Russia Unintentionally Aids In Popularization Of ERP

PARIS, April 15 — Soviet Russia is unintentionally helping to popularize the European Recovery Program in western countries. Red accusations that ERP's multi-million dollar aid is an American trap to enslave Europe ring hollowly as evidence piles up to the contrary.

Moscow propaganda works on the recent Goebbels theory that if you repeat something often enough people will believe it. It disregards a principle stated a century ago by an American: You can't fool all of the people all of the time. ERP's own publicity—or to use the official term, information—directed in 19 participating areas by a staff headed by Alfred H. Friendly, veteran reporter on leave of absence from the Washington Post.

The staff, about 55 Americans and 20 Europeans, is scattered over the continent. It is part of the economic co-operation administration, a streamlined American governmental agency in charge of ERP.

The ECA information budget in Europe is barely $500,000 a year. Friendly, who gets along on his budget without asking for more estimates that Communist parties in western Europe probably spend 20 times as much on denouncing the ERP, as is spent by all other sources in defending it.

Favorable newspaper coverage is fragmentary at best. ERP involves knotty questions of trade, production, finance and international economics. Reducing these to ABC for the average reader is a never-ending problem.

Special pamphlets and films in ECA's opinion, help to meet this lack.

A handicap for ECA information men is that the original title of the recovery program—the Marshall Plan—was formally shelved. Marshall, of itself, was a name with loads of personal and historic significance.

In its place are alphabetical combinations: ERO, ECA, and OEEC, the latter standing for Organization for European Economic Co-operation, in which 19 participant governments confer.

"How could anyone cheer for OEEC?" one European premier has asked. "I can't even pronounce it without stuttering."

A greater handicap for ECA information men is that ERP aid is split into many indirect forms, including remote banking operations. Its effects are widely diffused and correspondingly difficult for the average European to measure.

As ECA sees it, the primary purpose of ERP information is not to stimulate European flattery of the United States. It is to encourage enthusiastic support by 270 million Europeans for ERP projects and policies in the common welfare.

Second guessing, it appears that Soviet strategists made the mistake of overplaying their hand in opposing the goal of an economically healthy western Europe.

Communist propaganda still screams that ERP means war. But after a year of watching it in operation, thoughtful Europeans add: ERP means that if there is a war, the West will win it.

Majority Of Voice Programs Are Getting Through To Destination

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP) — A State Department official says most "Voice of America" broadcasts to European Russia are getting through despite Soviet attempts to jam the programs.

Charles W. Thayer, who heads the State Department's international broadcasting division, also said yesterday that a comparatively few programs beamed at Asiatic Russia from Hawaii have been made ineffective by jamming.

Voice technicians, using special sounding devices, have determined that the Russians have used at least 18 radio transmitters to drown out "voice" broadcasts.

A "voice" spokesman said, however, that it takes one regular Russian radio transmitter to jam every American program.

Radio jamming was used widely during the war. It consists of broadcasting an irregular noise pattern which makes it impossible to hear the regular broadcast.

The "voice" broadcasts Russian-language programs of news, editorial comment, entertainment and music for listeners in the Soviet Union.

Truman Health Bill To Be Offered Soon As Some Senators Jump Gun

WASHINGTON, Apr. 15. (AP) — Administration health bill, including a compulsory insurance program, probably will be introduced within 10 days, Sen. Murray (D-Mont) said today.

Senators opposed to President Truman's proposals already have jumped the gun on the administration by offering legislation of their own to expand medical and hospital services.

A bill introduced yesterday by Sens. Taft (R-Ohio), H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) and Donnell (R-Mo) provides for federal expenditures of over $1,250,000,000 in the next five years to aid states in developing health programs.

A somewhat similar bill was offered last month, without any estimate of the cost. Sens. Hill (D-Ky), Aiken (R-Vt) and Morse (R-Ore) joined in sponsoring it.

Under both measures, states could use federal funds to buy membership in voluntary health and hospital insurance program for persons who can't afford to do so themselves.

Murray said his subcommittee of the Senate Labor Committee may meet next week to plan hearings on the various health bills. They probably will get underway about three weeks after the administration bill is introduced.

Earlier in the session Murray introduced a compulsory health insurance bill but he said the administration measure will be much more comprehensive.

Murray said the bill offered by Taft, Donnell and Smith would lead to a "vast bureaucratic system of socialized medicine" and "directly into the Russian system of state medicine."

Thus, he turned on Taft and others the same cry of socialized medicine they have raised against the program urged by President Truman.

Morse hailed the health bill introduced yesterday as evidence that efforts to "liberalize" the Republican Party are "getting somewhere."

He told the Senate that if doctors want to avoid "socialized medicine," they had better co-operate with those who are trying to work out improved health services "based on the free enterprise system."

He accused the American Medical Assn. of trying to get along without any national health legislation at all—or only such legislation "as it writes or dictates."

"Doctors will discover they cannot get by on a political propaganda program based on their selfish interests," he said.

Morse said he will "fight against compulsory national health insurance." But he added that the doctors must show they realize they have "a great social obligation to perform."

TWO TEXANS STUDYING ABROAD

Good Will Is Promoted By Student Exchange Program

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP) — While top-flight diplomats struggle over international policies, others in the State Department are busy these days promoting good will through the student exchange program.

More than 12,000 American nationals are now studying abroad. More than 25,000 foreign students are enrolled in colleges and universities in the United States.

Amazingly, only 34 Americans are studying abroad under the student exchange program sponsored by Uncle Sam. Sixteen of them are abroad under the Fulbright Act. Eighteen, including two Texans, are studying in Latin-American countries under another student exchange agreement.

The Texans are Joe West Neal, 2209 Shoal Creek Blvd., Austin, former San Antonio Junior College student, who is in Mexico, and James C. Parish, Jr., Austin, former Corpus Christi Junior college who is studying political science in Costa Rica.

More than two-thirds of the 12,000 American studying are in foreign lands, a State Department official said, but there isn't enough money.

The Fulbright Act holds out the best chance for those who want to go overseas to continue their education and who do not have private financial backing.

Under the Fulbright Act (sponsored by Senator Fulbright of Arkansas) credits and currencies of other countries acquired by the United States through the sale of surplus property may be used for educational exchanges.

Foreign students wanting to come to this country for study can use the program only for travel aboard foreign-flag vessels. No dollar exchange is provided. Most of the foreign students in the United States are financed privately or by their own government.

Around the Capital:
Senator Tom Connally can spell those big words he uses. Discussing plans to receive witnesses on the North Atlantic Pact, he said: "Anybody in the country who wants to appear and testify, if he can qualify under psychiatric tests, will be permitted to do so. The reason I referred to the psychiatric tests is because..."

Senator Donnell (R-Mo) broke in to say: "Will the Senator please spell that word for us, so we may all get it?"

Senator Connally: "Yes; p-a-y-o-h-a-l-l-i-c."

Donnell said "I think the senator is right," whereupon Connally added he was not referring to any of his colleagues, but wanted to weed out any crackpots and incompetents who would take up time.

The congressional retirement plan is administered by the Civil Service Commission and is operated on a self-supported basis by deductions, made from salaries of participating members.

Although the records are not public, virtually all of Texas members participate, paying in 2 1/2 percent of their paychecks. The retirement fund is broken down by states and, since the records are not public, it is impossible to say how much has been set aside for Texans. Retirement checks are paid out of a general fund administered by the Civil Service Commission.

An idea of what a member gets upon retirement can be obtained from the hypothetical case of a congressman who serves 20 years in the House and pays into that fund over the entire time. Assuming his salary is $12,500 yearly for the entire period (the amount he now receives), he would receive $6,250 annually in retirement pay. He has to be 62 years of age before he can start drawing the retirement pay. So he may be out of Congress several years before the checks start coming in. He can not receive the pay while still in Congress.

The longer a member's service, and the more he had paid in, the greater his retirement pay. Only two Texans to date have qualified and are receiving retirement pay. They are former Rep. Fritz G. Lanham, formerly of Fort Worth, who now lives in Washington and represents various interests, including the Trinity River Improvement Association, and former Rep. Hatten W. Summers of Dallas.

The oil and gas division of the Interior Department says that about 4,000 reports were reviewed monthly last year in the administration of the Connally "Hot Oil" act. The law forbids interstate shipment of oil produced in violation of state conservation regulations. The reports covered 419 fields with more than 50,000 wells. Nine cases were closed by successful court action, carrying fines totaling $89,800.

The Texas delegation as a whole is a strong supporter of a 70-group Air Force. Typical of their views is this comment of Rep. Lloyd Bentsen of McAllen, a bomber squadron commander in European fighting:

"They are promoting aircraft carriers that will cost a quarter of a billion dollars when completed in eight years with the necessary complement of planes. This type carrier is too big to pass through the Panama Canal. Its cost would allow us to build approximately 100 B-36 bombers.

"At a time when I think we should emphasize air power, we find men of Maginot-Line type thinking of trying to build up other services at the expense of the Air Force."

Rep. Bob Poage of Waco says: "We hope the President, the Army, and the Navy will not take the short-sighted attitude that the generals and the admirals took when Billy Mitchell first advocated air power. I realize that air power alone is not enough to assure our defense, but I think that I also know that superiority in all other arms is not enough without a superior air force."

Rep. J. M. Combs of Beaumont says cities and towns should conduct investigations to determine the need for low-cost, slum clearance housing projects in their areas.

Noting that Congress soon will take up the problem, he wants to know what the people think about the problem, and hopes they will send in their suggestions.

"The question of private enterprise is always raised," Combs adds. "At the recent mayors conference here, the officials of most big cities asserted that private capital could not finance many such developments. They contend the rents that low-income families are able to pay wouldn't make it a sound financial investment.

"That brings up the problem of whether the local interests feel that the government should step in and help. I think that the folks in the various towns and cities should check up on their own situations, view it in the light of health and juvenile delinquency problems, and then let us have their opinions."

Honor students from Tyler Junior college, back East for a convention, were escorted about the capitol by Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater. In the group were Pat McKenna, Carl Wrotenberry, Eleanor Richburg, Bobbie Jean Clark, Ramona Mitchell, Judy Wain, Norman Reynolds, Clifton Ratfield and Carney Hamilton. Miss Mildred Howell, faculty member, was with them.

Red Feelers Indicate East-West Peace Parley May Be Possible

THE TOTAL ECLIPSE OF THE MOON Tuesday night—a phenomenon occurring once in a century—encourages us to examine, without undue skepticism, reports that Moscow has been putting out feelers about possible negotiations of the Berlin imbroglio with the western powers.

to encourage the idea that a peace parley isn't outside the range of possibility? Well, there are several things, among which these stand out:

U. S. SECRETARY OF STATE ACHESON said in effect Wednesday that if the Soviets want to talk about lifting the Berlin blockade and starting four-power talks on Germany, the way is open for them to do it.

THEN REPORTING ON THE VITAL economic purpose of ERP, De Luce says: "Western European recovery is apparently progressing almost twice as fast now as it did after the first world war. But insiders of the ERP still keep their fingers crossed . . . Men on the inside of the European Recovery Program claim it now has a 40 to 60 per cent chance of long-range success. A year ago they saw only a 20 per cent chance."

Scientist Says Thinking Machine Will Displace Unskilled Workers

NEW YORK. (U-P)—WHO WILL HAVE the last laugh in the gadget age—man or the machine?

age do to him. And what is it doing? It is gradually making him unnecessary in the world—by taking over his functions.

Back Came a Jeering Postcard

"I didn't know anyone was so dumb. God must have been asleep when you was made."

BUT DR. NORBERT WIENER OF THE Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a world authority in this field, says thinking machines will make obsolete the unskilled human worker. He foresees completely automatic factories with assembly lines directed from a single control panel.

The Big Spring Herald

Published Sunday morning and weekday afternoons except Saturday by APPLICATED NEWS-PAPER, INC. Entered as second class matter July 18, 1924, at the Post Office at Big Spring, Texas, under the act of March 3, 1879.

And so we stand—at the threshold of a new adventure. The little slave we bought so long ago is now challenging its master. What has man left to defeat the machine? Nothing but his heart, the one thing a machine lacks. But man hasn't lived by his heart in the sad history of this warring world. Only by using his heart more can he avoid the doom of becoming a hired hand of his own gadgets.

Otherwise the machine will laugh . . . and laugh . . . and laugh . . . until its gears break.

House's Easter 'Vacation' Really Is To Prevent Another Coalition

WASHINGTON. (U-P)—Despite talk about the boys 'needing a rest,' real story behind the 10-day Easter recess of the House beginning today, is that Speaker Sam Rayburn and Majority Leader John McCormack are sending their charges home for a 'refresher' course.

ern Democrats is costly," he thundered. "We are now labeled the anti-human rights party."

Bill Rogers, dynamic counsel for the Senate Expenditures Committee, is a Republican. But he chafed up such a good record with both Republicans and Democrats that Democratic senators insisted he remain as mainspring of the committee. . . . Toledo, Ohio, may be a typically American city, but it turned out more art admirers per capita than any other city in the U. S. A. to see the German masterpieces captured by the U. S. Army.

Among them are freshmen Democrats Anthony Tauriello of Buffalo, N. Y., and Earl Wagner of Cincinnati, who angrily told McCormack the time had come to "stop appeasing and start hitting back" at southern opponents of the Fair Deal program.

Illinois Cong. Harold Velde, who replaced Everett Dirksen in Washington, is quietly making good. One of the first things he did after election was to sit down with labor groups who opposed him and offer cooperation . . . Credit Representatives Jackson of Washington, Mansfield of Montana and Kirwan of Ohio—all Democrats—with doing a great job in defeating the private power lobby during debate on the reclamation program.

REVOLT RUMBLES At a dinner meeting with North and South freshmen Democrats last week, Rayburn and McCormack heard increasing rumbles of "retaliation" against southern coalitionists. This wasn't all cloakroom whispers. Quite a number of big-city Democrats, who believe in carrying out Truman campaign promises, have spoken out openly.

MERRY-GO-ROUND Illinois Cong. Harold Velde, who replaced Everett Dirksen in Washington, is quietly making good. One of the first things he did after election was to sit down with labor groups who opposed him and offer cooperation . . . Credit Representatives Jackson of Washington, Mansfield of Montana and Kirwan of Ohio—all Democrats—with doing a great job in defeating the private power lobby during debate on the reclamation program.

GOP HOPE Oregon's bushy-browed Sen. Wayne Morse, considered a black sheep by old guard Republicans, nevertheless has a strong though secret following in Congress.

HOLLYWOOD (U-P)—From now on, Robert Montgomery is working strictly for himself.

And so we stand—at the threshold of a new adventure. The little slave we bought so long ago is now challenging its master. What has man left to defeat the machine? Nothing but his heart, the one thing a machine lacks. But man hasn't lived by his heart in the sad history of this warring world. Only by using his heart more can he avoid the doom of becoming a hired hand of his own gadgets.

Does this mean he'll limit his film work to his own company? "Not necessarily," he said. "Other companies may borrow me from Neptune, if they care to."

Otherwise the machine will laugh . . . and laugh . . . and laugh . . . until its gears break.

Betty Garrett is tired of chasing men in films. The happy Mrs. Larry Parks has already played a she-wolf in two pictures and now she's again pursuing Frank Sinatra in "On The Town."

A stranger who wouldn't think of asking you for a dollar thinks nothing of asking for advice.

Natural Advantages Important Factor In Growth Of Cities

Did you ever stop to consider how important natural advantages are to the growth of cities, despite all of the man-made substitutes that have been developed?

The importance of water transportation has declined, but water for other uses still maintains a top spot among the essentials to urban development. Cities such as Dallas and Fort Worth, with their railroads, airline and super highways are not confronted with any particular transportation problems, but water demands cause complications from time to time. Unlike transportation, scientists have been unable to develop a substitute for water as required by domestic and industrial consumers.

St. Louis of course, has almost two-dozen railroads, but it is doubtful that it would have developed to its present stature without the Mississippi river. The other major cities located inside the coastal areas are on the Great Lakes.

U. S. 'Free Enterprise' System Clanks Heavy Weight Of Chains

WASHINGTON. (U-P)—JUST KEEP everything free of control, the old economists used to say, and everything will work out dandy.

come, the government would pay them when their prices went down, or else buy up their crops.

AND NOW THE LATEST EVIDENCE of how far we've moved from a truly free enterprise system is the new farm program which Agriculture Secretary Brannan has laid in Congress' lap.

THE UNDERLYING IDEA—HELPING the farmers—isn't new. Under the law we have right now, the government steps in on a number of crops and buys them up to help farmers when prices fall below a certain level.

Case For Atlantic Pact Not Yet Ready To Be Argued Before UN

The Atlantic pact will have to be explained to the General Assembly of the United Nations and the sooner we say that we shall argue our case in a full and open debate, the better. Certainly we should not wait to be challenged by Mr. Shromyko and then, having been called to account, present our case in the form of a mere rebuttal. All the United Nations, not only the Soviet Union and its allies, have a right to them and to ourselves to make that accounting. The burden of proof is clearly upon us, and any appearance of evading our obligation to explain, or of quibbling about texts, can only undermine popular confidence both in the pact and in the charter.

recognized in the Constitution; in fact, the founding fathers felt strongly as George Washington put it, about "the danger of parties in the state." Secretary Hull and his expert advisers—who dominated the drafting of the charter felt the same way about blocs. There "will no longer be need," said Secretary Hull (March 21, 1944), "for spheres of influence for alliances, for balance of power, or any other of the special arrangements, through which, in the unhappy past, the nations strove to safeguard their security or to promote their interests."

It is a waste of time to deplore these blocs and to inveigh against them. These blocs, and not the fifty-odd separate, sovereign and theoretically equal states, are the actual members of the United Nations. That is not what the charter says. That is not what the original authors meant. But that is what the organization has become—what in the view of some of us it was always bound to become.

For a world organization designed to operate by the collective action of more than fifty separate states as different in size, power and internal structure as the Soviet Union and Yemen, the United States and Bulgaria, China and Sweden, is an abstraction and a fiction. It never could hope to deal with the real conflicts in mankind. They can be dealt with only by the great historic communities of nations that have developed through vital necessity and by common tradition over long periods of time. The function of a world organization is to promote agreement among these communities. It can perform that function only if it recognizes that they exist, not by bringing its hands and wishing that they did not exist.

California's Fruit Losses About A Third

LOS ANGELES, April 15. (AP)—No matter what you may have read Southern California's winter wasn't its worst. Just its most spectacular. The records agree crop damage was greater in two others.

The freezing weather—plus snow and ice and high winds—might not seem so bad to folks up north, but when the mercury slides near 34 degrees that means the difference between success and failure to an orange rancher.

The California Fruit Growers Exchange, which markets about 75 per cent of the state's citrus, estimates frost damaged a third of the crop. The exchange breaks the losses down this way:

Valencia oranges 32 per cent navel oranges 27 per cent, lemons 32 per cent, and grapefruit 41 per cent.

California produces more than half the nation's oranges, 99 per cent of its lemons and nine per cent of its grapefruit.

Early damage estimates ran as high as 40 per cent and $60 million. The exchange hesitates to put a price tag on the freeze. It points out that although last year's harvest was worth $172 million F. O. B. California, its value this year will not necessarily decrease one third.

Growers will sell more of their fruit fresh this year instead of to by-products concerns. Fresh fruit can be sold for much more than fruit sold for by-products. Even damaged fruit is not a total loss. It can be processed and sold as cattle fodder.

There should be no shortages, the exchange says. Enough fruit will be diverted from by-products to supply consumer demands.

Although citrus prices jumped sharply after the first January freeze, two months later they had snapped back to normal. The exchange predicts they will stay there.

In addition to citrus, other Southern California crops were hard hit by icing.

In hot, lush Imperial Valley frost ruined millions of dollars worth of spinach, peas, tomatoes, squash and celery. Lettuce heads were lost or stunted by the cold but a price upsurge is expected to compensate growers.

Portions of the winter white rose potato crop froze in the ground at Perris and in the San Joaquin Valley. San Fernando Valley's cut flower industry reported heavy losses.

But not all the news was bad. Growers of walnuts, grapes and deciduous fruits say that if anything the freeze was beneficial for them. The trees and vines were in a dormant state during the chill. Growers claim the cold drove the sap back to the roots and gave them a better winter rest. They expect bigger and better crops in 1949.

Livestock ranchers, although their stock lost weight when heavy snow buried pasture grass, say the range lands were never greener or the blades more juicy than this spring.

Couple Married After Half Century

POMONA, Calif., April 15. (AP)—Marriage has finally come to an elderly Pomona couple who were first engaged nearly a half-century ago then parted because of a lovers' quarrel.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Hart were wed April 7 at Yuma, Ariz. She is 71, he 72.

The two first became engaged in 1900 at Lomburg, N. M., when Hart lived at her mother's boardinghouse. Then the quarrel.

She then married Ancl Bean, a young merchant of Sheffield, Tex. They had seven children before moving to Pomona 10 years ago. Bean died here sometime ago.

Hart, meanwhile, had married too, but lost his wife after four years of marriage. A former Douglas, Ariz., copper worker and policeman, he had retired to Redlands, Calif. Redlands and Pomona are nearby and a sister of Mrs. Hart's brought the two together again.

A six-months courtship and then the wedding followed.

Texan Offers New Minimum Wage Plan

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)—Rep. Lucas of Texas offered a measure yesterday to raise the minimum wage from 40 to 65 cents an hour and to tie its fluctuations to the cost of living.

The Truman administration has asked a 75 cent minimum.

PEOPLE SAY STATUE WEEPS—Dozens of persons flocked to a four-room flat in Syracuse, N. Y., to watch Shirley Anne Martin, 11, (above) kiss the forehead of a broken plaster statue of St. Ann. They said they saw what appeared to be tears falling from the statue's eyes. A Catholic priest called it an extraordinary occurrence. (AP Wirephoto).

HOPE FOR GOOD FRIDAY MIRACLE

Thousands Visit Girl Whose Kisses Make Statue 'Weep'

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 15. (AP)—The crippled and the curious return today to the home of Shirley Anne Martin, hoping for a Good Friday miracle through what many call "tears" shed by a religious statue.

They want to see the 11-year-old schoolgirl whose kiss on the forehead of a broken plaster image of St. Ann, witnesses say, brings watery drops from its eyes. Some want the liquid for curative attempts.

The child's mother, Mrs. Arthur E. Martin, told a reporter: "We don't claim any miracles. We don't claim to be healers. It just happened and we have opened our house for whatever it may be worth."

Shirley Anne's parents whisked her to an undisclosed place last night after she had participated in a television broadcast.

The girl was reported exhausted from appearances before hundreds of persons who have converged on the family's flat since Wednesday. Whether Shirley Anne, who is a Roman Catholic, would be at home was uncertain.

Police Lt. Mathew Solinski estimated that an average of 2,500 persons were around the place for several hours last night, even though the Martins did not return after the telecast. Streets were blocked off and buses were re-routed.

The police department said there were crippled and blind persons in the crowd. Some, he said, he was told, had come from Detroit and Toronto.

Today "being Good Friday, anything might happen," he commented to a newsmen.

Motorcycle Patrolman Robert Chappel reported that "many people" in the crowd were crippled or apparently in ill-health.

He said some had said they wanted "just one of the tears" from the statue head of St. Ann mother of the Virgin Mary. Others he added, said they wanted to take the watery substance home to ailing relatives or friends.

Some spectators who saw the statue dabbed handkerchiefs against the painted face. Others touched it with rosary beads.

More confirmation that the three-inch statue head shed what witnesses called "tears" came from employees of the television station. Paul Wiley, a cameraman, told a reporter: "I saw tears come from both eyes."

Al Rein, station stage director, asked by a reporter if he had seen "tears," replied: "I'll say I did."

Meanwhile, a minister suggested a scientific test.

The Rev. Glenn O. Canfield, pastor of May Memorial Unitarian Church, who said he had looked at the statue head, told a reporter: "A chemical analysis should be made to determine whether the girl's saliva and the liquid solution that appears on the doll's face are the same."

ELECTRONIC FLOOD FORECASTER IS DEVELOPED BY U. S. WEATHER MAN

WASHINGTON — The U. S. Weather Bureau has developed a revolutionary, electronic flood forecaster.

It is based on the principle that a condenser will store electric current in proportion to the flow of electricity through it. In the same way, a river channel will store water in proportion to the rate with which water flows through that channel. The same mathematical equation governs both phenomena.

At present the Weather Bureau has only a pilot model of the analog, but before the end of the year the Bureau's flood warning service will have the devices operating in critical areas.

The first working model will be tried on the Potomac River. The next ones will be placed at Cincinnati, Kansas City, St. Louis and Tulsa and other cities, depending on need. The pilot model cost about $2,000 to build.

The result is a graph which shows just how high that crest will be as it progresses down the river and just when it will pass certain points.

The analog grew out of an idea that came to Ray K. Linsley, assistant chief of hydrology. It was perfected with the aid of M. S. Kohler and L. W. Foske, two other Weather Bureau officials.

The beautiful story of the Resurrection is one of the priceless gems of literature. There were the angels by an empty tomb, the startled women, the bewildered disciples, and a soft voice saying, "He is not here... He is risen... and goeth before you into Galilee."

The whole mighty drama of life is unfolded in that simple narrative. For as Jesus rose from the dead, so the flowers spring from the warm earth, the trees bud, fledglings appear in their nests, and little creatures of flesh stare wide-eyed at the world.

Nature is revived and enters a new life cycle in the spring. So Jesus brought new spiritual life to the world through His life and death and resurrection. He brought eternal springtime to men and taught them that beyond the tomb is the daybreak of another life.

Let all the world rejoice on Easter morning, for He is risen. He took the sting from Death and victory from the Grave; and He lives forevermore.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Commissioners To Hold Hearing On Zoning Proposals

City commissioners will conduct a public hearing tonight on three proposals submitted by the zoning adjustment board.

The hearing is set for 7:30 p. m. in the commission room at the City hall. The zoning adjustment board has recommended that "A" districts be established in two areas which were annexed to the city recently. Construction in "A" districts is restricted to one-family residences. The board also is advocating a change in reclassification for another area already embracing zoning. It proposes to assign an "E2" classification to Lot No. 4, Block 94, Original Town, which is the northwest corner of the Goliad and 11th Place intersection. That lot is now zoned as a "B" district, or a two-family residence maximum for new construction. If approved, the new classification would permit erection of a community business building on the lot.

Films Projected For Kiwanis Club

Motion pictures explaining disposition of funds appropriated for the armed services were projected for the Kiwanis club Thursday. Duvall Wiley was in charge of the program and Lt. Fred N. Massey, in charge of the Army recruiting, and Sgt. Ernest E. Runyan, assigned to the office here, presented the film. Joe Williamson favored with several piano selections. The barbecue, given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Hardy with President and Mrs. Nat Shick, as co-hostesses, was reviewed. More than 30 couples were feasted at the weekend affair, which featured barbecue food and all the trimmings. In a measure, it was a celebration of the club's recent successful presentation of African adventure.

SENESCENCE CALLED 'DISEASE'

Savant Says Ending Old Age Pains May Ease World Ills

BALTIMORE, April 15 — Getting the aches and pains out of old age may relieve the world's chronic political ills at the same time, a noted British scientist suggested today. Anyhow, said Dr. Vladimir Kor- enchevsky, this business of grow- ing old nowadays is a "disease" —not a normal physiological pro- cess. And it's largely unnecessary.

HOUR OF DOOM NEARING

Stomping Slayer In Plea For Life

HUNTSVILLE, April 15. — Youthful Buster Northern, sched- uled to die in the electric chair only hours from now, cried his in- nocence today. But in his death cell here, he awaited word from three men in Austin who were hear- ing a new plea for his life. The State Board of Pardons and Paroles scheduled a meeting for this afternoon to reconsider North- ern's case. George O. Youngblood of Dal- las, a court-appointed attorney for Northern, asked for the meeting. R. A. (Smoot) Schmid, chairman of the board, said, "I don't know what Youngblood has to tell us. He

It ends tonight.

Texan Cautions Against Cutting Selective Service

WASHINGTON, April 15. — Rep. Thomas of Texas cautioned the House yesterday against "dan- gerous action" in cutting selective servide funds in half. The Hous by an 82 to 9 vote, however, trimmed the allotment to $4,500,000. Thomas said 3,022 local draft boards still must handle regis- trations and already have been cut down to part time employees.

Johnson Against Modernization Of Federal Barge Lines

WASHINGTON, April 15. — Sen. Johnson of Texas asked yes- terday if the bill to modernize the federal barge lines would not put the government in a "strait jack- et." He was presiding at a commerce subcommittee hearing. The bill would increase capital stock of the Inland Waterways Corp. to $33 mil- lion from $15 million.

But to return to prospects for making the globe a likely place to grow old, or even up in, here's how age ties in: "The world is generally run by older men. Because of their age the mental and physical weakness- es that come with age, the Ox- ford University scientist explained. What to do? Get younger men to run the world? Well, they don't have greybeards' infirmities, "but at the same time they haven't got the experience that makes for wis- dom."

So the eventual answer, Dr. Kor- enchevsky told a reporter, is to "get rid of the infirmities of old age—and have wisdom unfettered for a better world."

How to achieve this? The Russian-born gerontologist meaning scientist studying the pro- cesses of aging has been doing research since 1907.

And he notes that science still doesn't know standards of normal aging and normal old age. Be- sides, "gerontological research can't alter in a few months, or even years, what hereditary de- velopment has fixed in a million years" with respect to man's aging.

By growing old and calling it a "disease," Dr. Korenchevsky doesn't mean the inevitable sweep of years—just the infirmities and senility they bring.

In declaring this "unnecessary," the doctor is expressing his faith in scientific conquest of even these formidable obstacles. He be- lieves an international research foundation should tackle the job.

"Gerontological research is very expensive," he declared, "and if there is not a sufficient number of research centers in any country, the obvious exit out of this diffi- culty is to pool all willing and available scientific manpower into a co-operative international orga- nization."

"That is the chief aim in the or- ganizing activities of our British Society for Research On Aging," Dr. Korenchevsky is currently visiting the gerontology research center at Baltimore city hospitals.

The busy youth meditated at length Wednesday with Father Frank Braun, Catholic chaplain at the prison. Northern is a Catholic. "He is somewhat nervous, but he is in very good spirits," the Chaplain said. "He is smoking a lot of cigarettes. If he has to go to the electric chair, he will be ready to go."

Farmer Not Guilty In Soil Blowing

LUBBOCK, April 15. — G. K. Horton was not responsible for soil blowing on his neighbors farm, a district court jury here ruled. The court found against Charlie Hoover, who had sued for $2,500 in damages from Horton. They own adjoining farms in Deaf Smith County. The jury said the damages com- plained of occurred as a result of an act of nature. It found further that some of the sand or dirt that blew onto Hoover's land came from other land than that of Horton. G. H. Nelson, defense attorney, said in his closing argument yes- terday that if the jury found in favor of Hoover "there won't be enough courthouses in Texas to try all the blowing dust suits that will be filed."

Johnson Against Modernization Of Federal Barge Lines

WASHINGTON, April 15. — Sen. Johnson of Texas asked yes- terday if the bill to modernize the federal barge lines would not put the government in a "strait jack- et." He was presiding at a commerce subcommittee hearing. The bill would increase capital stock of the Inland Waterways Corp. to $33 mil- lion from $15 million.
