FBI ASKS FARMERS TO FORCE SOIL CONTROL

Argentina's 'Lindbergh Baby' Is Choked to Death By Brutal Kidnaper

BODY IS FOUND IN PIGPEN OF PAMPAS RANCH

SEARCH FOR SNATCHER IS GREATEST IN HISTORY

LA PLATA, Argentina, Feb. 27 (AP)—Baby Eugenio Ferrera Iraola, Argentina's "Lindbergh baby," was found today, the life choked out of his little body, five years almost to the day after Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was kidnaped from Jersey's Sourland hills.

Like Baby Lindbergh, 2-year-old Eugenio, the seventh child of baronial cattle wealth, was killed by his kidnaper. He was stripped of his little suit, choked and wounded, and left, his arms crossed on his chest, in the slime of a pigpen at the edges of beautiful "La Sorpresa," his parents' estate.

Argentina's greatest murder hunt was on tonight. Several suspects already were held. But police were reluctant to decide whether one of these was the "bearded man" who carried little Eugenio away last Wednesday evening and, presumably, strangled him before he was left in the pigpen, a mile and a half from his rambling, luxurious home.

Police armed with rifles averted what might have been a lynching attempt when a menacing crowd, with ire mounting against a hobo suspect, Jose Canoso, gathered around the Mar Del Plata jail after news spread that Eugenio's body had been found.

A strong guard was thrown around the jail, but the crowd remained in the vicinity throughout the afternoon.

It was believed the blue-eyed child, bearing marks of strangulation as well as scalp lacerations, had been slain Thursday, the day after he disappeared.

Volunteer searchers, hunting side by side with bronzed workers, searched fields and pampas for clues. First word today that Eugenio had been found came from the powerful Senator Antonio Santa Marina, racing from Mar Del Plata for the Estancia in a motor car with physicians on the hope the baby was still alive.

It was a lost hope. The child's father, Simon Peyrera Iraola, a wealthy hotel operator who had been directing the search from Mar Del Plata, also rushed to La Sorpresa, but the baby's mother remained in the resort city, stricken with grief.

In jail at Mar Del Plata was a wandering peon, Joe Canoso, whose mumbled monosyllables gave no answer to why he disappeared from the Estancia Wednesday night.

Mar Del Plata police also held Jose and Daniel Silva, Jose's wife, Teresa, and their daughter, Daniel Silva had, a short time ago, been discharged as administrator of the 6,800-acre estate of the Peyrera Iraola family.

More Sitdown Strikes Break Out in Nation

TO PUBLICIZE UNIONIZATION DRIVE'S AIMS

REFINERY WORKERS IN GULF COAST AREA MEET

HOUSTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—A publicity campaign to keep workers and the public informed of the aims of the unionization drive set to be started in the oil industry in April was formulated today at a meeting of officials of district four of the international oil field, gas well and refinery workers union.

The meeting, attended by executives of ten locals of the Gulf coast region of Texas and Louisiana, was the first gathering of the oil workers' leaders since the announcement last week that John L. Lewis would lead a committee for industrial organization drive to organize 1,000,000 employees in the industry.

The session was closed to all except the oil workers' executive committee. "We had an agreeable meeting and find our locals in good financial shape for the organization drive," said P. G. Wilson, Houston, member of the international executive council and one of the four members of the publicity committee.

"The committee will meet again Monday and issue a statement," Both Wilson and Grady Hutton, chairman of district four, said plans for the organization drive would not be known until after the arrival here March 15 of H. C. Fremont, president of the international.

The union officials stressed the cordial relationship between local A. F. of L. craft unions and the oil workers, who are in the group of industrial unions led by Lewis.

"The C. I. O. is not a separate union, but merely a group within the F. of L. which differs in policy with some other leaders," Wilson said. "We are hoping some plan will be worked out."

Wilson said the district four group decided to invite the 1938 national convention of the oil workers union to Houston and will present their plea at both the state convention here April 5, and the national convention in Kansas City on June 1.

In addition to Wilson, members of the publicity committee are Hutton, Sessions and John Cressland, president of the Pasadena local.

Small Terms Omission Of Gray As Error

Omission of Gray county from a list of 27 Panhandle counties to be included in a proposed Panhandle Water Conservation district was the result of an error in copying the bill which was introduced in the state senate last Thursday. Sen. Clint C. Small advised the Pampa Daily News Saturday by wire.

(By The Associated Press)

Embattled unionists came to grips with their adversaries yesterday (Saturday) at a pivotal point of the nation's coast-to-coast strike front.

"Sit down" strikers, bombarded with heavy lead pellets, swarmed into the administration building of the Ferro Stamping Co. at Detroit and routed most of their 20 non-union foes. A woman and two men were injured.

Gov. Frank Murphy offered the services of the state labor commission to K. Krogstad, in a lasting score of labor disputes in progress there. A strike of 100 workers forced 1,000 into idleness at the Michigan Malleable Iron Co. Approximately 100 salesgirls at the P. W. Woolworth five and ten cent store and 15 drivers and salesmen at the Canada Dry Ale Co. started "sit down" strikes. Six hundred went out at Thompson Products, Inc.

Picket lines tightened in other centers. Altogether about 30,000 were jobless in controversies over wages and union recognition at a half hundred factories and foundries, mills and boat yards and utility and airplane plants in many sections of the nation.

Pickets gathered at the Pansteel Metallurgical Corporation in North Chicago, Ill., where 61 squatters fled a tear gas attack Friday. Five union and committee for industrial organization leaders were hunted on warrants charging conspiracy to obstruct a court order for the strikers' eviction. Two others were arrested and released on bond.

The Douglas Aircraft corporation's announcement that it would resume operations next week at Santa Monica, Calif., was challenged by William Busick, organizer for the United Automobile Workers aircraft division. He declared a "concrete wall" of pickets would be thrown about the world's largest plane plant. The Northport corporation, Douglas subsidiary, also planned to reopen. The disputes of the two companies affected 750 employees.

Picketing of main plants of the Northern States Power Co. at Minneapolis continued as police guarded substations. Secretary of Labor Perkins sent Father Francis Haas to mediate the difficulty. Vandals interrupted the flow of electricity to some 2,000 homes. Minnesota's attorney general studied the legality of state control of the facilities pending settlement of the strike.

New Recruits Sought Strike leaders strove to gain new recruits in an attempt to prevent the scheduled resumption Monday of automotive building at the Electric Boat Co. yards at Groton, Conn. Mayor Myron Lehman named a citizens committee to seek to arbitrate the picket strike at the Illinois Watch Case Co. at Elgin, Ill.

U. A. W. leaders sought to settle a strike that resulted in the closing of two General Motors branches employing 2,700 at Janesville, Wis. Homer Martin, U. A. W. A. president and Lewis lieutenant, asserted "sit down" strikes would be called whether Gov. Harold G. Hoffman "likes it or not." Hoffman has lined the governors of Connecticut and Illinois in condemning the squatting strategy.

Mexicans Armed In Church Row

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 27 (AP)—Alarmed by threatened mass violence over the Vera Cruz church-state issue, government officials today clamped a censorship on news from the district.

Catholics, who recently reopened their churches forcibly in "peaceful rebellion" against anti-church laws, openly armed themselves against any attempt by the anti-religious confederation of workers of Mexico (CTM) to stage a demonstration tomorrow.

Early dispatches from the city of Orizaba, Vera Cruz, where the church-state issue first flared up, forecast a bloody battle, and a government order prohibited newspapers from publishing any more such news.

The situation in Orizaba was described as tense and laden with danger. Advice from there said the CTM was preparing to demonstrate tomorrow in disregard of civil and military orders against it.

2300 AT FUNERAL CHANUTE, Kas., Feb. 27 (AP)—The seating capacity of Chanute, Kan., municipal auditorium was insufficient today to accommodate the 2,300 who gathered here for funeral services for Martin Johnson, African explorer and adventurer. Home town friends of Johnson mingled with those who had come to know him in other states and on other continents. Hundreds went to the cemetery, snow-covered.

MRS. HOGAN IS BADLY INJURED IN CAR CRASH

Almost scalped by flying glass when her car overturned on the slippery pavement north of Pampa about 6:30 o'clock Saturday morning, Mrs. E. W. Hogan of the Wayside community walked nearly a mile to the home of R. W. Lyons. She was rushed to Pampa-Jarratt hospital where her condition was declared serious.

The slippery condition was blamed for another accident on West Foster avenue about 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon which critically injured Clifford Grantham. Still another accident was reported in which Miss Vivian Russell was badly cut about the head.

Mrs. Hogan was en route to Pampa to be with a friend who was to undergo an operation. About three miles north of Pampa her car skidded and rolled into the barrow pit. Mrs. Hogan was able to extract her self from the wreckage and walk to the Lyons home where she aroused the family. She walked into the hospital before collapsing.

Her head was cut from behind one ear to the top of the other ear. Another gash was on her forehead and one knee was cut. She was resting fairly comfortably last night. Grantham suffered four fractures of the pelvic bone and a punctured kidney. His condition was critical last night. Grantham was riding in a car driven by Roy Vernon when it was in collision with a truck driver by G. M. Stevens, on West Foster avenue.

Thirty stitches were required to close gashes in the Russell girl's head following an accident on the Berger highway. She was in a car driven by G. A. Bozzard when it was in collision with a car belonging to J. G. Gravelee.

GOING ON LION HUNT UNDER HIS OWN HOUSE

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 27 (AP)—Glenn A. Valentine, Albuquerque railroad machinist, is going on a lion hunt under his own house tomorrow.

The quarry, a year-old cougar cub named "Peaches," has been snarling and spitting nine varieties of feline defiance through the joists and flooring beams for two weeks.

Valentine caught the animal in southern New Mexico last December and chained it up in his yard, hoping it would polish up its manners and perhaps make friends with the neighborhood dogs and cats.

But not Peaches. Peaches just got madder and madder and finally, in one supreme burst of indignation, snapped its chains and headed for the first cover in sight. It was the opening that led under Valentine's house.

And there Peaches has been ever since, except for a few cautious forays for food and water thrust in the opening. The cub's disposition hasn't improved any, and neither has Valentine's.

Booing Employee Fired AND 2,700 ARE IDLE

JANESVILLE, Wis., Feb. 27 (AP)—Collapse of negotiations today upset plans for prompt reopening of two General Motors plants which were closed by a union dispute arising from the management's suspension of an employee "until he could act like a man."

Twenty-seven hundred workers were thrown into idleness yesterday when 60 united automobile workers' union members sat down at their posts in protest over the suspension of William Bartell, a fellow member, for booing at General Motors alliance members.

TO PICKET PLANT WAUKEGAN, Ill., Feb. 27 (AP)—A mass meeting of strikers formulated plans today for a systematic patrol at the Pansteel Metallurgical Corporation—scene of two fights. Paul Glaser of Gray, Ind., attorney of the committee for industrial organization, announced conferees in the closed session had been informed of their "legal rights" and had elected to start picketing "in force" at the company's North Chicago property tomorrow morning.

WORK SHEETS TO BE SIGNED IN NEXT WEEK

Signing of work sheets by farmers or land owners who wish to cooperate in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation program will begin Tuesday in Commissioners precincts Nos. 1 and 2, according to County Agent Ralph Thomas.

Next Friday and Saturday representatives of the county agent's office will be at the American National bank in McLean to sign up work sheets in Precinct 4. Farmers in Precinct 3 will sign the following week.

While it is necessary for farmers or land owners to submit work sheets for their farms in order that they may be eligible to make an application for a payment later on, there is nothing binding about these work sheets, Mr. Thomas pointed out. They simply submit information in regard to the use of their land which will be examined by the committee. Mr. Thomas stated that he hoped that every farmer would sign a work sheet even though he did not think he would want to comply.

Meetings will be held in the three districts in Gray county Monday and Tuesday for the purpose of electing committeemen and discussing the program. The following places and times have been set for these meetings: Monday, 2:30 p. m., Precincts 1 and 2 at County Court room; Monday, 7:30 p. m., Precinct 3, Grandview school house, and Tuesday, 2:00 p. m., Precinct 4, Oddfellows hall, McLean. Any person having an interest in a crop on any farm or ranch in Gray county whether owner or operator who signs a work sheet in 1937 is eligible to vote in the district in which his farm or ranch is located.

REBELS SHELL MADRID AGAIN

MADRID, Feb. 27 (AP)—The whine and crash of insurgent shells broke a five weeks' respite for central Madrid today.

The shelling was slow, the insurgents apparently correcting their first shots for precision. Street cars continued to run, the passengers started faces peering from the windows, excited refugees clustered in basements, asking about their friends.

The shelling in mid-afternoon came after a quiet morning during which the only shots heard were occasional bursts from West Park and University City, western and northwestern Madrid battlegrounds through the roof of the siege that has lasted since November.

General Jose Miaja, newly named to supreme command of all the central Spanish government troops, agreed with Valencia and Barcelona leaders that decisive united action was needed to combat the insurgent armies, especially with the imminence of a Europe-wide plan to block off Spain from outside help.

Spanish belligerents clung grimly Saturday night to besieged strongholds as the civil war raged in its eighth month.

Oviedo in northern Spain, remained in insurgent hands but government reports said attacking militiamen captured the provincial capital's prison and a slaughter house before rain stalled the offensive.

An insurgent statement issued from the headquarters at Salamanca said the second big offensive against Oviedo had been resisted. Insurgent commanders within the beleaguered city asserted their foe had lost 12,000 men while their own losses were "minor."

ALLRED WILL SIGN OIL ACT PRORATION STATUTE TO BE EXTENDED FOR TWO YEARS

AUSTIN, Feb. 27 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred announced today he would sign Monday the bill passed by the Legislature this week extending the oil proration statute for two years beyond September.

The governor also said he would sign a measure exempting fraternal benefit associations from a tax levied last fall by the special session called to raise money for old age assistance.

Both bills passed the Legislature by large majorities, but in the Senate prolonged efforts were made without success to attach amendments to the proration act which would sharply alter the oil conservation law. One such amendment would have placed venue of conservation suits in the county where the oil was located instead of Travis county.

As the week drew to a close, 1381 bills and 67 constitutional amendments had been introduced. The figures gave a fair picture of the program before the session, for the deadline on general measures was reached Thursday, after that date a vote of four-fifths of the membership being necessary to permit in-

NEWSMEN SATIRICALLY SELECT FOR'S STAFF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Newspapermen satirically selected tonight the Gray county members of the "select for's staff" whom President Roosevelt recently said he wanted for a White House staff.

In its annual burlesque of national affairs—attended by the President—the White House correspondents' association nominated these: Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; Father Charles E. Coughlin, the Detroit radio priest.

Representative Hamilton Fish (R-N.Y.), who was designated as "the other hermit" of the Hudson valley—Mr. Roosevelt's home.

Former Governor James M. Curley of Massachusetts, all-time high, of the Good Neighbor League, which campaigned for the President last fall.

At the newsmen's dinner with the President were three of his sons, John, Franklin and James, the latter recently named a White House aide.

Recalling his father's remark that James would do a lot of odd jobs, the reporters pictured him pinning pants on an infant.

SCOUT WORKERS ASKED TO PUSH DRIVE FOR FUND

The Boy Scout drive for funds here must go over by Friday or workers will be asked to turn in their cards to be given to others who will work the assignments, Guy McGartagart announced yesterday. Not quite half the amount set as Pampa's share had been raised at the final checkup Saturday, Mr. McGartagart said.

"We can't let the boys down," Mr. McGartagart declared. "Some of the workers have covered their territory and the response has been gratifying but many have not been able to get out and collect checks waiting for them. If there are workers who know they cannot cover their assigned territory by Friday, I urge them to turn in the cards immediately so that someone else can be put to work."

Many contributors have taken their checks to headquarters or mailed them. A check for $100 was delivered to the office last week from a Scout who no longer makes his home in Pampa.

Pampa's share of the council fund is $3,500.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Supporters and opponents of the Roosevelt proposal for reorganizing the judiciary each gained a Senate recruit today.

Senator Smathers (D-NJ) declared himself for the White House program, asserting that "all the people of the nation will be best served by adding new and younger members to the Supreme Court, men with liberal and progressive approach to the nation's social and economic problems."

Senator Donahue (D-O) aligned himself with the opposition and said "this entire controversy vitally affects the judiciary, a co-ordinate branch of the government, and should be referred to the people—the source of all political power."

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court retirement act, which congressional leaders hope may bring about some withdrawals from the high bench, and a diminution of the present tense conflict, awaited President Roosevelt's certain signature.

The act, passed by Senate and House, provides that Supreme Court justices may retire with full pay after reaching 70 years of age. President Roosevelt's proposal yet to be acted on, provides that for every judge past 70 who fails to retire a new judge shall be appointed.

Tonight, Senator Pope (D-Idaho) went on the radio to urge the enactment of the Roosevelt legislation, asserting that a major portion of a legislative program approved by the people in the last election is "at the mercy of the reactionary judges packed into the court by former presidents."

The court itself, meanwhile, imperturbably prepared for its first decision day in a fortnight next Monday. The tribunal has had under consideration three rulings which might have a direct bearing on the controversy and President Roosevelt's appeal for review, rather than a "narrow" interpretation of the constitution.

Two of the cases involve the constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act and of a Washington state law imposing minimum wage standards. In addition, the court had steadily to grant or refuse a re-hearing on the New York unemployment insurance law, on which it split four-to-four. The evenly divided court in this case had the effect of leaving unchanged a court of appeals decision upholding the constitutionality of the act.

The decisions of Smathers to back and Donahue to oppose the President's bill, brought the number of declared supporters of the measure in the Senate to 26 and the avowed opponents to about 30. However, the opposition is claiming a minimum of 42 votes as of today.

PRISON CAPTURED BAYONNE, FRANCO-SPANISH FRONTIER

BAYONNE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Feb. 27 (AP)—Spanish government militiamen captured the captured prison today and drove steadily to grant or refuse a re-hearing to the center of the long-besieged city, government reports reaching here tonight, said. The prison, the accounts said, was one of the insurgents' last remaining heavily-fortified positions in the war-scarred capital of Asturias.

GIVEN SENTENCE ORANGE, FEB. 27 (AP)—H. Y. P. Broussard, Port Arthur fur dealer, was given a 25-year penitentiary sentence today upon his conviction of murder in the shooting of Albert Theriot in the Neches river bottom Feb. 5. Broussard is also under indictment for murder in the fatal shooting the same day of another trapper, Etienne Richard, his nephew.

Store Receives Money for 5-Year Old Stolen Hat

A five-year-old theft of a dollar hat from Pampa's J. C. Penney store finally broke down a conscience-stricken shop-lifter this week.

Hollis D. Keys, manager of the store, yesterday received by a mail a dollar bill and a note saying that the money was in payment for a woman's hat, stolen from one of the store counters in 1932.

Mr. Keys said the letter bore a Texas postmark, but that the name of the town in which it was mailed was indiscernible.

SCOUTMASTERS TO MEET

The next Scoutmaster roundtable meeting will be held on Monday, March 8, at Scout headquarters in the city hall at 7:30 o'clock p. m., according to an announcement made yesterday by Fred Roberts, executive, Adobe Walls Boy Scout council.

$12,000 PERMIT FOR ADDITION IS ISSUED

A building permit for $12,000 was issued to L. C. Graham, local contractor, yesterday for construction of a 30-foot addition to the Southwestern Bell Telephone company headquarters. The addition will be used for additional equipment and to enlarge present offices.

Permits issued last week by City Building Inspector J. R. McKinley totaled $25,990, bringing the total for the year to $77,100.

H. B. Knapp took out a permit for $2,000 for construction of a frame house on Sunset drive.

A $4,000 permit was issued to O. E. Palmer for erection of a two-story frame house in the Hillcrest addition. J. C. Winn of Amarillo was awarded the contract.

A. M. Cobb was issued a $3,500 permit for construction of a Sinclair station at the corner of Willis and Hobart streets.

Miscellaneous permits were issued amounting to $3,190.

I Heard . . .

Rascal "Frenchy" Bergeron arguing with a paper boy over his bill. Finally the Frenchman announced that he had a five-year-old boy who could whip the paper boy. The unexpected reply was "Oh, yeah, I know him, his name is Charlie Maisei."

Nary a word from the lips of Fire Chief Ben White and City Manager C. L. Stine as they gazed wide-eyed at a bill for $73, the price of an ordinary looking "L" for one of the fire trucks. Finally the city manager was able to whisper, "send it back."

STATES URGED TO PASS LAWS TO HALT DUST

WOULD COMPEL RECALCITRANT MINORITY TO COMPLY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—President Roosevelt sought today to enlist all states in the national campaign to save farm lands from blowing away in dust storms or washing away in floods.

He asked all governors in an identical letter to obtain passage "of legislation along the lines of a model soil conservation law suggested by the agriculture department.

This "standard state soil conservation districts law" allows a group of 25 or more "land occupiers" to form a conservation district, set up rules for use of land and "compel a recalcitrant minority to comply where it is for the public good."

The soil conservation service of the agriculture department has conducted a series of demonstrations to teach farmers how to avoid washing and blowing of soil. But the President indicated these would not bring desired results unless states took action.

"The dust storms and floods of the last few years have underscored the importance of programs to control soil erosion," the President wrote. He added that "the nation that destroys its soil destroys itself."

"The erodible land in every watershed must be brought under some form of control," he said, and the model law is "imperative to enable farmers to take the necessary cooperative action."

The law provides that proposed conservation measures be submitted to farmers in a local referendum. If approved in the referendum, the regulations would have the force of law within the conservation district.

Land owners in the district, could be required to construct terraces, check-dams or other conservation projects; follow certain practices such as contour cultivating, strip cropping, and planting of trees or grasses; and refrain from cultivating "steep or otherwise highly erosive lands."

Violations of regulations might result in a fine. If the land owner failed to observe the regulations the district supervisor also could apply for a court order and then enter the land, perform the required work, and collect costs from the owner.

PAMPANS MAY PAY TAX MINUS PENALTY MONDAY

Pampans who failed to pay the second instalment on their city taxes Saturday will be given an opportunity to pay them without penalty Monday. Tax Collector W. M. Craven said yesterday. The extension was made because of Feb. 28 coming on Sunday.

The penalty for not paying the second instalment before the deadline will be loss of the 10 per cent discount. Interest of 6 per cent will be charged.

Store Receives Money for 5-Year Old Stolen Hat

A five-year-old theft of a dollar hat from Pampa's J. C. Penney store finally broke down a conscience-stricken shop-lifter this week.

Hollis D. Keys, manager of the store, yesterday received by a mail a dollar bill and a note saying that the money was in payment for a woman's hat, stolen from one of the store counters in 1932.

Mr. Keys said the letter bore a Texas postmark, but that the name of the town in which it was mailed was indiscernible.

I Saw . . .

The new grand piano, reported to be the finest in the Panhandle for public use, being moved into the new high school auditorium.

This corner and the opposite one could celebrate their fifth birthday today. They were first published in the NEWS five years ago. The idea was borrowed from an Elk City, Okla., newspaper which borrowed it from some other sheet.

THE FINANCIAL WHIRLIGIG

By LOUIS SCHNEIDER

WISE.
Steel industry insiders know the game John L. Lewis is playing. Here's the inside story. Lewis is tremendously strong in the coal fields. His union is well organized and is quite rich in cash. They know that recently he has been concentrating his mobilization work in the "captive mines." "Captive mines" are owned by steel corporations and operated on a non-union basis. Steel insiders fear that if Lewis gets these mine workers unionized he has a weapon to use on the steel industry for increased wages.

To counteract C. I. O. organizing work steel companies are being unusually nice to their employees. They are wise enough to know that if Lewis gets control of these workers he will hit the steel industry in the same way he used the glass plant strikes as a forerunner to the General Motors strike.

FEAR.
The industrial world is plenty worried over pending labor conditions. The General Motors strike settlement is believed to have given the C. I. O. the whip it needed to gather strength in other industries. Executive circles see the C. I. O. extending its unionization program in the oil and coal fields, and in the steel, rubber, building and automotive industries. It is feared that if John L. Lewis succeeds in these drives, industrial activity will be paralyzed this spring and summer by a series of strikes. If so corporate per share profits will run below current bullish expectations.

Informed commodity circles say that the storm signals are not of long term cotton and grain price futures. The hope is that bumper crops are certain this year—unless adverse weather conditions prevent harvesting. Winter wheat sowings ran the largest on record. Spring planting will establish another new high mark. The same goes for cotton.

With these facts in mind consuming cotton and grain interests aren't rushing into the market to cover fall and winter requirements. Inventory positions will be allowed to ease. Consumers know that this year's carryover of cotton and wheat will run high. They expect lower prices to rule during the summer and fall months.

Near-term consuming demand has been covered. The present rush of buying is attributed to that of war-minded countries. When that buying is completed the cotton and grain markets are expected to run into a stalemate. Consuming interests are taking heed of the warning that lower prices will rule.

LOWER.
Wholesale and retail merchants are advertising special egg prices because of the Lent season. Informed circles say that there is no such thing as special prices at this time of the year. This is the beginning of the egg-production season. Over the next four months more than half of the year's crop will be produced. That is why the egg price movement is downward. No amount of government buying will hold the price structure.

PAY.
Bond dealers have been assured that a tax on foreign investments in this country will be voted at this session of Congress. They have been reliably informed that the bill to be presented will take the form of a higher income tax on dividends and a stiff transfer tax on transactions by bankers and brokers for foreign countries. Bond dealers say that the tax bill will bring about an exodus of capital invested in common and preferred shares. But they expect bond investors to pay the tax rather than take funds home. The belief is based on the assumption that foreign investors wouldn't care to assume the risks involved by the ever-increasing European war threats.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (AP)—Buyers hunched with the specialties in today's stock market.

While selected issues pushed up fractions to a point or so, the list as a whole fluctuated about within a restricted area. Most attention was centered on the merchandising group, but a few motor trucks, steel and electrical equipment received their share of support.

[QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING]

DO YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS?

DURING the past year we have published in this paper 52 "Questions about Banking" together with brief answers.

In these advertisements we have endeavored to give, in simple, understandable terms, interesting information about banking services and about principles and practices which, in our opinion, make for sound, useful banking.

The results have been most gratifying. May we thank you for reading them—and express our appreciation for the many favorable comments from friends and customers.

We, of course, have been unable to cover the entire field of banking. In concluding the series now, we invite you to ask us, at any time, other questions you may have about banking or our services. We shall do our best to answer them for you—for we believe the more you know about us the better we can serve you—and serve the community as a whole.

SOFTBALL MANAGERS TO FORM LEAGUE ON TUESDAY EVENING

Managers or sponsors of softball teams who desire to enter a Class A league will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the chamber of commerce rooms in the city hall.

Representatives are instructed to be present with definite information regarding their stand on entry of a team, rules, etc. It is planned to form the league at the meeting and then close entry. Eight teams have already signified their intention of entering and several others are "on the fence," it has been learned.

Harold Miller, business manager of the Pampa-Danciger Road Runners, will be present to discuss with team managers their using Road Runner park for night games during the season.

Softball became popular in Pampa last year when 10 teams battled for supremacy in a league race. The Voss Cleaners won the title and represented the Panhandle in the state tournament in Fort Worth.

After the "big shots" get through organizing their league, a gang of "dubs" will meet for the purpose of organizing a Class B loop. Time and date will be announced soon.

To the Crown comes "Crash Donovan," with Jack Holt, John King, and Nan Gray. It is a story of the lives of out state highway patrolmen. Booth Tarkington's immortal "Penrod and Sam," picture every boy should see, is the feature at the Rex.

LA NORA

The world's most versatile skater, lovely Sonja Henie, winner of more than a dozen major skating titles, whose first picture, "Twentieth Century-Fox's winter musical, "One In A Million," comes today to the La Nora theater, was surprised to find the studio rink almost as versatile as herself.

With varying backgrounds, the rink, which is the first one to be constructed in any movie studio, served as three different fashionable Swiss lakes, as a replica of the 1936 Winter Olympic arena, and as a section of New York's Madison Square Garden. Although to the camera eye the ice was authentic, studio technicians released a secret. Test "shots" of the rink revealed the freezing pipes through the transparent ice, so that for water they substituted, of all things, skimmed milk. With the butter fat removed to permit freezing, the opaqueness of the milk hid the pipes.

In the largest cast ever assembled for recent musical films are also Adolphe Menjou, Jean Hersholt, Ned Sparks, Don Ameche, the Ritz Brothers, Arline Judge, Borrah Minevitch and his gang, Dixie Dunbar, Leah Ray and Shirley Deane.

WATCH FOR THESE OUTSTANDING PICTURES DURING THE MONTH OF MARCH

March 5-6 The Literary Digest says "One of the biggest pictures of the year... one of the finest pictures ever to come from Hollywood" of its production "LYDIA OF LONDON" which discovers the new star Tyrone Power and features Freddie Bartholomew.

March 7-8-9 "The Gorgeous Hussy," "The Thin Man" and "Piccadilly Jim" are united in the star-studded new production "THE LAST OF MRS. CHEENEY" which brings Jean Crawford, William Powell, and Robert Montgomery together in a gay comedy of stolen pearls, a beautiful American widow and a packet of love letters.

March 12-13 If you can picture the beautiful scenes of spring in Vancouver filmed in Natural Color amid the picturesque and action filled lush camps of that region, you have a rough idea of what is in store for you in James Oliver Curwood's "GOD'S COUNTRY AND THE WOMAN" which features George Brent and Beverly Roberts in technicolor and lists only "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" as its equal.

March 14-17 Stars plus Songs plus Comedians add up to equal the greatest anticipated musical comedy of the season in "ON THE AVENUE," New York's latest real-life romance set to Irving Berlin's music in a hit that includes Dick Powell, Madeline Carroll, Alice Faye, The Ritz Brothers, Stepin Fetchit and George Barbier.

March 19-20 From one extreme to another in the same week Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray garner top honors in their characterization of an orphaned Puritan maid and a feisty Virginia Cavalier in "MAID OF SALEM," the 1692 story of God-fearing early settlers, who in their eagerness to stamp out evilness and witchcraft, allowed gossip, idle whispering, jealousy, and mob-hysteria to rule over common sense.

March 21-23 Advance reports indicate that "READY, WILLING AND ABLE" would have made an outstanding star of the late wisecracking Ross Alexander who did his best work in this picture. Ruby Keeler and dancing Leo Dixon are co-stars in this production that has already received the plaudits of critics from coast to coast.

March 26-27 Jimmie Fidler writes the following rave on "THE BLACK LEGION," "A four bell picture... one of the most tense, gripping photoplays of its kind ever produced... to be classed with 'I AM A FUGITIVE'... for a thrilling evening, I advise, for your 'MUST SEE' list 'BLACK LEGION.' It is a picture based on recent anti-patriotic upheavals that should be seen by every true American citizen."

March 28-30 "SEVENTH HEAVEN," a story close to the heart of every literature-loving person, has been re-made because of Popular Demand. Two of the screen's most popular stars, Simon Simon, and James Stewart, have been selected for the leads.

The season's most outstanding pictures booked to be Shown during the month of MARCH at the LA NORA THEATRE

HER NAME IN LIGHTS

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Daphne Brett, good-looking, successful young New York advertising executive, decides to rent a beautiful Connecticut estate her father left her when he was killed in a hunting accident. She needs the money after five years of providing for her younger sister, JENNIFER, who has just finished college.

Daphne, showing the estate to some unwelcome prospective tenants, is surprised when an attractive young fellow she has never seen before steps into the picture and offers $150 a month rental. Glad to head off her first bidders, she accepts and finds her new tenant to be LARRY SMITH, prominent architect. And at once she finds herself somewhat disturbed by his coming into her life. When he leaves she pictures herself in the same house as "Mrs. Smith."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Chapter IV

The girl at the corner table glanced anxiously at her watch and studied the menu. Then she spied the slim figure in brown tweeds she had been waiting for.

"Daphne Brett," she said severely, "you're half an hour late."

"I know, Anne, but I've been over to the bank to deposit my tenant's check. He's staying on another two months until the end of November. Also, I've a very good reason for being late. Wait until you hear why!"

"Unless it's bad news, let's order before you tell me. I've got to get some layouts to Murray before two."

Anne Cockerell was a successful young commercial artist and her friendship with Daphne had begun in the Johnstone Advertising Agency when Daphne was a lesser member of the copy staff.

"You order and I'll talk, Anne."

Anne ordered their usual lunch. "Now talk!"

"I've been promoted! I'm a full-fledged copy writer now with two accounts of my own to handle exclusively, an office of my own with my name on the door and fifty more a month. Not bad?"

"Bad! It's colossal! From rags to riches, or, from stenographer to career woman in five short years. Tell me, did you always dream that some day you'd be a successful advertising writer?"

"On the contrary," Daphne denied. "Do you know, Anne, I once wanted to be an actress? People are always surprised when I tell them that. I used to be fair at dramatics when I was in college and I meant to go into the theater when I finished but"—she sighed almost imperceptibly—"you know Jennifer had to be taken care of and Dad—"

Anne knew all about that; knew that at 19 Daphne had left college to come to New York to support herself. She had done it so that the small sum Tom Brett had left to his motherless daughters might be used to send the then 13-year-old Jennifer to a good school.

It had been five years since Tom Brett, hunting on his grounds in Connecticut, tripped over his gun and, dying, charged Daphne with the care of the flaxen-haired Jennifer. Daphne had done it well. Now Jennifer was finished at Miss Maidstone's.

From stenographer to career woman, Anne had said. Daphne thought of those first few months in the general office at Johnstone, then the transfer to a secretarial job where she had learned to write copy.

"Anne," she said, "if I can do this in five years, I've a wonderful future. I'm going to work hard and some day . . ."

"Some day you'll have a fat bank account and wake up being an old maid." Anne finished tartly. "I wouldn't let this career angle creep into conversations when you're talking to an attractive man. By the way, did you tell the mysterious Smith you were a business gal?"

"Mr. Smith? I told him I had a job, that was all. Why?"

"Oh, I just thought since you two had a cozy tea, you might have gone just a little way into the histories of your lives. Particularly since you seem to have found him interesting."

"Nonsense, Anne." Swift color flooded Daphne's smooth cheeks. "He's married and you know how I feel about married men."

"What's his wife like?" Anne asked casually.

"I don't know. I've never seen her. I haven't seen him either since the day he engaged the place. He sends his check the first of every month. Anne, at first he used to write amusing little notes about the place, but I didn't answer them because of his wife. Now he doesn't."

"Maybe he's got a twin," Anne proffered genially.

"If he hasn't, it will be all the same to me. Why are you always trying to find a romance for me? Don't you know I can't afford any such luxury while I have to see Jennifer through. This year I want her to specialize in some course to prepare her for work. Did I tell you she's coming to me Saturday?"

"Now isn't that nice?" Anne didn't sound very enthusiastic. "What's the matter with helping her to get a job and helping yourself?"

"Oh, she's only 18 and I want her to have a chance for something worth while. I have grand plans. I thought, when we decided what she's going to do, we could sublease my apartment and move back to the hall. We could commute and it would save money. I wouldn't mind and I know Jennifer will prefer the country. She's so unsophisticated."

Anne toyed with her fork for a moment and said, "Daph, if I were you I'd drop the mother complex and consider myself for a while."

Daphne pushed back her chair and rose. "I'm late, darling. I've got a lot of work to do because tomorrow I'm taking the day off to rearrange the apartment. Come by late in the afternoon and I'll give you tea."

When the doorbell buzzed at three the next afternoon, Daphne removed a tack from her mouth and, from her perilous perch on a table top, called over her shoulder, "No matter who it is, Maggie, I'm not at home to anybody."

She gave a last ineffectual blow at the defensive tack, bent it, and hung her print with complete disregard for its safety.

"Pardon me, lady. Would you be interested in some homemade fudge or old spare tires? I'm selling these and also . . ."

" . . . also charm," she finished for him as she descended gingerly to the floor. "How'd you get past my faithful jewel, Tuck? I told her I wasn't at home to anyone."

"I'm not anyone. Beautiful. The name is Ainsley, don't you remember?"

"How could I forget when you've been under my feet for the past three years?"

"At your feet," he corrected.

She looked at him speculatively, noticing his usual impeccable turn-out. Then she slid forward comfortably in the chair that outlined her lithe figure and a pretty smile dawned at the corners of her mouth. It was a sweet mouth.

"Tuck liked it. He liked everything about Daphne. The dark gray eyes, the dark wing-like brows accenting the white transparency of her forehead, and the blue-black softness of her wavy hair."

He studied her smile doubtfully and said he suspected it would be a grin if another girl did it.

"It is," she said gleefully, "because you're going to work for a change. You're going to help us move furniture. Jennifer arrives tomorrow and there's work to be done."

"Ah, Jennifer, the baby!" Tuck's eyes found the photograph of a young girl with the face of an angel framed by blond hair ending in a pigtail swung over her shoulder.

"Does she still look like that?" he asked.

"I guess she does," Daphne answered and appealed to him, "but, Tuck, you know she's only 18 and she's not your type. Remember that, please. Your crowd—my crowd—is pretty sophisticated and I don't want Jennifer running around with them."

"What brought this on?" he inquired lazily. "You're the girl I'm interested in. I don't want any girl but you."

"Daphne and two complete Zeigfeld Follies choruses," she replied and added, when the buzzer sounded again, "That will be Anne."

It wasn't; it was Jennifer.

Not the Jennifer of the pigtail! This was a young sophisticate with golden hair, Jennifer four inches taller than her sister, in spike heels and a smart wool frock with chic hat, Jennifer with every point of her beauty heightened by skillful makeup. Jennifer who cried, "Dearest! I had to come a day early because I'm going to a party tonight and I had to get in time to dig up a man. Also, I forgot to pay the taximan."

"I'll do it," said Daphne to Tuck after she had introduced them, and went to pay Jennifer's driver.

When she came back, she found Jennifer stretched out gracefully on her lounge.

"Can we have a cocktail right away, Daph? I'm dying of thirst but my troubles are over for tonight. Mr.

Ainsley is going to the party with me. I think he's sweet."

"I'll get you some tea," Daphne said shortly.

DOUGLAS AIRCRAFT TO REOPEN MONDAY, CLAIM

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Douglas Aircraft factory will re-open Monday, President Donald Douglas announced today as most of its 342 sit-down strikers, indicted and jailed trespass conspiracy charges were released without bond.

President John K. Northrop also announced re-opening Monday of the Northrop plant, Douglas subsidiary, scene of a sit-down strike abandoned yesterday under threats of more indictments and Northrop's promises of negotiation.

Shortly after the announcements, a spokesman for the striking union, the United Automobile Workers of America, aircraft division, said picketing at the Douglas plant probably would continue Monday.

Douglas' announcement said decision to reopen the factory was "in response to a petition signed by hundreds of employees" asking that operations "be resumed at the earliest possible moment."

In the announcement, addressed merely to "employees" of the company, no distinction was made between strikers and non-strikers.

Douglas would not amplify his announcement.

TUBBS SISTERS LEAD MOBEETIE IN 56 TO 32 VICTORY OVER HIGGINS

GOODNIGHT IS NOSED OUT BY HIGGINS CLUB

DISTRICT TWO TITLE WON BY WHEELER GIRLS

With the Tubbs sisters, V. and R., shooting baskets from all angles, the Mobeette Hornets last night swamped the Higgins girls under an avalanche of points to take the district 2 basketball tournament by the lopsided score of 56 to 32.

R. Tubbs led the scoring parade with 10 field goals and four free throws for 25 points to bring her total for three games to 44 points. V. Tubbs looped 10 field goals and made two free shots for 22 points to skyrocket her total for the tournament to 68. Lancaster, the third Mobeette sharpshooter collected 10 points and 28 for the series.

Higgins' attack was in the hands of a midget whirlwind named Laubham who looped 13 points. Walton, ace forward, was a close second with 12 points to send her total for four games to 47 points. Her teammate on the firing line,

Hughes, was held to six points but her tournament total went to 45 points.

Mobeette opened fast with the Tubbs sisters sinking shots after they had missed seven setups in a row. The ball insisted on rolling around the loop and then falling out. Higgins also had tough luck in the early minutes of the game but settled down to hold the favorites 11 to 8 at the end of the first quarter. Mobeette jumped into a 26 to 13 lead at the half and held a 40 to 25 advantage at the close of the third period.

The winning Mobeette team has received an invitation to the A. A. U. tournament in Plainview next week. The team is also scheduled to compete against the winner of district 1.

Higgins went into the finals with a one-point victory over Goodnight while Mobeette swamped Phillips of Whittenburg.

Jim Collins, president of the Pampa Board of City Development, presented Captain Viola Tubbs of Mobeette with a large statue emblematic of the tournament championship. Another statue was presented to Captain Anna Lee Walton of the Higgins team.

J. M. Carpenter of Canadian, tournament chairman, presented Mr. Collins after thanking Pampa for use of the gymnasium and congratulating the teams on their excellent play and good sportsmanship.

Although no official all tournament team was selected by a court of judges, tournament officials, statisticians and the press named the following girls:

- V. Tubbs, Mobeette.
- Hughes, Higgins.
- Walton, Higgins.
- Dysart, Mobeette.
- O. Brown, Goodnight.
- R. Tubbs, Mobeette.

Spearman opened the tournament with a 17 to 11 victory over a ball passing Berger sextet. Berger relied on working the ball close but failed to get many clear shots. Spearman took their chances on long shots for victory.

Higgins and Canadian battled to the last whistle with Higgins winning 28 to 24 with Walton and Hughes the sharpshooters. Owens paced Canadian.

The Goodnight entry had little difficulty swamping Panhandle, 30 to 11 with O. Brown and C. Shores leading the basket work. Goodnight presented two girls named C. Shores and two girls named O. Brown, with another Z. Brown.

McLean failed to put in an appearance and LeFors won on a forfeit. Miami also forfeited with Kulton getting the game.

Another smooth-passing sextet from Hutchinson county, the Phillips six from Whittenburg, outlasted Gruver, 30 to 23, with Barnett looping 19 points.

Darrouzet forfeited to Perryton and Groom failed to arrive to meet Mobeette.

Higgins Wins Title

Higgins took the only game Friday night from Spearman, 28 to 13. Goodnight's Spearman forward, made six consecutive free shots for all her points. Higgins' forwards divided the scoring.

Phillips opened play Saturday morning with a breath taking 28 to 26 game from Kelson who featured Kuykendale, a tall forward. She could have won the game herself but made the mistake of hurrying shots. She hit the basket for 19 of her team's points. Garrett again led Phillips with 16. Phillips again presented a smooth passing machine.

Goodnight took a 32 to 16 battle from LeFors in the second game. Z. Brown collected 17 points with O. Brown in second place in scoring. The McGinnis sisters combined for all the LeFors points, eight each.

The favored Mobeette sextet romped away with a 35 to 14 victory over Perryton with Lancaster registering 16 points and V. Tubbs adding 12 more.

Goodnight Loses

The thrill game of the tournament was a nip-and tuck battle between Higgins and Goodnight the Higgins entry finally taking a 35 to 34 contest for the right to go into the finals. Although O. Brown looped 18 points for Goodnight, her teammates were unable to help enough. Walton with 15 points and Hughes with 12 led the Higgins sextet to victory. Higgins made a last minute rush of goals to come from behind at the whistle.

Scoring 34 points, V. Tubbs of Mobeette led her team into the finals with a 58 to 27 victory over the Phillips sextet, again led by the deadly shooting Garrett who looped 13 points. Sister R. Tubb added 12 points to the team and Dysart, shifted from guard for a few minutes, collected eight points.

ROAD RUNNERS PLANNING FOR STRONG TEAM

PLAYER NEGOTIATIONS NOW UNDER WAY HERE

Baseball fever in Pampa was checked yesterday with the announcement from headquarters of the Pampa-Danger Road Runners that Pampa would have as strong a team as any other club in the state if player negotiations now under way are successfully terminated.

Business Manager Harold Miller has mailed contracts to six new players and some of them have been returned with signature attached. Others want to "dicker" a little more, which will delay final announcement, expected to be made today.

Every one of the players being contacted has proven his worth in fast company and with holdovers

Panhandle Aggies To Play Phillips Here Monday Night

A crack southwestern university basketball team will make its appearance in Pampa tomorrow night when the Panhandle Aggies of Goodwell, Okla., meet the Phillips Oilers from the South field at 8 o'clock in the high school gymnasium.

The Aggies hold two close victories over the Oilers, one in Spearman and the other in Goodwell Thursday night when they came from behind in the final minute of play to take a 36 to 34 game.

Although the Oilers starting lineup has not been announced, it will be selected from Slim Windom, Tip Windom, Frank Monroe, Gene McCollum, Francis Smith, Weston, Laycock, Gibson and the Dewey brothers.

The Pan-Aggies will bring 12 players to Pampa: Rodney, Spink, Galloway, Humphries, McGee, Hawkins, Patterson, Yates, DeBarr, Dickerson, Iba and Graves.

Rodney is the hot-shot scorer for the visitors with Humphries and Hawkins close seconds.

Teamwork is the forte of the Aggies. The players are well drilled and don't waste an effort. They use a slow breaking offense and take shots only when they see the basket.

Phillips relies on a fast breaking offense with deadly shooting from all angles. Teamwork is almost impossible because the boys have no place in which to practice.

From last season would give fans the team for which they have been hoping.

Available from last season will be Lee Daney and Carl Stewart, pitchers; Lefty Cox and Ben McCarry, infielders; Floyd Lisle, catcher; Grover Setz, Don Bailey and Hershel McNabb, outfielders. Al Summers is still here but he is scheduled to report to the Oklahoma City Indians for spring training.

Plans call for beginning training on April 1 with the opening game on April 11, probably with the Pampa City Angels who were lost to the Road Runners last season and then went on to win the Western Association crown.

ALLISON GIRLS NOSE OUT PLAINVIEW CHAMPS

ALLISON, Feb. 27 — The Allison girls' basketball team last night broke a two-year winning streak for the state champion Plainview sextet 22 to 19 in a hectic struggle here.

Walker, Plainview's sharpshooting forward, paced the scorers with 14 points. Jones of Allison was a close second with 11 points, garnered from four field goals and three free throws.

Let's see-sawed throughout the game with never more than four points difference. Allison staged a fast closing rally to hold a lead.

ROSEMONT WINS BY NOSE IN $100,000 SANTA ANITA RACE

SANTA ANITA, Calif., Feb. 27 (AP)—Rosemont, great five-year-old star of the Foxcatcher farm and pre-race favorite, won the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap today in a nose finish. The time for the one mile and a quarter was 2:02 4-5.

Seabiscuit, owned by Mrs. C. S. Howard of San Francisco, was second, beaten out by a whisker.

Indian Broom, of the Canadian stable owned by Major A. C. Taylor took third and his running mate, Special Agent, captured fourth position.

The winner paid $9.90, $6 and $4. He was coupled with Gold Seeker.

Seabiscuit returned $8.40, $4.80 and the Taylor entry $5.80.

The finish was so close it was declared a photo finish. The pictures, however, showed the son of "The Porter" out of Gardenrose nipping by Bester and lesser known rival, Seabiscuit, just at the tape.

Seabiscuit, four-year-old colt by Hard Tack out of Swing On and a former plater, lived up to earlier predictions of lightning speed. He charged into the lead as the field of 18 horses swept into the home stretch.

Only the magnificent closing rush of the Foxcatcher farm's brilliant racer decided the issue. Harry Richards, cool-headed veteran of the saddle, was aboard the winner.

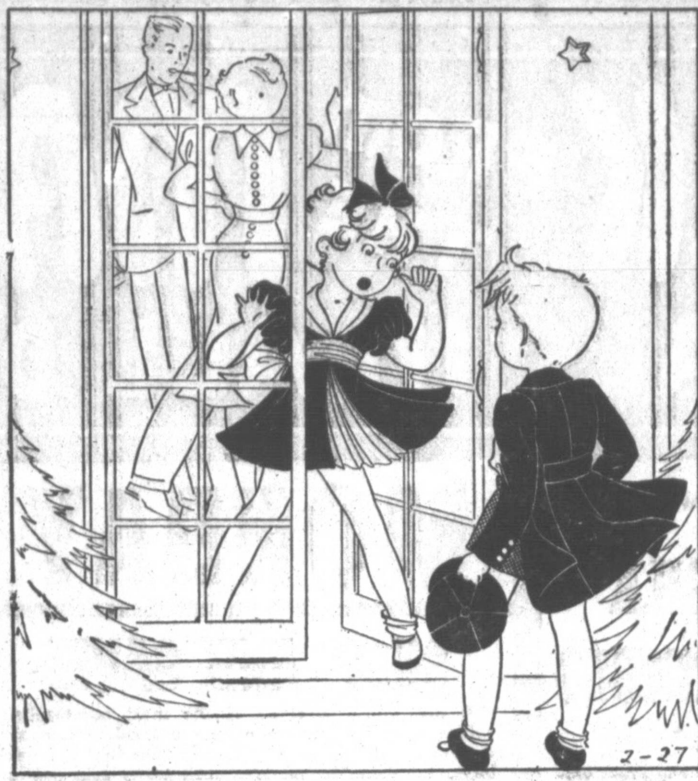

He rated the race nicely, calling on his mount as the great field thundered on the back stretch. Rosemont moved up. Richards swung him to the outside and kept charging.

Meanwhile Special Agent, also noted for his speedy foot, clung to the lead he had held shortly after the quarter mile pole was passed. At the mile, Rosemont continued to creep up while at this stage, veteran Time Supply, second place horse last year and third in the initial classic two years ago, made his first and only bid.

The big fellow, rumored earlier in the week as having trouble, couldn't quite muster the speed that brought him heavy recognition in the betting booths.

As he fell back, Seabiscuit clattered into the lead. For a time it appeared one of the "unknowns" was going to cash in on the richest race of the world of turf. Rosemont, however, had the last and final drive that brought him the cheers of more than 55,000 fans.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Tangled threads of human frailty and error are snarled over the reverse side of the New Deal historical tapestry, now woven to the point where ye foolhardy knights, Sir Franklin, doth challenge to mortal combatte ye Nine Supreme Knights of ye Marble Palace.

Thanks to the fact that supreme court justices, presidents and other characters involved do not always confine their feelings within their bosoms, it is possible to reveal these items of background to the current cannonade.

The issue between Roosevelt and the court probably would never have reached a crisis had the court's conservative justices not been encouraged by NRA's maladministration and unpopularity to kill the blue eagle and had their attitude subsequently not been stiffened by unfavorable public reaction to Roosevelt's "horse and buggy" remarks.

The bitter parts of Roosevelt's message to Congress asking power to pack the court were inserted by Donald Richberg. They are traceable to the bitterness engendered by the Schechter decision in both Roosevelt and Richberg. The latter had offered to stifle his legal reputation on victory in that case.

One mistake followed another. The president gambled on NRA as his big recovery ace, rather than the public works program. NRA was administered so badly that nearly everyone either hated it or was frightened by it—including nine justices of the supreme court.

Richberg pulled a boner in pushing the Schechter "sick chicken" case before the Supreme Court. Those who counted strongly on the liberalism of Justices Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo felt that the three justices made a mistake by joining in the sweeping condemnation of NRA, which was widely taken as a rebuke to the whole New Deal.

Roosevelt made a mistake when, egged on by General Johnson, he made his famous "horse and buggy" statement. No important case involving New Deal reform had come before the court prior to the NRA case. Up to that time, according to the inside information, the conservative justices had been somewhat in the same frame of mind as Republican members of Congress.

There was great dissension within the New Deal at the time, one large faction favoring a new, modified NRA with unpopular and unworkable features removed. This faction was successful to the point that it persuaded Roosevelt and Richberg to drop the Becher lumber case, first scheduled as the NRA test case. But Richberg insisted on bullying it thru, and picked the Schechter case as his Armageddon.

It all happened at the mock trial of Blackledge held before the Kiwanis club court at its regular noon sitting in Hotel Schneider. Judge B. S. Via presided. Dr. R. A. Webb and Guy McTaggart defended Blackledge, and Bill Jarratt handled the prosecution.

Witnesses included Dr. H. L. Wilder, Dr. W. Calvin Jones, Dan McGrew, Warren Martin (Blackledge's companion on the four day jaunt across the plains), Bunny Behrman, Tom Smalling, Robert T. Hicks, and the skipper of this space. In justice to Bill Jarratt we will now become guilty of contempt of court and state that his style was considerably cramped by the presiding judge.

admit the truth contained in some damaging telegrams from the East, sent here at the behest of counsel for Mr. Blackledge. . . . It all goes to prove that your past catches up with you sooner or later.

X-Ray photos of the Blackledge head (with loose screws visible) were shown by Mr. Jarratt through his hospital technician who had examined Blackledge and introduced the X-ray films to prove the case beyond any reasonable doubt. . . . The jury, however, decided to ignore the exhibits and Dr. Hicks' testimony.

Blackledge, you know had been charged because Mr. Smalling insisted that he must be crazy to have started out on such a fool-hardy venture as the one he undertook when he accepted a challenge and took off on a four-day prairie schooner trip across the high plains.

When the testimony was all in, and our personal attorney, Judge W. R. Ewing, had been unable to get a word in edgewise in our behalf—we had been found guilty of inciting Blackledge to crazy ideas, the defendant was found not guilty, and court had adjourned—we still were hand-cuffed to the sheriff and the key turned up missing.

The sheriff had to take us along to the courthouse where he said he hoped the man who had the key could be found. . . . Luckily he was there and the key was turned in the lock to end a decidedly astounding miscarriage of mock justice. Attorney Jarratt has filed an appeal and will carry the case up. . . . He, too, is convinced that Blackledge is just a bit woozy, the jury notwithstanding.

Blond Colleen McMahon is the Spanish accent you hear at 5:30 each Sunday evening in the sequences of KPDM's Banner of Adventure program. . . . Others in the cast are Mary Adams, Bill Karn, Bob Messer, A. L. Patrick, and Mel Marshall. . . . This evening they will present Episode 4 in "El Valle De Trista."

Comment here the other day about the lovely, young lady who has as her life's ambition the desire to be the perfect wife for the man she loves, has aroused a bit of interest among male readers. . . . Perhaps we shall be cast in the role of Cupid yet. . . . One eligible young bachelor already has approached us about it. . . . Of course, we could not disclose the name to anyone without the young lady's permission.

This fellow says he has long been searching for the perfect wife. . . . One whom he can love and one who will love him—until death do them part. . . . A noble plan. If it works, and it will work. . . . Ray Barnes, Bucyrus, Ohio, publisher visiting in the Panhandle, thinks Pampa folks are super-gracious. . . . Ever since his arrival Thursday he has been waiting to see one of the dust storms he has been reading about in the East. . . . Instead he saw only snow, of which he sees plenty at home.

Many folk have been inquiring about Pa Pampa. . . . We neglected to tell you a couple of weeks back that Pa decided to leave the dust and the snow behind and do a bit of wintering in sunny Florida. . . . That's why his column has not been showing up on Sunday. . . . Last reports on Pa came from West Palm Beach where he was enjoying balmy days and zephyr-like nights.

Ah, a zephyr-like night. . . . There is a situation to conjure with. . . . As we write these lines, locally, there is no zephyr-like night in sight. . . . It is snowing and there is ice on the ground. . . . A siren shrieks. . . . An ambulance dashes through the street to a point where two automobiles have reached a given point at the same time. . . . Somebody is hurt. . . . Another sequence in the book of Life. . . . And, so it goes.

We were thinking again about that mock trial for Kenneth Blackledge and how it turned out in reverse English. . . . It all goes to show you that nothing is certain. . . . Always expect the unexpected and you will not be disappointed. . . . A sage once wrote that anticipation is greater than realization. . . . That does not always hold true. . . . Only recently we were so agreeably surprised at an unexpected turn of affairs that we now are convinced that realization can even be greater than anticipation.

T. E. Johnson, the Amarillo scrivener, thinks perhaps we need a vacation—a rest in the mountains. . . . He arrives at this conclusion after reading the wide departure we made in this space the other day to discuss mllady's spring styles. . . . In this suggestion of Mr. Johnson's there is detected a faint trace of innuendo. . . . Well, the jury said we were guilty and no doubt the jury is right.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One of the diversions of the late winter days was the photographers' show in the Carl Zeiss windows on Fifth avenue. As I meandered along the far-flung exhibition it seemed that every subject under the sun had been tramped by the prying lenses of cameramen, amateur and professional, covering the whole, vast field of photography and blending the yield into a cyclorama of fascinating scenes.

One of the most amusing was of a black cat with white paws, fishing like a hungry Casanova in a goldfish bowl. All the quick alarm and eclair in being discovered by the intruding cameraman was in its eyes.

Then there was a nocturnal scene of Times Square, taken from above, with the confused, tumbling life of the city in sharp relief against a background of flaming marquee, electrical advertisements and shadow-touched sky-scrapers.

Action pictures which seemed so real that one half expected to see them start moving were round-up scenes on a western range, a cowboy riding herd and cattle-men branding little dogies. There were fleets of Chinese fishermen with their nets on blue water at twilight, flood pictures, drought pictures, a prow of a sloop blotting out the Miami skyline in the distance.

I thought the most remarkable photograph of the lot was simply that of a hand and two dice in mid-air. Somehow, the entire ritual of hope, anticipation, anxiety, and fear was revealed in the cast of the hand. The fingers were claw-like and frozen—as if reluctant to let the dice go. White in the air, the dice showed a trey and a six—but they were whirling and none could tell whether they would come down on a seven or a snake-eye. Unless, of course, they were loaded.

For still-life there was an over-turme basket of big, juicy Bermuda onions. There was the head of a rooster, blown up 24 times its actual size, probably the most remarkable picture of a barnyard boss taken in years.

Another grim episode revealed a brace of perchon horses dragging a boat out of a heavy sea onto a strip of soggy beach. After the show I came away remembering one picture of a girl and white Llewellyn, on a wind-blown wharf. There wasn't anything particularly noticeable about it except an undefinable something that compelled you to remember it, without realizing it, as you do when you suddenly begin to whistle a new tune. Later, I went back to see who had taken it. The name on the picture was Frank Sunderland.

Dusolina Gianini, the opera singer, is vivid, black-haired, and a smart business woman. She recently has signed to make a motion picture for a European film company.

People You Know

Saturday afternoon is a good time to visit a church where the love and humility and passion of the crucified Christ seem alive and poignant in the air. Such a church is Holy Souls and the visit there Saturday afternoon, with the warm sunlight suffusing Christ's saffron head, the candles burning on the altar, and that holy look that is always on the face of the Holy Virgin, surcharged the heart with the same medieval beauty that is as full of light and wonder today as it was when St. Francis knew it, and one felt the holiness in the atmosphere and knew that this is the Lenten season, the time for a return to that unexplainable, that perfect Beauty, the time when one must think and pray in such a manner that one will not awake one morning and find that it is Easter, and find, too, that one has done nothing to prepare for Easter. . . . And in Holy Souls church one sees cherished beliefs, greatly desired belief in the luminous, adoring eyes of a Mexican woman, a black shawl over her head, as she kneels before a figure of Christ bending under the weight of the cross, and then one felt that she would know the spirit of Easter when that day arrives only a month hence.

How's Your Health?

Edited by DR. IAGO GOLDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine

HEART FAILURE Precisely what does heart failure mean? Directly it must mean failure of the heart to carry on its work, the propulsion of the blood through the body. But obviously heart failure may be the end result of a variety of abnormal conditions in the body.

The "failure" may be due to the weakness of the heart musculature. Or it may be due to the extreme obstacles in its effort to keep the blood moving along the pathways of the arterial system.

A classical illustration of the first instance might be infection of the myocardium (the heart muscle), with consequent weakening and degeneration of the muscle fibres. Arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries, with their consequent narrowing) is a typical illustration of the difficulties which the heart may encounter in its effort to keep the blood circulating.

A third consideration must be added: the work demands placed upon the heart. Two kinds of work demands are made. The heart must keep the blood circulating in order to sustain the vital functions of nutrition and waste removal. Again, the heart is called upon to speed up blood circulation when the body is moved about and when energy is expended in physical labor. If the burden which movement and physical labor throw upon the heart is greater than the heart can sustain, heart failure may result.

For these reasons, individuals whose hearts are defective and threatening failure are urged to restrict their physical efforts and limit their food consumption. The loss of unnecessary body weight reduces the burden placed upon the heart by the metabolic requirements of the body. "A lighter chassis lightens the strain upon the engine."

Heart failure is not ordinarily a specific condition, such as pneumonia. It is a condition, due to one or more organic disabilities which may affect the heart proper or the blood vessels (and other organs), and on the other hand to work demands made upon the heart.

Since the underlying organic disease frequently cannot be remedied, heart failure may be avoided by lessening the demands made upon the heart.

Talks to parents

THEY NEED THE BIBLE By Brooke Peters Church

Sam was answering a general information test on "who's who in ancient literature." He knew about Homer, Achilles, Ulysses, Odysseus, the Cid, Roland, Siegfried, Virgil, and a host of other characters. But he had never heard of Ahab, Isaiah, Deborah, Jeremiah, Jehu, Elijah, Jacob, and Esau.

When the teaching of religion was taken out of the schools, the study of the Bible was lost to a large part of the country's children. It is surprising how few children read the Bible or hear it read at home. College instructors are repeatedly faced with classes in which history or literature, even in comparative religion, to whom the Bible is quite unfamiliar.

To pretend to study the literature or history of the western world without any knowledge of half the source material is absurd. To consider one's self cultured or even educated without any conception of the foundations on which the cultural material of the occident is based, is impossible. If all that we had left of Greek literature were bound in one volume, that one volume would be the equivalent in value of the ancient Hebrew library which is the Bible. Out of these two volumes it might be said our civilization sprang.

The children read and study the story of the ancient Greeks. These are a part of every school library and curriculum. It is for the home to foster an equally intimate knowledge of the Old Testament at least. The stories of the great men of old, the magnificent poetry and oratory of the psalms and prophets are part of our background and should not be lost.

MILLION YOUTHS TO BE ASKED TO SIGN PLEDGE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27. The Anti-Saloon League of America will be called upon to endorse a campaign to ask ten million young people to sign pledges against alcoholic beverages.

Others include temperance rallies and parades, work through churches and young people's organizations, motion pictures and plays, and educational and political activity reaching into every election precinct.

This, That and Everything

By JESS KELLEY

We cannot afford to vouch for the veracity of all the things we hear. Sometimes people of good intentions, and in the main truthful, are inclined to exaggerate the facts a bit in order to keep from being out-classed when some "Major Hoopie" comes along. Not long ago, I was amused at two old mountaineers who were exchanging stories of unusual experiences in trapping rabbits. Being an old rabbit trapper myself, I naturally took special cognizance of what the fellows had to say.

One man told how he used to paint the sawed end of a large log black so it would appear to be hollow. I placed it on the ground and a hound, it would naturally take the painted log to be hollow, and would plunge headlong against the solid end of the log. The pursuing hound would then pick up the dead rabbit and bring it to his master.

When the other gentleman heard that one, he paused for a moment and then said: "My favorite way to trap rabbits was to lean a flat rock over against a stick, leaving room for the rabbit to crawl under. Then I placed it on the ground under the leaning rock. When a rabbit passing by, stuck his head under the rock and smelled the pepper, the spasmodic jerk of its head accompanying the resultant sneeze would knock the rabbit's brains out against the rock."

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD — The red-haired, Gageynish-looking Irishman who goes by the highflutin' name of Paul Gerald Smith is a great yarn-spinner.

Smith, who writes pieces for stage screen, radio and whatnot, cannot abide swank. He lives in an insanely comfortable two-story house where four children have the run of the furniture along with one perpetually drowsy cat, and where the missus is not above whipping up a beef stew when the Swedish cook is busy with the washing.

He tells of the time a friend of his, entertaining a visiting socialite at luncheon, did it up with fancy dishes, more silver than in many a mine, and a butler behind each guest's chair.

Swank Bally Smith felt the Presence behind him, was aware of gimlet eyes upon him each time he reached for the wrong fork. Finally, exasperated by the continual reaching in of hands from behind, he could stand it no longer.

He leaned back in his chair, turned and addressed his butler: "If you have anywhere to go, Buddy, will you please go—leave—scram?"

Whereupon the visiting lady with relief, turned to her own particular arbiter. "That goes for you, too!" she exclaimed—after which everybody settled down and had a swell time.

Smith, 40, is a graduate of the old Chicago journalistic period that produced Hecht and MacArthur. He served in the marines in the World War, and is a veteran of numerous hectic clashes and campaigns with war lords of stage and screen. He is either a man to whom things happen, proving truth stranger than fiction, or else he is a great—yarn-spinner.

Picked To Die He tells of a time he was in Berlin. He fell in with a courteous German who offered to aid his sight-seeing, and they wound up a pleasant afternoon by visiting a dive for a mug of beer. Here, as they sipped and talked, appeared two plainclothes men, arresting them both.

Well, Smith soon proved he was just a tourist, but the other fellow—the cops told Smith, he was the last survivor of a notorious gang of murderous thieves, that they had arrived in the well-known nick because he—Paul Gerard Smith—had been nominated for extinction.

Buddy Ebsen's studio ordered him to wear a mask or give up boxing lessons while he is engaged in making a picture.

Edna Mae Oliver is giving lessons in knitting—between shots—to Myrna Loy and Billie Burke.

Virginia Bruce is reviving that very feminine accessory, the fan. Her fan has a jeweled handle and a strap of silver kid slips over her wrist.

Victor Moore was one of the screen's earliest comedy players. He created the role of Chimmie Fadden 15 years ago.

SPRING FASHIONS BRING NEW GAY AIR TO PAMPA SHOPS

EARLY MODES REFLECT NOTE OF RETURNING PROSPERITY IN LUXURY AND BRILLIANT COLORS

READY FOR the new-spring-clothes urge that is a natural part of the season, Pampa stores are showing early shoppers an array of styles reflecting the national mood of returning prosperity. Both men and women find changes that give a new air to this year's clothes and even children's fashions swing into the gay 1937 tempo.

The lit of spring, the fresh beauty of youth, and the romantic air of past centuries, are combined in a glamorous mode that brings back pre-war luxury in modern and daring colors. Carrying on the dual trend in the mode, which seems so perfectly suited to today's busy women, 1937 brings back the tailored suit costume as a classic in every woman's wardrobe. And, for beauty and contrast, the other leading fashion trend turns definitely feminine, with a romantic air of "southern belle" and Camille fashions that are the delight of the very young and flattering to the more mature.

There is an air of youthful abandon in the swinging grace of the new frocks, the high shoulders, puff sleeves and daring low necklines. And there is a casual pleasing effect in other frocks, showing the very new lower waistlines, and modified skirts.

Pushing back her little hat, tilting her off-the-face bonnet, the "new and very young" woman of 1937 walks with light and airy step in the parade of fashion. Fluttering veils, sashes, ribbon streamers, all reflect the swinging gaiety of the mode. Casual, but never indifferent to these romantic influences, the woman in easy-going swagger or tailored costume, shows this same feminine influence in the lightness and beauty of her fabrics, the bright sparkle of her jewels, or the dash of color in her accessories. For, not since pre-war days, has fashion been so young and gay in its mood.

Children Miss Trip To Play at Canyon

Slippery roads offered too many risks, so 94 children who had planned a trip to Canyon yesterday were sadly disappointed. They were members of Woodrow Wilson Kid band and guests from the other ward school bands of the city, who had planned to go by bus and present a program at the Teachers college auditorium there.

The uniformed musicians, their director, Eugene Seastrand; principal, Mrs. Annie Daniels; teachers and parents who had planned to accompany them, gathered at the school yesterday morning but were advised that bus travel over the highways was deemed unsafe for so many children.

They hope to arrange a trip later, and are now discussing plans to include a picnic at Palo Duro canyon.

DRUNK FINDS NEW USE FOR PARKING METER.

DALLAS (AP)—Said the policeman, shaking the shoulder of the sleepy drunk sitting on the curb, hands folded and head bowed in apparent slumber.

"You can't sit here, old fellow." "Hell I can't!" said the drunk.

"How come?" queried the cop, yanking the drunk to his feet.

"Well (hic), you see, I put a nickel in that (hic) parking meter, and it's good for an hour, see?"

It was good for more than an hour—in jail.

LET'S KNOW TEXAS AND TEXANS

BY WILL H. MATES.

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. An evidence of good faith inquiries must give their names and addresses, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mates, Austin, Texas.

Q. Under what conditions did other Mainzar Verein colonists come to Texas later, and with what results?

A. The Verein, in 1845, sent some 4,000 immigrants to Texas, for whose care insufficient provision had been made. Most of them reached Texas practically destitute, and with no lands on which to locate. Prince Solms resigned and returned in disgust to Germany. He was succeeded by Baron O. von Muesbach, who, with business acumen, took in hand the difficult task of locating the immigrants on several thousand acres of land he secured and on which he built the town of Fredericksburg. They endured much hardship in reaching and building their settlements, largely due to previous mismanagement.

Q. Was New Washington ever a place of much prominence?

A. New Washington, also called Morgan's Point, was a bluff on the west side of Galveston Bay, the home of Col. James Morgan, who had a store and warehouse there which were burned by Santa Anna just before the battle of San Jacinto, and following the hurried departure of President Burnet, and cabinet from that joint to Galveston just before the arrival of Santa Anna. Col. Morgan's hopes of building an important seaport city were never realized.

Q. By what name was Texas City once known?

A. Texas City, on the west shore of Galveston Bay, was known as Shoal Point until 1893.

Q. Where are figs grown in Texas?

A. Figs of some variety can be grown in almost every part of Texas, but especially in the Gulf Coast section, where there is large commercial production and they are extensively canned.

Q. What is the Mexican name for the bird that Texans commonly call the road-runner or scissor-tail?

A. Paisano, or corre-camino.

First they filched a car robe from C. A. Smiley, assistant chief of police. Two nights later they took a bicycle from the front porch at Police Chief Lester Richardson's home.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

BIRDS SERVE MAN IN FIVE MAJOR CAPACITIES: AS DESTROYERS OF INSECTS, AS DESTROYERS OF WEED SEEDS, AS DESTROYERS OF RODENTS, AS SCAVENGERS, AND AS FOOD!

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO ESTIMATE ACCURATELY THEIR VALUE TO MAN.

ENTOMOLOGISTS are agreed that every year the loss to agriculture, in the United States alone, through insect pests amounts to over a billion dollars. They also agree that almost any insect, if unchecked by its natural enemies would, in a short space of time, inherit the earth.

Bob Clark Began Learning Magic Tricks At Age Of 7

By Lula Mae Farley

WHEELER, Feb. 26 — An awed silence fell as an athletic young man stepped briskly to the stage and drew forth a pack of cards. He sprayed them fanwise in one deft and graceful movement as a ripple of applause ran through the audience.

It wasn't any time until the most marvelous things were happening. The gayest little bunnies appearing suddenly out of silk hats, yards and yards of bright-hued flags being drawn from a tiny cylinder, small bits of paper turning into candy bars, lighted cigarettes being plucked from the air, thimbles and coins appearing from the most impossible places—these and many other things the young man caused to happen while an audience sat forward spell-bound.

The amazing young man was Bob Clark, the man with a thousand tricks.

A number of years ago a small seven-year old boy sat with his father and mother and for the first time saw feats of magic performed. He went home a decided convert to this fascinating form of entertainment. He amazed all his family and friends by being able to describe every one of the tricks that the wandering magician had performed. He began, awkwardly, to work out these tricks and practice them. There was no one to teach him, and he learned by the trial and error method. He read every book and article he could find on the subject. By the time he was seventeen he could do every trick he had seen the magician do when he was seven.

"Perhaps I didn't do them just as he did," Clark smiled, "but they worked the way I did it, and I got the same results."

Clark worked zealously and never missed an opportunity to see a magician perform, and then he copied their tricks and added to many of them.

He practiced on his family and friends and while in high school gave his first public performance. Black magic, taken up at first as a hobby, soon became a lucrative profession to this ambitious youngster. In 1925 he went to Sul Ross Teachers College and worked his way through school with his magical tricks.

He formed a partnership with Gene Grimes, cartoonist and eccentric dancer, and they went on tours throughout the Big Bend country, and many other sections. During the summer vacations Clark traveled over many states presenting his magic shows. His itinerary has carried him through 43 states and into Canada and Mexico. Some of his tours were by the hitch-hike route. He carried his rope and cards in the top of his hat. Thus equipped he entertained in towns from the Kansas wheat fields to Canada and back to Denver, Colorado, by way of Montana, Wyoming, and Utah. He remained in Denver one month before returning to school. On another occasion he hitch-hiked to the magicians' conventions in Indianapolis and Philadelphia, giving shows all along the way.

Clark's next college was Amarillo Junior College where he continued to earn his expenses by presenting his sleight-of-hand and magic tricks before luncheon and civic clubs and at churches and schools. During this time he became a popular entertainer throughout the Panhandle.

He continued his magical way to Howard College at Birmingham, Ala. After attending Howard he went to the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa. While there he was vice-president of the Birmingham Magicians' society. His tours became more ex- varied.

Clark worked for some time with Keating, a well-known magician, on the RKO vaudeville circuit. The other great professionals with whom he toured were Harry Krutcher and the brother of the great Harry Houdini. Clark personally knows such famous perpetrators of the "magic art" as Thurston, Tarbell, Cardinal, and Mulholland. He is a great admirer of the late Thurston and of Mulholland. One of the prized possessions in his huge scrapbook is a personal and complimentary letter from Thurston.

Clark's acquaintanceship extends around the world. He knows magicians in Hawaii, Johannesburg, Africa; Gibraltar, Spain; and Hamburg, Germany. He keeps in touch with them, and they all exchange tricks and routines, and Clark hopes to visit them some time.

Clark is a member of the International Brotherhood of Magicians. His public appearances number more than a thousand, and the total number of people in his various audiences runs well into the hundreds of thousands. He has presented his magical stunts several times to audiences of more than 4,000. During his school years in Birmingham he performed before every civic organization, church, high school, grade school, and colored school in that city. He was also a featured entertainer at several Boy Scout jamborees in that locality. Civic clubs, and leading newspapers endorse his programs.

In the summer of 1935 Clark attended the magician's convention at Lima, Ohio. He won a prize on his original Texas Centennial rope mystery. He plans to attend the convention this year which will be held at Reno, Nev.

During the Christmas vacation last year Clark made a tour of the CCC camps in New Mexico and Arizona, under a contract with the government, presenting magical entertainment nightly.

Some of his best known tricks of magic are the Oriental magic in Chinese costume, catching fish from the air, producing live rabbits, Oriental silk mystery, Texas Centennial rope mystery and the football mystery. His many card tricks delight all audiences.

"There are tricks in all trades, but my trade is all tricks," is his slogan, and after witnessing a few of his programs one is convinced that he knows all the tricks in this mystifying profession.

Bob Clark would rate headlines if he were proficient in nothing besides black magic but add to that his widely recognized ability in football, track, swimming, cartooning, and taxidermy and no one will be surprised that countless articles have been written throughout the United States about this versatile young man.

Back in high school days Clark was one of the fleetest-footed backs on the Amarillo Saddle team. He was selected as all-state half back in 1925. His first college was Sul Ross Teachers at Alpine.

His next school was Howard College at Birmingham, Ala., where he made his most outstanding record in the pigskin game.

In the fall of 1934 he came to Wheeler as high school coach. Football was at a rather low ebb at that time so only nine boys reported for practice. Enough boys were rounded up and football in Wheeler took on a new light. On the occasion of the first practice session Clark stated that it would take three years to make a championship team out of the raw material. The first year showed definite possibilities. The second year some of these possibilities were realized and his high school team won more than half of their games. In the third year Clark's football eleven removed all obstacles from their path and won the championship of District 3B for the first time in the history of the school. They defeated eight conference teams and one non-conference team. In the bi-district play Clark's boys slogged through a sea of mud in a game with Flomot, champions of District 4B to a 6-6 tie. The decision was awarded to Flomot on first downs.

Cooking School Starts Tomorrow At Norge Store

A modern cooking school demonstrating the Norge range and refrigerator will be conducted each afternoon from Monday through Friday next week, at the Post-Moseley Norge store in the Combs-Worley building.

Miss Ruth van der Maaten is to be director of the free cooking school, to which all Pampa women are invited—as well as men who are interested. Classes will begin at 2 each afternoon and continue to 4.

Firms cooperating to bring this school to housewives of the area are the Southwestern Public Service Co., Central States Power and Light Co., Piggly-Wiggly, Northeast Dairy, and the manufacturers of Carnation flour and Mrs. Tucker's shortening.

Food prepared by Miss van der Maaten in the classes will be served to the women present, and gifts will be awarded for attendance.

The aim of the school is to familiarize women with use of up-to-the-minute kitchen equipment and show the advantages of scientifically designed machinery for food preparation.
