

Beautiful Ochiltree Park Would Be Only 55 Miles From Pampa If Bridge Were Built

The above photographs of Ochiltree State Park recalls to many citizens of the north Panhandle, Kansas and Oklahoma, the many pleasant hours spent at the park this summer. With the beauty and many recreational advantages of the park becoming better known it is estimated that the number of visitors will be more than double next season. Last summer picnic parties from over the entire sector of the Southwest were seen under the shade of the stately trees or splashing and swimming in the many swimming holes in the two-mile meandering course of Wolf creek. There is no admission charge and no trespassing signs. Visitors need ask no one's permission to gain entrance to this natural playground. Ochiltree State Park is located 18 miles southeast of Perryton; an equal distance from Booker; 30 miles from Spearman and 40 miles from Canadian. At present the distance from Pampa is about 90 miles, however, if efforts of interested citizens are successful in having a bridge built across the river and the road shortened to Perryton, the distance to this wonder spot will be only around 55 miles. The park is composed of 651 acres which was purchased in 1934 by Ochiltree county from Mrs. Matie Braham. The price paid was $13,000. The county deeded the land to the Texas State Park Board and the site was designated as a state park. The plot was originally the home of D. C. Kottel, the first

The year end's best laugh came of all places, out of the Smithsonian Institution.

Ales Hrdlicka (pronounced Hrd-lischka), 67-year-old curator of physical anthropology, submitted a report of his summer's excavations in Alaska tracing pre-Eskimo civilizations. Among illustrations were Plate No. 5 showing swarms of long-billed Alaskan mosquitoes, and Plate No. 7, showing types of modern Eskimo women.

Recalling the mosquitoes, Dr. Hrdlicka wrote "I found it hard to sleep." Then, he added, "See Plate No. 7."

Mystified but grinning Smithsonian proof-readers stared at the picture of five fur-clad Eskimo women, suspecting the veteran explorer had mixed his photographs. He had. A hasty correction was made before the final proof went to the printer.

Among bits of modern army instruction is how to conduct a 10 minute artillery barrage on an enemy machine stronghold. First give them a heavy two-minute burst of shrapnel. Survivors will dive into the safety dugouts back of the machine guns. In five or six minutes the enemy machine gunners will come back out to man their weapons, knowing that the barrage means an infantry attack is coming against them. But right then they get another burst of artillery fire that continues until the home boys go over the top. Very nice.

An "off and on" brand of nudism, in which you may wear clothing or not, just as you please, has built up a flourishing colony in Alma, Calif.

The concession to modesty or chill winds is in effect at the Elysium foundation, which nestles in a snug little valley at the base of the Santa Cruz mountains. And because Director George Marcellus Spray has made things so easy for bashful beginners, the membership roster exceeds 250 and is constantly growing.

Young Mr. Spray, a former radio continuity writer, who claims to have been an exponent of nudism for 14 years, says he is not compromising with the cult's credo that "sun, light and air are vital conditions of human well-being."

He considers the nudist way of life, however, to be 90 per cent mental, only 10 per cent physical, and as a result sees no harm in allowing his cohorts to put on shorts if they wish. In fact, when they file into the colony's dining hall he requires them all to wear shorts. And on the frequent occasion of a dance they must wear as many clothes as if going to a church bazaar.

His attitude toward visitors is equally matter-of-fact. Many nudist colonies strictly exclude visitors and the rare one who gains entry must strip at the gate. Anyone with legitimate business may get right into Elysium and if he happens to see a couple of nymphs flit through the bushes there is not supposed to be any embarrassment on either side.

Elysium occupies a 109-acre pocket among hills covered with the most impenetrable undergrowth and the only entrance is through a narrow canyon. A gate which automatically rings alarm bells when opened bars the entrance.

The location was chosen, and a two-year law suit fought out to establish its right to jail trespassers, in fear the colony would suffer considerable annoyance from the public. Actually, Spray asserts, it encounters no trouble at all.

Occupying a large tract nearby is an old-established religious cult called the Holy City, with which Elysium enjoys the most cordial relations, although there is no visiting back and forth.

A central lodge, a number of cabins and tents, two swimming pools and equipment for various outdoor games make up the improvements at Elysium. While there are a few resident nudists at all times, the big crowd is on week-ends from San Francisco and Oakland.

"They represent nearly every vocation you can think of from A to Z," says Spray. "Some come singly, some in families, some as groups of friends. There is only one thing common to all, that they are people of refined behavior. Every applicant is thoroughly investigated, and the use of liquor or any other offensive conduct on the grounds means immediate expulsion."

Elysium received considerable

Many French members of the government's "international brigade" were reported killed. The government mapped a naval campaign of reprisal against German ships.

(By The Associated Press.)
DETROIT, Jan. 4.—A board of strategy, authorized to call a general strike in the General Motors Corporation's 69 plants in 14 states, convened here today to determine the course of action of the United Automobile Workers of America. The automotive industry watched this meeting and the scheduled reopening of motors and parts plants today after a three-day holiday to ascertain the effect of strikes which already have closed 19 of the company's branches, leaving at least 38,000 workers idle.

BERLIN—Nazi warships, faced with stubborn refusal of the autonomous Basque government to return the interned cargo of the German freighter Palas, seized a third Spanish merchantman and planned further retaliatory measures. Officials announced the halting on December 20 of the Pluto, another German freighter, by Basque marine patrols, as evidence the Spanish government sea forces had started a campaign against German shipping "a long time ago." The new Spanish steamer seized by the Germans was the Marta Junquera.

The board of strategy was given blanket authority to extend the strikes of call a general strike against the mammoth automobile corporation at a meeting in Flint, Mich., Sunday of union delegates from General Motors plants in 13 cities.
The U. A. W. A. representatives endorsed the eight principal demands of the union officials for a collective bargaining agreement with General Motors and adopted a resolution pledging "wholehearted and loyal support in their efforts to bring about general strike of all General Motors employees if its executive refuse conciliatory methods) genuine collective bargaining between the international union, U. A. W. A., and the said General Motors Corporation."

GIBRALTAR—The Russian steamer Komiles was reported interned at Ceuta, Spanish Morocco by Spanish Fascists after being stopped last night in the Straits of Gibraltar.
The insurgent radio station at Tenerife, Canary Islands, charged the Komiles, a 3,963-ton vessel, was carrying 3,400 tons of war materials to the socialist government at Valencia.

40 KILLED IN MADRID AFTER REBEL AIR RAID

LONDON—Authoritative British sources said 4,000 Italians landed at Cadix, Spain, New Year's day, Italy denied it.
BILBOA—The Basque government, advising British shipping to navigate with care, announced it was uncovering long range coastal guns for "practice fire" into the Bay of Biscay course which is being followed by patrolling German warships. The Basque already had announced their patrol ships would fire on any foreign vessel menacing merchant shipping and would seize German steamers.

(By The Associated Press.)
Ships or men of every major power in Europe were caught today in the spreading net of Spain's "little world war" while fascist insurgents in that menacing conflict rained aerial bombs on the centers of land and sea hostilities—Madrid and Bilbao.
Forty were killed today in Madrid; twenty were reported dead from a Sunday air raid on Bilbao, where Basque sea patrols are defying the "reprisal" tactics of German warships in the Bay of Biscay.
Newest developments included: Seizure and release of an eighth Russian ship by insurgents at Ceuta, Morocco;

WASHINGTON—The United States government expressed gratification over a Mexican assurance that American planes shipped to that nation would be kept from the Spanish war zone.

3 COMPANIES ANNOUNCE HIKE IN OIL PRICES

TULSA, Jan. 4 (AP)—Other major oil companies made no announcements today as the 17-cent increase in crude oil prices by Continental, Barnsdall and Globe went into effect.

I Saw . . .

Bob Clark, Wheeler's smooth athletic coach, and magician on the side, telling about his experiences in the CCC camps of New Mexico and Arizona during the holidays. The government hired him to entertain the CCC boys with magic. One night he decided to pull the lighted cigaret trick which was one of the hits of Casa Manana. Bob said he had practiced for six months on the trick, but it was scared to death when he went out to give it. However, it went off okay. It consisted in pulling 20 lighted cigarets out of the air in rapid succession and throwing them to the floor.

Continental announced its increase a month ago and Barnsdall and Globe met the hike.
Authoritative circles were of two minds regarding the situation. Some felt other major purchasing companies would meet at least a part of the increase, others were of the opinion that there would be continued resistance to the increase.
The basic price of crude oil posted by Continental, Barnsdall and Globe at 7 a. m. Monday was $11.1 a barrel for oil below 29 gravity.

ATHLETIC EQUIPMENT BELONGED TO SALESMAN

More than $300 worth of football and basketball equipment, stolen from a parked car in front of a local hotel here on the night of Dec. 15, has been recovered by the sheriff's department.

The stolen equipment was found hidden under a bridge about one and a half miles north of Pampa on the old Miami highway.

It was discovered by D. R. Ford, of Pampa, who notified the sheriff's department.

DUTCH CLAIM GERMANS INSULTED THEIR QUEEN

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Netherlands government protested formally to Berlin today against what it termed "an insult to the queen" because of the alleged holding up of passports for three of Crown Princess Juliana's bridesmaids.

The protest climaxed German-Netherlands friction preliminary to next Thursday's wedding of Juliana and Prince Bernhard to Lippe-Biesterfeld of Germany. The friction arose from Dutch action in ignoring Nazi flags and anthems in the premarital activities.

Bernhard, by requesting that only the Netherlands national anthem be played at the wedding, tried to quiet the controversy somewhat.

(Three of his cousins, the Princesses Sieghide and Elizabeth to Lippe and Sophie to Saxe-Weimar-Eisenach are among Juliana's chosen bridesmaids.)

It was authoritatively reported the prince's mother might not be able to attend the wedding because her recent poor health had been aggravated by worry over troubles with the German government.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM
The boys saw their teacher getting off the bus Saturday afternoon. They spoke, and she said, "I'm going to sleep two days and nights and be ready for school Monday." Then they knew the holidays, the long, delicious holidays, when every day was like your birthday, was over. So yesterday they played discontinuously, gloomily, and pretty soon we too, being keenly sympathetic, were sad that school was going to start again. There was talk of that last-hour period, the longest of all. "I've got to get home and do a history unit," said one, at last resigned. "And I've got to get up an English unit. . . . Well, we've had a lot of fun anyway. School ain't so bad once you get going good and get used to it."

'CALIBAN' AND 'ARIEL' HAVE SPAT IN CAFE

BARRYMORE 'ROUGHS' UP ELAINE 'A BIT

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 4 (AP)—John "Caliban" Barrymore was placed on probation today by Elaine "Ariel" Barrie, his bride of a few weeks.

"He roughed me up a bit," said Miss Barrie today. "I told him to go to his trainer's home and stay there until he decided to make amends. While I don't anticipate any serious developments, the next move in the reconciliation depends on John."

Miss Barrie, who gained prominence by being known as "Ariel" in a cross-country romance with Barrymore, who adopted the name "Caliban" in his romantic efforts, said it was while welcoming the New Year in jubilant fashion at a fashionable cafe that John became quarrelsome.

As a finale to the scene created at the cafe, she said Barrymore strode out of the place in true, impetuous Barrymore fashion.

"Unfortunately, any quarrels which we may have must become public," continued Miss Barrie, admitting that Barrymore was now living with his nurse and trainer, Ken Kelly, in West Los Angeles. "Other married couples can have their spat and nobody ever hears about it—but with the Barrymores—everyone has to know about it."

Although Miss Barrie declined to state the cause bell, friends of the couple said differences have arisen over Miss Barrie's determination to fill a stage engagement in San Francisco beginning February 1. The friends said Barrymore has not given full approval.

Ross Alexander Commits Suicide

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 4 (AP)—The words "Suicide—case closed" were written beside the name of Ross Alexander, young featured film player, by police today—within a few days of the release of a musical picture which critics forecast would have gained for the actor a star's rating.

Alexander took his life Saturday evening, a little more than a year after his first wife, Altea Freile, dancer, committed suicide because of despondency over failure to find success in films. The actor was found shot to death in a barn loft, a pistol beside the body.

His second wife, a bride of three months, Anne Nagel, was reported near nervous prostration at their Elmhurst home. Funeral arrangements awaited her recovery.

Critics who saw a preview of his latest picture, "Ready, Willing and Able," said he would have gained a star's rating after the picture's release, scheduled within a few days.

Chang Pardoned For Kidnap Coup

NANKING, Jan. 4 (AP)—Marshal Chang Heun-Liang was pardoned unconditionally today by the council of state for kidnaping Premier Chiang Kai-Shek and raising the flag of revolt in an attempt to force Chiang into war with Japan.

The pardon was made effective immediately, and in addition to cancelling the 10-year prison sentence handed down by a military court, restored the young marshal to full civil rights.

Chang was expected to go into immediate retirement after his release from technical custody at the home of Dr. H. H. Kung, minister of finance.

The council's action, writing the end to a chapter of China's history that threatened to embroil the entire country in civil war, was believed to have been taken as a result of Generalissimo Chiang's petition for leniency for his erstwhile captor.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 4 (AP)—William Langer took office as governor of North Dakota for the second time today. He faced a legal fight, however, to retain the office he once lost through a court decision. He made no comment beyond saying he would file an answer within 30 days to charges by retiring Gov. Walter Welford that he had violated the corrupt practices act during his independent campaign.

As He Will Open 75th Congress

The thump of the gavel William B. Bankhead, Speaker of the House of Representatives, wielded so seriously above will silence the babble of greetings and felicitations of the assembling Congressmen. Then, in effect, the Speaker will call for "Order in the house" and the first session of the 75th Congress will get under way.

Legion Post To Entertain 100 Visitors Here

Kerley-Crossman post of the American Legion will be host to more than 100 out-of-town Legionnaires and their wives at a social affair at the Legion hut Wednesday night.

Commander Charlie Maisei received word this morning that 60 persons from Canadian will be present, and that Panhandle will send 46. Lou Roberts, Borger, district commander will attend.

The local Legion post became voluntary host when it lost a membership contest. The Pampa Legionnaires at the annual convention probably should have been listening when they were talking on the occasion of a boast made by them that they would provide a banquet for their neighbors if they were not the first ones to go over the top in a membership drive. They lost and lost badly. Canadian was registered 100 per cent the next day.

Commander Johnson will lead the Canadian delegation, and Paul Smith, adjutant, sent assurance that two score and six would come from the Kit Carson post.

The banquet will be served buffet style. This morning, the local post purchased nearly 100 pounds of spare ribs for the affair. Other eats will include coffee, doughnuts, bread, pickles, dessert.

After the meal and preliminary speeches, the evening will be spent in dancing.

Mrs. Goldie Zimmerman left Friday for her home in Kaw City, Okla. She had been visiting her sister, Mrs. T. Martin, who is recovering from an operation.

Kidnap Threats to Jane Withers

Threats of kidnaping and death for Jane Withers, above, mischievous child star of films, unless her parents paid $50,000, were revealed by her mother in Boston, where the screen prodigy was making a personal appearance. G-men were placed on the case and a bodyguard has accompanied the child day and night since receipt of two warning notes.

COMMUNIST CONVICTION OVERTURNED BY COURT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—The conviction of Dirk de Jonge, communist, sentenced to serve seven years in the Oregon penitentiary for violating the state criminal syndicalism law, was set aside today by the Supreme Court in a ruling that held the law unconstitutional as applied to this one case.

Chief Justice Hughes delivered the unanimous decision, which reversed a ruling by the Oregon Supreme Court sustaining the conviction.

"We hold that the Oregon statute as applied to the particular charge as defined by the court," Hughes said, "is repugnant to the due process clause of the 14th amendment. The judgment of conviction is reversed and the cause is remanded for further proceedings not inconsistent with this opinion."

The measure prohibits anyone from advocating industrial or political revolution by force. It authorizes a maximum of 10 years imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

Hughes said, "None of our decision go to the length of sustaining such a curtailment of the right of free speech and assembly as the Oregon statute demands in its present application."

TEED BETTER
Arthur Teed, local attorney and president of the Pampa Lions club, reacted favorably to a blood transfusion last night and today his condition was decidedly improved although he was not out of danger, attendants at Pampa-Jarratt hospital reported. Blood was donated by his close friend, County Attorney J. Gordon. Mr. Teed underwent a major operation last week.

LEWIS CONSULTED
WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, conferred with John L. Lewis, chairman of the committee for industrial organization, for more than an hour today on means of settling the labor dispute in the General Motors corporation's plants. The United Automobile workers union is affiliated with the committee for industrial organization.

Mrs. F. M. Johnson was taken to her home from Pampa-Jarratt hospital yesterday following a major operation.

Brady Cobb Is Dead Of Heart Attack Sunday

30-Year Resident Is Stricken at His Residence

Brady Cobb, 58, resident of Gray county for 30 years, died suddenly of a heart attack at noon yesterday. He became ill about 10 o'clock yesterday morning while downtown. About noon, at his home at 605 N. Hobart street, he was stricken again and death came while he was en route to a local hospital.

Mr. Cobb moved to this section in 1906, taking up a half section of land six miles northwest of Pampa. Later he acquired two additional sections on which he raised wheat. A year ago oil was discovered on Mr. Cobb's land and 22 wells have been drilled and several others are in process of drilling.

The large brick building housing Cobb Auto Parts and the Schneider hotel garage was erected by Mr. Cobb several years ago. He also built several residences in the city.

Mr. Cobb was born in Tennessee. In 1900 he moved to Texas, taking up his residence in Lamar county. He moved to Gray county in 1906, three years after he had married Fannie McConnell. She died in 1916.

Surviving Mr. Cobb are five brothers, Henry of Corinth, Miss., Tracy of Memphis, Tenn., Willis of Dyersburg, Tenn., Ruben of Bethel Springs, Tenn., Olin of Pampa, and one sister, Mrs. Ella Hester of Jackson, Tenn.

Funeral services will be conducted at First Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Revs. L. Burney Shell, pastor of First Presbyterian church, C. E. Lancaster, pastor of the First Baptist church, and James Todd, Jr., officiating. Burial will be in Fvewick cemetery under direction of G. C. Malone Funeral Home.

Funeral services will be Roy Cullum, J. S. Wynne, De Lea Vickers, Charlie Thomas, Lon Noel, John Sturgeon, John Roby and Fred Cullum.

Music will be quartet numbers by the Lester Aldrich quartet and a solo by Mrs. A. H. Doucette.

HIGH COURT REFUSES TO RULE ON STATUTE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—A ruling on constitutionality of a major tax measure which would set a tax on employers for the benefit of the jobless—was refused today by the Supreme Court.

It declined to pass on an appeal by George P. Davis of Boston from a ruling by the Massachusetts district court upholding the legislation and dismissing his complaint.

Both Davis and the government urged the Supreme Court to pass on the controversy without waiting for a ruling by the circuit court of appeals. Such procedure is unusual but sometimes permitted in cases of great public importance.

The government, through Solicitor General Stanley Reed, said a prompt decision was "important to the government" because of heavy expense in setting up administrative machinery and because of the need to prevent "a multitude of suits clogging the dockets of the courts."

Tenancy Problem Studied in Light Of Homesteading

DALLAS, Jan. 4 (AP)—The complicated farm tenancy problem, in all its ramifications, was studied here today at a hearing in which Dr. L. S. Gray told several hundred farmers the agricultural authorities the President favors ownership of homes by those living in them and farms by those occupying them.

Dr. Gray, executive secretary of President Roosevelt's committee on farm tenancy, told agriculturists: "It is increasingly evident we have made serious mistakes along the line, with respect to homesteading."

"Today we find a very high percentage of tenancy on this homesteaded land," he said, citing the state of Oklahoma, in which some 60 per cent of the farmers do not own their lands, and the Dakotas. He pointed out not more than 15 or 20 per cent of the actual acreage in South Dakota is owned by the men farming the land.

"The national committee at its recent meeting in Washington had a frank discussion of this problem and possible ways of dealing with it," he explained. "The committee takes a very broad view of the problem, which varies greatly in different sections of the country."

CITY QUIETING DOWN, JUDGE TELLS JURORS

HIT-AND-RUN DRIVER MENACE DISCUSSED IN COURTROOM

Gray county is now in splendid condition insofar as major violation of the law is concerned, Judge W. B. Ewing told the January term grand jurors just before they went into session in district court here today.

In one of his shortest messages to a grand jury, Judge Ewing said: "Gray county, of course, has had its usual run of petty crime, but I believe that never has the county been in better shape as a whole insofar as major crime is concerned."

"I have heard fewer complaints in the past weeks than at any time in many years. I find that the citizens of Gray county as a whole are law-abiding, and I doubt very much if there is a county in the state, in proportion to its population, that has a better record than our own."

"There have been years when we ran wild, but we are quieting down and I am proud to be able to say that there is little if anything along the line of major law violation that I have to admonish this grand jury about."

Judge Ewing, however, did make special mention of the hit-and-run driving menace. The hit-and-run driver is a coward of the worst type, he told the jurors.

The morning session at the opening of the 10-week term of court was taken up with the impaneling of the grand jury.

Judge Ewing instructed attorneys to return again this afternoon and the actual calling of the docket was not begun until shortly after 1:30 p. m. today.

At this time the court began to sound the entire docket. This first week of the term has been set aside for non-jury cases. Tomorrow the appearance docket will be called and on Wednesday the non-jury docket will be called for trial.

The entire criminal docket will be called next Monday morning. Court bailiffs for the January term were sworn in by the court. They are Jess Hatcher, A. G. Brandon, and A. S. Cameron.

The entire jury went into session today were: C. M. Carpenter, McLean; J. M. Noel, McLean; Horace W. Brooks, McLean; R. E. Colwell, Miami; Floyd McLaughlin, Laketon; Walter Jones, Laketon; L. R. Taylor, Pampa; F. C. Ledrick, Pampa; Ed B. Day, Pampa; L. L. Morse, McLean; W. F. Wall, LeFors; S. E. Allison, Pampa, and W. E. Tolbert, R. 2, Pampa.

DISORDER BREAKS OUT AT AUTOMOBILE PLANT

(By The Associated Press)
DETROIT, Jan. 4 (AP)—Disorder broke out today on the wide front where the United Automobile Workers of America in eight strikes has threatened paralysis of half of the General Motors corporation production.

A brief clash between union pickets and police at gates of the Fisher body plant, a General Motors unit at Cleveland, caused slight injuries to one policeman and two strikers almost at the same time. Radiation offers were made at Washington and in Michigan, the center of the automotive industry.

Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan conferred with Homer Martin, W. A. W. president, and associates of the committee for industrial organization authorized to call a general strike in corporation plants, saying his administration "will always be at the service of the people to referee any labor dispute."

At Flint, Mich., a General Motors "strategy committee" conferred in an attempt to make legally flawless the injunctive proceedings which company representatives said would constitute the first test of an employer's power to employ workers from attempting "sit-down" or "stay-in" strikes.

Approximately 500 union members have occupied two Fisher body plants in Flint since Dec. 30.

KIWANIS TO ATTEND BANQUET AT AMARILLO

Many local Kiwanians and their wives will attend the installation and ladies night banquet of the Amarillo Kiwanis club in the country club at 7 o'clock tonight. Local members who wish to make up their attendance may do so tonight.

President Bill Jarratt said: "Herbert Budke will be installed as president. Bill Gilstrap, former Pampa, will be first vice-president for the coming year."

"The annual installation banquet and ladies night will be Thursday in the Schneider hotel. Chris Martin will succeed Mr. Jarratt as president."

DIES IN CHAIR
BELLEFONTE, Pa., Jan. 4 (AP)—Jacob Gable, calm and quiet, died in the electric chair early today for the murder of 79-year-old Mrs. Harriet Goldstein because she saw him rob a candy store. The 21-year-old resident of Johnstown said the state was "doing me a favor" by refusing to commute his sentence.

ANOTHER MILESTONE?

Postal receipts usually are accepted as a fairly good barometer of business, probably for the reason that it shows as much as anything how the average man and women are spending.

Postmaster C. H. Walker has announced that receipts in Pampa for 1936 have broken the all-time record. Even though we might not ourselves think it necessary to remind anyone of the catastrophe, it must be recollected that it was not until the latter part of 1930 or early in 1931 that the real weight of the depression was felt as a cruel reality.

It is because of this, no doubt, that receipts during 1930, the year following the stock market crash, amounted to as much as $61,000 in Pampa. In 1936 they topped the $74,000 mark.

Perhaps, therefore, it is not without logic to assume that such an increase last year may be a reliable indication that business in general really is on the up-trend. The idea at any rate is appealing to us, and quite welcome. Anyway, let us suggest that the news of the increase is something to be optimistic about. And we certainly hope it won't turn out like so many things that have seemed to indicate a more prosperous trend—just another illusion!

FREE DISCUSSION

American newspapers, whatever their faults, are the freest in the world, printing the most news and doing it most fearlessly and impartially. And perhaps in no other country is there so much free speech in the form of discussion and debate on public issues.

There are an astonishing number of organizations doing this kind of thing today, airing and debating all sorts of questions in freedom and impartiality, for their own interest and a sense of public duty. One of these is the Santa Ana, Calif., Public Forum, which listens to exponents of all shades of local, national and international political, social and economic thought and then mercilessly cross-examines them.

America stands forth pre-eminently as the shining example of successful, militant, untrifled democracy. To maintain it, it seems the only way is to preserve the soil in which democracy grows. The component elements of this soil are free speech, free discussion, a reasonable tolerance of each other's views and a spirit of give-and-take. We must make a conscious effort to retain democracy, and one of the best ways to maintain it is to encourage free and open expression of opinion in such forums as these.

Blessed are free and untrifled democrats (including republicans) who "have what it takes" to get together in this Santa Ana manner and thresh things out.

OUR INTANGIBLE ASSET

In an era when greed has lured many to take chances with their reputation, the story of Oberlin M. Carter offers a highly significant moral.

A one-time army engineer, Carter was ordered discharged from the army in 1899 after a court-martial had convicted him of embezzlement. Ever since then he has fought vigorously, continuously to clear his name.

Though he received another setback in a Washington court the other day, the 80-year-old man intends to fight on until the world believes his contention that his conviction and sentence were the result of a fraudulent trial.

What more impressive evidence of the value of a reputation can there be than the fact that a man has spent nearly half his life to clear his own? And who, by the same token, could be more foolish than a person who risks staining his name?

SANTA HITLER

It was a pretty sentiment, surely, which prompted Adolf Hitler to send to some 3,000,000 German homes little Christmas cards, each card accompanied by a carton of sausage, canned herrings, coffee, sugar, and other groceries.

These gifts must have been extremely welcome, in a Germany where war-time rationing measures are being begun. They must have sent many a loyal German to bed feeling that the Fuehrer is a kindly and thoughtful man.

How many of them, do you suppose, stopped to reflect that if Germany only had a government which spent less money on armaments and devoted more attention to the economic well-being of the common man, gifts of sausage and herring from the head of the government would not be necessary?

MUSIC BOXES

What souvenir of early childhood retains more infantile charms for adults than the thin chiming of a music box? The redoubtable Shirley Temple, to whom some of the hardest hearts surrender, recently took still another unfair advantage of them by playing a music box in "The Poor Little Rich Girl."

The same instrument was used some time ago with insupportable pathos for the sentimental in a nursery husband-wife reconciliation scene between Marlene Dietrich and Herbert Marshall—what was that picture? Latest of all, the music box functions with a most moving tinkling amid the sophisticates whom Mr. Noel Coward assembles in his ninth play, "The Family Album." The range could not be wider.

The tinkling of the "Chimes of Normandy," "Old Black Joe," or "Stille Nacht" upon a machine, with a five-tune repertoire, however, is probably quite without effect upon a generation born since the rise of phonographs did the music box in. It is upon those who, sprawled on a Victorian Brussels carpet, laid an ear on the closed lid of a music box enraptured on Christmas morning from 1892 backward that the sentimental assault of the instrument is most devastating.

Let persons of these vintages beware, for the December Fortune announced that the music box is having a comeback of sorts. It seems that popular artists, orchestra leaders among them, have been buying oversized music boxes by the gross, more or less. The "movies," as stated, are getting on to their charm for the sentimentally self-indulgent and, Fortune reports, a great purveyor of foodstuffs is undermining sales resistance by recording its theme songs on a music box.

All of which goes to prove, it may be that a fad can have many lives, like a cat that goes into the cupboard to die but, without pulmotor or strychnine, becomes spry again only a few hours after breathing its last. Breathing its last? Certainly the thin voice of the music box until recently was believed still forever.

Washington Letter

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—In the impending struggle over the amount of appropriations for federal work-relief, it is worth noting that extremists on both sides are committed to certain theories and principles which they do not care—or dare—to express in public.

No one need espouse either extreme view. There's plenty of room between.

Each fringe is represented in Congress, which must decide whether WPA is to continue on present schedules from February to June, inclusive, at a cost of $750,000,000 or be radically curtailed to a cast of perhaps only $300,000,000, as suggested by such conservatives as Senator King of Utah.

The first extreme theory, also held by certain important administration officials, includes a belief that the "masses" will insist on getting a larger share of the national income and that they'll get it. Such issues as tariff, gold standard, and budget-balancing no longer count with millions of "underprivileged" voters, who are in a position to raise the devil and impress their ideas on politicians.

The New Deal has given millions of destitute urban unemployed and poverty-stricken farmers or farm tenants a higher standard of living than they ever had before, according to this point of view, and it would be just too bad to retreat from that standard.

Furthermore, such a retreat is politically impossible, anyway. Benefits are likely to increase rather than decrease—widows' pensions will become common, and union labor will support WPA workers and other federal beneficiaries in their fight to avoid a return to starvation levels of local home relief.

The extreme right wingers see the picture in much the same outlines. But whereas the most liberal New Dealers think it's all a very fine thing, this right wing group feels it is perfectly terrible and also a great menace.

New vested interests have been established, according to their point of view, and millions of treasury-raiders thinking as one man will be abetted by most politicians, so their growing strength must be combated.

Various members of Congress holding to this school of thought will go on to tell you privately that most WPA workers and farm tenants are shiftless, lazy, and over-paid; that states and towns are able to take care of them as well as they deserve; and that they deserve no better standards of living than their own neighbors, who know them best, are willing to provide.

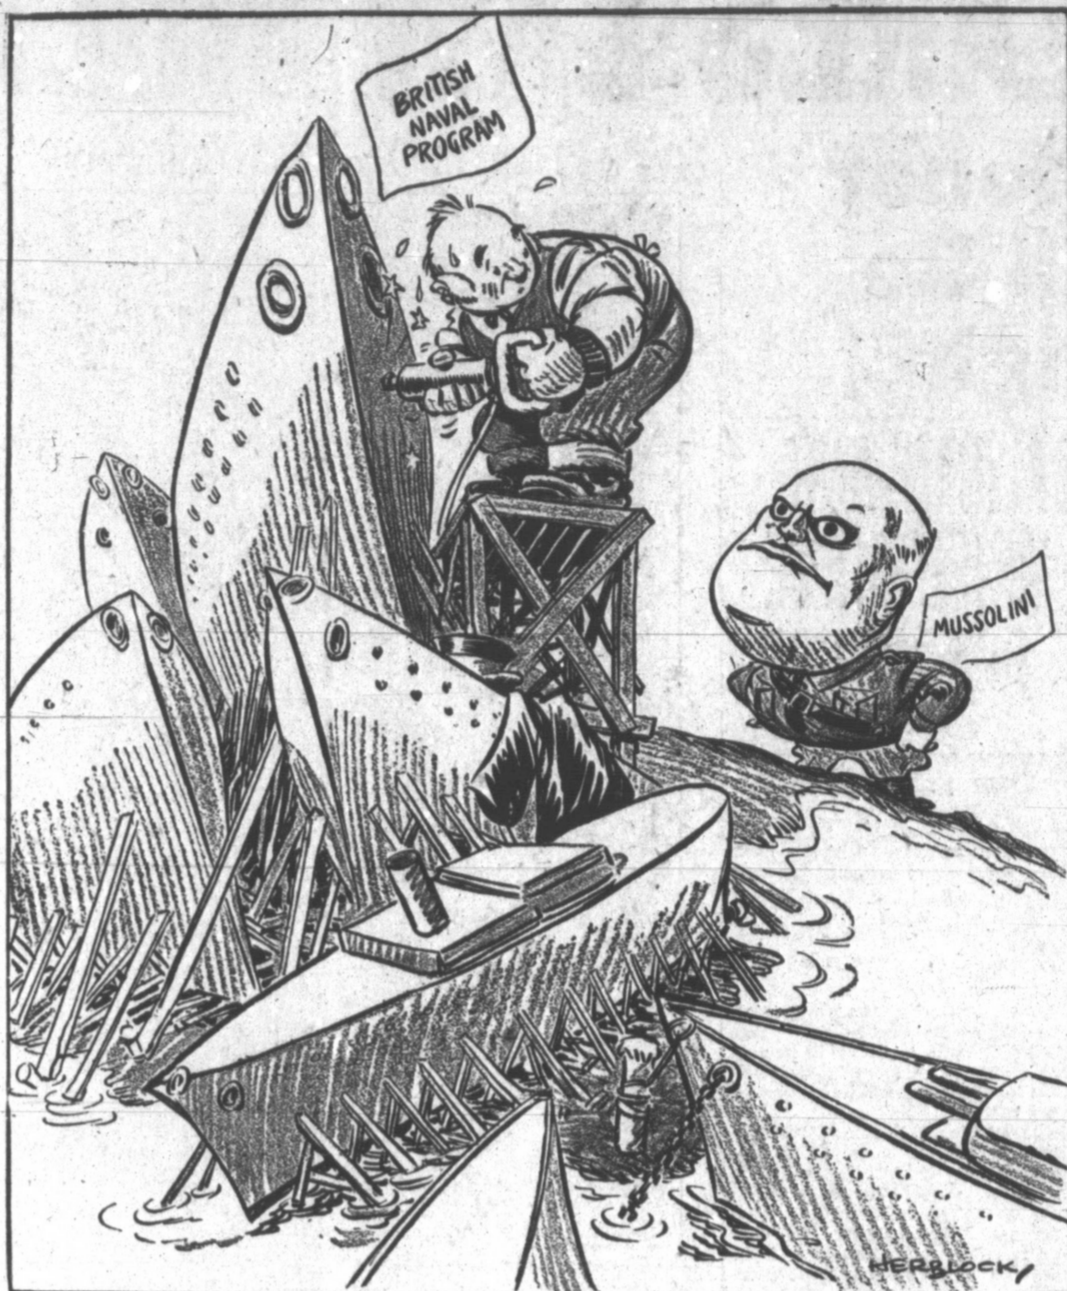

Furthermore, that there are plenty of jobs to be had if those on relief will only accept the wages that are offered, but that WPA has in effect set a floor to wages which interferes with the operations of the labor market.

Allied to this school of thought as it applies to farm tenants is Chairman James P. Buchanan of the House Appropriations Committee. He demands discontinuation of the Resettlement Administration's rural rehabilitation loan program, on the ground that it places a federal premium on "shiftlessness."

The Resettlement Administration people want to expand the rehabilitation loan policy to help take care of 250,000 farm families, mostly drought victims, it has just taken over from WPA rolls.

It will be asking Buchanan for from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 for such work in the remainder of the fiscal year, claiming that loans are cheaper than direct doles, in that they enable farmers to get on their feet and have been repaid on an average of 75 per cent to date.

THE FACE THAT LAUNCHED 100 SHIPS

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

NEW YORK—My Day:

This morning after breakfast, which I had alone, I went to the office and glanced through the mail, and then went over to see John Tooney about collecting some George S. Kaufman stories for my column. Mr. Tooney is the buffer between Mr. Sam Harris and the press, and he and Mr. Kaufman are old poker friends and belong to the same poker and whist clubs. He assured me he would be glad to speak to George and send me what he could find.

Time Out For Lunch

After this I went over to 100 East 42nd street where I met Mr. Owen C. Orr and Mr. Richard Luther for lunch. We strolled across the street to the Commodore hotel and had an excellent meal of fresh trout, crisp bacon, corn fritters and fried pineapple rings, followed by lemon pie and coffee.

Mr. Orr is from St. Joseph, Mo., and Mr. Luther is a far westerner and both are identified with a world famous building materials house. Mr. Luther was telling us about his sister, who is Irene Rich, and how she wanted to get away from the clamor and clutter of New York.

He said she shopped around for days and finally found what almost amounts to a sanctuary, it was so nice and quiet and set apart... "Yes," Mr. Luther was saying,

"Irene has found just what she wants. She has a lovely apartment in 66th street, just across the street from a police station and a fire department."

After lunch we all agreed to meet again for lunch in the near future, and then I went to mail some letters, including a check to my doctor which has been due him for nearly a year. As I always say it must be terrible being a doctor—people never pay you till the very last.

A-Hunting We Will Go

Later in the afternoon I went shopping for some last minute gifts and finally wound up in a large department store where hunting equipment and fishing tackle is sold. I was particularly impressed with the red hunting caps, which are supposed to keep other people from shooting you, and I bought two of them, one for my colleague on many camping trips, Mr. Harrison Wood, of the SKF industries, and one for myself. They will come in handy around the 15th of January when we go up to Sparta, N. J., to visit Teddy Pringos who, by an odd coincidence, comes from Sparta, Greece. Mr. Pringos and his wife, Margaret, have a marvelous old inn which abounds with delicious food and good cheer. We often go up there in the winter to fish through the ice and to calm our nerves after the turmoil of the city.

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH

PSYCHOSIS AND NEUROSIS

The words "psychosis" and "neurosis" are good examples of technical psychiatric terms which have entered the vocabulary of ordinary speech and are being used in a rather discouragingly loose manner.

Of course it is common practice to learn the meaning of many words by their simpler word associations and then to use them correctly without being able to locate their dictionary definitions. That psychiatric terms are not so readily forgotten.

Psychosis, correctly defined, is "a mental disease; any prolonged form of mental disorder." Neurosis is a "functional nervous disease, a psychosis of the functional group"—that is, one without known organic basis. The two terms are found united in psychoneurosis.

A clue to the basic difference between psychosis and neurosis may be gained from a glance at their roots. Psychosis is derived from the Greek psyche, meaning soul. Neurosis is from the Greek neuron, meaning nerve.

Therefore psychosis stresses the mental or psychic character of a disturbance, and neurosis emphasizes the nerve origin of the disease. This difference suggests a division in thought concerning the origin of mental and nervous disorders.

Formerly many such disturbances were thought due to some actual structural change in the nervous system. Neurosis, neurasthenia and hysteria (hysteria derives from hysteria, meaning womb) refer to anatomic structures, derangement of which was thought responsible for certain nervous and mental disorders.

Lately, however, it has been shown that a wide variety of mental disturbances may arise without demonstrable organic derangement. In these conditions the psychic, or soul, phase of the disturbance has been stressed.

In a practical way, neurosis has been used to indicate certain functional disturbances of a nervous origin. These usually involve some organ or system of the body. Gastric neurosis, cardiac neurosis, sexual neurosis, each point to a functional disturbance in the system mentioned, chargeable not to any organic disease, but to a nervous disturbance of psychic origin.

Psychosis has been restricted to conditions in which mental symptoms predominate.

Talks to parents

By BROOKE PETERS Church.

"How can I be sure that my child gets enough vitamins, and the right ones?" Hundreds of mothers, impressed by books and articles on vitamins, ask this question.

One advertisement claims for its product a generous supply of vitamin A; another announces that it specializes in B or C; still a third sings praises of some other letter of the alphabet.

But in the end the average parent is still confused as to what the vitamins do and where to find them. Most of the information on the subject is either too technical or too long and involved to give much help. The necessary facts can, however, be given in a very few words.

The four most important vitamins known today are A, B, C, and D. On A depend the skin, mucous surfaces, and glands of secretion. It is contained in cod liver oil, egg and butter fat, liver, kidneys, and leafy vegetables.

B is concerned with the nervous system, and is supplied by milk, fruit, vegetables and other natural foods. C affects the teeth. Orange, lemon and tomato juice are full of C. D prevents rickets, and is a bone preserver. Egg yolk, cod liver oil, salmon fat, are rich in D.

A varied diet will supply all the

The HOLIDAY MYSTERY

CHAPTER XVII

Pearl John seemed to have changed in the few minutes he had been absent. Gone was the care-free good humor that had been his most attractive characteristic. He was now very much the head of the house of de Forest. His face seemed to have taken on some of the lean craftiness of his dead brother. Bob thought, as he looked at him, that Pearl John was a man against all mankind, suspicious and fearing something that baffled him. A wave of pity for this man he liked passed over him, and he rose and walked to de Forest's side.

"Are you sure the knife hasn't fallen to the floor or something?" he asked.

"Positive. The knife was removed with some force. It had to be. A mighty strong arm struck with it in the first place." He passed his hand wearily across his forehead. "I suppose it won't do any good to ask if any of you know anything about this." His voice was tired. "The professor— Suddenly he jerked himself together and ordered a servant to call Professor Shaw.

The archaeologist had seemed to have the strongest reason for not wanting the knife destroyed, and he was the only one who had been out of the room since they had brought Pearl Pierre's body to the house.

"I'm sending two men down the trail to Santa Fe tonight," Pearl John went on. "They can probably get through, even though it is storming again. The officers will be here tomorrow morning, at the latest."

"I'm glad you've taken such a stand de Forest," remarked Professor Shaw, coming into the room just then. "You wished to see me?"

"To ask if you have the obsidian knife," said Pearl John.

"What do you mean?" the professor countered.

"Just this. As you already know, the knife has been taken again by some unknown person. Since you were so interested in it, perhaps you will be kind enough to hand it over now."

"For a moment the professor did not answer, though everyone in the room waited breathlessly for his words. Then he said, matter-of-factly, "I not only do not have the artifact in my possession, but I did not know it was any place but where we all saw it last."

"You're going to quiet down," said Ramon, taking a quick step forward and grasping Pearl John's arms from behind. "You'll never find out anything if you go around shouting accusations at people. Don't you know that?"

Pearl John evidently was impressed with the logic of this, for he relaxed. Turning away from the professor, he walked over to the Indian who stood waiting in the doorway.

"Broken Shield, you refused to destroy the obsidian knife, didn't you? He did not try to conceal his hatred for the man."

"Si," was the guttural reply. The Indian waited, as motionless as a statue.

"And you had no love for either of my dead brothers, did you?" Pearl John went on relentlessly.

"To what?" broke in de Forest. "Why should Tante Josephine insist that you stay here?"

For a moment the Indian's hands clenched as though he would gladly throttle his employer, but he only said, in a cold tone, "Broken Shield must stay in the home of his fathers."

"And be sure the knife was kept in good working order," sneered Pearl John. "Now, Broken Shield, there was one window in the chapel left open. A strong man could have lowered himself from the roof and entered—lowered himself much as you did when you went down the side of the cliff. I noticed just now when I went to the chapel that the window was open farther than when I locked the door the first time. Did you forget to leave it as you found it when you took the knife? And were you working on your own, or at the suggestion of someone else here?" He glanced at the professor as he spoke.

"No," answered the Indian again. "If you lock knife in room, it still there."

Fearing that the tense scene would end in more disaster, Bob tried to end de Forest's baiting of the man, who stood looking at his questioner with a fanatical gleam in his black eyes.

"Now, de Forest, there's not much use trying third degree tactics," Bob said. "You've sent for the officers and when they come why not let them handle this thing for you?"

"I guess you're right," answered Pearl John. He walked rapidly to the door and sent for two men servants. When they came, he ordered them to take the Indian to his room and keep him there until the officers arrived.

Broken Shield did not resist as the frightened Mexican grasped him and started through the door with him. Bob looked at Betty with a sigh of relief, and everyone in the room relaxed. Then a piercing scream cut the silence, and Tante Josephine appeared in the hall, her face blushing excitedly.

"Stop!" she cried. "Stop I say! Where are you taking him?"

The Mexicans turned with a look of relief, and everyone in the room relaxed. Then a piercing scream cut the silence, and Tante Josephine appeared in the hall, her face blushing excitedly.

"You're going to quiet down," said Ramon, taking a quick step forward and grasping Pearl John's arms from behind. "You'll never find out anything if you go around shouting accusations at people. Don't you know that?"

"Si," was the guttural reply. The Indian waited, as motionless as a statue.

"And you had no love for either of my dead brothers, did you?" Pearl John went on relentlessly.

"They hate Broken Shield," the man answered. "They would drive him from mesa. My tribe always live on Thunder Mesa. Great Spirit give it for their land, didn't prevent the state of New Mexico from taking my family's money in payment for it, just the same," snapped de Forest.

"The fact remains that you think you have reason to kill any of us, if you took the notion, although we've housed you and fed you most of your life."

PAMPA OF YESTERYEAR

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Six to 12 inches of snow fell over the Panhandle, forming two-foot drifts in many places here.

School began after the Christmas holidays. Notice was received that Pampa high school had been retained on the All-Southern list of affiliation for the year.

Management of the public library here passed into the hands of a library board appointed by the city commission, and became a tax-supported organization. For several years it had been managed by the library association. Mrs. C. P. Buckler was elected head of the board.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Coach Odus Mitchell returned from the Rose Bowl football game, and congratulated the Harvesters on winning three basketball games while he was away.

Two holiday weddings of young men here were announced. Coach J. C. Prejean had married Miss Blanche Groves of Shamrock, and Alfred Gilliland Miss Louise Avery of Llano.

Year-end reports of all utilities companies showed increases in receipts during 1935.

IMPROVED HARVESTER CAGERS TO PLAY WHITTENBERG TOMORROW NIGHT

PAMPANS CRUSH TULIA 29 TO 11 SATURDAY EVE

BLACKHAWKS LIKELY TO BE DIFFICULT QUINTET

Home from a road trip on which they won one game and lost two, one of them by two points in an overtime battle, the Pampa Harvester basketball team will meet the fast-stepping Phillips Blackhawks from Whittensburg here tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. Admission will be 10 cents for students and 25 cents for adults.

The Harvesters closed their road jaunt Saturday night with an impressive 27 to 11 win over the highly-touted Tulia Hornets. On Friday night Floydada defeated the Pampans, 29 to 27, in an overtime period. The trip opened with a loss to Aberrath.

An offense, which had been practically nil in early games, cropped up on the road with Albert Ayer, veteran guard and only regular letterman back, hitting his stride. James Dewey, a newcomer, showed the best improvement, followed by Claude Heskell and Norman Cox. Ivan Noblitt also started showing up in old time form in the final game.

The Harvesters got away to a fast start and held a lead from whistle to whistle despite the great work of Smith, Tulia's all district center. Harvester subs, Reynolds, Kilgore and Enloe, also got their chance.

Phillips has a fast-stepping club coached by "Dumb" Newman who used to bring Hedley teams to Pampa. Newman has three lettermen back this year.

Perry, Vines to Clash in Match

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Fred Perry of England, who was rated the No. 1 amateur tennis player of the world when he capitulated to the lure of playing for cash a few weeks ago, and Ellsworth Vines, top-ranking professional, will clash in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night in the nearest approach to a world championship match since the pro game began snapping up the simon pure stars.

The pro-amateur argument has raged ever since Bill Tilden, then past his peak as an amateur, turned pro and developed his game to a higher pitch than ever. By the time Vines joined the play-for-pay ranks, Big Bill was on the downgrade again. Perry, however, established himself at the peak, before he made the pro jump, while Vines never has been better.

Wednesday's match at the Garden, and the series to follow on a nation-wide tour, should go a long way toward settling the dispute. The weight of expert opinion seems to rest with Vines, who has had a few years experience with indoor courts. The show will be completed by a doubles encounter in which Perry will team with George Lott against Vines and Tilden.

CHICAGO BEARS WIN FROM COLLEGE STARS

HOUSTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Chicago Bears, professional gridsters, proved too strong for an all-star aggregation of former Southwest collegians and won an exhibition football game, 10 to 7, here yesterday.

Jack Manders booted a field goal for the pros in the first period, and in the third period Tackle Joe Stydagar scored up Bohn Hilliard's fumble and ran 75 yards to account for the Bears' touchdown.

Led by Bobby Wilson, star of the Southern Methodist Mustangs last year, the former collegians marched to their touchdown. A pass from Wilson to a former team mate, Maco Stewart, put the ball over the goal line.

As Panthers Drove to Victory in Rose Bowl

This was the sort of steam-roller drive which carried Pittsburgh's Golden Panthers to a 21-0 victory over Washington's Huskies in the Rose Bowl football carnival at Pasadena. Frank Patrick, No. 24, is shown during the first quarter as he hurried himself over an opponent to leave the ball on Washington's 6-inch line. On the next play the Panther fullback went over for touchdown, and he scored again in the third quarter. A capacity crowd of 87,000 witnessed the classic, which the Huskies had been favored to win. It was Pittsburgh's first Rose Bowl triumph in four trips to California.

NATIONAL LOOP PLAYERS MUCH YOUNGER NOW

AVERAGE AGE LOWEST IN MANY YEARS, SAYS FRICK

(Note This is the first in a series of stories written especially for The Associated Press by outstanding leaders in sport. They deal with the developments of 1936 and the prospects for 1937.)

By FORD FRICK
NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Just now I was thumbing over the cards representing new players added to the rosters of our eight National League clubs. I venture the prediction that our league, in its 62nd season of championship competition, will present a younger average age than its teams' regular lineups has been the case for many years.

And that suits me. The National League had its 25th birthday last February and we celebrated the anniversary with a series of 1876 ball games in each of our eight ball parks. The issuing of lifetime passes the year before the old-timer reunions held in connection with each of the birthday parties revived in healthy fashion the traditional background of baseball. But I noticed one very significant thing in attending our anniversary games. Namely, none of the grown-ups, not even the old-timers themselves, seemed to be enjoying the occasion as much as the kids enjoyed it.

So if we're younger out there on the ball field in 1937, we're just as much in line with the march of baseball as we were when we were re-living the annals of the past.

Our first pennant race had plenty of high lights besides the anniversary games. We had a great race, with first the Cardinals setting the pace and holding the whiphand week after week, then the Cubs coming along then vying neck and neck with the Birds in early summer, and then the Giants launching their August campaign which put them on top to stay, 26 wins in 28 games played, from July 27 to August 28.

To the Giants, the year was a splendid achievement, New York's 11th pennant in National League history, tying the metropolis with Chicago for the first time in the all-time contest of collecting National League pennants. It was their second pennant since Bill Terry took charge of the management in June, 1932, making two pennants for Bill in his four complete seasons as a major league manager.

I was glad to see Carl Hubbell when the official figures were tallied. Carl had led in earned runs before, of course, but in '36 he was leader in the won and lost percentages, too, a fitting tribute to his great year, with its winning streak of 16 straight, the longest streak in our league since Rube Marquart's 19 straight in 1912, and as long a stream as any American league pitcher ever held.

At Boston in July, the National League team won the annual all-star game. The major inter-league contest of the year, the world series, went the other way but I was proud of the Giants for the great battle they put up against the Yankees.

MONROE TO PLAY WITH PHILLIPS 66 OILERS

After a holiday layoff, the Phillips 66 Oilers from the South Pampa field will take up their basketball duties again tomorrow night when they go to White Deer for a battle with the fast independents. With a complete veteran lineup, strengthened by the signing of Frank Monroe, former West Texas star and now a teacher in the Pampa high school, the Oilers are undefeated this season.

The Windom brothers, Christian, Bacchus and Monroe make up the starting lineup. White Deer's lineup was not available today.

OWEN HOLDS OWN

Sport Slants

It is interesting to note that the middleweight division, once the most colorful and exciting class in boxing, is regaining some of its popularity. Not even the heavyweight class boasts more big names in its history than the middleweight group.

Starting with Jack Dempsey, the Nonpariel, who was the undisputed middleweight champion for several years until he ran up against Geo. La Blanche in 1899, the last of the great middleweight champions of that group is studded with names like Bob Fitzsimmons, Tommy Ryan, Kid McCoy, Stanley Ketchel, Jack (Twin) Sullivan, Billy Papke, Johnny Clabby, Frank Klaus, Mike Gibbons, Eddie McGortery, Jack Dillon, Geo. Chip, Jeff Smith, Les Darcy, Harry Greb and Mickey Walker.

As in other divisions, the middleweight title has often been in dispute. Away back when La Blanche defeated Dempsey with his famous pivot blow, which was nothing but a flagrant foul, the public, or at least a great part of it, refused to consider La Blanche the champion, but continued to recognize Dempsey as the titleholder until he was knocked out by Bob Fitzsimmons in 1891. Fitz deserted middleweight rank in 1896 to battle the heavyweights, although he could still easily make the middleweight limit of those days, 158 pounds.

As soon as Fitz announced that he was going after the heavyweights, Tommy Ryan and Kid McCoy claimed the middleweight title. Ryan was recognized by the authorities as champion because even then McCoy was preparing to fight as a light-heavy. When Ryan gave up the title along came Stanley Ketchel, who laid claim to the crown after he had whipped Jack (Twin) Sullivan, another claimant, in 1908.

The title was held or claimed by fighters like Al McCoy, Mike O'Dowd, Johnny Wilson, Bryan Downey. The once glorious division slipped lower and lower. Harry Greb lifted the

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBIN COONS.
HOLLYWOOD—Unreal parade: The times so unsettled, as Tess Slesinger said fictionally, that film makers must have a care. Fritz Lang wanted to film a story about the next war. After consultation with various foreign ambassadors he learned he could make it, all right. But after making it there would be just about two countries in which he could show it, the other being Siam.

Most fitting gesture of the month: world-premiering "Camille," the heroine consumed by more than love, on the desert. . . . Garbo is sepulchrally beautiful in this one, and Robert Taylor surprises with his first job of acting. . . . Claudette Colbert, and most of the women present, wept at the preview.

Lily Pons acts cute and walks out on two weddings in "That Girl From Paris," which shows but faint similarity to Betty Compton's early talkie, "Street Girl." . . . Lee-lee, surrounded by a mad male quartet composed of Gene Raymond, Jack Oakie, Mischa Auer, and Frank Jensen, is in her first role, makes a bid to take Ginger Rogers' place as Fred Astaire's partner.

After the preview, fans lined up outside for Gene and Jeanette MacDonald who emerged and saluted through the crowd which fell back respectfully. A disgusted young woman, poised to tackle, withdrew with the rest, but muttered: "These Westwood and Beverly Hills people are too polite—they let 'em get away."

Those long movie titles are reducing the weary marquee-lighters to efforts like this, seen on a Vermont avenue theater: "Mag. Brute—Valiant Carrie."

Easiest marquee problem was presented by "M." . . . And I doubt if there has been a tougher one than "I'm Glad My Boy Grew Up To Be a Soldier," which someone perpetrated in 1915. . . . Incidentally, the shortest possible title has never been used. . . . Just "M." he used to be embarrassed in heavy love scenes.

Few Plaques Here.
Hollywood, where fame lights and flits, is not strong on enduring memorials. . . . If a monument to Schumann-Heink is erected, it will be only the second. . . . The other (to Valentino) stands in a tiny park, where occasionally an extra girl has made a bid for notice with a "suicide attempt." . . . A bronze plaque on a sound stage is tribute to Will Rogers, and another plaque marks where the first Hollywood movie was made—but the plaque has been moved with the building that was on the site.

A hunter went out for a bear on a bitter cold day and forgot to take any bullets. When he met a bear, beads of perspiration dripped from his brow and turned to ice as they fell.
He fired the pellets in his gun, but the heat of the barrel melted them. They turned to ice again as they traveled through the cold air, and penetrated the skull of the bear.
There they melted again. The animal died of water on the brain.

ARKANSAS IS AGAIN FAVORED TO WIN TITLE

OUT AFTER 8TH CAGE CROWN IN ELEVEN SEASONS

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
DALLAS, Jan. 4 (AP)—The six other basketball teams of the southwest conference set out this week to head off Arkansas' Razorbacks—looking for their eighth title in eleven seasons.

A decisive victory over Tennessee, Southeastern conference title-holder, in a recent Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans, tagged the Arkansas as favorites again.

The reign of the Razorbacks started back in 1926 and continued for five straight seasons without an interruption. Fortunes shifted and they did not enter the titular scene again until 1935 when they drew up at the finish line in a three-way tie.

Last season the Porkers had things their own way again, winning the flag and carrying on into the Olympic trial finals. Baylor's Bears, somewhat of a surprise after their strong showing in the Oklahoma City invitation journey last week, invade Fayetteville Friday and Saturday for the first firing at the Ozarks cages.

Seven lettermen, including Don Lockard and Gilliland, a couple of basket chunking experts of last year, form Arkansas' nucleus while Baylor, for the most part, has unseasoned material.

First game of the conference season is the Texas A. & M.-Rice Institute scrap at Houston Wednesday night. Idle two weeks during examination period, Coach Jimmy Kitts' Owls start play again after early season spurts of brilliance. The Aggies won three of seven pre-season games but showed possibilities with Dale Freiberger, giant junior college transfer, at center.

Without its high scoring ace of last season, injured Jack Collins, the University of Texas has relied on Baxter for most of its scoring in a mediocre early season showing. The lanky forward may be ready for the Longhorns' invasion with Dale Freiberger, giant junior college transfer, at center.

The schedule for the week will be rounded out at Dallas Saturday night when the Longhorns may be ready for the Longhorns' invasion with Dale Freiberger, giant junior college transfer, at center.

They were luncheon guests at a studio (Warner Brothers).

Cunningham Will Race Saturday
NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, who has found it somewhat more difficult to run in New York than in Kansas, will be on hand when the indoor track season opens Saturday regardless of his training troubles.

Cunningham and three other members of the 1936 United States Olympic team—Don Lash, Marty Glickman and Joe McCluskey—have entered the Columbus Council, Knights of Columbus, meet which will inaugurate the indoor campaign.

Cunningham won the 800-meter special at this meet last year but he may have a hard time repeating.

Lash, American two-mile record holder, is due to hook up with McCluskey in the 3,000-meter race while Glickman is entered in the sprint series at 60, 80 and 100 meters.

SUGAR BOWL FESTIVAL PROGRAM IS SUCCESS
NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 4 (AP)—Sponsors of the Sugar Bowl sports festival, cheered by the record success of the program just concluded, looked ahead today to a still brighter winter show.

"We had the best year in history," said Warren F. Miller, member of the directing committee of the mid-winter Sports association, sponsor of the three-year-old event. "It shows our festival is growing every year."

Miller indicated plans would be pressed for a new stadium to seat 70,000 persons in an effort to have it ready for the 1938 football game. Heretofore the contest has been played in Tulane's stadium, which seats only about 40,000.

Miller said the association was undisturbed by the National Collegiate association's disapproval of post season football games.

The committee's said unofficial figures showed 41,000 persons paid about $121,000 to see the bowl game, of which Louisiana State and Santa Clara each would receive approximately $40,000.

ALICE MARBLE PLACES ABOVE HELEN JACOBS

FRANKIE PARKER ALSO RANKED IN 2ND POSITION

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—The ranking committee of the United States Lawn Tennis association appears to have laid the groundwork for an argument that will endure an entire year in listing Alice Marble above Helen Jacobs in the 1936 women's rankings and placing Frankie Parker in the men's No. 2 spot behind Don Budge.

While Parker made a fine showing in the eastern grass court tournaments and reached the semi-finals of the national singles, Bryan (Bity) Grant, ranked third, did just as well in the nationals and performed brilliantly in the famous all-England tournament at Wimbledon.

The choice of Miss Marble, who made a remarkable "comeback" last summer after two years absence from tournament play, came as a surprise even though the San Francisco girl won the national title, Miss Jacobs, four times national champion, has been listed as the world's best woman player by such authorities as Fred Perry and A. Wallis Myers, the British expert.

The "first ten" rankings, notable otherwise for the advance of young players in both divisions and the absence of Wilmer Allison, top ranking player of 1935, who retired from tournament play last summer, follow:

Men: 1—J. Donald Budge, Oakland, Calif.; 2—Frank Parker, Milwaukee; 3—Bryan M. Grant, Jr., Atlanta; 4—Robert L. Riggs, Los Angeles; 5—Gregory S. Mangin, New York; 6—John Van Ryn, Philadelphia; 7—John McDiarmid, Chicago; 8—Charles R. Harris, West Palm Beach, Fla.; 9—Joseph R. Hunt, Los Angeles; 10—Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland, Fla.

Women: 1—Alice Marble, San Francisco; 2—Helen Hull Jacobs, Berkeley, Calif.; 3—Mrs. Sarah Paley Fabyan, Brookline, Mass.; 4—Gracy W. Wheeler, Santa Monica, Calif.; 5—Carlita Babcock, Los Angeles; 6—Helen Pedersen, Stamford, Conn.; 7—Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, Philadelphia; 8—Dorothy May Bundy, Santa Monica, Calif.; 9—Katherine Whitcomb, Boston; 10—Mrs. Mary Greaf Harris, Kansas City.

POSSES HUNT KIDNAPERS IN MATTSON CASE

MEN IN COUPE SEND MESSAGE THRU WATCHMAN

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 4 (AP)—Inspector E. W. Willson of the state police said early today he believed hundreds of armed men spread throughout southwestern Washington had "cut off escape" for the man suspected in the Charles Mattson kidnaping case.

Every automobile sighted in the area around Shelton, Wash., 50 miles southwest of here, was stopped by blockading officers on highways and by-ways.

Waiting for dawn, heavily armed forces stood by in Olympia, the state capital, ready to search the rough, wooded Shelton region and southern Puget Sound islands and shorelines.

State officers boarded the motor yacht Pamanus at Olympia to beat over wild, sparsely settled Harstene island near that city.

A coast guard patrol boat, carrying state police, sped from Seattle to Olympia to aid in the hunt, Willson said.

Willson said he was satisfied the men in a coupe could not have broken through the quickly drawn circle of officers. The coupe was not sighted again after a mill watchman reported it in Shelton last night. It might be abandoned and the men hiding in the woods, Willson said.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON Prices slipped off more than 50 cents a bale in the morning in a bearish reaction to the government's announcement regarding loan cotton. With the minimum price set at 12.50 cents a pound, compared with 11.25 cents a pound last year, the rule felt that as soon as the "free" cotton from this year's crop is sold the figure of 12.50 cents will be the accepted standard for selling of all cotton in spot centers.

PRICE SEES FDR IN GOOD SPOT TO BARGAIN WITH BUSINESS MEN

By BYRON PRICE Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press

All attempts to chart the administration's probable course on labor and industrial legislation have bumped up against a barrier of presidential silence which would seem to be deliberate rather than accidental. Whatever he may be thinking personally, Mr. Roosevelt manifestly is in no hurry to disclose his program, either to Congress or to his associates.

Administration stalwarts in the senate, however, have been hurrying to the front with schemes, both old and new, to aid labor. Many of these have had Mr. Roosevelt's approval in the past and undoubtedly will again Guffey, for the third time, will introduce a bill to maintain prices in the soft coal industry; Black will be back with his act to limit workers to a 30-hour week; O'Mahoney will have a licensing bill for all corporations engaged in interstate commerce; and Wagner will propose a huge housing program. That is only a start.

Labor leaders view the situation with more complacency than do business executives. Both in public and in private they expect administration support for most of their measures. Their first problem, however, is to consolidate gains already made and to find some common ground of their own.

Factors apart from the immediate past must be considered in any thorough analysis of the reasons for Mr. Roosevelt's silence. Some months ago he called upon business for greater cooperation in reducing unemployment. Not much came of this, other than a tart exchange of ideas, and the government's report on what should be done about wages, working conditions and unemployment.

The second request was made to the advisory council sponsored by Secretary of Commerce Daniel

Roper, which is a who's who of business and finance in miniature. This time there were no sharp rejoinders. Instead the council accepted "the responsibilities placed upon us" and started to work. That augurs well for a more harmonious working out of the problems. It also means that Mr. Roosevelt has called directly upon business for a solution. He is willing to bide his time until a reply is made. The council knows full well that its report is not the only one which will reach the President's desk. Another will come from Major George L. Berry's group, composed mainly of small business men and labor leaders, and recommendations from organized labor are inevitable.

Labor in Good Position That suggests two avenues of approach for the council, a conservative stand or one sufficiently liberal to stave off more radical proposals of other groups. A too conservative report might have a reverse effect and smother any chance for a middle-of-the-road program. The President probably will weigh one recommendation against the another, and he is in a good position to bargain.

One phase of the labor program must mark time for the supreme court, for in February the justices are scheduled to hear arguments on cases involving the right of labor to collective bargaining. The President can go ahead on minimum wages and maximum hours as he sees fit. But on this he must wait.

An adverse decision might alter the entire program, even result in a constitutional amendment proposal. Mr. Roosevelt is definitely committed to the theory of collective bargaining and undoubtedly will take whatever steps are necessary. On the other hand, a favorable ruling might make further action unnecessary.

In thinking over what the year may hold for the working man, it is well to remember that labor was an important source of strength for Mr. Roosevelt in the November election. That might have a bearing upon whom he will call to his side for advice, now that the time for legislative action is here.

As 'Sitdowns' Closed Auto Plants

Typical of the sitdown strikes paralyzing production in plants stretching halfway across the continent, leading to a showdown with the gigantic General Motors Corporation, is this scene in the huge Fisher Body plant in Cleveland, O., where 2,000 suddenly ceased work. Apparently unworried over the outcome, the employees play cards and read to while away the time as they await a decision. Full power of the C. I. O. has been placed back of the auto unionists by John L. Lewis.

SENATE IN NEBRASKA IS NOW JUST ROOM AS SESSION OPENS

By ARTHUR WOLF LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—American political science's new baby, Nebraska's one-house legislature, will take its first steps January 5 under the personal guidance of Dr. John P. Senning and Godfather George W. Norris.

Forty three members will meet in the $10,000,000 state capital's 100-seat house chamber and use its 33-seat senate hall as a committee room.

Nobody knows what to call them, because the law forgot a title and they have not christened themselves yet. Some want to be known as senators, others representatives, still others merely legislators. One Nebraska newspaper thinks that by May the state will want to call them home. But Dr. Senning, state university professor, declares the 43 "its" are "the cream of the crop—the higher type."

Party monickers (23 are Democrats, 21 Republicans) mean little because they were elected on a non-partisan ticket.

Georgia, Vermont and Pennsylvania had legislatures a century ago that were one-house except for boards of censors empowered to sit with them and pass on their actions. Those experiments were abandoned.

Nebraska first considered the idea in 1913 but shoved it aside by sheriff of Ochiltree county, and was, in an early day, the center of horse racing, county-wide picnics and other community gatherings.

Afterwards it became the property of Jas. T. Fryer, and was headquarters for the Shady Nook ranch.

While the park is at present unimproved, plans call for building of a dam approximately 200 feet long and twenty eight feet high, which will impound a lake of 98 acres and back water up Wolf creek for two miles. Improvements are to be done with CCC enrolled labor, the park being listed as an ECW project. Assurances have been received that a CCC camp will be assigned to the park as soon as one is available.

Other plans for improving the park call for concession houses, caretaker's lodge, tourist cottages, bath house, shelter houses and other buildings. All will be constructed of native stone. A sewer and water system will be installed, also light plant. Other conveniences, which will tend to make it a popular recreation and fishing center will be mile of highways and foot trails, picnic units and furnaces. As soon as the lake is completed a hatchery will be established by the Department of Fisheries at Washington.
