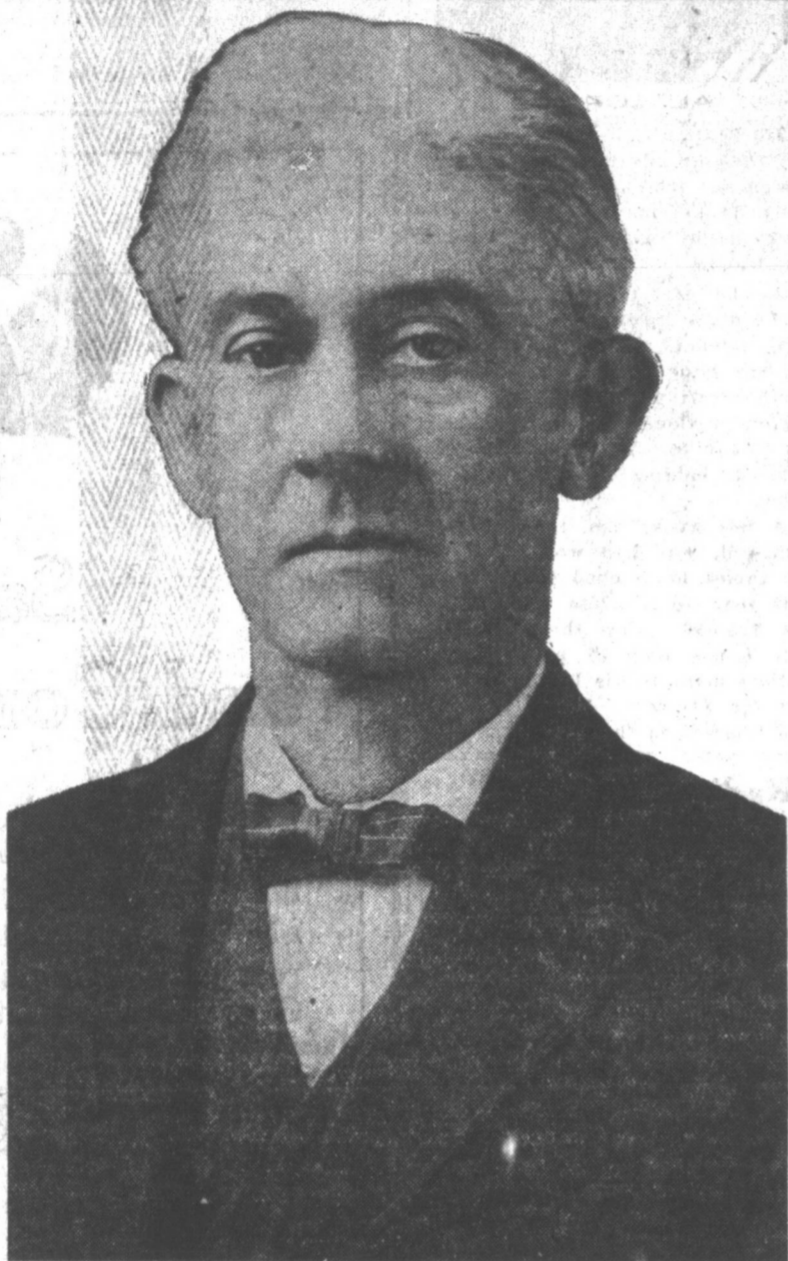

(By The Associated Press.)

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 24.—Secrets surrounding the slaying of an unidentified girl near Fredericksburg was more of a mystery today than ever due to failure of Fredericksburg citizens to identify several of the soldiers from here as suspicious characters seen near the scene of the slaying.

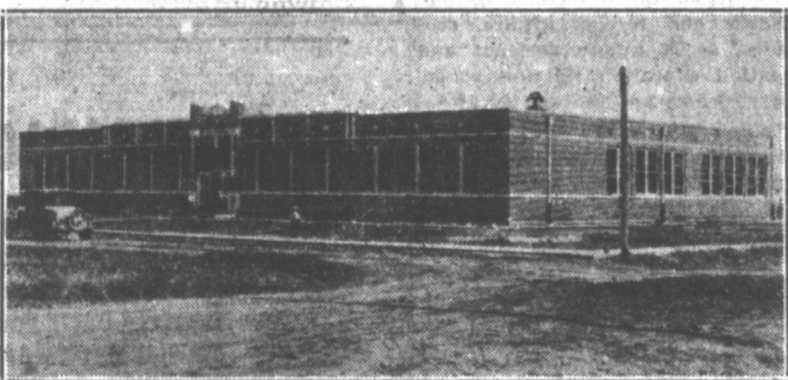

The soldiers held as suspects have been released.

AUSTIN, Sept. 24. (P)—Information believed by Ranger Captain Frank Hamer to partially identify the body of the girl found near Fredericksburg has been obtained by him, it was learned today. The Ranger would give no further details.

School Named For Him

JUDGE B. M. BAKER

Shown above is the fine new school plant just completed and named for B. M. Baker, jurist and legislator, who did much for education in Texas and Gray county.

Judge B. M. Baker Laid Basis of Texas School System as the Author of Original Legislation

Benjamin Moberly Baker of Canadian, for whom the new South Pampa ward school was recently named, was a noted Texas jurist and legislator.

He was born in Russell county, Alabama, on January 20, 1850, the son of Benjamin H. and Eliza (Greer) Baker. His father, a native of Georgia, became one of Alabama's noted lawyers, who served several terms in the state senate, was a member of the Alabama secession convention of 1861, and served in the war between the states as a lieutenant-colonel in the Sixth regiment of Alabama Infantry.

The son received his education in the schools of his native county. He came to Texas in 1869, studied law at Carthage, Panola county, under the preceptorship of Col. A. W. DeBerry and Judge Booty, the latter now of Tyler. He was admitted to the Texas bar in 1871, and in that year began the practice of his profession at moved to Decatur. In that year he was elected secretary of the state board of education and took up residence in Austin.

But while at Carthage he had thrice been elected to the House of Representatives, serving in the 15th, 16th, and 17th legislatures as the representative of Panola, Rusk, and Shelby counties. In the 16th session he was chairman of the important committee on finance.

When he assumed charge of the state's educational matters as secretary, public school affairs were in a chaotic condition. He framed a bill organizing the present system and creating an independent department for public school affairs, with a state superintendent. He influenced the passage of this bill, and thus secured for the people the beginning of the present efficient school system. He was appointed as the first superintendent, and when the office became elective, in 1884, he was returned to it for a term of two years, after which he voluntarily retired.

He settled at Canadian, Hemphill county, in 1887, and in 1890 was elected judge of the 31st judicial district. (See BAKER—Page 5, Column 3.)

GIRL BANDIT TO APPEAR IN TRIAL MONDAY

Rebecca Rogers Faces Arson Charge at Round Rock

ATTORNEYS TO BE PREPARED

2 Continuances Were Granted Previously in Case

(By The Associated Press.)

GEORGETOWN, Sept. 24.—When the trial of Rebecca Bradley Rogers, charged with arson at Round Rock, is called Monday in district court, the State will be ready to go ahead, Harry Dolan, prosecuting attorney, said today. Attorneys for Mrs. Bradley said sometime ago that they expected to be ready. Two continuances in the case have been granted previously.

Mrs. Rogers is charged with having burned a small house to attract attention while she contemplated bank robbery.

Nine Men Take Parachutes Safely In Eighteen Seconds

(By The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—Nine men with parachutes leaped today from an airplane over the flying field, and all landed safely.

The performance was arranged as a test of the rapidity with which an airship might be emptied in case of emergency, or for military purposes.

The last of the nine freed himself from the plane 18 seconds after the first had jumped.

German Aviator Continues Flight Toward America

(By The Associated Press.)

ANGORA, Turkey, Sept. 24.—Lieut. Otto Moennecke, German long distance aviator, hopped off today on the second leg of his flight from Cologne, Germany to America by the eastern route.

His immediate goal is Besra, Iraq, which he hoped to cover by this evening. The route is of 1,000 miles.

Explosion Friday Was Near Borger

Many Pampa residents were awakened about 11 o'clock Friday night by shaking of their houses.

The quake was caused by the detonation about 10 miles west of Borger of the Morrison Torpedo company's nitro-glycerine magazine. About 11,000 quarts exploded, tearing a great hole in the ground. The cause of the blast was undetermined last night.

Borger was shielded from the shock by two intervening canyons, but windows were broken in Oil City.

Gray County Land Brings High Figure

One of the biggest of recent oil land deals was announced here Saturday.

Lee Banks and Dr. A. R. Sawyer of Pampa sold the south half of the northeast quarter of section 33, block B-2, to C. H. Clark of Wichita Falls. The consideration is said to have been $45,000.

Rattler Caught In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 24. (P)—A rattlesnake 44 inches long, and bearing 14 rattles, found its way downtown today.

It was captured within two blocks of one of the busiest business sections of the city.

How the reptile came to visit the city is a mystery. It appeared suddenly, causing a near panic as the snake coiled when approached.

Negroes Injured, Building Leveled, In Large Fires

(By The Associated Press.)

FORT WORTH, Sept. 24.—Four negroes were burned, two probably fatally, when fire destroyed a hotel, restaurant, confectionery and barber shop here today.

The loss is estimated at about $5,000. The fire is believed to have originated at the rear of a hotel.

KERRVILLE, Sept. 24. (P)—Fire starting in a picture show at Junction, 60 miles from here, Friday night did damage estimated at $100,000 before it was extinguished.

Western States Endorse Al Smith For Next President

(By The Associated Press.)

OGDEN, Utah, Sept. 24.—Having completed the objects for which they were called together, delegates to the Democratic conference of the western states adjourned today subject to the call of the chairman. They had invitations to meet either in Butte or Denver.

Here is what they did:

1. Endorsed the candidacy of Alfred A. Smith, governor of New York, for the nomination for president next year;

2. Effected a permanent organization known as the Al Smith for President Association of the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast states;

3. And adopted a resolution declaring that "If tariff is an economic necessity, the nthe advantages should be equalized and made uniform in benefit, as far as possible, to all sections of the country."

Wichita Falls Takes Third Off New Orleans, 9-0

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 24.—Wichita Falls, working smoothly in every department, maintained the record they had set at home today by taking the third straight game of the Dixie series from New Orleans.

The score: R H E
Wichita Falls 9 18 1
New Orleans 0 4 0

Former Manager Of Railroads Is Dead

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Edward Jeffery, for many years president of the former Denver and Rio Grande railroad and close associate of the late George Gould in the management of several railroads under Gould's control, died here today.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 24.—Pete McKenzie, 23 years old, an escaped convict under sentence of death for slaying Sam Street, chief of San Antonio detectives, was denied a new trial in district court here today.

INTRUDERS GET $91 CASH AND SOME CHECKS

Window Broken and Desk Rifled During Night

CHECKS ARE AMONG LOOT

Garage Theft Reported Same Time From Clarendon

Early morning intruders obtained $91 in cash and about half that amount in checks Saturday when they broke into the Pampa Ice Manufacturing company's local plant and rifled a desk.

Entrance was through a rear door, then by breaking a window of the office department. The money, collected after banking hours, was in a desk drawer. Nothing else was disturbed.

One check taken was on the White Deer Ice company, for $25.75, and another by Mrs. I. B. Hughey, for $4. There also were several $1 checks.

Officers who are investigating are seeking a man seen here Saturday morning and last reported to have been hiking toward Amarillo. A description of this suspect was sent to neighboring cities.

99 Persons Are Indicted in Liquor Ring in Four States

(By The Associated Press.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 24.—With the indictment of 99 persons in Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, and Missouri Saturday, Federal authorities here express the belief that they had broken up one of the largest liquor rings in the middle west.

The federal grand jury returned the indictments along with several others which boosted the number of true bills to approximately 125.

The names of many indicted persons are being withheld, pending their arrest.

Seventy-one persons were indicted as the result of a gigantic raid by federal liquor agents made at South Bend, Ind., several weeks ago. Most persons named in the South Bend cases were foreigners or of foreign parentage.

Commissioner Says Fight Decision To Stand—No Recourse

(By The Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—The decision giving Gene Tunney victory over Jack Dempsey stands, and the state athletic commission will not consider reversal.

This is the ultimatum delivered by John Righelmer, chairman of the commission, in a public statement today.

His statement apparently closed the door to any further possibility of action on the protest by Leo Flynn, Dempsey's manager.

Alleged Masquerader Shot and Wounded

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Pursued through crowded Dearborn street after an attempt to pass an alleged forged check on the First National bank, a man posing as Rudolph Altrocchi, former assistant professor at the University of Chicago, but believed to be a masquerader, was shot in the back and seriously wounded by a policeman today while pedestrians ran for cover.

"So!" Markham retorted. "I'm about to bedevil an innocent person, eh?"

the wisdom of saying more. Then: "The fact is, I don't need a great deal more evidence than I've g already to go before the grand jury an ask for an indictment."

A look of surprised admiration flashed in the major's sombre face. "Thank God for that, Markham!" he said. Then, setting his heavy jaw, he placed his hand on the district attorney's shoulder. "Go the limit, for my sake!" he urged. "If you want me for anything, I'll be at the club here 'till late."

With this he turned and walked from the room.

"It seems a bit cold-blooded to bother the major with questions so soon after his brother's death," commented Markham. "Still, the world has got to go on."

Vance stifled a yawn. "Why—in heaven's name?" he murmured listlessly.

(Saturday, June 15; 2 p. m.)

We sat for a while smoking in silence, Vance gazing lazily out into Madison Square, Markham frowning deeply at the faded oil portrait of old Peter Stuyvesant that hung over the fireplace.

Presently Vance turned and contemplated the district attorney with a faintly sardonic smile.

"I say, Markham," he drawled; "it has always been a source of amazement to me how easily you investigators of crime are misled by what you call clues. You find a footprint, or a parked automobile, or a monogrammed handkerchief, and then dash off on a wild chase. 'Pon my word, it's as if you chaps were all under the spell of shillin' shockers. Won't you ever learn that crimes can't be solved by deductions based merely on material clues and circumstantial evidence?"

I think Markham was as much surprised as I at this sudden criticism; yet we both knew Vance well enough to realize that, despite his laic and almost flippant tone, there was a serious purpose behind his words.

"Would you advocate ignoring all the tangible evidence of a crime?" asked Markham, a bit patronizingly.

"Most emphatically," Vance declared calmly. "It's not only worthless but dangerous. . . . The great trouble with you chaps, d'y see, is that you approach every crime with a fixed and unshakable assumption that the criminal is either half-witted or a colossal bungler."

"I say, has it never by any chance occurred to you that if a detective could see a clue, the criminal would also have seen it and would have concealed it or disguised it, if he had not wanted it found? And have you never paused to consider that anyone clever enough to plan and execute a successful crime these days, is, ipso facto, clever enough to manufacture whatever clues suit his purpose?"

"Your detective seems wholly unwilling to admit that the surface appearance of a crime, maybe, deliberately deceptive, or that the clues may have been planted for the definite purpose of misleading him."

"I'm afraid," Markham pointed out, with an air of indulgent irony, "that we'd convict very few criminals if we were to ignore all indicatory evidence, cogent circumstances and irrefragable inferences. . . . As a rule, you know, crimes are not witnessed by outsiders."

"That's your fundamental error don't y'know," Vance observed impassively. "Every crime is witnessed by outsiders, just as is every work of art. The fact is, that no one sees the criminal, or the artist actually at work, is wholly inconsequential. The modern investigator of crime would doubtless refuse to believe that Rubens painted the Descent from the Cross in the cathedral at Antwerp if there was sufficient circumstantial evidence to indicate that he had been away on diplomatic business for instance, at the time it was painted. And yet, my dear fellow, such a conclusion would be preposterous. Even if the inferences to the contrary were so irresistible to be legally overpowering, the picture itself would prove conclusively that Rubens did paint it. Why? For the simple reason, d' y' see, that no one but Rubens could have painted it. It bears the indelible imprint of his personality and genius—and his alone."

"I'm not an aesthete," Markham reminded him a trifle testily. "I'm merely a practical lawyer, and when it comes to determining the authorship of a crime, I prefer tangible evidence to metaphysical hypotheses."

"Your preference, my dear fellow," Vance returned blandly, "will inevitably involve you in all manner of embarrassing errors."

He slowly lit another cigarette, and blew a wreath of smoke toward the ceiling.

"Consider, for example, your conclusions in the present murder case," he went on, in his emotionless drawl. "You are laboring under the grave misconception that you know the person who probably killed the unspeakable Benson. You admitted as much to the major; and you told him that you had nearly enough evidence to ask for an indictment."

"No doubt, you do possess a number of what the learned solons of today regard as convincing clues. But the truth is, don't y' know, you haven't your eye on the guilty person at all; you're about to bedevil some poor girl who had nothing to do with the crime, whatever."

Markham swung about sharply. "So!" he retorted. "I'm about to bedevil an innocent person, eh? Since my assistants and I are the only ones who happen to know what evidence we hold against her, perhaps you will explain by what occult process you acquired your knowledge of this person's innocence."

$700 INVESTED IN TWO PLAYERS BRINGS $35,000

AL. LOPEZ

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 24. (AP)—Taking advantage of the draft system as operated in baseball circuits, is proving profitable to the Jacksonville Tars, of the Southeastern league.

At the close of the 1926 season, Jacksonville "picked up" Ben Cantwell, pitcher, and Al Lopez, catcher, from the Florida State league at the draft price of $700. Washington previously had offered Tampa $3,000 for Lopez, but the team refused, holding out for a larger price.

A few weeks ago, the Tars sold Cantwell, who had won 23 of the 26 games he pitched for the club this year, to the New York Giants for $25,000. Now they have just sold Lopez, only 19 years old, his battery mate, to the Brooklyn Dodgers for $10,000. Lopez will join the Dodgers in the spring.

"Radio Magazine" Put On Air In Iowa

(By The Associated Press.) IOWA CITY, Ia., Sept. 24. — A "radio magazine" has been launched by station WSUI at the university of Iowa.

It is designed to cover the field of a complete news periodical, and faculty members of the university carry it on.

News items, given in brief during the morning, are elaborated on during the magazine hour by faculty members. Bulletins of a flood, for example, are followed by a talk on flood prevention by an engineering expert.

Topics assigned to colleges or departments of the university include domestic and foreign affairs, economics, social science, science and invention, education, religion, books, poetry, drama and motion pictures.

"Who's Who in the United States" and "Who's Who Abroad," comments on central figures in current news, are given by various faculty members.

Tarnish can be removed from silver by the electrolytic method. Fill an enameled or galvanized kettle partly full of water in which has been dissolved one teaspoon of washing soda or baking soda and one teaspoon of salt to each quart of water. Heat this solution to the boiling point, put in strips of clean aluminum or bright zinc, and the tarnished silver, and boil it. The silver must be completely covered by the water and each piece must be in contact with the metal, either directly or through other silver. When the tarnish has disappeared, wash the silver and dry it with a clean, soft cloth.

Players of Western League Are Great Asset to Railroads

(By The Associated Press.) TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 24.—Every player who followed one of the eight Western league clubs around the circuit during the season just ended traveled more than 12,500 miles, or half the distance around the world.

The league is spread over six of the largest states in the Union—Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Colorado. The distance by rail between Des Moines, Ia., and Amarillo, Texas, the extreme ends of the baseball battle ground, is 969 miles.

"The Western league is a great asset to the railroads," remarked Dale Gear, the league's president, as he scanned the reports on transportation expenses received at his office here.

More than $75,000 was spent for train and sleeping car fare by the eight clubs.

Attendance in all of the Western league cities, except Tulsa, Okla., was disappointing this year, Gear said. Tulsa, the pennant winners, had a crowd-drawing batter, Joe Munson, whose home run hitting attracted some 100,000 fans. The other clubs had to depend upon the sale of players for profit at the end of the season.

LONE HOSTESS GREET'S WOMEN BANK OFFICERS

ELSIE L. LINDSEY

HOUSTON, Sept. 24. (P)—When the National Association of Bank Women convenes in Houston for its annual convention October 23-27, a lone hostess will greet the 190 members.

Miss Emma Leah Meyer, assistant cashier of the Guaranty National Bank of Houston, will do the honors.

She is the only Houston member of the association and one of three Texas members. The other Texas members are Miss Margaret Kelly, vice-president of the National Bank of Denison, and Mrs. H. C. Hoffman, assistant cashier of the First State Bank, Somerset.

Miss Meyer has provided a round of entertainment for the visiting women bankers, who will come from 35 states. It includes a boat trip to the San Jacinto battlefield, where Texas won independence from Mexico.

The women bank officials are holding their convention simultaneously with the American Bankers' association, of which they are members.

celery-cabbage salad, pear tapioca pudding, milk, coffee.

A spring chicken weighing about three to four pounds is delicious roasted. It should be put into a self-basting roaster without a drop of water and started in a very hot oven. Then reduce the heat and roast an hour. The bird can be stuffed if wanted but a young chicken is so deliciously flavored that stuffing is not at its best.

Corn mock oysters can be used with roast or fried chicken to elaborate a dinner menu but they are suggested as something different for a breakfast dish.

Corn Mock Oysters.

Six ears sweet corn, two eggs, one-half cup milk, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, rolled cracker crumbs.

Grate corn; there should be about two cups. Beat eggs until light with milk. Add sugar, salt and pepper and corn. Mix well and add enough cracker crumbs to make stiff enough to drop from tip of spoon. Fry in a frying pan in half water and half bacon fryings. Brown on one side and turn and brown on the other.

Amusements

Can a girl selling cigarettes practically all night in a New York night club, maintain her dignity and poise night after night? Despite the reputation of these clubs, Director Monta Bell says she can. Bell has just written a story for Norma Shearer and directed her in it, "After Midnight," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production coming to the Rex theatre today. Miss Shearer has the role of a cigarette girl.

Many readers have erroneous ideas about the term "Bad Man" as applied to the old-time Westerner. It really is best interpreted as "A Bad Man to take Liberties with, or to Insult." The hilarious cowpuncher filled to the brim with the powerful poison that was sold in the border towns 50 years ago as whiskey, wasn't a "Bad Man" simply because he shot out the lights in a saloon and killed a Chinaman or two; he was simply a happy and exuberant lunatic having a "good time."

Why Bill Hickock, on the other hand, was a "Bad Man." With a spitting six-gun in each hand, killing would-be killers in Hays City, or Abilene, Wild Bill was most typical of his class; by long odds the most famous because a Bad Man's fame rested on the number of nicks on the handles of his guns, and it has been said that Bill earned 87—having killed that many white men.

Interest in "Bad Men"—especially those of the days of the lawless west immediately after the close of the Civil War—is at a high peak at present because of the promised appearance at the Rex theatre Monday, of the mighty Western motion picture, "Three Bad Men," which John Ford recently completed for Fox Film Corporation in the heart of the Jackson Hole country.

In giving to the world a modern version of "Camille," Norma Talmadge realizes one of her most cherished ambitions and gives a characterization which her admirers claim surpasses her work in such outstanding successes as "Smilin' Through," "The Lad," and "Kiki."

"I waited for several years to bring a new interpretation of the younger Dumas' most celebrated heroine to the screen," declared the star, "and when Joseph M. Schneck, my producer, thought the time was ripe, we assembled the finest talent available and spent several months filming the picture."

Modern "Camille" reflects all the gay, sparkling atmosphere of present-day Paris. The gowns worn by the star are the last word in the mode.

"Camille" marks the bow of Norma's new leading man, Gilbert Roland, a dashing young Spaniard who within the space of a few months has climbed from obscure actor to international screen hero.

Even the "bits" in modern "Camille" are entrusted only to well known actors and actresses.

"Camille" is coming to the Crescent theatre soon.

Hospital Notes

A seven-pound baby girl was born at the local hospital last week, following a Caesarian operation, probably the first of the kind ever performed in Pampa. The operation was by Dr. Archie Cole and Dr. W. Purviance. Both the mother and daughter are doing well.

Miss Jessie Larramore underwent an operation at the local hospital Saturday morning.

C. H. Clarke, of Wichita Falls, an official of the Shamrock Oil company, is in the city over the week-end.

M. O. Danciger, president of the Danciger Oil company, was a visitor in the city Saturday.

Almost any combination may be used for fruit cup or fruit salad, but there should be included, if possible, something pleasantly acid, such as orange, grapefruit or tart, sliced apple. Some of the best fruits to include in a salad are canned pineapple, peaches, fresh or canned, cantaloupe, cherries, fresh or canned, apricots, dates, prunes, figs, Maraschino cherries and Malaga or Tokay grapes. A few nut meats are an agreeable addition, as also are berries in season. The fruit should be cut in small, attractive pieces, and they should not be stirred about or they will look mushy and shapeless.

ACCURACY — "When the State first parceled out Panhandle lands with a liberal hand to capitol builders, railroad builders, war veterans and settlers, there was no occasion to be accurate. We shall probably see a good many more of the oil land suits filed in the Panhandle along the lines of those already on the dockets, attacking ancient land titles."—Am- arillo Globe.

Verily, because both in oil fights and accrued values the Panhandle soil is worth more than grass for cattle and jack-rabbits. The old order passes, not that it did not serve its own time, but that method must keep pace with material progress.

It is so in other matters. There are business-like ways of doing things, and there are ways which give fair service only through unnecessarily great efforts on the part of administrative officials.

The old general law under which the City of Pampa has been operating smacks of pioneer days, and its looseness, like the Panhandle surveys, can be tightened with advantage to all concerned.

The modern way of doing corporation business, particularly where bond issues, stock issues, and other credit is concerned, is by operating under a charter. To do so strengthens a city's or any other business' credit. Bond companies are willing to offer a better rate and the legal aspects are more sure. With Pampa's present valuations, considerably greater savings should be accomplished under a charter in the future. In one recent instance several thousand dollars could have been saved in the sale of bonds had the city been chartered so as to embody a clause authorized by state law.

Pampa needs a charter, and she needs the Board of City Development plan. Other aspects of the proposed charter will be contained in the printed booklet, which will be ready for distribution early in October.

DANGEROUS—State health authorities and city officials over a wide range of states are issuing bulletins on the infantile paralysis scare.

Although this disease is not especially severe at any point, its wide spread is fraught with possibilities of an epidemic unless caution is used to combat the malady. Precaution, according to the many communications received by

The Other Way, Al

The News, consists largely of keeping children away from crowds in cities where the disease is found, and in having all food absolutely clean, especially green fruits.

While flue takes many casualties, infantile paralysis appears more dangerous in individual cases, and inspires greater fear, especially because it largely affects the young. Science has another difficult disease, of near epidemic proportions, to combat.

Preventive steps are now most advisable, and the press is being asked to carry the facts to the people of infected areas. The Panhandle has had several recent deaths attributed to the disease.

INVENTIVE—The tendency toward the automatic is growing. Take, for example, a new invention which turns on the lights of a city when the sun sets.

This device, however, is not as new or as important as might be believed. Large city power systems have intricate methods of controlling the power loads, and while they do not use an automatic system sun controlled, they have instruments which forecast weather conditions. For example, sensitive machines not unlike radio receiving sets gather atmospheric electricity and help to warn engineers of the approach of a storm. In a large city, even a half hour's rain storm and resulting darkness is important. It means that thousands of electric lights will be turned on, increasing the normal day load a large per cent. Overloading would mean dim lights and the stopping of industrial machinery—a serious occurrence.

In some plants stopping of a machine entails expense and some danger. Neither starts nor stops should be sudden.

Therefore, big systems are careful to detect unusual demands and to tune up additional machinery to handle the overload. This does not occur in Pampa, where the connection is with a super-power station able to handle 100 per cent overload. But when lightning strikes the highline the extra current jumps the protective gaps, temporarily carrying the normal load with it and breaking the flow. Occasionally the load is so heavy that a line parts, then the local power plant is started within a few minutes.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON. — A fast train pulled up to an unaccustomed stop at a small station in Ohio. Railroad regulations allowed it to stop there for two passengers, but never for one. A small, mild-looking man scampered up onto a car platform with his bag.

The conductor came to him fingering two telegrams. "Got wires here to stop from a fellow named Wheeler and a fellow named Wayne," he said. "What's your name?" "Wheeler," replied the little man. "Where's Wayne?" "That's me, too — Wayne Wheeler."

And, as you may have guessed by this time, so it was. The czar of the Anti-Saloon league was due to make a prohibition speech in a big city and the train had been his only chance to get there. The story is told by Wheeler's friends as illustrating the late dry leader's humor and resourcefulness.

In his early Ohio days, during which he attracted the attention to himself which caused his elevation to leadership, Wheeler wanted to attend a brewer's convention downstate which was not open to the public. He boarded a train at Cleveland, quite uncertain as to whether he would get in when he had arrived at the convention city.

The man beside him seemed worried and Wheeler, always affable and something of a "good mixer," opened the convention. The stranger confided that he had to make a 15-minute speech at a convention that afternoon, was flabbergasted for lack of ideas and couldn't possibly get out of it. Wheeler allowed that he was something of a lecturer and perhaps he could help. Well, of course it was the brewer's convention and the stranger was a brewer. Wheeler pulled out his inevitable pad of paper and wrote the speech—it was a good one, too.

The brewer offered compensation, but Wheeler wouldn't take it. Nevertheless, he had to kill some time after leaving the train and he'd sort of like to hear the man make the speech. The brewer was delighted. Wheeler went into the convention hall and took voluntuous notes. Suddenly the chairman interrupted a speaker and announced: "I have just heard that a representative of the Anti-Saloon League is present. We will suspend everything until the intruder is found and removed." "What a nerve that fellow must have to come here," remarked Wheeler to his new friend as three innocent bartenders were thrown out of the hall. That was one of Wheeler's favorite stories.

PRESS FORUM

What does community mean? It is that in which we have things in common. Certain things about us belong to the common group, of which we are only a part, and the general welfare concerns us each individually, as our forefathers laid down in our Constitution. People leave too much for "they" to do. Who are "they"? Are we not included to leave the stone in the road like the men in the legend, forgetting that he who moved it reaped the reward? A community is good only as the homes in it are good. A home is not merely a place in which people are sheltered. It is a place in which children can come and be reared. There the race is made and nurtured. There the members of the family habitually do work which is taken for granted, for which there can be no adequate pay, any more than God gets for the work He does. But there is a business that has run smoothly for ages and which must go on. What if the mothers should strike and refuse to bring up our boys and girls in the way they should go? The public schools form only a small part of the educational plan. It is in the home life that the child is taught the lessons of honesty, faith and appreciation without which the world could not possibly live peaceably or even do the ordinary routine of business. We are all teachers in this big school and must see ourselves and our little tasks as part of the common plan. As the home is, so is the country, and with the city building plans constantly making it more impossible to have real homes there,

TWINKLES
The young should listen much, but too many who would silence the juniors have the experience of grand-pa, who wouldn't let the young grandson tell him of the fly in the salad.

A principle is one of those things which leads men to kill each other over trifles, like kicking another man's pup or calling his "kid" a brat. Many a man with high principles of business conduct—also a social or religious outgrowth—will unbend more quickly to compromise his strict integrity than he will permit the slightest infraction of his personal prerogative. Think it over.

It is our prediction that hold-ups will increase in number and daring in the next few decades. This will be only the modern expression of the age-old tendency to crime, and twentieth century crime is getting more scientific yearly. This is another argument for more certain methods of sending habitual criminals "up" for a considerable period.

our future devolves more and more on the rural home. It is not enough even to have an ideal home. It is not enough even to have an ideal home life ourselves and then shut ourselves off from the rest of the world and live to ourselves alone. We must cultivate the spirit of neighborliness more and more, for without it, we cannot hope to sympathize with those outside our own narrow little circle and our greatest usefulness is impaired. We broaden in this respect only a step at a time. The influence of good homes spreads through a community and thence, step by step, over the world. — Lubbock Avalanche.

Each team blocked a kick. Amarillo made eight first downs, compared with Pampa's five. The Amarillo coach sent in a constant string of substitutes, some of whom showed up better than the starting line-up.

About 1,000 persons saw the game. Despite a hard rain, which almost halted traffic, more than 50 Pampa rooters drove through to boost the team. They returned last night after combating much mud and many were loud in their praise of the impression the team made.

BAKER

district. By successive re-election he served 16 years on that bench. From 1907 he was again in independent practice of law at Canadian.

Politically he was a Democrat; religiously a communicant of the Episcopal church. He held membership in the American bar association, the Texas Bar association, and the Masonic lodge.

As a lawyer he was learned in his profession; in community life prominently public-spirited and unflinchingly devoted to social interests, as his connection with many organizations showed. His strict but courteous dealings made him an important figure anywhere, and his interests reached over the entire North Plains. He obtained the creation of the Pampa independent school district by personal influence.

Judge Baker was married at Carthage in December of 1872 to Emily Hull, a daughter of Col. E. S. Hull. Mrs. Baker survives him and now lives at Canadian. Three children also survive, who are Mrs. W. A. Johnson, Mrs. Frank Willis, and Mrs. C. C. Daniels. Mrs. Daniels is now a teacher in the Pampa school system.

Judge Baker died at Canadian May 21, 1918.

Rainfall in Pampa Saturday afternoon amounted to .26 of an inch, according to the government rain gauge operated by the Daily News.

CHURCHES

Late Sermon Notes

The Rev. Tom W. Brabham, pastor of the Methodist church, will not arrive from his vacation trip in time to preach this morning, hence there will be no 11 o'clock service. He will preach in the evening, however.

Rev. Brabham wired from Las Cruces, N. M., yesterday that he was encountering bad roads, and that he was waterbound in New Mexico for a time.

The Rev. J. B. Oakley of Weatherford is to preach at the Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock today. He comes highly recommended by church and civic organizations of that city. Mrs. E. E. Fisher will sing at the morning service.

Right-Handed Al Simmons Bids For American Honors

HOYT LEADING ALL HURLERS

Waners Will Have Title Each When Season Is Over

CHICAGO, Sept. 24. — Al Simmons, a graduate of the American association under the late Otto Borcherth at Milwaukee, is making a great effort to become the first right-hand batter to gain the batting championship of the American league in many years. Back in the game after an extended stay on the bench, Simmons hopped up his average with the war club to .397, in figures compiled today including Wednesday's games.

Harry Hellmann, the Detroit slugger, who has won the crown every other year since 1921, and might be expected to gain it again this year, added a few points to his percentage, too, but he is still four shy of Simmons' .397, with only one week to go.

The home run pace of Babe Ruth has proved too fast for Lou Gehrig, but he seems certain to grab the two-bagger title for this season. Ruth scored his 55th homer Wednesday, giving him a lead of 10 on Gehrig. Lou has 53 doubles, a lead of two on George Burns, Cleveland first baseman, who possesses the major league mark of 62 for a season.

Cobb Keeping Up

Along among the old-timers still keeping up with the first 10 is the Georgia Peach, Ty Cobb. Tris Speaker, Eddie Collins and Zack Wheat, who have been hovering around the select group all season, are still outside in today's averages. George Sisler is well down the list, too, but his mark of 26 stolen bases is likely to last through the week to give him the championship.

The pitching honors of the season are apparently assured for Waite Hoyt of the Yankees. He not only has the largest string of victories in the league, 22, but stands second in percentage among the regular hurlers. Eddie Rommel of the Athletics has the highest percentage but has only 10 victories. Following Hoyt in the pitching standing are four other Yankee twirlers, before any other club breaks in, and then comes young Lisenbee of the Senators with 17 victories.

Leaving batters of the American League: Simmons, Philadelphia, .397; Hellmann, Detroit, .393; Gehrig, New York, .386; Fothergill, Detroit, .365; Cobb, Philadelphia, .357; Combs, New York, .354; Ruth, New York, .352; Goslin, Washington, .339; Meusel, New York, .336; Schang, St. Louis, .331.

Titles for Warners

The Warner brothers of the Pirates, Paul and Lloyd, will have a title apiece when the National league season closes. Paul has the season batting championship apparently clinched, with a lead of 25 points over Rogers Hornsby, the nearest rival. Lloyd has broken the modern major league record for one-base hits a season, set at 179 by John T. Tobin of the Browns in 1921. Lloyd has a 182, in figures compiled today including Wednesday's games, and he might break the 30-year-old mark of Wee Willie Kesler of the old Baltimore Orioles, 919.

The "Three Musketeers" of Pittsburgh who set such a merry pace for the National league clouters all season have been separated for good and all now. Joe Harris, the former runner-up to Paul Warner, is now tied for fourth place, and Clyde Barnhart has fallen clear out of the first 10.

Frisch Below Hornsby

Frankie Frisch, who once led his rival, Hornsby, with the war club, is now 23 points below, but Frisch's total of 41 stolen bases is much the best record in either major league. Hendrick of Brooklyn is the closest to Frisch, with 29.

The Pirates-Giants series now underway will decide the pitching honors of the National league. Larry Benton and Burleigh Grimes of the Giants are in the lead now, with Lee Meadows and Carmen Hill, the two bespectacled Pirates, close behind. In between these two is old Grover Cleveland Alexander, liable to slip in and cop the laurels himself. Just a year ago the Cardinals got Alex for the waiver price, $4,000, from the Cubs. Charlie Root of the Cubs has the highest total of victories, 25, a lead of three on Hill and Jess Haines of the Cardinals, but Root's defeats put him ninth in percentage rating.

Leading batters of the National league: P. Warner, Pittsburgh, .384; Hornsby, New York, .359; L. Warner, Pittsburgh, .354; Stephenson, Chicago, .346; Harris, Pittsburgh, .346; Frisch, St. Louis, .336; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .335; Harper, New York, .330; Farrell, Boston, .328; Perry, New York, .326.

Russell Out Ahead

Thriving on a diet of right hand pitching, Reb Russell of Indianapolis is so far ahead of the other batting stars of the American association that he can coast into the championship of the circuit for the season of 1927. The former White Sox southpaw, now a southpaw wielder of the willow, has an average of .388 in figures compiled today including Wednesday's games. He is more than 20 points ahead of Grimes, Toledo's first sacker, and Ossie Orwoll, the Brewers' combination flinger and fly chaser, once Reb's greatest rival in slugging, has slid to fourth place.

The struggle to keep both the pitching and batting championship of the circuit doubtless proved too much for Orwoll and he chose to concentrate on the hurling, in which he is today at the top of the list, with .6 wins, six defeats.

Sheehan Wins 25

Tom Sheehan, best of the Blues' mound staff, may be handed the pitching crown of the season on the basis of his string of 25 victories but Sheehan has been trounced a dozen times, which brings his percentage to fourth place.

Bevo Lebourveau, who led the association in batting last year, may not make the first 10 this year. He slid to eleventh place in today's figures, three points below Duke Duncan of Minneapolis. Just below Bevo are two of the Miller's trio of home run clouters, Earl Smith and Ollie Tucker. They are having a great battle for the runner-up position to Frank Emmer, the Millers' slugging shortstop. Emmer failed to clear the fences in this week's totals, but 31 homers for the season, Emmer's mark, is almost a sure winner for him. Smith has 25 and Tucker 24.

Leading hitters of the A. N. association: Russell, India, .388; Grimes, Toledo, .367; Veach, Toledo, .366; Orwoll, Milwaukee, .364; Kirkham, Columbus, .363; Guyon, Louisville, .357; Hauser, Kansas City, .356; Heving, Toledo, .354; Riconda, Milwaukee, .352; Duncan, Minneapolis, .351.

Dodson Worries Strong Man, But Loses Hard Match

It took Nick Jones, who claims to be the world's strongest man, 37-1/2 minutes to throw Oscar Dodson, Pampa's wrestling blacksmith, at the Pampa Athletic club Friday night. The strong man got an armlock on Dodson which the blacksmith couldn't break.

Jones is strong and clever, and wants to meet Chick Kopecky, or any of the first-class boys on the mat at the local club. Dodson used all of the science at his command, and had the strong man in difficulties several times, but always Jones' superior strength broke the holds.

Before the wrestling match Jones gave an exhibition of his mighty strength. He took an ordinary horse shoe and bent it into different shapes and he also allowed four men to stand on his chest, and he broke a new manila rope on a straight pull.

"Ox" Higgins (center), is one of the chief factors in the Texas Longhorns' defense. Joel Hunt (right) one of the outstanding players of the conference, is back again with the Texas Aggies.

DALLAS, Sept. 24. (AP)—Seven Southwest conference football squads are training at their respective institutions for the most strenuous season in the history of the circuit.

The first tinge of fall found the 1927 season promising the highest class football ever seen in the conference. Last year a low ranking team, Texas Christian university, defeated the Oklahoma A. and M. eleven, mythical Missouri Valley conference champions.

Announcements of different systems of play, numerous changes in players and other innovations have come from the Southwestern schools. Several changes in coaching staffs were partly responsible for this, but the development of the game scientifically in the southwest was the principal reason.

Southern Methodist university's Mustangs, under the direction of Coach Ray Morrison, plan to establish a precedent by winning two successive championships despite the loss of Chris Cortemeglia, Logan Ford and Howard Wade, bulwarks on defense and projectiles on offense in 1926 when the team was undefeated.

Gerald Mann, third all-American quarterback in 1926, and co-captain Robert Tatum, sturdy guard, with "Dog" Dawson, all-conference end, and 12 other letter men returned to the Mustang corral this fall. Some promising material, yet untried, also is available.

Coach Clyde Littlefield, who succeeded E. J. (Doleful Doc) Stewart at the University of Texas this summer, has appealed for "spirit and support." Littlefield, many years track coach at the university will revamp the depleted squad with new material, and with the assistance of Marty Karow, new line coach from Ohio State university, he expects to lay the foundation for the championship in 1928. "Ox" Higgins, giant lineman and co-captain of the Longhorns with Rufus King, halfback, is one of the chief factors in the Longhorn defense. Nine lettermen reported at the initial practice, but Littlefield is still short on dependable punters, place-kickers and passers.

From Rice Institute at Houston comes the report that Coach John W. Heisman will use unusual formations and plays. His new line coach, Claud Rothgeb, is to develop an unbalanced line, using Captain Merle Comstock and Big Ed Herting, two big men, as ends. With five other last year lettermen, and seven fleet graduates of the 1926 Freshman squad, an attempt will be made to develop a swift backfield, because most of the candidates are light.

With the exception of Gerald Mann of S. M. U. last year, Texas A. and M. college had the most outstanding player in the conference in Joel Hunt, captain. Hunt was a sensational off-tackle-ground gainer and a spectacular broken field runner. Coach Dana A. Bible will have Hunt back again, with Burgess and Colgin, to form the nucleus of his backfield. Lack of heavy men and experienced material in the line, a coach from the University of Michigan will have to solve. He will be assisted by R. S. Higgins, both of old A. and M. gridiron fame, who recently was signed.

Although runner-up in the conference race last year, the Baylor University Bears at Waco will be compelled to depend largely on new material. Coach Morley Jenkins must fill five berths that were occupied by all-conference men. Abe Kelley, an all-conference man, and Bob Halley, a star, were killed with eight other Baylor students in an automobile wreck.

Coach Mattie Bell at Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, also must seek new material, his stars having been graduated this spring. Arkansas university, only out-of-state conference member, has only three conference games scheduled.

The most important inter-sectional games this year include Texas U. and Vanderbilt U. at Dallas, October 11; S. M. U. and Missouri U. at Dallas, October 22, and Texas Aggies and Sewanee U. at Dallas, October 8.

SPORT TALK

The big fight is over, but there is still some argument as to who won the battle. Many of the experts expected Gene to take his bicycle into the ring and run away from Jack, but he upset all the fight dops by slugging the Manassa Mauler and taking blow for blow. It sure didn't seem like the Tunney of old, who was satisfied to box and jab.

According to boxing rules, the timekeeper counts the seconds in a knockdown while the referee sees that the man on his feet goes to a neutral corner. The referee returns to the fallen man and takes up the count where the timekeeper is counting regardless of whether the count is one or six. In the knockdown Friday night, the referee started to count at one after chasing Dempsey to a neutral corner. Figure it out for yourself.

St. Louis and Pittsburgh slipped considerably in the National league race Friday, when the Giants gained a full game and the Cardinals slipped a half-game. Chicago also gained a game.

Monday night at the Pampa Athletic club another fight card will be presented by Promoters Gober and Bolen. There will be two main events consisting of a ten-round and an eight-round exhibition of the manly art. This boy Hargrove boxes like the old Jack Dempsey with whom he used to box during the ex-champion's training for his first battle with Tunney.

PARIS POLICE TAKE LESSONS IN ENGLISH

PARIS, Sept. 24. (AP)—English in 11 lessons so equipped 20 Paris policemen that they answered 350 questions in the new language.

This encouraging result caused the Prefect, Jean Chiappe, to order 250 more of his force to go to the school.

Frenchmen who have adventured abroad suggest that a notebook and pencil will help out the officers for they have found it simpler in England and America to write their questions rather than wrestle with the foreign accent.

Near Champs To Be On Big Boxing Card Tomorrow

Ted Hargrove, light heavyweight champion of Oklahoma and Ernie Cross, the ghost man of Omaha, will head the boxing card to be sponsored by the Pampa Athletic club tomorrow night at the club bowl on West Foster avenue.

The other main event will be between Rex King, the light heavyweight champion of Old Mexico, and Battling Walker, a slugger from the navy, who packs a knockout punch in either fist.

Hargrove will probably be remembered as a sparring partner of Jack Dempsey when he was in his prime. He has all the tricks of the one-time champion, and is a crowd pleaser. Cross has never been kayoed, and is considered one of the fastest men in the game.

King and Walker need no introduction to local fans, as Walker has been seen in action here and King is known over the Panhandle.

As a special event there will be a six-round bout between the "Battling Dutchman" of Kansas, and an unknown who has a reputation as being a boxer who knows how to hit, step, and take punishment.

Also, two excellent preliminaries will be staged.

Chevrolet Caravan Will Parade Here Monday Afternoon

A Chevrolet caravan, showing sixteen different types of bodies from the Oklahoma City branch of the Chevrolet organization, assisted by the Culberson-Smalling Chevrolet company, local agents, will hold a parade here Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The parade will be led by Chevrolet Imperial Landau.

Chevrolet owners of the city are asked to join in the parade, which will be on the main streets of the city. A guessing contest will be one of the features of the demonstration. The person coming nearest to the motor number of the Imperial Landau leading the parade will be given a prize.

The Culberson-Smalling company announces that refreshments will be served after the parade Monday afternoon at their place of business.

OUT OUR WAY

They invite the public to visit them and see the different types of Chevrolet cars on display.

FRANCE HAS SCHOOL TO TRAIN SHEPHERDS

PARIS, Sept. 24. (AP)—Shepherding is becoming a science in France. A school of shepherding is operating at Rambouillet.

The school is a government institution, fostered by the Ministry of Agriculture. It teaches many things that the shepherds with their crooks, painted by artists and described by poets, never bothered about.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

Quarterly Review—The early Kings of Israel. General Topic — Honoring God in our Lives and in our Land. Scripture Lesson — Psalm 105:1-8.

- 1. O give thanks unto the Lord; call upon His name, make known His deeds among the people. 2. Sing unto Him, sing psalms unto Him, talk ye of all His wondrous works. 3. Glory ye in His holy name; let the heart of them rejoice that seek the Lord. 4. Seek the Lord, and His strength seek His face evermore. 5. Remember His marvelous works that He hath done, His wonders and the judgments of His mouth; 6. O ye seed of Abraham His servant, ye children of Jacob, His chosen. 7. He is the Lord of our God, His judgments are in all the earth. 8. He hath remembered His covenant forever, the word which He commanded to a thousand generations.

Time—B. C. 1102 to B. C. 982, one hundred and twenty years. Golden Text—Jehovah hath established his throne in the heavens; and his kingdom ruleth over all.—Ps. 103:19.

Introduction Great leaders make nations and shape history, and it was eminently so with these early Hebrews—The Hebrew people through their whole history were led and developed and their institutions were shaped by a few great leaders, kings and prophets, and the lessons of this quarter have been largely the personal history of five or six men.

David As a poet who had given to the people splendid specimens of lyric songs, as a warrior who had inspired their youth with dauntless courage; as a king who had made Israel a united nation with an impregnable capital, and had uplifted it from insignificance into importance; as the man in whose family the distinctive Messianic hopes of the Hebrews were centered, he must remain to the end of time the most remarkable and interesting figure in the long annals of the Old Dispensation.

The Philistines It is a curious fact that the name by which the land of the Israelites is known to us moderns is the name of an enemy land; for Palestine is derived from Philistia; or rather the two words are identical. About the beginning of the Christian era the name began to be applied to the larger area, our Palestine. Originally it designated the territory along the coast from Joppa to the Egyptian border. The Philistines seem to have settled in Canaan a little earlier than the Exodus.

hatred and David's forbearance. David's outlaw life. A daring escapade in the dark. Abishai's advice and David's example. Reconciled again.

VII. David Brings the Ark to Jerusalem. David king of Judah. Abner. The removal to Hebron. David king of all Israel. Jerusalem, and its selection as the permanent capital. Its capture. The removal of the ark from Kirijathjearim.

VIII. God's promise to David. David's good intentions. The fitting house of God. Nathan. The kind of man who may build and handle holy things. The blessing of David. The Messianic meaning.

IX. Nathan Leads David to Repentance. The honesty and frankness of the Bible. David's sin. A different age. The parable of the ewe lamb. Conviction; repentance; forgiveness but retribution.

X. Solomon's Wise Choice. Solomon's reputation for wisdom. His worship. The dream and God's offer. His choice. His recognition of his father's worth. His humility. Added blessings.

XI. Solomon Dedicates the Temple. The religious value of a church. The moral value of a church. Its educational value to a community.

The House of Obadedom And never strife nor clamor Shall break the transept spell In which our Lord's beloved Forever safely dwell. In the house of Obadedom, In sunlight or in dark, Abides the ceaseless blessing That rests within the ark. —Margaret Sangster.

BILLY EVANS Says

PRaise FOR QUINN "Ty Cobb, I will admit, is the world's greatest ball player, Walter Johnson the premier pitcher and Babe Ruth baseball's outstanding slugger, as you have often proclaimed in your writings. However, in passing out words of praise, I feel you have overlooked a most deserving athlete.

"I have reference to Pitcher Jack Quinn of the Philadelphia Athletics, who, by the excellent care he has taken of himself on and off the ball field, is still, at 42 years of age, a twirler able to battle the best batsmen in the game.

"I am sure Jack Quinn's remarkable record is deserving of praise. It stands to reason he cannot go on for many years more, so slip the fans some kind words about this great veteran when he is still hitting on all six."

While a bitter rivalry exists between Washington and Philadelphia that is the gist of a letter I recently received from a Washington fan relative to the veteran twirler.

CAUSE INTERNAL SCRAP? Thanks for the suggestion, Mr. Washington, even though the idea isn't exactly new, for at various times I, as well as other writers, have sung the praise of Jack Quinn as a pitcher.

While it isn't generally known, Jack Quinn was the innocent cause of internal dissension in the American league, that ultimately resulted in the passing of the National Commission and in a sense undermined the power of President Ban Johnson.

Let us go back 10 years to get the atmosphere of the war days and its relation to the status of baseball. Since many of the younger stars were summoned to war, baseball had to fall back upon the old timers.

A majority of the minor leagues suspended, even the majors one year cut the season short. Among the minors to suspend early in 1918 was the Pacific Coast league.

Jack Quinn was a member of the Vernon club of that league. The Chicago White Sox, in need of pitchers, received permission of the Vernon club to use Quinn, who was then nearly 34 years of age.

During the final month of the 1918 season, Quinn pitched great to him, ball, winning five out of six games and Chicago thought it had closed for his services.

YANKEES GIVEN HURLER

The New York Yankees at that time had a working agreement with the Vernon club, whereby players were sent to that team, giving New York first choice on the stars of the club for the following year. Quinn's fine work caused New York to select him as part payment in a certain deal. In the meantime, Chicago figured it had closed for the player. Both filed claims—but Quinn was awarded to New York. This caused Owner Comiskey of Chicago to feel that he was being discriminated against, even though all three members of the National Commission voted in favor of New York, as I understand it.

A fight on the National Commission that was later waged by the National League, also had the backing of the Chicago club in the American, which in the end caused a new form of baseball government to arise.

Thus Jack Quinn unconsciously was responsible for the biggest upheaval in baseball, since his good pitching caused two clubs to fight for his services, making the losing club sore.

IS CREDIT TO GAME Getting back to Jack Quinn, the individual; he's a fine pitcher and a real gentleman, a credit to the game.

Quinn, born July 5, 1885, is now 42 years of age and has been pitching professionally 25 years. This is his fifteenth season in the majors. He has at various times been in the American, National and Federal leagues, 12 years of it in the first named. He's the oldest regular in the game.

It was a rather interesting coincidence that Quinn, on his 42nd birthday anniversary this year shut out the Washington club, 3-0, allowing only seven hits.

Quinn is one of the few spitball pitchers still in the game, but he could probably pitch just as effectively if forced to discard it.

While Jack refuses to affirm or deny the statement, it has been reported that he can see no reason why he shouldn't stick around in the big show until he is 50. More power to him.

LESS JUVENILE CRIME IN FRANCE SINCE THE WAR
 PARIS, Sept. 24. (AP)—Juvenile criminality in France is decreasing. Statistics show there have been only three-fifths as many cases as during the few years just after the war.
 Juvenile courts began to operate in France a few months before the war, though they were not at their best during the five years of battle.
 The average number of criminal trials of minors was about 24,000 a year before the courts were created. After the war the number passed 30,000. Now they run about 18,000.
 The contrast with the prewar statistics, say investigators, is even more marked because police officials in the old days often let minors go with lectures because they knew justice was hard. Now minors go to court because the police rely upon juvenile courts to use discretion, which the law gives them.

GIRL HIKERS COVER 300 MILE TRAIL OVER VERMONT MOUNTAINS

NORTH TROY, Vt. Sept. 24. (AP)—Women at last have conquered the Long Trail that winds for 300 miles over the Green Mountains of Vermont, from Massachusetts to Canada.
 Although tradition says there has always been a trail of sorts over the range, the Long Trail achieved its greatest popularity only this year.
 Three young women, Miss Catherine Robbins of Cornwall, Vt., Miss Hilda Kurth and Miss Kathleen Norris of Schenectady, N. Y., are the first feminine conquerors of the trail.

Shouldering their 25-lb. packs, the girls sallied forth on the southern end of the trail. They had no masculine escort, nor did they carry fire arms. At the end of 27 days they emerged near the Canadian border, having hiked the "walkers' mountain road" on which there is no "hitch-hiking." No mis-adventure had befallen them. No great difficulty had marred their journey, they reported. Owing to the efforts of the Green Mountain club the trail was in good condition.
 They vow that they will try the hike again another season but they will have a difficult goal to reach, however, if they want to equal or break the time record for hiking the trail. So will men hikers. For D. Appleby of Boston, achieved a record hike this season, covering the 300 mile mountain hike in 10 days and 10 hours.

 Hikers from far and near have found the trail a welcome opportunity to explore the wilder portion of the "granite state" and to gather the atmosphere of the environment in which President Calvin Coolidge grew up.

 Crossed and re-crossed many times by eastern and western highways, the trail is easily accessible at many points. Frequent shelters along the route are maintained by the Green Mountain club so that the hiker may, if he wishes, enjoy a roof over his head at night.
 On the trail are several of the major Green Mountain peaks, including Jay Peak in the extreme north, Belvidere Mountain, Mount Mansfield—the state's highest, Breadloaf, Killington—looking down toward Plymouth, Stratton and Haystack. All are more than 4,000 feet high.

Lumbermen Fish Lake Bottoms, Reap Profit From Wasted Logs

(By The Associated Press.)
MINNEAPOLIS—Making a belated clean-up behind the wasteful, old-time woodsmen, modern lumbermen are recovering logs from Minnesota lakes and converting them into lumber at nice profits.
 The lumberman of old cut and slashed his way through virgin forests, knowing none of the handicaps of present-day methods which require utilization of virtually everything but the bark.
 In rushing logs through Minnesota's lakes and streams to the mills he permitted millions of logs, representing entire rafts sometimes, to remain in the lakes. The logs, crowded to the bottom, were preserved by the cold waters of the spring-fed lakes.
 Now, lumbermen declare, the water soaked logs, many of them choice 18 and 20 foot cuts—a length exceedingly scarce—make superior wood because that cut from preserved logs does not warp like green timber does.

National League Race Recalls American Circuit Battle In 1908

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The thrilling race being staged in the National League this season recalls the equally famous struggle waged in the American circuit in 1908.
 Like the Pirates, Giants, Cubs and Cards this year, the Tigers, White Sox, Cleveland and St. Louis fought it out for the flag 19 years ago. While three western clubs have a chance to cop this campaign, the entire quartet of contenders was composed of sensational struggle in American League annals.
 Going into the last four weeks of play there was little to choose among the leaders. Then the Browns fell by the wayside. But Detroit, Chicago and Cleveland battled on to the finish.
 Then came that memorable tussle between White Sox and Cleveland, in which Addie Joss beat Ed Walsh, 1 to 0, Joss pitching a perfect game against the Chicagoans.
 The final series of the chase found Detroit at Chicago for a three-game stint. The Tigers needed but one victory to clinch the pennant. Obviously it looked all over but the shouting.
 The Sox, however, fought to the last, winning the first two frays and leaving the issue to the final game of the campaign. Detroit was not to be denied, though, and with the famous Bill Donovan giving Chicago but two hits, the Tigers won, 7 to 0. With the victory went the pennant.

 Detroit turned in a percentage of .588 that season, the lowest mark ever compiled by a gonfalon-winning team in the American league.
 Oddly enough, the player who had had a big share in putting the Tigers at the top of the heap is the present manager of one of the contenders in the present National league race. Donie Bush is the fellow.
 Bush joined Detroit late in the 1908 season, replacing the veteran, Charley O'Leary, at short. Bush's aggressiveness and general all-round play proved a big factor in enabling the Tigers to outlast their rivals.
 Now Bush finds himself in the heat of another terrific pennant battle. Only this time in the role of pilot. And it is quite possible that the little fellow's fighting qualities will carry the Pirates to the flag just like they had a great deal to do with the Tiger triumph of 19 years ago.
 Another thing, too. Should the Pirates cop Bush will be seated in one dugout during the world series while the chap he replaced in 1908, Charley O'Leary, will be in the other, O'Leary being one of the coaches on the roster of the Yankees.
 Fate plays many queer pranks, even in baseball.

Lumberjacks Doff Corduroys To Roll Logs From Lakes

(By The Associated Press.)
EAU CLAIRE, Wis.—Lumberjacks of the north woods have adopted bathing suits for their favorite sport of log rolling.
 The sport has always been staged with the participants dressed in their working clothes—high top boots with cork soles, corduroy trousers and heavy flannel shirts. But the woodsmen found they could work with much greater speed dressed in beach attire.
 There are few of the men of the woods who will not sacrifice the dignity and color of their working clothes for the comfort of a bathing suit. Clad in the new custom, with spiked shoes on their feet, they "run" their logs sometimes for only a few seconds, but oftimes for more than an hour.
 Wilbur Marx, 20-year-old high school athlete from Eau Claire, has held the "birling" title for two years. Marx has had stiff competition, particularly among the native Indian lumberjacks.

 The sport not only includes log-rolling but barrel and ball rolling. Contestants stage tilting contests where their opponents, spinning the logs forward and backward work to upset each other. The logs, always are smoothed with no bark left to allow "purchase."
 Log-rolling is a natural sport in Wisconsin, evolved from the work of the log drives down the Mississippi river and the less turbulent Wisconsin rivers. The most hazardous task is placing the dynamite to dislodge the key log of a jam.
