ROXANA MAN IS STABBED TO DEATH

Carnival Regulation Is Provided for in Two New City Ordinances

CITY TAX IS IMPOSED UPON RIDING DEVICE

Concession Operators to Pay $7.50 Before Starting

LOTTERIES WILL BE PROHIBITED

Emergency Clause Attached to Each Document

Control of transient carnival devices other than by closing them has been made possible by two ordinances passed in a recess session of the city commission Tuesday night, and carnival concessions of other types also are affected.

One ordinance creates a city tax on flying jennies, ferris wheels, and any and all riding devices of that character, with or without name, used for profit; providing for the manner of paying the same; providing a penalty for violating this ordinance, and declaring an emergency.

Operation of these devices under the new ordinance will be through permits issued by the city secretary on payment of $7.50 for each device. Those who break the ordinary will be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a $50 fine.

The other ordinance prohibits the operation of numbered wheels, doll racks, mechanical contrivances, or games or contrivances of any sort and description where prizes of any kind are given and such prizes are not given to all alike who pay for participating therein.

Each day or part of a day of operation shall constitute a separate misdemeanor offense.

The ordinances will go into effect tomorrow.

Sheriff Pours Out 1,300 Gallons of Bootleg Liquor

Officers of the Sheriff's department Tuesday afternoon performed a solemn duty. Leaving the former office of the county, a truck was seen to slowly and carefully, even reverently, proceed north on Cuyler street, then east on Browning avenue several blocks, before turning north again. The truck body was carefully covered with a large tarpaulin.

Upon arriving at the dump grounds the sheriff, assisted by his deputies, removed the covering from the truck and disclosed to the view of invited guests, and curious followers, 1,300 gallons of corn whiskey, which was promptly poured out before the eyes of these assembled.

The whiskey was the result of continued raids by the officers in an effort to abolish bootlegging operations in the city.

"We have considerable more whiskey and quantities of beer yet to be destroyed," the sheriff told a News reporter who attended the above ceremony.

PIANA MARATHON

AUSTIN, July 5.—Bud Reynolds of Columbus, Ohio, tomorrow will begin a attempt to play a piano here continuously for 55 hours, he announced today.

Reynolds claims he holds the world's record for such performances.

Job Printing

Place your job printing orders with a Pampa firm. The more job printing done in Pampa, the more labor will be employed in this city. The Pampa Daily News has a force of artists printers. Telephone No. 100 and ask for an estimator to call at your office or come to our year printing requirements.

In Dry Fight

When hot words were passed and Senator Tydings of Maryland made a plea for Bishop Cannon during the prohibition fight before the platform committee at Houston, Senator Cannon's side—but cooler heads stopped the row.

NEW OFFICIAL NOW ON DUTY

Dr. T. J. Worrell Asks Cooperation of Public

Dr. T. J. Worrell of Memphis, experienced veterinarian and public health official, is at work now for the City of Pampa.

He began Monday a series of inspections, and reports pleasing cooperation from those interviewed. Dr. Worrell will be in charge of enforcing the stringent milk and dairy ordinance passed some time ago.

The new officers his assistance where is may be of value.

Rescue Vessel Is Fifty Miles From the Italia Party

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, July 5.—Fifty miles of pack ice today separated the five marooned members of the Italia crew and those attempting to rescue them. The huge masses of ice halted the Krassin in its advance, but in the meantime the castaways were drifting nearer the vessel.

Fog and adverse weather continued to hamper efforts to take the men off the ice by airplane. A new effort to pick them up with a light moth plane will be made from Esmark Island, nine miles from their reported position. The tri-motored Swedish plane Upland will fly to the island to establish a base for the operation.

One flier who had been among the missing was safe today. The soviet aviator Babushkin who left his base ship the ice breaker Malign Friday returned to the vessel after a harrowing five days experience with wind and ice bergs. Shortly after leaving the ship he had run into head winds which finally forced him to descend in the sea 80 miles north of Hope Island. There his scapline was in constant danger of being crushed by ice bergs. Finally he managed to take off again and found the Malign.

Meantime search for Roald Amundsen and the five men missing with him was being made by ships between Spitzbergen and Norway. An attempt to confirm rumors that fishermen had found the missing men failed when the Italian seaplane Malign was forced back to Tromsø by bad weather after starting for North Cape.

Mr. and Mrs. Siler and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Schneider, Jr. left Tuesday for Kerrville, where they are visiting their sons, Siler Paulkner, Jr. and Paul Schneider. They will be away about two weeks and will visit in San Antonio, Austin and other points of interest.

SMITH AVOIDS POLITICS IN HIS TALKS JULY 4

Defends Tammany Hall as Society That Loves U. S. A.

NON-VOTERS ARE GIVEN REBUKE

Declaration of Independence Likened to Platform

NEW YORK, July 5.—(P)—Governor Smith turned his face toward the state capitol at Albany again today after 2 Independence Day addresses in which he told what he thought of the constitution, citizenship, and Tammany Hall, and took a sly dig at Congress.

In each of these addresses he made passing allusion to his recent nomination but on the whole steered clear of politics.

He said at the Independence Day address at Tammany Hall that he had heard a great deal of criticism of Tammany but expressed the opinion that nothing that was not all right could have continued its existence in this country, as the Society of Tammany has done for 130 years.

Tammany, he said, cared not if a man was rich or poor or what his religious beliefs might be so long as he was a lover of America.

In his second address of the day, he delivered from the steps of the city hall to several thousand new voters he likened the Declaration of Independence to a political platform and said that the whole thought of it was contained in the one sentence that holds that all men are created equal, that life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are their inalienable rights, and that to secure these rights governments are formed unions which secure their powers from the governed.

Of the constitution he said that no matter how much we may quarrel among ourselves politically—"The Senate and House of Representatives can talk themselves to death, and sometimes it looks to the American public as though they were attempting it"—no body can interfere as long as it remains with the privileges its enactment guaranteed.

He holds the new voters, both native and foreign born, that citizenship carries with it responsibility "on the undisputed theory that you get nothing in this world for nothing" and expressed the opinion that one of the principal responsibilities was the exercise of the franchise.

Saying that it was surprising to know how many people were so indifferent to their citizenship that they would not take the trouble to vote, he scored the man who "goes off on a picnic of week-end for entertainment."

Building Permits for June Amounted to Total of $50,600

With no residences costing more than $7,000 and including no stores or warehouses the building permits for the month of June amounted to $50,600.

The latest permits taken out include a $3,000 home for M. W. Vincars in the Crawford addition and a $3,000 residence for W. J. Diefendorf in the North addition. The home will be built by C. E. Giger, local building contractor.

SPEAKER LAUDS HOME

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 5.—(P)—The home touches virtually every important problem of life and has a great responsibility in education for citizenship, said Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs of Austin, Texas, president of the National Education Association.

"We have been prone to think of the school as the only educational agency, but when we define education broadly, we see at once that it is not confined to the school," she concluded. She told of the nationwide program of her organization in promoting study of home and citizenship problems by parents.

Seek Globe Record by Plane and Boat

TOLL OF 205 LIVES TAKEN IN JULY FOURTH FESTIVITIES

Drownings Claim 106 for Heaviest Casualty, and Fireworks Are Fatal

CHICAGO, July 5.—(P)—The lives of 205 men, women and children were a nation's sacrifice to the celebration of its 152nd birthday anniversary yesterday.

Fireworks claimed their share of victims, as they always have since the United States first began observing Independence Day with skyrocket, pin wheel, and cannon cracker. There were 11 such deaths in the entire country, according to the Associated Press tabulation.

Lakes and rivers, however, exacted the heaviest tribute of human life during the holiday, 106 drownings being reported. Motorcar deaths ranked next with 54. Heat claimed 12 lives and lightning three, while four were killed in plane crashes. In addition there were 15 deaths attributed to other causes directly connected with America's observance of the Fourth.

Two densely populated areas—the middle Atlantic states and the mid-west—had more than half the country's total deaths for the day. In the former there were 66 fatalities, which was five more than occurred in the midwest.

The mountain states and the northwest had the best sectional records, with five deaths in each division.

Everywhere through the midwest the temperature was high, contributing both to deaths by heat and by drowning. The midwest led the country in the number of drownings with 38, although the middle Atlantic area had only two less.

The airplane accidents were at Joliet, Ill., where a pilot and two passengers plunged to death when the wing of their plane snapped, and at Beaumont, Texas, where one was killed.

Three of the motorcar deaths came in races, drivers being killed in Oregon, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin. The number of persons injured, many probably fatally, runs into the thousands. Premature explosion of a truck-load of fireworks at Lamar, Mo., injured 25 persons as 5,000 gathered in the public square to witness the display.

Driller Was Watching Friend in Fist Fight When He Was Assailed

Slayer of William Combast Escapes But One of Combatant Held for Questioning

The role of self-appointed referee of a fist fight in which a friend was participating brought instant death last midnight to William Combast, about 28, who was stabbed at Roxana.

Two knife or dagger wounds were inflicted, and an attending physician said that either would have proved fatal. The body was brought here by a Malone ambulance, and is lying in state pending location of relatives.

Combast had finished his shift as an oil field worker for the Graham Drilling company, and was standing near a dance hall preventing interference between a fight participated in by a friend, named Morris, and a man named Wilkerson, officers said today. Presumably a friend of Wilkerson sought to interfere, and Combast suddenly reeled under two quick stabs from which he died at once.

His assailant disappeared in the darkness and had not been located or identified today. Carson county officers held Wilkerson for investigation and questioning in an effort to learn the identity of the slayer.

Combast was knifed in the heart and abdomen. He is said to have been working on a well owned by the Skelly Oil company before the fatal incident.

Italian Fliers to Land in Brazil at Five o'Clock Today

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, July 5.—(P)—The Italian trans-Atlantic plane, the Savoia-64, was sighted over Port Natal at 4:05 o'clock this afternoon and it was expected that a landing would be made here about 5 o'clock.

Captain Arturo Ferrarin and Major Carlo F. Del Prete left the Monte Iselle flying field outside of Rome at 7:15 p. m., Tuesday with the announced purpose of making a nonstop flight across the south Atlantic to the coast of Brazil in an effort to break the Chamberlin-Levine distance record of 3,909 miles between the United States and Germany.

Heflin Fails to Appear for Klan at Long Island

NEW YORK, July 5.—(P)—Guarded by klansmen armed with pistols, clubs and sabres, 3,000 persons attended a Ku Klux Klan rally in a 40-acre field on Long Island yesterday but the guest of honor, Senator J. Thomas Heflin, failed to appear.

Late in the afternoon word was received that the senator was speaking at a Klan rally in Jackson, Mich., and obviously would not be able to address the Long Island meeting. The Klansmen who had spent the day in various conventions, then disbanded.

Senator Heflin at Jackson said that he had received an invitation to attend the Jamaica rally while speaking at Albany, N. Y., but had declined because of the previous promise to the Michigan folks.

Some 200 police and an emergency wagon loaded with guns and tear gas bombs were stationed about the field all day to guard the Klansmen against assault, but their services were not needed.

The policemen were not permitted on the field by the Klansmen, who had rented it for the day.

Police said they could do nothing about the show of firearms and other weapons carried by the Klansmen, as all the armed men were either deputy sheriffs or had permits to carry pistols. The Klansmen explained their show of weapons as a precautionary measure to protect Senator Heflin from attack. Several threatening letters had been received, they said, promising dire things to the Alabama senator if he appeared.

Governor Smith also had been invited to attend the meeting yesterday but declined on the ground of two other speaking engagements.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Bridges of Clovis, N. M., are in the city, attending to business affairs and visiting friends.

Hickman Verdict Affirmed Today by California Court

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—(P)—The Supreme Court of California in a decision today sustained the Superior Court of Los Angeles which found William Edward Hickman sane when he murdered 12-year-old Marian Parker, daughter of Perry M. Parker, a banker there.

The decision upheld not only Hickman's conviction on the murder charge but upheld the constitutionality of California's new insanity law under which Hickman was tried. It was principally on the asserted unconstitutionality of this law that the appeal was taken.

The Supreme Court remanded the case to the trial court in Los Angeles where Hickman will be re-sentenced. Under the rules of procedure this does not have to be done for 30 days. Meanwhile Hickman is expected to remain in the condemned row at San Quentin prison.

KANSAS CITY, July 5.—(P)—The fight for the life of William Edward Hickman will be carried to the United States Supreme Court, Jerome Walsh, his attorney, said here today following the decision of the California Supreme Court.

Expect Gusher in Section 43 Soon

Oil was picked up 42 feet higher than in neighboring wells yesterday in the Scott Drilling company's No. 1 L. H. Webb in the southwest quarter of section 43, block 25, H. and G. N. survey, and drilling in commenced today. Company officials are optimistic that a good well will be the result and are preparing ample storage to handle a gusher.

This well is located a mile and a half west of the Travis Oil company's No. 1 Beck in section 44 of the same block which has been flowing for more than a year and the discovery well of the new oil field.

PASTOR IS ARRESTED

DALLAS, July 5.—(P)—The Rev. J. Earl Anderson, pastor of the Fundamental Baptist church here, was arrested today for breaking an injunction issued in Judge Towne Young's court ordering work to cease on construction of a Fundamental Baptist tabernacle.

Despite the injunction a crew of men worked throughout last night in an effort to complete the structure.

THE CANDIDATES—It would be information of great interest to know how many votes Herbert Hoover will lose because he has not lived all his life within the borders of the United States. That he has not so lived, and because his conduct abroad has been so efficient as to win the acclamation of foreign governments, he is being condemned as pro-British, un-American, and incapable of being truly sympathetic with the rank and file of his people.

These charges are absurd, yet there are indications, one recalls, that Hoover is not thoroughly acquainted with the American political mind. He and Pershing were not very certain of their political affiliation after they crossed back over the Atlantic. This was a tactical blunder, to say the least. Any good party man is supposed to know how he stands and to be able to mention sixteen ways in which the opposition party lacks virtue.

Hoover is efficient. He is cold about anything he undertakes, and somewhat heartless with respect to dealings with those who oppose his beliefs. He has a tremendous command of facts, and makes decisions upon them. It is not so in politics.

Hoover tries efficiency methods in anything he undertakes. If elected president, there is the possibility that he would apply those same methods. There is no reason to believe that he would be disloyal in any sense.

But Hoover is not presidential timber of the old forests. He is not a leader, but an organizer. He would make a better cabinet officer, apparently, than anything else, in positions other than that of Secretary of Commerce. As a responsible bureau head he is almost without a peer.

Hoover will not inspire hat-throwing fervor, no more than would a fine piece of machinery. His crusading would be done in movements, not words. Where command of the populace were necessary, he likely would be found speaking to a group of young engineers.

One of the aspects to be considered is Hoover's sympathy toward European nations with which he is familiar; his likelihood of favoring close cooperation with them, without the added diplomatic ability and understanding of international politics. If he were not in a party which has stood aloof from the inner council of the continent, this danger would be worth much study.

In a time when the trend is toward personalities, both major parties seem to have strong men with inherent disabilities. They are as much unlike as very well could be in public life, and each has characteristics which can be held up to abuse. It will be a bitter campaign, full of absurdities. Fortunately, however, neither candidate will carry his case to the people in the type of blustering campaigns in vogue a few years ago.

CAPITOL NEWS

By RODNEY DUTCHER

POLITICAL LETTER

HOUSTON—The Democrats seldom get the gravy in politics, but they have lots of fun.

The Republicans, who all wear either starched collars or corsets, wouldn't have enjoyed it down here at all.

It was too hot for any ordinary person to enjoy himself, but these little Peter Pan's of politics gambled about like so many corpuscles in a left ventricle.

There was none of that tense seriousness which characterized the Kansas City show. No deep stuff such as went on in Andy Mellon's suite the night before that convention opened.

These boys and girls knew who was going to carry the ball for them in the campaign. They had a pretty good idea who the second man on the ticket would be and also what the platform would read like.

One does not suggest that the extreme dries in the party were running to and fro, slapping each other on the back and cheering as often as the band played "The Sidewalks of New York."

Such dries were rather glum. But they weren't allowed to spoil the fun. There were few of them here. Most Democratic dries were willing to accept Al Smith and most of the rest were resigned to it. The minority came hoping that some way would turn up to stop the gent in the brown derby. But it had to turn up, for they didn't bring it with them. Even with an eye on the two-thirds rule they spoke less confidently than did the anti-Hoover folks as they arrived in Kansas City.

The vast majority of these Democrats are enthusiastically convinced that they have a grand chance to make Hoover eat worms in November. They're the optimists of politics. The glorious heights to which some of them can dream themselves are well indicated by the mental state of a few Tammany men who insist that Smith can carry Pennsylvania.

In a party which has been kept from the feedbox nearly eight years one might expect to observe many lean and hungry persons, possessed of a certain savage fervor as they plotted their way back. But one finds nothing of the sort. They take their politics seriously and they still get excited over moral issues, but the effect of adversity, if any, apparently has merely brought them together in a closer bond of sympathy until they're almost a happy family.

Some of them, of course, felt it was too bad the Republicans weren't made to have their convention in Houston, there to suffer for their sins. Only the fact that their own party has a clear conscience, they admit, enables them to be comfortable and contented in these torrid parts.

Occasionally one heard a muffled curse upon J. Frank Hague, the mayor and national committeeman from Jersey City, N. J. When the committee met at Washington last winter to choose a convention city some of the more influential members met and decided to send it to San Francisco. Then they went to bed. But Hague woke up in the middle of the night with a brilliant idea of nominating Smith somewhere in the South. By dawn he had sold the idea and here we are.

The weather had a direct effect on the prohibition situation. The supreme test for a genuine dry was to offer him a long cold drink such days as the convention had. If he didn't fall then he never will. The bootleggers here obviously knew that a visitor would give anything for succor at a time like this—and charged accordingly. Thus one was asked eight dollars for a bottle of gin that cost him three dollars in Kansas City. Apparently the law of supply and demand didn't figure, though both were enormous.

Putting that plank about the Philippines in the Democratic platform was a professional stunt, and few of the poor candidates know anything about the Philippines and what they are doing.

Hoover Outlining His New York Political Drive

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(AP)—Clearing the way for an early departure from the capital, secretary Hoover plans to confer on Saturday with prominent Eastern Republicans for the purpose of establishing a campaign organization in that section.

All members of the Republican national committee from the north eastern states and from Pennsylvania and Maryland have been called to Washington for the meeting and Senator Moses of New Hampshire also is to be present.

With the eastern situation provided for, Mr. Hoover will be in a position to leave for the West. An announcement yesterday repeated emphatically that his program had been definitely arranged and that he will deliver his resignation from the cabinet to President Coolidge at the Summer White House.

Rumors as to his plans beyond this outline were pronounced unjustified. The Commerce Secretary spent the holiday in rest and relaxation. He received visits from a few personal friends and for diversion took a short automobile ride.

Coolidge Invites Gov. Zimmerman to Be His Guest

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 5.—(AP)—Striving to repay some of the hospitality of the state where he is vacationing, President Coolidge invited Governor Fred R. Zimmerman of Wisconsin to be his guest today and tonight at the Summer White House.

Instructions had been left by Mr. Coolidge for one of the White House staff to be sent to Superior to take the governor to Cedar Island lodge. To avail himself of the invitation the latter had remained overnight in Superior where he had come to attend Fourth of July celebrations.

Governor Zimmerman was among the hundreds who yesterday conveyed their greetings to the chief executive on the occasion of his fifty-sixth birthday. Telegrams reached the White House by the score from all parts of the state, but Mr. Coolidge at the time paid little attention to them, preferring to pass his anniversary in the quietest manner of any year since he became chief executive.

President Coolidge, however, abandoned his determination of having no special celebration on his birthday long enough to invite newspapermen and press photographers to the lodge. He shared his great birthday cake with them and took them along on a short fishing expedition.

In this way his guests saw him catch five fish in about half an hour, and witnessed his triumph when he drew two of these on the same line.

Americans Held for Ransom in Mexico Reported Released

MEXICO CITY, July 5.—(AP)—It was said that W. M. Mitchell and John P. Hooper, two American mining men who had been kidnaped, had arrived in Guadalajara. They were released by their captors without paying the $1,500 ransom demanded.

The Americans said they had persuaded Rosario Guillen, chieftain of the band, to allow them to return home. They added that they had been courteously treated and well fed during the time they were held captive in the caves of Judicia canyon near the town of El Salvador.

The men were captured on June 22 while they were driving in an automobile near Guadalajara en route to Mezquital Del Oro mines in the state of Zacatecas. Mitchell was manager of the mines. The kidnapers allowed the American's chauffeur to return to Guadalajara for the ransom. Troops were immediately sent out in an attempt to rescue the captives.

Alfred Lowenstein Falls Into North Sea and Drowns

LONDON, July 5.—(AP)—Captain Alfred Lowenstein, world famous Belgian financier and mystery man or Europe, fell from his private airplane while crossing the North sea from England to Belgium last night and was drowned.

Traveling as he always did with a pilot, Captain Lowenstein, hopped off from Croydon airdrome in one of his planes, a Fokker, at 8 p. m., for Brussels with a British pilot at the controls. Two girl stenographers were aboard so that he could continue his business while in flight. The plane also carried his valet and a mechanic.

When the plane was crossing over the North Sea, Captain Lowenstein left his seat among his companions and started for the washroom in the rear. He never returned. Apparently he opened a door by which passengers leave the plane and fell into the sea.

For a while those remaining aboard the plane were ignorant of what had happened and continued chatting. Sometime later they discovered the tragedy. The pilot headed at once for the French coast. He landed to the west of Dunkirk, France, on the beach at 8 p. m.

Meantime the bankers' staff was awaiting his arrival at Brussels. Finally as the hours passed and Captain Lowenstein failed to appear they began telephoning to points along the Belgian and French coasts and learned of the tragedy.

Captain Lowenstein had been visiting in London. Alfred Lowenstein was reputed to be the richest man in Europe, his wealth being estimated at only less than that of Henry Ford or the Rockefellers. He controlled steamship lines, was one of the chief shareholders in the Belgian railway system, owned manganese iron mines in Silesia, steel furnaces in the North of Spain, coal properties in the Saar basin and in the Ruhr, and immense rubber plantations in the Congo.

He was born in 1877, his father being a small Jewish banker in Brussels. His immense fortune was built up by clever speculation. It took him 30 years to become the richest man in

Lon Smith Talks at Harding's Ranch

AMARILLO, July 5.—Crowds estimated to total 10,000 persons paid admission to the All-States reunion July 4 at Harding's ranch, to help make possible the continuance of the Free Tri-State fair.

Lon A. Smith

The mass of cars and people were in the typical holiday mood and appeared to enjoy the occasion despite the heat. The fireworks display was a special feature. Speakers included the Rev. R. Thomson, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, and Lon A. Smith, a member of the state railroad commission.

Mr. Smith, the only state official present, had an interested audience as he spoke on transportation and touched particularly upon good paved roads, for which he long has been an advocate.

England. During the war he was engaged in London in connection with the provisioning of the Belgian army. Two years ago he was virtually unknown in the United States, but he achieved the limelight almost overnight when he offered to loan Belgium $50,000,000 free of interest for two years to enable the country to stabilize the franc. Shortly after this he offered to lend France a similar amount at interest of only 2 per cent.

Captain Lowenstein said he had built up his fortune by sound business "hunches" on industrial trends. As a young man he staked everything on the future importance of artificial silk, hydro electric power and methods of mass production.

Parnell Says He Will Support Al Smith for President

WICHITA FALLS, July 5.—(AP)—J. D. Parnell, candidate for lieutenant governor, in a statement here yesterday declared his intention of voting for Governor Alfred E. Smith for president.

"I have never scratched a Democratic ticket in my life," said Mr. Parnell. "I will vote the Democratic ticket from top to bottom this year and hope we are successful from the presidential candidate down."

Prohibition is here to stay, Mr. Parnell said, and no president can change it without the consent of Congress. In discussing the decision of Senator Thomas B. Love, veteran Democratic leader, to vote for Herbert Hoover for president he declared:

"Any citizen has the right to cast his lot with any political party put forward, but he has no right to try to ride two political horses at the same time with one saddle. Mr. Love can affiliate with any party he desires, but I doubt that he can dictate the nominee of either party."

Miss Adeline Grumpke spent the holiday with her parents in Claude.

Deeds of Heroism Reported on Fourth

ATLANTA, Ga., July 5.—(AP)—Heroic deeds marked two Independence Day mishaps in the South, one of them accompanied by a sacrifice of one life to save four.

Charles H. Ruchmond, 43, prominent Richmond, Va., real estate operator, was drowned after saving his wife and three other persons from the Potomac river near his summer home at Church Point farm. He dragged them to a rowboat from treacherous currents, then collapsed while hanging on the side of the craft as it was being rowed ashore.

Attracted by screams, a group of Boy Scouts of Mount Dora, Fla., prevented an imminent panic in a movie theatre. They dashed into the burning building and fed 50 persons to safety after a film had exploded firing the projection room. The structure was wrecked with a loss of $50,000.

NEW NEWSPAPER MANAGER

In addition to the staff of the Pampa Herald, a Nunn-Warren publication, is reported from the neighborhood, Bob Brashears, manager of the Herald, and Mrs. Brashears are the parents of a 16-pound son, born Sunday. The boy has been named Island Stanford.

Dr. B. L. Jenkins of Clarendon was in Pampa Tuesday, attending to business in connection with the boarding house he has built here.

CHICAGO, July 5.—(AP)—Owing largely to excellent weather for harvest in Kansas and Nebraska, wheat prices underwent an early setback today. At Wichita, Kan., alone, the arrivals of wheat today totaled 700 cars.

Opening at one cent decline to 1/2 cent advance, wheat values soon showed a general sag. Corn developed strength, starting unchanged to 1 cent higher, and subsequently scoring sharp upturns all around. Oats were firm. Provisions tended to climb.

CITY OFFICERS BUSY

City officers had a busy day yesterday taking care of holiday celebrators who imbibed too much home brew and Oklahoma "corn" in all six. They were paid fines for drunkenness and disturbing the peace. The officers of the sheriff's department had a very quiet

NEGRO WOMAN DIES

Miss Viri Culton, 23 years old, negro, died at her home in the negro section of the city early this morning following a brief illness. The body is being held at the Malone Funeral home pending word from relatives. She had resided in the city three weeks and thus far the residence of her relatives has not been found.

LOVE FOR TWO RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Rod, who kissed her as if he'd been hungry all his life for her lips.

BERTIE LOU stood on the brink of the great adventure. She was thrilled to the core of her youth-ful, little body. And no one guessed it.

Her own mother had not been permitted to see behind the mask of sophistication she wore to conceal her shy, dreaming soul. And not even Rod had known how happy she was.

For Bertie Lou would not talk about it. She was afraid of being sappy. So she posed behind an armor of hoots and jibes for the weakness of sentiment. It was the code of her day among her friends.

But tonight she could not jeer at her happiness. It made her feel like a traitor to the other girls—this being so old-fashionedly palpitating and concerned. "Wouldn't they razz me!" she thought.

She let herself dwell upon the event with much the same thoughts that might have filled the mind of any maiden of yore on the eve of her wedding day. The influence of her friends melted away before the wonder in her heart—the thousand questions, the fears and earnestness.

AT six her mother woke her, scolding. "You'll be as stiff as a ramrod. Go and take a hot bath, read hot. Yes, I know it's a hot day, but you do as I say. Cool off with a shower if you like but don't stand there rubbing your eyes out."

Her feelings hiding behind bustling authority, Bertie Lou had a better idea. She went down and put on a phonograph record and limbered up with the Black Bottom and a stomp. Then she took the hot bath, and poured the last quarter bottle of bath salts into the tub. Her mother didn't like them. She might as well luxuriate. Couldn't pack a nearly empty bottle.

She was well scented in rose perfume by the time she was ready for the cold shower. Then came breakfast. It was slightly cooler on the shaded porch and Bertie Lou's mother had provided iced honeydew with lemon.

No one "jawed" her for being half dressed this morning. Her old organdie house coat was left unfastened over her limited underthings without rebuke. Bertie Lou's sweet little body was no mystery to her family. Keeping her covered had been her mother's chief concern and activity for several years.

Varner Is Fouled by Walker After Showing Up Well

A well-packed house witnessed the rather sad spectacle of Walter Varner taking his match with Young Mickey Walker on a foul Tuesday night at the Pla-Mor. Both boys weighed in at 158, and the bout was expected to be one of the fastest to be furnished by the local arena in some time.

The fight opened at a fast pace, with Varner pushing the action to the other boy, and it was only a matter of seconds until he had Walker on the mat for the count of nine. Walker was visibly worried for the rest of the round, with Varner planting wallops almost at will. Walker's rushes seemed entirely without effect on the veteran Varner. The foul consisted of the dressing-room, he offered to finish Varner out of commission entirely. He was carried from the ring. Later, in the dressing-room, he offered to finish the fight whenever the management could arrange to hold the affair. Dr. McKean stated that it would be impossible for Varner to put on the gloves for four or five days.

Borger Boy Wins
As it turned out, the bout between Morrison, 123, of Borger, and Frankie Farrell, the Pampa Flash, 130, was the main event of the evening, although scheduled as the semi-windup. It was a fast and furious ten-round affair, of which Farrell claimed the first two rounds, the Borger boy winning the rest with the exception of the fourth, which belonged to anybody.

Farrell opened up with a vicious attack with his left, that connected frequently during the opening session, and by the bell had Morrison's nose flowing in a gentle trickle that seemed to bother him somewhat. In the second frame, the Flash followed the same tactics, and for a little while it looked as though the fight belonged to the local boy. The third, however, changed the music entirely, with Morrison ducking and bobbing around and under Farrell's attack, and at the same time planting punishing blows that by the end of the round had Frankie as pink as a beet from the belt up. In the fourth frame, Morrison stepped into a haymaker, and had to call time out until he could recover a little from the effect of the low blow. He soon came around, and continued the round, but was slowed up considerably.

Morrison Is Clever
The rest of the fight was a sad affair from the standpoint of the local boy. His best blows met nothing but air, and the redoubtable left that has won him many a fight might about as well have been picking daisies. Morrison just was never there when the blow was supposed to land. Farrell became worried, and as one fan remarked didn't even telegraph his blows, but wrote letters about them. From the end of the fourth round Frankie never landed a solid blow of any kind or description, but absorbed plenty of them, Morrison landing whenever he felt like it. It was one of the finest exhibitions of shifty boxing that has ever been seen in the local arena on the part of the Borger boy, and had the real boxing fans sitting up in their seats. Both boys were game and fast, and the argument did not old a dull moment until the final bell.

Mexican Is Winner
Black Cloud Goldie, 132, lost to Art Villaton of Mexico City and Borger in a six-round match. Villaton weighed in at 140, and in spite of the difference in weight, had no easy time with the hard-fighting Pampa boy. After winning the first round, Goldie squeezed a draw out of the two succeeding frames, and from then on, the Mexican had it all his own way.
During the last three rounds, Goldie kissed the canvas five times but was always coming back for more and was on his feet and fighting like a wildcat at the final gong. Although out-weighted and outclassed, the negro showed his gameness from start to finish, and fought a clever fight against the odds. Villaton fought Billie Springfield to a close decision on the Pampa mat not so very long ago, and is one of the toughest boys seen in action here in some time.

OLYMPIC HOPES

ED HAMM

One of the best Olympic prospects the south has this year is Ed Hamm, the Georgia Tech broad jumper, who has been credited with several leaps of 25 feet.

He came into prominence last year when he won this event at both the Penn Relays and the national intercollegiate. He has added distance to his leaps in meets this year, climaxing the season with a leap of 25 feet to again win broad jump honors at the national intercollegiate. He is credited with ability to get near 25 feet easily.

The Georgian seeks a berth on the Olympic squad in the face of stern competition from Delfart Hubbard, Al Bates, Dyer and other excellent broad jumpers, but in confident he will gain one of the four places.

School Teacher Is Best Woman Athlete in Nation

NEWARK, N. J., June 5.—(AP)—Elita Cartwright of the northern California athletic club today was acclaimed as the country's best girl-track athlete. Competing in the women's national championships and the tryouts to select the first women's Olympic team ever to represent the United States, she entered the events, all that the regulations allowed, and won all of them.
She qualified for the Olympic team by winning the 100-meter tryout event, and captured national championships in the 50-yard dash and broad jump. Her feats helped her team roll up the total of 52 points to capture first place in the team scoring. The Pasadena, (Cal.) A. C. took second place, with 17 points, and the Boston Women's Swimming association was third with 8. Miss Cartwright, whose home is in Eureka, Cal., is a school teacher 20 years old.
In addition to Miss Cartwright eighteen girls were selected for the Olympic team.

Lefty Roberts, 120, of Amarillo took a draw from Lloyd Moore, 126, of Borger. Lack of condition was woefully apparent, as he did not look like the same boy that fought Morrison one of the toughest battles that Morrison has had, less than a month ago. Moore looked good, but is inexperienced and should have been easy for Roberts if he had been in shape for the fight.
As a curtain-raiser Speedy Moore, 90, met Irish Pat Garrity, 80, both of Pampa, in an affair consisting of three two-minute rounds that ended in a draw. The little fellows put on quite an exhibition.

Cincinnati's Hope Rises on Defeating the Pirates Twice

(By The Associated Press.)
The Giants closed out their intrasectional campaign at the Polo Grounds Wednesday by dividing a double header with Brooklyn.

Dazy Vance snapped a Giant streak at eight straight by rolling the home entry, 8 to 3 in the opener, but Larry Benton came back in the second clash to hang up his fourteenth victory and his seventeenth complete game in seventeen starts. The score was 5 to 2.

The even break cost the Giants no ground as the Cardinals and the Cubs divided two wild games which developed merely into a background for the home run struggle between Hack Wilson and Sunny Jim Bottomley. Each slugger gathered two, leaving Wilson in the lead of the league, 18 to 17. The Cards won by 11 to 6 and the Cubs by 16 to 9.

Hope flamed anew in Cincinnati as the Reds plunged the Pirates further into the depths by taking morning and afternoon divisions at Forbes field, 6 to 0, and 11 to 3. The Braves dropped another to the Phurios Phils, 10 to 6, but rain prevented further carnage.

In the American league campaign to see whether the Yanks can win 117 games and so beat the record of the 1906 Cubs, the Senators held the champions to an even break. The Senators, furthermore, held the Hughmen even in the series of four, which has not been done by every team the Yankees have met.

The Athletics turned back the Red Sox, 5 to 4, and 11 to 3. The Mackmen so shaved a full game from the lead of the champions.

Detroit and Cleveland divided their holiday bill, as did the Browns and the White Sox. The Chicago celebration was notable chiefly for the debut of Ed Walsh, Jr., late of Notre Dame. Young Ed's first stride in the shoes of his famous father was an unsuccessful one, but he showed he has the pitching goods. The Browns bunched hits on him for five runs in the fourth, and he was retired to await a better day.

Ray Schalk celebrated young Walsh's debut by catching him in person. Schalk just previously had handed in his resignation as manager and Russell Blackburne had been named manager pro-tem.

Blackburne Takes Sox Manager's Job as Schalk Resigns

CHICAGO, July 5.—(AP)—As the Chicago White Sox sped eastward today, Russell "Lena" Blackburne, Sox coach since 1926, stepped into his new post as manager of the club, succeeding the veteran Raymond H. "Cracker" Schalk, whose resignation was the surprise of the Fourth of July holiday at Comiskey park.
Schalk's resignation was effective immediately after the holiday double-header. He remained at home today as his teammates for the last 16 years headed into their second eastern trip. Immediately after receiving Schalk's letter of resignation, President Charles A. Comiskey announced the appointment of Blackburne as the "Cracker's" successor.
Schalk, recognized as one of the greatest ball players who ever wore the mask, said in his letter of resignation that he was "stepping out as manager in the hopes it will be helpful to the club."
"The team has been going bad, the results have not been satisfactory; so I step out," was the way he put it.

Picnics, Swimming Parties Feature of July Fourth

While many Pampa citizens attended the larger Fourth of July celebrations at Hardings ranch, LeFors, Amarillo and Borger, others spent the holiday at small picnics and swimming parties.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Doucette and children, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith and daughter, Mrs. Emma LeFors and her daughter, Miss Moleta LeFors, held a picnic at the Mel Davis ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Murfee and daughter, Jeanne, gave a small party at Mobeetie, having as guests, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Wise and son, Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Houston Park and Bryn Caraway swimming was the chief diversion of the day.

Another enjoyable picnic was given north of LeFors. The following were present at this party: Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Caylor, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore, Mrs. Garnett Sears, Mrs. B. G. Shepard, E. P. Hollingshead, P. M. Bailey, Scott Barcus and H. E. Hoare.

Among the many enjoyable social affairs of July 4 was an all-day picnic and swimming party at the Morris ranch north of Pampa. In the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cram, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Holloway, M. A. Spinsky, L. E. Chle, and Don Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Murfee and daughter, Jeanne, gave a small party at Mobeetie, having as guests, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Wise and son, Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Houston Park and Bryn Caraway swimming was the chief diversion of the day.

Mrs. Alta Stanard Entertains Christian Missionary Society

Mrs. Alta Stanard's home was tastefully decorated with American flags and red, white and blue bunting, when the Missionary Society of the Christian church met there Tuesday afternoon.

New officers for the year were installed. The new staff is composed of Mrs. James Todd, Jr. pres. Mrs. C. E. Hutchins, vice-president; Mrs. R. W. Mitchell, secretary; Mrs. De Lea (Vickers), treasurer; Mrs. William Kinzer, literature secretary; and Mrs. Charles Thomas, chairman of Texas missions. The new president made a short talk at the conclusion of which the following program was given under the leadership of Mrs. Lee Ledrick.

Group song, "More Love to Thee." Scripture reading, Mrs. Lee Ledrick. Talk on "Firecracker Patriotism," Mrs. C. E. Hutchins. Reading, "The American Flag," Mrs. Clair Bryson. Talk on "Firecracker Christians," Mrs. Harry Marbaugh.

During the social hour that followed the program the hostess served a delicious ice course. A tiny flag decorated each refreshment plate.

Amusu Bridge Club Entertained by Mrs. Joe M. Smith

Mrs. Joe M. Smith was hostess to members of the Amusu Bridge club and a number of other friends Tuesday afternoon. Playing was done by the clock, 20 minutes for each game, and white elephant prizes were awarded to Mrs. George Walstad and Miss Cordelia Carr. High score was made by Mrs. J. M. McDonald, and low score by Miss Fay Odle. Cut favors were drawn by Mrs. Neil McCullough and Mrs. Gerald Smith.

American flags were used throughout the house as decorations for the occasion. An ice course was served in the late afternoon. Members who were present were: Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, Mrs. George Walstad, Mrs. L. L. McCullough, Mrs. Gerald Smith, Mrs. C. T. Buckler, Mrs. J. M. McDonald, Mrs. Lynn Boyd and Mrs. G. C. Holloway. The guest list included: Mrs. A. H. Doucette, Mrs. I. B. Hughey, Mrs. H. W. Johns, Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. J. C. Hicks, Mrs. Robert Chafin, Mrs. Tenney Berryton, Miss Cordelia Carr of Dallas, and Miss Fay Odle of Fort Worth.

SCOUTS TO MEET

Boy Scouts who plan to attend the Scouts summer camp north of Atterdahl this summer are to meet tonight at the Methodist church for a special examination and to make final arrangements for the camp. The location of the camp is ideal and a profitable ten days will be spent by the Adobe Walls council troops.

CHOIR TO PRACTICE

All members of the Methodist church choir are to meet at the church tonight at 8:30 o'clock for a special practice. The music to be used at the formal opening of the church has arrived and will be studied in brief this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Howard and children will return today from Colorado, where they have spent the past week.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

VIRGINIA BREWSTER is in love with NATHANIEL DEAN, who is tricked into promising to marry FREDERICK DEAN in one year if she fails to earn $100,000 that he alleges her father cheated him out of. BREWSTER had lost his fortune before his death and VIRGINIA is left destitute. She saves her jewelry and OLIVER CUTLER promises to invest the money for her. She seeks work without success, and discovers that DEAN has bribed the agency not to help her. OLIVER gains her confidence and shows her attention which NIEL resents, but she does not like the way his money CHEER treats him.

Finally VIRGINIA obtains a position she likes. Shortly afterwards she is charged by CUTLER with trying to alienate his affection. She appeals to him to explain, and demands an accounting of her investments. He confesses that he has not made any money for her, but promises her any amount if she will go away with him. She denounces him and leaves his office.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVI

VIRGINIA was sadly disappointed. Nathaniel's letter had told her nothing of his feeling for her. . . . It lacked tenderness. It was entirely in the nature of the repressed conversations that had usurped their old, free exchange of confidences after NIEL's discovery of her association with Oliver.

He hoped, and Virginia failed to see, that it was ironical, that she was having a fine time.

He spoke of his work, nothing definite. The bad weather she was lucky enough to escape. The artist's ball and, near the end: "Oh! it's a peach. Been a little off my appetite but she keeps me going with stuff she says I ought to have. I think I used to misjudge her. Remember the time we talked about the savant, and the quicksand? I'm beginning to believe we were both wrong and that the kid's full of gold-dust."

Virginia finished the letter, folded it and put it away. There was a dull, heavy oppression in the region of her heart and a hand seemed tightening round her head. Breathing was difficult and painful. Wisely she had chosen to read the letter in the privacy of her state-room, but remembering the doctor's warning against letting herself go, she closed her eyes, clenched her hands and waited calmly for the little horses that were stamping their hoofs up and down her nerves to leave her.

that it felt like that and he had repented that she might visualize her nerve torture so if she wished, if he would promise to think of it as a business as intruders that she must banish quietly, and never once feel that they were beyond her control.

Virginia smiled then away, would herself not to suffer because the thing she had set out to accomplish seemed done.

Niel was not unhappy. When he heard of her marriage to Frederick Dean he would, thank his stars she had found out in time that she wanted a rich husband.

Virginia had accepted the price of her father's honor. There was no way to escape now. Before the end of March she must become the wife of the man she despised. The Agena would return to New York early in January. Just a few short weeks after that day in hopes to make $100,000. It was hopeless.

Despair became her constant companion during the remainder of the cruise. But no one on the ship, excepting the doctor, knew that she was suffering. For her protection he circulated carelessly-dropped remarks concerning her health—the tropics did not agree with her. . . . too much work.

His campaign had a beneficial result. Thoughtful passengers relaxed their demands upon Virginia's attentions and no one questioned her about her pallor and nervousness.

Virginia no longer felt herself urging the ship to speed by mentally conceiving herself down in the furnace room furiously feeding coal to the fire as she had done on the way from Havana to Port au Prince. She had preferred not to return to New York until the end of her year of freedom.

It would be easier to be parted from Nathaniel by distance than by a love grown cold. But the day came when the ship was berthed in the home port. There was the red tape that delayed immediate landing, and then Virginia was back again, filled with mingled yearning to rush to Nathaniel and reluctance to see him.

She had not written to him. She could not write in the vein he had employed. Silence would help to maintain the impression that she was growing indifferent toward him. For these reasons she had stifled her longing to reach him by mail.

He could ascertain easily enough when the Agena was due to arrive if he wished to know, she consoled herself when she thought of the welcome homecoming she was inviting. But she did not expect to see him at the pier.

Suddenly a pair of arms opened out before her and she walked blindly into them. They closed about her, held her with her fingers pressed tight against a rough overcoat while Nathaniel confessed his joy at having her back.

Happiness surged over Virginia like an ether that wiped out everything but this great, indescribable relief of being with Niel again.

But trouble does not vanish until it is conquered. Nathaniel knew nothing of Virginia's momentarily overwhelming joy. He only knew that she held her with his embrace before he was ready to release her, and looked at him with eyes already wild of truth.

"How good of you," she murmured. "I didn't expect you." Nathaniel clamped his lips close, and scanned her face through narrowed eyelids for a few seconds.

"I know you didn't," he replied, with a short, rasping laugh. "But I'm such a poor fool that I came anyway."

"Coming up to my hotel?" she asked indifferently.

"No, I'm not," he growled. "I've had enough. But I'll take a taxi with you, and drop off at the studio."

He was furious with himself because he could not resist lingering in her company.

He had come because he could not keep away. He had meant to greet her with no more warmth than she herself displayed.

He wanted to turn on his heel and walk away. And he hadn't been able to do it. He took some pride in his refusal to accompany her to her hotel, but it hardly made up for his weakening enough to go as far as his studio.

Virginia was mired in a strange mixture of emotions. She was elated one moment because his love had endured, despite her casting him to the spell of her rival, and depressed the next because she could not reveal her elation to him.

No matter now what he said or did she would know that he loved her. That one moment when he held her in his arms with unrestrained fervor betrayed him. He was her man, her man!

Her heart sang the words in a psalm of exultant ecstasy. But so accustomed had she become to living one character in her heart, and another for the world, to see that Nathaniel never heard this song, or even suspected its existence.

To him she was just a cold, indifferent, uninterested girl whom he had kissed against her will. They rode to his studio in a silence that was broken only by an occasional remark from one or the other. Nathaniel did not invite her to enter, though Virginia both hoped and feared that he would do so.

with a feeling of having stepped forever from a paradise to which there is no re-entering.

Heartless, cold, unrel—call her what he would, he loved her. Disrespect, hate, contempt, all had fallen from his mind and he sought to use them to tear her out of his heart.

Her face was sweet, her voice and body lovely. Nathaniel despised himself because they enthralled him, but he had not succeeded in loosening the leash that bound him to her.

It was impossible really to believe what he knew of her. Virginia grieved deeply for him as the taxicab carried her uptown. And she grieved for the lost hours they might have shared together.

In spite of all she had done to protect him from the final hurt he would experience when he learned she was going to marry another man, he must go through the ordeal just the same.

His pain would not be softened by the weeks of her absence. The cruise had been a needless, a useless sacrifice all around.

Virginia obtained her key at the desk, exchanged greetings with the hotel attaches whom she met, and went to her room with the knowledge that she had made a mistake.

She might as well have lived her year of life to the fullest—the cost would be the same.

She had not started to get herself settled, her things unpacked and put away, before there was a rap on her door and she opened it to see Chirt Mond standing in the hall.

"I know I'm rushing you," the girl said before Virginia could recover from her surprise sufficiently to speak. "But I wanted to talk to you before you saw Niel."

Virginia stepped back and held the door open for her to enter.

Chirt came in, pulled off her hat, tossed it onto the bed, rubbed up her shaggy bob and settled herself in the only comfortable chair in the room before she said another word. Then she asked for a cigaret.

"I'm sorry," Virginia said. "I haven't any."

"You wouldn't," the other returned. "Well, I won't be able to get it across quite so well without a smoke, but I think it's for the good of all hands to have it out."

She crossed her knees and threw herself back in the chair while she regarded Virginia with a set grin.

Virginia, poised herself on the edge of the bed near the end, and leaned on the forehead.

She knew intuitively that Chirt had not come here at this hour for any light purpose. It must concern Niel. They had nothing else in common.

Virginia decided not to tell her that she already had seen him. "I dare say Niel hasn't written you anything about it," Chirt began. "Well, things have changed since you went on your delightful southern cruise, Miss Brewster."

GARRISON'S DAUGHTER DIES

DOBBS PERRY, N. Y., July 5.—(P)—Fanny Garrison Villard, 83, only daughter of William Lloyd Garrison, the abolitionist, died today.

She was born in Boston. Her early years were deeply affected by the anti-slavery struggle, in which her father for years risked death at the hands of mobs, and its concomitant forms, such as women's rights and the peace and temperance causes.

Co-Ed, 21, to Preach in India

Miss Pauline Rader, 21, Northwestern University co-ed and daughter of Paul Rader, Chicago evangelist, is giving up civilization and is going to India to serve as a missionary for five years. Plans for her departure followed her graduation this year. She will serve at the British Kurku mission in the interior. Miss Rader and her father are pictured above.

American Men's Doubles Teams Are Defeated Today

WIMBLEDON, July 5.—(P)—Gerald Patterson and John B. Hawkes, Australia, defeated William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, United States, in the semi-finals of the Wimbledon tennis championships today, 7-5, 7-9, 6-4, 10-12.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, California, and Mrs. Joan Austin Lygett, defeated Miss L. Bickerton and Mrs. Pat Omar Wood in the women's doubles, 7-5, 9-7. The defeat of Tilden and Hunter, world's champion doubles players, furnished an upset of advance calculations and marked the rapid progress of the Australian who eliminated the star French players, Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste Tuesday.

Tilden and Hunter were off in front when they won the first two sets but Patterson and Hawkes took the next three, although the Americans were within a game of the deciding set when they led 6-4.

Frances T. Hunter and Miss Helen Wills remained in the mixed doubles competition by defeating Scroope and Mrs. Shepherd Barron.

The last of the American men's doubles teams passed out of the competition when Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, French pair, defeated John Hennessy and George Lott, 11-9 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

Elizabeth Ryan, claiming an American connection through former residence in California, continued progress with P. D. B. Spence, the South African, in the mixed doubles by defeating Leslie Godfree and Mrs. Covell 6-4, 6-3.

Supt. Marrs Gives Approval of Annual Teachers Institute

CANYON, July 5.—Supt. S. M. N. Marrs has placed a decided stamp of approval on the consolidated teachers' institute which it has been the custom to have in this section of the state in the past. As a result the Teachers' Institute will be held as usual at West Texas State Teachers college on September 3 to 7 inclusive.

When F. E. Savage was in Austin recently he had a conference with Supt. Marrs and asked his opinion on the consolidated institute. Mr. Marrs stated that in view of the fact that there were numerous sparsely settled counties in West Texas, it is highly advisable to have the teachers come to the consolidated meet and thus be in a position to receive a higher grade of instruction and work out school problems with able advisers.

Mr. Savage sent out letters to the county superintendents asking them to co-operate with the college in the work for the institute and he is receiving replies daily expressing their readiness to attend the institute here. Some of the largest counties in this section of the country were the first ones to accept the invitation.

From present indications there will be held in the Teachers college an even larger institute than was held here last year. One interesting feature of the week's program will be that the teachers will be enabled to make a study of the new education building and its furnishings as it will be practically complete. The very best program possible will be arranged as it will be both instructional and entertaining.

Grady Thompson of Borger is a business visitor in the city today.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Young and children of Amarillo spent Wednesday here in the home of Mr. Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Young.

Man Who Defies Niagara Falls in Ball Tells Story

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 5.—(P)—Except for brises, Jean Albert Lussier Springfield, Mass., was none the worse today for his thrilling experience on Independence Day, when he went over Niagara Falls in a huge rubber ball and lived to tell of his sensations. He is one of the few men who have dared the mighty cataract and come out alive.

The occupants of the 753-pound fabric was towed out into the upper river by motorboat, having abandoned a plan of being dropped from an airplane. The ball rolled and bounced thru the upper rapids and over the Horseshoe Falls. A weight had been placed at Lussier's feet to keep the occupant upright, but it became dislodged and Lussier went over the brink headfirst.

"A short time later the ball, reclaimed a short distance below the precipice, was ripped open and the Springfield man hauled from within, smiling. One hundred thousand or more persons, lining the shores cheered. His sister, Madame J. P. Cautiere, of Shrubbrook, Quebec, kissed him. Many other women tried to do likewise. Not a few succeeded."

"I have spent more than a year and more than $7,000 on my venture," Lussier said. "I feel better than I have for 14 years."

"I had really no sensation when I went over the falls. When I landed on the water at the bottom I got a good jarring up. The ball struck the water and bounced up and down six times like a ball being bounced on the sidewalk by a child. I went over the falls head first but straps and pillows saved me from serious injury."

"I got my first idea of going over the falls while working in machine shops at St. Catherine, N.Y., at the time Bobby Leach went over in a barrel and the fact that I did not get injured as badly as did Leach is proof that my theory was correct."

'Ayes Have It', Says Umpire in Chicago Game

CHICAGO, July 5.—(P)—There is a cardinal distinction between professional umpiring and the umpiring of the annual amateur game in Forest Lake. In the big leagues the umpire often makes up his mind what decision the fans want, then makes one the opposite. In Lake Forest the ayes have it, to-wit:

The 8 o'clock boys were playing market squares in the north shore suburb yesterday. The 8 o'clock boys are those who catch the "millionaire" special from Lake Forest to Chicago each work day at 8 a.m.

For three years these 8 o'clockers have been moping up the diamond with ill opposition at the annual Independence Day ball game. Most of the 8 o'clockers learned their baseball at Yale or Princeton. Names like Trowbridge, Revell, Washburn were in the lineup, to say nothing of Mayor Albert J. Dick, Jr., and Art Tuttle who whacked mean two bangers at Old Eli Henry A. Runsey, board of trade member, was the umpire. Going into the ninth the score was a tie, with the market square boys at bat. Ed Baldwin whammed the first ball pitched thru several million dollars worth of ball players. The ball and Baldwin arrived at the home plate simultaneously.

"You're out," bellowed Umpire Runsey. "Yip; kill the umpire! safe by a mile! oared the stands."

"Beg your pardon," said umpire Runsey bowing to the bleacherites. "The ayes seem to have it. The runner is safe."

"This is a democracy," the umpire explained after safely arriving home. "The majority should rule."

Which explains how the 8 o'clock boys lost their first game in four years yesterday.

RAIN DAMAGE HEAVY

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—(P)—Heavy rains, that reached cloudburst proportions in some districts here late yesterday and early today caused widespread damage.

Automobiles parked at pleasure resorts near McKeesport were carried from a parking place into a small calve by a section of a hillside slid down upon them. Floods along the Pittsburgh - McKeesport boulevard drove scores of families to upper floors of their homes. Several families were removed from their houses in another district near here, when high waters from a small stream threatened them.

There were no reports of fatalities but several persons were injured.

Miss Charlotte Clem, Miss Donna Spurlock, Robert Rose and Oliver Busby spent the holiday at Harding's ranch near Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Ackram and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Richards, formerly of La Belle, Missouri, arrived in Pampa Wednesday, to make their homes.

Mr. John Roby of Amarillo visited his sisters, Mrs. Lee Banks and Mrs. J. D. Kinnison of this city, Wednesday.

Picnickers Enjoy Fourth at LeFors

Hundreds of local families braved the almost impassable roads between here and LeFors yesterday to attend the first July 4th celebration in the new oil town, and to picnic along the banks of the Red River. Thousands of persons attended the barbecue, swimming, baseball games, and the dance in the evening, while the river banks were dotted with picnic parties.

Several local picnickers remarked to The News this morning it is time the precinct grader were put into action on the LeFors road if Pampa wants to continue receiving the patronage of the oil town. Several motorists report broken springs as a result of the trip yesterday and two cars overturned. Luckily only one person was injured.

STORM IN INDIA

INDIANAPOLIS, July 5.—(P)—An electrical wind and rain storm which struck the north, eastern and central parts of the state last night caused damage which today was unestimated, but believed to have run into thousands of dollars.

Interurban and telephone and telegraph service throughout the northern and eastern parts of the state was crippled a greater portion of the night. The heavy rains caused trains and interurbans to move cautiously, making some run several hours late. Officials of the Big Four and Pennsylvania railroads reported wire communications with several cities severed.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Dee Foard of Dallas are guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. Tidman. They will leave for their home Friday morning.
