Republican Choice for Kansas Governor Is Reed

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 8.—(P)—Rolling up an increasing advantage with each new tabulation of returns, Clyde M. Reed of Parsons today appeared to have safely clinched the Republican nomination for governor in yesterday's Kansas primary.

On the face of reports from more than half of the precincts in the state, the Parsons publisher, who had the backing of farm organizations, held a lead of 14,286 votes over his nearest rival, John Hamilton of Topeka, speaker of the House of Representatives.

Returns from 1,412 precincts out of 2,639 in the state gave: Reed 47,321; Hamilton 33,035. Race is close.

The Democratic gubernatorial race continued to be a neck and neck affair between Ed T. Hackney of Wellington and Chauncey B. Little, Olathe former congressman. On returns from 768 precincts Hackney had a total of 5,324 votes to 5,769 for Little.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 8.—(P)—Charles M. Hay, Missouri dry leader and bitter opponent of Senator James A. Reed, was apparently nominated today as Democratic candidate for United States senator, as more than half the precincts had reported in the Missouri primary.

Hay had a lead of 12,125 votes over James A. Collet, a wet, whose candidacy was sponsored by Senator Reed who is retiring from the senate after 18 years of service. The apparent defeat of Collet, however, was not regarded as a real test of Senator Reed's strength as Collet had entered politics only recently.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 8.—(P)—For Republican United States senator returns from 2,534 precincts out of 4,140 in Missouri, including 490 in St. Louis and 395 in Jackson county, give: Procter 62,408; Adkerson 11,105; Patterson 75,665; Bundschu 15,553; Frank 86,397; Boye 6,938.

For Republican governor, returns from 2,534 precincts out of 4,140 in Missouri, including 490 in St. Louis and 395 in Jackson county give: Hodgdon 18,708; Caulfield 119,215; Wielandy 29,072; Bennett 75,129; Schneider 24,320.

Sooner Incumbents Win OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 8.—Returns from yesterday's Oklahoma primary election, straying in early today, served to allay fears of virtually all incumbents seeking renomination for Congress and the few major state offices to be voted upon this year.

VERDICT FROM ASSAULT CASE EXPECTED TODAY

COMANCHE, Aug. 8.—(P)—A verdict before sundown today is expected in the case of Dick Hazard, 23, farmer, on trial in district court here charged with criminal assault upon Velma Bankhead, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bankhead, who reside at DeLeon.

The case was to go to the jury about noon.

Immediately after the trial, the State will try Herley Holland, 22, and J. D. Pierce, 23, upon a similar charge upon Miss Bankhead.

The girl, of dark complexion and wearing spectacles, yesterday graphically described the alleged attack upon her. She declared that on the night of July 21 she went automobile riding with the three men and the Gammage girl. She declared that at a certain point on the highway the men stopped the automobile and dragged her out to a nearby sand bar, where one held her while the other two assaulted her.

Her mother and the girl identified the three as the men who were in the automobile with the girl. Other witnesses identified the trio as the state attempted to establish a conspiracy to kidnap her.

Submarine Crew Died at Posts—No Sign of Panic

ROME, Aug. 8.—(P)—Poisoned by acid fumes or drowned in the first rush of water, the crew of the Italian submarine F-14, sunk in a collision early Monday morning in the upper Adriatic, died to a man at their posts.

The submarine was raised to the surface last night after thirty-four hours of desperate labor by divers who worked hour after hour to attach an air pipe to the sunken vessel and to fasten steel cables in order that she might be lifted to the surface.

Twenty-seven men perished in the tragedy. First reports received by the naval authorities indicated that there were 31 men aboard but a check of the bodies today revealed that four of the bodies had remained ashore for reasons which have not yet been ascertained. Included among the victims were two officers.

Captain Weil and Commander Fresul were both at their posts of command in the conning tower while the remaining members of the crew were all found dead at their normal stations. There were no visible signs of panic aboard the boat and the crew evidently had hoped till the last that they would be saved, only to succumb one by one to the fumes from their electric battery room.

Pageant Will Be Presented Tonight for Organ Fund

Another home talent performance will be given here tonight when a Merchants' pageant will be presented at the Rex theatre under the auspices of the pipe organ committee of the Methodist church.

More than one hundred persons will take part in the pageant to increase the pipe organ fund. Leading business houses of the city will be represented on the stage by young ladies dressed in appropriate costumes. There will be special music and acts and fun of all kinds. The performance will be repeated tomorrow evening also.

Criminal Attack Follows Brutal Murder

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(P)—The body of Miss Jennie Constance, 42, head of the English department of Bradley polytechnical institute at Peoria, Ill., was found on the front lawn of an Evanston residence this morning. She had been beaten to death and attacked.

A blood stained piece of iron pipe was found near where the body lay behind a hedge in front of the home in which she had been rooming for the summer. Stains along the sidewalk indicated she had been struck as she walked in front of the house. Her clothes were nearly torn from her body.

Members of her family, with whom Miss Constance lived, had reported she was missing after midnight, when it was discovered she had not returned from a visit to Northwestern university library.

Miss Constance had been preparing for a degree of doctor of philosophy. The body, with the skull crushed by a blow from the pipe, was found by a milk man whose lantern lit the shadows under the hedge about 5 o'clock this morning. Police believed death was instantaneous, and that the assailant had then dragged his victim into the yard and attacked her.

Democratic Loss Great In Death of George E. Brennan of Illinois

Political Sagacity Valued Since Days of Roger Sullivan and Even Before

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(P)—George E. Brennan, Democratic national committeeman and master mind of Illinois Democracy since the passing of Roger Sullivan, died today.

The death of the veteran Democratic chief came at 8:10 o'clock this morning, following a coma of several days. Mr. Brennan was stricken ill more than a week ago with a tooth infection. Septic poisoning developed after an operation for the removal of two teeth. His physicians, however, gave him an even chance to recover until Monday night, when his kidneys ceased to function.

Mr. Brennan was one of the staunchest supporters of Gov. Al E. Smith for the presidency, both in 1924, when he first sought the presidential nomination, and again this year at Houston, when the New York governor was chosen to head the party's national ticket. It was Brennan's suggestion that Franklin D. Roosevelt, ever opposed to Tammany Hall, be selected to nominate Smith at the national convention.

Brennan, too, was given credit for the first realization of the value of night sessions at Houston, creating the possibilities of radio broadcasting. Several weeks ago the Illinois chief paid a visit to Governor Smith in New York.

Long a bulwark of Illinois Democracy and for eight years its guiding hand, his passing on the eve of another presidential campaign was regarded as almost irreparable loss by his party associates.

His political sagacity was legend even while Sullivan was at the helm, and as head of the Illinois organization he was welcomed to the ranks of party factors by such strategists as Tom Tiggard of Indiana and the leaders of Tammany Hall.

But for loss of a leg in an Illinois coal mine when he was 13, Brennan might have been unknown to politics. His mishap sent him to school where he prepared himself as a teacher, and when he came to Chicago shortly before 1900 he was on his way to political eminence. He built up an insurance business which was one of the largest in Chicago.

Not until he passed his sixtieth birthday did Brennan first seek elective office, and then only because he found no outstanding Democrat to run for the United States senate on a platform advocating banishment of prohibition.

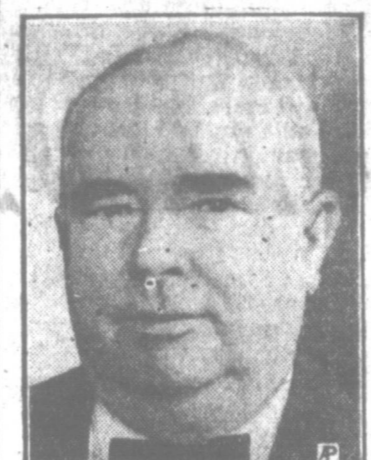

He lost, but ran so well in Chicago that he carried a democratic county ticket to victory which counted heavily for the party.

His first spurs in the field of national politics were won when he helped to engineer the nomination of James M. Cox for president at the national democratic convention of 1920. He was in the vanguard of the supporters of Gov. Smith of New York for the 1924 nomination, and was spokesman for the Smith camp when the deadlock with McAdoo was finally broken in favor of John W. Davis.

When critics called him a boss and charged him with bargains with republican factions of Chicago, Brennan pointed with pride to his maneuvering of William E. Dever's election to the mayoralty of Chicago in 1923 to succeed William Hale Thompson.

Although a native of New York, he was born at Fort Bryon on May 28, 1865, he has lived in Illinois almost from childhood. He was married and had one daughter, Mary.

Dead Leader

His passing on the eve of another presidential campaign was regarded as almost irreparable loss by his party associates.

MASS MEETING ON FAIR IS CALLED FOR FRIDAY EVENING

To talk up the Pampa fair, explain the plans, and launch a drive to interest as many people as possible in this territory, a mass meeting of local people was called last night by Chamber of Commerce directors.

The mass meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium Friday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock. At the same time, it is likely that the highway routing and paving question will be brought up and the situation discussed.

Last night the directors discussed at length the evident intention of the highway department to ignore the present routing north out of Pampa to Miami, and to lay out a new route south of the Santa Fe railroad. It appears the intention of W. A. French, division engineer of Amarillo, to place the road on a route which will eliminate Miami, and possibly, carry the paving south of Pampa in much the same manner as was done at Panhandle. Vigorous opposition to this idea was expressed here last night.

It was pointed out that the present routing would carry the paying toward the Great Plains highway on the north, which will be brought through here later by the construction of a bridge across the Canadian river.

F. P. Reid, W. A. Taylor, and George Briggs told of visits to talk the situation over with highway officials. Arrangements were made to have a delegation of citizens of Pampa and Miami meet Engineer French here tomorrow to inspect the proposed routes and discuss proposals relating to them.

The directors endorsed the Pampa School of Commerce being developed by Walter Ardie. They also endorsed the stock sale proposal of the Pampa Refining company, and went on record as appreciating the construction and operation of this industry.

Among those attending the session on the fair and roads were George Briggs, J. H. Lavender, W. A. Taylor, Ivy E. Duncan, Chas. H. Sharp, T. M. Wolfe, Lynn Boyd, T. F. Smalling, Olin E. Hinkle, Scott Barcus, and Roy McMillan.

Bandit Now Well Known To Officials

Armored Car Hold-Up in St. Paul Nets $20,000

Enid, Okla., Aug. 8.—(P)—For the third time within the last six weeks, the Bank of Breckenridge at Breckenridge, near here, was robbed today.

Two men appeared at the bank after it was opened at 9 o'clock and forced F. H. Fralle, president and his son, Walter E. Fralle, cashier, to lie face down on the floor while they scooped up loot estimated at from $400 to $450. The men then rushed to a parked automobile and escaped.

F. H. Fralle said one of the robbers was the same man who twice within the last month and a half had robbed the bank single handed.

Fralle and his son, after the two previous robberies of the bank, had taken shot guns to the building, and when the robbers started to leave, they rushed to the front of the building in time to see the men rounding a street corner. The elder Fralle fired at the fleeing men, but said he did not know whether he struck them.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 8.—(P)—Four bandits in two automobiles held up an armored money car here early today, hurled gas bombs into the interior, disabling the guards and escaped with $20,000.

The holdup occurred about a mile from the city limits where the armored car, operated by a private detective agency, was carrying payrolls for the Swift and Armour packing plants.

Six men in the armored car, including the driver, were temporarily overcome by gas bombs which the bandits inched into the machine through the loopholes after forcing the money car to the curb.

Under the menace of the bandit guns, occupants of the armored car were forced to open doors, and the bandits seized the money bags and fled in their own automobiles.

Smith Likely to Debate Pastor of New York Soon

(By The Associated Press) ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 8.—(P)—Governor Smith has thrown down the gauntlet to critics of his public record, and has embraced in his challenge those who speak from the pulpit.

Singing out to bear the brunt of his counter offensive, Dr. John Roach Straton, a Baptist minister of New York, the Democratic presidential nominee has called on his to repeat, in his presence and in Straton's church, a statement the clergyman made last Sunday to his congregation that as a public man Smith is the "deadliest foe in America today of the forces of moral progress and true political wisdom." The governor requested full opportunity to reply.

Dr. Straton announced last night he would accept the challenge, so today it appeared that debate between a presidential nominee and a minister of the gospel in a house of worship—something new in political campaigns—might be in the offing.

TWINKLES

Many people who have stopped to think have been bumped off at street intersections.

And some who never think will be stopped by the new speed cop and told to think.

Self preservation is still nature's primary law, but modern contrivances and dangers do not give it much time to operate.

Oklahoma maintains it is all right to have a female boss—quite natural, in fact—unless you happen to be governor.

Considering that the brides of today wear either knickers or a ton of costly materials, what is there to blush about? "Quiet" weddings are so common that, if we were a society editor, we wouldn't mention it.

What we wish to know is, are there any moral victories in our defeat at Amsterdam?

What our coaches said when they saw the heels of the foreigners in front of our boys is alleged to have rimmed with the name of the city there.

It is a strange paradox that wouldn't expect a rich man to write a word on coins.

Contribution to Crime

Nearly every community gives to society a few criminals of greater or less danger to the welfare of the country. It is inevitable that there should be instances of maladjustment, yet nearly every criminal case would have been prevented, or at least modified by special attention to the youth.

The small schools, in the average community, are forces for prevention of criminality. The larger schools, with less individual contact with pupils are not the influences they are sometimes given credit for being. It is being seriously debated that moral training, in the sense of impressing upon students principles and ideals of social conduct, should not be given a larger place in the curriculum.

Education is necessary for those who are in charge of curbing crime. Use of inexperienced policemen as juvenile officers is deplorable, and even more regrettable is the rather prevalent assigning of men to cases of female delinquency.

Criminal careers begin in adolescence. The individual communities must watch their youths. Every child should be in school next September.

History in Trees

The fame of Flushing community, on Long Island, has spread to the ends of the country.

A city may be famed for many things—commercial, industrial, musical, scenic, or historical attributes. Flushing draws her fame from her trees.

From the days when the Huguenot immigrants broke the soil to plant young fruit trees brought with them from France in the middle of the nineteenth century, there has been emphasis upon tree culture in this town. Historians like to point out how the world of events has left its mark upon the trees, dignifying them with significance which even in Colonial times resulted in their protection by armed guard.

Tree culture is a civic science. Tree surgery is a scientific triumph. It is remarkable what a skilled workman with sharp tools, steel rods, pitch, and cement can do to a decayed or damaged tree body.

The Panhandle of Texas is famed for its lack of trees, yet the soil is good for their culture and water is the only requirement. The borers have killed off most of the formerly popular locusts, making it necessary to re-plant many streets that once were graced by rows of green Pampa.

Oklahoma maintains it is all right to have a female boss—quite natural, in fact—unless you happen to be governor.

Considering that the brides of today wear either knickers or a ton of costly materials, what is there to blush about? "Quiet" weddings are so common that, if we were a society editor, we wouldn't mention it.

What we wish to know is, are there any moral victories in our defeat at Amsterdam?

What our coaches said when they saw the heels of the foreigners in front of our boys is alleged to have rimmed with the name of the city there.

It is a strange paradox that wouldn't expect a rich man to write a word on coins.

Contribution to Crime

Nearly every community gives to society a few criminals of greater or less danger to the welfare of the country. It is inevitable that there should be instances of maladjustment, yet nearly every criminal case would have been prevented, or at least modified by special attention to the youth.

The small schools, in the average community, are forces for prevention of criminality. The larger schools, with less individual contact with pupils are not the influences they are sometimes given credit for being. It is being seriously debated that moral training, in the sense of impressing upon students principles and ideals of social conduct, should not be given a larger place in the curriculum.

Education is necessary for those who are in charge of curbing crime. Use of inexperienced policemen as juvenile officers is deplorable, and even more regrettable is the rather prevalent assigning of men to cases of female delinquency.

Criminal careers begin in adolescence. The individual communities must watch their youths. Every child should be in school next September.

History in Trees

The fame of Flushing community, on Long Island, has

after Obregon's death did not arise spontaneously. The assassin's bullet merely gave them a chance to attack the Laboristas, led by Morones, in a more effective way than they had been able to do in the previous six years.

Part of their bitterness was caused by the fact that they believed Morones and his two score affiliated leaders, known as the Group of Action, had used the Labor movement both politically and industrially to their own enrichment. The Agrarians had thrown in their lot with Obregon and the Obregonista Revolutionary party saw in his election a chance for fuller recognition and added power.

Labor has cut a much larger political figure in Mexico than the Agrarian party. The Laboristas have been far more thorough integrated. Living and working together in the larger cities it was much easier to organize them than to organize the millions of agriculturalists over Mexico who never come into close contact with many of their fellows.

The indignation of Soto y Gama and Manrique was not directed against the rank and file of workers. But their bitterness was increased by the attempts of Morones and his lieutenants to get the agricultural workers into the Labor movement—with a certain slight success.

Agrarian leaders complain that the interests of their people have been much neglected as compared with what has been done in the interest of the industrial workers.

Thus, one observes in Mexico another episode of the old feud between the town and country which has developed in nearly every nation.

Since 1922, this feud has gradually grown more bitter in Mexico, in spite of the fact that Calles has never been charged with law enforcement of the new land program—there have been more lands distributed in his administration than in Obregon's. But Calles recognized the Laboristas politically in a thorough-going way, putting the head of the Labor movement into his cabinet in the powerful post of Department of Labor and Industry.

Twenty-five people were robbed in a New York restaurant. The fact that it was by four bandits makes it news.

Although sentenced to die in the electric chair at Atlanta, Ga., for participation in a hold-up in which the victim was killed, Mrs. Eula Elrod Thompson seems little concerned about her fate. Paving Petition on Francis Street Presented Monday

Petitions to pave Francis avenue, from the intersection of Ballard street to the east end of the street, were received by the city commission Monday night at its regular meeting. No action was taken on the petition, as others are on hand and more will be received. A special contract would have to be let before the additional streets could be paved, so action was deferred until a later date. Sewer extensions will be built into the more thickly populated portions of the Finley-Banks and Lavender additions. It was decided there will be 3,100 feet of 6-inch line and 3,000 feet of 10-inch line laid. LOVE FOR TWO RUTH DEWEY GROVES 1928 By NEA Service Inc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED... BERTIE LOU WARD marries ROD BLYER, who had previously been engaged to LILA MARSH. The letter announces herself by telling her friends that she was Rod's first love, and continues to make life miserable for the bride and her mother. LILA MARSH, who is a rich girl, and she conspires with the bride to keep up socially with wealthy friends, places the blame for her misfortune on Rod. She is called home to her sick mother, and has to catch a train without seeing Rod. The separation, added to Lila's plotting, causes a coldness to spring up between them. Bertie Lou returns on the eve of their first anniversary to find that apparently indifferent Rod expects the other to make advances. Rod goes to the Lores without her, and Bertie Lou goes out with MARCO PALMER to relatives. Coming home, Marco kisses her unexpectedly at the door and Rod sees it. He offers Bertie Lou a divorce, and she agrees to the same offer to him. They finally agree to make a go of it, but Rod cuts down on extravagance and Bertie Lou thinks he is spending the money on Lila, and she goes out more and more with Marco. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXII BERTIE LOU had left her room door open. On the bed was the half-filled suitcase into which she was throwing silken garments and toilet articles indiscriminately. Rod was struck by her hasty carelessness. Bertie Lou had always been fastidiously neat. Now he saw with surprise that her room was disordered and untidy. He could not understand it. The rest of the apartment was as clean and orderly as ever. Bertie Lou could have told him of aching weariness and tired flesh that rebelled under the lash of a prideful spirit; of mopping up floors at odd hours, while her head ached splittingly and her fingers trembled over the mop rag. She could have told him of a complete lack of strength to carry her industry into her own room. The first time she failed to move the bed and sweep under it she felt guilty. Next it was the dresser that was left undisturbed. Presently only the places that showed were swept and dusted. And, finally, any hour of the day or night would have found the foot of the bed and the two chairs decorated with a garment or two. Bertie Lou used her room almost exclusively for changing her clothes. Now and then she snatched a few fitful hours of sleep—just barely enough to keep her going. Her splendid young constitution carried her through, though anyone who loved her would have been pained to see the hollow cheeks and the feverish restlessness of her eyes. They seemed fairly to glitter. She looked up and saw Rod's gaze bent questioningly upon her. "Hello," she said, and negligently tossed a pair of painted slippers into a suitcase. "You're home early." Rod indicated her packing with a gesture. "Planning another trip home?" he asked, striving to speak casually. Bertie Lou rolled up a necktie and threw it on top of the slippers before answering. "Nope; just a little squall out at the Palmer place," she said jauntily. "Got anything interesting on for your own week-end?" she added conversationally. "The Lores have asked me up to the Birches." Rod replied stiffly. Bertie Lou glanced over her shoulder. "Going?" she asked indifferently. "I haven't decided," Rod answered. "You don't happen to know if the tailor returned my dress suit, do you?" "I hung it in your closet," Bertie Lou said pleasantly. "Would you like a gardenia? I've some beautiful. They're in the refrigerator-keeping fresh." "Thanks," Rod returned, and went about his dressing. WHEN Bertie Lou left she placed a lovely white bloom on the stand in the tiny entrance hall. Rod was putting on his collar and tie in the bathroom—the only dressing room he had. On the flower Bertie Lou had laid a kiss as lightly as a butterfly might rest on the waxy petals, but far more lingeringly. Rod overlooked the flower. His own departure was made in haste. Of all the infernal places to lose a collar button, under a bathtub on legs was the worst! He'd very nearly called to Bertie Lou to help him dig it out. But she was dressed too. Down he went on his hands and knees and got dirt on his cuff reaching under the tub. That necessitated a change. And Lila, he knew, would not be pleased if he were late. She was fixing a dinner to an important man, a foreign banker whom Cyrus was desirous of honoring. Rod barely arrived ahead of the guest of honor. Lila was inclined to be peevish because he hadn't come early, but she had little chance to scold. And Rod's frank admiration appeared her. Lila had done her best. Her hair was bound with a jeweled tiara, and she was in such a way as to make her bob look like a stately coiffeur. And her complexion was perfectly dazzling. She had used a lavender powder which turned her skin to a marvelous tone under the artificial light. Her full, round lips budded like a scarlet flower beneath the stars in her eyes. Stars that were lighted for Rod. Cyrus had presented her with some new jewels. But Rod noticed that she was wearing the copies of those that had been stolen, as well. A superb sapphire and diamond ornament hung on a slender chain around her neck and rested on the blue-veined whiteness of her breast. Having decided that a man of the world such as Cyrus described Monsieur Clavier to be would appreciate an original French gown, Lila had bought the lowest cut one she could find. Unfortunately, while Monsieur recognized it as French, he smiled inwardly at the naivete of the American woman of good society who buys dresses designed for the French demi-monde. But he allowed no hint of his amusement to show in his manner. Lila accepted with delight his kiss upon her hand, glancing at Rod over Monsieur's bowed head to call his attention to the Frenchman's courtly manner. She hoped Rod would see that she liked it. He did, and scowled. However, Lila made him happy very shortly. She must go in to dinner with Monsieur Clavier but she put Rod on her other side. And she graciously gave him as much attention as her guest of honor received. It was not kindness that prompted her to do this. She really did not know that if another man had sat in the seat she gave him he'd have burned with jealousy, and that it was exquisite torture to him to be near her. SHE wanted him close to please herself. Though at times she fairly hated him because he wouldn't see, or admit that he saw—she did not know which way it was—that she was inviting him to make love to her. He was offering more resistance than she had expected. At times she told herself that he could not be won. But she would not give up. Bringing Rod to her feet had become an obsession. She had developed a rancorous hatred of Bertie Lou—a hatred that drove her on. To let Rod go without his having declared his passion would be to hand the victor's crown to a girl who despised her. That Bertie Lou did despise her she knew by the way Rod was permitted to go his own way without interference. It was as though Bertie Lou had said to her: "If he wants you I don't want him; but let's see you get him." It would have salved her pride considerably if Rod had told her how hard he tried to keep away from her; how many times he swore never to see her again, but how he was always fured back to feast his eyes on her dazzling beauty, staking his honor on his power to resist his desire for her, to keep himself in hand and bear his longing in silence. But tonight, he realized, with sudden understanding of his own limitations, it was going to be harder than ever to keep from showing his true feelings. Lila was a bright light, a warm light, and Rod felt himself succumbing to a mothlike weakness. Outside of her radiance life was a void. Lila detected a change in him when she turned quickly from an animated conversation with Monsieur Clavier and caught Rod's gaze unmasked. She lifted a glass of wine and smiled at him over it. Rod politely lifted his own glass but his hand trembled so that a few drops of champagne were spilled. He did not smile back at Lila, because he had seen complete understanding of his emotions in her expression. Looks are often more revealing than words. Rod read submission in the look Lila gave him over her glass. He knew that everything he

Raskob Attacks Methodist Critic

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(AP)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has made a charge of bigotry against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Asked by newspaper interviewers to comment on a statement made by the bishop in Richmond, Va., Mr. Raskob said:

"It seems to me that Bishop Cannon tore off the mask and proved that his attack upon Governor Smith's stand on the prohibition question was just a cloak for religious bigotry."

Bishop Cannon, in his statement, had taken Mr. Raskob to task for announcing that certain important Methodists in the South had served notice upon the church they would withdraw their support unless its preachers ceased to oppose Governor Smith.

FORMER PASTOR ARGUES OWN TRIAL DEFENSE

PRESCOTT, Ariz., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Rev. Arthur Blaine Brooks former pastor of the First Christian church of Ponca City, Okla., being tried for alleged violations of the Mann act in connection with motor journeys with his former secretary, Mrs. Velma Voorhees, late yesterday abruptly closed his defense, being conducted by himself as attorney.

The defendant sought to elicit from Miss Voorhees the admission that she had tempted him, that she, and not he had been the instigator of the motor trips.

Government counsel drew from the girl the story that she believed the minister's word on matters of conduct was law.

C. F. Jones, secretary of the Panhandle Building and Loan company, was among the Amarillo people who attended to business in Pampa yesterday.

ONE MAN TRAPPED BY FOREST FIRE KILLED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Fires that have consumed thousands of acres of brush and grass on the Pacific coast also have taken one life. Floyd Derrick, 35, of Fossil, Oregon, died of burns received when he was trapped in a gully fighting fire near Clarkston, Wash., that threatened wheat fields.

Strong variable winds forced 300 firefighters to renew efforts today in battling the blazes that have burned over 8,500 acres of grass and brush in the Sequoia National park near Three Rivers, California.

Water Athletes of U. S. Strong-Boxers Meeting Trouble

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 8.—(P)—The waters of Holland seem to have a good effect on American athletes. Where the Americans who competed on dry land in the Olympic track and field events produced almost as many disappointments to their followers as they did victories, the swimmers and canoers from the United States are riding the crest of the wave.

California's great eight-oared crew which swept the Hudson in the inter-collegiate regatta and the Schullykil in the Olympic tryouts, is doing the same for the Eloten canal. The Golden Bears now have three Olympic victories to their credit, after defeating Italy by four lengths yesterday. Today they meet Canada in the semi-final, and if successful will row against Great Britain for the Olympic crown.

Ken Myers, the Philadelphia railroad fireman who represents the United States in the single sculls, also reached the semi-finals of his event yesterday by finishing two lengths ahead of Candevau of Switzerland.

In the water as well as on its surface, American athletes are among the leaders. Heading the honor list is George Kojac, backstroke star of the New York Boys' club, who swam to the fore yesterday by setting a new world's record in swimming his heat in the 100-meter backstroke. Walter Lauffer of Chicago also won his heat in that event, while three American entries, Clarence Crabbe, Austin Clapp, and Ray Ruddy, qualified for the semi-finals of the 400-meter free style. American swimmers made as fine a showing in this event as in the ones that preceded it. Only Ruddy failed to lead in his heat and he finished second to Arne Borg, Swedish star who is displaying almost unbeatable speed.

The only disappointment for the United States in swimming came in the 200-meter breaststroke where Blankenburg of Oakland, Cal., America's only entry, was eliminated in the semi-finals.

The American boxers started to follow the trail blazed by the track men, not only in failing to come through with all the expected victories but in putting up similar squawks after their losses.

Only two of the five Americans who fought their first round bouts yesterday turned in victories, while a threat to withdraw the entire American team came as a result of one of an adverse decision. Jacob W. Stumpf, manager of the boxing team, evidently agreed with the noisily expressed opinion of the spectators that Hyman Miller American flyweight, had all the better of the argument with Marcel Santos of Belgium. The crowd hissed the judges who gave the decision to the Belgian, and Stumpf announced he would hold a conference with General Douglas MacArthur, president of the American Olympic committee, on advisability of removing the American team from further competition.

In addition to Miller's defeat, Tommy Town, welterweight, who was given the honor of captaining the American team, went down in surprising defeat before Paul Dandini of Argentina on a close decision and Leon Lucas, light heavy lost to the German, Ernst Pistulla. The American victories were scored by Steve Holako, lightweight, who won by a foul from Tommy Potoch of Czechoslovakia, and John Daley, bantam who took the decision from Bjerkje of Norway.

Olympic Dope

Today's program: Rowing—semi-finals, swimming, boxing, fencing, water polo, yachting, gymnastics.

Yesterday's features: George Kojac set new world's record of 1:09 4-5 for 100-meters backstroke swimming in winning heat. Walter Lauffer also won preliminary heat.

Tom Blankenburg, only American entry in 200-meter breaststroke, eliminated in semi-final heat.

Clarence Crabbe and Austin Clapp won heats in 400-meter free style. Ray Ruddy also qualified for semi-finals by finishing second to Arne Borg.

Agnes Garaghty, and Faintz, and Gertrude Hoffman reached semi-final in women's 200-meter breaststroke.

California crew defeated Italy in eight-oared rowing to reach semi-finals. Ken Myers reached semi-finals in single sculls.

First American place in fencing scored by Lieut. George C. Calan, who took third in Epee. Event won by Gaston of France. Allen B. Miller, other American, eliminated in semi-finals.

Stephen Holake, lightweight, and John Daley, bantam, won first round boxing bouts. Tommy Town, American captain, Leon Lucas, light heavyweight, and Hyman Miller, flyweight, eliminated.

Oil Field Worker Looms As Prospect For Tunney's Title

Heading the rush of unknowns for recognition as championship contender is "Babe" Hunt, 20-year-old Oklahoma oil-field worker. Babe, six foot four and just short of 200 pounds, has flattened 18 to 29 opponents in his brief career. He has lost but one fight and that by a newspaper decision.

By VERNON B. SNELL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (P)—From the fertile athletic fields of Oklahoma, which have produced such fistic celebrities as Jess Willard and Carl Morris, comes another aspirant for world heavyweight honors. He is "Babe" Hunt, young oil field worker.

Hunt, just 20, has registered 18 knockouts in 29 ring bouts. He has fought eight of his toughest opponents. He started this drive by stopping "Foot" Burger, once known as the Kansas "Knockout King", in three rounds. He next beat Mike Arnold of Denver in ten rounds; lost a newspaper decision, his only reversal, to Angus Snyder of Canada, and then knocked out "Buster" Martin, southwestern champion, in five rounds. Neil Carpenter of Denver lasted six rounds, going to the floor for the first time in 63 fights. "Tiny" Rosebuck, the Indian giant of football fame at Haskell Institute, was Hunt's next victim. Although outweighed 58 pounds, "Babe" sent the big Indian down for the count in the second round.

Hunt decisively outpointed Joe Lohman of Toledo in ten rounds and then handed the same kind of a lacing to Sully Montgomery before going to the hospital.

Jess Willard, although proclaimed as a Kansan, was found in Oklahoma. He was living at Elk City, not far from the place where Hunt was discovered, when he became a "white hope" for wresting the crown from Jack Johnson.

Delbert Marsh arrived this week from Los Angeles, Calif., to join his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Marsh.

Hunt only recently left a hospital where surgeons removed a growth from his spine. He is recuperating in the Ozark hills of Arkansas. He plans to reenter the ring in September, determined to qualify for the coming elimination bouts preliminary to a fight for Tunney's vacated title.

Hunt was discovered as a day laborer in the oil fields near Ponca City. He was 20 years old June 1. He stands 6 feet 4 inches and weighs 190 pounds. He hopes to be

Tilden in Action Against Lacoste

The Bill Tilden of old, who staged a brilliant victory over René Lacoste after his reinstatement to the American Davis Cup team, is pictured here. Note the peculiar position of the lanky American's arms as he completes his swing after a flashy return to his opponent. Tilden triumphed over Lacoste after five furious sets, but later was defeated by the Frenchman's team mate, Henri Cochet.

Spudders Gain Top Notch With Buffs Tuesday

By The Associated Press
The mighty hitting Wichita Falls Spudders, struggling for weeks to oust Houston from the top place in Texas League, got on equal footing with Buffs yesterday.

Swenson potted a hit to score Elred, beat the Santone Bears, 5 to 2, and forced Houston to allow the Spudders half of the high notch.

Fighting to break a long losing record, Dallas gleefully piled up 10 runs in the first three innings, beating Beaumont.

Waco handed a second shut-out—7 to 0—to Fort Worth, Elliott keeping his home plate untouched by those Cats, who left it for a fruitless trip to first.

Houston's loss which helped boost the Spudders to a vantage point beside it, was dealt by Shreveport. The Sports got 14 hits for five runs against three for the Buffs.

Pittsburgh Will Bear Watching by Ambitious Clubs

By HERBERT W. BARKER
If they're wise, first division clubs in the National league will keep a wary eye on Pittsburgh.

Bush's Corsairs languished in sixth place for so long they were counted out as a factor the leaders would have to worry about.

But the last month has changed the situation. On July 7 the 1927 champions were locked deep in sixth place. Then Burleigh Grimes, who had carried the complete burden of pitching winning ball for Bush, began to get some assistance from his mates. The result was that in the month from July 7 to August 7 inclusive, the Corsairs won 22 games and lost only 7.

Beating Brooklyn, 4 to 3 and 3 to 2, in 12 innings, the Pirates ran their latest winning streak to six in a row. Grimes registered his 20th victory in the opener.

New York Giants cut a full game from St. Louis' lead by trouncing the leaders, 10 to 1.

The Phils again trimmed the Cubs, 4 to 2, behind the effective pitching of Willoughby. It was the Cubs' third straight defeat at the hands of the cellar dwellers.

The New York Yankees gained back a game of their lead in the American league by trimming Chicago, 6 to 3 while Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics were bowing to Detroit, 4 to 1.

Two home runs by Blue enabled St. Louis to make it three out of four from the Red Sox, 6 to 5.

Sam Jones kept Cleveland in subjection and Washington whitewashed the Indians, 8 to 0.

William Jones of the Kraft's Mint store of Shamrock is with the local store this week, to assist in the redecoration of the building.

The Rev. Tom Brabham, pastor of the First Methodist church, is conducting an evangelistic meeting in Wheeler this week.

Tunney Marriage Rumored, Denied

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(P)—Bewildered by a tangled mass of contradictory reports, sportdom figuratively scratched its head today and wondered if contemplated matrimony was the real reason for Gene Tunney's abdication as heavyweight champion of the world.

Reports that Tunney soon was to be married to Miss Mary Josephine Rowland Lauder, of Greenwich, Conn., daughter of the late George Lauder, former associate of Andrew Carnegie, came as a surprise to the sport world yesterday. Efforts to obtain denial or confirmation of the rumor from the principals themselves were fruitless.

Miss Lauder and her mother, who are on an auto tour of Maine and Canada, were stopping on the island of South Bristol, Me., last night. Tunney arrived at Bristol during the day and was reported to be visiting the Lauders.

Relatives and friends of Miss Lauder, however, quickly denied published reports that Tunney and Miss Lauder would be married next month either in Scotland or France.

Vero Beach, Stuart, and other towns in the storm area were cut off from communication.

Wires Go Down Wire communication to West Palm Beach and Miami was interrupted last night when the hurricane, which yesterday was apparently sixty miles of Palm Beach, resumed its journey landward in a northwesterly direction.

FOOTBALL MEN ASKED TO MEET

Coach Mitchell to Tell Plans for Coming Season

Every prospective Harvester in Pampa is asked to attend a meeting on the evening of Thursday, August 15, at the Central high school building to discuss plans for the approaching football season.

Coach Odus Mitchell, who will be in charge of the season, will announce a date for the issuance of the new football equipment, and will tell of the coming training camp at Craterville, Okla. Supt. R. C. Campbell will speak and make some announcements. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

This year it has been decided to change the color of football jerseys from green to gold. Coach Mitchell points out that a football is too conspicuous against green, while gold blends well with the leather.

Green jerseys will be worn by the second team, however, which will have a coach and for which games will be matched weekly. Coach Mitchell is anxious to foster football brains among the younger boys, from whose ranks the later first string teams must be drawn.

A score or more of first-string prospects will leave here August 20 for Craterville Park, where they will train until September 1.
