Hotel Firm to Erect $50,000 Wing to New Schneider

CONSTRUCTION OF ADDITION IS TO BE SOON

Banquet Room Will Serve Great Need

COMMON STOCK WILL BE SOLD

Report of Accountants Shows Good Profits

Construction of a west wing 40 by 60 feet in size and four stories high to provide additional rooms and banquet facilities for the New Schneider hotel was announced Saturday by Alex Schneider, Jr., president of the Schneider hotel corporation.

The building, to be started soon will cost about $50,000 with furnishings. The decision to erect the addition was made at a special meeting of the company directors Friday night, when M. C. Parker, architect, was authorized to draw tentative plans. A preliminary sketch shows provision for a large banquet room on the ground floor, with ample space for club luncheons. There are to be five ground floor office quarters. All of the rooms will have either shower or tub baths.

These tentative plans will be submitted in more definite form at another meeting of the directors, who will name the time that construction will start.

Hotel Overcrowded

That more space is needed by the Schneider hotel has been apparent since the day the hotel opened. It has been operating to capacity and has been turning guests away almost continuously. With this condition existing in what is termed a quiet period in the oil fields, the demand when the price of oil advances is easily anticipated. Moreover, the banquet and luncheon room is now very inadequate, and in the new wing the bigger facilities will be directly connected with the kitchen for convenient service.

The New Schneider hotel has proven one of the outstanding assets of the New Pampa, and is showing good profits for the foresighted persons who financed it. Statements of public accounts on the months of September and October show a total net profit of $6,986.52. This was realized from the rental of rooms and the serving of 14,123 meals during the two-month period. This profit is at the rate of more than $49,000 annually, or approximately 25 per cent earning on the $162,000 of common stock issued and now outstanding.

To Sell At Par

There remains in the treasury of the corporation $85,000 in common stock, which will be sold at par to provide funds for the erection of the new wing and other improvements. The statements of John F. Cantebury and company accountants show that the corporation has assets of $327,228.51 and a treasury surplus of $4,785.02, giving each $100 share of common stock a book value of more than par.

The hotel corporation owns six lots where the new structure stands and six on the site of the old hotel. Sale of the old hotel property is expected to bring a large sum.

Headed by Alex Schneider, Jr., the board of directors is composed of experienced business and hotel men. These include M. C. Parker, widely known architect; W. R. Campbell, local business man; and O. K. Baker, who with his father operated hotels in Woodward, Okla., for a number of years. Mrs. Phoebe Worley, a large

Denver Couple Accused of Looting Hollywood House of $200,000.00

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3.—Accused of having collected loot valued at between $200,000 and $300,000 in a series of apartment house robberies in Hollywood, McLaurine McCauliffe, one-time Denver automobile salesman, and his wife, who police say formerly was Mrs. Augustus Minchew, wife of a millionaire Denver and Dallas oil operator, are held in jail here today on suspicion of burglary.

Although police did not reveal the exact nature of the loot nor the addresses of the homes which the couple are accused of burglarizing, the story told by officers indicated that small but valuable house furnishings, money, and jewelry were taken. The pair were arrested yesterday by a detective who asserted he had been trailing them for some time, and that two slips gave him grounds for arrest.

Stolen Cars Are Recovered Here; One Is Stripped

An Essex coach owned by O. Cox, commander of the local post of the American Legion, was stolen from in front of the Legion Friday night between 8 and 9 o'clock, while Mr. Cox was attending a meeting in the hall.

The car was recovered by officers of the sheriff's department the same night about 11 o'clock in a field in the rear of the Magnolia Petroleum company's plant. The battery had gone dead and the car had been abandoned. It was discovered by the night-watchman at the plant.

A Ford coupe, registered in Winkler county according to the license, was found by officers of the sheriff's department this morning south of Pampa.

The car had been stripped of tires, battery, and other accessories. It is being held at the sheriff's office.

Kidnaping Gang Found in Chicago

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Dec. 3.—Operations of an interstate gang of kidnapers registered in Kansas City, St. Paul, and Minneapolis is believed to have been brought to light today when police arrested three women and eight men.

A number of raids by detective squads followed the news of the kidnaping of Morris Roisner of St. Paul, real estate operator, and efforts of the gang to obtain $75,000 ransom from his wealthy friends.

Western Senators Stress Three Issues

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Assurances were given today by senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican leader, that there would be votes at the coming session on three measures senators desire action upon. These subjects are farm relief, the bill dealing with the issuance of injunctions by federal courts, and a resolution for the investigation into American Activities in Central and South America.

New Ford Model Will Be Shown Here Tomorrow

The Tudor sedan model of the new Ford car will go on display at the show room of Rose Motor company at 10 o'clock Monday, and local people are invited to inspect it.

Tom Rose will bring the car to Pampa from Amarillo, where it was seen Friday by 8,000 people who jammed their way into a big sales room. Pampa is the second city of the Panhandle to receive a new Ford, a fact regarded as a compliment to this community and the local dealers. This machine was driven from Oklahoma City to Amarillo, a distance of about 310 miles, in 9 hours and 15 minutes Thursday night.

The car will be accompanied here by two factory representatives.

Monoplane Off To Nicaragua

(By Associated Press)
MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 3.—Major E. H. Brainerd, commander of the United States marine corps aviation forces; M. T. Shepherd, pilot; and Corporal N. M. Winchester, mechanic, hopped off this morning on a non-stop flight to Managua, Nicaragua.

They planned to deliver their trimotored monoplane to marine corps officers there for service with American troops.

Major Brainerd, piloting the United States marine corps monoplane which hopped off from Miami, Florida, this morning, landed at Tola, Honduras, at 4:07 o'clock this afternoon.

Brainerd came down safely and is expected to reach Managua Sunday.

AGRICULTURE PROGRESS SEEN BY SECRETARY

Jardine Says Much Yet To Be Done, However

FARM COSTS ARE REDUCED

Much of National Legislation Proposed Held Unsound

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The showing for agriculture in general for the year has been good. Secretary Jardine told President Coolidge in his annual report today, but much remains to be done before the position of the farmer will cease to be a problem.

"While farmers themselves are reducing their costs of production through increased efficiency," Mr. Jardine said, "public agencies should co-operate with them in affecting a better adjustment of production to demand. Also, efforts should be made to diminish waste, to lessen marketing between producers and consumers' prices, to reduce transportation and distribute costs, and to lessen the farmer's overhead charges by lowering or redistributing tax burdens and by improving agricultural credit facilities. Farmers should be encouraged to enhance their bargaining power through co-operative marketing, and the responsibility of the public in helping to reduce price fluctuations due to unavoidable gluts and shortages of agricultural products should be recognized in a practical manner."

The need for unity of action in agriculture is generally recognized but opinions differ as to means of getting it, the Secretary said.

Solution Very Difficult

"Some would assign the task of directly controlling this or that phase of economic life to the Government," he declared. "They would have the Government either merchandise farm products or enter into agricultural business in some other way. I need not reiterate my opposition to this view. Such a policy would be detrimental to the farmers and in the long run would jeopardize the legitimate functions of Government."

"I believe that what is necessary can be obtained by the joint effort of organized farmers, with the Government giving such assistance as it may safely give and protecting the public interest by laying down broad rules of policy."

"The best way to visualize the future of agriculture, as of any industry, is to examine and apply the examples of its recent past." Mr. Jardine declared. "If the farmer has tackled his problems sensibly and energetically, with resulting increase of efficiency in both production and marketing, his outlook may fairly be considered good. This he has done in a manner which has no historic parallel. Technical progress in American agriculture has taken place at an extraordinary rate since the close of the World War, and in consequence the productivity of the individual farmer has been increased, while at the same time the agricultural industry as a whole, through the shifting of crop enterprises, has been better adapted to its market conditions."

Many Changes Seen

"In the nine years since the World War ended, our agriculture has undergone far-reaching changes that have materially increased the output of both land and labor. This aug-

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Six year-old Jay Ward, who was the mascot of the American Legion at the Paris convention, has signed a movie contract. He learned to twirl a rope when he visited a Texas ranch recently, and confided to his parents that he will be a cowboy when he is a man.

Jay's parents are members of a vaudeville team known as Ward and Dooley. He has appeared with them on the stage.

C. of C. May Lead Fight on Plans to Restrict Road Aid

Believing that danger to the Panhandle section is contained in the proposal to pass a law providing for a primary and a secondary state-wide road system and prohibiting the spending of money on other roads until that project were completed, directors of the Pampa chamber of Commerce Friday evening authorized Manager Scott Barcus to correspond with other communities likely to be adversely affected.

The directors plan to study the proposals carefully, and to lead a fight against them if necessary. They will meet again Wednesday evening to discuss this and other matters.

The Chamber of Commerce by invitation will soon broadcast an hour's entertainment over KGRS, Amarillo radio station. Prof. Otto Schick and his new songs will be featured, and a talk will be made on Pampa and Gray County.

BOWERS POOL STILL PROVIDES MAJOR WELLS

County Total Jumps to 18,280 Barrels Daily

PANHANDLE IS UP TO 86,220

Operators' Test Has 1,800 Feet of Oil in Hole

Gray county, long the chief sensation of the Panhandle oil field, broke away for another big production gain this week, reaching 18,280 barrels daily. This was 3,405 barrels more per day than gaged last week.

These figures are based upon production up to Thursday, and do not reflect the entire output of the two big Bowers pool gushers of the week.

Every county in the Panhandle, except Potter, registered gains this week, but it was Gray that contributed most to the daily gain of 4,530 barrels for the area. The Panhandle total was 86,220 barrels per day, compared with 81,690 barrels for last week.

Carson county had 7,905 barrels daily for an increase of 295 barrels. Hutchinson county gained 630 barrels to reach 58,610 barrels.

Moore gained 50 barrels daily to total 150 barrels.

Potter remained at 30 barrels daily, but Wheeler county gained 150 barrels to reach a total of 1,250 barrels.

The Panhandle sensations of the week were in the Bowers pool south of Pampa, where Phillips No. 1 Jackson, in the northeast corner of the southwest quarter of the southwest of section 88, block B-2, hit pay at 2,940 feet for a steady flow of more than 4,000 barrels. This well is on one of the leases recently bought from Clark, Sherrin, and Baldrige of Wichita Falls.

Only slightly smaller is the Dancier Oil and Refining company's No. 2 Jackson, in the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 88, block B-2, which reached granite wash at 2,864 and was drilled in with rotary tools at 2,985 feet.

The Operators' No. 1 Jackson, in the northeast quarter of section 88, encountered the first show of oil in a granite wash at 2,835 and now has 1,800 feet of oil in the hole at 2,865 feet. It likely will be drilled into the big pay today. The well is less than a half-mile from the Delaney discovery gusher, which is still making 5,000 barrels daily of 44.6 gravity oil.

There are about 30 drilling wells in the Bowers pool, and if these, or a part of them are gushers, this formation will take its place among the heaviest pay in the Southwest.

Three new Dancier tests near No. 2 Jackson have been made, and are Dancier No. 5, Jackson, No. 7 Jackson, and No. 8 Jackson, in the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 88, block B-2, Gray county.

The Texas company has started renewed activity with its No. 1 Chapman, block 25, where much lease trading is reported.

WELCOME TO THE METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY MORNING AND EVENING
Music that will stir your soul—singing that will take hold of the heart—teaching that will lift you to higher heights.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General topic—Isaiah Teacher Right Living.

Scripture lesson—Isa. 5:1-12.

1. Let me sing for my well-beloved a song of my beloved touching his vineyard. My well-beloved had a vineyard in a very fruitful hill;

2. And he digged it, and gathered out the stones thereof, and planted it with the choicest vine, and built a tower in the midst of it, and also hedged out a winepress therein; and he looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes.

3. And now, O inhabitants of Jerusalem, and men of Judah, judge, I pray you, betwixt me and my vineyard.

4. What could have been done more to my vineyard, that I have not done in it? Wherefore, when I looked that it should bring forth grapes, brought it forth wild grapes?

5. And now I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard; I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten up; I will break down the wall thereof, and it shall be trodden down;

6. And I will lay it waste; it shall not be pruned nor hoed; but there shall come up briers and thorns; I will also command the clouds that they rain no rain upon it.

7. For the vineyard of Jehovah of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah his pleasant plant; and he looked for justice, but, behold, oppression; for righteousness, but, behold, a cry.

8. Woe unto them that join house to house, that lay field to field, till there be no room, and ye be made to dwell alone in the midst of the land.

9. In mine ears saith Jehovah of hosts, Of a truth many houses shall be desolate, even great and fair, without inhabitant.

10. For ten acres of vineyard shall yield one bath, and a homer of seed shall yield but an ephah.

11. Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; that tarry late into the night, till wine inflame them!

12. And the harp and the lute, the tabret and the pipe, and wine, are in their feasts; but they regard not the work of Jehovah, neither have they considered the operation of the hands.

Time—Isaiah prophesied between B. C. 755 and about B. C. 769. Our lesson is among his earlier prophecies.

Place—Isaiah prophesied in Jerusalem.

Golden text—Pure religion and undefiled before our God and Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep oneself unspotted from the world.—James 1:17.

Introduction

Isaiah, studying the condition of his country as he had the best of opportunities for doing, saw that its ruling classes were corrupt—its military leaders, its judges, its religious guides, its lawmakers, and even its most skillful artificers. He foresaw the time when the people, enraged by their oppressions, extortions, and misrule, would rise against them, drive them from power, and put in their places any substitutes at hand, yes, even women and children. Then he saw chaos coming, for these new rulers would not know how to manage affairs, and the people would grope about after other guides, and would not find them in recent years we have seen all of this enacted most tragically on a gigantic scale in Russia.

A Bright Day Promised—Chap. 4; vs. 5-6.

But the prophets were never able to paint only a dark picture; always some gleam of light must creep in from the approaching glories of the Messiah. In Isaiah it is his faith in a Remnant. Not all the people shall be destroyed. Some few will escape. Their filth washed away, their blood purged by judgement and fire, they will dwell at peace in Jerusalem. Over the whole city, and not merely over the temple, the presence of the Lord will hover, a flaming cloud giving light in the darkest night, and by day a canopy, a comforting pavilion, affording shadow from the fierce heat of the sun and a "shelter in the time of storm." It is a beautiful vision of the peace that God's mercy in Christ will bestow on all who trust him and obey his blessed will.

Wild Grapes—V. 2.

"And he looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes." Small grapes, hard and sour, good for nothing, all his work wasted. "All prophets and poets of patriotism have been moralists and satirists as well. From Demosthenes to Tourgenieff, from Dante to Mazzini, from Milton to James Russell Lowell from Burns to Helms, one cannot recall any great patriot who has not shown how to use the scourge as well as the trumpet. Many opportunities will present themselves to us of illustrating Isaiah's orations by the letters and speeches of Cromwell, who of moderns most resembles the statesman-prophet of Judah; but nowhere does the resemblance become so close as when we lay a prophecy like this of Jehovah's vineyard by the side of the speeches in which the Lord Protector exhorted the Commons of England, although it was the hour of His and their triumph, to address themselves to their aims. The patriotism of all great men has carried a conscience for their country for their country's sins.—George Adams Smith.

"Why will ye still bring forth wild grapes? What excuse can ye make? Hath God been wanting on his part? Have you not been warned over and over?"—John Wesley.

Jehovah's Vineyard, V. 4

"What could have been done more in my vineyard, that I have not done in it?" God could freely ask that question in the days of the prophets.

for from the time of Moses, through the Judges, and ever since down through the centuries the Jewish people have been the recipients of teaching upon teaching, exhortation upon exhortation. No object lesson had been spared, no spiritual culture admitted.

The Vineyard Laid Waste, V. 6.

"And I will lay it waste." God is spoken of as himself laying waste the land; in reality, he removed his divine protection and allowed the avenging nation, the Assyrians, to lay wuntry waste. "It shall not be pruned nor hoed." Weeds and vines shall not be dug up by the hoe, and superfluous growth shall not be cut by the pruning knife. Either of these failures would ruin the vineyard. "But there shall come up briers and thorns." God blesses his people quite as much by his preventive mercies as by the direct gifts.

God's Sovereignty—Man's Free Will

God cannot force righteousness upon any man without destroying man's highest attribute, his free will and "God loves man too much to do anything of the kind." Man's capacity of rising to his proper destiny is involved in his possession and exercise of his faculty of volition. No man must remain free, or else his own proper fruit can never be brought forth; and hence there is really and actually a moral limit to the divine resources. Just as God is omnipotent yet cannot lie, even so he is omnipotent yet cannot contradict himself, nor stultify his own eternal designs.

Strong Drink Brings Ruin, V-11, 12

"Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink." Here begins the second woe of the prophecy. The first dealt with the rapacity of the governing classes, the second with their dissipation. The Hebrews made intoxicating liquor from barley, raisins, dates, honey and other grains and fruits, and called it "strong drinks." The proper term would be "weakening drink." Among the Hebrews and Romans it was held to be especially disreputable to begin drinking in the morning, and Peter on a famous occasion (Acts 2:15) thought it a sufficient defence of the Christians against the charge of drunkenness to point out the fact that it was only 9 o'clock in the morning.

More Woes, V. 18, 23

The Third Woe is directed toward those that "draw iniquity with cords of falsehood, and sin as it were with a cart rope." The Fourth Woe is for "them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!" These are the special pleaders that seek to confuse the people's ideas of morality by their talk of Puritanism" and "blue laws," and "personal liberty. The Fifth Woe is for "them that are wise in their own eyes and prudent in their own sight," fools eaten up by their self-conceit, though "the all-wise sees in them only emptiness. The Sixth Woe returns to the drunkards and the oppressors, the "heroic tipplers" who take an idiotic pride in the violence of the poison which they can survive, and the crafty bribetakers who for money free the criminal and imprison the righteous.

Special Lesson

"Every community, every society, is in a figure a garden of the Lord; it is like 'the house of Israel,' his 'vineyard' and, like 'the men of Judah,' his 'pleasant plant.' God has called it into being to be a minister and servant of his will; and it is a divine decree that when any instrumentality of Providence wholly fails of its purpose, it shall be cast aside as unfit for further use."

Fast Lightweights Will Battle For Southwest Honors

Two of the fastest lightweights in the Southwest will feature the main event at the Pampa Athletic club boxing card tomorrow night. Wildcat Monte, now of Pampa, who is claimant of the lightweight championship of the Southwest, will meet Tex Mills of Kansas in a ten-round exhibition.

Fight fans in Pampa know Monte and what kind of a bout he puts up. Mills is reported to be a boxer of the same type. He is aggressive, fast, and a hard hitter. The Wildcat will have his hands full when the gong sounds in the main event tomorrow night.

The slugging event of the evening will be in the semifinals when Battling Walker the hard hitting marine meets Babe Ruth of Amarillo in eight rounds. Both boys are open fighters and wade in from gong to gong. The bout is not expected to last more than four rounds.

A special event, six rounds, will introduce the Battling Dutchman from Kansas and Young Burke of Breckenridge. Both boys are fast and hard hitters and have always been crowd pleasers.

Bill Barnett the battling newsboy who has beaten all comers at his weight is open for an engagement in the preliminary as is J. O. the Midget who fights at 50 pounds.

Two hundred reserved seats are on sale at the Pampa drug store No. 2.

Blocks Punts

BILLY CLARK

EL PASO, Tex.—Blocking punts is something that Billy Clark, Texas College of Mines tackle, does freely.

Playing his first year of college football, Clark is out to establish a record. In each of the first three games played by the Miners, Clark tore through the opposing line to block a punt, one of which he converted into a touchdown for his team.

Clark came from Austin, Tex., where he was an all-state high school tackle. He weighs 172 pounds and is a passer of no little ability.

He started blocking punts in the Arizona university game, when he knocked one down behind the goal line and fell on it for a touchdown. In the game with New Mexico university he blocked a punt behind the goal line, the ball being recovered by a New Mexico man. Against New Mexico Military Institute he broke through and blocked one on the 15 yard line and recovered the ball for his team.

Georgia Faces Crucial Test in Battle With Georgia Tech

One of the stiffest battles on Southern football fields this season, bringing together two of the brightest luminaries in the South, Stumpy Thomason (left) of Georgia Tech and Herdis McCrary (right) of Georgia, is anticipated when the two teams clash in their annual feature December 8.

ATLANTA, Ga.—Two of the South's greatest football teams—Georgia and Georgia Tech—will meet here December 8 in a game that will decide the Dixie gridiron supremacy and make or break the Bulldog's chances for the national collegiate title.

Riding high on the crest of victories over all opponents, including Yale, Virginia, Florida, Tulane and Alabama, Georgia faces the hardest test of the year many predict, because of the traditional fight which always marks Bulldog-Tornado games.

In addition, the Bulldogs will go against a Tornado eleven that has but two touchdowns scored up to it in the South this season—a team that has bowed only to Notre Dame.

To analyze backfield strength of the two squads shows Georgia Tech has two of the most versatile sophomore backfield men in Dixie in Warner Mizell and Stumpy Thomason, halfbacks. Both kick, run and pass.

Georgia has Herdis McCrary, "the red specter" of the Southern gridiron, who is leading the Southern Conference in points scored in conference games. Plus this great player, it has the so-called "thousand backs" who have doled out misery to all opponents so far. This pseudonym was applied to the Georgia secondary because of the many backs, each apparently the equal of the other.

As for the lines, both teams have a veteran forward wall. Georgia boasts Chick Shiver and Tom Nash as two of the outstanding ends of the country. Gene Smith, guard, is touted as one of the greatest in that position that Dixie has had in its gridiron history. In addition to these, it has Lautzenhiser, Morris and Boland, all experiencing a good year.

Hood, Drennon, Cowley and Martin, experienced men of previous

He thinks he has material for one of the strongest teams that has ever taken the floor; that is, ground. Several of last year's letter men will be out for the team this year, as well as several promising new men. Troy Stalls, who last year was a star on the Deport high school team, and Bob Kahl who was seen here with Miami last season, are two good players. Other fast men are expected to show up at practice.

years, have proved of prime importance in the victories turned in by Georgia Tech.

The game will attract the largest sports gathering in the South this year, some 35,000 tickets—all available—having been sold.

Since athletic relations were resumed two years ago between the two institutions, each has won one game. The Golden Tornado won in 1925, 3 to 0. Georgia won last season, 14 to 13. If Tech should defeat the Bulldogs it would have a good claim to the Southern Conference title.

Captain Drury of Southern California didn't coincide with that viewpoint was made manifest when he argued the decision for almost five minutes and was still negatively shaking his head when the officials, after explaining the ruling, ordered that play be resumed.

It was unfortunate in a game so cleanly played, despite the fact it was hard football from start to finish, that one of the very few rulings which the officials were compelled to make, should have met with such a strenuous protest from the visitors' captain.

A decision other than an incomplete pass would have just about meant the old ball game for Southern California. Instead of defeat by a one-point margin.

Two of the best backfield stars in the game, Christy Flanagan of Notre Dame and Morley Drury of California, showed their stuff to advantage in the clash between these two great teams.

I want to go on record right here by stating that any All-America team that fails to include Morley Drury in its backfield will be lacking something. He's one of the best football players I've seen in a long while.

Drury can run like Red Grange, he can punt like Kipke, he can hit the line very much like Joesting, he passes like Oosterbaan and he's a whale on defense. He's a wonder. Everything the coast experts have said about him is O. K. with me now that I have seen him perform.

"Just his regular game," was the reply of Pop Warner of Stanford as I marveled at Drury's remarkable all-round performance.

BILLY EVANS Says

Tough Game to Lose
A fitting finale to western football, featuring two of the greatest backfield stars in years, would be perfectly proper way to refer to Notre Dame's 7-6 victory over Southern California.

If ever a game deserved to end in a draw, that contest between the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame and the Trojans of Los Angeles, was such. Never were two teams more evenly matched and it's to be regretted Drury failed in the point after touch down play.

While I am sure Knute Rockne rightfully rejoiced in victory, he is such a fine sportsman that I am almost positive he would have felt no great pang of regret had the battle ended all even.

Talking with Rockne shortly before the start of the game, he remarked thus as to his chances:

"I fear that Southern California, like Minnesota, may have too much power for us. My eleven hasn't recovered yet from the gruelling pace it was forced to step against Minnesota. The Gophers softened up plenty for the Army and I fear we may still be in that condition."

Rockne, in an effort to conserve the strength of his eleven and always have something in reserve, did a fine piece of work in juggling his substitutions to the best possible advantage.

Far be it from me ever to dispute the rulings of any official in any sport, yet I am sure from the argument put up by Captain Morley Drury of Southern California, he felt his team had gotten a bad break in a decision that was the turning point in the game.

In the third period Drury tried a long pass over the goal line. Riley of Notre Dame apparently intercepted it and was about to attempt a return of the ball when it was seen to fly out of his hands. The play was simply ruled an incomplete pass and the ball brought back to where the play started. That

DAILY NEWS' 1928 PROGRAM FOR PAMPA

- One or more new railroads. New city hall-auditorium. County agricultural agent. Additional street paving. Oil Exchange building. Expedite road paving work. Encourage existing industries. Invite new industries. Complete water, sewer systems. More and better homes. Extend Pampa trade territory. Develop dairying industry. Municipal bank. Municipal airport. Pampa Fair. Associated Charities. County home demonstration agent. High school gymnasium.

AGRICULTURAL — Diversification projects have their ups and downs, or periods of vacillating interest, and this applies to the Panhandle as well.

Another word is coming into favor on the North and South Plains—immigration. The South Plains movement to attract more people already is under way.

The conference has been called not for the purpose of accepting a pre-determined program, but to give consideration to all phases of the proposed campaign for immigration.

A Great Impersonation

farm land throughout Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Michigan, Illinois, and Ohio will accomplish the desired result.

Certain it is that inter-community cooperation in agricultural matters is highly desirable. If every county will start an agricultural program of its own and then coordinate it with the sectional movement, mutual benefits will be derived.

Gray county, while enjoying inflated land values due to oil development, should not overlook the agricultural needs of her people. Leases for farm use may be necessary instead of ownership in some places, but the program can be carried on nevertheless.

The Wellington Leader this week published an excellent 16-page issue devoted to the home demonstration clubs of Collingsworth county, where a well defined agricultural program is under way.

The women's demonstration clubs and the girls' 4-H clubs of that county are doing remarkable work under the direction of Miss Veda Swafford, if the Leader is correct.

Every one of the numerous communities of the county have women's and girls' clubs and definite programs of study and home betterment. Members of the clubs contributed many articles on their work to the special edition of the Leader. This is another example of what a wide-awake county, with the aid of the extension department of A. & M. college, can accomplish at a small expense.

BIG MEN—The Enterprising Childress Index never fails to credit its city with bigness whenever an opportunity offers. "Bones Found Here Show Evidence Mammoth Men Were Once Citizens" boasts a headline this week.

Perusal of the article shows that two human beings, evidently of a race of prehistoric giants of the Childress community, left their bones in the sand hills north of the city. A protruding pelvis bone in a sand bank led to the discovery of two skeletons.

P-T. A. Receives Donation from Local Lions Club Friday

The Parent-Teachers association met Friday afternoon in the Central school, with Mrs. Joe Smith presiding over the business session. The Association received a donation of $20 from the local Lions club for the provision of a see-saw for the Baker school playground. Those present extended a rising vote of thanks to the club and wish to express their appreciation for the interest that has been shown this year in the P-T. A. The reports of the officers, in connection with other business of the meeting made the meeting the most interesting and successful of this year's work.

The Child Study club, which met with the Parent-Teachers Association, gave a beneficial program with "Choice of Literature for Children" as the subject. Interesting discussions of the subject were given by Mrs. B. E. Finley, Mrs. V. E. Fatheree, and Mrs. H. D. Lewis.

Two entertaining numbers under the direction of Mrs. A. H. Doucette, musical director of the club, were given, Mrs. D. F. Jacques favoring the meeting with several selections on the accordion. Mrs. T. F. Morton gave a charming reading entitled, "Old Things Best."

Mrs. G. M. Clardy Is Hostess to the C. L. S. C. of LeFors

The Chautauqua Literary and Scientific circle of LeFors met Dec. 1, with Mrs. George M. Clardy. A very interesting lesson on "Studies in Government" were taken up in an entertaining and beneficial manner by the various members. This was followed by the round table quiz and a lively discussion on subjects of the lesson.

A double program was given as follows:

A paper on "Elbridge Gerry," and talk on "Famous Clergyman in 1800" by Mrs. George M. Clardy. A paper on "Status of Latin America in 1799," and "The Virginia Statute of Religious Liberties," by Mrs. R. C. Bacchus.

"Washington in the field," and "Adam's last Twenty-five years," by Miss Mettie Fine.

The Club will meet with Miss Mettie Fine, on Dec. 8, taking up their new study book, "Stories in Stone," by Willis T. Lee.

Methodist Society Will Meet for Program Wednesday

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet at the church Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 7, at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Irvin Cole as hostess. The following program from the "Voice" will be presented:

Song, "Jesus Calls Us." Scripture lesson, Book of Jonah. Mrs. W. Purviance. Prayer, Mrs. Fannie Hardin. "World Peace and Racial Conditions in America and Africa," Mrs. M. A. Finney. Poem, "The Missionary Society," Mrs. E. D. Zimmerman. "Marie Laying Gibson, Historical Glimpse," Mrs. Shirley Parks. "Principal of the Scarritt Bible and Training School," Mrs. T. K. Underwood. "Co-worker and Friend," Mrs. J. M. Dodson.

This program will be followed by a business session in which dues and pledges will be collected. All members are urged to be present as this month closes our year's work.

G. C. Malone Is Honored With Birthday Diner

Mrs. G. C. Malone, assisted by Mrs. Porter Malone, entertained a number of Mr. Malone's friends at dinner Thursday evening honoring Mr. Malone on his birthday.

The hostess served a lovely dinner, while the honoree received the congratulations of his friends, and was presented with a bowie knife for use on a hunting trip in the Davis Mountains, and the Big Bend territory which he will take soon.

Those present were G. C. Durham, Porter Malone, Charles Duenkel, S. J. Spears, J. O. Jensen, Dock Coffee, Tracy Carey, T. W. Barnes, R. G. Morris, B. R. Harris, Lewis Hardin and the honoree, G. C. Malone.

Presbyterian Endeavor Will Meet Tonight

The Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church of this city will meet Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the church. All members are urged to be present to enjoy the first program of the organization, which will be given as follows:

The Christian Endeavor leader will be Miss Leora May, with the topic of the evening, "What is Prayer?" The program: Songs and sentence prayers. Scripture Reading, Catherine Vincent. 1 John 5:14, 15; Eph. 6:18, 19. Song. Leader's talk: "What is Prayer?" "Prayers of Jesus," Harry Hoare. Piano solo, Hugh McSkimming. "Why We Need Prayer in Our Every Day Life," Virginia Faulkner. "Will God Hear and Answer Our Prayers?" Mary C. Vacey. General discussion. Vocal solo. Song and benediction.

Mrs. H. Lemons Entertains Bridge Club Thursday

Mrs. Henry Lemons was hostess to the members of the Lone Star Bridge club and a few guests Thursday afternoon. The hours were spent in a number of entertaining bridge games. Mrs. Ralph Dunbar was winner of high score, while Mrs. J. H. Lavender received low score.

At the close of the games, the following members: Mrs. C. M. Carlock, Mrs. Ralph Dunbar, Mrs. J. H. Lavender, Mrs. J. W. Vacey, Mrs. C. S. Boston, Mrs. E. H. Hammett, Mrs. L. J. Williams, Mrs. J. H. Nance, and guests, Mrs. E. C. Simpson, Mrs. Ben Reno, and Mrs. E. Carton.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Give Farewell Dinner for Friends Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. Watt Thomas honored Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schoeneck, who are leaving shortly for Big Springs, Ark., with a farewell party Wednesday evening. The guests enjoyed a number of highly interesting games of bridge during the evening.

Mrs. James Ensign received high score for the ladies while Joe Aylward was awarded high score for the gentlemen in the bridge games. Mrs. Schoeneck was presented a lovely gift of parting.

After an evening of keen enjoyment, the hostess served a delicious dessert course to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Day, Mr. and Mrs. James Ensign, A. B. Kirby, Charles Bartlett, Joe Aylward, and Mr. Bliff, and the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schoeneck.

Miss Blanche Bentley and E. F. Thomas Marry in Oklahoma

A wedding of much interest, as well as a surprise to many in Pampa, was that of Miss Blanche Bentley and E. F. Thomas, Thanksgiving day in Oklahoma City. The ceremony was performed in the parlors of the First Christian church of that city by the Rev. Ernest C. Mobley. Only members of the immediate family were present.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bentley of Fort Cobb, Okla. For the last three years she has been a teacher in the Elk City, Okla., schools.

Mr. Thomas is a well known citizen of Pampa, and is a member of the firm of Kees and Thomas.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas returned to Pampa Friday evening after visiting friends and relatives in Oklahoma City, and Fort Cobb, Okla. They will make their home in Pampa.

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
Last Sunday God wonderfully blessed us again. After the message on "The Uplifted Christ," some responded and there were additions to the church.

The need of a building was demonstrated again all day from the Sunday school hour to the close of the services Sunday night. Many crowded into the building. Crowds came at every service, strangers and new people by the dozens. Real Bible lovers are hungry for the Word and are coming to hear it. Men in great numbers are becoming interested in the Kingdom work. Let us praise God and pray on: "Prayer Changed Things."

You are invited to attend this service Sunday morning, and if you come Sunday morning you will be sure to come Sunday night. There will be some very important announcements Sunday morning, which we hope every member of the church will hear.

D. H. TRUHITTE, Pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday school begins promptly at 9:45 a. m., under the direction of Horace McBee. There is a class for every age.

Praching services are held at 11 a. m., and 7:30 p. m.

The pastor, the Rev. Tom W. Brabham, will preach at both hours. His morning theme will be "The Four Stages of the Christian Life," and in the evening he will preach on "The Successful Steward."

At the evening hour the official board for the conference year of 1927-1928 will be installed. Every official is urged to be present.

Fine programs have been arranged for the service Sunday, and you are invited to be present to enjoy them. Our orchestra will play for all services. Mrs. Frieda Dillon will sing at the morning hour. Great music, great singing, and gospel preaching are featured at all our services.

Sovereign Honors for U. S. Guest

In token of Canada's latest acquired status as an independent unit of the British commonwealth, Viscount Willington (left), governor general of Canada, and his wife will be accorded honors due ruling sovereigns when they visit Washington in December.

WASHINGTON—The full honors due a ruling sovereign will be accorded to a governor-general of Canada for the first time when Viscount and Viscountess Willington visit in Washington December 6 and 7.

Since the reorganization of the "British Commonwealth," making entities of Imperial Dominions, the Canadian governor-general ranks officially with the president of a republic, and official Washington is preparing to follow out the prescribed traditions surrounding the visit of one holding that rank.

President Coolidge will cross the threshold of the Canadian legation for the first time during Viscount Willington's visit, as it is not customary for the chief executive to enter foreign diplomatic premises as a caller upon ministers or ambassadors. Viscount Willington will be the host at the legation on Massachusetts avenue, as his rank and light entitle him, instead of being the guest of the Hon. Vincent Massey, the Canadian Minister.

Tentative arrangements provide for a state dinner for President and Mrs. Coolidge at the legation, and it is probable that the White House may be the scene of a brilliant party in the governor-general's honor. Canadians here point out that the places on time. A hearty welcome is extended to all who are not in some other Sunday school. Come, let us study the Word of God together and learn more of God as our loving heavenly Father.

Morning worship and communion service begin at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon will be "Jesus Our Passover." Special music will be by Prof. Otto Schick and Mrs. Forest McSkimming. Baptising and reception of new members will be held.

The young peoples' meeting of the Christian Endeavor begins at 6:30, with Miss Baker as Leader of the program. All the young people are cordially invited.

The evening preaching service begins at 7:30. Subject of the message will be "The Far-reaching Choice of a Young Man." Prof. Otto Schick will play a violin solo and Mrs. Lyman will sing. These people are accomplished musicians and you will be pleased to hear them play and sing. We extend a cordial WELCOME to the public of Pampa to attend these services.

THE STORY THUS FAR

The story begins in 1880, in the wicked little town of Caldwell, Kas., close to the Indian territory border.

Tony Harrison, 13-year-old son of Jeff Harrison, a handsome gambler, is orphaned when Tom Benton, a cattle thief shoots his father in a poker game.

The boy is befriended by Gordon W. Lillie, then a restaurant waiter and later to be known as Pawnee Bill.

Joe Craig, foreman of the Bar K ranch, who takes Tony to the Bar K to live, and by Colonel Titus Moore, owner of the ranch.

Lillie thinks somewhat of joining David Payne, who is agitating for the opening of the Indian territory lands, but he gets an offer of a school teaching post in Pawnee and accepts it.

At the Bar K Tony Harrison meets Rita Moore, spirited little daughter of Titus Moore.

At Pawnee, Lillie begins to have trouble with some of his Indian pupils.

CHAPTER XI

So accustomed had the Pawnees become to the white man's ways that they had begun to use white men's names for their children. Thus Spotted Horse's son was called Frank West, and the most untractable Indian in Gordon Lillie's class was a young brave named Colonel Meacham. He was a wicked looking red-skin, crooked-faced, cross-eyed and surly.

On numerous occasions he had given evidence of an aversion to school discipline and one day, after a particularly hostile demonstration on Colonel Meacham's part, Lillie decided to keep him in after the others had gone so that he might reflect on the errors of his ways and the virtues of obedience.

The room was heated by a large stove at one end and Lillie was the fireman. Colonel Meacham, sullen-faced and ugly, was seated at his place when Lillie, suddenly remembering that the fire needed stoking, walked over to the stove, picked up the poker and began to stir the ashes preparatory to feeding the fire another charge of wood.

His back was to Colonel Meacham as he bent in front of the stove. In fact, he had forgotten, temporarily, all about his recalcitrant pupil's presence. A slight noise behind him made him turn, and there was Colonel Meacham, knife in hand, advancing on him in a swift rush.

There was no retreating; the stove was in the way. There was only one thing to do and Lillie did it; he swung to poker. The Indian went down like a log and lay still.

For a minute or two the young school teacher thought he had killed him. There was an ugly gash in his head and a fast-enlarging pool of blood on the floor. Presently, though, Colonel Meacham stirred, and Lillie went for aid.

The young Indian was in the hospital for several weeks, after which he was transferred to the boarding school and out of Lillie's jurisdiction. This was deemed a matter of policy by the superintendent, to hush up the incident and lessen the likelihood of further clashes between the two.

It was about this time that Lillie was given the nickname that was destined to stick to him for life. Few, to begin with, outside his immediate family, called him Gordon. He was known as Bill Lillie. But because of the plentitude of Bills in that part of the country there had to be something else to go with it—and Bill Lillie was hard to say; it lacked euphony and sounded too much like Bill Lily.

Inasmuch as Bill Lillie was the Bill who worked and lived among the Pawnee Indians, someone started calling him Pawnee Bill and the name stuck.

The nickname was a happy accident for Lillie. It was to mean as much to him, in a day when much emphasis was laid on the picturesque, as the names Buffalo Bill and Wild Bill did, respectively, to William F. Cody and James Butler Hickok.

The undeveloped youth who had come riding down from Wellington, Kas., uncertain whether he could handle the man-sized job he had agreed to undertake, was now a figure to command respect in any gathering. He was not tall, but he was broad-shouldered and powerful looking. Thick wavy brown hair, that glistened like copper in the sun, fell in a cascade to his shoulders. His eyes were piercing. A long mustache adorned his upper lip. He wore a buckskin hunting shirt, open at the throat, and a large, broad-brimmed hat.

He gave the appearance of one who was well able to take care of himself. As has been remarked before, he was not one to go around raising disturbances. Quite on the other hand, if he could avoid a fight in a decent manner he would do it. His father, who had been born in Three Rivers, Quebec, was of Scotch parentage and a true pioneer in every sense of the word, and part of Gordon Lillie's heritage, was the Scotchman's stubborn fearlessness which is characterized by caution rather than recklessness or truculence.

After he had been in Pawnee a little more than a year there was some trouble in the boarding school and the superintendent of that was relieved. Pawnee Bill was put in charge temporarily, awaiting the appointment from Washington of a new one. He might have got the job himself, but there were two things against him; his youth and his lack of political influence.

Before the new superintendent arrived the Christmas holidays were at hand. Pawnee Bill notified the Indians that the school would be closed during the holidays and no meals served, but three of the larger Indian girls disobeyed orders and remained. Lillie emphatically ordered them back to the reservation and two of them complied, but the third, a maid named Ingle Olson, pleaded tearfully to be allowed to stay.

The young man was in a difficult position. He was not unaware that some of the Pawnee maidens regarded him with a great deal more favor than they did the men of their tribe, but he tactfully and wisely chose to ignore these little evidences. It was unthinkable, of course, to let Ingle Olson stay at the school, and when he questioned her for a reason she murmured something incoherent about not wanting to marry one of the Pawnees.

"I'm sorry, of course," he told her, "but you'll have to go." And go she did.

A few days later he chanced to wander over on the tribal reservation and noticed that a celebration was under way. It was a private party, it seemed, and he was not welcome. But he learned that Ingle Olson had been forced to marry a crippled Indian whose name was Lame George. Lame George, it developed, had paid her uncle seven horses for her.

Pawnee Bill now understood why Ingle Olson had been reluctant to leave the boarding school. He felt very sorry for her, and indignant, and resolved to do something about it.

He reported the incident to Major Bowman, the Indian agent. Bowman made a report to Washington and the incident served to put a stop to the practice of selling Pawnee girls in marriage.

There was no more trouble from the Pawnee braves. They held him in great respect, seemingly, and invited him out to their tepees, where they treated him as a brother. Even Spotted Horse accorded him a great honor, permitting him to behold a scalp dance in the great council house. The scalp dance was a very impressive ceremony to the Indian and he very jealously guarded it from the white man's eyes. The one staged by Spotted Horse was the only one Pawnee Bill ever attended during all his years among the Indians.

There is reason to believe that the Indians' respect for Pawnee Bill increased as his hair grew longer. Although this might sound ridiculous, it is a known fact that the Indian accounted it an act of bravery, and proof of a disregard for the fate of his scalp, for a man to let his hair grow long.

Frank J. Wilstach, in his book "Wild Bill Hickok," quotes Alfred Henry Lewis, author of the famous "Wolville" stories, "and who had himself spent many years on the border when a young man," as delivering the following with respect to Wild Bill's long hair.

"He (Hickok) had let his hair grow long in years when the transaction of his business hopes and fears gave him much to do with Indians. The American savage possesses theories that yield neither to evidence nor argument. He believes that every pale-face who cuts short his hair does so in craven denial of a scalp to whatever enemy may rise victorious over him. Such cowards he condemns. On the guileless other hand, he holds that the long-haired man is a warrior bold, flaunting defiance with every toss of his mane. That long-haired one may rob and cheat and swindle and cuff and kick your savage; the latter will neither murmur nor lift a hand against him. For is not he who robs and cheats and swindles and cuffs and kicks a chief? And is not his flowing hair a franchise so to do?"

When the new superintendent arrived and assumed his duties Pawnee Bill received the unpleasant impression that he was going to dislike the man. It was apparent that he had his eye not so much on the schools as on the job held by Major Bowman. The new man was a minister, and from things he said from time to time, Lillie was convinced that he was no friend of Bowman's.

He reported this state of affairs to the major, but Bowman laughed. "I reckon as long as I run this office right I can hold it," was his answer.

One day an inspector in the Indian service came to Pawnee and the new superintendent was closeted with him in a lengthy session. Not long afterward came word that Bowman was to be dropped. Pawnee Bill was indignant and expressed himself rather forcibly in front of the minister-superintendent.

He told Bowman: "That man lied about you to the inspector." Thereupon he and Bowman wrote complaints to Senator Logan of Illinois and appealed for a square deal. Bowman remained in office.

But even if the superintendent's first bit of conniving did fall short of its mark, he was not through. He had observed with great annoyance the evidences of Pawnee Bill's loyalty to Major Bowman. That loyalty, he believed, should belong to Pawnee Bill's superior.

Lillie strolled into Bowman's quarters one day to find the latter greatly agitated.

"Bill," he said, "your boss has filed charges against you."

"What kind of charges?" Bowman reddened uncomfortably. "What would be the easiest kind to prefer against a young fellow in your shoes? I don't believe them, of course."

Then Lillie understood. Without a word he walked from Bowman's presence and stormed into the office of his superior. He was angry enough to commit murder.

"What's this," he demanded hotly, "about your preferring charges against me?"

"I can't have a young man under me whose morals are not all they should be," was his answer.

Then Pawnee Bill hit him, and for the second time since coming to the place he came very near to killing man.

Pawnee Bill finds it advisable to leave the Indian territory, with a charge of attempted murder against him. In the next chapter.

AUTHOR'S NOTE: At the request of Pawnee Bill, the name of the superintendent with whom he had this trouble has not been mentioned.

SEVENTIETH CONGRESS FINDS 73 NEW MEMBERS IN HOUSE AND SENATE

Among 14 new senators and 59 new representatives in the Seventieth Congress are several figures already widely known. Among them are Senator Smith W. Brookhart (upper left) of Iowa, a former senator; Senator Robert F. Wagner (upper right) of New York, who comes from the supreme bench of his state; Senator John J. Blaine (lower left), lately governor of Wisconsin and Rep. James M. Beck (lower right) of Pennsylvania, former solicitor general.

WASHINGTON—When the seventieth congress meets next week 73 seats in the senate and house will be filled by members other than those who held the seats in the last session.

The incoming members are not all beginning their national legislative careers, however.

One of the senators, Smith W. to the body in which he formerly sat. Six of the new senators previously served in the house. They are Carl Hayden, Arizona; Alben W. Barkley, Kentucky; Millard E. Tydings, Maryland, and Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma, all democrats; and William S. Vare, Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith, Illinois, republicans.

Senators who will be new to the capitol halls are Charles W. Waterman, Colorado; Frederick Steiwer, Oregon; Arthur R. Gould, Maine, and John J. Blaine, Wisconsin, all republicans; and Hugo Black, Alabama; Sam G. Bratton, New Mexico, and Robert F. Wagner, New York, democrats.

Vare and Smith will be on hand for the opening, but the question of their right to senate membership must be threshed out before they will be seated.

ays Texas ation in Sale Dodge Vehicles

Dyke Cullum, the new agent for Dodge cars in Pampa and the surrounding territory, arrived yesterday morning to take charge of the agency formerly owned by Cobb Motor company.

Mr. Cullum recently was in Kansas City, where he attended a zone meeting of Dodge dealers. More than 600 dealers from Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Texas were present.

"Texas dealers led the nation in the sale of Dodge cars in 1927," Mr. Cullum stated to the News, "and the new six cylinder Dodge, the Victory Six, which will be on display within the next few days is the neatest car I have yet seen." He accompanied Major Roy Cullum of Amarillo, distributor of Dodge cars for the Panhandle of Texas, New Mexico and Western Oklahoma, to the meeting.

Noted speakers at the gathering in Kansas City were E. G. Wilburn of Detroit, president of the company, and F. J. Haynes of New York City, chairman of the board of directors. Contracts for 1928 were renewed and the pro-rata number of cars to be sold by the various dealers were increased.

Mr. Cullum believes in Pampa and sees a bright future for the oil capital. He is not only experienced in the automobile line, but also is interested in the building of a "Greater Pampa."

Smoke-Bearer to Stars Hopes To Shine in Screen Heavens

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—Beautiful girls whose friends have assured them they could not fall to conquer Hollywood in a week might learn something from Ruby McCoy, former smoke-bearer to the great and small gods of screenland.

Ruby, who came here seven years ago from Superior, Wis., was a cigarette girl in the most frequented cafe on the Boulevard for four years, during which time she was seen and admired by practically every player, director, producer and writer in the film colony. One director even wrote a story around her, have her chance to be a heroine; so she is playing the feminine lead in a series of comedies opposite Sid Saylor.

It isn't stardom, but it may lead that way.

Labor Conditions in Texas Called Normally Healthy

FORT WORTH, Dec. 4.—Labor conditions in Texas are "normally healthy," C. W. Woodman, head of the United States employment bureau said here.

By this term Woodman explained he meant there is some unemployment in the state, but not more than when the situation is at the best of recent years and not enough to make poor laboring conditions.

In recent years Texas has had more than her share of labor anyhow, he said, especially since the collapse of the California and Florida booms and the Mississippi flood, which sent thousands of transient laborers to Texas where advertising has described a rosy labor situation.

During the past year approximately 100,000 persons were handled through the bureau, a number considerably smaller than in preceding years. Fewer were needed on account of the drouth and the growing use of the combine in harvesting, however, according to Woodman. Another contributing cause to the slack demand for labor was last year's poor crop, which brought about straightened financial conditions on the farm and compelled many farmers to work their crops with their own labor.

Attention of the bureau is now being centered in providing pickers for cotton farmers in West Texas, the last Texas area from which cotton will be gathered. Pickers have been sent to Childress, Snyder and Jayton in response to requests from chamber of commerce there.

AT THE CRESCENT

More than a score of the world's greatest track athletes made their motion picture debut recently when Buster Keaton recruited Olympic and intercollegiate champions for his latest United Artists comedy, "College," current at the Crescent theatre today and Monday.

Not only do sports luminaries such as Bud Houser, Lee Barnes, Charles Borah, Jim Stewart, Morton Kaer and a host of others perform in Keaton's picture, but several of them give exhibitions which in competition would win meets and set new records. Their amateur standing was not impaired, for they received no pay for their services. The track stars appear in the film to stimulate interest in track athletics and to draw attention to Los Angeles as the location of the Olympic games in 1932.

Cameras clicked at the Los Angeles Coliseum for three days while the athletes worked under the direction of Dean Cromwell, famous coach and James W. Horne, Keaton's megaphone wielder.

Borah, who now shares the "World's Fastest Human" honor with Charles Paddock, with a record of 9.5 for the 100 yard dash, ran the century in 9 3-5 for Keaton. This can actually be checked on the screen in "College." Audiences are challenged to time him.

In another exhibition which was filmed as one of the scenes in "College," Kenneth Grumbles, national intercollegiate low hurdles champion, raced over the barriers in the 440 in 54.4, tying the world's record. This mark, too, can be checked on the screen by sports enthusiasts.

Among the other famous track stars who make their motion picture debuts with Keaton are: Bud Houser, world's champion in the shotput and discus and winner of those events at the last Olympic games; Les Barnes, world's champion pole vaulter and Olympic winner; Leighton Dye, national intercollegiate high hurdles champion; Frank Labes, national interscholastic shotput champion; Jim Stewart, California's greatest all-round track star; Ed House, captain of the University of Southern California track team; Henry Coggeshall, University of Southern California high jump champion, with a record of 6 feet, five inches; Charles Nurnh, interscholastic mile runner, with a mark of 4:19 2-5; Ed Gloege, star half-miler; Morton Kaer, low-hurdler, broad jump star and javelin and 1926 all-American football choice; Bill Cook, javelin star; Joe Aleksi, famous weight thrower, and Johnny Parsons, Weldon Draper and Herschal Smith, star sprinters.

Not only do track stars appear in Keaton's comedy, but dozens of college stars from other branches of sport.

New Dodge Dealer Gets Second Largest Auto Allotment

Dyke Cullum, successor to Cobb Motor company, as Dodge dealer in Pampa, returned last week from Kansas City where he attended a meeting of more than 600 Dodge Brothers dealers from Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Colorado and Nebraska.

This year the Dodge company brought the meeting to the dealers who gathered in Kansas City as a central point. Dodge Brothers motor cars and Graham Brothers Trucks were displayed and the new models for release January 1 were shown. The dealer policies and the development in the automobile for the next year were explained by E. G. Wilmer, president of the company; F. J. Haynes, chairman of the board of directors; and John R. Lee, general sales manager.

The new Dodge six-cylinder car which will be released January 1, was the sensation of the meeting to the dealers. "It is unconventional in design, entirely and absolutely different to anything I have ever seen in an automobile," said Mr. Cullum in discussing Dodge's latest addition to its line.

The new price reductions, which were announced by Mr. Cullum last week, were given to the dealers at the Kansas City meeting. The price deductions range from $50 on passenger cars to $75 on the de luxe sedan.

Announcement of a new oil field special Dodge was also made at the meeting. The new car will have a heavier tire and more clearance and is the response to a demand coming from the Texas and Oklahoma oil fields. This is the first time in Dodge history that a car has been built to meet a sectional requirement.

In the last two months Texas has moved from fifth place to first in the number of Dodges sold, leading New York, which had held the record for years.

When the new agreements and allotments were made it was found that Mr. Cullum had the second largest allotment in Texas, being exceeded only by that of the Cullum Motor company, distributors in Amarillo.

Mr. Cullum owns the agency at Borger and one at Lubbock, and will make his local office the headquarters for all the plants. He has taken a long lease on the Cobb building and is remodeling it to give a larger parts room, better show room and to double the capacity of the repair shop.

New Studebaker Cars Arrived Saturday

The Thut-Saunders Motor company invites the public to visit the Studebaker showrooms today and see the new Studebaker cars which arrived at the local agency yesterday. A Studebaker Commander sedan and a Dictator coupe arrived ten days in advance of the expected day of release.

Grace of lines and riding comfort are features of the new Studebaker. The change in design is barely noticeable but tends to give the car a more beautiful appearance.

PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT ARRIVES

Playground equipment for the grounds of the Baker School arrived Friday night, and will be installed immediately. This equipment is being given the school by the Parent-Teachers association, and through their efforts the playgrounds of the Baker school will have many attractive and beneficial diversions for the children to enjoy during the hours for play.

DIETZ IS RECOVERING

John F. "Dutch" Dietz, who was seriously injured when struck on the head while at work at the Magnolia Gasoline plant last week, is in the Pampa hospital and physicians hope for his recovery.

Dietz was standing on a step ladder when he was struck by a belt. He was thrown to the cement floor, fracturing his skull and causing a slight concussion of the brain.

The injured man's mother, Mrs. Frank Dietz, and his brother Lee of Chicago are with him.

Abilene Eagles Defeat Amarillo Sandies 46 to 6

Playing championship football the Abilene Eagles outplayed the Amarillo Sandies in every department of the district championship game yesterday at Texan Stadium. The score being 46 to 6.

To Phelps the Eagles diminutive right half goes the honor of the longest runs of the day. He made an 86 yard run in the first quarter for a touchdown and duplicated that feat in the last quarter for another.

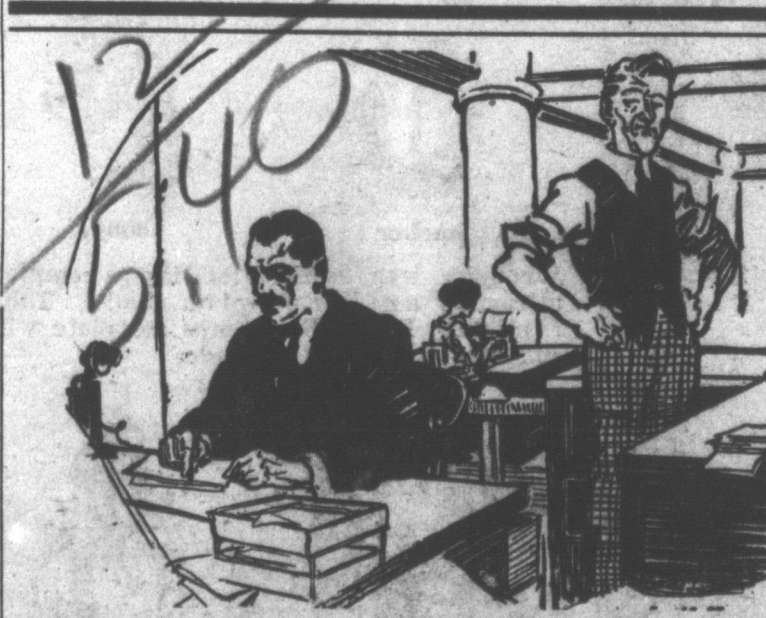

The Abilene eleven trampled the Sandies all through the game. Twice the Amarillo team carried the ball to the Abilene five yard line only to lose it on downs. Hudgins seemed to be the only member of the Sandies who could get away for gains. He carried the ball across for the lone Sandie touchdown.

The Eagles outweighed the Amarillo team and used their weight to break through the Sandies line although the majority of long gains were made around left end which seemed weak. Passes also counted for long gains, Phelps making the first touchdown from a pass on his 14 yard line.

Abilene will meet Cleburne high in the next game, Cleburne winning yesterday's game from Porrest high of Dallas 6 to 0, while Waco was defeating Jefferson Davis of Houston 124 to 0.

SOLDIER BADLY BURNED

(By Associated Press)
 SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 3.—One man was burned, perhaps fatally, and a second received painful burns in a fire which destroyed half the barracks buildings and kitchen of company K, Ninth infantry, at Fort Sam Houston today. Private Wilbur Hamilton, bugler, is in a hospital unconscious from his burns.

vantages due to its effect on the commodities that farmers buy. Any discrimination which may exist should be ascertained and corrected. In order to get the best results from the tariff, research should be undertaken to determine precisely what duties should be placed on farm products, article for article, to insure the home market to the American producer. It should be our aim to give agriculture protection against foreign competition in our markets equal to that enjoyed by industry and labor."

Congress to Face Many Problems in Seventh Session

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Facing a host of problems and a number of controversies political and otherwise the seventieth congress will convene at noon Monday for the first session which may run for at least six months.

The republicans again have the majority both in the house and in the senate but due to defections of their own rank, particularly in the senate, they will lack ability to put through the entire legislative program which President Coolidge will propose in the annual message.

There will be no difficulty for the republicans to organize the house with the re-election of Nicholas Longworth of Ohio as speaker but the Republican old guard in the senate has a problem on its hands in seeking the pacific and western independents who have submitted a legislative program demanded assurance of early action on it.

Discussing proposed national farm legislation of the last few years, Mr. Jardine said many of the proposals made were fundamentally unsound. The study and discussion devoted to the question, however, he felt, had been, on the whole, beneficial.

"The public has gained a better understanding of farm problems, and much helpful legislation has been enacted. A large part of the farm problems—which in fact consists of many problems—must be solved by the individual and co-operative efforts of the farmers themselves. However, there is need for legislation to give further encouragement to large agricultural business organizations owned and controlled by farmers and managed by strong business executives chosen by the producers."

States Can Help
 A great deal could be done by the States themselves, said Mr. Jardine, to put agriculture on a stronger economic base, especially in State and local banking, taxation and public expenditures in their relation to agriculture. The tariff on agricultural products should insure the home market as far as possible, to the American farmer, he said.

"It should be possible by impartial study of the manner in which tariff duties affect different commodities, to devise means of increasing this benefit," said Mr. Jardine's report. "Trustworthy statistics are not available to show the degree to which the advantages of the tariff to agriculture are offset by disadvantages due to its effect on the commodities that farmers buy. Any discrimination which may exist should be ascertained and corrected. In order to get the best results from the tariff, research should be undertaken to determine precisely what duties should be placed on farm products, article for article, to insure the home market to the American producer. It should be our aim to give agriculture protection against foreign competition in our markets equal to that enjoyed by industry and labor."
