Air Mail Pilot

A railroad locomotive engineer retired the other day after 40 years' service without an accident—wonderful record, indeed. He was a veteran. He had traveled hundreds of thousands of miles, even millions, without ever, by drunkenness or other vices, betraying the trust imposed in him.

Associates said his total flying time was approximately 5,500 hours, of which 5,100 were with the air mail. He had flown more hours than any other pilot in the National Air Transport Service.

Two faithful men these, and both gave a lifetime of service in their line. It happens that the air service has made men live much in a short time, but the skill of the pilots is so great that relatively few are killed.

Our Aging Capitol

One of the favorite stories of Texas frontier days is that of the building of the mammoth capitol structure, and how public lands—millions of acres—went to pay for its cost.

Now comes the Associated Press with the information that Texas' red granite capitol, while not exactly tumbling down, is badly in need of repairs.

It is said that several of the large granite stones in the portico at the north entrance are badly cracked, and the breaches are widening steadily.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON — Democrats in the west appear to be no more disheartened than they would have been had they lost the election by a narrow margin.

At the same time, some of the most important western Democratic leaders are willing to concede that there is little in the present situation to inspire hope of a Democratic victory in 1932.

They don't all think that, of course. Hoover has a few bitter personal enemies, such as Senator Jim Reed of Missouri, who have such a poor opinion of him as to claim to be confident that he will turn out so bad as to be refused reelection.

But there is a surprising tendency among Democrats, including some of the old leaders of the party, who saw their best days during the Wilson administration, to consider Hoover as an extraordinarily able public servant.

The tendency among Democrats to admit publicly that they are a minority party has been growing for several years. Smith's open confession was good for the party's soul; it was also valuable in an educational sense.

Apparently no responsible Democrat anywhere has echoed the thoughtless suggestion that the party was on its last legs.

attitude of legislators who will let buildings deteriorate without so much as lifting a hand to prevent it.

Some Democrats go so far as to hold that it is stronger after election, despite its electoral losses in the south. Of course the main foundation of the national party organization, the Democratic state and municipal machines which are usually accustomed to electing governors, members of Congress and mayors either regularly or intermittently, goes on unimpaired.

He polled the great bulk of the 5,000,000 La Follette voters of 1924, and it is quite conceivable that his party will be able to hold most of this strength in the future.

The attitude of Democrats in Congress during the next four years will be indicative as to whether or not the party wants to measure up to the liberal standards Smith has set for it.

If Hoover appoints a real Hoover cabinet, he will be invincible, says one of the most prominent western Democrats, discussing 1932 possibilities. "But if he appoints a political cabinet the people are going to lose faith in him, and we will have a chance to run him out of the White House."

BARBS

Twenty-one guns roared in salute as Hoover embarked for South America. That other terrific roar you heard was from the candidates for post-masterships who won't get to see him for a couple of months.

There may be no connection between the two events at all, but shortly after President Coolidge spoke on world peace, Lloyd George was reported slightly ill.

Irving Cobb spends his winters window shopping, according to an item from New York. Babe Ruth also had a terrific appetite.

The only real thinkers in America are the men of the farms and small towns, says a French diplomat. Perhaps they got that way thinking about Congress' plans for farm relief.

A bulletin from the Department of Commerce announces that the United States ranks first of all nations as a compiler of statistics. Even on the streets you occasionally see men studying figures.

TWINKLES

There's no food "like mother used to make", as our customers will recall on glimping at the work of art above. However, as the campaign manager of The News shouts at us, if they are going to serve coffee like mother used to boil he'll take tea.

But regardless of the chef, Thanksgiving in this country has degenerated to an occasion of football and overeating. The unintelligent but highly intelligible expression on the youngster's face above might well represent the face of America on Friday mornings after.

As Taft would say, there are few things we have less need more than the type of farmer pictured above. If there is a pumpkin that big in Gray county, and the owner will send us a picture of it, we will print the picture and give him a year's subscription.

The are fine eggs, those rubber stamped with the name of a chicken farm down state, but if thinking adds to the enjoyment of a meal, we would live better if a Gray county name were stamped on the shells.

Twinkles today has slumped to the realm of eating, or soared, as you will, but as we said, Thanksgiving is mostly concerned with eating—whether it should be is another issue—and eating goes home to the farm.

Perhaps those Chicago politicians named in the sanitary district graft cases were only trying to clean up.

The War Department says that enlisted men of the Army drank 51,000,000 cups of tea last year. Must be getting ready to invade Great Britain.

Only a couple of weeks now and we can send those incense burners we got last year to some of our friends.

Every State to Have Classic for Its Rabid Fans

By BRIAN BELL, Associated Press Sports Writer
 NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—The South will be the center of the stage in football games played tomorrow. Every state in Dixie has a feature attraction. Interesting battles will be fought in other sections, notably in the east, but nothing can be offered to compare to the parade of the southern conference. All 22 members of the conference are in action, 20 playing among themselves and two engaging outsiders.

Two outstanding games are at New York and Philadelphia where the tri-city Oregon State team meets the powerful New York university aggregation and Cornell tries conclusions with Pennsylvania for the 35th time since 1893.

The mid-west has a light schedule but one that is important to the athletes engaged. Nebraska must dispose of the Kansas Aggies to win the "Big Six" title and Missouri and Oklahoma, while not playing for a championship, will play as hard as if numerous titular honors were involved.

In the far west, the University of Utah needs only to stop the Utah Aggies to win the Rocky Mountain conference title.

Georgia Tech will play Alabama Poly and the "Yellow Jackets" odds on favorites. Florida's conference record for outstrips anything Washington & Lee has to offer. Tennessee is apt to run into plenty of opposition from Kentucky and Louisiana State, undefeated in the conference but with a loss outside, can not expect to romp away from the Greenbacks of Tulane. Virginia Polytechnic Institute, also with a clean conference record but a black mark on an eastern invasion to Cornell, may be made the favorite over Virginia Military Institute.

Two of the "dixie" games in the South bring together teams that are not seeking championships this year. Vanderbilt and Sewanee have been playing since 1891 and Virginia and North Carolina started a year later.

The Longhorns of the University of Texas can win the championship of the southwestern conference by defeating their old rivals from Texas A. & M. Southern Methodist will play Texas Christian and watch the scores from the Texas and Aggies battle at the same time.

In addition to the Oregon State invasion of the east, the first for a Pacific coast team, Tufts will go to Indianapolis to put up an interesting battle game with Butler and Lombard travels to Shreveport, La., to play Centenary.

ATTRACTIVE THANKSGIVING GRIDIRON MENU FOR EAST SOUTH

Turkey Day, as is customary, will have a double significance to the South and East to scattered parts of the country. It will mean a feast of food and football. It will be marked by more traditional battles than any other day of the current season. Some of the major engagements will bring together Cornell and Pennsylvania, Penn State and Pittsburgh, Florida and Washington & Lee, Georgia Tech and Auburn, Texas and Texas Aggies, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian, Oklahoma and Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas Aggies, and Washington vs. Washington State. Above are five stars of competing teams.

By BRIAN BELL, Associated Press Sports Writer
 NEW YORK (AP)—Football games which have grown with the years into institutions will feature the Thanksgiving program. The Thursday engagements do not reach the total of some busy autumn Saturdays, but no single Saturday has offered the number of traditional contests.

In the East, Cornell and Pennsylvania look back over the years to 1893 when the series between the two eleven started. The rivalry has met 24 times with one war year of 1918 furnishing the only interruption.

In the South, Vanderbilt and the University of the South (Sewanee) are still carrying on a football feud started in 1891, with but one lapse—1899. Virginia and North Carolina started their gridiron warfare in 1892, and 32 games have been made a matter of record. Virginia Military Institute and Virginia Polytechnic Institute have clashed 25 times since 1894. There are other games in Dixie where the rivalry has just begun, only a dozen or so games having been played.

Penn State and Pittsburgh furnish a seething Pennsylvania battle that has waged back and forth since 1904 with 24 engagements already fought.

West Virginia and Washington & Jefferson have played steadily since 1919, and Brown and Colgate have not missed an annual bout in nine years. Brown and Colgate are wondering when they will be able to reach a decision, as three ties in a row have been reeled off. The last three games have resulted in scores of 14 to 14, 10 to 10 and 0 to 0.

Columbia and Syracuse have been playing only seven years, but in that time Columbia has won only one game and tied one.

The traveling award for the day will go to the Oregon Aggies, who ride all the way to New York to meet New York University. Another team with wanderlust will be Lombard traveling to Shreveport, La., to play Centenary. Maryland and John Hopkins will meet at Baltimore with a thought of a stirring contest last year when Johns Hopkins won, 14 to 13.

The Mid-West does not play Thanksgiving football with the enthusiasm of the South and East, but a few games stand out. No one is likely to pick the scene of the Oklahoma-Missouri game, which happens to be Norman, for a pink tea, and there charges into the Kansas Aggies. Iowa will be plenty of action when Nebraska State and Marquette will play, as will Drake and Creighton.

Southern football fans will have a confusion of riches. Alabama and Georgia should put on a good show at Birmingham, and Georgia Tech and Alabama Poly (Auburn) will play as usual at Atlanta. Washington and Lee will go to Jacksonville to meet the undefeated Alligators of Florida.

Louisiana and all its bayous will get excited over the game between Tulane and Louisiana State University. L. S. U. has escaped defeat in the Southern Conference and lost only one game outside—to the Arkansas Razorbacks—so Tulane will forget losses to Georgia Tech, Vanderbilt and Georgia if the Green can stop the rush of the Tigers.

Other state struggles command attention. The Mississippi Aggies and the University of Mississippi ("Ole Miss") will fight it out, the University of Texas and the Texas Aggies mix, and Southern Methodist and Texas Christian University add to the tenseness in Texas. Duke plays Davidson in North Carolina. Clemson may win a South Carolina championship by beating Furman.

 State lines separate the University of South Carolina and North Carolina State, but the fight should be no less spirited.
 Three family affairs in the Far West will introduce the University of Washington to Washington State, Colorado College to the Colorado Aggies and Utah University to the Utah Aggies.

All-American Hope of Many Ruined by Grid Injuries

By ALAN J. GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor
 NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—So uncertain are football's shifts, so likely are mishaps or injuries to beset the path of any gridiron star that it's rare when any performer can weather the storm with a consistently brilliant record.

Now and then an Oosterbaan, a Cagle, Strong, Pfann or "Dutch" Clark comes along to do the iron-man stunts, but they do not come very often. They are the exceptions to the rule that usually finds even the greatest of stars having their off days of jinxes.

This year bad breaks have affected the all-American prospects of at least a half dozen outstanding players. Redman Hume of Southern Methodist, looked like one of the best backs in the land when he came north to play the Army in October. He outshone Cagle that day but Hume was put out of action in the battle with Texas a month later, although the points he rang up earlier were sufficient to keep him in the southwest scoring lead.

 Two of the greatest tackles, Captain Sprague of Army, and Captain Hibbs of Southern California, also have been handicapped by injuries. Sprague was knocked out of three or four of West Point's games, although he has been a tower of strength whenever in the game, whether groggy or not. He has worn a special nose guard most of the season.
 Hibbs saw little action throughout the early stages because of back and knee ailments but he has come strong at the close of the campaign to help Southern California lift the Pacific Coast conference crown.

At Lassman, giant New York university captain and tackle, who broke his leg in action over a year ago, was carried off again in the great game with Carnegie, this time with a concussion but not before he saw his team well on the way to victory in its next to last game.

STRANGE PUNISHMENT
 HAMILTON, O., Nov. 28 (AP)—James Buckner, 26, must write 1,000 copies of a selected bible verse and the fourth commandment as punishment for striking his 53-year-old father. Municipal Judge Pater suspended a $50 fine yesterday with the remark "a fine in money would not be adequate for an offense committed against the laws of God."

The New Brunswick Panatrophe will furnish the music at G. C. Malone Furniture Company's grand opening, Saturday. Hear "Sonny Boy."

KID GRANITE

Something is sure to happen when Kid Granite, local light-weight, and the Russian Lion step into the ring at the Pis-Mor auditorium tomorrow night. The local boy has met Louie Avery once before and tasted defeat. This time Granite says it will be a different story. "I am in the best of condition," he said, "and will give Avery the battle of his career."

The semi-final will bring together Speedy Snow and Kid Stewart. A bout between these two ended abruptly last week when Snow took the count in the third round. "I am going to whip the Northerner this time," Snow claims.

Two negroes, Calvin Jones, local boy, and Kid Norfolk of Wichita Falls will clash in another bout on the card. Local fan-baw Jones here last week and know he is good. He will be up against a boy his own weight this time.

Mills and preliminaries have been arranged to open the Thanksgiving card, which will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

Thirteen Movie Stars Have Flu

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 28 (AP)—Thirteen motion picture stars and two directors were confined to their beds today with attacks of influenza. What was described as a "mild epidemic," struck the film colony Sunday when Clara Bow and John Gilbert, screen actors were brought down with the disease.

Others under physicians' care include Lois Wilson, Monte Blue, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Barthelmess, Mary Philbin, Loretta Young, Sally Phillips, Jean Arthur, Ruth Taylor, William Haines and Buster Keaton, actors, and P. W. Murnau and Edward Sedgwick, directors.

Noisy Greeting Given Hoover by the Costa Ricans

PUNTA ARENAS, Costa Rica, Nov. 28 (AP)—Herbert Hoover was given a noisy welcome when he landed here at 8:30 a. m. today on his good will mission. Shore batteries exchanged salutes with the U. S. Maryland.

Ships in the harbor, including the British Vessel Salvador were decorated with flags. A large crowd, held back by militia, was on the wharf and quay and the native police band played as the visitors came ashore.

A delegation from the cabinet met Mr. Hoover, who left soon afterwards for the capital of San Jose, to be received by President Cleto Gonzalez Viquez.

Miss Helen Schilizzi, 24, niece of Venetol, the veteran Greek premier, is a prospective liberal candidate for the British parliament.

Canadian Gets Factory to Use Over Fifty Men

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—The city commission has passed favorably on the petition of 22 citizens for a special bond election to provide funds for erecting a city building and municipal auditorium. The petition presented to the mayor and the commission requested that a bond election be called, requesting that bond not to exceed $25,000 be voted. No definite date for the election has been set. It is probable, however, that it will be called between now and the first of the year.

Canadian has been selected by the Drayer Manufacturing company as the location for a roller bearing factory that will employ at least 50 men. A tentative location has been made and a building will be erected in the near future, it is said. The factory will employ all the latest equipment for manufacturing roller bearings for farm machinery. H. E. Hoover of Canadian is in charge of all details of the organization.

Following investigation of violations of the deer hunting law in this county by Deputy Warden Austin O'Neill, the history club of Canadian voted to support a petition to the representatives in this district requesting that there be a closed season on deer in this county for a period of 20 weeks.

Menus for the Family

By SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST - Chilled cranberry sauce, cereal, cream, crisp boiled bacon, lyonnaise potatoes, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON - Casserole of salt codfish, rye bread, canned raspberries in gelatin, crisp cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER - Roast domestic duck, macaroni with tomatoes, apple sauce, green peas, orange salad, pumpkin pie.

Ducks are usually plentiful and cheaper than chicken at this time of year. They are delicious stuffed and roasted. Sage and onion, prune and apple or celery and potato are especially good stuffings for duck.

Keep in mind that ducks are usually very fat and should be placed in a rack in the roasting pan and the fat poured off after 40 minutes of roasting, and boiling water added for basting.

Casserole of Salt Codfish - One-half pound salt codfish, 3 sweet green peppers, 1 tablespoon olive oil, 2 small onions, clove garlic, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 2 teaspoons flour, 1 bouillon cube, 5 medium sized potatoes, 1-2 cup coarse bread crumbs.

Soak codfish several hours in cold water. Simmer over a low fire until tender. Cut in pieces. Scald peppers, dip in cold water and rub off thin skin. Cut in shreds lengthwise and season with salt and pepper. Put oil into a sauce pan, add onions minced, garlic, parsley and tomatoes rubbed through a coarse sieve. Simmer half an hour. Dissolve bouillon cube in 1-2 cup boiling water and add cold water and stir into sauce. Bring to the boiling point. Have ready the potatoes, boiled in their jackets, peeled and cut in slices. Put potatoes into a buttered baking dish, add fish, cover with tomato sauce and sprinkle with

Guiding Your Child

THE ONLY CHILD - By Mrs. Agnes Lyle - Families grow smaller and smaller and more and more often we find the home that holds just one lonely child of a child. He has a hard life, indeed he scarcely has a fair chance of becoming a happy, self-reliant fellow at all.

It is about impossible for him to have a proper childhood. He is inevitably the center of the home and the object of concentrated attention. He is either nagged or spoiled. He is not free to lead his own life occupied with the wholesome concerns of normal childhood.

When mother and father, grandmother and grandfather, aunts and uncles form an adoring group he gets an exaggerated idea of his own importance and of what is owing to him from people in general. Later it will be difficult for him to face a relatively indifferent world. His selfishness and poor sportsmanship will make him one of those men who complain that luck is always against them.

When his parents are determined not to spoil him they are likely to make him conform to their standards to a degree that cripples his self-expression. He aims to adjust himself to dominating personalities rather than to work out his own interests and his own independence. He is a suppressed, unhappy youngster who lives his father's and mother's life, not his own.

The only child misses the continual, invaluable education that goes on when two or three children must learn to play together, to take turns with toys, to share both mother's love and the candy dad brings home at night.

Parents can do a great deal to make up to the only child for his handicap. They can try to avoid both over-indulgence and suppression. They can make relatives behave themselves at the risk of offending them. They can pretend often that they too are children and play with their child, at his own level. They can welcome into the backyard and nursery the children of the neighborhood. Best of all, if there is a nursery school or kindergarten in the neighborhood they can send him there to play with those who will be his brothers and sisters by proxy.

WASHINGTON. — Representative ...

As a majority member of the house committee dealing with those subjects ...

Exactly the same situation faces the house members who were elected November 5. Unless the new president ...

A substantial majority of the present senate and house membership is already committed to the presentation to the states of a constitutional amendment ...

It seems possible that the outcome of the house and senate elections in November may have a lot to do with what further action is attempted.

Hundreds Die in Storms and Floods

PARIS, Nov. 28. (AP)—With the lowlands of Belgium and Holland flooded, another storm appeared to be brewing over Western Europe today.

Mountainous seas prevented pilots from reaching ships off the French coast with the result that many vessels were forced to remain tossing outside Havre, Bordeaux and other ports.

The death toll in Holland alone was 88, including 37 members of the crew of the Italian steamer Salerno which went to pieces off Zeelandt almost in sight of Rotterdam yesterday.

MANILA, Nov. 28. (AP)—The top of human lives taken by the typhoon which swept through the central part of the Philippine Islands last week was fixed at 40 known dead today, with estimates of the total fatalities running as high as 200.

New Zeppelin Is Being Constructed for Ocean Traffic

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Nov. 28. (AP)—While the merits and drawbacks of the Graf Zeppelin are discussed, the Dornier Construction Works at the Lake of Constance, an affiliate of the Zeppelin works, are completing a superplane for trans-Atlantic service.

For months the construction of this plane has been going on with all the secrecy of wartime at the shops of Altkornheim.

This new plane is not intended as an actual enlargement of the Dornier superplane, but rather as a revolutionizing type with which it is hoped to solve the question whether the airship or the airplane is to be the trans-oceanic conveyance of the future.

The body of this plane is not a boat but a substantially constructed ship fit to weather the most tempestuous ocean waves when it may be found necessary to go down on the water. Twelve motors arranged in tandem formation, six in front and six behind the wings, will supply a motor energy totaling 8,000 horsepower.

The crew will comprise a captain, two pilots, two wireless operators, one navigation officer, two mechanics and two stewards. There will be room for 30 passengers and for 20 tons of freight. Its maximum speed will be 118 miles an hour and it will have a flying radius of 1,800 miles.

Screen Life in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Christmas, Thanksgiving and the Fourth of July hereafter will be fittingly celebrated on the motion picture screen as well as on the covers of magazines.

Heretofore picture producers have avoided seasonal pictures because, with almost half their customers living in foreign countries, it was poor economy to make a picture based on a patriotic holiday observed in only one country, the United States, or (as in the case of Christmas) in Christian countries only. Talking pictures, however, have temporarily changed all this. Almost all theaters so far equipped to run talking pictures are in the United States; so the producer safely can make the most of sound-subjects depicting American holidays.

Fox already has made a seasonal talkie designed for general release the week of Lincoln's birthday. It is "Marching On," in which Chas. Gale gives one of his ebullient characterizations as "the man who knew Lincoln." Due to the hectic demand for new talkies this picture already has been shown in some of the first-run houses.

The same studio also is making a Christmas talkie, and at Universal the Charles Dickens classic, "A Christmas Carol," will be done in dialogue for holiday release. Next Fourth of July, no doubt, will see the national talkies out in full force, for by that time all the studios will have their sound-stages in operation.

Colors frequently are called "loud" when they strike the eye with unwelcome vehemence. But who would have thought any color could be loud enough to interrupt a talking picture? Nevertheless, the latest bulletin from the M-G-M sound-stage, where recording engineers are learning something new every day, is that certain yellows, and lavenders, when applied to sets and furnishings used in a talkie scene, prevent the perfect photographic recording of certain sounds. So caution in colors is the watchword. The vibrations of the hero's moustache or god-sweater must not be allowed to clash with the wavelength of his conversation.

Film colony philologists still are seeking the perfect word to describe pictures that "talk." One hears, besides the widely used "talkies," such synonyms as: squawks, squawks, noises, scratches, howls, screeches, squeals and whistles.

McLean School to Be Ready for Occupancy Soon

MCLEAN, Nov. 28.—McLean's new school building will be ready for occupancy by December 20, according to the contractor, Mr. Coffey, work is progressing rapidly, with several rooms finished except for blackboard. All classrooms will have hardwood floors, while main and corridor floors will be of concrete. Laboratories for the commercial schools and home economics will be provided. One of the most attractive features of the building is a large auditorium, with a well constructed stage.

The McLean Lions club recently closed a two-month membership and attendance contest which resulted in the addition of 10 members and an increased attendance at the weekly luncheons. The gold team was winner of the contest. The purple team, losers, will pay for the banquet on ladies' night.

The workers' conference at the Norfolk Baptist association will hold a monthly meeting at the First Baptist church of McLean on December 4. An excellent program has been arranged.

AMUSEMENTS

BOX VAUDEVILLE

Musical performers of much ability are coming to the Box for an engagement Friday and Saturday. They are the three Boswell sisters, Martina, Connie, and Vee—popular song composers and singers. These sisters began to study music as soon as they were large enough to warble or climb upon a piano stool. One Christmas they were given a harmonium, and then began preparation for the concert stage. Since that time they have become Victor recording artists and each is a skilled musician. They will have the last act.

The first act of Box vaudeville will be Rose Doyle and Arthur Weston in "Why Walk?" The comedy duo has it woven around the central story of a boy and girl in love. They meet by chance, for she has charge of a filling much better made. They plan to elope, and she is to come with a dispirited, one lung motorcycle that has seen but their motorcycle acts strangely. Much comedy is derived from the situations that ensue.

Act 2 introduces Bob and Olive Nelson, emcee-entertainers and balancers. The word "flexion" has been coined to describe their work. They are super and supple gymnasts, doing feats which require much skill and courage. The acting promises "something different."

McALLEN, Nov. 28.—(AP)—After hearing more testimony on the handling of general election returns in Hidalgo county, the Congressional House committee from Washington closed its inquiry in South Texas today and proceeded on a visit to Brownsville, from where it will go tonight to San Antonio to investigate another dispute in the 14th Congressional district.

STUDENTS STRIKE AND DEMAND NEW PREXY

EUREKA, Ill., Nov. 28.—(AP)—A strike vote of Eureka college students, taken at a mass meeting that ended early today, resulted in a decision to walk out of classes until the resignation of Bert Wilson, college president, is accepted.

The vote was nearly unanimous, and it was reported several members of the faculty attended the meeting and participated in the vote.

The action followed refusal of the trustees yesterday to accept President Wilson's resignation, proffered when under fire from students and alumni. The dismissal of certain professors popular with the students precipitated the outbreak when the president advised a general curtailment of the expenses to remain within the institution's budget.

BLOCK SIGNALS WILL NOT BE COMPULSORY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has declined to refrain from compelling railroads to make further installations of automatic train control devices or block signals. The decision was announced today in the course of a report concluding an investigation into the present status of automatic signals and devices, and the statement indicated the commission considered safety railroads could be promoted by elimination of grade crossings, the betterment of bridges, and the replacement of wooden passenger cars.

Thanksgiving

By BRUCE CATTON

POWER and glory, Greatness and gold; That is our story, Proudly retold. Let every stepple Boast with its bell; We are the people— We have done well.

Every Thanksgiving Heightens our pride; All people living Envy our stride. We are the wealthy Kings of the earth, Stalwart and healthy, Knowing our worth.

So we sing, loudly, In our own praise, Surveying proudly All of our days. Yet, all around us Shadowy hosts Rise to confound us— Pioneer ghost!

Theirs was the weeping, Theirs was the pain; Ours is the reaping, Ours is the gain; This is the morrow Longed-for of old, Won by their sorrow, Hunger and cold.

God of Compassion, Seated on high, Help us re-fashion Our haughty cry. Let us be humble, Let us be just, Lest we should stumble Down to the dust.

For busy cities and peaceful plains, For shining towers and golden hoard, For dead men's losses and live men's gains— Accept our humble thanks, Oh Lord.

HEAD OFFICIALS OF MINE ARE KILLED IN EXPLOSION

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Nov. 28.—(AP)—The president, general manager, and mine superintendent of the Glogora Coal company, of Huntington, were found dead today in the Himer mine at Himerville, Kentucky, 30 miles west of Williamson. They apparently were victims of a local gas explosion.

The dead officials according to the Williamson Coal operators' association which reported the deaths to the state mining department were Richard Williams, Huntington, President; C. H.

Beidenmiller, Huntington, general manager; and G. D. Schlegel, of Glo, Ky., superintendent of the concern's Kentucky mine.

The three officials were believed to have entered the mine yesterday for an inspection. The workings had been closed for some time and it was thought the Glogora company was considering purchase of the property. The mine was started Saturday in order to prepare the place for inspection. The search for the three men was begun late yesterday.

Ohio has risen to prominence in the foreign affairs of the nation, having represented the United States as a delegate at a number of meetings with foreign powers, including the Geneva parley for outlawing the use of poison gas in warfare.

In 1922, Burton again decided to enter congressional life. In that year he was elected to the sixty-seventh congress as a representative from one of the Cleveland congressional districts and has served continuously up to the present. In the election this month he was selected by the voters of his state to fill the senate vacancy caused by the death of Frank B. Willis of Ohio.

MIAMI, Okla., Nov. 28.—(AP)—Traffic across the Neosho river bridge here, suspended last night, was resumed today with municipal trucks towing cars through two feet of water over the west approach to the bridge.

The river, after remaining at a standstill all night, 20 feet above normal, began falling today. Damage from the flood, which was confined to the lowlands, was light.

CONTEST

the News office about 6:15, or just as soon as everyone has turned in his or her subscriptions. The C. M. isn't very experienced in buying turkeys, so he expects some of the more experienced ladies to give him a few pointers. Younger feminine members will also get some good experience for future Thanksgiving Days, when more responsibility rests upon their shoulders.

The race today was progressing with unabated enthusiasm. Indications were that quite a number of candidates would secure the required fifty dollars in subscriptions and carry home the feathered trophies.

Tomorrow will be the day of well earned rest for all contestants, but everyone is expected to be right on the firing line bright and early Friday morning ready to do battle for the extra $50 cash prizes the winners of which are to be determined by effort for the entire week, and right on up until 9 p. m. Saturday. Contestants are warned not to overdo the gastronomic gymnastics tomorrow, in order to be sure and have the necessary energy to enable them to cop the $50 cash prizes.

No one should overlook the 80,000 extra votes this week either. After all is said and done, it is automobiles that are the big attraction. Turkeys and extra cash may hold the spotlight for a few days at a time, but the outline of the greater awards is growing more and more distinct on the horizon every day. Just TWO WEEKS from Saturday night the contest closes and all the big prizes are to be given. Two weeks to win the Buick, the Whippet and the Chevrolet! There will never be another chance to win as good as the offer now in effect, and contestants expecting a better offer to come later are going to be disappointed. The 80,000 offer is positively the biggest and best remaining opportunity of the entire contest.

But for the present—win the turkeys—and be here at 6 o'clock tonight.

Burton of Ohio at 77 Returns to Senate After Long Absence

By Walter W. Chamblin, Jr. (Associated Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (AP)—When the bang of the gavel calls the senate to order at noon December 3, Theodore E. Burton, who began his career on Capitol Hill before many members of the present congress were born, will present his credentials as a senator from Ohio.

It will be the second time in his life that the veteran legislator has appeared before the senate as a representative from his state in that body. The first time was 19 years ago, or in the session of congress which came into authority in the spring of 1910.

Upon that first occasion Burton knocked at the door of the senate already an "old-timer" in the legislative councils of the nation. He had rounded out what he thought was his career in the house where for several sessions he had been chairman of the rivers and harbors committee in the days when that body not only decided what work would be done on the nations many waterways but also initiated the appropriations to carry the construction into effect.

Taft and Wilson were in the White House, he quickly rose to prominence. Even to this day some of the filibusters he led on river and harbor and also Indian appropriation bills, still are being discussed—and now in his seventy-seventh year he has returned for another period of service.

The Ohiosan might still have been in the senate except that by his own choosing he decided to retire from public office—for the time at least. His retirement paved the way for the election of Warren G. Harding and subsequently his elevation to the presidency. Many have wondered what would have been the outcome if Burton had at that time decided to remain in office. And now Burton has returned to his old stamping grounds to find remaining only 18 of his colleagues former days. Of the 18, five—Warren of Wyoming, Simmons and Overman of North Carolina, Smoot of Utah and Borah of Idaho—were there when he first arrived and the others either entered with him or afterwards.
