TEXANS DIFFER ON AL SMITH'S SPEECH

Texas Company Announces 6 Locations In Central Gray County

DRILLING WILL COMMENCE AT ONCE ON MOST LeFors Area to Get Big Play by Holders of Best Land SEMI-WILDCATS ARE INCLUDED Wheeler County Tests to Be Drilled in Two Blocks

Announcement was made this morning by the Texas company that six locations have been made and that drilling will commence immediately on most of the locations. Most of the locations are in the LeFors area and the southeastern part of the county.

Other companies have announced locations to be drilled immediately in Gray and Wheeler counties.

The Texas company's locations include:

No. 1 Bruce Bull, in the northeast corner of the northeast quarter of section 2, block B-2, H. and G. N. survey. This location is a west offset to the LeFors Petroleum company's No. 2 Shaw, the discovery well of the LeFors pool.

No. 2 M. E. Davis, in the center of section 4, block 1, A. C. H. and B. survey.

No. 3 Henry Thut, in the southeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 1, I. and G. N. survey of the LeFors townsite.

No. 4 A. Chapman, 1.113 feet north and 330 feet south of the southwest corner of the east half of section 51, block 25, H. and G. N. survey.

No. 5 McLarty-Lester, 330 feet south and 330 feet west of the northeast corner of the west half of the southwest quarter of section 1, block 1, A. C. H. and B. survey.

No. 6 E. Fay in the northwest corner of section 1, B. and B. survey, east of the company's producers in section 3, block 8.

Other locations announced this week include the Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 2 Harrah in section 150 block 3, west of Pampa and the same company's No. 2 Archer in section 117, block 3.

In Wheeler county Hartson, Anderson, Bechtel et al., will drill a well in section 33, block 17 on the J. Turnbull lease.

The Lone Star Gas company will drill its No. 1 Shelton in section 22 block 24, and its No. 1 Ackley in section 20, block 24, both in Wheeler county.

Civil Case Will Continue Friday

Sharp exchanges between Charlie Cook and Dr. V. E. von Brunow, defendant in a $3,394.72 claim suit entered by J. R. McClain today featured the case which opened Tuesday morning. Up to this afternoon only four witnesses had been heard and it is thought the case will continue through tomorrow.

Besides the plaintiff and the defendant, only two other witnesses have been heard.

The Weather Vane

THE WEATHER: West Texas—Tonight cloudy, thundershowers; cooler in north portion; Friday partly cloudy cooler in southeast portion.

The Vane: The Grays came through—you can't go far wrong boosting Pampa—grand jurors want home brewed—probably needs it—and labels too, where it came from—these extemporaneous acceptance speeches don't sound very "sudden"—modern marriages ought to have stricter contracts—"I Do," if, whereas, providing nevertheless—the height of insignificance is to go unasked for a statement on the presidency—vote Saturday unless you feel mentally incompetent—you don't.

GREENLAND SHERIFF REPORTS HAVING SEEN PLANE SUNDAY

More Information on Sidewalks Asked

George W. Briggs, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and Kenneth Taylor, representing the post office department, made a trip to Amarillo yesterday to confer with Postoffice Inspector R. E. Johnson about the free delivery service in Pampa and to give him a map prepared by the Chamber of Commerce showing the amount of paving and sidewalk in the city.

Mr. Johnson suggested that more data be gathered concerning the amount of sidewalk to be laid in the immediate future and encouraged the naming of streets and numbering of houses, which is necessary before free mail delivery can be put into effect.

He also stated that Pampa should have more sidewalks as outside the business section only East Francis, East Kingsmill avenue, West Francis, East Kingsmill avenue and North Somerville street have enough paving for free delivery service.

The Chamber of Commerce and postal department will gather more data and get more facts on the sidewalk and numbering situation to present to the inspector.

Gober Is Out of Amarillo Play

Manager Ed Gober of the Pampa Grays is walking on crutches this morning and will be unable to play any more in the Amarillo tournament. The veteran turned his ankle sliding into second base during the game yesterday afternoon with Texas.

His hitting will be missed in the lineup, but Neil is a capable first baseman and a hitter, while Gus Ketchum is not new to the keystone position.

Mrs. C. S. Rice and children are spending this week with relatives in Oklahoma. They accompanied Mrs. Rice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood of Canyon, who came here for them and made a short visit in the Rice home earlier in the week.

Judge Decides Miss Anastasia Smith Was Never a Boy, or Vice Versa.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—(P)—Miss Anastasia Smith, one year old, might have a good laugh for herself today had she been able to look back and comprehend all the trouble she caused twelve months ago when the famous Smith baby case at Fairland Park hospital attracted national attention to her.

Dolled up in a new white dress and a new pair of shoes, Miss Anastasia arrived in the courtroom of common pleas Judge Carl V. Weyandt. She gave the judge a knowing glance as though she had seen him somewhere before.

A year ago she was born in Fairview Park hospital. Her mother called her "little son," and even the nurses noted in the hospital record that she was a boy. Then all of a sudden she became a girl.

SHORT BALLOT IS READY FOR SECOND VOTING

Braly's Name to Be Retained—Also Love's

NO JURISDICTION IN 31ST DISTRICT

Ten Races Left for Decisions of Second Primary

Gray county voters will go to the polls Saturday to decide finally on races which were too close to be decisive in the first primary.

The second primary's short ballot should speed up the counting, and especially in the Pampa voting precinct, make the work lighter for the judges. By the time of the general election in November, this precinct will be divided into four polling districts.

The Civil Appeals court in Amarillo this week refused to rule on Walter Allen's appeal from an adverse 31st district court decision at Miami, where Judge Reese Ewing refused to grant an injunction barring the name of Clifford Braly from the ballots. The Amarillo court held that since the district court had no jurisdiction over a petition for a permanent injunction, it had no jurisdiction either. Mr. Allen had alleged that his opponent was not resident in the district.

Another election day service will be provided by the Pampa Daily News Saturday.

Returns from county boxes will be gathered as soon as possible after the polls close, and the Texas Election Bureau will send state returns in bulletin form every 15 minutes. Come down and look 'em over.

The name of Tom Love for lieutenant governor appears with that of Barry Miller on Gray county ballots, but Mr. Love's withdrawal eliminates a contest there.

The Gray county ballot:

For U. S. Senator—Tom Connally, Earle B. Mayfield

For Lieutenant Governor—Thos. B. Love, Barry Miller.

For State Superintendent—W. F. Garner, S. M. N. Marrs.

For Commissioner Land Office—J. T. Robinson, Otis Terrell.

For District Attorney—Clifford Braly, Walter Allen.

For Sheriff and Tax Collector—S. A. Hurst, E. S. Graves.

For Commissioner, Precinct 1—John R. White, M. B. Davis.

For Commissioner, Precinct 2—Lewis O. Cox, W. A. Taylor.

For Commissioner, Precinct 3—Thos. O. Kirby, H. G. McCleskey.

For Constable, Precinct 2—G. H. Parrish, Herman Wachtendorf.

Mrs. W. E. Taylor returned home Monday from Wichita, Kans., where she had visited her daughter and a new grand-son.

DEPUTY SHOT IN LIQUOR RAID

Negro Sought as Killer at Nacogdoches Today

NACOGDOCHES, Aug. 23.—(P)—Deputy Sheriff John Hargis was fatally wounded today while conducting a liquor raid with Deputies Helms and Chance.

A negro is sought in the shooting.

HOUSTON, Aug. 23.—(P)—One man was killed and another severely injured when a new boiler which was being tested at a plant of the Houston Lighting and Power company exploded today. The dead man had not been identified, but the injured man was J. K. Swinford, engineer foreman.

IN POLITICS

(By The Associated Press)

ALBANY, N. Y.—Governor Smith accepted the Democratic nomination for president.

CIDAR RAPIDS, Iowa—Herbert Hoover spent a day conferring with farm leaders and editors of farm journals regarding the agricultural problem.

ALBANY, N. Y.—Senator Robinson, attending the Smith notification ceremonies, got an ovation from the crowd.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Senator Curtis, arriving for a speech here, said the states he passed through on the way from Washington seemed favorable to Republican chances.

WASHINGTON — Republican and Democratic leaders found fault and praised Smith's acceptance speech.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa—Senator Nye, Republican independent of North Dakota, declared his support of Hoover after a conference with the nominee.

OMAHA, Neb.—Dr. Jennie M. Callfas, three times Democratic national committeewoman for Nebraska, said she would oppose Smith because of his views on prohibition.

UNION CITY, N. J.—The Hudson Dispatch said former Congressman E. W. Gray, a Republican, indicated he would support Smith.

OPPOSITION GROUPS DECLARE FEARS REALIZED, BUT OTHERS PRAISE FRANK ADDRESS HIGHLY

"Statesmanlike," Insists Jed Adams, and "Leaves No Uncertainty"—Conquitt Bitter

DALLAS, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Conflicting views regarding Governor Alfred E. Smith's speech of acceptance prevailed in political circles here today. If there were any conversions to his cause among those who had opposed him as the Democratic nominee, expressions from anti-Smith leaders failed to reveal them. Likewise, there apparently were no losses from the Smith ranks because of any statement made by their leader.

"It is a very instructive and statesmanlike document," declared Jed C. Adams, Democratic national committeeman from Texas. "Unlike Hoover's speech it leaves no uncertainty as to where Smith stands on any public question."

Lieutenant-Governor Barry Miller, another staunch exponent of the New York Governor, said:

"Governor Smith made a wonderful speech. It will be an important factor in bringing victory for the entire ticket in November. His speech was courageous, honest, frank—a typical Al Smith speech, consistent with the character of the man and the record of his performance."

Former Governor O. B. Colquitt, anti-Smith Democratic leader, said:

"Smith's statement with reference to the Eighteenth amendment and changes in the prohibition law suggested by him is a reiteration of statements he made in a number of messages to the New York legislature, which I criticized heretofore as nullification. He now modifies his position to the extent of admitting that his proposals to the New York legislature would require an amendment to the Eighteenth amendment to be carried out. His general discussion of other topics is in line with the views generally expressed by New York and Tammany Hall politicians."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(P)—Prominent Democrats and Republicans in many parts of the country, commenting on Governor Smith's acceptance speech, praised or found fault as their conception of government guided them, but the expressions were accompanied by a good deal of non-partisan opinion that he had stated frankly his position on the foremost issues of the campaign.

As was to be expected, those who praised without reservation were Democrats and those who most readily found fault were Republicans. But in the group commenting there were Democrats who refused to accept the nominee's views on prohibition and Republicans who thought his stand on farm relief preferable to that of Herbert Hoover.

The speech caused one Democrat to declare wull opposition to Governor Smith's election. Shortly after it was delivered a Republican indicated he would support the governor.

Unstinted Praise

Those who praised without stint were Senators Edwards of New Jersey, Geo. of Georgia, Fletcher of Florida, Caraway of Arkansas, and Representative Bloom of New York. Those who objected to portions of the address were Postmaster General New and Senators Borah of Idaho, Smoot of Utah, and Fess of Ohio.

Josephus Daniels, secretary of the Navy during the Wilson administration, and representative Crisp of Georgia, expected only the Governor's prohibition views in their praise, George

Cheer Each Subject

The Governor frequently halted the applause that rang through the crowded chamber by holding up his hand. Outdoors the handclapping and cheering almost every subject he touched upon—as he promised to give the farm surplus crop problem his immediate attention, if elected; as he assailed the Republican administration on many scores, particularly on its Latin-American policy; as he pledged himself to a "real" endeavor to outlaw war, and as he opposed the basing of immigration quotas on a census 38 years old.

Also meeting with applause were his statements against any "suggestion or drastic" changes in the tariff, for maintaining public ownership and control of water power resources; his references to labor, veterans, conservation, government department reorganization, and his emphasis that his appointments, if he were elected, would not be influenced by a person's wet or dry attitude, financial or sectional conservatism, or religious affiliations.

Smith Is Happy Over Applause of Small Audience

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 23.—(P)—Somewhat disappointed over the restricted manner in which his notification had to be conducted, but nevertheless happy over the way the crowd reacted to his acceptance speech, Governor Smith turned toward New York today to begin laying the foundation of his campaign for the presidency.

Arriving there late today, accompanied by Mrs. Smith, the Democratic presidential nominee planned a visit to national committee headquarters to talk over with party leaders tentative plans for a stumping itinerary.

An uninterrupted rain, not heavy, forced a last minute scrapping of elaborate preparations made for Governor Smith's notification on the east steps of the capitol yesterday. It had to be held indoors—in the assembly chamber where the nominee began his legislative career, 25 years ago. While touched by the familiar scene, the governor thought sympathetically of the thousands outside on the lawns in the rain, and after running through the long outline of his stand on the issues of the day, including his advocacy of a modification of the dry laws, went out to the drenched, but cheering crowds and thanked them from the bottom of his heart for standing by to the last to hear his message.

Few Thousands Present

Surrounded by members of his family, his running mate, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, and many party leaders and friends, the nominee delivered his acceptance speech to a crowd of only a few thousand that jammed the chamber. An emergency radio hookup carried the message to the crowds outside and to every corner of the land.

He favored as an alternative a modification of the 18th amendment to permit the restricted sale of alcoholic beverages by states, if approved by popular referendum, and also a change in the Volstead act to allow each state to determine its own standard of alcoholic content.

"We may well learn from the experience of other nations," he said.

"Our Canadian neighbors have gone far in this manner to solve this problem by the method of sale made by the state itself and not by private individuals."

MOST TROUBLESOME BABY IS GIVEN STATUS

her from the family of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith, into which she had been born. In fact Mrs. Smith insisted she was not her child at all. A mistake, mother protested; the nurses had mixed the babies; some one had her boy; and she had somebody else's girl.

"Baby Smith," though nameless, endured it all without a whimper while doctors and learned men talked of blood tests and what not. At the age of three weeks she was haled into a court room. Upon the bench sat the fatherly judge who listened to the whole story earnestly.

"And now," said Judge Weyandt to Mrs. Smith when he heard it all, "there is scarcely any doubt that the mistake was made in the hospital records and not in mixing of babies. The nurse who registered your child called her a boy. But all the evidence shows that she was a girl. Take her home and be good to her."

It was the same fatherly judge sitting upon the bench, Miss Anastasia might have reflected when she entered the court room for the second time yesterday.

It was quite a surprise to be back—a birthday surprise. Judge Weyandt just wanted to give her a little party on this first memorable occasion since he is her official godfather. While the cameras clicked he presented her with a little blue book showing a bank deposit of $10 in her name.

Sam Smith, the proud parent, pulled Judge Weyandt aside and whispered: "We know you were right, Anastasia was our baby all the time. Doesn't she look like her mother?"

Virtual Nullification

Another grand jury has recommended that the county commissioners arrange to have home brew samples tested by a competent chemist as required by law.

Nullification threats, real or imaginary, are being made into a national issue, yet right here in Gray county both state and federal laws are being nullified for lack of county support.

The grand jury frankly recognized the prevalence of bootlegging and home brew making in this county, but found it necessary to absolve itself and the officers of the blame. Said the official report: "... due to the fact that home brew beer which has been seized in a number of instances has not been properly tested and which is not on account of the lack of diligence on the part of the officers, we have found both ourselves and the officers legally handicapped."

"It is our desire to recommend that a qualified chemist be employed by the commissioners' court of this county for the purpose of serving the officers in the furtherance of their prosecution of this illicit trade."

The grand jury is the heart of the prosecution system under our government. Upon its sifting of the evidence rest both the safety of the individual and the enforcement stability of our laws. Unless these grand juries can obtain the co-operation of officers under the full provisions of the law, they cannot function.

There are explanations for the condition of affairs, but no excuses worthy of the name. What must be done to enforce the law CAN BE DONE. It is a sad state of affairs when the law trips the officers and the guilty laugh at the performance.

Movies are things which permit one to get his excitement imaginatively without exerting himself to "mount his trusty steed and dash away into the night." And the news reels even take one to the Arctic, to which obliging martyrs have directed attention this season.

WASHINGTON — There is one school of political thought which holds that campaign speeches never change any votes. Al Smith certainly does not belong to that school. Hoover, in his acceptance speech, had no need to go after more than Coolidge received in 1924.

Two characteristics of Smith himself stand out all over the speech. One is his own direct personal appeal to the voter and his unusual capacity for frankness—so rare in politicians—that goes with it.

Without making promises impossible of fulfillment, he nevertheless promises to the limit of his ability. Recognizing the predominant importance of personalities in this campaign, he embarks on a supreme effort to sell himself to the electorate.

The other characteristic is his almost uncanny ability to avoid pitfalls and at the same time use the words of his enemies to barb and hurl back at them with force.

So Smith, too, found a pile of statistics—40 per cent of 430,000 corporations were actually losing money; one-fourth of one per cent of them were making two-thirds of corporate profits.

Having hurled statistics he began to fling quotations, using the postmaster general to show inefficiency and waste, the army's chief of staff to demonstrate bad usage given our soldiers, the most recent party historian, to indicate the evils of the Republican tariff.

tariff and a Republican prohibition administrator to indicate the corruption of prohibition enforcement.

Then back to statistics to show what the farmer had suffered in recent years. Not very many statistics—just enough to tell his story and not bore anyone.

And always talking right down to the voters as individuals in the home. He pictured himself, in his stand on the prohibition laws, as the champion of a great moral cause and appealed directly to anxious fathers and mothers who dreaded the dangers of bootlegging to their boys and girls.

He met Hoover's challenge to anyone who would nullify the Constitution and simultaneously promised the wets his own services toward immediate relief and pointed out to the dries that it was, after all, for the people and their representatives and not for Al Smith to decide finally what was to be done about prohibition.

Briefly, his program is: Immediate revision of the Volstead Act to permit beer and wine of alcoholic content up to the point where it is proved actually intoxicating, as a relief from present conditions.

Without making promises impossible of fulfillment, he nevertheless promises to the limit of his ability. Recognizing the predominant importance of personalities in this campaign, he embarks on a supreme effort to sell himself to the electorate.

Religious bigotry exists in every denomination, but especially among those members who were never fervidly adherents of any creed.

Season's Busiest Days Socially Were Probably Tuesday and Wednesday, When Many Happy Events Claimed Interest

Tuesday and Wednesday proved to be two of the season's busiest days for the women of the city, to be the much discussed summer hall in things social and to prove that Pampa with its wonderful climate has no "dog days." Activities were varied on these days. Activities were varied on these days. Activities were varied on these days. Activities were varied on these days. Activities were varied on these days.

3 Bridge Clubs Meet
Three bridge clubs met Tuesday at informal and enjoyable parties. Mrs. W. W. Mitchell entertained the Amuse club at her home in the White apartments in the afternoon, having four tables in the game. This club does not give score prizes, but usually there is some small but charming moment of the occasion for each guest. Mrs. Mitchell's favors were exquisite yellow nut cups, which followed the color theme of the party.

Mrs. Morris Is Hostess
Mrs. Tom Morris was another club hostess of the day, entertaining the Little bridge club. Mrs. Charles Eleston was awarded high score favor, and Mrs. Roger won low. Following the announcement of the next meeting of the club, which will be held in the home of Miss Elizabeth Cravey, a salad course was served.

For the Wayside Study Club, Tuesday was a gala day. Fourteen members were guests of Mrs. R. W. Morrison at an all-day meeting in her pleasant ranch home. A picnic lunch was spread under the shade trees on the lawn at noon.

Texas History Studied
The afternoon hours were devoted to the study of an interesting lesson in Texas history, with Mrs. Thomas Clayton acting as leader. The Wayside club is the only federated club of Pampa to continue activity through the summer months. Its programs have been no less interesting than they were in the fall and winter months and attendance has been excellent, members say.

Those who attended Tuesday's meeting were the following: Mrs. W. A. Taylor, Mrs. L. R. Taylor, Mrs. E. W. McKinjin, Mrs. H. Phillips, Mrs. Thomas Clayton, Mrs. F. J. Hudgel, Mrs. E. W. Hogan, Mrs. H. B. Taylor, Mrs. Hugh Isbell, Mrs. R. E. Hogan, Mrs. W. F. Taylor, Miss Fannoe Hogan, and Miss Dollie Phillips. Each answered roll call with the name of a flower she considers suitable for the Panhandle.

Picnic Held Tuesday
Pupils and teachers of the Primary and Junior departments of the Baptist Sunday school enjoyed a picnic Tuesday evening. Games and contests were diversions for two hours, after which sandwiches and ice cream cones were served by the teachers. The party was given by the teachers and officers.

...Social Calendar...

Mrs. W. A. Gray will be hostess to the Ace High bridge club Thursday afternoon. The game is to begin at 2:30 o'clock.

The Ladies' Bible class of the P. Christian church has announced a benefit chicken dinner for November 1, the day of the general election.

Mrs. C. E. McHenry will entertain the Just We bridge club Friday afternoon, with the game starting at 2:30 o'clock.

All members of the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 334, are asked to attend a regular meeting at the Legion home tomorrow evening. Delegates to state convention at Texarkana will be elected at this time. The meeting opens at 8 o'clock.

of the two departments. Those who assisted in entertaining the children were: Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Downs, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Ben Barrett, Mrs. G. C. Durham, Mrs. J. E. Chapman, and Miss Cornelia Barrett.

Visitor Is Guest
Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Mitchell were host and hostess to the Night Owl club Tuesday evening. They included in their guest list Mrs. P. A. Walsh of Bartlesville, Okla., who is visiting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Howard Myers, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Myer and Miss Helen Murphy. Bridge was the diversion of the evening, and three high score favors were awarded.

Mrs. E. K. Hulsey, charming visitor from Tulla, was named as guest of honor when her mother, Mrs. W. M. Craven, entertained at bridge Monday and Wednesday afternoons. Garden flowers in a variety of colors added their beauty to the pleasant room where the tables were arranged for the game. Score cards and tallies for the two parties were decorated in a floral motif.

Large Guest List
The guest list for the first afternoon included, besides the honoree's the following names: Mrs. John Andrews, Mrs. W. A. Bratton, Mrs. P. C. Ledrick, Mrs. J. M. Dodson and her house guest, Mrs. J. D. Squires of Dallas, Mrs. Marion Howard, Mrs. L. N. McCullough, Mrs. W. W. Merten, Mrs. Siler Faulkner, Mrs. DeLea Vicars, Mrs. J. S. Wynne, Mrs. R. W. Mitchell, Mrs. R. C. Campbell, Mrs. Hamlett, and Miss Bessie O. Brown of Whittier, Calif.

Mrs. Hulsey was presented a lovely gift and was also consoled for low score. Miss Brown made high score and received a trophy. A favor was given at each table for top cut. Winners of these favors were Mrs. Bratton, Mrs. Dodson, Mrs. Campbell, and Mrs. Faulkner.

An Enjoyable Afternoon
Play on Wednesday afternoon was equally interesting, with high score going to Mrs. J. M. McDonald, Mrs. G. A. Holloway was consoled for low, and cut favors were again awarded. Those who drew high were Mrs. C. P. Buckler, Mrs. R. R. House, Mrs. G. L. Kahala, and Mrs. George E. Wolfe.

Other guests were: Mrs. J. Woodward, Mrs. C. F. Hunkapillar, Mrs. M. Finney, Mrs. Edwin Vicars and her sister, Mrs. Ruth Thompson of Albuquerque, N. M., Mrs. I. B. Huges, Mrs. Alex Schneider, Jr., Mrs. J. W. Smith, Mrs. Charles Thut, and the honoree. A souvenir of this second party in her honor was given Mrs. Hulsey, and her little son, William Kirk, was remembered with a gift on each day.

At the conclusion of each day's game the hostess, assisted by her grandson, served a dainty ice course with mints.

CHURCHES

REVIVAL CONTINUES WITH MUCH INTEREST

Although the threatening rain hindered the meeting some last night, the interest was good. The evangelist spoke on the text found in Acts 17:26, 27, "He made of one every nation of men...that they might seek God" and find Him though He is not far from each one of us."

These words were not spoken to a faithful band of followers of the Christ, but to a people who knew not God and who in their search for Him had found only the gods made with man's hands. Man seeking without God's aid can do no better than did they. They were bowing to the gods of wood, stone, silver, and gold. But they had erected an altar to the Unknown God whom they had not by such unaided search found. He is the God that comes by revelation. God is not far from any of us. This is His first revelation concerning Himself. We cannot hide our sins from Him. We cannot do better than did Jonah in running away from Him. Finding is preceded by seeking. This is done by prayer as in the case of Saul of Tarsus who had prayed for three days and nights when God sent the preacher to make known the ways of life unto him. We seek by studying the Bible as in the case of the Eunuch unto whom Philip was sent with the message of Christ. God is found only when Christ is found. The seeker must "seek first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness."

The speaker then showed that from Gal. 2:16, no one could find justification by the works of the law but that justification comes by faith in Christ Jesus. He has found God only when he finds justification in Christ. The time to seek for God is while He may be found as God has declared that His spirit would not always strive with man. Today is the day of Salvation, not tomorrow.

Then it was made clear from the word of God that one could find God only when he searched with his whole heart and soul. To such Jesus promised "he shall find", Prov. 1:28, 29 was call upon me, but I will not answer; read to show that "Then will they seek me diligently, but they shall not find me, for that they hated knowledge, and did not chose the fear of Jehovah." He who hates the knowledge of God and puts it away from him cannot find God.

The evangelist was strong in his assertion that no one could find God who substituted the "turning over a new leaf" for God's Son and the salvation He brought by the way of the cross. The cross cannot be shunned. If you thing to have "swept and garnished" your life of sin, it must be filled with God's righteousness, which is in Christ and which is obtained by faith in Him, or it will be filled again with worse sins than those of its former occupation.

Rom. 2:4 declares that "the riches of his goodness leadeth thee to repentance." God is in Christ reconciling the world unto Himself. "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believed on Him should not perish but have eternal life." "Come unto me," said Jesus, "and ye shall find rest" - rest for the soul. Rest which is in God. "If the righteous is saved with difficulty" which is the sacrifice Christ made on the cross, "what shall be the end of them who know not God and obey not the gospel." they will be utterly lost if they do not turn to God in faithful obedience to His will.

Among those attending the baseball tournament in Amarillo yesterday afternoon when the Pampa Grays won from the Texico team 2 to 1 were Mr. and Mrs. Forrest McSkimming, Mrs. E. B. Gober and children, Mrs. Tom Clayton, Miss Wilma Behrends, George W. Briggs, Kenneth Gaylor, C. O. Busby, F. E. Leach, Mike Carlton and Harry Hoare.

W. R. Kaufman was a business visitor in Amarillo yesterday.

Baptist Circle Have Business Meetings, Programs

Three circles of the Baptist Women's Missionary Union met yesterday for Bible study and business sessions. Mrs. A. J. McAllister was hostess to Circle No. 1, which had seven members present. A social hour followed the program and was enjoyed by the following:

Mrs. C. L. McAllister, Mrs. G. H. McAllister, Mrs. Bert Isbell, Mrs. C. L. McKinney, Mrs. Byron Holloman, Mrs. Brake, and the hostess.

Circle No. 3, meeting in the home of Mrs. F. L. Anderson, had an attendance of seventeen. The Bible study program featured a round table discussion on "Remedies for Our Troubles," as found in scripture. The following were present: Mrs. A. W. Mann, Mrs. W. D. Key; Mrs. R. W. Taylor, Mrs. R. W. Wilde; Mrs. C. E. Swofford, Mrs. G. D. Holmes, Mrs. E. L. Billingsly, Mrs. O. L. Featy, Mrs. H. B. Barnard, Mrs. L. D. Lansford, Mrs. Robert Mitchell, Mrs. E. G. Barrett, Mrs. J. A. Clift, Mrs. W. B. Barton, and Mrs. J. Powell Wehrung.

After a short business session, the eight members of Circle No. 4 attending the meeting in the home of Mrs. W. B. Henry spent the afternoon in making quilts. These present were: Mrs. D. R. Henry, Mrs. C. E. Barrett, Mrs. J. T. Prather, Mrs. W. J. Brown, Mrs. D. E. Barrett, Mrs. A. T. Florey, Mrs. O. H. Gillstrap, and Mrs. J. E. Chapman.

Grays Rap Out Crushing Victory Over Texico Men

Playing the baseball of which they are capable, the Pampa Grays yesterday showed up nicely and behind the great pitching of Ketchum, Armstrong, and French, beat the Texico-Farwell crew 21 to 1. Seitz and Bell were the big noises with the bat. Seitz poling out a homer, triple, single and beating an infield hit, while Bell garnered three singles and was safe the other three times he was at bat.

In the field Seitz, Industrial league star, made the most sensational catch of the tournament when he came in behind third base to take L. Johnson's short fly in the fourth. Although the local boy rolled over twice he came up with the ball. Hines at second base played a great game with six assists, two of them bordering on the sensational.

Gus Ketchum, hero of last year's tournament, was Manager Ed Gober's selection and for the first five innings while he was in the box he pitched to fifteen men, none getting a hit and only one reaching first on an error. The latter died in a fast double play. Grays had a substantial play, Ketchum to Hines to Nell.

After the Grays had a substantial lead, Gober sent Armstrong, a city leaguer, into the box. He pitched nice ball allowing one run and two hits. French was the last Gray hurler to take the mound, and he was as active as his predecessors.

The Grays opened their scoring in the first inning, when seven runs crossed the plate. Four more were added in the second inning, one in the fourth, seven in the fifth, and two in the eighth.

The lone Texico tally came in the sixth inning on a single, sacrifice and another single over second. That lone tally featured the Texico batting attack on the Grays' three pitchers.

The Grays will meet the Amarillo All-Stars in the second game Saturday afternoon and will be out for revenge for the loss to that nine Monday afternoon. Whom Gober will use in the box is not known, but he will probably save Ketchum for Sunday when the Grays are likely to play a double-header to get in the money.

Palestine Takes First Game of Lone Star Series

PALESTINE, Aug. 23.—(AP)—By good twisting and timely hitting Palestine took the first game of the series with Texarkana here yesterday in the Lone Star league play-off. The score was 2 to 2.

The second game of the series will be played here this afternoon.

Betta, hurling for Palestine, allowed nine hits to 14 for his opponents. The Pals' big inning was the fifth when five runs were scored. Texarkana made all of their markers in the second. Neither team made an error.

Coor, Palestine's center fielder, furnished the thrill of the day in the third stanza when he tripled to right field with two men on base.

Young America Crowds Elders For Sports Recognition

"Baby" athletes, personifying the spirit of American youth, are clamoring for major attention. Elizabeth Robinson, 16, set a new Olympic record for 100 meters; Junior Coen, 16, made tennis history when he went to Europe as the youngest player named for Davis Cup competition; Dorothy Poynton, 13, and Tom Mack, 14, with Miss Robinson comprise the "kid" contingent with the Yankee Olympic forces; "Freckles" Devine, 9, swam 14 miles in 3 hours, 38 minutes, and Ariel Vilas, 13, fought her way to the finals in the Arkansas Women's Golf tourney.

Young Girls Best Women Golfers in Chicago Tourney

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—The ninth championship crown today rested between two fifteen-year-old Chicago girls, June Beebe and Rena Nelson.

Upsetting the two favorites, the Chicago girls won their way into the finals of the championship to meet in an 18-hole match for the title.

Miss Beebe eliminated Patricia Stephenson of Minneapolis, 4 and 3, and Miss Nelson ousted Mildred Hackl, one of Chicago's best junior feminine golfers, 4 and 2.

Back-Pedaling Is In Vogue—Though Change Is Due

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN,
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Giants have escaped from Cincinnati and the Cardinals have cleared their premises of Brooklyn marauders—but neither of these events transpired one minute too soon. If things had gone on much longer as they were going, one National league pennant necessarily would have been awarded to the team capable of the most expert back-pedaling, which would have brought the Phillies in for serious consideration.

Shaded at Redland field yesterday 5 to 4, the cohorts of McGraw left for Pittsburgh shorn of dignity but able to walk. The New York expeditionary force still owned a margin over the Cardinals in the pennant race only because the deceitful Dodgers nipped the Red Birds at Sportsman's Park, 3 to 2.

Defeat of the Giants, the second in three games at Cincinnati, was due largely to Jim Welsh's uncertainty with the bases filled in the fifth. The ball fell safe for a triple.

While the contending teams were so engaged, the Pirates put the Braves to rout again by 10 to 3 in a game which saw the Buccaneers collect sixteen hits.

These up-and-coming Pirates, incidentally, are only five games removed from the summit, and are intent upon climbing—as impossible as it seems.

In the remaining National league game, the Cubs finally broke their Philadelphia jinx after six successive failures. It took all of Art Nehf's cunning to win by 3 to 2 in twelve innings.

The American league fell behind in its half of the campaign to restore the world series to the basis of a five-cent fare for New Yorkers, thanks to the bat of Mr. Mule Haas, late of Montclair, N. J., but now a resident of Shibe Park, Philadelphia. The Mule plucked one of Miljus' choice offerings from the ambient with his fat black bat and gave it a ride over the right field fence, winning for the Athletics by a 6 to 5 score in the seventeenth inning.

The Tigers swept both ends of a bargain at Boston, 7 to 6 and 4 to 3, and the Senators halted the White Sox, 2 to 0, at Washington.

About the Game

Things we know—Four scouts, two representing Texas league teams and two from the Western league, were in the grandstand at the Amarillo tournament yesterday afternoon and were much interested in the playing of Seitz and Bell. The Grays sent four boys "up" last season and two of them stayed. Babe Ruth has been playing sensationally with Omaha, and has been purchased by Cleveland.

Ed Gober had the misfortune to turn his ankle while sliding into second base yesterday afternoon and had to leave the game. He will likely be all right for the game Saturday afternoon.

This boy Seitz is one of the fastest men in the tournament and is no slouch with the bat. He made one of the prettiest stops of the season yesterday afternoon, but skinned one knee in the attempt.

And we meet those All-Stars Saturday afternoon. They looked as if they had fallen yesterday, but we are not predicting what they will look like Saturday when the Gober clan step out for revenge. This boy Johnson who looked so good against the Grays fanned three times and made an error yesterday. They sure were playing over their heads Monday.

When it comes to goat getting Dr. Montgomery, in Pampa each Saturday, is almost as good as Hootie Harrah the White Deer roofer. He had Sled Allen climbing the chicken netting yesterday afternoon. Of course he was assisted by 999 of the 1,000 fans present.

Parkson, Grays rightfielder, walked three times in a row yesterday afternoon to take the cake in that line. He may even win a prize for that feat. The Grays are due to get into that prize list.

Every man on the Grays' team is in for the credit of the win. To give individual honor to any one player would be unfair so the team gets "it."

Tilden Declares Infraction, If Any, Was Unintentional

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(AP)—"Business" will keep William T. Tilden from attending tomorrow's meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis association which is to consider the charges against him of violating the amateur player-writer rule. He already has presented his defense, however. In a letter to Samuel H. Collom, president of the association, Tilden denies any intention of violating either the letter or spirit of the rule.

In the letter, which he requested Collom to present at the meeting, Tilden gives his opinion of his articles on the Wimbledon championships which caused his disbarment from the Davis cup team, to which he was later reinstated. He also offers the suggestion that to prevent such happenings in the future it should be the rule that no Davis cup team could write while he was a member of the team.

Tilden's letter, in part, follows: "I give my word that there was no attempt to evade or come close to evading the rule. I have read the case against me closely and while I do not agree with the interpretation of the rule which is placed on it by the committee that any allusion to a tournament while it is in progress constitutes a violation, I do agree that once granting that premise the articles violate the interpretation. Since that is so I can not reiterate that any violation is a technicality and debatable but certainly was one of ignorance and not of deliberate intent."

Helen's Opponent For Title Match Is Very Uncertain

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Although a day of rain has postponed the decision for a short time, two rounds of play in the women's tennis championship have been enough to confirm the pre-tournament predictions that the only question to be decided is who will oppose Helen Wills at various stages of the tournament.

That "Queen Helen" will repeat her victory of last year is hardly open to doubt, but whether the runner-up will be Mrs. Malla Bjursted Mallory, eight times winner of the title, or Helen Jacobs, second only to Miss Wills among the California stars, or some unexpected brilliant player who can upset both of these outstanding stars is an entirely different matter.

The problem of her opponent in the semi-finals also is unsettled. In the second quarter of the draw, Mrs. Sutton Bundy of Santa Monica, Cal., and Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman of Boston, are to meet today in a match that is expected to bring forth the semi-final opponent of "Queen Helen." But before either of them can attain that bracket she must overcome some strong opposition of the third ranking Californian, Edith Cross of San Francisco, who is picked as an almost certain winner over Mrs. B. F.

San Angelo Evens Series as Abilene Falters at Home

ABILENE, Aug. 23.—(AP)—San Angelo came back strong here yesterday and by timely hitting and perfect fielding evens their West Texas league championship series with Abilene at one all. The score was 13 to 5.

Today's game will be played in San Angelo.

San Angelo started an attack in the initial inning, scoring six runs and knocking Chick Galeris, Abilene's star pitcher, from the box in the next inning. His successor, Buster Jackson, did little better, and three more runs were added in the second and four in the ninth.

Stenz of New York in today's match. After what is expected to be an easy victory over Mrs. L. A. Harper of Los Angeles today, Miss Wills first hard match is due when she meets Mrs. A. H. Chapin of Springfield, Mass., Zinke of Cincinnati is Mrs. Chapin's opponent today.

Grant Not Liquor Drinker, Asserts His War-Time Aide

By NEA Service
 PAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Aug. 22—General U. S. Grant has always been listed in tradition and otherwise, as a hard-drinking, untidy blusterer.

But M. Harrison Strong, 83-year-old hill dweller of Bull's Creek valley, near here, says none of that is true. Strong ought to know. He was General Grant's secretary during much of the Civil War, was in daily contact with him and drew up the paper through which General Grant negotiated with General Lee for the surrender of the Army of Northern Virginia.

"I have been urged to bolster up the statement that Grant was a habituated drunkard, but I can't accommodate," says Strong. "I was with General Grant at all hours of the day and night for the last three years of the Civil War, and I never once saw him take a drink of liquor nor did I ever find whiskey on his person or about his headquarters."

"There is another story about Grant's being characteristically slovenly in dress and appearance. This wasn't true, I remember it. He wore neat serge uniforms, invariably without braid or ornament, and he never wore a sabre except on rare occasions. But he was always clean and well groomed."

"He had the least 'nerves' of any man I ever saw. One time when we had pitched headquarters just behind the firing line a shell came over and missed the general's head by a few inches. He didn't even flinch, but watched it fall, and when it failed to explode he went over and picked it up so that he might see what kind of ammunition the enemy was using."

"His only luxury was an old rocking chair. He and his whole staff had less luggage than an ordinary first lieutenant. Everything we had at headquarters, including the persons of the general's staff, could ride in one wagon."

Strong enlisted in the 72nd Illinois Infantry in June of 1862. He was wounded in August of that year, and in October he was named Grant's secretary. He served throughout the war as a corporal, and is said to be the last surviving member of Grant's personal staff.

Hoover Plans to Analyze Farming Problem by Units

By NEA Service
 CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Another round of conferences with farm leaders today closes Herbert Hoover's three-day visit to two great mid-western grain countries.

Aided by personal contact with men who profess to interpret the viewpoint of the wheat, corn and other grain growers, the Republican presidential candidate leaves today for Washington. There on Saturday in newly established headquarters he will take personal charge of his campaign.

Both in his public and private talks here Hoover has emphasized his belief that in seeking to relieve the agricultural industry, each of the dozen or more component parts must be treated separately. He has likewise stated his own purpose to have the federal farm board he has proposed, approach the problem from that basis.

CHINESE KILLER KEEPS MANY UNDER COVER

By NEA Service
 FAIRFIELD, Calif., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Many residents of Solano and Napa counties were practically in a state of siege in their homes today while police searched for Loy Yeung, Chinese, who yesterday murdered ten of his countrymen on a ranch near here. Yeung fled in an automobile, after running amuck with a hatchet and rifle.

Police said Loy Yeung had a reputation as a killer, and had boasted of taking three lives in a long war. Officers could find no motive for the killings.

Miss Monica Lane left yesterday for a month's visit in several cities in South Texas.

"They have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind."—Hosea VIII, 7.

CHAPTER I

WHEN Sybil Thorne was younger and her picture appeared every day or two in the social columns, it was usually captioned "Boston's Fairest Bud."

Society editors heaped praise and compliments upon her. One of them declared her to be "the most popular and the most beautiful" debutante of the season. Another pronounced her the best dancer, and a third the most accomplished sportswoman.

A short while ago one of the newspapers, launching a contest to elect "Miss Boston," rescued an old cut from the reference room, and headed it "Madcap Belle—Is She Boston's Prettiest Girl?"

But Sybil isn't exactly a girl any more. She was 30 last month.

Her first triumphs date back to the war. It was then she grew up, falling in love, after the fashion of adolescents, with a soldier. Shortly afterward she parked her corsets at a tea dance, and proceeded to the enjoyment of those reckless pursuits which reformers and professors write about with great feeling.

The "youth of the land" was becoming subject for trade and tears. Worthy citizens formed vigilance committees, and wrote articles. Some of them have been supporting themselves that way ever since.

Sybil was 18 when she first got herself talked about. It was partly because she was so unusually pretty. People can believe almost anything of a girl with beautiful legs, particularly if she possesses, also, a certain symmetry of form and loveliness of face. Sybil's eyes are beautiful pools of velvety softness, flecked with little darts of coppery stuff. Her skin has an ivory pallor, and she makes up her lips so they look like a bleeding gash in her pale face.

Sybil Thorne

FROM the time Sybil could talk, she has been a creature of moods and tempers. Her temperament probably has had a good deal to do with fashioning her life. But then, of course, there was the war. The war bungled a lot of things.

Sybil just missed being a war bride. At Miss Middleton's select boarding school all through the winter of 1917 she folded Red Cross bandages, and made innumerable bags of cretonne with draw strings. In each bag she put a knit face cloth of uncertain dimensions, a package of cigarettes, a bar of sweet chocolate, a pair of socks and a sleeveless sweater.

During vacation she rebelled. "It's so SIMPLE!" she fumed. "Crazy old sweaters and socks that don't match! Afghans and wash rags!"

She threw her knitting needles away, and Miss Middleton put her down as a Bolshevik.

"I'm a conscientious objector," Sybil used to say; and that, in those days, was regarded as a great heresy. One night at dinner she threw a verbal bombshell into the family gathering.

"I'm sick to death," she told her astonished parents, "of the futility of the life I lead. I want to do something. I'm going across."

Her father choked on his rice pudding—"Nothing of the sort," he objected, when he caught his breath. "Are you crazy, Sybil?"

Her mother was quite unmoved. "Don't you think, dear," she questioned mildly, "that your poor father and I have enough to worry about as it is?"

Mrs. Thorne's eyes were blue and faded. She knit from morning until night, and denied herself all luxuries. Tad, the child of her heart, was at Toul with Battery A of the 101st, and there were terrible tidings those days of slaughtering in Seichprey and the Somme.

Mrs. Thorne had two records that she played over and over on the phonograph: "There's a Long, Long Trail A-Winding Into the Land of My Dreams," and "Over There." She thought Tad probably sang them in France, and it made her feel nearer to him.

As she wound the machine and adjusted the needle the same thought was always in her mind—"Perhaps this very minute Tad is listening to these same words." The thought saddened and comforted her immeasurably, after the strange fashion of women in anguish.

She regarded Sybil mournfully. "Come to Mrs. Ward's with me tonight, dear," she invited. "There's a new way of making bandages—not cutting at all—just pulling threads. A woman from the Metropolitan Chapter is coming out to show us."

"I'm sick of Red Cross soirees," she said.

Tears flooded her mother's eyes. "I really think," she began tremulously, "I really think, Sybil, you ought to have a little more consideration—with Tad over there—and everything." She stumbled from the room and the next moment they heard her at the phonograph—"Over There—Over There—"

Sybil put her fingers in her ears. "Oh," she muttered.

"You must remember," her father told her sternly, "that your mother's nerves are all on edge. Don't let me hear any more of this talk about going across. It's nonsense—utter nonsense!"

HE NEVER knew that the next day Sybil went to Y. M. C. A. headquarters and volunteered for overseas service, for presently there was a ruling that no relatives of soldiers would be accepted, and Sybil resigned herself to the inevitable.

"I tried," she told herself savagely. "God knows I don't want to play with gauze while Tad and the rest of them . . ."

She choked on the very thought. Often at night she saw Tad lying in a pool of blood. His face was blown away sometimes. Or there was a great hole in his chest. And if he wasn't quite dead, he was gasping—trying to say something.

She could not see such pals. It was like a girl to cut bandages for him, and do nothing more valiant than knit like an old woman. Particularly if a girl and her brother at the front meant as much to each other as Tad and Sybil Thorne.

Then something happened that made it even harder.

Suddenly, inexplicably, Sybil fell in love. She went one day to Devens with her mother, to take a box to a boy in Mr. Thorne's employ. The boy was a buck private in the infantry. Shyly he introduced them to his buddies.

One of them was a tall, slim youth, with chestnut hair, blenched like gold from the sun that shone on Devens, and blue eyes with black lashes. They had taken his books from him, and given him a run with which to kill other boys full of promise, and a trench knife in case he met a youth in hand-to-hand encounter and could not use his gun.

At the moment Sybil experienced only one reaction to the blond beauty of him. He thrilled her.

John Lawrence was his name. And it was plain that he was a private through accident only. Obviously, he had antecedents. Family, tradition, breeding—all that sort of thing. He talked easily. Presently it developed that he had been at Yale—a second-year man. He belonged to Tad's fraternity. Mrs. Thorne became interested. Perhaps her husband—he knew Mr. Lawrence's colonel—perhaps he could help him. Officers' Training school, or something.

John Lawrence protested. Oh, no—really. He would make the grade all right. Expected to tell the truth, to be chosen for the next training school. He was very grateful, however. Mightn't he show them around a bit? They made a tour of inspection, with young officers glancing enviously from every barracks, and Sybil the target of all admiring eyes.

In a doorway Lawrence, standing aside for the women to precede him through, put his hand on Sybil's arm. There was something in the way he did it. A possessive sort of pressure, gentle and compelling. She was only 18, and it electrified her.

BEFORE they left she had promised to write. It was a girl's patriotic duty in those days. She promised also to send some fudge and a cake, and asked if he needed sweaters or socks. That was patriotic, too.

On Sunday the Thornes motored again to Devens, accompanied by Mr. Thorne, who handed around cigarettes grandly. He took a liking to Lawrence, and invited him down for dinner. The following week the young man obtained a 24-hour leave, and spent most of it at Thorne's place at Winnow.

In the evening Sybil showed him the moon over the beach, and walked with him along the beach. Little waves splashed merrily on the sand, and the moon scuttled behind a cloud. The night was fearfully beautiful.

And Sybil was fearfully lovely. She stood with her face to the sea, while the wind whipped her dress of misty stuff about her, and blew her hair to John's cheek. Then he took her in his arms and kissed her.

After that Sybil braved parental displeasure and motored to Devens every day. Her father, by permitting her to take the car, gave the affair half-hearted acquiescence. Her mother, though she admitted John "seemed like a nice young man," frowned on the romance.

Then, however, Sybil and her mother there was a rift that was common between mothers and daughters those days.

"She's just furious," Sybil told her father, "because I dare to think about John, instead of thinking of Tad every blessed minute. Her boy's in danger—and she doesn't care anything about MINE. I'm expected to worry about Tad all the time. But I mustn't even THINK about John."

Tunney Devours Concoction Named for His Fiancee

LONDON, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Gene Tunney left on the morning train for Dublin. While in Ireland he plans to visit the birthplace of his parents and attend the Tullamore games. He will return Sunday.

Tunney slept soundly through his first night in England. Declaring himself tired out, the ex-champion retired soon after the dinner that he gave for a few friends last night, at which he showed himself as capable an eater as a fighter.

The hotel chef had prepared a special desert called "Lauder Souffle," in honor of Gene's fiancee, Miss Mary Josephine Lauder of Greenwich, Conn. Tunney proceeded to eat the major portion of this concoction of eggs and raspberries, leaving the lamb's share for his friends. He likewise did justice to a champagne cocktail.

Prohibition Effects Declared Wholesome

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(AP)—In a speech prepared for delivery today before the international congress against alcoholism at Antwerp, Belgium, James M. Dorn, commissioner of prohibition, declared general results of prohibition in the United States "thus far have been wholesome and beneficial."

The address, made public here by the treasury department, contained a suggestion that other countries co-operate with the United States to combat illicit international liquor traffic. By such action, he declared, prohibition countries would be in a position to devote more attention to domestic prohibitive measures and not expend great energy in meeting an "international illicit liquor traffic which uses the ports of many foreign nations and seeks the protection of the flags of those nations to cover illegal acts."

DEAN TAYLOR TO MAKE T. U. COMMENCEMENT TALK

AUSTIN, Aug. 23.—Dean T. U. Taylor of the College of Engineering will deliver the commencement address to the three hundred candidates for degrees in the August commencement at the University of Texas. It has been announced. The Rev. Harris Masterson, rector of All-Saints' Chapel of Austin will preach the baccalaureate sermon. The Memorial stadium will be the scene of both the baccalaureate service on Sunday, August 26, and the commencement exercises on Monday, Aug. 27.

Music for both ceremonies will be furnished by the University choruses under the direction of David Griffin and the Longhorn band under the direction of Burnett Pharr. Miss Annie Hodge of Talladega, Ala., is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hodge.

Executive Board Plans Methodist W. M. S. Program

The Methodist Women's Missionary society in the home of Mrs. W. Purviance yesterday afternoon, the Bible study course for September and October was completely outlined and tentative plans were made for raising money for the church building fund.

A part of the afternoon was devoted to a prayer meeting in anticipation of the revival meeting which opens at the church Sunday morning.

The following officers of the society were present: Mrs. Purviance, president; Mrs. S. A. Hurst, vice president; Mrs. Fannie Hardin and Mrs. Fred Cary, treasurers; Mrs. D. H. Munday, superintendent of supplies; Mrs. Lewis Robinson, superintendent of children's work; Mrs. R. C. Campbell, superintendent of social service work; Mrs. W. T. Fraser and Mrs. W. C. Upton, contest captains. Others attending the meeting were Mrs. E. S. Burgess and Mrs. W. S. Campbell.

Liquor Cases Are Dismissed for Lack of County Chemist

Only five felony indictments were returned by the grand jury in this term of district court.

The full report: "We have diligently inquired into all alleged violations of the law and have returned indictments in all cases wherein the evidence in our opinion warranted such action, having returned five felony indictments.

"We have found that violations of the laws of the State of Texas with the exception of the sale of what is commonly known as home brew are as few as could be possibly expected in a county of this size and of its population. Due to the fact that Gray county is without a chemist who might examine home brew beer for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of alcohol contained and due to the fact that brew beer which has been seized in a number of instances has not been properly tested and which is not on account of the lack of diligence on the part of the officers, we have found both ourselves and the officers legally handicapped. After having been advised on the legal phase of the intoxicant referred to, we have deemed it wise to report before this court the defendants held under bond to report before this court to await the action of our body. In view of this legal handicap we feel that to return indictments in these cases would incur an unnecessary expense to the county and a waste of the time of all concerned.

"It is our desire to recommend that a qualified chemist be employed by the commissioners' court of this county for the purpose of serving the officers in the furtherance of their prosecution of this illicit trade.

"We further recommend that the sheriff and his agents furnish the district attorney of this district with the necessary information and that he institute the necessary injunction suits to curtail the illicit trade by closing the establishments housing them.

"We wish to commend our sheriff, E. S. Graves and his department for the efficient and trustworthy manner in which they have performed the duties incumbent upon them. We wish to thank our district judge, Honorable Newton P. Willis, our acting district attorney, John T. Buckley, our county attorney, John Studer, for the services they have rendered us during our investigation."

The grand jury members for this term are: I. B. Hughey, foreman, W. C. Archer, W. T. Wilks, Waldad, G. H. Brown, J. M. Carpenter, D. M. Davis, Sam Hodges, A. J. Dauer, John Baggerman, W. J. Ball.

Pampa Players to Join Pensacola

Ed Gober, manager of the Pampa Grays, announced this morning that First Baseman Nell and Pitcher French, of the Grays tournament team, will sign contracts to play baseball with the Pensacola, Fla., team at the close of the tournament.

A scout from that team has been an interested spectator at the games. Yesterday he handed the two Grays contracts. He will also sign "Skeet" Gibson, third baseman for the Amarillo Meteors, who has been going strong during the tournament.

Bell and Seltz are the other two members of the Grays who will probably "go up."

Idea for Fair Exhibit Is Chosen

The background of the Gray county booth at the Tri-State fair September 22 to 29 inclusive will consist of an oil derrick built of grain, the foundation of which will be the names of the four towns in the county. These names also will be made of grain.

J. L. Lester, vocational teacher at the high school, brought in several bundles of wheat, alfalfa, and hay this morning which will be prepared immediately for display use. The committee in charge desires that any farmer in the county who has choice wheat, oats, sorghums, corn, maize, or any produce that could be used in the display, bring some to the Chamber of Commerce here or phone 367 so that a representative may call.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP

Notice is hereby given that the partnership lately subsisting between T. W. Snyder and Ira Vanarsdall of Gray county, and the State of Texas, under the firm name of "LeFors Drug Company" was dissolved by mutual consent on the 9th day of July A. D. 1928. All debts owing to the said partnership are to be received by the said Ira Vanarsdall and all demands on the said partnership are to be presented to him for payment. IRA Vanarsdall T. W. Smith Speech--

N. Peek, the "normally Republican" farm leader, and former Senator H. C. Hansbrough of North Dakota, a Republican who now is chairman of the Smith Independent League, endorsed Smith's farm relief expression.

"Remarkable Grasp" Senator George saw in the speech a "remarkable grasp of national and international problems. He noted the governor pledged enforcement of the prohibition amendment and laws and added:

"His assurance that he will ruthlessly stamp out corruption in the enforcement agencies carries conviction. He recognizes the right of any Democrat to differ from his views. He assures full responsibility for his conclusions and purposes specific remedy."

"From Senator Fletcher came this comment: 'This speech shows a grasp of national problems that is refreshing, stimulating and inspiring. I anticipate a wave of popular approval that will be irresistible.' Representative Bloom described the speech 'a fearless exposition of real Democracy, devoid of sham and pretense.'

"Unwise," Says Daniels Josephus Daniels declared the governor's prohibition stand was "unwise" but held the speech otherwise to "ring true upon the fundamentals of Democracy."

"Even if Governor Smith's position (on prohibition) were tenable," said the former naval secretary, "the proposal of amending the 18th Amendment is one which is now so impossible of accomplishment that it is nothing more than the expression of a personal opinion."

The other Democratic dissenter from the Smith prohibition stand—Representative Crisp of Georgia—said the governor otherwise delighted him on every subject. He declared that as a congressman he would not vote to carry out the Smith prohibition recommendations.

Tariff Stand Rapped On the Republican side, Governor Smith's declaration as to the tariff was criticized by Senators Borah and Smoot. The former said the Underwood tariff "which I understand the governor to specifically endorse," would ruin the livestock, dairy, poultry and kindred industries. Senator Smoot, who described the address as a "fairly good Democratic political speech," declared the Underwood tariff "would have ruined the country if the world war had not occurred."

Senator Fess, the keynote at Kansas City, found the speech had "the commendable feature of frankness" but assailed among other things the governor's prohibition stand.

"The governor's promise to enforce the eighteenth amendment in the light of his attitude past and present," said Fess, "is not convincing to the American people."

Postmaster General New said the Smith attitude toward prohibition could mean "nothing else than the repeal of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act."

Mrs. E. K. Hulsey and son, William Kirk Hulsey, returned to their home in Tulla this morning, after a pleasant visit of several days here in the home of Mrs. Hulsey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Craven. During the visit in Pampa Mrs. Hulsey was honored with two delightful parties given by Mrs. Craven and was a guest at a number of others.

"BUD" In The Cattle Business

IN THE CATTLE BUSINESS This Has Happened "Bud," an Irisher, is born and raised in a pioneer environment in Esoque county, Texas. At the age of fifteen he hires out on a cattle ranch in Hopkins county and serves an apprenticeship of two years. Returning to his home at the end of this time, he meets Daisy Belle Adams. Three years later he marries her.

Now Go On With the Story. CHAPTER III. Hard work and happiness came hand in hand for the next three years. As a struggling young tenant farmer Bud had his hands full with problems of many kinds. But he found no problem or battle beyond conquering with the help of Daisy Belle. At the end of the second year of their marriage there came to them a little girl—Winnie Ola, they decided to call her. Their happiness had seemed complete before her arrival, but it now took on a new quality of tenderness and permanence.

The third year after his marriage found Bud and his family moving down into Tarrant county about fifteen miles west of Ft. Worth. He became associated with the Reynolds Cattle Co., and was placed in charge of their ranch. Here Bud's experiences under Jake Deboard became of great value to him. Eight thousand acres of land and a thousand head of cattle were in his charge. Quite a bit of responsibility for a youngster of twenty-four, but Bud seemed to take it as a matter of course. He found that hardest task of all for many—handling men—now beyond his powers. There were from two to six men employed under him and from the start their loyalty was his. The ranch prospered and its owners were so well pleased with the manager they had chosen that they kept him on the job for eight years.

In the meantime, two years after the move to Tarrant county, there was born to Bud and Daisy Belle another little girl whom they called Inabelle Onita. The family life was remarkable for the perfect health enjoyed by every member. At the end of the eight years on the Reynolds ranch, Bud and his wife began to feel that they should make provision for better schools for the girls. So it was arranged that he should move in close to Ft. Worth on a dairy farm owned by W. D. Reynolds personally.

This demand had hardly been heard in the county to which Bud was moving. In the precinct where the Furneaux Bros. holdings were located there was not a mile of graded road. The entire county did not possess a single engine or grader. It was natural enough that Bud should take considerable interest in the legal machinery of the county and that after two years of residence he should be compelled to accept the position of County Commissioner from his Precinct.

With that characteristic energy which has made him a successful ranch manager Bud went to work to get some road machinery for the county. Much of the credit for the purchase of a big engine and a Russell grader and excavator the first year Bud was a Commissioner is due him. His experience with the officers and machinery of Tarrant county now stood him in good stead.

WHO IS BUD? Some may suspect by now. But be sure to read the final installment in tomorrow's Daily News. Bud's mask of secrecy will be torn away and his true identity exposed!
