Boston Flier Leads Class A Planes Into El Paso on Saturday

EARL ROWLAND IS PASSED BY T. W. KENYON

W. N. Emery, Jr., Hailing From Pennsylvania, Is Second

"MISS ABILENE" ARRIVES SIXTH

Three Ships Crack Up in Class B Over Mountains

EL PASO, Sept. 8.—(P)—A new record, Theodore W. Kenyon of Boston in a Challenger plane, forged to the front today when the first of the Class A trans-continental air racers checked into El Paso for the night. Kenyon, eighth to hop off at Fort Worth this morning, landed at 12:25 p. m. Mountain time.

Second to roar across the line at El Paso's new municipal airport, dedicated by the racers today, was W. N. Emery, Jr., Bradford, Pa.—ten seconds behind Kenyon. Robert Drake, Pittsburgh, in the lead into Midland and Peeco, came in third, landing at 12:28 p. m.

Race Very Close

Staging a neck and neck race across Texas, Drake nosed out Earl Rowland of Wichita, Kas., who had led the Class A fliers from the start, and came in first at Midland and Peeco, the second and third stops of the day. Rowland had held his lead into Abilene, the first stop, but his Cessna A monogone-developed engine trouble after that and he dropped behind. He was fourth into El Paso, landing at 12:33 p. m.

While Rowland lost the lead on today's leg of the flight, it is believed he still was first in elapsed time.

The other fliers were strung out over Texas, with all but two of the 25 starters checked through Abilene.

One Flier Missing

George W. Brill, Monterey Park, Calif., flying a Travelair, had not been heard from since he scudded westward from Fort Worth with his fellow racers. It was thought probable he had been forced to land at some point en route.

Dale G. Jackson, St. Louis, piloting a Fawcett, was forced to land a mile north of Moran, Texas, and apparently was out of the race with a broken water line and broken cylinder. He was not injured. He left Fort Worth this morning in fourth place.

An unexpected arrival at Abilene was Leslie C. Miller of Los Angeles, who dropped far behind the field when he made a forced landing in Kansas. He landed at 17:03, having left Wichita, Kas., at 5:45 after fueling his plane he continued on in pursuit of the other racers who were three or four hours ahead of him.

"Miss Abilene" Sixth
Louis Derryberry, Abilene, Tex., with the benedictions of home folks still riding with him, brought his Travelair. "Miss Abilene—West Texas" in sixth this time was 12:49:30.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 8.—(P)—Flying blindly out of the fog-hidden mountains of Pennsylvania, 17 of the twenty Class B airplanes in the trans-continental air derby arrived here safely late today for their first night's rest. Three others cracked up en route and apparently were out of the running, officials said.

Three of four Class C planes, those of the large cabin type, also reported to the Terre Haute airport. Leaving Roosevelt field 3 hours after the Class B contestants they escaped the fog banks which gave to many a veteran pilot as great an air-thrill as he ever has had.

Waco Plane Leads
John H. Livingston, Mammouth, Ill., was the first to report at Terre Haute in Class B race. He left New York at 7:23:30 in his Waco, accompanied by M. B. Allen, of Troy, Ohio. Eastern standard time and reached the Indiana Stop at 12:06:36, Central Standard time.

E. O. Schultze of Pittsburgh, flying a Cessna and accompanied by R. Yahrner, Pittsburgh, was second in Terre Haute. Warren Smith, Pittsburgh, in a Cessna B, was third after having been the seventeenth to leave New York.

Negro Preacher Out on Bond in Friday Murder

Murder charges were filed against C. W. Williams, pastor of the negro Macedonian Baptist church, in justice court Saturday morning in connection with the shooting of E. C. Coey, negro, yesterday afternoon. Williams is out on $1,000 bond awaiting the action of 84th district grand jury convening December 10.

Coey was shot in the back about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon following a quarrel over family affairs. After firing both barrels of a double barreled shotgun into Coey at close quarters, Williams gave himself up to sheriff's officers. Coey was rushed to the Pampa hospital, but died two hours after being admitted.

The body is at the Malone Funeral home awaiting the arrival of a brother of the murdered man, who lives at Ardmore, Okla., where Coey came from. Coey has been here for about six months and has been employed by Lee McCoull taking care of the latter's yard and that of Mrs. J. C. McCoull. The shooting took place in front of the McCoull home while Coey was cutting the lawn.

According to witnesses of the affair, the negro minister drove up in his car, stepped out carrying a shotgun, and after a few words shot Coey, as he started to run. Both shots were fired at a distance of about fifteen feet.

Williams came here almost a year ago from Berger and established a negro church.

Water Battle With White Deer Is Tie Here Friday Night

More than 300 persons witnessed a water fight between members of the Pampa fire department and representatives from the White Deer fire department Friday night. The water battle was held on East Atchison avenue in front of the Santa Fe depot.

After two thrilling encounters a draw was declared by the judges.

A can was placed at an equal distance between the two squads held by three members of each department.

Upon a given signal the water was turned on and many spectators who had ventured too close to where the encounter was taking place fled hastily.

Pampa lost the first encounter in one minute and 30 seconds when White Deer flashed the can past the dead line. The Pampa team came back strong in the second encounter to win in a minute. The tie would have been settled at the first encounter but a difference in pressure at the hydrants caused the postponement.

After the encounter the two teams lined up and tried to throw the other back with streams of water, but at the end of the time limit each team was holding its own.

Larger Yield of Cotton Is Forecast By U. S. Department

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—(P)—Forecasting a cotton crop of 14,439,000 bales, 148,000 more than the estimate a month ago, the Department of Agriculture today placed the condition of the crop at 80.3 per cent of normal, well above the ten-year September 1 average of 57.1 per cent.

The indicated yield is for 163.2 pounds of lint cotton per acre, the department reported, which is a slight gain over its report as of August 1 of 152.2 pounds, but below last year's yield of 154.5 pounds and the ten year average of 156.3 pounds.

Canadian Golfers Will Play Here

Members of the Canadian golf club are expected to come to Pampa today to play members of the local Country club in a tournament to begin at 1:30 p. m.

If the Canadian players do not arrive, it is planned to have a Scotch golf tourney among local members.

Ralph Trimble and Ellis Pinkston were in Panhandle Saturday on business.

Dancier Well At LeFors Shut Down Awaiting Orders

After picking up a show of oil yesterday afternoon at 2,575 feet, on top of the Dancier Oil and Refining company's No. 1 Townsite in the LeFors townsite, is shut down to await orders. This well is one location south of the LeFors Petroleum company's No. 3 townsite, and has encountered considerable difficulty while drilling.

After straightening a crooked hole pipe became frozen in the hole and a small shot was used to loosen the string. Then a string of tools was used in the hole. The well will probably be drilled in early this week.

More than 40,000,000 feet of gas has been cased off.

Phillips Petroleum company's No. 2 townsite in section 27, block 3, at the edge of present territory in the Wilcox pool, was brought in last week for 900 barrels, at 3,118 to 3,122 feet.

In Carson county just over the line from Gray and northwest of Kingsmill, the E. A. Ross No. 1 C. B. Barnard in the northwest corner of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 24, block 24, picked up a show of oil yesterday afternoon and shut down at 3,234 feet. The well has been drilling below sea level, the show being picked up 44 feet below sea level.

The Prairie Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Thut in the southwest corner of the Thut Pre-emption survey, flowed 370 barrels the last 24 hours. The same company's No. 2 in the same lease set 6 5/8-inch casing at 2,820 feet, and is drilling ahead in time.

The Texas company's No. 1 Langham in section 1, block B-2, a west offset to the LeFors Petroleum company's gusher which has made 181,700 barrels of oil since it was brought in less than three months ago, is drilling ahead on top of lime at 2,614 and nearing the pay sand in that field.

The same company's No. 1 Shaw in section 5, block 1, south of the LeFors gusher is still fishing for tools at 2,560 feet. A string of tools was lost in the hole more than a month ago and fishing has been in progress since.

The Texas company announces two new locations in the LeFors area. The company's No. 4 McLarty-Lester will be drilled in section 1, block 1, A. H. and B. survey and the company's No. 5 will be drilled in section 3, block 1, in the same survey.

The county made the increase in production with a hike of 955 barrels over the previous week. Hutchinson county was a close second with an increase of 709 barrels. Potter and Wichita were the only counties in the Panhandle to show a decrease in daily production.

A noted visitor at the initiation ceremonies will be Past Grand Chancellor James Bowen of Okla., City.

Scenery Is Bought for Auditorium Stage on Friday

Curtains and scenery for the stage of the gymnasium-auditorium were purchased Friday. The school board of the Pampa district closed a contract with the Oklahoma City Scenic company for a front curtain, an ornate curtain, and interior set, and an exterior set.

The front curtain is of blue velvet. A deep valance is monogrammed and heavily fringed with gold silk. Both sets are of pleasing design and are executed in the modernistic manner.

The Oklahoma City Scenic company sold and installed all stage equipment in the several new school buildings of Amarillo and in the new education building of West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon. Miss Ruth Simpson, sales representative of the company, made the sale. Two other bids were received by the school board.

HUNTERS ARE SUCCESSFUL

J. Everett Haley of Canyon, Ray S. Deibel of Amarillo, and W. O. Baxter and Edwin Ramey of Dimmitt called at The News office Saturday afternoon enroute to their homes after hunting several days in Hemphill county. They reported hunting success after strenuous hunts through the sand hills.

CANYON WELL NAMED

WINK, Sept. 8.—(P)—There must have been something prophetic in the old times when they called it "Monument Canyon," for it is there that since the establishment of this town the cemetery has been built. Though this section is a sandy country hard rock is found a short distance beneath the sand. Perhaps one reason for the name is the fact that the bushes are of the sort that one sees in a cemetery. Some 25 persons have been buried since the town has been organized. There is only one church in the city, and it is presided over by an interdenominational minister.

Olin E. Hinkle, managing editor of The News returned last night from a two-week vacation spent largely in New Mexico.

Dallas Attorney Incensed Following Another Murder

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—(P)—Dallas' third downtown slaying within a week brought quick action today when the grand jury in special session indicted Clarence Carter, 23, for murder two hours after he had been charged in the slaying of Hugh Martin, Jr., 24, shot to death in a street affray shortly after midnight.

Incensed at the growing display of lawlessness, District Attorney McGraw ordered city authorities to "slamp down on every form of law breaker or give up their job." He declared no one found carrying a pistol would be prosecuted.

Martin was shot once through the heart and killed almost instantly after he was offered to have inflicted knife wounds on Carter, treated before being slain before the grand jury.

Three other men and three women held as witnesses testified before the grand jury the slaying was the aftermath of a beer party. They said that the trouble arose when Carter attempted to intervene in a quarrel between Martin and his wife.

"He was slapping her," Carter told jurors, "and someone told me to stop him. When I tried to interfere he pulled his knife and started cutting me. Someone handed me a gun and I fired it once, more to scare him than anything else."

Although the bullet wound probably would have been fatal Martin was further injured during a frantic attempt to take him to a hospital. A member of the party rushing Martin to the hospital in his automobile severed the machine suddenly to avoid another car and the wounded man was thrown over the door and to the pavement. An ambulance was called at this point, but Martin was dead when physicians examined him.

Thomas Says Smith Added to Platform

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—(P)—A prediction that the party stand on prohibition will be the chief bone of contention in the coming Democratic convention here was made in a statement issued today by Cullen F. Thomas, prominent Dallas Democrat and dry.

"Deservedly the platform will endorse the administration of state affairs as honest, faithful and decent," he statement said.

Governor Smith's telegram of acceptance added an unexpected postscript to the national platform. Rascoe's prohibition deliverance came to dry democrats as an unwelcome infliction. Governor Smith's prohibition address amplifying his prohibition views, is a challenge to the prohibition sentiment of the nation inside and outside the Democratic party.

Harvesters Will Open Season on Ayres Field Saturday as Quanah Team Furnishes Fast Opposition

The Pampa football season here will open next Saturday, when the Harvesters will meet the Quanah High school team at Ayres field at 3 o'clock. Coach Odus Mitchell and Assistant Coach A. M. Fox have one of the best squads in the history of the school.

The Harvesters won from the Quanah team last season, 6 to 0, in one of the hardest fought battles of the season. Twenty-eight boys are out for practice and at least seven more will appear in uniform Monday night. Daily scrimmage is taking place and Coach Mitchell is having a hard time picking his first team. He has several new players who are making "last" year's letter men step for places on the team.

Quanah has been given a large guarantee to come here and the local team needs the support of all the football fans in the city. The team should be strong enough this year to go into the finals.

A. M. Fox, assistant coach, is a graduate of Oklahoma A. & M. and was a star on the college team. He knows football and will be of much help to Coach Mitchell in handling the large squad this year.

Plans are being made to have a parade before the game with the Pampa band to be in attendance. Large crowds will be used to take the players to the field. The pep squad is ready to cheer the team to victory.

D. Tracy has returned from Sayre, Oklahoma, and will probably be out for practice Monday. He is a stellar backfield man and will add strength to the team.

Those out for practice and trying for positions on the team are: Center—Bob Kahl, captain, and Hollingsworth; Guards—Sawyer, Mullin, Bernard Green, Weedman; Ends—Ayres, Willis, Saulsbury, Todd Bill; Tackles—Williams, Stalls, Seitz, Bradford, Irwin; Quarter—Walstad, Lard, Buckingham; Half backs—Manness, Duncan, Hale; Full backs—Roberts, Chestine, Jones, Corson.

Connie Is Given Ovation in Boston By 25,000 Rooters

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—(AP)—After fourteen years of effort, half of it in the nethermost depths of the American League, the silver pate of the grand old man was bobbing along tonight in front of all the rest Connie Mack, the master manager—when he had Bender and Combs and Plank—was on his way once more, moving with sure-footed stride along the broad highroad that leads toward the land of pennant gold.

The deal of all the master minds drew up alongside Miller Huggins in the shadows of last evening. For a day they marched upon even terms, but this afternoon the ancient Connie succeeded in pulling away—just half stride, it is true, but nevertheless away. The Athletics wouldn't be beaten and they couldn't be beaten. They flashed their most ferocious war-spirit to pull out the first game with a score of 7 to 6 in ten innings, and then won rather peaceably in the second by 7 to 4.

The Red Sox put their best foot forward in a vain effort to stay the rush of the Mackmen, but the ringing cheers of 25,000 Bostonese told Connie the home folks were glad the Sox had failed. The veteran manager was the objective of an ovation as he led his men away after the second game to make ready for a double charge upon the citadel of the Yankees on the Harlem tomorrow.

Things Athletic

Was He the First?
Digging back into the ancient files of the Washington and Lee Alumni magazine presents some printed evidence that it was eGeorge Sykes, pitcher for the Washington and Lee university nine in 1878 and now a dealer in manufacturers' supplies in Atlanta, who first used a curve ball in college baseball.

According to the ancient accounts of that day, Sykes introduced the curve ball against the University of Virginia and won his game 12 to 0. And the Virginians characterized the use of the curve ball as "the scurviest trick that was ever perpetrated in baseball."

The account of the game, published in the Southern Collegian of June 1, 1878, follows:

Lotus Whitewashing
"Bullitt won the toss and the W. and L. team took the field. The first inning resulted in a whitewashing for both sides. In the second inning Virginia went out in order. For W. and L. McElwee led off by sending the ball over the left field fence and scoring a home run. On Robinson and Sykes' base hits and errors by the fielding one more run was made this inning. In the third inning W. and L. scored three more runs on Gains and Bullitt's two-basers and singles by Davidson and McElwee. Fielding errors prevented either one of the runs being earned. Virginia went out in one, two, three order. In the fourth inning four runs were made by W. and L. and the fifth inning gave a zero to each nine. The sixth inning resulted in two runs for W. and L. who also made one in the seventh. The eighth inning was another whitewash for both sides. . . . as was the ninth, making the final score 12 to 0. Resuming, the story went on:

Some Chiefly!
"The chief features of the game were Sykes' curves, which completely bewildered his opponents, and the catching of McElwee, who put out 16 and assisted twice, with but one error. The field play of both nines was far above the general average of amateurs.

"For the University of Virginia, J. Forch, Delaney and McKennie did the best work and made some very difficult plays. On the side of W. and L. McCluer, Rainfall, Davidson and Sykes played without an error. The outfielders had nothing to do, so they were unable to show off except at the bat, where Gains took the lead with three two-base hits.

Hardy Survivors
Among the survivors of that old game, in addition to Sykes, are W. B. McCluer, retired real estate operator, Chicago; Arch M. Robinson, retired capitalist, Louisville; W. M. McElwee, president of the People's National Bank, Lexington; J. P. Bullitt, attorney, Philadelphia; Dr. Edward Randall, Galveston, Texas.

Grays to Play Big Lake Team In Texon Tourney

A baseball team representing Pampa and wearing the uniforms of the Pampa Grays will leave here Thursday morning for Texon to play a three game series with the Big Lake Oil company team, winners of the Denver tournament. The Texon management has made the local team a $150 guarantee for each game lost and a $225 guarantee for each game won and Guber is taking a team to put him in the win column.

Lead by Gus Ke'chum, Pampa's star hurler, and with Slim French and Lefty Ward in reserve, Guber is optimistic over prospects of winning two of the three games played. The first game will be played Friday afternoon and the last game Sunday.

Guber will take seven members of his original team and will add Close, Sullivan, Sedbrook, and Ballard to the line-up. He will be unable to get into the game on account of injuries received in the opening game at the Amarillo tournament. The veteran broke a small bone in his foot while sliding into second base and is still walking on crutches.

The Grays' probable line-up for the elimination series in Texon:
Ballard, 2b, Close, 1b, Sedbrook, rf, Seitz, lf, Gibson, cf, Williamson, ss, Bell, ss, Clayton and Sullivan, c, Ketchum, French, and Ward, p. Guber has not yet named the substitutes.

Cats Look Like Champs as Hurler Tames Spudders

SHREVEPORT, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The Sports posed out the Steers in a rive and take battle here today, the score ending 6 to 5. The locals had a lead of 3 to 1 at the close of the first stanza, but Owens could not hold his margin.

Game Scheduled Today Postponed-All-Stars Request

Because of the inability of the Amarillo All-Star baseball team to get together today, the game between the Pampa Grays and the All-Stars has been postponed until a later date. Several of the All-Stars men commenced their vacation yesterday and would be unable to play.

Manager Sloan of the All-Stars stated that he would be able to get a team together to meet the Grays later in the week and the probable date has been set for Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the "Chops" park.

Ed Fisher has a likely line-up to meet the All-Stars, using several of the members of the team he will take V. Tobson to defend the honor of the title. Recent winners of the Amarillo tournament against the Big Game Company's team winners of the Denver tournament.

It is probable that either French or Ketchum will pitch for the Grays.

Gridiron Notes

WACO, Sept. 8.—(P)—Candidates for the Baylor Bears football team began coming in from all corners of the state tonight in preparation for the first workout of the 1928 season early Monday. Coach Jennings expects half a hundred to be on hand at Carroll field when the athletes are started lumbering up.

The greatest problem confronts Jennings in fashioning a team will be the need for wingmen. Albert Lester Pease, 195-pounder may be suited for an end. That will leave Bullock as a possible substitute for the position. Unless Charlie Taylor shows more football he likely will not be found at his customary tackle position which he has held two years, and Gale Griffin and last year, will fill his shoes. That will leave an opening for some high powered youngster of promise.

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—(P)—It will be "skin and dust" for Coach Morrison's Southern Methodist University Mustangs, when they don their "mole" skins Monday for first practice in preparation for the southwest conference campaign.

About 100 candidates are expected to appear for the best mentor has named two sessions a day, one starting before sun-up and lasting two hours and another to start at sundown and last until it becomes too dark to see.

The Mustangs face the task of whipping into shape for a game just 13 days after they report. On September 2 they open their schedule against the Denton Teachers. On October 6, less than a month hence, they are slated to back the famous army mule on the plains of West Point.

AUSTIN, Sept. 8.—(P)—Determined to bring an eleven to remind followers of Longhorn teams of old, University of Texas mentors will supervise the first official football practice here Monday. Captain Rufus Kling, Austin, full-back, already has limbered up his muscles and Doc Sewell, Willis Point, guard and line captain, was expected to return from Europe tomorrow.

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 8.—(P)—An unusual amount of backfield material will be available to Coach Dan X. Bible when he starts selecting the team he will throw in the first line in the 1928 southwestern football campaign.

Early Monday will see half a hundred or more warriors at Kyle field taking their first workouts in preparation for the new season which opens with a game here September 22 with Trinity university.

HOUSTON, Sept. 8.—(P)—At no Southwest Conference school will hope be brighter than at Rice institute where a group of former Illinois university stars, headed by Claude Rothgeb, will take command of the football situation Monday.

He Will Talk on Agriculture

"Agricultural Development" will be the subject of Judge H. E. Hoover at the W. T. C. C. district convention here Monday.

New Small Bills Attract Interest

WASHINGTON (P)—Sightseeing in the place where money is made has a new attraction for capital tourists. So many are anxious to get an advance glimpse of the new, smaller paper currency that long queues of people patiently lining the sidewalks at the bureau of engraving are common sights.

Some of the new bills have reproductions of the stately Lincoln memorial on the back. All are so different and attractive in appearance that they excite much comment. One woman visitor was so enthusiastic over the appearance of the money that she asked for a bill to frame as a souvenir of Washington.

In the great rooms of the bureau workers, whose skin appears greenish under the glass roofs and glaring light, absently turn out sheet after sheet of the new currency.

There are both white and colored employees. One man does nothing but gently wipe off with chalked hands the gleaming plates upon which the silk-threaded paper sheets are laid. The plates come sliding toward him, are cleaned with a few deft strokes of the palms, then go gliding on to a girl, who carefully lays on a blank sheet.

Mrs. T. F. Smalling and daughter Miss Susie Bell, went to Amarillo yesterday.

DEER RAID CORN FIELDS BUT FARMERS TO AVENGE

ROCKSPRINGS, Texas (P)—Deer are invading the corn fields in Edwards county.

Farmers complain of the damage done by the deer, which leave the game preserves, eat their fill of ripening corn and then retreat to their preserves.

No fence can hold them but of the fields; for they leap over even the wolf-proof structures. Forbidden by law to shoot the animals at this season, the farmers can do little more than try to drive them out.

But the farmers will have their revenge when the hunting season opens. They will have the satisfaction of bagging fattened game. Already the county game demonstration agent is telling farm wives how to preserve venison in glass jars.

Miss Christine Campbell left yesterday for Austin to attend the rush-week festivities of Gamma Phi Beta sorority which precede the opening of the University of Texas. Miss Campbell is a Junior in the University.

Gay Colored Frocks Favored By Capitol Debs For Their Debut

Washington debutantes will upset staid social precedent in the capitol this year. They have discarded the traditional white frocks and will go in for colors. They also will schedule their coming out parties in advance of the formal opening of the social season and will hold affairs on Christmas day. Miss Peggy Tyner (left) and Teresa Carmalt are among the most beautiful 1928 Washington debutantes.

BY SUE McNAMARA (Associated Press Feature Writer) WASHINGTON (AP)—All the colors of the rainbow will appear in the gowns of the Washington debutante this season, instead of the heretofore conservative and traditional white. Uncle Sam's own particular debbies will knock another pet precedent into a cocked hat by having their coming out parties on Christmas Day and Christmas eve. Alice Davis, daughter of the secretary of war, started the color craze last year when she made her debut in a gown of flaming red. Prior to that white had been regarded as correct for debs as it was for brides. But when Miss Alice was glimpsed, looking so striking with her dark hair and red dress, other girls who were anticipating coming out this season began to make their plans. And color figured largely. Long before the formal social season actually gets under way, charming young girls of the diplomatic and society sets will have made their bows at tea dances and evening balls. They will be arrayed in pink, blue, green, orchid, yellow and many other tints.

Their names, a perusal of the list of debutantes announced so far shows, are as colorful as their frocks will be. For what could be more natural for a Celeste, Rael, Phyllis, Adair, Mignon, or Teresa than floating chiffon, ruffles, flounces and frills?

More fanciful names seem to have supplanted the plainer Bettys, Annes and Marions of a few seasons ago just as long hair and more feminine dress is taking the place of bobs and tailored attire. However, there will be quite a few boyish bobs shining above the long, uneven transparent skirts of the coming out gowns this season.

Upsetting the old Washington Christmas tradition that the day is sacred to family gatherings is not the only thing the debs are doing this year.

Not only are they scheduling tea dances and balls for Christmas eve and Christmas day, but they are hurling themselves into the social sea in advance of the formal opening of the season around Dec. 1.

Quite a number of coming out parties have been announced for the middle and the latter part of November. The Willard Hotel will start things going with a large ball for debutantes on the evening of Nov. 12.

Prominent on the list of debutantes is Marian Jardine, the blond young daughter of the secretary of agriculture. Peggy Tyner, daughter of Mrs. Alonzo Tyner of Washington, who is to make her official bow to society Nov. 15 at the Mayflower Hotel, is rated one of the most beautiful girls in the capital. Miss Teresa Carmalt, another striking beauty, is the daughter of Joseph C. Carmalt, Washington lawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dillon are the parents of a son, who was born Thursday. The baby has been named William, Jr. Mr. Dillon is with the Latschaw-Rig company.

Maine Election Finds Points on Nash's Speaker

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The election campaign closed with a flourish in almost every state in the state with Senator O. A. Republican vice-presidential campaign, sounding the final blast for the party in a "prosperity" address here.

Participation of the vice-presidential candidate in the campaign has given a national tinge to the Republican contest for state officers and a United States Senator to be elected Monday.

Republicans are anxious to roll up a majority in this usually Republican state to point to as a sign of November prospects. The Democratic candidates for Governor and United States senator have accepted the national issue so far as it may affect a state election and both have stood firmly by Governor Smith, the Democratic standard bearer.

CHURCHES TRAILS ARE DISCUSSED

"Trails That Lead to the Alkali Bog" was the topic of the interesting sermon delivered by Dr. J. W. Hunt at the Methodist church Friday night.

Following a vivid description of the alkali bog as he knew them when he was working on a Texas ranch, and methods used in pulling out mixed alkali, Dr. Hunt applied the principles to the people of Pampa. The various trails mentioned were profanity, intemperance, sloth, desecration, egotism, and an unmanly indifference to the claims of Jesus Christ.

Dr. Hunt will preach at 10 o'clock morning and evening services at the Methodist church today and tomorrow morning at the church Monday morning.

Busiest Club and Social Season of the Year Opening This Month in City, With Civic Program Claiming Effort

September opens the busiest and the most important year, thus far, in the history of the women's clubs of Pampa. Large civic programs to meet the needs of the new Pampa, comprehensive study courses, and well organized social calendars will engage the activities of local club women in the coming months.

While each group has planned a program of work to fill its own particular needs and interests, there is nevertheless a certain very noticeable similarity in the undertakings planned for club year which points to large accomplishments through common objectives and united effort. It is interesting to note, for instance, that each of the clubs will study international relations at some time in the year.

Another topic in which all clubs are showing a marked interest is that of raising the standards of rural education in Texas. All phases of the rural school situation in this state and others will be considered in arranging programs on the subject. Well known authorities on rural school education will address at least two of the local clubs.

Foremost among the civic projects of the study clubs, individually and collectively, is the building of a great public library in Pampa. Preliminary work on this problem was done last year when all the women's clubs united with the service clubs of the city to form the Pampa Library Association. Each club has a standing committee in the Association. Since the organization of the body, about eight hundred dollars has been raised through gifts and benefit programs and a few hundred books have been donated. Campaigns to collect more books and raise additional funds will be included in the civic programs of study club.

Club activities will be in full swing long before the month is out. The study group of the Pampa branch of the American Association of University Women and College club, first of the clubs which recessed for the summer to re-organize for work, held a business meeting and program at the Schneider hotel last Monday. El Progresso will meet Tuesday of this week, and the Child Study club will hold its first meeting on the following Friday. The Pampa branch of the A. A. U. W. and College club will honor new members in a luncheon at the Methodist church at 12:30 o'clock next Saturday. The Twentieth Century club holds its first meeting of the season on Saturday, Sept. 22.

The Coterie club and the Wayside club, both rural organizations and both federated, are year-round clubs and have had some very interesting programs during the past summer. Their programs for the fall and winter are no less attractive.

The programs, along with those of the other study clubs are taking form in year books which will be issued to members within the next few days, when a more detailed account of the year's prospects may be had.

WAR ON GANGSTERS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—(AP)—War against bootleggers and gangsters in Philadelphia will be pushed more vigorously than ever, said District Attorney Monaghan today.

MEXICANS ESCAPED FROM

LAREDO, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Ramon Hernandez and Jose Gonzalez, escaped prisoners from Texas, were released from Nuevo Laredo jail today on an order of the Mexican Supreme Court, superseding a previous order that they be turned over to Texas authorities. They had been in jail here since December.

Rival Gangsters Are Blamed in Murder

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The ominous of gangland—aftermath of gang executions—tonight hid the direct motive for the slaying yesterday a block from "the world's busiest corner" of Tony Lombardo, gang leader and right hand man of "Scarface Al" Capone notorious Chicago gangster.

The police had half a dozen theories any one of which might account for the slaying of Lombardo, as he walked through crowds in West Madison street, and the wounding of one of two bodyguards.

The most plausible theory was that Lombardo was killed by hirelings of the powerful Aiello gang, rivals of Capone and Lombardo for the North Side liquor business as well as for supremacy in Italian organizations. Anthony "Tough Tony" Calafore, a member of the Aiello ring, was sought in belief he was one of the killers.

you to be as fair with me, Sybil will you?

"Yes," she promised meekly, "I'll try."

He leaned back then in his chair, his eyes on the morning star.

"See, darling," he pointed. "How dim it grows as dawn's pale fingers come creeping up the sky. Shall we stay until the sun comes up, and the last star's gone?"

"I don't know what Mab will say," she faltered.

"The devil with Mab!" he muttered, and throwing back his long blond hair, began his favorite subject.

"The trouble with marriage," he proclaimed, "is this—there's no sense in physical attraction—no fitness or reason. It's blind as a bat. People mistake a powerful physical attraction for love, and so they get married, and expect the thing to last. That's idiotic."

"Listen to me," she directed. "I've a few ideas on the subject myself. I quite agree with you on the importance of honesty. I believe that if love could be honestly discussed, there'd be a great deal more happiness. I think that every human relation should be based on decent understanding. There is never any harmony unless there is understanding."

"I was going to say that we bring all our little deceptions and pretences to the altar, which we've builded all our lives right on to love and marriage. And that, of course, is disastrous. That's why marriage founders. Lack of honest understanding."

"You can't expect compatibility if you haven't understanding. And incompatibility is back of every divorce. Back of infidelity, and the thing that masquerades as 'love' and abusive treatment. Back of desertion and non-support—back of everything that takes men and women to courts, to throw dirt, and cry for freedom. Men and women who loved each other!"

"I'm the only man who's ever been perfectly honest with you. My life will be ruined if I cannot make you listen to me."

on earth could wring from me. I'm on my knees, Sybil, beseeching you to marry me. There's not a concession on earth I wouldn't make to you, dearest—legality, respectability. Bah, I make myself sick!—Like a loveless humpkin I crave your hand in honorable marriage. See, Sybil!"

He dropped to his knees, and clasping hers with his arms, caressed his face against her legs.

"I should think," she told him jolly, "that you would appreciate the need of keeping your independence for the sake of other romantic adventures. Why write 'Amis' after this one?"

She took his elbows in her hands.

"Get up please, Rich. . . Please. Come sit in our deck chair."

ONCE she thought he had gone to sleep. . . The watch changed, and men walked past their chairs. A bell rang. And, by and by, a little breeze stirred, so that she shivered in her dress of this stuff. But when she moved, he put out his hand to keep her. And presently he got up, and found a robe, and tucked it about her.

"It's almost dawn," she said. "I don't know what Mab will think. I ought to go."

"But I can't let you go," he groaned. "We've got to straighten this thing out."

Fifteen minutes later he spoke again.

"We're going over this from the beginning," he told her. "And I'm going to try to be truthful with you. Men are never truthful with women, any more than women are absolutely truthful with men. But I shall try to be honest. And I want son regarding marriage. You believe that it murders love. That once you fetter romance, you have killed it. Then why are you asking me to marry you?"

"Because," he told her bluntly, "it's the only way I can get you."

"Oh! Oh!" she cried, and beat his chest with her fists. "I hate you. I hate you!"

"But you're going to marry me," he retorted.

"Darling," he begged, "let's not talk like two people in a book. Don't try to make me feel like a villain on the stage."

"Your attitude conceals," she told him scornfully, "is positively sickening."

"Conceals!" he cried. "You call it conceals because I dare to say you want me. . . Sybil, do you know anything about Walt Whitman? He wrote a poem once. 'A Woman Waits for Me.' There are three lines in it. They're always stood out in my mind because I believe so truly in the truth of them: 'Without shame the man I like knows and avows the deliciousness of his sex. Without shame the woman I like knows and avows hers.'"

"Walt Whitman!" she repeated scornfully. "He's the dirtiest creature I ever knew."

"The Good Gray Poet" men called him," he j added her, and, snatching her hands, began again to talk of love.

"SWEETHEART!" he implored. "You know I'm crazy about you. I can't make pretty speeches to you. I can't give you something I never meant to do. I've begged something of you no other woman

Guiding Your Child

BY MRS. AGNES LYNE A child who has good eating habits not only consumes the requisite calories and vitamins, but does it promptly and without fuss. Ordinarily a healthy child comes hungry to table. There ought to be no question of his eating a hearty meal. Yet again and again mothers complain that their children dawdle over their food or entirely refuse it. They find that neither coaxing nor coercion bring any appreciable improvement. We have all seen the intelligent mother who knows what is good for growing bodies, stuffing spinach into an obstinate and resistant mouth. Inevitably the situation ends in triumph for the child. Again, who is not familiar with the conscientious mother who resorts to the system of "One for mother, one for father—see, it's almost gone, now just one more—" and so on for an hour. Perhaps she even tells him stories or sings to him. Then there is the youngster whose poor appetite is the subject of parental controversy over the breakfast table. He listens while mutual recriminations fly over his head. Any normal child would rather go hungry than forego certain victory in a clash of wills, or miss these situations of which he is the center. The mores, baby cannot fail to realize that simply by refusing his food he can make the world revolve around him. He can force his mother to pay attention to him, and to him only, for an hour at a time. He can make himself the center of an emotional family scene. Once a child has learned this key to power he does not readily give it up. It is therefore vital not only to serve the right food, but to serve it casually. Voice and manner must be free of the concern a mother always feels for her child's health. When food has stood before him for 15 or 20 minutes it should, without comment, be removed, though it has been but partially eaten or not even touched. It will take strength of mind to carry through this program with a child who has, as it were, been accustomed to muddle with his meals. If he is actually left to his course of voluntary starvation, his appetites will soon be normal, and his eating prompt and regular.

System With Exceptions Riverside Drive starts in Seventy-second street, and the numbering of its apartments begins there just below the eminence from which the two-million-dollar mansion of Charles M. Schwab overlooks the Hudson. On the Drive, as elsewhere, it is impossible to deduce from the street number the location of a given address. But one New Yorker has divined in the numbering along the Drive a pattern which those who assign the numbers probably did not anticipate. Since it begins at Seventy-second street, he takes a sixth of the street number, he is hunting and adds it to 72. Thus 110 Riverside Drive—31 and 72 totaling 103—will be found near the intersection of 103rd street; and 490 Riverside Drive can be located at 128th street. Unfortunately even this system has its limitations. For above Grant's Tomb the Drive crosses a viaduct and there are no more apartments until the farther bank is reached. There the next number appears, as if there had been no lap, and so the formula fails horribly. It should, without comment, be removed, though it has been but partially eaten or not even touched. It will take strength of mind to carry through this program with a child who has, as it were, been accustomed to muddle with his meals. If he is actually left to his course of voluntary starvation, his appetites will soon be normal, and his eating prompt and regular.
