Standard Oil Official Is Acquitted of His Refusal to Give Facts

R. W. STEWART WINS BIG SUIT IN WASHINGTON

Accused Man Is Jubilant and Thanks the Jurors

PERJURY ISSUE STILL UNCERTAIN

Attorney Scores Senate in Statement After Verdict

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(P)—The acquittal of Robert W. Stewart was termed an "outrage against justice" by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee.

"It is an outrage against justice," he said. "It demonstrates clearly that if you have money enough to hire lawyers, you will be found not guilty, even though you admit that you are guilty."

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(P)—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Indiana Standard Oil company, was acquitted today by a jury in the District of Columbia Supreme Court of charges of refusing to answer questions of the Senate oil committee concerning Liberty bond oil profits of the Continental Trading company.

The wealthy oil man was charged with a misdemeanor for alleged violation of Section 102 of the criminal code which provides punishment for a regularly summoned witness to refuse to answer pertinent questions asked last February by the committee were not pertinent.

Stewart is grateful for the jury verdict in the court room after being out since 1:05 yesterday afternoon. As the foreman pronounced him "not guilty" a smile wreathed his face and he walked over and shook hands with each of the eight men and four women who had cleared him of the charges.

Stewart was surrounded by his counsel and friends who congratulated him upon the acquittal that climaxed his fight against questions asked by the Senate committee which the oil man held had nothing to do with the subject of the inquiry and in reality were only inquiries concerning his private affairs. He declined, however, to make any statement, saying that possibly later in the day he would have something to say at his hotel.

United States Attorney Rover declined to make any comment upon the verdict of the jury.

Frank H. Hogan counsel for Stewart declared:

"This is another case of the citizens of the District of Columbia resenting in an unqualified manner the era of political persecution born in Senatorial investigation committees and sent to the courts with senatorial orders to convict. It is time that the Walshes, Nyses, and Norrises should learn that procedure of that kind cannot prevail in this capital city."

"The defense did not challenge a man or woman on the jury. The jury was picked by the court and the case was picked by the Senate. Notice should be taken by the Senate and everyone that you cannot railroad innocent men in this district."

Acquittal of the misdemeanor charge does not entirely clear Stewart that resulted from his appearance before the Senate committee. His testimony on the opposition of his first and last appearance was certified to the district attorney and presented to the grand jury. An indictment on a charge of perjury was asked of the grand jury which is expected to return its decision to the court within a few days.

General Nobile Is Feeling Reasonably Sure of Rescue

By O. ARNESEN, Correspondent of the Associated Press.

(Copyrighted, 1928, by the Associated Press.)

King's Bay Spitzbergen, June 14.—(P)—General Umberto Nobile, and five men of the crew of the Italia stranded with him off Northern Land, believe that they are now virtually safe.

In communications exchanges between the Citta de Milano and the Nobile party, Giuseppe Biagi, radio operator for the stranded men, said that the group, which has been waiting rescue for almost three weeks, felt that safety was in sight.

This response, which which was not elaborated, was felt at King's Bay to indicate that the party is now so near Boeck Island or Foynne Island that they could get ashore or that with the news of the various rescue expeditions hastening to their aid they felt sure they would be saved.

On the following Monday, the county executive committee will meet to determine the order of these names on the ballot and to estimate election expenses.

Rotary Attitude on Community Service Is Subject of Address

Frank Keim, former president of the Wichita Falls Rotary club and at present connected with the Continental Oil company here, gave the principal address at the regular weekly luncheon of the Rotary club at the Schneider hotel yesterday.

The responsibility of the individual Rotarian to his community was the topic of the address. Keim stressed the fact that the individual owes his community a debt for the opportunities and privileges given him, and that he should attempt to repay the debt by giving his best to the community.

Entertaining numbers were given by members of the Harley Sadler show. The Radio Boys, Dude Vance on the accordion and Bert Wilburn on the banjo; Bart Couch, tenor; and The Vaggies with musical and juggling acts were highly entertaining.

Demonstrations Greet Fiery Speeches Declaring Party Must Meet Issue or Die

CONVENTION HALL, Kansas City, June 14 (AP)—Upholding the majority of its platform committee, the Republican national convention today rejected a minority farm plank based on the principles of the vetoed McNary-Haugen bill. It had been proposed by Earl C. Smith, a Lowden delegate from Illinois.

CONVENTION HALL, Kansas City, June 14 (AP)—A farm bloc protest with the ring of a challenge sounded through convention hall today as the Republican party proceeded toward the final ratification of the platform for 1928.

Interrupting a succession of its own speakers, as they gave militant notice that the farm states really were aroused for the McNary-Haugen bill, the anti-Hoover coalition of delegates centering around Lowden of Illinois carried away convention decorum with a ten-minute demonstration in defiance of the convention gavel.

While a farm leader in a gallery acted as cheer leader they whooped it up with such a din as the convention had not heard since it met last Tuesday, and were quiet only when the convention chairman told them that more speechmaking against the proposed administration farm plank was still to come.

This plank itself, which promised farm relief but leaves out all mention of the equalization fee, was defended by a relay of speakers under the captaincy of Representative Fort of New Jersey, the Hoover floor leader, while the states whose delegations stand against the McNary-Haugen bill took their turn at noisy approbation.

Earl C. Smith of Illinois, speaking first for the supporters of an equalization fee endorsement in the party platform told the convention that if it expected the support of the Republican farmers of the Middle West, the time had come to abandon "Generalities" in national conventions.

Frank W. Murphy, also an Illinoisian and an active worker in Washington for the McNary-Haugen bill, went on to warn his fellow delegates that "you cannot fool the farmers any more with platform pledges; while others, including Gov. McMullen of Nebraska, not only asked for a "real farm plank," but advocated also the selection of a Middle Western candidate for president.

Chairman Urges Faster Progress

BY BYRON PRICE
CONVENTION HALL, KANSAS CITY, June 14.—(P)—Coming together for a farm relief fight that everybody conceded to be as good as ever before it began, the Republican national convention was urged along by its officers today toward completion of a platform and nomination of a presidential candidate by nightfall.

disabled veterans. Public utilities: continuation of state regulations. Navy: Maintenance of Navy in all classes of ships to full ratio in Washington treaty.

National defense: Drafting of resources as well as citizens in times of emergency. Indians: Creation of commission to investigate existing system of Indian administration.

Negro: Enactment of federal anti-lynching law.

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—(P)—The equalization fee principle of the twice-vetoed McNary-Haugen bill constitutes the basis of the farm relief plank proposed to the Republican convention today by a minority of the resolutions committee as a substitute for the plank incorporated in the platform in its stead by a 35 to 15 vote.

Ordered to run to a wheat field, the victims did so, and Bradford was somewhat scratched getting through a barbed wire fence.

After the hijackers left in their Chevrolet coach, the local men returned to the truck. Wiring had been torn from the contact points, and two hours' work was required to fix the motor.

BIG ROBBERY IS SIDE SHOW AT CONVENTION

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—(P)—Six or seven bandits today held up the Home Trust company at 1119 Walnut, in the downtown district here, and escaped with loot estimated approximately at $50,000. Two policemen and a bystander were shot by the robbers as they fled from the bank.

Walnut street was crowded with delegates and others on their way to convention hall, six blocks away, for today's session of the Republican national convention when the holdup occurred. The jammed downtown streets aided the robbers in their escape.

J. B. Smith, traffic officer at Eleventh and Walnut, was shot in the neck and shoulder. His condition was reported dangerous. Patrolman Wiggins was shot in the leg, and an unidentified woman, standing more than a block from the bank, was wounded in the leg. The bandits fired with shotguns in their race away from the bank building.

Pampa Men Are Robbed by Six Bandits on Road

Six hold-up men are believed responsible for an attempt to rob the Farmers' Grain and Elevator company of Kingsmill and the hijacking of three local men on the Amarillo highway last night.

The elevator office was broken into and the safe opened, but only worthless papers were taken, these being examined a short distance north of Kingsmill and strewn on the prairie.

Then presumably the men went back to the Amarillo highway and turned toward White Deer. Two miles beyond that town they came upon the local men, Toy Johnson, Ernest Bradford, and Carl Loosier, who were stopped at 12:30 to fix a tire. The Pampans, who operated a truck line, were ordered to throw up their hands.

They were searched, Johnson losing about $19 and Loosier $1. Bradford had no money, and was beaten about the head and cursed because of the fact.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing, or reputation of any individual, firm, concern, or corporation that may appear in the columns of the Pampa Daily News will be gladly corrected when called to the attention of the editor.

PAMPA'S GROWTH could hardly be more gratifying, in the absence of a boom, than it is now, especially with respect to the larger structures.

Of first magnitude is the railroad line from Pampa to Cheyenne, Okla., started by Frank Kell but just taken over by the Santa Fe. Pampa paid a bonus to obtain part of the right-of-way, and the only delay that has arisen grew out of the Santa Fe's request to be allowed to buy the line.

Purchase by the Santa Fe may have surprised a few citizens, but the deal was not unexpected and will mean a better road than otherwise would have been built. Construction is starting at Pampa and hundreds of men and teams will be employed on the job within a short time.

Moreover, completion of the line should encourage location of industries and wholesale houses. The Pampa Refining company's plant near here was established by Reese Allen associates of Wichita Falls largely because of the railroad.

The oil industries will be encouraged by the road. Carbon black and gasoline plants are coming fast. It is said that many can be established merely as means for conserving waste gas. Perhaps the time is not far off when glass plants or smelters will locate in this vicinity. Failure of gas supplies at established factories will compel removal of several plants in the Southwest within the next few years.

Early in July work will start on two ward buildings and the gymnasium-auditorium, and will continue until well after the opening of school. A large number of men will be employed on these buildings in the interest of speed.

Contract for the fine Baptist church, likely will be let tonight. The Methodist church has considerable work to do on its modern structure, including installation of a pipe organ. Settlement of the county seat election contest will result in immediate work on the new courthouse. Since all state precedents are to sustain the will of the majority of voters, it is believed unthinkable that this election will be reversed.

The commissioners evidently are of this belief, for they have plans nearly completed for the building and have picked out the brick to be used after visiting courthouses in neighboring counties.

Several business buildings are going up, several are being started, and others are taking form in the minds of site owners. Two of the newest are being started by Curtis Clem and by J. S. Wynne on North Cuyler south of the Brunow building. These, of two stories, will help solve the office demand and will close a gap in this important business sector.

Nor should the residence building be overlooked. Permits are growing in number for this class of work, and general indications point to a steady growth in the various additions. The demand for rent houses is equally keen, and were rents not so high many new people would move here. Perhaps Pampa's rents are not exorbitant for rapidly developing oil centers, but they are high enough to hurt the city's immediate prospects for growth.

The most encouraging factor in local development is the permanency which is everywhere apparent. It is beyond argument that there is room for a North Plains metropolis in this section of the Panhandle. Every opportunity lies before Pampa as this center. The purpose of a metropolis is to serve the surrounding territory. Pampa must catch this vision and boost her neighbors. The best builders of any commercial center are the people of the surrounding territory. Mere boosting, or rooting, by loud spoken citizens will not do the work.

And our oil must be mentioned. Within a few months Gray county will lead the Panhandle in production. Her oil is of the highest gravity in this section. Th oil is accompanied by huge gas stores. There will be oil drilling and manufacture of oil products in this community for many years.

Believe in Pampa's future, but believe wisely and boost for steady, permanent growth.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—What is so rare as a state without vice presidential candidates for both parties?

The army of second place aspirants has been enormously swelled this year by the paucity of candidates for the presidential nomination. And, of course, some of the favorite son candidates for first place are obviously really candidates for the vice presidency, for all their denials.

The second nomination presents problems for both parties.

It is invariably governed by sectional considerations and usually goes to a doubtful state for its man. In 1928 there will be plenty of doubtful states and serious sectional problems for both parties.

The Republicans, for instance, face the desirability of throwing a stop to the farm states along with their worries about carrying New York and the east against Governor Smith.

The Democrats, on the other hand, must decide whether to make a bid to the agricultural states by finding a running mate for Smith among them or whether to go down below the Mason-Dixon line in an attempt to keep the dry south happy.

At this writing the strongest vice presidential candidates here are Assistant Attorney General Wild Bill Donovan and Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., both of New York.

Of those two Donovan undoubtedly has the edge. He is a Catholic and his supporters believe his nomination would split the Irish vote, of which Smith would get the great bulk in November.

The Fish boosters, however, claim their man could carry the negro vote of Harlem, which has heretofore been controlled by Tammany. This, they say, would give the Republicans New York state, without which Smith can't win.

Massachusetts presumably will support Governor Alvin T. Fuller, but there is as yet no disposition to regard Massachusetts as a seriously doubtful state and Fuller is hardly likely to arouse any enthusiasm. The principal other New England candidate is Senator George Higgins Moses of New Hampshire. Moses would not spurn the nomination, but it is doubtful whether New Hampshire has enough electoral votes to attract it.

New Jersey once had hopes for Senator Walter E. Edge. These waned somewhat when Edge failed to produce a solid New Jersey delegation for Hoover, but Edge isn't to be counted out of the picture entirely. The several New Jersey Coolidge delegates were pro-Hoover.

Cincinnati Gets Stronger in Face of Giant Threats

(By The Associated Press.) The Cincinnati bubble may burst, but the suspicion in New York is that any such bursting probably will occur right in the faces of the giants—if, indeed, it has not already occurred.

The Cincinnati host was in Philadelphia Thursday with three Giant scalps to show for four engagements at the Polo Grounds. The Rhinelanders pulled out yesterday's game, 5 to 3, in the tenth after permitting the Giants to climb into tie with two runs in the eighth. The game was a pitcher's battle between Jack Hendricks and John McGraw, with Jack flashing four against only three for John.

At Boston Rogers Hornsby drew into the home run leadership of the National league by clubbing his thirtieth and raised his personal batting figure to .413, but the Cardinals ran away with the ball game 11 to 8.

Charley Riggler probably escaped a reversal by the league head when Brooklyn won from the Cubs at Ebbets field, 7 to 2. With the Robin leading, 5 to 1, in the fifth, Bressler was on first with one out. Del Bissonette raised a foul which Hartnett juggled three times and then caught Bressler, acting within his rights, tagged up and raced for second the moment the ball first touched the catcher's glove.

Umpire Hart at first base ruled Bressler out when Hartnett threw to Grim, but Umpire Jordan, at third caused Hart to reverse the ruling. Riggler, the umpire in-chief, then changed the decision back again, and Bressler was officially but incorrectly out.

The Phillies ended the spurt of the Pirates by rallying against Bureleigh Grimes in the ninth for three runs which won, 4 to 3.

The American League situation remained much the same. The Yankees outclassed the White Sox to win, 8 to 6, in a game notable for the absence of home runs.

Old Jack Quinn flashed back into form at Detroit, and the Athletics won easily, 12 to 5.

Washington rallied in the ninth at Cleveland, but fell just short enough to enable the Indians to win, 8 to 7 on some good pitching by Shante—much better pitching than the score indicates.

DROWNED YOUTH LOST

PORT ARTHUR, June 14.—(AP)—J. W. Hess, Jr., 20, of Elmira, N. Y., was drowned about 2 a. m. today when a car in which he was riding with five other men plunged from the ferry across the Neches river near here. His body has not been recovered.

ON TONIGHT'S BOXING CARD

Walter Varner (right) has a splendid record as a clever boxer. He meets 3rd Young tonight at the Pla-Mor. Young, by-the-way, is no slouch in the ring himself. The card tonight is a double main event. The program begins at 8.30 p. m.

At the left, above is Jack Doss, the fighting lad with a powerful wallop in his left. He is scheduled to meet Roy Fisher tonight at the Pla-Mor in 10-round go as a part of a double main event. Both boys have been in hard training several days and are in first class condition for the fracas. Their weight is 143 and 145 pounds, respectively.

Pete Latzo Looks Great in Beating Tough Leo Lomski

NEW YORK, June 14.—(AP)—Victory over Leo Lomski, light-heavyweight of Aberdeen, Wash., appeared today to have clinched for Pete Latzo, former welterweight champion, another shot at his arch rival, Mickey Walker, king of the middleweights.

Reeling about the ring under a barrage of left and right hooks that seemed about to finish him any moment, Lomski drove a full right, deep into Latzo's groin in the sixth round of their ten-round match at Ebbets field last night and was promptly disqualified for fouling. Lomski has been scheduled to battle Walker in a non-title ten round go in the big National league ball park July 4.

Lato sealed 170 pounds last night. After the first two rounds, during which Lomski's right hand dug deep in the Scranon miner's body, Pete battered Leo's head with curling left and right hooks and had him at his mercy when the low blow was struck.

Great Pitching Again Is Feature in Texas League

(By The Associated Press.) Stirred to their best by the wave of slugging that has well-nigh engulfed them recently, Texas league pitchers Wednesday showed some of the classiest hurling seen in the loop this season.

his game, one shutout and two one-run contests were recorded, and with the exception of the league-leading Houston Buffs the batsmen were at the mercy of the boxmen.

Kiefer pitched the shutout and led Wichita Falls to a 1 to 0 victory over Fort Worth into third place in the percentage column that had been held by San Antonio.

Hallahan gave Beaumont five hits, fanned thirteen, and helped Houston to a 2 to 1 victory.

Andy Messenger of San Antonio was the hard-luck artist of the day. He allowed Waco three hits, but the Cubs won, 2 to 1, as a result of a walk, a wild throw, a double by blackberry and a single by battle in the third inning. Elliott was touched for eight hits, but was invincible when hits meant runs.

Dallas bunched hits in the first and fifth innings and defeated Shreveport, 3 to 2.

When A Girl Loves © 1928 by NEA Service by RUTH DEWEY GROVES. THIS HAS HAPPENED VIRGINIA BREWSTER, after losing both father and wealth, consents to marry her father's enemy, CLARRISSA DEAN and her father, HER NAME, NATHANIEL DANN, objects to this for he mistrusts DEAN'S motives. Meanwhile, DEAN plots to get NIEL, Virginia's fiance, to marry her, and later is forced to pay blackmail to a MRS. FARLEY or face a scandal. CLARRISSA becomes jealous of VIRGINIA, and the latter resolves to leave, but DEAN insists that she marry him, saying that she cannot endure poverty. When she refuses, he threatens to reveal the fact that her father cheated him out of $100,000 in a bootlegging deal. Rocklessly, she promises to earn enough to repay him in one year—or marry him. VIRGINIA leaves, but has to pawn a ring to tide over until she can find a solution. She goes to NIEL's studio to tell him of her break with the DEANS, but her joy at seeing him is clouded because she does not reveal her consent with DEAN, and also because of the familiarity with which his model, CHIRI, treats NIEL. She goes to an employment agency seeking work and is sent out to interview one of the "newly-rich" imbeciles. She returns to the agency to report and is surprised to find a man following her. Discouraged, she goes to her hotel to see the hole awarded and is accosted to find orchids from DEAN awaiting her. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVII "EST you forget what the world has to offer," Virginia read on Frederick Dean's card. It seemed to her, as she stared at the bit of pasteboard, that she could see his jeering smile behind the words, mocking her fight with him, taunting her with her misfortune. She was tempted to throw the fragile blooms across the room with the same fury that she tore his card to bits but their beauty restrained her. Hastily she replaced them in the box and put on the lid. "What a horrid thing to do," she considered, frightened a little that the ignoble gesture of flaunting a symbol of what she had lost could upset her so greatly. To be disturbed was to admit her enemy's power, she knew. The thought so occupied her that she overlooked the astonishing fact that Dean had her address. When it did at last occur to her she puzzled over it in much annoyance until she solved the question. She assumed he had got it from someone at her former home. "I should have left instructions not to give my address to anyone," she regretted, provoked with herself. "But who could have guessed that even Frederick Dean would be so contemptible as to mock me with things that I love!" Her afternoon was now thoroughly saturated with gloom. There was nothing she could do but wait for a call from Nathaniel. She sat huddled in a chair, her head on her arms and her eyes feverishly dry, trying to hold her courage together by the will to do it. Bitter loneliness, bitter despair, crept up and sought to take possession of her soul, but Virginia fought them off with the thought of her ultimate happiness if victory were hers. "It must be! It must be! Oh, dear God, help me!" But help seemed very far away and the orchids on the bed were so near. Time dragged along in weary, heavy seconds and endless minutes until—was it really so?—Nathaniel telephoned. He noticed at once when he came for her that Virginia's spirits were very low and he set himself to cheer her up, but there was no flash of spontaneity in her mind or heart. The day's events had dulled her, robbed her of all semblance of gaiety. She saw understanding and sympathy in Niel's eyes as he talked to her over a table in an East Side restaurant to which they had gone for the Russian music. Virginia tried to appear interested in the menu of foreign dishes but gave it up and let Nathaniel order for her. The best soup with sour cream she ate because she knew he would be troubled if she refused all food. After that she finished her dinner with tea and lemon in tall glasses. Nathaniel spoke of the music, enjoyed it, but it seemed to Virginia that the plaintive notes of the balalaikas would break her heart. "Virginia, dear, have you any plans?" Nathaniel asked quietly when the music crashed to silence. She reached out and laid a hand on his, a gesture of gratitude for his patience. "Not exactly," she said, shaking her head; "but you know, Niel, I've got to prove to myself that I can stand on my own feet. It's everyone's right to have that chance." "But you didn't seem to think about that when . . . when . . ." "I know . . . when father was alive," she finished for him. "I just took everything for granted in those happy days. Niel. Perhaps if it had occurred to me to want to make my own living I might have tried it, but I doubt it," she added honestly. "I don't want to upset you with arguments, dear, but I can't see why you should be so keen about it now." "Because I'm forced to make a living or admit that someone else must do it for me," Virginia told him. "I never gave a thought to whether or not I was entitled to all the good things that dad's money bought for me, but it's all very different now. I want to make sure, Niel darling, that I won't be just a leech on you." "Please don't say such silly things." "It isn't silly, Niel, and you know it. If it were any other girl control, the growing almost hourly, the delegates appeared convinced that about all that remained to be decided was the size of the vote by which the convention was to adopt a declaration of principles in full harmony with the policies of the Republican administration and then nominate President Coolidge's secretary of commerce to head the ticket. The vice-presidency, however, still was very much in doubt, and Hoover's running mate probably will not be selected until tomorrow.

Smoot Is Gaunt

Senator Smoot of Utah, head of the platform committee and center of the day and night unsuccessful struggle for a compromise farm relief plank that would avert a floor fight was one of the earliest arrivals. Looking even taller than usual, he mounted the speakers platform, got himself set before the big silver "mike" and made an adjustment in the location of the small speaker's table, so that he would be prepared for the moment when he was to lay before the convention the finished product of his long labors.

The new permanent chairman, Senator Moses, was busy also in miscellaneous preliminaries.

Moses helped lug in a big American flag, with gold fringe, mounted on a twelve-foot wooden standard, with a gold eagle at the top. The standard was set up to one side of the speakers' table. It was to be the Central decoration for a part of the program taking cognizance of Flag Day.

Butler Not Pleased

While the chairman and other convention officials puttered around with last minute details, Nicholas Murray Butler, the irrepresible president of Columbia and a delegate-at-large from New York, came up to give the once-over to the Borah prohibition plank, placed in the proposed platform over the protest of Butler and others of the platform committee. It pledges the party to strict enforcement of the prohibition amendment by name.

After a good look at Mr. Borah's handwork, Dr. Butler said he would take his fight against the plank to the convention floor.

Three minutes before the opening hour Senator Moses began to whack the table with his big wooden mallet, shouting for the delegates to take their seats. To a casual observer un-schooled in the niceties of parliamentary practice, it appeared very doubtful indeed whether a quorum was present, but the chairman was determined to go ahead. The galleries still were at least nine-tenths empty.

Neither delegates nor spectators, such of them as were present, paid any attention to Moses' petition for order, but he persisted in his determination to start on time, or ahead of time, willy nilly.

After preliminaries, the chairman recognized Senator Smoot to present the platform. The rules of the House of Representatives were in effect, limiting speeches to five minutes each, but Senator Moses said he would entertain motions to suspend the rules to permit speakers to have "ten minutes—and no more."

Smoot got a good hand as he stepped up before the microphones and began to read the platform.

There was a spatter of applause from widely scattered sections of the hall when Smoot read the promise for aid to cooperative marketing and one or two longer bursts of applause as he went on down through the phrases dealing with tariff and other considerations and winding up with the declaration for "economic equality" for agriculture.

Smoot finished the reading in one hour and fifteen minutes and then Chairman Moses recognized Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., who presented a minority plank. The Wisconsin delegation stood up and cheered and the youthful senator was given applause by the other delegates and galleries.

Young Bob Talks

LaFollette, in a brief introductory speech said Wisconsin always had sent a progressive delegation to the national convention and always presented a minority plank. LaFollette declared that while the first of the platform Wisconsin offered had been "hissed and jeered" in the convention, 32 of the 38 proposals which had been made have been written into the law.

This brought a whooping cheer from some sections of the convention with a yell from the south gallery "atta boy, Bob".

The young senator read his minority platform with vigorous gestures and in a clear strong voice.

LaFollette got a real cheer from the galleries and some of the delegates when he read his proposed farm relief plank which declared for the equalization fee.

The fighting speech of LaFollette

Wurzbach Will Continue Fight

BY L. D. DILBECK
KANSAS CITY, June 14.—(AP)—

Congressman Harry Wurzbach is going to continue his fight against the Creager-dominated Texas Republican organization when he returns from the national convention in which the Creager delegates were seated Wednesday.

Wurzbach remained as a spectator Thursday while the victorious delegation selected by the "regular" state convention, controlled by national committeeman, R. B. Creager, returned to the hall expecting to cast its 36 votes for Hoover for president and start home possibly Friday.

Many of the district elected delegates, led by Wurzbach and C. C. Littleton of Fort Worth in a fruitless contest of the Creager-seats, have returned to Texas.

"I am going to take up the fight again when I get back home," Mr. Wurzbach, only Republican congressman from Texas, said. "I don't care what they say about the merits of the contest. I believe the convention would have upheld the district elected delegates in preference to Mr. Creager's delegation picked by the state convention if the case had come up after the presidential nominee was selected. Men really with us on the principle that national delegates should be chosen by the districts voted on the other side to avoid the appearance of opposing Mr. Hoover."

The congressman is a candidate for re-election. The Republican nomination convention will be in the latter part of July. Mr. Wurzbach is opposed so far by two Democrats, Augustus McCloskey and A. D. Rogers of San Antonio, whom he claims the Creager organization is supporting.

"They don't want a Republican congressman—he might get to distribute some of the federal patronage," Wurzbach said. "There is an organization existing for power."
