Third Party Movement Checked by This Outcome

SELECTION WAS LAST NIGHT

Prohibition Group Will Continue Activity Alone

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(P)—Announcement was made at the office of Senator Norris of Nebraska today that he would head no third party movement. The statement was made in connection with his nomination for the presidency at Chicago by the Farmer-Labor party.

In the absence of Senator Norris, his secretary stated that the Senator had been approached by convention leaders in Chicago within the last few days regarding whether he would head a third ticket.

The secretary asserted that the Senator had definitely stated at the time that he would not accept such a nomination.

ATLANTA, Va., July 12.—(P)—His nomination as a candidate for Vice-President on the Farmer-Labor ticket at the Chicago convention is "absurd so far as I am concerned," Will J. Vereen, of Moultrie, Ga., said today.

"Under no consideration would I accept or even consider the nomination," Mr. Vereen declared.

"I know nothing about the matter except from press reports. I did not even know the convention was being held or who was holding it."

CHICAGO, July 12.—(P)—United States Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska today had become an unwilling candidate for presidency of the United States on the Farmer-Labor ticket.

Despite his reported refusal to head any third party slate, the Nebraska Senator was placed in nomination at last night's session of the convention. He was chosen on the third ballot, receiving 16 votes to 14 for Norman Thomas, the Socialist nominee for president.

For vice-president the Farmer-Laborites named Will Vereen of Moultrie, Ga., a cotton mill owner.

While the Farmer-Labor party was going ahead with selection of standard bearers, the Prohibition party, also in session here, centered discussion on platform problems. With adoption of the platform today, nominations for president and vice-president were next in order.

Possibility of a merger of the Prohibition party and the Farmer-Labor group ended last night when both vetoed the proposal.

Must Guard Bremen From Souvenir Hunters
QUEBEC, July 12.—(P)—A detail of Quebec provincial police has been ordered to Greenley Island to protect the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen from souvenir hunters who already have stripped the craft of several of its parts.

Decision to send police was made as a result of an appeal from mechanic Thibault of the transcontinental airways, who has been guarding the plane since efforts to fly it out proved unsuccessful.

"LIBERTY" SUED FOR $600,000 BY MRS. T. HOUSTON

FORT WORTH, July 12.—(P)—Suit for $600,000 against Liberty Weekly, Inc., publishers of Liberty magazine, was filed in district court here today by Mrs. Temple Houston of Woodward, Okla. The four children of Mrs. Houston are plaintiffs in the suit, also.

According to the petition, Liberty published an article on June 9 concerning Sam Houston in which it was stated that Temple Houston was the son of the general and an Indian squaw.

The plaintiffs claim that the weekly produce court records showing that the mother of Temple Houston was Margaret Lea, third wife of Sam Houston.

Chas. Barrett to Serve 19th Year in Sunday School

Ehrly, secretary of the Sunday school.

STATE SEEKS OIL JUDGMENT IN HUTCHINSON

AUSTIN, July 12.—(P)—The State's motion for judgment, and defense pleas for new trial, in its suit for some 500 acres of producing oil land in Hutchinson county, were being argued in district court here today.

A jury recently found for the state's contention that the tract, worth millions, is vacant of valid title and should revert to the commonwealth.

Wounded Man Is Charged in Attempt at Chicken Theft

A man giving his name as Tom Darnell when he was brought to the Pampa hospital early yesterday morning to be treated for gunshot wounds has been charged with theft in connection with an attempt to steal chickens from the farm of D. N. Baggerman, 2 1/2 miles east of here.

Darnell, who says his home is in Yoakum, was shot and wounded while leaving the Baggerman chicken house, according to Mr. Baggerman. Another man was present, but got away.

Mr. Baggerman told officers he was awakened about 2 a. m., yesterday morning as an alarm connected with the chicken house began to sound. He grabbed a shotgun and ran outside in time to see the men running away. Of the two charges fired, the last one took effect.

Darnell denies that he was in the chicken house. He received nine wounds in the back and has bruises from falling over a fence while running to a car parked nearby.

He was arrested at the hospital.

It's Easy, Says Man Who Made Fortune on $50 Job

By NEA Service
SEATTLE, July 12.—Can a man accumulate a six-figure fortune on $50 a week?

"He sure can," says David G. Younggren, who is a trainman on the Seattle municipal trolley system. He has never made more than $50 a week, but he's piled up the six-figure fortune in just a quarter of a century. He was "broke" when he landed in Seattle.

Twenty years later he sold the crop from a fruit farm he owned for $32,000 cash. Later he sold the farm for a good deal more than that.

Younggren saved his early wages—what he could of them—and started investing in real estate. The city grew and his holdings grew with it. He branched out into fruit ranches—and they grew in value too.

Recipe?
"Use common sense. Working men should get over the idea of aping the rich, live simply, save modestly and invest wisely. There's no trick to it. I've always lived well, belonged to all the lodges I wanted, seen all the shows I've wanted—but I never made speculators or bootleggers rich."

Prouder than he is of his fortune, Younggren harps on the fact that no passenger of the millions he's carried ever has been injured.

"Anybody can make money," he says, "but satisfying a new million people in safety for 25 years is a good trick—if you can do it."

DEMOCRATS IN FULL HARMONY FOR CAMPAIGN

Prohibition and Farm Relief Will Be Discussed

RASKOB BACKS SMITH'S STAND

Says Bootlegging Might Be Eliminated by Modification

NEW YORK, July 12.—(P)—Determination of the notification dates for its two standard bearers is awaited as the spark that will formally launch the Democratic party into presidential campaigning.

With organization completed, the Democratic camp today found itself fully prepared for battle, having worked out in perfect harmony the difficult problem of selecting those to guide its destiny in the coming fray.

At a forty-five minute meeting and without a dissenting voice, John J. Raskob of Delaware, a leader in the business and industrial world, who was chosen by the Democratic national committee as its new chairman and he was entrusted with broad powers in mapping out plans.

Mrs. Russ Honored
Hardly had this decision been announced late yesterday when Raskob took over with a positive hand the duties of his post. In a few minutes he had appointed five vice-chairmen, including two women; Mrs. Nelly Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming, and Mrs. Florence Farley, national committeewoman from Kansas, and designated a chairman for all of the sub-committees which will function in the campaign.

Further, in his speech of acceptance he brought to the forefront the questions of prohibition and farm relief as two of the issues that must be met on the voting line in the impending fight. In regard to the former he stressed the right of Governor Smith to work for a lawful change in the dry statutes which in the opinion of the party's presidential nominee would be conducive to a change for a better in the prohibition situation.

"It is as a result of careful study," the new chairman said, "he can evolve a plan for the regulation and control of the question in a way that will absolutely prevent the return of the saloon, eliminate bootlegging, with its accompanying evils—graft, corruption and murder—and restore temperate life in our country, then all fair-minded men must admit his right, if not his duty as president, to promote such plan, and to advocate such changes in our laws and to promote such plan, and to advocate such changes in our laws and constitution as may be necessary for its adoption."

Must Spread Facts
This statement was greeted with a burst of applause. A few minutes before, Raskob had declared opposition to a mudslinging campaign and forcibly urged that party speakers devote their efforts to discussion of "constructive policies." He continued that to insure success in November the party had but to convey to the country the knowledge that the people of New York had a Smith and the people of Arkansas of his running mate—Senator Joseph T. Robinson.

Raskob, chairman of the finance committee of the General Motors corporation, said that up to the present he had not been a partisan. He offered as an explanation of his being listed in who's who as a republican, his connection with the E. I. Dupont de Nemours company, adding that he twice had voted for Woodrow Wilson, and then supported the Republican ticket.

FLIGHT HEROES RESTING
SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—(P)—With the echoes of San Francisco's boisterous welcome still ringing in their ears and with $12,000 nestling in their pockets, Captain Harry Lyon and Radioman James Warner, American participants in the Southern Cross flight to Australia, rested on their laurels in semiprivacy today.

Hoover Persistent in Delaying Statement on Farm Relief Views

WASHINGTON, July 12.—(P)—Following his previously indicated policy, Secretary Hoover has met a request for an expression of his views on farm relief with a statement that the issue will be discussed fully in his speech accepting the presidential nomination.

The request came from William H. Settle, president of the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation and was identical with one sent also to Governor Smith of New York. Mr. Hoover's reply was made public late yesterday at Indianapolis.

His answer was directly in line with the policy enunciated early in the week by Chairman Work of the Republican National committee, who said that Mr. Hoover would make no further statements on campaign issues until he delivers his speech of acceptance at Palo Alto on August 11.

A plot of ground 140 feet wide and 150 feet long has been purchased as the site for the new Christian church it was announced by W. A. Taylor, of the purchasing committee, yesterday afternoon. The location is the northeast corner of block ten on East Kingsmill avenue, five blocks from Cuyler street.

It is planned to divide the property where the present church building is located into five 25-foot business lots facing Kingsmill avenue. The lots would be 125 feet long.

RUSSIAN PILOT FAILS TO FIND HIS BASE SHIP

With Four Companions Is Stranded—Plane Damaged

WALKING PARTY TAKEN ABOARD

Dr. Malmgren Is Dead and Body Cared for by Krassin

MOSCOW, July 12.—(P)—Another ironical twist was given to the Noble rescue efforts today with news that the Russian pilot Chukhovsky and four companions were stranded near North East Land after having discovered the walking party of the Italia and given directions for its rescue.

Prof. Samoilovich, head of the Russian expedition aboard the ice-breaker Krassin, sent a report on the discovery of the Malmgren group Tuesday July 10. The report follows:

"A plane piloted by Chukhovsky with Straude, Shelagin, Alkseev and the movie operator Blushstein aboard took off to search for the Viglieri group at 4:30 p. m., July 10.

Find Men Again
"Circling twice, the plane disappeared in the direction of Karl Island. At 5:30 p. m., the plane reached the Island without seeing the faintest sign of the Viglieri camp. Proceeding farther and flying low, Chukhovsky at 6:45 suddenly discovered the Malmgren group of three huddled together on a small sharp edged iceberg. Two of the men stood waving flags while the third lay prostrate.

"Circling five times, Chukhovsky returned, but due to heavy fog did not succeed in reaching the Krassin. Radio contact with Chukhovsky ceased at 8:15 p. m., and it was not until 10:30 a. m., on July 11 that Chukhovsky radioed he had been forced to land a mile or two southwest of Cape Platen, being unable to give the precise location on account of fog.

"The crew has two weeks' supplies of food, weapons and ammunition. Chukhovsky urged the Krassin to push to the rescue of the three unfortunates who apparently were in a desperate position."

Plane Is Damaged
Chukhovsky reported that the under carriage of his machine had been damaged in landing and asked that assistance be sent to him to repair this.

Aboard Russian icebreaker Krassin, July 12.—(P)—Given up for dead for six weeks, two of the three members of the Italia's walking party were rescued today by the icebreaker Krassin.

The third member, Dr. Finn Malmgren, noted Swedish meteorologist and scientist, was found dead, the victim of the bitter struggle since May 30 against the terrors of the arctic.

The rescued members of the party were Captain Alberto Mariano, pilot of the ill-fated Italia, and Captain Filippo Zappi, the navigator.

Leg Is Frozen
Captains Mariano and Zappi are now aboard the Krassin. Both were in an exhausted, half-frozen and starved state when they were snatched from what had seemed certain death for many weeks. Captain Mariano's leg was frozen, but his companion was quite well.

Dr. Malmgren died a month ago, but his two companions, faithful to their dead comrade, had kept his body and this was taken aboard the Krassin today.

The Russian icebreaker, as soon as it had rescued the two Italians, again turned its prow toward the east and this weary round of battering the ice floes in an effort to reach the group of men under Lieutenant Viglieri still marooned near Foy's Island off North East Land.

Mrs. Bertha Robert left today for Dallas, where she was called by the death of her brother, Horace Lawton.

HAVING LONG CLAIMED

The Panhandle oil fields, Amarillo is going further and sweeping in all the wheat, wheat territory, vacant labor and probably the sun that ripened the crop.

Reading more closely, one learns that the figure represented wheat handled by the railroads for consignment. Through shipments were claimed also, but unfortunately the exact figures could not be given.

Following up that logic, we deduct that Amarillo is the oldest city in the world in winter. She ought to claim the "northerners" which whip across her frequently—all of them.

Time to Think. The ugly head of intolerance, always seeking a place to emerge into the world of affairs, has an unusual opportunity to break forth at the present time.

Intolerance has a strong appeal because it whets the combative instinct of the ignorant and deceives a great many good people. It is not confined to sector class, and there are two sides lined up for battle.

Now is the time for the thinking people of all parts of the nation to shun and discourage those whose capital stock is intolerance and abuse.

Behind much of the current intolerance is graft of one kind or another—publicity seeking, striving for acclaim, or even promoting schemes for personal enrichment.

Do not believe every strongly phrased statement you hear or read. Until you have proof, challenge and weigh charges and claims. Seek out the real issues and discourage the introduction of others for personal gain.

To be right is one of the most difficult things in the world, but the utmost, in worthy achievements. "Get understanding."

CAPITOL News

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—The main factors which forced the nomination of Herbert Hoover were these:

1—He was the only man of presidential stature in the Republican party who went after it. He was a giant among pygmies.

2—His popularity with the voters was sufficient to encourage large numbers of hard-boiled, often self-seeking politicians to go aboard with him when they looked about and saw no other seaworthy raft.

3—It was also sufficient to cause large numbers of politicians out of power to grab onto his coat-tails for a free ride back into control. The party in power has in every state two factions: the "ins" who are getting the gravy of federal patronage and the "outs" who want to take it away from them.

4—The party got to Kansas City and saw what a flimsy, disorganized and leaderless group the opposition to Hoover really was.

The Kansas City convention was dull and uninspired. As far as your correspondent could observe no majority of delegates was hot for Hoover. Some of those who swung to him still believe a stronger candidate might have been nominated while others feel deeply that he is far from the answer to a politician's prayer.

But what a walkaway! There had to be an administration candidate and he was bound to have the edge. Who but Hoover? If this had been a strong, aggressive administration it might have produced another leader.

In the Senate the party is led by such presidential impossibilities as Smoot, Fess and Bingham. Not a single governor of a large state was available.

Small wonder if Senator Borah, knowing the politician's dislike for Hoover, many months ago felt the party might turn desperately to him for a leader. But he learned that he wasn't yet considered safe.

In the east they tried to resurrect Charles Evans Hughes, the defeated candidate of 1916. Hughes had sense enough to decline the chance to be used to block

Hoover. So the Mellons, Hilleses and Butlers clung to the hope of drafting Coolidge. How remarkable that Coolidge never told them that they couldn't have him. How close they must have been to him!

But it was obvious long before convention time that the only possibility of stopping Hoover depended on the ability of the antis to tie up 200 or 300 votes in Coolidge's name until they could begin to rob Hoover of his delegates.

There was the Dawes hope—that Hoover could be derailed in such a tieup and be unable to regain the track, that Coolidge would definitely say "No!" and that Dawes would be the only man in sight. There was much Dawes strength at Kansas City—he was a politicians' candidate. But it never had a chance to jell.

CANYON, July 12.—Six students of the Geography department of the West Texas State Teachers college, chaperoned by Miss Darthula Walker, head of the department, spent four days of last week very profitably, making a tour over many of the interesting points of southern and southeastern New Mexico.

The party left Canyon at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, leaving Texas over the southwestern Trail and going through Roswell enroute to Carlsbad. The West Texas group had the privilege of meeting Jim White, discoverer of the caverns, who acts as head guide when he is there. Recently arrangements have been made whereby people can get their lunch in the caverns.

PANHANDLE BOY HURT

PANHANDLE, July 12.—J. Floyd Howe, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Howe, is recovering from serious injuries received Saturday when he was caught between a tractor and a one-way plow. The right thigh was cut to the bone just above the knee and the fleshy part of one hip was almost torn off by the blade of the disc plow. The accident occurred while the boy was holding up at the beam of the plow as the tractor backed up to hook on to it. The tractor was not stopped quickly enough and forced the child against the disc. He was rushed immediately to Panhandle for medical attention. He is recuperating at the home of his grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Weatherly.

The leader of a forlorn hope because, as churchman, he crossed swords with parliament, and parliament, not the church, controls the established religion of England.

Three are negroes. They will die last. The four white men, three of them little more than boys, will go to the chair first.

Cardinals Give Giants Shove to Third Position

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN, Associated Press Sports Writer. When ever the Cardinals set themselves for a leap into the long lead and a merry laugh at their field, something always seems to happen. It remains a good bet that the eagerly-sought mathematical certainty will be reached in both major circuits about mid-September, but this national league race has a way of hanging on.

Fresh from three beatings in Pittsburgh, the runner-up Giants sailed into St. Louis and became the third place club thru the simple expedient of losing the first game of four to the home entry while the Reds were trimming Brooklyn. And then when Jim Bottomley hit his twentieth home run with two on and helped the red birds to four runs against Larry Benton in the first inning Wednesday, the stampede seemed to be in earnest.

The gallant Benton was removed from the box—the first time he has been taken out of a starting game in eighteen appearances this season—and Young Bill Walker, Denver recruit, was exposed to the St. Louis attack. Bill started as if to complete Benton's job in the way Larry started it. He filled the bases on passes in the second round and the Cardinals hastily formed another reception committee to welcome the runs over the plate.

The only flaw in these arrangements was that Young Walker so changed his tactics that not one Cardinal got past third base during the remainder of the afternoon. The great bats of the St. Louis sluggers accounted for just one hit among them in the eight innings Walker pitched, while the Giants were pecking away at Messrs. Reinhart, Hald and Johnson for just enough runs to win by 6 to 4.

The St. Louis series still can become a reserve for the Giants and a serious one, what with Alex and Jess Haines, both aching for a chance at the New Yorkers Thursday and Friday, but that one victory Wednesday will prevent utter rout of the clan McGraw, such as Mount City fans would like to see. A clean sweep for four always means a clear gain of four games, as even rudimentary mathematics show but three out of four nets an advance of only two notches.

Cincinnati slid back into third place by losing to the Robins, 4 to 3. Old Bill Doak suddenly found himself rid of humberg's Baneroff and others did some smart hitting behind him. Peter Joseph Jablonowski started his first game for the Reds, but was unfortunate enough to oppose Doak at his best.

The Cubs took another from the Braves, 4 to 2, and the Pirates nosed out the Phillies, 3 to 1, in a game which Donie Bush considered serious enough to warrant the use of two pitchers—Brame and Hill.

The American league race continued at the even pace into which it settled ten day ago when the Yankees decided to loiter along for a while until more strenuous effort seemed necessary. The champions got another even break, losing the first to the Tigers, 4 to 2, as Ken Holloway and Elam Vangilder

The Athletics got only an even break against the White Sox, and failed to gain—as if that makes any difference now—while the Red Sox and the Indians won close games from the Browns and the Senators. Slim Harris turned in his best effort of the season to trim Dan Howley's crew, 4 to 3, while Reeves' third error enabled the Hudlin to shade Hadley in a nip-and-tack duel at Washington, 2 to 1.

Second Place Is Real Race for Texas Leaguers

(By The Associated Press) The battle for second place in the Texas league continues with San Antonio, Dallas, and Wichita Falls, separated by a narrow margin. The Spudders dropped from the runner-up post Wednesday when they lost to Houston and the Bears and Steers won, respectively, from Shreveport and Waco. Despite a game fight by Shreveport, San Antonio defeated the Sports, 8 to 7, by bunching hits in three innings, the most fruitful rally coming in the seventh round and netting four runs. The Sports scored four runs in the ninth, but Cox of San Antonio put more steam on the ball and eked out a victory.

Although their pitching was none too good toward the end of the game, the Steers were in great hitting form and tramped out a 15 to 7 victory over Waco. The Dallas attack reached a peak in the second frame when ten players crossed the plate. While he had a 14 to 0 lead at one stage of the contest, Newman was unable to finish the game and was replaced by Bartholomew in the eighth inning.

Houston combined timely hitting, steady pitching by Hallahan and Spudder errors to defeat Wichita Falls, 6 to 2. Hallahan allowed ten hits, but scattered them well, while Cvenegros gave up seven.

Excellent pitching by Walkup helped Fort Worth defeat Beaumont, 8 to 2. Walkup yielded seven safeties, and for the first five innings allowed not a run. Meanwhile, the Cats limbered up their artillery in the fourth and fifth frames in each of which they scored four runs. Petrie and Eberhard supplied the Exporter tallies with homers which came in the sixth and ninth innings.

Dartmouth Star Football Player Is Killed by Lightning

WOLFEBORO, N. H., July 12.—(AP)—Harold Leslie Hamm, 21-year-old Dartmouth football star of Arlington, Mass., is a victim of lightning. He was killed late yesterday while fishing from a wharf on Lake Winnepesaukee. The Dartmouth fullback had been a counsellor at a boys' camp. A bolt struck the water a few feet from where he was sitting and skipped along the surface of the lake, striking the steel rod which he held in his hand.

Better Golf Being Shown by Juniors

HOUSTON, July 12.—(AP)—Forced to shoot three strokes better golf than was necessary to qualify in last year's tournament, 32 boys under 20 years of age entered the first round of match play for the Texas Junior Golf championship today.

Gene Muller, Galveston, who leads the qualifiers yesterday with a 72, one more than perfect golf on the River Oakes course, was in the first two-some to start, paired against Tony Butler of Port Arthur.

Fortunes of the draw promised that most favorites would come safely thru the first round of play. "Lefty" Stackhouse of Mexia, right handed lad who eliminated Reuben Alsbach of San Antonio in last year's tournament, was one of the pre-tournament favorites, however, who had a chance of falling by the way side. After taking an 87 for qualifying round, Stackhouse was expected to be pushed today in his play against Joe Greenwood of Houston, who qualified with an 81.

Jimmy Morgan of San Antonio, perhaps the outstanding contender, was expected to go thru his first round with ease. He was paired with George Shepherd of Houston who took an 85 to qualify, five strokes more than Morgan needed.

Frank Hill made a business trip to LeFors Wednesday. Dr. W. C. Mitchell and his guests, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Bates of Elk City, Okla., are spending a few days at Mobeetie, where they are fishing.

U. S. Olympic Men, Underweight, Are Enjoying a Rest

ABOARD S. S. PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, July 12.—(AP)—A great calm has settled over America's Olympic team. After the noise and excitement of sailing and for many the thrill of their first time in an ocean liner, the 268 athletes who hope to bring back to America a large part of the Olympic laurels wreaths have dropped peacefully into shipboard routine and have begun to obey the first order of their coaches and trainers—to rest.

Relaxation is the principal prescription for the first few days. Many of the track and field stars who competed in the final tryouts under the broiling sun at Cambridge are underweight.

Robinson plans to start exercising for most of his track squad tomorrow, but the workouts will be stationary. Although a linoleum running track has been laid around one of the decks, running for the most part will be taboo. There is too much danger of pulling tendons and other injuries if the men are allowed to run on such unsteady footing, Robinson believes, and he does not intend to take chances.

I LOVE FOR TWO

By RUTH DEWEY GROVES © 1928 By NEA Service Inc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
BERTIE LOU WARD, on the eve of her wedding to ROD BRY- MARSH, feels a premonition of trouble when she receives a dagger-like paper knife from LILA MARCH, who has turned her back down because he is not wealthy. But she courageously resolves not to let the future of her love affair, since his future is in her hands.

Rod was talking animatedly to Lila. She'd brought up the world series baseball games.

They spend an ideal honeymoon in a mountain resort, and Bertie Lou almost forgets the shadow cast by the predatory suitor-when they return and find Lila acting as dictator in their apartment on the ground that she knows what Rod likes. Both the bride and her mother resent Lila's efforts to annoy, and Mrs. WARD advises Bertie Lou to try to avoid meeting her in the future.

The suitors are given a surprise welcome-home party and other demands on their hospitality cause worry about making the budget balance. But Bertie Lou soon forgets her worries when Rod tells her they have been invited to dine with the FRASERS—
—from New York.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER VII
TOM FRASER got up to greet Bertie Lou and Rod, but Molly and the third guest remained seated. Molly put out a hand and pulled Bertie Lou down beside them on the wide leather-covered davenport.

"Of course, you know Miss Marsh," she said politely. Bertie Lou could have laughed. But had she done so it would not have been a pleasant sound. Lila giggled outright. "Why, Molly," she exclaimed, "don't you know that Rod and I are ex-sweethearts?"

Confusion appeared for an instant on Molly Fraser's nondescript features. Her pet horror was social errors. "Why, I . . ." she stammered to a stop.

"Don't mind Lila," Bertie Lou said hurriedly. "That's old stuff. Wayville's best bromide."

Lila's big blue eyes narrowed lazily. "But still hot," she murmured softly.

Bertie Lou took no notice. And Molly immediately began to explain that they were waiting for the sixth member of the party. "I wonder what's keeping Mr. Stiles, anyhow?" she added jerkily.

Her mind was vastly troubled over her seating arrangements. She'd intended having Mr. Stiles beside her, Bertie Lou as a guest of honor beside Mr. Fraser and Lila as Rod's dinner partner. Mr. Fraser had received his orders. And she could not get a whispered word to him before Mr. Stiles bore down upon them, beaming apologies for his tardiness. In Wayville it was a social crime to be late at dinner.

Molly sought to rearrange the seating order at the last moment but she was not a woman endowed with quick wits or much force, so Lila sat beside Rod.

It was not the first time since his marriage, for Lila had her following in the town and opportunities were sometimes given her by girls who held old grudges against Bertie Lou.

Another mortgage on his house to buy it for her.

Bertie Lou felt drab by comparison. A beige might be smart, she told herself, but it certainly wasn't striking.

Molly had gone in for color, too. Her low-cut dinner dress was made of rose crepe. A bit too formal for the occasion, but Molly liked to "impress the natives," as she said to Tom.

Rod was talking animatedly to Lila. She'd brought up the World Series baseball games and she couldn't have hit on a more fortunate topic to intrigue Rod's interest.

Bertie Lou wondered if he really could keep his mind on ball games with Lila looking up at him from wide, open eyes. For when Lila's eyes were opened to their fullest there was plenty of room in them for a man to take a dive. He might come to the bottom sooner than expected, but Lila carried no sign of "shallow water," as someone had once said the law should compel her to do.

Molly, too, glanced at them, and then at Bertie Lou. She made up her mind that she hadn't committed a tactless error in putting them together, after all.

BERTIE LOU brought her eyes back to Tom Fraser, her attention snagged on a phrase that stood out from the rest of his conversation as a beacon light to her spirit. "Job for Rod."

"What . . . what did you say?" she asked, catching her breath sharply.

"I said I'd like to have Rod come to New York and work for me."

Bertie Lou stared at him in complete surprise. She'd thought of a lot of ways to eliminate Lila, but taking flight to another locale had not been one of them. Had not Lila been uppermost in her mind at the moment she'd have resorted to the idea with a different emotion. But now Bertie Lou knew that the thing she wanted most was to get away from Lila's predatory reach. From all the smirks and slips of tongue she met so often in her home town.

"Did you hear what Tom said?" she cried excitedly. "Rod, he wants you to go to New York!"

Rod turned his head. Lila looked over, too, startled. "Go to New York?" he repeated in bewilderment. "Gosh, Tom, I never thought of it."

"Don't suppose you did." Tom returned dryly, "or you wouldn't be here. To be frank, I'd have asked you before only I hesitated over a fellow who's satisfied to stay on in a one-horse town." Almost unconsciously he puffed his chest as though to say, "look at me; I got out."

EVERYONE waited. "But you've got a smart little wife here," he dug playfully at Bertie Lou's ribs. "Ought to give her a chance—look at Molly—see what Fifth Avenue did for her."

They all looked, of course. Molly was equal to the appraisal. She sat like her idea of a queen. A careful idea. Lila smiled and Bertie Lou felt drabber than ever. She knew Tom hadn't meant to disparage her, but it could be taken that way. Lila surely wouldn't miss it.

Too bad Bertie Lou couldn't have seen herself, for there was nothing approaching drabness about her. The thick, rich hair was knotted beautifully on the nape of her neck and her eyes were shining like jewels. There wasn't another girl in Wayville with a complexion to match hers. With summer tan upon it there was but one thing to liken it to. The velvety skin of a luscious, ripe peach. In Tom's estimation, however, she wasn't up to Molly. Molly, with her tight marcel, her thin, shaved eyebrows and precisely rouged lips, was Tom's ideal of smartness. Molly wore an abundance of jewelry, too. That meant a lot to Tom.

"Well, what do you say?" he demanded as Rod hesitated to answer. (To Be Continued)

CHICAGO, July 12.—(P)—Influenced by relative firmness of Liverpool quotations, wheat prices here averaged higher early today.
Opening 1-4 cent off to 1-5 cent up, wheat later showed a moderate general advance. Corn, oats and provisions were likewise firm, with corn starting unchanged to 3-8 cent higher and subsequently holding near the initial figure.

Rain Damages Wheat in Pampa Trade Territory

Last night's precipitation touched only part of Pampa territory and considerable damage was reported this morning. Southeast of here hail was reported doing two bushels to the acre damage. Other damage was from wind and rain which flattened wheat in the district.
The storm will be the cause of decreased quality of grain, the elevator men report. The precipitation, amounting to more than an inch extending only two miles west of Kingsmill and the same distance south. To the north only a drizzle fell eight miles out, while Miami is the distance reported rain eastward.

City streets were made impassable in places, particularly south of the paving on Cuyler street, where water was over the running board of cars. Numerous power transformers were blown out and a crew of men were kept busy most of the night. The lightning came through the main line and threw the switch three times.
Some damage was done to the telephone line, but this has been repaired.

Common Law Wife Claims Big Share of Huggins Estate

HENRIETTA, July 12.—(P)—Allegations that she is entitled to a $500,000 share in a $2,000,000 estate left by J. L. Huggins on his death in Fort Worth on May 6 are contained in the suit filed here by Mrs. I. I. Turner, Fort Worth, against W. H. Myers, executor and 24 heirs.
The suit is based on the general allegation that Huggins, who the plaintiff contends was her common law husband for nine years prior to his death, promised Mrs. Turner protection under the law and an interest in the estate just the same as if they had been married with a legal marriage license.
