Wichita Falls Man Has Permit for New Line

Negotiations relating to right-of-way and terminal facilities for the Pampa-to-Cheyenne, Okla., railroad will be opened soon here. Frank Kell, prominent Wichita Falls railroad builder and president of the Clinton and Oklahoma Western railroad with which the Pampa line will connect at Cheyenne, was in Pampa today and in interviews with a number of local men sketched the progress of the plans since a certificate of public necessity was granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Mr. Kell's engineers are now working in Cheyenne and westward in the Texas line. After finishing there, they will come to Pampa to survey possible routes and terminals. Mr. Kell expressed his faith in the future of Pampa, and declared that the new railroad will be a big factor in determining the future stability of the city.

Sentences On Highway Charges Are Given Two

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Nov. 1.—L. J. Nachtrab, former division highway engineer, was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary, S. C. Hompkins, his former chief clerk was sentenced to two years here today on forgery charges in connection with irregularities in the state highway department last year.

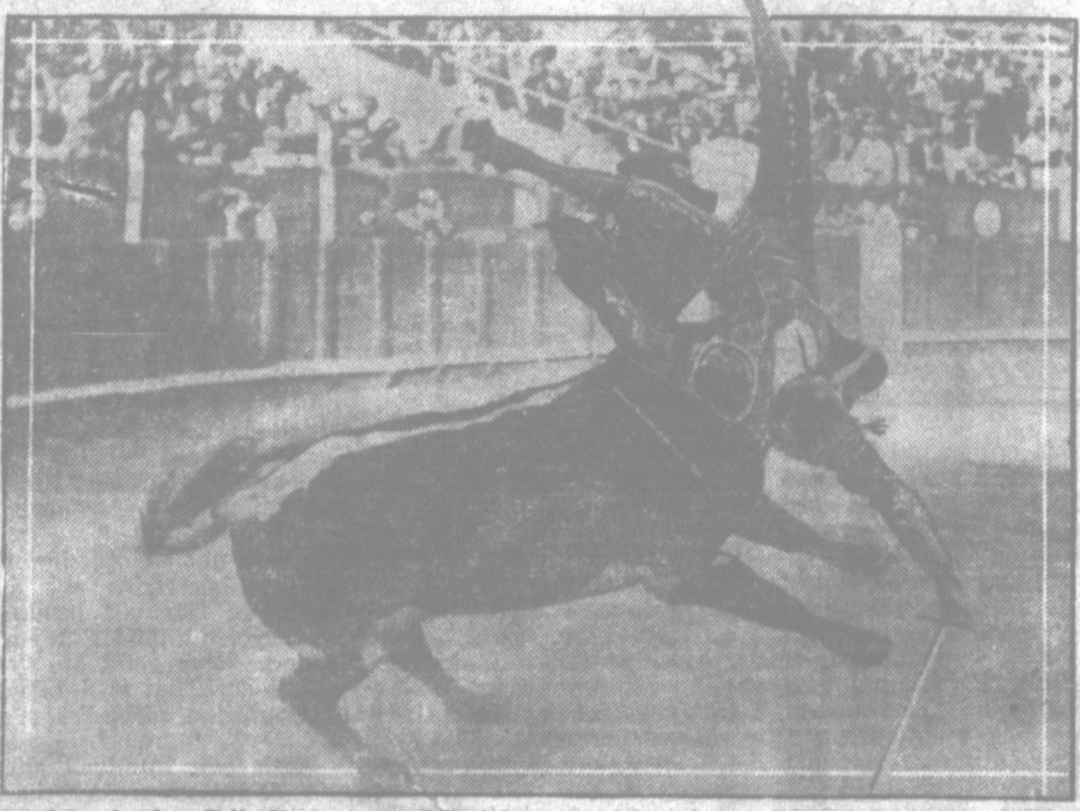

Both men pleaded guilty under an agreement with District Attorney Moore. The case of H. Joschke, the third man named in the indictments, will be contested. Joschke is alleged to have been carried as a dummy on the payroll.

LEAPS TO DEATH NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—William Schouburg, 44 years old, an insurance broker, leaped to his death today from the fifteenth floor of a west End apartment.

Historical Romance of Oklahoma Will Be Next Serial for Daily News

Daily News fiction, starting with the highly interesting Benson Murder Case, will take another big rise in popularity November 21. "The Blazing Horizon"—how's that for a title? It is the name of the next serial—a serial of the Southwest, of Oklahoma's frontier, of Pawnee Bill and other characters well known in Pampa. Ernest Lynn of the Daily News' features service spent many months gathering material for the first historical romance written exclusively for newspaper use. Lynn is fiction editor of the NEA service, a successful author, but shone all a newspap-

The Bull Turns—and a Matador Dies!

Death coming a-hoof to Felix Merino, one of Spain's most celebrated matadors, is pictured in this extraordinary photo from the Madrid arena. It depicts the instant the infuriated animal caught the momentarily unwary torreador on his horns and tossed him into the air. Merino was then fatally tramped and gored.

Two Burned To Death in Denton Hotel Blaze

(By Associated Press) DENTON, Nov. 1.—Two men were burned to death, another received serious injuries and seven others narrowly escaped death when the Kennon hotel was destroyed by fire here today. The dead are J. A. Patton 64 years old, and Frank Billingsley 50 years old. The hotels operator sustained minor bruises. The blaze started in a cafe.

Millikin Declared Sane, But Will Appeal Verdict

(By Associated Press) LOCKHART, Nov. 1.—Avery Millikin was found sane today by a jury, thus apparently leaving him without defense against his scheduled electrocution Friday for the murder of Mrs. Virginia Petty, a San Antonio real estate woman, who was found dead after a robbery in New Braunfels last year. The jury reported at 8:53 a. m., after having the case since 10:30 o'clock Monday night.

Several Texans in New Carnegie List of Awards—Big Spring in Awards With the Only Heroine

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—Forty-six heroic acts, in the commission of which on heroine and 17 heroes lost their lives, were recognized today by the Carnegie Hero Fund commission at its fall meeting. The commission awarded four silver and 42 bronze medals, and in 14 cases the dependents of heroes who sacrificed their lives in efforts to save others, were given yearly pensions ranging from $4,500 to $5,460. A disabled hero was awarded $4,000. In eight other cases, awards, and in 17 cases the sum of $13,500 was given for other worthy purposes.

Texas Girl Honored

The heroine who sacrificed her life was 14-year-old Mildred V. Thompson, Big Spring, Texas. She died while trying to save a girl from drowning at Big Spring, May 24, 1925. Her father, Looney V. Thompson, received a silver medal.

The 17 boys and men who lost their lives while performing heroic deeds were:

Hugh E. Wright, Floyd street, Covington, Ga., died attempting to save a child from drowning at Saint Simon Island, Ga. July 23, 1926; bronze medal to widow.

Charles E. Wells, 2203 Pelham avenue, Palms Station, Los Angeles, Cal., drowned when he tried to save a woman from San Pedro Channel, Long Beach, Cal., April 26, 1926; bronze medal to Mabel H. Allison, his former widow.

Brown-Crummer Firm Pays $105.25 to Take Pampa District's Issue

Pampa special road district's well advertised $400,000 bond issue commanded a $21,000 premium when sold at public auction at LeFors yesterday afternoon. Keen bidding over a period of an hour and a half hiked the price up to $105.25, and the Brown-Crummer company of Wichita, Kans., well known investment firm, was the buyer. This price, with accrued interest, is regarded as a record for paper of this kind.

Man Arrested In Connection With Shooting Here

James A. Thomas of Farlington, Kans., is in Pampa hospital with a bullet wound in his knee, and Gus Coots is in the city jail in connection with the shooting. The altercation occurred last night in a local rooming house. Coots was arrested by city officer Bud Cottrell at noon today. In a statement to officers this afternoon, Coots said Thomas was attacking him when he shot. The men met in Oklahoma and came to Pampa, where Coots purchased a load of fruit to sell in the city. An argument arose over sale of a load of apples. The bullet extracted from Thomas' knee is from a .32 calibre revolver, and is said to fit the pistol found on Coots when he was arrested this afternoon. Officers are looking for a third man in the case.

Wait a minute until I get my breath," was the favorite expression after a stiff raise, but the financial game continued. The bidders included H. C. Burt & company, Houston; Caldwell & company, Nashville; George L. Simpson and company, Dallas; Bryan Bosworth and company, Toledo; Pruden and company, Toledo; Ryan-Sutherland company, Toledo; Brown-Crummer company, Wichita; Garrett and company, Dallas; Roger Evans, Dallas; Edgar Hannon, Oklahoma City; Guaranty Title and Trust company; Steffel-Nicholas and company; W. I. Slaton, Cincinnati; Mr. Woody; and a group of firms represented by Burke Mathes of Pampa. The latter included the Mercantile Trust and Savings bank of Dallas, the Thomas Investment company of Dallas, Morris Mather and company of Chicago, and Strannahan, Paris, and Otis of Chicago.

The Pampa special road district was created on May 9 by an order of the Commissioners court, which was petitioned by M. K. Brown and other persons. An election to vote 5-1-2 per cent 30-year serial bonds to hard surface approximately 42 miles of highway leading in six different directions from Pampa carried September 1 by a ballot of 413 to 195. The bonds were approved by the attorney-general and advertised for sale.

Although the McLean road bonds sold a few months ago slightly under par, the heavy valuations in the Pampa district attracted much favorable attention from big bond houses, and the big premium resulted. The assessed valuation in the district amount to $8,467,690, as compared with $11,394,877 for the whole county. State and federal aids available on most of the highways to be paved. Bridging and drainage contracts will be let as soon as the necessary legal details can be completed. The state highway commission must be consulted in the remaining details.

PREMIUM—The sale of the Pampa special road district bond issue of $400,000 at a premium of $21,000 is another tribute by keen visioned investment men to the city and community in which we live.

The price was no great surprise to a number who were aware of the interest of companies who learned of the approaching transaction. All publicity—the buyers can see that Pampa assets need is full for themselves the possibilities that are here. Those who before the road bond issue passed feared the paper could not be sold for par were honest in their beliefs, but there is no denying that Pampa is well able to meet her greatest needs.

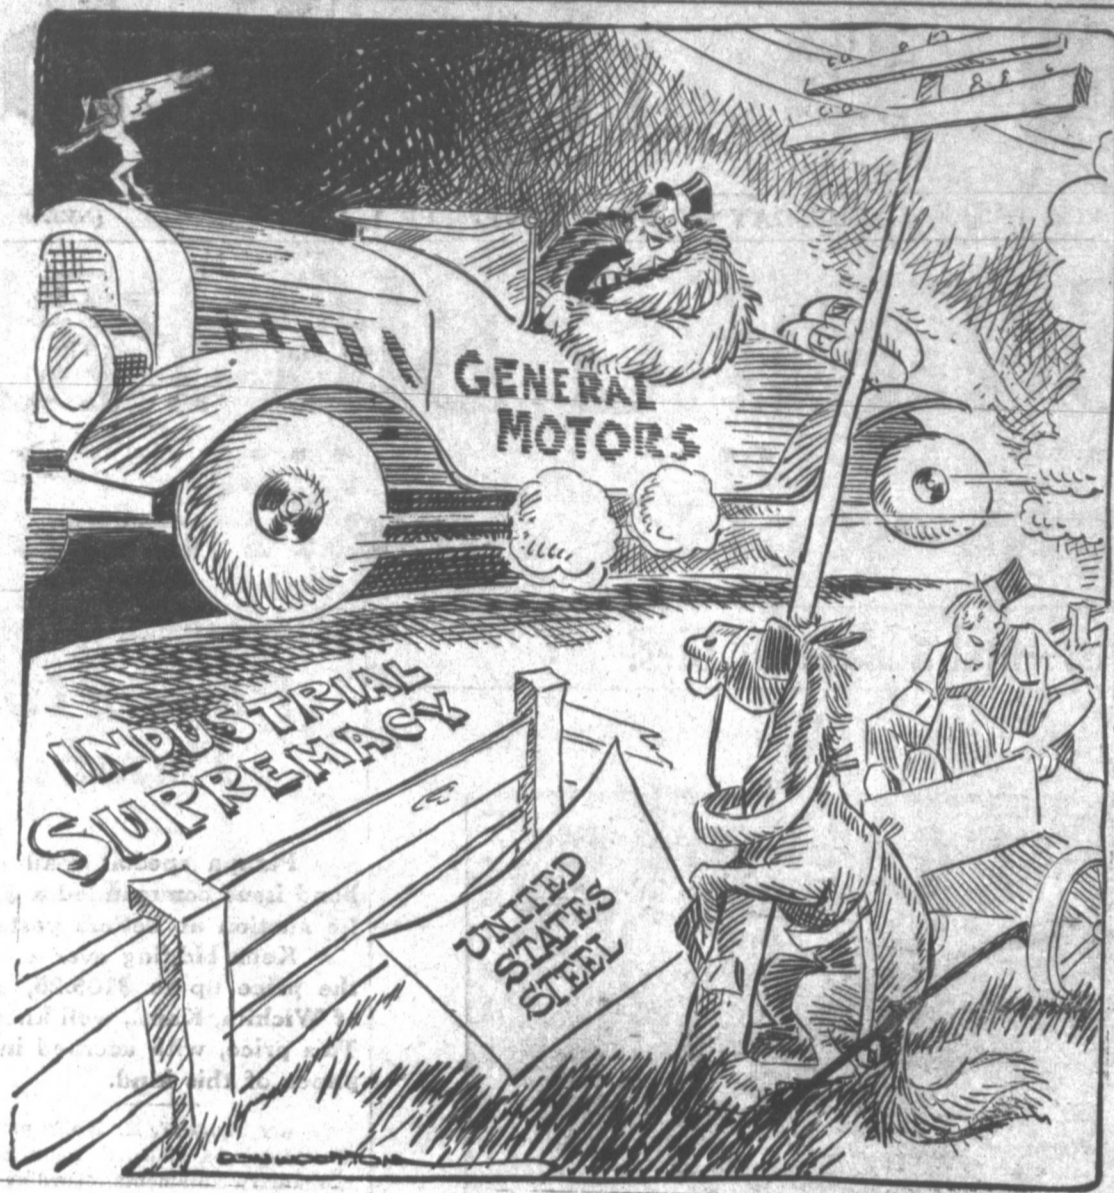

Such being the case, it is desirable to attract as much investment interest as possible, and let the best men make the most of the opportunities offered. Competition is what sent up the price of the road bonds, and yet profits remained for the successful bidder. It was a good sale.

BILLION—A billion dollars is quite a sum, even if you just can't grasp it effectively. A million sounds bigger in a sense, because you can see right away that it is so many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

But a billion dollars represents the value of Texas crops this year. For the third time in the history of the state this peak has been reached. Rare is the occasion when the agriculture of any two other states is worth this huge sum. Despite last year's poor cotton prices, Old Man Texas determined to sow another big crop, and consequently produced 37 per cent of the 1927 crop of the nation.

It was well and good this year, but dangerous as shown by 1926. Yet diversification is gaining. Much corn ripened in the Lone Star State, an amount credited with being the second greatest crop in its history. Grain sorghums are more numerous in acreage, while in wool production the state leads the country. Wyoming dropped to being runner-up when Texas clipped 32,005,000 pounds.

Poultry and stockraising could hardly be more encouraging in aspect. Moreover, Texas' growing population affords a market for fruits and vegetables, so that these rank fifth as a wealth producer. Indeed, these place above wheat, which is sixth in the list.

Miscellaneous items greatly increase the total income, and there seem to be many ways for the farmer to add to his gross revenue. Peanuts, for example, are expected to sell for about $2,500,000.

SIMPLE—General Arnulfo Gomez, lately in flight from the forces of President Calles, Obregon, et al, has issued a statement remarkable for its clarity, whether wholly truthful or not.

Gomez says, in brief, that Obregon saw public sentiment going against his re-election ambitions and contrived to hold a fake revolution in order to have an excuse for executing his principal rivals. According to Gomez, General Martinez and General Almada were ordered to stage the revolt, but both refused. The latter fled with Gomez, and is now hiding with him in the hills near Vera Cruz. General Serrano was less fortunate, and had to face a firing squad. His courage has been the subject of much discussion. Gomez claims Serrano was shot in civilian dress, and that there was no planned revolt.

There is food for thought in Gomez' statement that "If President Coolidge were running for re-election, and Mr. Hoover or Governor Smith were opposing him, and if President Coolidge sent squads of United States regulars to capture his opponents in their homes, sent them secretly out to Kansas and had them shot on the pretext that they were caught leading an armed revolution, the whole world would shudder in horror at the news. It would be incredible. Yet that is what has happened this month in Mexico. And the rigid, drastic government censorship has, I believe, prevented the story from getting out of Mexico."

Gomez may be underwriting his own cause without respect to fact, but he is entitled to a hearing. Strange things have happened in Mexico, and if the Calles' government, which has done much good, is taking such drastic steps that government should receive no encouragement from this country.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Anyone who reads his Washington news will recall that the Federal Radio Commission recently revoked for 90 days the amateur operating license of Eric H. Palmer, Jr., of Brooklyn, on his father's representations that the youth had one foot in the grave as a result of deterioration of his health caused by his fanatical devotion to his radio station.

The fact that the commission actually wrote a lengthy letter to Eric, advising him to go to bed early and eat regular meals, was surprising. So is the thought that here was a father who couldn't control his admittedly weak and undernourished son and had to appeal to the government for help.

But the really significant fact seems to be that Mr. Eric H. Palmer, Sr., is a radio publicity man, with offices in the Times bldg. of New York.

And one will find on the business stationery of Palmer, per, the brief advertisement: "NEWS — C R E A T E D,

CHRONICLED AND INTERPRETED

Some news, it is to be remembered, just happens. Other news is "created."

An enjoyable time was had by all when the delegates to the International Radiotelegraph conference went to New York on a special train for a week-end junket. Many of the delegates encountered new experiences.

There was, for instance, the experience of the German delegate who had never encountered a plate-glass door. In the Savoy-Plaza hotel he attempted to walk right through one of them under the impression that there was no door there at all. Fortunately, no blood was shed.

When time came to return, it was found that a New York newspaper thoughtfully had deposited a copy of its Sunday issue in each seat on the Pullmans reserved for the delegates. This open-handedness was new business for the delegates with the result that, after they had piled into their cars many of them came piling out, insisting that others had their seats as evidenced by the newspapers there. The Americans quickly explained their mistake.

A thrill came to a score or more delegates when the dining car became unhitched from the train at one point on the return trip and the excited gesticulations and explanations in foreign tongues did not subside until it was explained that the engineer and conductor would realize their loss and come right back to pick up the diner.

Then there was the story of the delegate, whose nationality need not be revealed, who arrived at the station here as the party was about to leave for New York and was asked where his luggage was.

"We're only going to be gone two days, aren't we?" he demanded.

TWINKLES

Credit is a great thing, but the Panhandle wouldn't now be in the "white" spot of good business if it were very far "in the red."

Oklahoma seems to be bidding for a part of the fame which is coming to Indiana. Texas without her Fergusonia is somewhat in the shadows, well enough.

We're not so old, but these modern hostleries are a far cry from the old bunks the average Panhandle town afforded. Our good old "tarp" wasn't soft, but it didn't have a population of bedbugs.

With one hundred sheriffs and deputies present in convention, the Post City-Floydada football game at Floydada November 11 probably won't develop any riots.

Miss Ruth Ann Mitchell had as her guests, Miss Audrey Hunter of Elk City, Okla. and Fred Hicks of Canute, Okla., Monday. They returned to their homes today.

A young man needn't look forward to being heavyweight champion or president any more. Any young fellow stands a chance of being chosen the average man.

One of these days we can look for the headline: POOR BOY BECOMES AVERAGE MAN.

We've hardly tagged the World War and put it away on the shelf when along comes Big Bill Thompson and wants to know who won the Revolution.

The Kansas correspondent who wrote that Mr. and Mrs. Somebody-or-Other were driving a new sedan forgot to mention which one had the wheel.

Levine, returning from Europe, declined movie offers, refusing "to make a show of himself." What he probably meant to say was "refusing to continue to make a show of himself."

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Long Runs Plentiful

In looking over the scores of the week-end games recently, I discovered that on one Saturday, no less than 20 runs of from 70 yards to the length of the field were registered throughout the country.

Rather surprised at these statistics I asked a well-known football official how he accounted for it, after he had admitted that the games in which he had worked were featured by more than the average number of long runs.

"The lateral pass, or perhaps better, the fear of it, has spread the lines, thereby setting the stage for good open field runners, possessing speed and a change of pace," was the official's explanation.

Since that was the hope of the lateral pass, it would seem its incorporation into the rules has had the desired effect.

Many Stars Sophomores

What a year this is proving to be for backs playing their first year. Many of the leading teams lost a number of outstanding backfield men at the close of the last season. It was feared their absence would wreck the offense of certain elevens. In a great many cases sophomore backs of 1927 have made the football fans forget about senior stars of 1926.

Just a few of the ending performers gleaned from various sections of the country at random are Marsters of Dartmouth, Welch of Purdue, Thomason of Georgia Tech, Lom of California, Bradford of Alabama and score of others.

By a peculiar coincidence, two of the most discussed backs of the year are named Welch and each sports a "P" on his sweater, one hailing from Purdue, the other from Pittsburgh.

One fear that several coaches have about their sophomore stars is that the strain of the big games may lessen some of their efficiency.

Few Encroached Goals

With more open play than ever on display in football, it is only natural that unencroached goal lines are the decided exception.

In the west, so strong a team as the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame has been scored on in three of the first four games.

On the coast five of the teams that have opposed Stanford, have called on Glen Warner's athletes in six games played. In one of the contests, Stanford was beaten by St. Mary's, while Southern California tied Stanford in another.

Dartmouth, conceded to have one of the best teams in the east, has had its goal line crossed in three of the first five games played.

The forward pass, the lateral pass and other open formations have made it difficult for any coach to provide a defense that isn't impenetrable.

Winning the game regardless of the score is now the slogan of the major teams, who once believed it a disgrace to have a minor college eleven cross its goal line.

British Government Builds Million Homes

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The millionth house to be built under the British government's housing scheme, inaugurated after the world war, has been completed and is ready for occupation.

Government statistics show that England is becoming a nation of small property owners, each individual a small capitalist in his own right.

More than 600,000 new houses will have been bought outright during the period from 1923 until the end of 1927 by middle-class and working-class persons.

A great majority of these houses have been obtained through the installment plan and building and loan societies, by bank mortgage or by special facilities afforded by speculative builders. British building and loan societies advanced $260,750,000 in 1926 for the purchase of houses, building 114,000 people to become the owners of their own property.

Money invested in war savings certificates is more than $3,220,000,000, nearly all from the small capitalist.

Present day motoring also offers an instance of the tendency to acquire property. There are in England 650,000 privately owned motor cars, mostly those of people with strictly moderate means.

French Drivers Win British Grand Prix

BROOKLANDS, Eng.—France has just overwhelmed Great Britain in the British Grand Prix motor race on the sands of Brooklands, winning the first three places.

R. Benoist drove the winning car, covering the 327 miles of straight stretches and sand-banked turns at an average speed of 85.59 miles per hour.

Edmond Bourlier, driving the second car, was beaten by only a hundred yards. Albert Divo finished in third place 1 1/2 laps behind.

Count Conelli of France developed carburetor trouble and came to a stop. He got out and pushed his car unaided one and a half miles to the pits, where it was restarted. Conelli, however, was in such a state of collapse that he was unable to continue. Another driver took his place.

The British entrants dropped out during the course of the race owing to motor trouble.

Worthless Checks

A few worthless checks cause the merchants of Pampa to doubt the value of many checks. Merchants cannot accept your check as payment for merchandise and then hold it for a period of time for collection. They expect to find the cash in the bank at the time the check is issued. Be sure of your bank balance and write checks accordingly.

— MAKE YOUR WORD GOOD! —

Always be sure of your bank balance—never overdraw! The merchants of Pampa have been suffering losses from bad checks. They have banded together in an effort to stop this evil. The following merchants are turning over the hot checks to the county attorney for collection. No mercy is being given to the "hot check artist." If you are "careless" you will be classed with the wilful."

Miss Geraldine Kelly Honored at Schneider Saturday Afternoon

Among the many week-end festivities was the beautiful Hallowe'en bridge party given by Mrs. Alex Schneider Jr., and Mrs. O. K. Baker, honoring Mrs. Baker's guest, Miss Geraldine Kelly of Lincoln, Neb. Mrs. Schneider's apartment tastefully decorated in Hallowe'en colors of orange and black, the theme of which was carried out during the entire afternoon. Lovely fall flowers added to the attractiveness of the rooms.

The guests were first entertained by a novel game of "Coo-Coo," in which each guest found her tally by following the string of a tiny spider. The tallies disclosed the fortunes of those present. At the close of several interesting games, Mrs. Lester Chiles won high prize while Mrs. J. W. Cram was received consolation. Miss Kelly, honor guest, was awarded a lovely guest prize.

Women Working in Wall Street Prefer the Colorful Tea-Rooms

NEW YORK—Wall Street evidently is tiring of the conventional eating places and seeks for its daily lunch period an environment tinged with color.

At least, that's one explanation for a sudden increase in the number of "tea rooms" and "sandwich shoppes" catering to the population of the financial district.

There was a time when shining white floor, walls and ceiling and white-coated attendants registered in the minds of the hungry the sign of a good place to eat. But such chilly establishments now face competition from a growing coterie of bizarre tea rooms painted, within and without, in green and gold, yellow and black, scarlet and blue and other eye-catching combinations of warm colors.

Women especially patronize these colorful eating places. Perhaps the steadily increasing number of women employed in the financial district has created the greater demand for distinctive lunch rooms.

Men employees who must eat in haste and have no time to consider the color scheme of a sandwich's surroundings will find their wants amply satisfied in the older establishments.

Moreover, the decorative tables and counters huddled in a space, often not much more extensive than that of a sizable newsstand are not exactly comfortable to bulkier masculinities.

But women workers seem to find in the city tea rooms that they may dine in comparative freedom from grouchy bosses or domineering and flirtatious clerks.

Not the least of the appeals of the financial femininity is that of the names of the new establishments: "Lunch room" and "restaurant" have become commonplace; it is pleasant and much more impressive to dine at a "pantry shelf" of a cozy "appetite board."

Miss Mitchell Honors Oklahoma Guests Monday

Miss Ruth Ann Mitchell honored her guests, Miss Audrey Hunter, and Fred Hicks of Oklahoma with a delightful dinner Monday evening in her home. The spirit of Hallowe'en was present in the lovely Hallowe'en decorations. Those present at the dinner served were Miss Audrey Hunter, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Mitchell, Fred Hicks, and Jacques Hunter.

Later in the evening, several guests arrived and until a late hour bridge was an entertaining diversion. High score was awarded A. B. Zahn for the gentlemen, while Miss Eleanor Zahn received high score for the ladies.

Menus for the Family

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Baked apples, cereal, cream, scrambled eggs with crisp bacon, delicate muffins, marmalade, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Boiled macaroni with cheese sauce, sliced tomatoes with French dressing, raisin pie, milk, tea.

DINNER—Broiled salmon steaks, parsley butter, scalloped potatoes, creamed green beans, radishes, jellied pears with whipped cream, milk, coffee.

While children four to six years of age should not have the crust of the raisin pie, they may have some of the filling. However, a baked apple left from breakfast can be made interesting to the average four-year-old for his luncheon dessert if its garnished with a cube of bright jelly and half a teaspoonful of finely chopped nuts are sprinkled over the top.
