Spring brings ever two exciting events—first rhubarb; second, protesting letters to the food editor from persons who think rhubarb is poisonous eating. Spring is now here—the ruddy strawberry and the cool green rhubarb on the fruit stalls prove it; so does the editorial mail bag. Thus life rolls on its seasonal track.

Rhubarb and Strawberry Sauce

(4 to 6 servings)
One cup tender rhubarb cut in 3-4 inch pieces, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 cup slightly mashed and sugared strawberries.

In top of double boiler, cook rhubarb and sugar until tender. Cool slightly, then add mashed strawberries. Mix gently, chill. Spring mornings can be beautiful, you see.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Compo of rhubarb and pineapple, bacon and eggs, toast, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Minced lamb and green pepper on toast, soft rolls, cabbage and carrot salad, gingerbread, tea, milk.

DINNER: Grapefruit on half shell, stuffed pork chops, candied sweet potatoes, buttered green onions, lettuce and celery heart salad, rhubarb bread pudding, cream, coffee, milk.

Rhubarb and Fresh Pineapple

One cup rhubarb cut in 3-4 inch pieces, 1 cup fresh pineapple cut in cubes, 1 cup sugar, pinch salt.

Wash and prepare fruit. Use glass or enamel saucepan. Mix rhubarb and pineapple and sprinkle with the sugar. Stand for 1 hour. Then without stirring place over very low heat. Cook very slowly until sugar is syrupy, then increase heat slightly and cook until rhubarb is tender but still retains its shape. Do not stir. Chill. Another tender spring morning for you!

Rhubarb Bread Pudding

(6 servings)
Two cups rhubarb cut in 1-2 inch pieces, 3-4 cup sugar, 1 cup white bread crumbs, 1 cup wholewheat bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon mashed strawberry pulp, 1-2 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 cup milk, 1 egg.

To the prepared rhubarb, add su-

CLAUDE YOUTH WILL BE KING AT A & M EVENT

COLLEGE STATION, March 15.—Earl T. Duke, of Claude, agricultural senior at Texas A & M College, and Miss Dorothy Ehlinger, of New Braunfels, senior at Texas State College for Women, will reign as king and queen of the sixth annual cotton style show and pageant to be held at Texas A & M College April 2.

This annual cotton festival, introduced at the college in 1932 and featuring the South's greatest agricultural product, is expected to strike a new note in colorful pageantry this year. Modernistic settings, emphasizing the green and white of the cotton plant and its fluffy fiber, will provide the background for the royal court, the pageant and the cotton ball that will close the festivities.

The court will be made up of an assemblage totaling about 300, of which 100 will be duchesses representing higher educational institutions of the Southwest, A & M Mothers and Former Students clubs and civic organizations of the state. Duchesses, ladies-in-waiting and other court attendants will be escorted by A & M cadets. Earl T. Duke, the cotton king, was named by the Student Agronomy Society of the college which sponsors the annual festival. Monroe U. May, agricultural senior from Sherman, was named business manager. Miss Ehlinger, the cotton queen, president of the student body of Texas State College for Women, was in keeping with custom, elected by the student body of that college. Miss Virginia Johnson, of Seymour, vice-president of the woman's college senior class, was named as the queen's maid of honor.

Both the queen and her maid of honor have personal ties with the college at which the festival will be held. Miss Ehlinger's father, George E. Ehlinger, graduated at Texas A & M with the class of 1912, while Miss Johnson's brother, Charles E. Johnson, is a senior at the college this year. The cotton queen was selected as the most popular upperclassman at her college this year, represented the college at the National Student Federation of America conventions in 1936 and 1937, and was listed in Who's Who Among American Universities and College Students for this and the past year. As in the past, proceeds from the festival will be used for traveling scholarships for three winners in the annual cotton contest at the college, examinations in which have already started. The three winners will receive trips to the state fair, the annual cotton and textile manufacturing in the United States and Europe.

Mrs. Miller Has Lived In Wheeler County 59 Years

"One danger that we had to face often in those days was that of prairie fires. There was so much grass that when a fire broke out, we all had to fight it. We had to be very careful with matches and fire. We've fought fires half of the night many times in order to save our home. My husband would put out the big fires, and I would follow behind with a sack and put out the little flames which he missed.

"There were no fences so we had to ride the range each day to see after the cattle. We women went the same as the men. The Frys rode one-half of the range, and we rode the other. We and the Frys usually met at the Washita and got the mail."

Neighbors Few.

When asked if she wore trousers when she rode the range, Mrs. Miller exclaimed: "Trousers? Goodness, no. You couldn't possibly have got me into a pair. We wore quite long dresses and rode side saddle. I intended to keep my saddle, but once we went to Dodge City, and I left it over at Fry's. While we were gone Henry Fry laid a piece of meat on it, and it ruined the saddle. "We didn't have any neighbors then, not close ones, that is. Our closest neighbors besides the Frys were three bachelors who lived about seven miles away. They ran a stage coach between Fort Elliott at Mobeetie and Fort Supply in Oklahoma. They were Jimmy Donley, Tobe Robinson, and Fletcher. Donley was an Irishman and quite an entertainer. He was an excellent cook, too. We ate Sunday dinner there often.

"We didn't have any other neighbors. For two years I didn't see another woman except my sister-in-law. My husband was driving some horses up to Morgan's creek. I went along and helped drive them and visited Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Hay. Made Dresses By Hand.

"There weren't any parties or anything to go to; so we stayed at home most of the time. About once every two years we went to Mobeetie to spend a week. This was really an occasion, and we made the most of it. We bought material and made our dresses by hand. It took a long time as we put yards and yards of ruffles on them and pleats and tucks, and thinks like that. But the dresses were really lovely. We would leave our work and go stay a week at a time. We stayed at Huselby's rock hotel. I was there when Frank Willis Jr. was born."

Tournaments Enjoyed.

"We went to Mobeetie when they were having the tournaments and horse races. The tournaments were the riders had a long lance and with it they attempted to pick hoops off of a post as they dashed by at full speed. In the evening there were dances. We always enjoyed our week's stay in Mobeetie, but we rarely ever returned there more than once every two years. The men went more often of course. In fact, the single men went rather frequently.

"There were no doctors here," Mrs. Miller said when asked about medical facilities in Wheeler county. "We just got well. Everyone had their own remedies and medicines and we got along pretty well. Dr. Fields was the first civilian doctor at Mobeetie. The other nearest one was at Mangum. We couldn't wait for doctors to come from those points so we just had to get well ourselves."

"We had white-face cattle. They drove them to Dodge City to the market. The men went to Comanche county to buy cows and drove them to the ranges here to market before taking them to the market. A great enemy of the cattlemen was the lobo wolves. Great packs of these animals would attack the herds. They ham-strung them and then cut their throats. A large number of cattle were lost in this way. I remember one time the wolves got so bad that the men cut into a dead cow and covered her with strychnine to kill the wolves which came to eat her. Before the wolves came, some friendly Indians came along and asked for the cow to eat. The men explained that the meat was poisoned, but the Indians said "Heap good" and took the meat away. They said it wouldn't hurt one when it was cooked, and I never heard of its hurting them.

"We couldn't have any garden because we had no wire of any kind for a fence. Of course if we didn't have a fence the cattle would run over it. We had to buy everything we ate beside meat. I tried to raise a few chickens, but the wolves usually got them. Anyhow the feed was high and had to be hauled from Dodge City; so I couldn't have raised many even if it hadn't been for the wolves."

Lived at Canadian.

The Millers lived in Canadian for four years and in Cheyenne for three and a half. The rest of the time they lived in Wheeler county. They have lived on the same place since 1900. Mr. Miller died Nov. 21,

NORRIS DRAFTS BILL TO CURB JUDGES' POWER

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP)—Senator Norris (Ind., Neb.) brought out today drafts of both a bill and a Constitutional amendment to impose what he terms "a reasonable degree of control" on the courts. While Senate hearings on the Roosevelt judiciary bill were in recess until tomorrow, Norris suggested again that other legislative "remedies" be attempted first. His bill would require at least a two-thirds vote by the Supreme Court to invalidate the law.

Calling life tenure for judges "a relic of absolute monarchy," he suggested amending the Constitution to limit appointments to federal courts to nine years. If Senate opinion should favor a longer or shorter term, he said, the change would meet no objection from him. Opponents of the administration bill allowing enlargement of the Supreme Court unless older justices retire quickly added the Norris proposals to the many they are studying as alternatives.

Senator Van Nuys (D., Ind.) reported some progress in the attempt to agree on one or more amendments which the Democratic opposition might support as a body. After conferring with other Democratic opponents in his office, Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.) disputed assertions by administration spokesmen that it would take much time for them to get together on specific amendments.

"Our crowd could get together on an amendment like that," he said, snapping his fingers sharply. "If the President would recommend any reasonable amendment, Congress would submit it to the people and could provide for action by state conventions in less time than will be used in debating this bill of his."

Senator King (D., Utah), an opponent of the Roosevelt bill, declared a "number of people" had told him supporters of the program had received more time for radio addresses than had foes.

NATIONAL LEAGUE CLUBS ARE CINCINNATI GET STUNG BY BOSTON'S BEES

FIRST DIVISION IS OBJECTIVE OF MANAGERS

By PAUL MICKELSON
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Some of those National League baseball clubs are a cinch to get stung in that Boston Bee hive this year.

General Manager Bob Quinn and Manager Bill McKechnie don't expect the Bees to string the rest of the league for a pennant, but they feel quite confident that their club, a cellar tenant in 1935, has a great chance to slip into the first division.

The Bees appear to be the darkest of dark horses of the national league pennant fight.

Quinn has pruned his Bee hive thoroughly. Only four players—Wally Berger, Bill Urbanski, Bob Smith and Baxter Jordan—are left-overs from 1935.

McKechnie has 17 pitchers on the Bee roster, but only the veteran Danny McFayden is certain for regular mound duty.

Best of all the prospects are Ira Hutchinson, who won 13 and lost 8 for St. Paul in '36, and Bill Weir, a 24-year old southpaw who copped four and lost three for the Bees last season. Lou Fette won 25 games for St. Paul in '36 and is pretty sure to get a full chance.

Others with a fine chance of making good are the veteran Guy Bush, ex-Cub and Pirate who promised McKechnie he'd win 17 this year; Bill Perrin, right hander from New Orleans; Truett Sewell, rookie from Buffalo; Vic Frazier, another Chicago White Sox castoff like Hutchinson, and Bill Harris, 36-year old vet from Buffalo.

Two new faces are expected in the infield—Eliot Fletcher, a good looking first sacker who crouched 343 for Buffalo, and Vince DiMaggio, brother of the illustrious Yankee, Joe, who looks like the third baseman.

Tony Cucinello, at second, and Hal Warstler, at short, will complete the probable infield. Wally Berger and Eugene Moore are fixtures in the outfield with Frank McGowan, who hit 358 for Buffalo, almost a certain starter with them in the garden.

West Texas Teachers Take First Denver Game 62-24

By WHITNEY MARTIN
DENVER, March 15 (AP)—The Men's National A. U. basketball tournament had a collegiate tang to day as it picked up loose ends of the first round and eased into the first round with a program of 10 games.

The first round games provided thrills and chills. The Mohawks defeated a rugged band from Little Cowley, Wyoming, 34 to 33, in a game during which the lead played over a woefully outclassed Adams normal quintet of Alamogordo, Colo. 62 to 24. The Texans still lack polish, but it's like trying to reach the moon with a step-ladder when they start playing catch over their heads.

Another Texas collegiate team, the Stephen F. Austin Teachers from Nacogdoches, also started with a victory. They defeated Southern Oregon Normal of Ashland 52 to 47. The American Beauty quintet of Denver defeated the Bendix team of South Bend, Ind., 43 to 34.

The Eckers of Salt Lake City and Club of Gary, Ind., put on a thriller, the Eckers winning 37 to 35. The Woodmen of Lincoln, Neb., won going away from the Colorado Springs Grocers, 48 to 31.

Oberlin disposed of the Elks Club of Rapid City, S. D., 44 to 34. Today's schedule (time is mountain standard):
10 a. m.—Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers vs New Mexico Normal.
11—Arkansas State Teachers vs Central Oklahoma Teachers.
12 noon—Drury College vs Panhandle A. & M.
1:30 p. m.—Idaho, Southern Branch, vs Oklahoma City University.
2:30—Wichita Gas vs Cleveland Brass.
4—Walla Walla, Wash., Michells vs Cincinnati.

7—Central Missouri Teachers vs Stephen F. Austin Teachers.
8:30—Long Island University vs West Texas Teachers.
9:30—Denver Safeways vs Oberlin, Kas.
10:30—Hollywood Stars vs Eckers, Salt Lake City.

POISON IS HINTED IN QUEEN MARIE'S MALADY
BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 15 (AP)—Dowager Queen Marie of Rumania was reported "seriously but not dangerously ill" today as physicians sought to diagnose the malady which sent her suddenly to bed Thursday.
Foreign reports that poison was suspected could not be confirmed officially.
Royal sources at the palace of the 61-year-old "mother of the Balkans" predicted a medical bulletin on the nature of her illness might be issued within the next 48 hours. One informant described the attack as influenza complicated by an intestinal inflammation.

FOR BEATS DEADLINE AND PAYS INCOME TAX
WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 15 (AP)—President Roosevelt heaved a dose of relief with untold numbers of fellow citizens today as his income tax sped northward by plane to beat a mid-night deadline.
Electing to make out his own return this year without the aid of a White House tax expert, the president worked over the annual headache producer for several hours yesterday before a logwood fire in his Pine Mountain vacation cottage.
With his check for the full amount of the undisclosed levy inside a White House envelope, the return was sent to Atlanta with the daily presidential mail in charge of a special postal inspector.
There it was transferred to an army plane for the north.
He was understood to have made a separate return instead of a joint one with his wife.
There are 30,000 lakes in Florida.

CUNNINGHAM AND SAN ROMANI MEET THIS WEEK IN 2 RACES

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—The indoor track season reaches a smashing finale this week when Glenn Cunningham, king of American milers, and Archie San Romani, their heir-apparent, hook up in a pair of duels.

They are slated to meet in the classic Columbian mile at the New York Knights of Columbus meet Wednesday—the last big invitation board-track event—and again in the Butler relays at Indianapolis Saturday.
Cunningham, beaten only once at a mile this season and then by his fellow Kansan, will be defending the laurels he won at the Casey meet last year. He will be opposed also by Italy's Luigi Beccali and his personal rival, Gene Venekes.
At Butler Indiana's Don Lash and Ray Sears, Butler athletes, are to run against the Kansas pair.

Cunningham warmed up for this week's efforts by capturing two mile races in Canada in slow times Friday and Saturday, winning at Toronto in 4:18.2 and at Hamilton, Ont., in 4:19.3, while San Romani breezed through a 4:27 mile at the Midwest intercollegiate meet at Naperville, Ill.

In addition to the star milers, the pick of the college and club crop is due to appear on St. Patrick's night, including seven winners at last Saturday's intercollegiate A. A. A. meet here, three newly crowned Ten champions, and one central intercollegiate conference titleholder.

FIRST TARPON LANDED WEIGH 90 POUNDS EACH

CORPUS CHRISTI, March 15 (AP)—Tarpon at Port Aransas—bearing that President Roosevelt may visit this section of the gulf coast next month—started cooperating with the chamber of commerce today.
W. F. Hagerman and Harold J. Cummings, both of St. Paul, Minn., each landed a tarpon this afternoon and many others were caught later. The first two Silver Kings were five feet nine inches and weighed approximately 90 pounds each.
"It's nice for the President," commented Barney Farley, fishing expert of Port Aransas, "that the tarpon are all Democrats this year."

Center Jump Is Discarded By Big Ten Conference

CHICAGO, March 15 (AP)—Discarded by Big Ten basketball coaches, the center jump for the try-out of "play ball" as they posted requirements for a franchise in the newly organized class D West Texas league. Indications were that the circuit would operate as an eight-club loop with the expectation that Big Spring, Texas, and Garland, N. M., would at a later meeting, post the necessary requirements for membership.
For the first time in many years the National open golf tournament qualifying round for the Rocky Mountain district will not be held in Denver. It has been moved to the Broadmoor course at Colorado Springs, June 1.

LOGIC ALWAYS MISSING FROM BOXING GAME

'WRONG MAN' BATTLES CHAMPION AND WINS

(This is the fourth of a series of stories discussing developments in the boxing business, with special reference to current heavy-weight angles).

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—There rarely has been much logic in the boxing industry, ranging from its early days as a fugitive sport to the post-war era of fabulous gate receipts, social register patronage and ringside racketeering.

This applies especially to the heavy-weight ranks. Tex Rickard proved how effectively the big fellows could be ballyhooed. The modern generation of fight fans, he discovered, was willing to pay fancy prices to see heavyweights batter each other, whereas a scientific match between two top-notch smaller men scarcely drew expenses.

The post-war heavyweight "gold rush" resulted in such spectacular international matches as Jack Dempsey's title bouts with Georges Carpentier and Luis Angel Firpo. From a scientific standpoint, neither was a good match, but both fights drew well over $1,000,000 and aroused a tremendous popular interest.

The financial possibilities in size alone reached a high when A. Broadway syndicate imported Primo Camera, the Italian circus freak, several years ago. In spite of the fact Da Preem could neither fight nor punch, he won the heavyweight championship.

Long standing objection by promoters, as well as politicians, to a "mixed" match for the heavyweight championship has ended with current arrangements for Joe Louis to fight champion James J. Braddock at Chicago. Louis was the logical contender for a bout with Braddock in New York last year, but that was before the negro was flattened by Germany's Max Schmeling.

The "color line" was drawn in the old days by some heavyweight champions. Two great negro heavyweights of their time, Peter Jackson and Sam Langford, never had a "shot" at the title. Mainly, however, it was the disturbing reaction in 1910 to Jack Johnson's victory over Jim Jeffries that led Rickard and his Garden successors to avoid any efforts to promote "mixed" title bouts.

Shortly after the war Harry Wills, the "brown panther" of New Orleans, became an outstanding title contender. He was finally rated No. 1 on the list of Jack Dempsey's challengers and Rickard set a date for a Wills-Dempsey match in 1923 but it was just a resture.
Meanwhile, Rickard had selected Gene Tunney as a championship opponent for Dempsey. Rickard's financial misgivings vanished when the 1926 fight in Philadelphia drew $1,895,733 and the second Dempsey-Tunney bout, in Chicago, $2,658,660 in gross receipts.

Max Schmeling automatically became the No. 1 contender for the heavyweight crown when he knocked out Louis. The German and Braddock signed for a title match here originally last September then for this June 3. The "logic" of this soon became apparent, however, when the deal for the Chicago match between Louis and Braddock was arranged, thereby upholding the best traditions of the heavyweight industry for doing something different.

Big Ten cage mentors voted unanimously last night to abolish the center jump for a one-year trial period. The action is effective at the start of the 1937-38 campaign. Permanent adoption hinges upon the reaction of the coaches.
Dr. H. C. Carlson, president of the national coaches' group, said the center jump would receive serious consideration at the meeting today.
Coaches will view motion pictures of basketball games and hold a general discussion of the rules, with indications pointing to considerable debate on abolition of the center jump and three and 10-second rules.

NEW CHAMPION

Mme. Sylvia Henrotin, French tennis star, proudly displays the trophy she was awarded for winning the National Women's Indoor championship at New York. Mme. Henrotin, who defeated Millicent Hirsch of New York, 10-8, 1-6, 6-2, in the finals, is the first European woman ever to win the U. S. indoor title.

Tickets Go To Americans In Dublin Drawing
DUBLIN, March 15 (AP)—An American ticket was the second counter-fall drawn from the whirling drums of chance as the draw for the Irish hospital sweepstakes started today at historic Mansion House.

The counter-fall, drawn on Thierfry, a non-runner in the Aintree grand national, was marked "once into a lifetime," 85 43rd street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Officials of the sweepstakes, the world's largest lottery, announced the total intakes from tickets was $13,932,160 of which $8,311,165 would be distributed in prizes throughout the world.

Starved Dublin nurses, chosen by lot, paraded to Mansion House with carefully guarded bags of counter-falls early today, bearing the hopes of millions of ticket-holders dreaming of quick wealth.

Of the first 160 tickets drawn the following went to Americans:
Thierfry, nine American tickets; Sponaud, 10; Keen Blade, 9; True Blue, 8; Phaidrill, 9; Arc de Triomphe, 7; Drim, 9; Bagatelle Second, 11; Ready Cash, 9; Passing Fancy, 7.
None of the five favorites—Golden Miller, Royal Mail, Delachance, Diodore and Egan—was drawn in the first 200 tickets.

LOOP ORGANIZED.
MIDLAND, March 15 (AP)—Six towns, four in Texas and two in New Mexico, awaited today the cry of "play ball" as they posted requirements for a franchise in the newly organized class D West Texas league. Indications were that the circuit would operate as an eight-club loop with the expectation that Big Spring, Texas, and Garland, N. M., would at a later meeting, post the necessary requirements for membership.

PRINCIPLE ALBERT means mellow, flavor pipe smoking too! The "no-bit" process takes out harshness. Pringle Albert packs right, burns cool, because it's "crimp cut."

EVERETT VASSAR, speaking for the boys, says: "Pringle Albert is the prime 'makin's' tobacco for mildness and fine taste. It burns cool, slow, and sweet. I've got a P. A. cigarette going day and night, but my tongue's never sore."

THE FINANCIAL WHIRLIGIG

By LOUIS SCHNEIDER

ESTIMATE
This is the time of the year when first quarter estimates of corporate per share earnings are published. The one big question around the financial district is, "What will General Motors show?" Labor difficulties are taken into consideration. Plants were closed for weeks.

Your correspondent has been reliably informed that GM's first quarter net will be about 25 cents a share. But it was also said that should orders continue over the next three months as they are running today, the net for the second quarter will amount to more than six times that of the first quarter. Therefore, a net of close to $2 a share is expected for General Motors for the first six months of this year.

TRADE
All major branches of business will move vigorously ahead this week. Bank clearances will again show gains over the previous week. Livestock bringing high prices. Demand for lead and zinc keeping all such mining properties in active production. Coal output stepped up as insurance against labor difficulties. Real estate activity to expand as milder weather sets in. Steel production to hold pace of last week—shorter hours call for larger payrolls. Textile industry actively stocking on fears of labor trouble. Automobile output figures will show decline due to closing of Hudson and Chrysler plants. Easter sales account for larger department store activities. Seasonable demand to become more evident in furniture and rug lines. Gasoline sales to run higher—crude oil price to be lifted before close of month.

Shipping industry reports increased volume. Unemployment figures show reductions as industrial plants continue to increase production. Dry goods market doing extremely well. Woolen mills rushing fall contracts. Silverware again in demand as people note increased values of security holds—stock market has been rallying to higher levels since early 1934. Farm income running higher. Electric power consumption to show gain over last week—Chrysler and Hudson labor difficulties are settled. Shoe retailers report increased sales—Easter buying. Retail sales on credit running 50 per cent ahead of last year—danger signal. Carloadings to reach new highs for year. Retail trade running at best levels since Christmas sales figures.

BONDS
Municipal bond dealers see new public interest as rates improve. Laclede Gas Light 1st and Ref 5 1/2 of 1960 held as a speculation. Businessman's risk: New England Gas & Electric 5s of 1947—power sales higher. All divisions of Cities Service doing better—Ref Deb 5s of 1966 taken as a speculation. Holders of Ulen & Company Deb. 6s of 1944 assenting to reorganization plan. United Light & Railways of Del 5 1/2s of 1952 held as businessman's risk. Subject of new T. V. A. mess, the speculative buying of Tennessee Electric Power 6s of 1947.

New Orleans Great Northern Ry 1st 5s of 1933 held for income. Bond traders switching out of Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific 4s of 1938. Hygrade Food Products 6s of 1949 and Miller & Hart 6s of 1943 bought for price appreciation possibilities. Speculative holdings of Missouri Pacific 1st and Ref 6s of 1965 being retained. Worth company 1st 4s of 1955 and Deb 6s of 1955 held for income. Washab Railway A 5 1/2s of 1957 held as a speculation.

COMMODITIES
Cotton traders continue in a bullish frame of mind. Lard supply hurts prices—apples to cottonseed oil as well. Wheat options getting large speculative attention these days—bought on dips. Butter trade insiders look for lower prices. Corn specialists not bullish. October egg options being taken on recessions. Despite recent sharp advance in crude oil prices, traders taking on dips looking for higher levels. Lead and zinc will again be lifted. Chicago and Boston bullish on hide price prospects. Silver to hold and perhaps do better. Present price levels in sugar market not regarded as safe until tax situation is clarified. Barley prices to hold. Wool demand easier. Wide price fluctuations expected in cotton market but consuming interests buying on recessions. April and May silk options attracting attention of com-

TWO BILLIONS PAID FARMERS

CHECKS BEING ISSUED FOR THIS YEAR'S BENEFITS

WASHINGTON, March 15. (AP)—Agricultural Adjustment Administration officials said today benefit payments to farmers since the agency was created in 1933 have passed the two billion dollar mark. A staff of workers is busy sending our checks for the $470,000,000 being paid farmers who cooperated last year in the soil conservation program. Congress has been asked to provide another $500,000,000 for benefit payments this year.

AAA records showed corn-hog farmers had received $520,000,000. Of this, $488,000,000 was in rental and benefit payments and $32,000,000 under the government purchase program.

Cotton ranged second with $480,000,000, and wheat third with $360,000,000.

Federal sugar programs accounted for $85,000,000; tobacco, $62,000,000; rice $10,000,000, and peanuts $5,000,000.

The AAA has spent about a half billion dollars in removing and conserving surpluses, drought relief and disease eradication, operation of the cotton pool, feed and seed plans, and refunding processing taxes.

Although there has been no cattle program, more than 14,000,000 was in buying drought and diseased cattle and another $8,000,000 for sheep and goats.

The AAA also has bought more than $24,000,000 worth of butter, eggs, cheese and other dairy products, most of which were distributed to persons on relief.

The payments in dollars by states included: New Mexico 6,288,814; Oklahoma 76,527,010; Texas 201,398,962.

REPORTS ARE THAT:

Compared with 1936 results financing company 1937 nets will be smaller due to higher taxes and costs. Coal production high due to strike fears but buying of shares is small. Park & Tilford now offering bottled cocktails—Dry Martinis and Manhattans. American Car & Foundry has a Staten Island Coach contract for 30 buses. Utility companies will spend about $150,000,000 during the second quarter for new and replacement equipment. Los Angeles interests see Barker Brothers on dividend paying list before close of year. For fiscal year ending in June, International Petroleum will show nearly $2 a share. American Locomotive 7% preferred going into investment accounts—has dividend arrears of $26.75 a share. Lockheed has a long-pull following. And, that American tin container manufacturers and their agents will hold their 1938 convention in Mexico City, Mexico—why in a foreign country?

them at all. Workers will be automatically fired when they join the union. This is one place where a sitdown strike can amount to exactly nothing.

"We'll just haul our rigs and stack them up. We can all get along quite a spell without them. I'm afraid, however, the workers couldn't afford to miss many weekly paychecks. They realize they can't get along without working."

"Instead of a Christmas bonus, contractors raised drillers' pay to $6 and $11 a day. They work eight hours. Those wages and hours are better than what we understand they would ask if they walked out."

"We drillers don't want anything like that. I couldn't expect higher wages or better working hours. I make $11 a day and work eight hours. I'm satisfied and don't want to be forced out of work by somebody else's strike. Others tell me the same thing."

Added Sam Ross, president of the East Texas Landowners' Association: "Laborers Against It. Most of the laborers are against it. They are all organized and getting along nicely. They are satisfied with wages and living conditions. Many of them have told me they wouldn't bite the hand that feeds them."

Major companies cautiously guarded against quieted statements but privately opined loyalty would smother union efforts. Independents, contacted here and at Tyler, were more outspoken. They feared little trouble from employees receiving "the best wages, homes and paid utility bills," but indicated demands for union recognition would cost them their jobs.

Sentiment matched that of a recent statement, Frank Phillips, president of the Phillips Petroleum Co., made before the American Petroleum Institute that "threats of forming oil unions are far-fetched, unnecessary and not justified."

Labor leaders, through John T. Allen, organizer for the third district of the international union, struck back viciously with charges of squalid living conditions, bad pay and "chiseling tactics" by the world's richest operators.

it on the strike leaders before that time. Several hundred union men, massed in the third floor corridor of the county building, accepted the decision quietly.

George S. Wilson, president of the Dodge local, asked if the sitdowners would obey the evacuation order, said: "A vote will be taken on that question in the Dodge plant tonight."

If the sit-down strikers refuse to evacuate the plants, the corporation might apply to the court for writs of attachment, providing for arrest of the strikers on charges of contempt.

interesting for the boy. Give him games, take him on hikes, let him do things for himself, were some of the suggestions presented for holding boys in scouting.

Social unrest, especially among older boys, is a danger in this country. Germany, Russia and Italy have banished the Boy Scout movement from their borders. But here in America and in many other countries the movement is gaining momentum every year, chiefly because of an interesting program and leadership.

The danger of people getting on the bandwagon and then not wanting to get off is another problem, the speaker said. Some people are against having a registration fee charged in Scouting, Mr. Fitch remarked.

"Some parents think that if they supply the boy, they have done their work," the speaker declared. "By having the boy earn money to pay his registration and his camp expenses, the boy is taught the value of doing something in return for his enjoyment."

A round table discussion followed the interesting talk. Attending the council meeting were: President G. E. Walker, F. E. Leach, Harry E. Hoare, Chris E. Martin, L. L. McColm, V. Darnell, C. H. Robinson, R. A. Selby, R. B. Fisher, M. A. Graham, L. L. Sone, Roy McMillen, J. G. Sturgeon, W. B. Weathered and Raymond Harrah, all of Pampa.
