SIT-DOWN STRIKERS DEFY ORDER TO LEAVE

NEGRO ADMITS ASSASSINATING TEXAS SHERIFF

AFRAID HE WOULD BE KILLED FOR PART IN JAIL BREAK

HENDERSON, March 17 (AP)—Ranger Captain Hardy Purvis announced today that Charley Brooks, 39-year-old Negro and former railroad sleeping car porter, had confessed he assassinated Sheriff Alex Brown of Jefferson early last Wednesday.

Purvis said the Negro said he slew the officer because he feared Sheriff Brown would kill him for his part in an escape from the Marion county jail.

The suspect, who had been held at Jefferson following his capture, was brought here because of fears of mob violence.

The confession was taken by District Attorney Steve Wells at Henderson.

Brown, whose vigorous law enforcement had brought him prominence throughout the vast East Texas oil belt, was killed when a soft-treading slayer fired a shot into his back as he undressed for bed in his quarters on the jail's ground floor.

Ranger Purvis, Lufkin officer who directed the great manhunt which for several days appeared clueless, said:

"Brooks admitted he was the one who slipped up to the Marion county jail and assassinated the sheriff. He told us he threw the murder weapon in the Sulphur river and we are going to make an effort to retrieve it."

Purvis, who was assisted by Rangers Bob Goss and Leo Baily and a

UNUSUAL SON' IS BORN TO GOVERNOR ALLRED

AUSTIN, March 17 (AP)—Sam Houston Allred, third son of Governor and Mrs. James V. Allred, was born in the executive mansion at 10:20 a. m. today.

Attendant physicians said Mrs. Allred and the infant were "doing fine."

"Everybody tells me this is a most unusual child," the governor commented.

The child was born in the Sam Houston room of the mansion and took his first glimpse of life from the old four-poster bed of General Houston, second and fourth president of the Texas Republic and later governor.

It was the second boy child ever born in the mansion to a governor's family. The first was Sam Houston's son, Rogers Williams Houston.

The second son of Governor and Mrs. Dan Moody was born in an Austin hospital. Governor John Ireland's grandson, his daughter's child, was born in the mansion.

The baby weighed nine pounds. This was more than either "Jim Boy" or David weighed at birth.

LIQUOR CHARGE FILED AGAINST PAMPA WOMAN

Bertha Roberts, 1503 Ripley street, was charged in county court today with the unlawful possession of liquor.

County Attorney Joe Gordon stated that the woman is alleged to have sold liquor in a place which was licensed to sell only beer and wine.

The complaint was signed by H. T. Nelson, agent of the Texas Liquor Control board.

AMELIA'S PLANE DUE TO TAKE OFF THIS AFTERNOON

OAKLAND, Calif., March 17 (AP)—Amelia Earhart awaited only a weather bureau go signal today to send her trim laboratory plane, shown above, roaring toward Honolulu on the first leg of a projected 27,000-mile world flight.

Promised favorable weather after a three-day wait, the aviatrix and her three male companions expected to take off between 4 and 5 this afternoon.

Ahead of them, if flying weather prevails, will go two mighty

Clipper ships of Pan-American Airways, one destined for Manila, the other on a survey flight to New Zealand. Both will stop at Honolulu.

The survey plane was due to leave shortly after noon, and the Hawaii Clipper at 3 p. m., but the possibility existed Miss Earhart's speedy, twin-motored land plane might overtake one of the big flying boats.

HIGH JUSTICE HURLS VEILED BARB AT FOR

'GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP' CALLED PROPER REACTION

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—Outspoken criticism by Justice James C. McReynolds of persons who complain about adverse court decisions brought debate over the Roosevelt judiciary to a new peak.

The 75-year-old Supreme Court justice, consistent opponent of administration legislation, said last night at a banquet of his college fraternity, Phi Delta Theta:

"The evidence of good sportsmanship is that a man who has had a chance to present a fair case to a fair tribunal must be a good sport and accept the outcome."

Some attorneys, after losing a case, he said, complain that the court which heard it was unfair.

"Thousands and thousands of things come before the courts that are settled to general satisfaction," he said. "If things come that are not settled to the satisfaction of all, put yourself in place of the courts and see if you could have done better."

"Even in Christianity itself we have acrimonious discussions. Congregation 'A' says it will not go with Congregation 'B'. But if the great congregation says it has a great underlying purpose, there is success."

His impromptu speech contained the first indirect references to the President's reorganization program by any of the nine justices. He did not mention by name Mr. Roosevelt.

No, Farley Didn't Bring Hunk Of Blarney To U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—St. Patrick's day brought a solution to the capital's greatest Irish mystery—Postmaster General James Aloysius Farley did not import a hunk of the Blarney Stone to America.

It started when one James J. Daly—red-headed son of Erin—straggled into an office building on Pennsylvania avenue bearing a strange looking weighty object.

"Shh," he whispered to one Guy Collins—another son of Erin—"close the door quick."

"What's that chunk of cement for?" asked Collins.

"Cement nothing," snorted Daly. "You're looking at a piece of the Blarney Stone."

"Postmaster General Farley," exclaimed Daly, "brought it back from Ireland. That's all I can tell you. I

Jaycees' Name Contest Rules Are Announced

Ten dollars in cash for a name and an idea! Put on your thinking cap and get to work on it now—the money may be well yours as not.

The Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, seeking a name for its June celebration, has voted $5 as a cash prize and the Pampa NEWS is offering an additional $5 in cash for the best suggestion for a title of not more than three words that will most nearly describe and tell the story of the Pampa celebration.

For three years past it has been built on the centennial idea. But the Texas Centennial now is history and the Jaycees are searching for a new title for the celebration, one which can be made permanent and perpetuated through the years.

Pasadena has its Rose Pageant, New Orleans its Mardi Gras, Wyoming its Roundup—and each is known nation-wide. It is hoped that Pampa can select a name for its celebration that will become equally as widely known.

So the Centennial idea is out, Jaycee directors also frown upon use of the words Pioneer Days and Roundup Days. However they hope that the title selected will be significant of the pioneer cattleman and oilmen, for these two themes will be dominant factors in each year's celebration.

In addition to submitting the title for the celebration, each person who submits an entry also is asked to send along a letter of from 25 to 50 words suggesting some unusual or outstanding idea, feature or attraction that can be incorporated in this year's celebration.

Directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which organization again is sponsoring the annual event, are also desirous of including in this year's observance some original idea that will attract visitors to Pampa from over the entire state and from surrounding states.

Perhaps you have an idea or a name for the celebration that is the very thing for which the Jaycees are searching.

Remember, confine the title to not more than three words, and then write your letter suggesting how this year's June celebration can be made an outstanding one.

Get busy on it now. Deadline for the contest is Saturday, April 10. Ten dollars in cash awaits the best suggestion and letter.

Mail or bring your entries to the Celebration Title Contest Editor of the Pampa Daily NEWS, Pampa, Texas.

TELEPHONE BUILDING JOB STARTS MONDAY

Concrete will be poured next week for the foundation of the 30-foot extension to the Pampa telephone building, W. G. Riddle, district manager of the Southwestern Bell telephone company, announced today.

The building contract has been awarded to L. C. Graham, local contractor, and construction work began last week.

The extension is scheduled to be completed in about four months, and will house additional switchboard equipment made necessary by the increasing volume of calls here, Riddle said.

BETTING HEARING WILL BE SET ON THURSDAY

AUSTIN, March 17 (AP)—An effort to set next Tuesday as the date for a hearing on a house bill to repeal the horse race betting law proved unavailing last night in the Senate criminal jurisprudence committee.

On motion of Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston, opponent of repeal, the committee voted, 7 to 5, not to make a setting until a meeting tomorrow night. Moore asked that action be deferred because of absence of Sen. Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth, anti-repeal champion. Rawlings was called to Oklahoma by the death of a sister.

CHAMBERLAIN DIES

LONDON, March 17 (AP)—British statesmen joined in eulogy of Sir Austen Chamberlain, "father" of the Locarno treaty, today in recounting his 45 years of public service which ended last night in death.

HINTON TOLD TO CONTINUE FUND DRIVE

ALSO TO LOBBY FOR PANHANDLE BILL AT AUSTIN

Directors of the Panhandle Water Conservation association will send Carl Hinton, Amarillo chamber of commerce manager, back to Washington to continue the drive for funds for Panhandle soil and water conservation, according to Postmaster C. H. Walker, who with Ivy Duncan of Pampa, attended an association meeting in Amarillo yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Walker is Gray county chairman and a director of the FWCA.

Directors and county chairmen from the Plains region met to hear reports of Hinton, John McCarty, of Amarillo, County Judge E. C. Fisher of Canadian and Van Stewart of Perryton, on their recent trip to Washington on behalf of the association.

The group yesterday also passed a resolution authorizing Hinton to go to Austin to work in behalf of the proposed Panhandle authority bill introduced by Sen. Clint C. Small.

Hinton arrived in Austin today.

"At this stage of the game the outlook for help is the best this region has ever had," Hinton said at yesterday's conference.

He told of conferences with President Roosevelt in which the chief executive had evidenced much interest in the Plains problem and declared Marvin Jones already had sold the program to the President.

President Roosevelt's plans for nationwide water and soil conservation program coincide with those of the

FAIRGROUND PROJECT MUST BE COMPLETED TO OBTAIN NEW FUND

Works Progress Administration projects now in progress at fairground park must be completed before other applications will be accepted for approval, City Manager C. L. Stine was informed yesterday when several WPA officials paid Pampa a brief visit.

Those visiting Pampa included Carl W. Wilcox of New Orleans regional engineer; J. W. Caldwell of San Antonio, state field engineer; Col. Crawford of Mineral Wells, army engineer for the district office in that city; and L. O. Shropshire of Fort Worth, loaned to this district as supervisor of operations until a permanent official can be assigned.

J. W. Caldwell, in charge of dam operations, and Col. Crawford visited the site of the dam nearing completion at fairground park and made suggestions for minor changes, including re-location of the spillway and topping of the road and approach which will be of concrete.

Before any other project can be approved for fairground park the dam must be completed, the stables must be painted and made ready for occupancy, and the grandstand must be roofed, painted and seating capacity finished. Mr. Stine interpreted their remarks.

Tonight A. A. Meredith of Amarillo will appear before the city commission and discuss plans for immediate completion of the project.

ROBERTS COUNTY COURT BUSINESS TOTALS ZERO

Judge W. R. Ewing, presiding in 31st judicial district court, has returned to Pampa today after a short session of court in Miami, Roberts county.

Judge Ewing stated that both grand jury and petit jury were dismissed yesterday. No bills were reported by grand jurors and there were no cases for trial before petit jurors.

The Roberts county term is to be of two weeks duration. Judge Ewing stated that business for the term will be concluded next week with the disposition of two non-jury cases.

The district court moves from Roberts county to Lipscomb county for a two-week term, Judge Ewing stated.

SOIL CONSERVATION LECTURE SCHEDULED

An illustrated lecture on soil conservation and improvement will be given in the auditorium of City Hall at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. tomorrow, it was announced today by Principal L. L. Sone, of the high school.

D. A. Dobkins, of the Amarillo federal conservation office, will lecture at 2 p. m. tomorrow for members of the Future Farmers of America, under sponsorship of the Vocational Agriculture department of the local high school.

At 8 p. m. tomorrow, the program will be repeated for adults and for those who are unable to attend the afternoon session.

Purpose of the lecture, Mr. Sone stated, is to teach soil conservation and soil improvement through the medium of motion pictures.

NEGRO STOLE MEAT

SAN ANTONIO, March 17 (AP)—A middle aged negro, former employe of a local packing company, told officers he had stolen more than 2,500 pounds of ham and bacon within the last year. The negro admitted in a written statement he stole approximately $1,875 worth of meat from the packing company.

SWEEPSTAKES WINNER WON'T GO ON SPREE

Pete McCarty, Pampa oil field worker, today was "resting on his oars" awaiting further developments on the announcement that he has won $31,021 as a residual cash prize in the Irish Hospital sweepstakes at Dublin.

McCarty, who lives at the American hotel here, is a modest, retiring sort of person, somewhere in the forties, who has no wild ideas about going on a spending spree when his new wealth arrives.

"I am not interested in any plans to increase the amount," Mr. McCarty said today. "It is the first break I have ever had, and I hope to make the most of it."

McCarty was one of seven to draw cash prizes of $31,021 each. He was notified of his award by telegram he said.

IRISH WEARING GREEN FOR ST. PATRICK TODAY

It is St. Patrick's Day in the evening.

This day is observed in honor of the patron saint of Ireland, who is the subject of many legends.

St. Patrick was not an Irishman. History states that he probably was born in Wales and was carried off to Ireland by pirates in 405. He escaped after six years and fled to Gaul.

It was St. Patrick who formed the idea of evangelizing Ireland, and to whom the real conversion of Ireland is credited.

The day usually is observed by the wearing of the green, with the shamrock being the dominant emblem in honor of the saint for whom the day is named.

VFW MEMBERS FROM 5 POSTS TO MEET HERE

Veterans of Foreign Wars members from five Panhandle posts will gather in Pampa Sunday afternoon for a ninth district roundup. The meeting will be called at 1:30 o'clock in the American Legion hut by District Commander O. K. Gaylor of Pampa.

Delegates will present from Tulsa, Berger, Dalhart, Amarillo and Pampa. Speakers will include Past Commander W. S. Birge of Amarillo who will discuss membership and attendance, and Zane Smith of Groom who will speak on Scouting. Entertainment will be under direction of the Amarillo degree team, Commander Gaylor will lead a round table discussion.

Arrangements are in charge of a local committee composed of D. A. Bartlett, Hamp Waddell and Jake Garman. Entertainment and refreshments will be arranged by Jno. I. Bradley and a committee.

FHA OFFICIAL TO BE IN PAMPA NEXT WEEK

A representative of the Federal Housing Administration will be in Pampa next Monday and Tuesday to confer with persons interested in buying or building a home under the insured mortgage plan of the FHA.

Announcement of the two-day interview arrangement for Pampa was made here today by P. S. Luttrell, of Fort Worth, assistant director of the FHA in the northwestern district.

Mr. Luttrell stated that R. E. Sikas, of the Fort Worth office, will maintain headquarters for the two days in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at City Hall. He will come to Pampa from Amarillo.

Muskogee School Girl Shoots Her English Teacher

MUSKOGEE, Okla., March 17 (AP)—County Attorney Camp Bonds said today a calm 16-year-old high school girl held in jail here told him she fired shots to figure some way around "firing shots at her English teacher who gave her low marks — "but couldn't."

The girl, slender Ramona Porter, who appeared younger than 16, was in the city-federal jail after she was fired at Miss Charlotte Kennedy, the English teacher, in the corridor of the high school late yesterday.

"The girl told me she knew this was going to happen," Bonds said. "She apparently has no regret over her actions and seems rather defiant."

Miss Kennedy was not hit by the bullets from the .22 caliber automatic pistol. Two others, a janitor and a girl student, were struck but their injuries were negligible.

Miss Kennedy said she would not press charges against the girl.

Ricocheting shots struck a leg of James Little, janitor, and grazed the arm of Betty Jane Peckenbaugh, 17, a student.

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—Rear Admiral Richmond Pearson Hobson, Spanish-American war naval hero, will be buried in the Arlington national cemetery tomorrow afternoon after funeral services in the chapel there.

SHELL GIVES $100 TO CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT

The Pampa Volunteer fire department this morning received a check for $100 from C. T. Stern, Panhandle superintendent of the Shell Petroleum corporation, in appreciation of quick action of the department in extinguishing a fire at a company well last month.

The money will be placed in the volunteer fund for use in case of injury to members while on duty and for sending members to schools of instruction.

Members of the department asked The NEWS to express their thanks to the Shell Petroleum company for its generous gift. The boys consider it in their line of duty to be of service to every person and company in this section.

"Mother and son are fine," Don reported.

OLD-TIME DANCING FOLLOWS PUBLIC RELATIONS DINNER

IRISH PROGRAM PRESENTED FOR GUESTS OF BPW

Annual Banquet Has No Speaker But Much Wit

Entertaining civic and business leaders of the city, Business and Professional Women's club last evening gave its annual public relations banquet, a feature of business women's week.

No speaker appeared on the program, which was as Irish as the day it preceded. After the dinner, the 85 guests spent the remainder of the evening dancing old-time steps to music of a string orchestra.

Mrs. Glen Pool acted as toastmaster, and enlivened the dinner with Irish jokes as she introduced the guests. City officials, presidents of civic clubs, and "bosses" or friends of the members.

Irish ballads were sung by Lester Aldrich, accompanied by Miss Jewel Shaw. Mrs. T. F. Morton gave two amusing Irish readings. Irish airs were played by Helen Pook, violinist. The program opened with the club collect, led by Mrs. Bob Cecil.

A fried chicken dinner in green and white was served at tables centered with green carnations and brightened with emblems of St. Patrick's day.

Arrangements for the banquet were in charge of Hazel Bechtelheimer, Vera Lard, and Christine Cecil.

Guests Present Chapel Program

Pupils from Hopkins No. 2 school were chapel guests at Sam Houston school this morning, playing three rhythm band numbers and telling two stories. Mrs. Bruce Peek, teacher at Hopkins, was in charge.

FINAL FASHION PARADE PLANS GIVEN TO AAUW

Unusual Program on Current Drama Is Heard

Final plans for the style show which the A. A. U. W. scholarship committee will sponsor at LaNora theater Friday evening were announced at a meeting of the chapter last evening in city club room.

Stage settings and lighting will be specially arranged for the fashion parade in the New York penthouse, scholarship chairman who is in charge of arrangements.

The Blossom shop will decorate the stage and arrange flowers for the coiffures of models in evening dress.

A list of models was completed when the new Gilbert shop announced that its frocks and accessories will be shown by Meses Preda Bellows, Lorita Hogan, and Betty Blythe.

The business meeting preceded the program last evening. Scheduled election of officers was postponed to the next meeting, as the nominating committee announced its work incomplete.

Mrs. N. D. Steele was leader of a unique program on current drama. She asked the group to imagine herself in the New York penthouse, the noted Dorothy Parker, for a gathering of theatrical celebrities.

She reviewed briefly several plays of the 1937 season, showing pictures of scenes. Miss Josephine Thomas spoke of "The Eternal Road," drama in which Charles Thomas of Pampa has a part in New York now. Pictures also illustrated her talk.

Work of the Theater Guild was discussed by Mrs. Allen Hodges. Mrs. C. C. O'Neill sketched the life of Eugene O'Neill, leading dramatist, and reviewed some of his plays.

Mrs. Lee Harris assisted Mrs. Steele in arranging the program. Mrs. L. K. Stout received guests at the door.

WORLD FEDERATION OF BUSINESS WOMEN OPERATES IN 24 NATIONS

(The following account of the international organization of Business and Professional Women was written by Gladys Robinson, international relations chairman of the local Business and Professional Women's club. It is one of a series of stories released by the club during observance of national business women's week here.)

The International Federation of Business and Professional Women was organized in Geneva, Switzerland, in August, 1930, at the conclusion of three goodwill tours of American business and professional women which had definitely demonstrated that there was a field in European countries for such an organization as the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs of the United States.

The response to these tours was the presence in Geneva of representatives of 16 countries whose vote to form the international federation was enthusiastic and unanimous. Five of these countries were federated at the outset. Today the federation has 24 branches on six continents, the roster of countries including Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Czechoslovakia, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Holland, Hungary, India, Italy, Korea, New Zealand, Norway, Palestine, Poland, Rumania, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States.

The federation has had from the outset two primary purposes: the first to bring about among business and professional women that grasp of one another's problems, that tolerance of national viewpoints which must be a preliminary to true international understanding; the second to work for improvement of status for women the world around.

In both fields its progress has been noteworthy. The former purpose has been consistently furthered by the formation of new branches, through an interchange of correspondence between the various member countries themselves; thru the dissemination of information and also by the more intimate contact which is possible at board meetings and congresses.

The federation's efforts to bring about equality of status have been carried forward through organization, education and legislation. The formation of new branches has not only tended to pool the interests of women vitally concerned for the progress of business and professional women, but the very fact that spokesmen for these branches voiced the opinion of large numbers of women has had a definite influence upon government. Information regarding conditions in the various countries has been collected and circularized to good effect.

But it is in the legislative field that the most pronounced impression has been made. In numerous countries laws tending towards discrimination against women have been repealed or have failed of passage largely through the efforts of business and professional groups connected with the federation.

The federation includes in its leadership some of the most distinguished women in the United States and Europe. President since its inception is Miss Lena Madson Phillips, one of the founders, past and honorary president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs of the United States.

Men of the First Christian church will banquet in the church dining room tomorrow evening at 7:30, with the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, First Baptist minister, as guest speaker.

The Laymen's League of the church will be in charge of the meeting, and C. L. Thomas will preside. Music and other entertainment will complete the program.

Singing Mothers Invited to Join Chorus for Trip

Hopes of the Pampa Parent-Teacher association to send a Mothersinger chorus to the district meeting in Perryton April 1 and 2 hinge on a meeting called for 4 p. m. Thursday in high school cafeteria.

All members who can sing, and who will be able to attend the Perryton convention, are urged to be present. Miss Helen Martin, music teacher in the high school, will direct.

Large choruses from several Panhandle cities will be in Perryton, and officers here hope for a group equally as good.

ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION

"Asks No Favors, Fears No Weather"

Electric Refrigerators are designed and built to give satisfactory service in the home without care or attention on the part of the customer during all kinds of weather.

If you buy an electric refrigerator, you can depend upon the quick freezing process and the constant below 50 degree food compartment temperature just as you may depend upon these fundamentals in cold weather. Of course, it is during extreme weather that you enjoy more ice cubes and more frozen desserts. And during these hot spells the danger of food spoilage is greatest. It is then that you will enjoy Electric Refrigeration most.

Your Electric refrigerator dealer has all 1937 models on display. They are easy to own under his simple payment plan.

STRIKE TO BE FINAL RESORT IN OIL FIELD

TROUBLE NOT LIKELY IN UNIONIZATION CAMPAIGN

(NOTE: This is the last of a series of articles on the East Texas oil field, center of John L. Lewis' CIO organization drive in the petroleum industry.)

KILGORE, March 17 (AP)—John L. Lewis' organizing band will come into the East Texas oil field next month proferring union contracts on an olive branch.

Peace, union leaders stressed, is their wish and strikes, whenever mentioned, are termed last resort measures.

"Strikes are deeply serious things," said John T. Allen, organizer for the international oil field, gas well and refinery workers union. "They make men and women suffer and should be used only as the last resort. Union negotiations in the field to date have been peaceable. We don't anticipate strike trouble."

Major and independent operators, employers of the thousands in the world's largest field, generally agreed that actual trouble resulting from the attempted unionization was a remote possibility.

Organization activities, directed by some 40 members of Lewis' committee for industrial organization, will center at Kilgore, seven years ago the scene of wild boom days and martial law that lasted until the fall end of 1932.

Sheriff A. A. King of Gregg county has not regarded the labor situation seriously and said he made no definite plans for possible emergencies.

"In any event," said King, "I expect to enforce the laws and will be ready to deal with any emergency."

The officer, who, since taking office last January has cleaned the county of slot machines and gambling devices, and inaugurated a "no Sunday dancing law," had brought under control virtually all forms of law violation found in oil sectors. He has 19 deputies and modern equipment.

Soon after the discovery of oil in Lou Della Crim No. 1, Humble Oil and Refining company, an influx of oil field laborers stamped Kilgore, then a quiet village of about 400 located on red, sandy loam. It has grown to nearly 20,000 in seven years.

Martial law was declared on August 17, 1930, and the state railroad commission offices, regulatory body for the field, was not established until a year later.

E. Constantine, Tyler oil operator, attacked the validity of martial law in federal court in January, 1932, and a United States Supreme Court decision in December of the same year finally lifted the rule from the section.

Through it all, the original cause of one of the world's greatest oil rushes—the Lou Della Crim No. 1—has been flowing steadily on a sloping hillside some three miles from the center of town.

Twenty-two thousand wells which stretch as far as the eye can see in all directions, located in a plot 50 miles long and from three to eight miles wide, have an hourly potential production of about 16,000,000 barrels or could produce close to 400,000,000 barrels per day.

Oil men claim the field could produce enough oil in a single day to supply the nation for 14 days, or more startling, turn out enough crude in 11 minutes to meet United States needs for a day.

Valuation of the Kilgore school district was estimated at $32,000,000.

JOHN McCORMACK SAYS GOODBYE IN CONCERT

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 17 (AP)—John McCormack's golden Irish tenor will thrill no more American concert audiences.

Without dramatics he said goodbye last night on St. Patrick's day to an American public which has accorded him thunderous applause for 28 years.

A gay wave of the hand, a soft "good-bye" drowned out by a last ovation, and he walked off the Buffalo consistory stage to a long, long rest that "will be like heaven."

"I'm through with concerts," he said.

"There will be one more—in Dublin."

"I always said I wanted to give it up so people would ask: 'Why did he quit?' instead of 'Why doesn't he quit?'"

MEXICO TO COOPERATE

MEXICO CITY, March 17 (AP)—A committee to organize Mexican participation in the forthcoming Pan-American exposition at Dallas, Texas, went to work today. The committee will handle exhibits. President Lazaro Cardenas was reported keenly interested in the international fair, viewing it as a means of furthering trade relations with the United States.

Battle Plans Mapped by Lewis

The jutting jaw of John L. Lewis, photographed above as he met his organizers in Washington, gave no hint of compromise in his union battle with American Federation of Labor chiefs, who met in the capital city simultaneously. Talking with Lewis on the drive of the C. I. O., were Maj. George L. Berry, right, president of labor's Non-Partisan League; and Sidney Hillman, center, head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. Lewis, his C. I. O. groups expelled from the A. F. of L., has extended his battle for national labor control.

MIAMI FFA PRESIDENT WINS LOVING CUP GIVEN BY 'TACK'

MIAMI, March 17 (AP)—J. W. Thompson, president of the Miami F. F. A., won the silver loving cup presented by "Old Tack" to the exhibitor at the Amarillo Fat Stock Show who made the most economical gain on his calf and keeping the best records on his projects. Elmer McLaughlin's record with his pig ranked high in the winners selected by the judges.

Each student having a feeding project in the Miami High School Vocational Agriculture classes was required to weigh his calf or pig every month and calculate the cost and rate of gain.

The judges complimented young Thompson on the completeness of his records and pointed out that this was the deciding factor in selecting the winner of the cup. The cup is being engraved by the show officials and will be forwarded to J. W. at an early date.

LOYALISTS DEMOLISH TWO INSURGENT TOWNS

MADRID, March 17 (AP)—The government reported today its massed bombing fleets had virtually demolished the important towns of Sigüenza and Brihuega behind the insurgent front lines in the Guadaluajara sector.

Outlining the success of its campaign of terror to demoralize what was described as Italian peasant soldiery, the government declared eight tons of bombs were dropped and 1,000,000 machine gun bullets were fired into the retreating ranks of the disorganized insurgents on the northeastern front.

Some 25 bi-motored bombers and 60 pursuit planes were reported to have been massed into one gigantic fleet for the raids.

The returning fliers reported that they could see Sigüenza and Brihuega were only wastes of smoking ruins.

Trijuque, government-held, the birdmen said, was virtually blown out of existence by insurgent bombardment.

The insurgents, in retaliation for their reported defeat on the Guadaluajara front some 45 miles north-east of the capital, opened the heaviest bombardment in weeks against the heart of the city.

The first warning shell crashed into a building causing at least five casualties.

COMMISSION FOR GAS PIPE LINES PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—Senator Prentiss M. Brown, Michigan Democrat, proposed today that control of all interstate natural gas pipeline companies be vested in a federal commission.

A bill drafted by Brown would permit states producing natural gas to enter compact with consent of Congress for the conservation of natural gas and regulation of its production.

Luke J. Scheer, secretary of the Cities Alliance, who conferred with Brown on the draft of the bill, said it was designed to "prohibit the control of policies of natural gas pipeline companies by banking interests."

WAGE HIKE IS DEMANDED BY R. R. WORKERS

RETIREMENT SYSTEM AGREEMENT IS REACHED

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—Railroad leaders turned today to a fight for a $360,000,000 wage increase after reaching an agreement with railroad executives on a new retirement system for the industry's 1,500,000 workers.

The labor groups determined to ask for national wage conferences rather than system-by-system negotiations.

Non-operating employees seek a 20 per cent increase, with corresponding hikes in piecework pay and guaranteed working time. They have requested a conference in Chicago on March 30, to make the increases effective April 16.

The brotherhood, representing about 300,000 engineers, firemen, switchmen and trainmen, expect to ask for a 20 per cent pay boost on March 22.

George M. Harrison, president of the Railway Labor Executives association, said he believes the lines will agree to a national conference.

The retirement agreement, reached by groups headed by Harrison and J. J. Peley, president of the Association of American Railroads, would cut the initial tax on workers' incomes and on employers' payrolls from 3 1-2 per cent to 2 1-2 per cent each.

The new method, devised to replace a system now being challenged by the railroads in the District of Columbia courts, provides pensions for workers voluntarily retiring at 65, or at the end of 30 years service.

The taxes on workers and on railroads would increase as the system continues, under the following schedule:

- 2 1-2 per cent for 1937, 1938, 1939.
- 3 3-4 per cent for 1940, 1941, 1942.
- 3 per cent for 1943, 1944, 1945.
- 3 1-4 per cent for 1946, 1947, 1948.
- 3 1-2 per cent after Dec. 31, 1948.

FIVE KILLED AND 300 WOUNDED IN RIOTING

PARIS, March 17 (AP)—France's popular front government was threatened today by strikes and political difficulties today as the outgrowth of night-long rioting in the workers' suburb of Clichy in which five persons were killed and at least 300 wounded.

The bloody struggle between Communists, mobile guards and Rightists brought a one-hour strike of workers at the grounds of the forthcoming Paris international exposition, at the Hotchkiss motor plant and in several clothing stores in protest against the deaths and arrests of Communists.

Members of parliament filed notice of interpellation of Socialist Premier Leon Blum's administration for its handling of the riots, the most sanguinary in Paris in three years.

Strong cordons of police were thrown about strategic government centers to guard against rising political agitations.

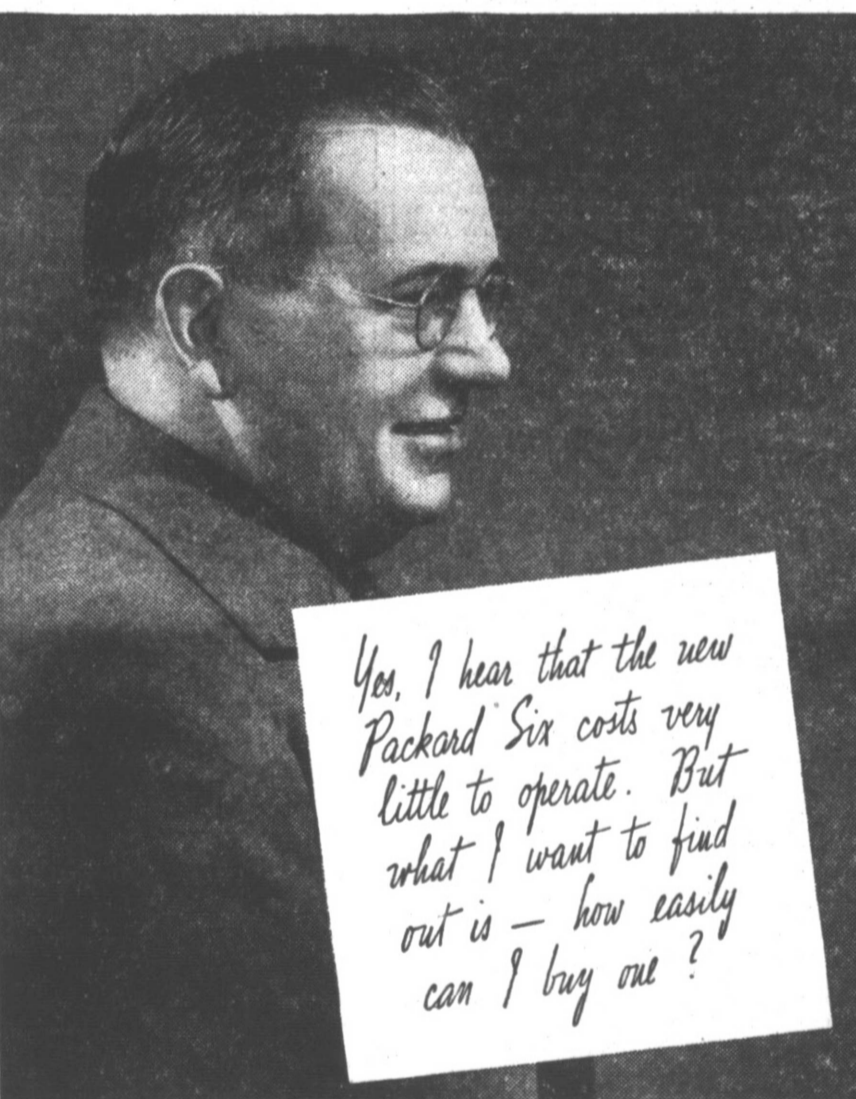

Communists, enraged by what they called the "massacre of Clichy," demanded immediate arrest of Col. Francois de La Rocque, leader of the militant right, and dissolution of his French Social party, a meeting of which led to the Communist demonstration and the riots last night.

Snake dances of the Navajo and Pueblo tribes were inspired by jagged lightning flashes which the Indians believed were snakes in the rain clouds.

"HOW MUCH WILL A PACKARD COST ME?"

SEND IN THE COUPON and you'll find that the Packard Six costs less to buy than you ever dared hope.

And here's more good news... the Packard Six can challenge any car for low-cost operation. This is true for two reasons...

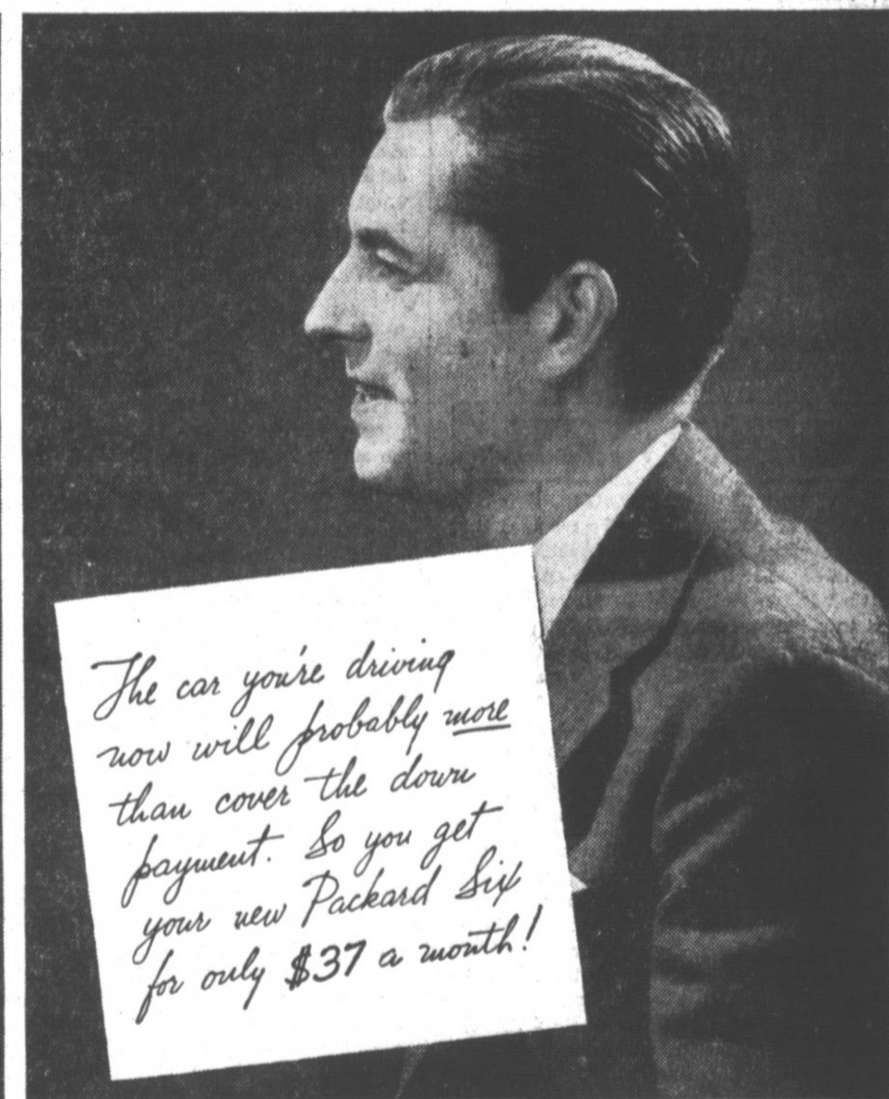

First, because this powerful Six is unusually thrifty with gasoline. (Ask us to show you the actual gas mileage that local owners are getting).

Second, because the car is designed so simply that it costs very little to service. For example, most service operations can be performed on the Packard Six in less time, with less labor hours, than on cars lower in price!

And the Packard Six will not only need very little service but will last longer. This long mechanical life, coupled with the famous lines that keep Packards looking like Packards, make it the ideal car for the man who buys out of income.

So fill out and mail the coupon, and get the pleasantest surprise in motoring!

A MOST IMPORTANT CLAUSE

Now that the question of whether we want a constitution or not is so prominent before the people, there are several important things in the Constitution which should be reflected upon.

The first 10 amendments, known as the Bill of Rights, which preserves the right of the individual as opposed to the complete tyranny and sovereignty of the State, is the most important part of the Constitution and a close second to this is probably Article V, which reads:

"The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or on application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as part of this Constitution when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by Congress."

If the Bill of Rights is the essence of our liberties, then Article V is the sound interpretation of our democracy.

The founders of the Constitution said deliberately and clearly in Article V that all fundamental alterations in our form of government were in the hands of the people.

These men foresaw that without that provision there could be no democracy, for without the power to amend the way would be left open to executive, legislative, and even judicial, usurpations and extra-constitutional laws, and the people would have no redress.

Article V is, then, the most important spot in the Constitution proper.

Amending is sometimes a slow process. That is precisely what the makers of the Constitution intended it to be—slow, long-thought-out and debatable.

When the people of this country relinquish the right to amend, either through inertia or carelessness, then their Bill of Rights will become wastepaper.

One of the trials of a scribe composing is waiting for a certain motor executive to walk out on negotiations so he can use the line, "Knauden bolts."

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Now is can be reported that opening sessions of the senate hearing on the Supreme Court bill were less than spectacular, and that is too bad, for Washington was entitled to a better deal.

This city seems off the beaten theatrical track and gets few first line performances except such as the senate performs. True the house can put on shows but for the most part they are an inferior brand unless they involve funny business.

Attorney General Cummings as a first witness was better than expected. He had a tough aria to sing in the first act. It was Cummings who first advanced the doctrine that the courts were so head over heels in work that justice simply couldn't see through and for that reason six more justices were needed on the Supreme Court and as many as 50 on the inferior courts.

So many seeming holes were shot through that argument before Mr. Cummings got to the witness stand that even Mr. Roosevelt abandoned it utterly when he went to the radio with his first fireside chat on the court.

Yet Mr. Cummings had to sing the music as he had written it. He presented a statistical study of the number of briefs and opinions the members of the court had to read before they could render a decision and by that means sought to show that the job was simply too much for nine men, and particularly these nine men among whom are six past 70 years.

"It's like reading 'Gone With the Wind' before breakfast every morning," Cummings joked.

Yet when several members of the committee sought to pin him down as to whether he thought the nine present justices were slighting their work he declined to answer on the ground he was a member of the bar and did not like to be put in a position of criticizing the court's opinions.

Under pressure of examination Mr. Cummings made one statement that left many New Dealers chattering in the corners. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and even President Roosevelt have pledged that a major reason for changing the court was to permit legislation to conserve national resources for the future. Yet, said Cummings:

"I am not disturbed so much about precedents as about the present situation. Future generations should be left to take care of their own affairs; we should take care of the present."

TEX'S TOPICS

Not so many days ago we had a column here about pretty things that the girls will wear this spring—style comment which caused a ripple of chuckles from some of our newspaper associates over Amarillo way . . . So, today we come right back with something along the same line for men, the little dears . . . And, no doubt, this will interest their girl friends, too—we hope.

Definitely, (much abused word) men's styles are heading for a colorful Easter tide. . . . And with Easter only days away, what the average man will wear once more becomes an engrossing problem. . . . One thing is certain—contrary to his wife, he will dress to please himself and no arbitrary dictates from so-called high places will influence his decisions.

Styles in men's wear change slowly, but they do change. . . . It is no longer a matter of raised eyebrows, for instance, when junior executives arrive at their offices garbed in houndstooth jackets of wondrous hue and the maddest of plaid sacks. . . . Less inhibited, more prosperous, gay than a year ago, men are turning to color wherever possible—particularly in shirts and ties.

(This dope is brought to you through the courtesy of this space after nights of digging here and there to get the real low-down. . . . As usual, there is no extra charge for this service) . . . Hand-blocked foulards with huge figures, highly colored silks with small figures, regimental stripes with plenty of red, polka dots on Charvet-type materials—are becoming popular.

Prosperity note. For the first time since the swift, careless days of the World War, men are demanding silk shirts—but with what a difference. . . . The new ones are in the best of taste, running to rather broad stripes of white on gray, white on blue and solid colors. . . . Scotch net in pastels is also an increasingly popular shirting material for business and sport.

Several pleasant innovations in footwear have made their appearance. . . . The high-walled oxford in Norwegian pattern may well be headed for a boom, so attractive is its combination of leathers and colors. . . . Very gay this, but not for the dew-soaked fairways. . . . For golf, the newest note is ostrich, which is peculiarly adapted for the game because the minute holes from which the quills have been pulled serve as ventilators. . . . We think they've got something there.

Conservatives will stick to black or tan for business, the accent being on trimness of line and restraint in decoration. . . . All in all, friends of the Easter style audience, it will be a bright spring picture—but summer will be even a brighter one, and you haven't seen anything yet!

There you are, men, and don't say that we show any partiality in this space. . . . You can depend on what you have just read as being the hot-umpty authority on spring styles, red hot off the griddle from the nation's fashion centers. . . . And, you'll find practically all of these suggestions right here in your own Pampa stores for men. . . . No need to go elsewhere (adv.)

It is not the intent of this space to go commercial on loyal readers who are expecting poetry, wit, humor, stuff, etc., etc., etc.—but we simply had to answer a challenge that we were inclined to be a bit partial to women in the matter of devoting a day to feminine wearing apparel without dropping in even one paragraph about what the young man about town will wear in the Easter parade. . . . So this takes care of that.

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY The grand jury report, signed by George Thut as foreman, recommended the appointment of a committee to investigate the financial status of the county, and urged that officers be more careful to comply with the law in all respects in arresting, charging, and fining offenders.

Material arrived for a Magnolia company carbon black plant east of Pampa, and the Skelly company announced a building program at Skellytown.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY Mrs. Charles Hogan wore a shamrock, explaining that her maiden name was Hogan, and Sam Fenberg wore one because, he said, his grandfather had once been arrested by an Irish policeman.

Playground ball teams at Horace Mann school were city champions, having defeated all ward schools here, and scheduled games at LePors. Dorothy Stewart was captain of the girls' team and Jack Vandenburg for the boys'.

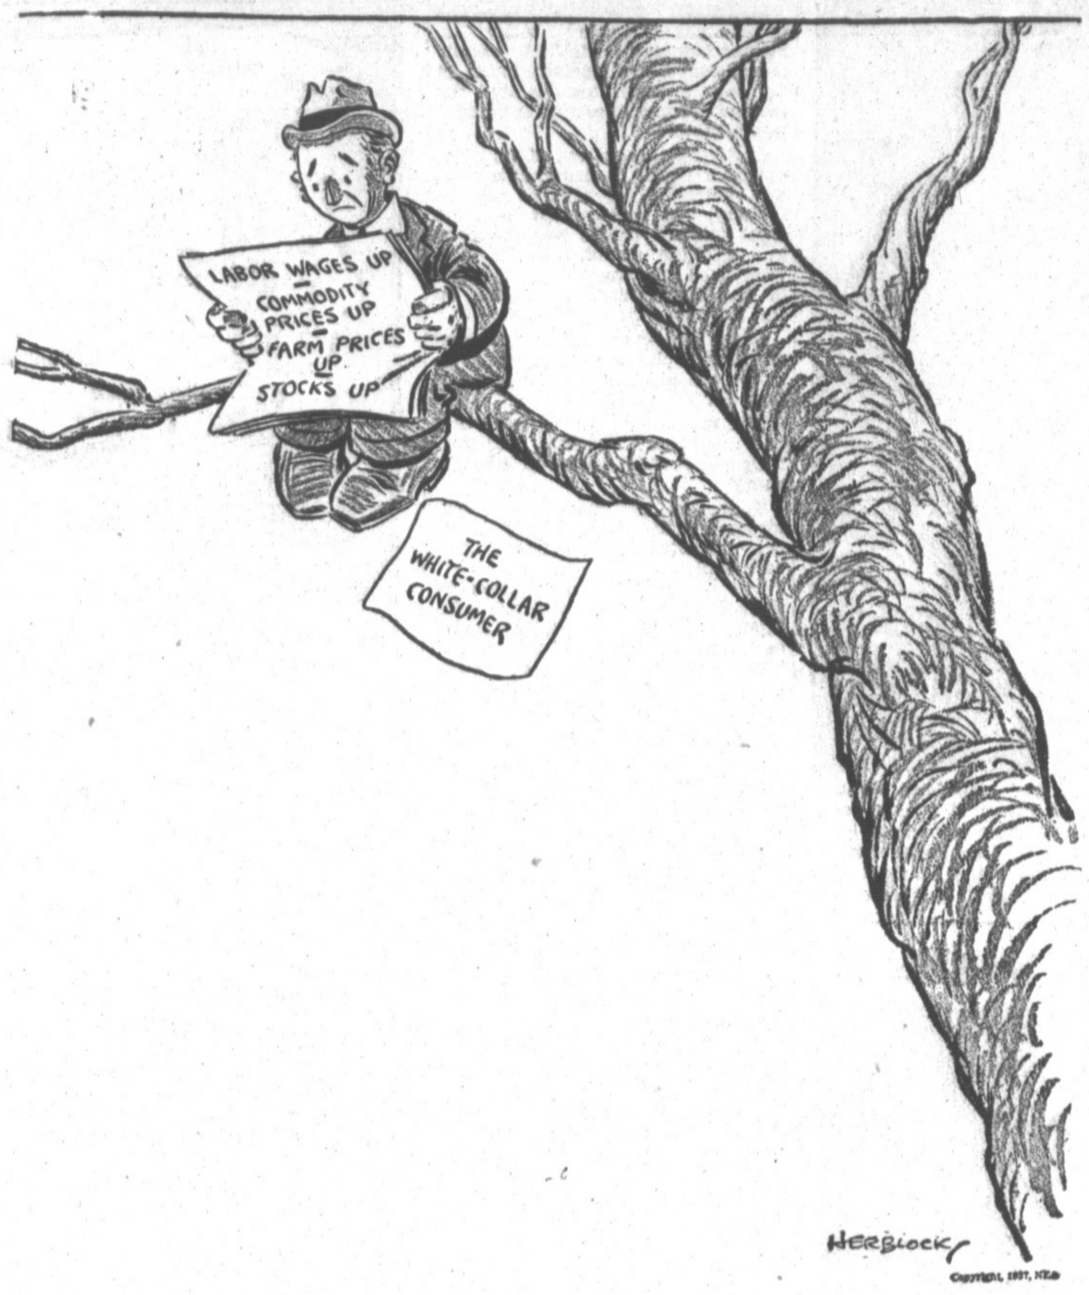

The Lions club announced a yard improvement contest. Carson Loftus, secretary, was in charge of entries. T. L. Certain was the first to enter the contest.

A feature at the New York fair will be appendicitis operations. It is an act that is bound to have somebody in stitches.

YEAH—EVERYTHING IS UP

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Some day a composer or a poet should do with New York what Thomas Burke has done with his native London—capture its sounds and its smells and fashion them into a symphony of true Metropolitan proportions.

Burke went only into verse, but he caught something of London that I have seen nowhere else. . . . Into it he wove the whole multi-colored pattern of London sounds—the bold, quick step of the bobbies on the pavement, the harsh, shrill voices of women bargaining in the market stalls, the muttering noises of West India Dock Road, the rattle of trams on the causeway, the sibilance of factory whistles, the raucous cries of the music halls.

Chiefly these noises were taken from Limehouse, that glamorous, semi-fictitious Oriental quarter which is the love child of Burke's imagination. . . . He considered them all, weighed them carefully, and concluded that of all Limehouse sounds, the one that disturbed him most, the one that filled his sleep with nightmares and left him morose and incombosable, was the scream of a child at night.

Already Ferde Grofe has taken a step in a similar direction, with his celebrated though well-hissed modern symphonies in which chains are clanked and steam whistles blown. . . . And, by the way some of the critics held their noses, he got a few of the smells of New York into them too. Nevertheless, it's a worthy ambition for some fearless author-composer—someone, perhaps, who does not have to depend on the proceeds of his writings for rent money.

As for sounds that fall familiarly on the local ear, there are enough for a dozen epic metropolitan poems. . . . There is the nostalgic moan of ship sirens in the harbor, the cry of sea-gulls and the coo of pigeons in the window-ledge, the rattle of the subway and the rumble of the overhead express trains, the blustering arrogance of auctioneers in the Broadway stalls.

There is the babble of Asiatics in Chatham Square, the honeyed talk of the yellowmen in Chinatown, the thud of leather against flesh at the fight arenas, the Vooah rhythms of orchestras in Harlem, the jangle of bells and the hoarse warning of fog horns on the piers, the clatter of typewriters in ten thousand offices, the ribald laughter in the beer stalls, the roar of the pack at the hockey matches, the angry heckling of jehus at the hack stands, the backfire of a truck in Hell's Kitchen (you always imagine it's a gun), and the jeers of bootblacks in the railway stations.

These are the sounds most common to New York, and some day some competent poet will tackle them. I want to have a look at it when he does.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations as follows: Social science analysis, various grades, $2,000 to $5,600 a year. Engineering draftsmen, various grades, $1,620 to $2,600 a year. All states except Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska, Dakota, Vermont, and Virginia, and the District of Columbia, have received less than their quota of appointments in the appointed departmental service at Washington, D. C. Full information may be obtained from O. K. Gaylor, secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the post office in this city.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

It is fitting that today, March 17, St. Patrick's day, should be the birthday of Mrs. Mickey Conley whose brogue is still as delightfully Celtic as "me grandmother's," as she would say, for she is as Irish as Dan Gribbon and he is as Irish as they come. Now if you want to get the low-down on the Irish and Ireland talk to Dan Gribbon, but don't get too fresh with him; he's as touchy on the subject as young Bill Coons is about Arkansas; and besides he's the kind of an Irishman whose natural inclination is to spit on his hands and rush up and say, "Where's the fight?" although education and culture and position have smoothed down the Irish in him considerably. There is a saying that God loves the Irish because it's not profitable to hate them. . . . Ever since 1836, the proudest boast of a Texan is that his ancestry is Irish or Scotch-Irish. . . . More Irish fought, bled and died at the Alamo, Goliad, San Jacinto than any other nationality. Generous in all things, the Irish have not been stingy with their blood; they have loved whom they have loved, and that blood has given us a sense of humor, a belligerent hatred of tyranny, a fighting love of freedom. . . . So today we hail the Irish in us! Long live the Irish! At any rate such Irishmen as Dan and Mrs. Conley!

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—Old dishes warmed over often fall flat in the movies as they do on the table, but the same fare spiced and garnished with novelty can prove acceptable. Three new films in a row justify that what the movies need is not new stories but new ways of telling the old ones.

The plot of Grace Moore's new picture, "When You're In Love" is not going to startle you out of your seat. Miss Moore plays an Australian opera singer stranded in Mexico awaiting a quota number for re-entry to the States. Gary Grant, care-free artist, agrees to marry her, so that she may return without further delay, the understanding being that she will divorce him shortly. They fall in love, just as you know they will, and the rest of the picture carries them through clashes of temperament and differences of opinion to the inevitable break and equally inevitable reunion.

But this film introduces a new director in writer-director Raskin. Raskin's principal fame heretofore lay in his association with Frank Capra as one-half of Hollywood's most film-garnished with an exceptional performance by Grant, with generous humor and brightness in dialogue, and with freshness of approach, smartness in camera usage, and other ingratiating qualities. The Moore voice in "Minnie the Moocher" is an obvious high spot. "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" is another case in point. Frederick Lonsdale's stage play served Norma Shearer as her second talking picture, and it is here revived—under How's Your Health?

Edited by DR. IAGO GALDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine

The cure for thirst is a drink of water, and the cure for fatigue is rest. But the thirst may be due to, say, diabetes, and the fatigue may be the result not of lack of rest, but of a multitude of other conditions.

Hence the simple remedy, rest, may not suffice to cure the tired feeling. Then to get at the root of the trouble, one must make a thorough study of the condition.

If the individual is otherwise in good condition, and his sole complaint is fatigue, it is quite likely that all he needs is additional rest. The remedy then is self-indicated. Add two hours to the daily rest period and take a rest cure during one or more week-ends; that is, spend 24 to 36 hours in bed. If this does not avail (the rest remedy having been given fair trial) a systematic search for the cause of the fatigue must be undertaken.

Begin with a check on personal hygiene. Inadequate exercise, poor food, lack of fresh air, working and living in an overheated, dry atmosphere, excessive mental work, too much and too vigorous play after the day's work, all will contribute to "that tired feeling."

Correct whatever faults are discovered and see whether the tired feeling does not disappear. Special attention should be paid to nutrition. A diet which is inadequate in its vitamin content and in its mineral salts may contribute to a sense of fatigue.

Therefore, check on the diet. Does it contain an adequate supply of milk and milk foods, eggs, vegetables, citrus and other fruits, meat and fish? Is the diet too rich calorically? Is there an excess of body weight? Compulsion of itself will contribute to and intensify fatigue.

Should such a study still fail to reveal the source of the tired feeling, and should the correction of the defects discovered not relieve one of it, further search is indicated. Anemia may cause fatigue. Orthopedic defects and postural disorders may cause fatigue.

Foci of infection, such as diseased teeth, infected tonsils and infected head sinuses may "sap" one's strength. Then also one must check on the possible existence of such infectious and organic diseases as tuberculosis, kidney disease and heart disease.

Of course, among the first things one will check on, is the absence of stimulants such as alcohol, tobacco, tea and coffee.

its original title, which is a novelty itself—as a vehicle for Joan Crawford, Robert Montgomery and William Powell. It is the same old play, and its climatic situation in particular may be called "dated," but the Lonsdale dialogue is still glib and its repartee and nuances still pack a punch. Given the benefit of elaborate "production values" and Richard Boleslawski's direction—his last work—it doubtless will attract.

And then there is "Sea Devils," which any consistent moviegoer can spot immediately as a continuation of the Flag and Quirt formula. This time "production values" and Richard Boleslawski's direction—his last work—it doubtless will attract. A New Booklet on Fortune Telling

From the beginning of history fortune telling has exercised a fascination on the human race. From the earliest times the soothsayer wielded an important influence over kings and empires.

The stars are said to influence attitudes and antipathies, and their indications should be taken into account when choosing a husband or a wife.

This, That and Everything

By JESS KELLEY

Students of Russian literature have been reminded of a very interesting poet during the last few weeks. It was 100 years ago last month that Alexander Pushkin, the great Russian poet, died. Ernest J. Simmons has recently published a biography of Pushkin in which he brings to mind some fascinating facts about that unique character.

One incident in the life of Pushkin reveals what great changes can come over a nation of people in the course of a hundred years.

Pushkin once wrote a letter in which he spoke favorably of atheism, and this offense subjected him to severe punishment under Russian rule at that time; so Pushkin was banished to the northern country for this crime. Such strange treatment at the hands of Russian rulers makes favorable reference to atheism seem odd indeed to our generation. With the present attitude of Russian rule toward religion this little incident in the life of Pushkin goes to prove what radical changes have come in Russian policy with regard to religious toleration in the last hundred years.

LET'S KNOW TEXAS AND TEXANS

BY WILL H. MAYES

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people, as the "People's Party" candidate, but only their initials will be printed. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. Who were the candidates for governor in the 1892 campaign and what votes did each receive?

A. Gov. Hogg was a candidate to succeed himself; Judge George Clark of Waco, ran as a conservative on a "Turn Texas Loose" slogan; and Judge Thomas L. Nugent of Stephenville, as the "People's Party" candidate. In the November election, Hogg received approximately 190,000 votes; Clark 133,000 and Nugent 108,000.

Q. To what extent was there ever commercial navigation on the Sabine River?

A. Prior to 1856, the Texas Legislature had authorized the expenditure of more than $300,000 in making the Sabine navigable to Logansport, and in 1859 the steamer, "Uncle Ben," made five trips as far as Smith county, carrying out nearly 1,000 bales of cotton each trip. Other boats made similar trips and hopes were held of a big business with Galveston and New Orleans, by river route. But the war between the states put a stop to river improvement, and navigation almost ceased.

Q. Was the capital of the Spanish territory of Texas ever at Adams?

A. While Texas was first designated as a Spanish province in 1691, it was not until after 1717 that Spanish authority was established. In 1722, when the administration of Texas was separated from Coahuila, the capital was fixed at Adams, (now Eobeline, La.) but later was moved to San Antonio, which became the center of Spanish life in Texas.

Q. What has been the increase in Texas state government expenses in 10 years as compared with the increase in population?

A. Increase in government expenses in that period has been 40.6 per cent, while increase in population has been 14.1 per cent.

A CENTURY OF TEXAS

All Texans will be interested in the origin and significance of early cattle brands of famous ranches as reproduced and contained in this new book of 84 pages. Arranged by counties. Introductory articles on Texas History by Peter Moyle; sketch of Cattle Industry and the Story of Cattle Brands by Frank Reeves; and foreword by Amos Carter, former Fort Worth Star-Telegram; all of special interest to every citizen.

Mailed postpaid for 50 cents. Address all orders to Will H. Mayes, 2610 Salado Street, Austin, Texas.

WONDERS NEVER CEASE IN CAMP OF FLATBUSH FOLLIES

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 17 (AP)—Wonders never cease in the camp of the Flatbush Follies.

It wasn't enough that Brooklyn's demon Dodgers should fire their old clubhouse trainer and hire a fancy physiotherapist, now every other method of teaching base-running is being tried. The Follies have recruited a star hurdler to show them how to skip over the base bumps.

Percy Beard, who used to set world records for Alabama Poly and now makes a living as track coach at the University of Florida, has been hired by Manager Burrell Grimes to show his boys how to get away from slow motion.

Beard is a very patient young man and Grimes hopes he may perform a miracle among Brooklyn's tangled-footed basemen.

Foremost among Professor Beard's pupils will be one John T. Winsett, a ponderous outfielder. Ordinarily, the impatient Grimes would have no truck with a fellow like "Long Tom" Winsett because he has what the ball players call "two left feet." Tom just can't make a right turn, when he's running bases or chasing fly balls. He veers off in the same direction every time.

But "Long Tom" can belt that apple, and Grimes needs him in the lineup.

Professor Beard, after one glimpse at his pupils, says it won't be long before Brooklyn will have a whole flock of Ben Chapman's circling bases.

16 QUINTETS STILL LEFT IN DENVER MEET

BARTLESVILLE OILERS ARE TOPS AMONG FAVORITES

DENVER, March 17 (AP)—Sixteen teams, hailing from ocean to ocean, swung into action in the third round of the national A. A. U. basketball tournament today and included in the list were all quintets dopesters named as the teams to beat.

The Rocky Mountain and Southwest regions led in the number of surviving representatives, each with four. The Midwest and Far West contributed three each to the third round, and the east two.

Two rounds of rapid-fire play failed to produce a single major upset. The stage was set for upsets today, however, as nearly every game had a pronounced favorite. Exceptions were the battles between the potent Oakland, Calif., Golden Staters and the undefeated Penn athletic club of Philadelphia, and the rugged, driving Colorado Springs Antlers and a sturdy band of basketweavers from Walla Walla, Wash.

Missouri Valley A. A. U. league entrants continued very much in the running, two of them stacking up scores resembling par on an 18-hole golf course. The Antlers' victory today, however, was a surprise, as they defeated a scrappy little Wichita, Kas., Gas quintet, 54 to 28. The Kansas City Trails, also highly regarded, bumped into stern opposition in a seasoned crew of basketweavers from Hesston, Kas. The final score was 54 to 38.

The seeded Oakland quintet barely escaped being the victim of an upset as an underdog Royal Heart team from St. Louis came from far back to within three points of tying the score in the waning minutes. Oakland had enough left to pull away to a 50 to 41 victory.

The Lincoln, Neb., Woodmen edged out the St. Louis Foods, 36 to 35, through a free throw in the last 39 seconds; the Penn A. C. defeated the Milwaukee Harvesters 38-36, and Oklahoma City University staged a belated spurt to dispose of the Newport News, Va., Apprentice school, 24 to 16.

Other teams to survive the second round were the Slaton, Tex., Oilers, with 41 to 38 victory over the 124th Field Artillery of Chicago; the Denver American Beauties, who ruined the trip for the Winston-Salem, N. C., Spachs, 41 to 33, and New Mexico Normal which beat Drury College, 38-34.

JUMP OUT
CHICAGO, March 17 (AP)—The National basketball rules committee, picking up where the coaches left off, considered today several changes in the game's code, among them elimination of the controversial center jump. The coaches yesterday recommended by a vote of 60 to 9, that the center jump be eliminated at least for a year.

A shell, believed to have been dropped during a Zeppelin raid in October, 1917, was found recently in a tree near Dallington, England.

CINCINNATI IS AIMING HIGH THIS SEASON

(This is another of a series outlining major league pennant prospects.)

BY PAUL MICKELSON.

TAMPA, Fla., March 17 (AP)—There may be fireworks from the Rhine-land sector this year.

Manager Chuck Dressen and his Cincinnati Reds, no longer league doormats, are aiming high. Give them a good right handed hitting outfielder and some of the good pitching they have a reasonable right to expect and they'll wear no man's collar in the impending National league pennant fight.

Pitching is the big if. Paul Derringer and Al Hollingsworth will be the hurling mainstays. Eugene Schott, 23-year-old right-hander who won 11 last season, and Ray "Peaches" Davis, complete Dressen's "Big Four."

The rest of his mound candidates have excellent possibilities for spot pitching duty. Among the leaders in the race at the moment are Benny Frey, a slow starter; Wild Bill Falahan and Lloyd Moore.

So far, it looks like the Red infield will be composed of Les Scar-sella, first; Alex Kampouris, second; Bill Myers, shortstop, and Lew Riggs at third.

Charley Gelbert obtained from the St. Louis Cardinals, Jim Outlaw, a 330 hitter from Durham, will battle it out for reserve positions if they don't crowd someone out of the regular lineup.

The catching department will be three deep with Ernie Lombardi getting the regular call over Spud Davis and Bill Campbell.

Kiki Cuyler hardly can be expected to observe his thirty-seventh year by hitting 326 again in 1937, but no one has shown up yet to steal his job. Ival Goodman is a cinch for right. Phil Weintraub and "Double Joe" Dwyer have a big chance to crash the other outfield post.

Babe Herman is a holdout but the Reds have forgotten him—so they say, figuring he's all washed up and doesn't fit in their scheme.

CARDINAL STONEWALL HOLDS AGAINST DIZZY

DAYTONA BEACH, March 17 (AP)—The Cardinal "stonewall" held firm today against the demands of Dizzy Dean for a $50,000 salary. "I have not changed a particle in my offer," President Sam Breadon declared. His basic offer to Dean is $22,500. If Dean applies to Commissioner of Baseball Kenesaw M. Landis for voluntary retirement, the Cardinals will approve it, Vice President Branch Rickey said.

Training Camp News

(By The Associated Press.)

ORLANDO, Fla.—Now that they know about it, the New York Giants are well pleased with the 1937 National league ball. The new sphere, with a thicker cover and slightly raised stitches, was tried out without their knowledge in yesterday's tilt with the Bees. Result: One homer by Mel Ott and 11 other assorted blows for the Giants; two boundary belts for Boston.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—It may not be an original remark, but Percy Beard, Brooklyn's new running coach, says the Dodgers have been getting off on the wrong foot for years. When starting from off first base, he explains, most runners move the right foot first although they can't take a full step toward second until they bring the left around. So, why not start with the left?

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Red Rolfe, New York Yankees' star third sacker, apparently solved a problem that has been worrying him all spring when he made three hits against the Cardinals yesterday. His chief complaint has been that he never has succeeded in hitting well until June and he couldn't find an explanation for the failure.

NEW ORLEANS—Hal Trosky's heavy clubbing is bringing smiles to the face of Manager Steve O'Neill of the Cleveland Indians.

TAMPA, Fla.—Cincinnati's Reds buckled down today to their final hitting and fielding drill before their "Grapefruit League" opener with the New York Yankees tomorrow.

PASADENA, Calif.—Jimmy Dykes worked the White Sox hard today, with pitchers using speed and curves.

AVALON—Mud and rain had Charlie Grimm and the Chicago Cubs in bad humor today. The club has had only four workouts.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla.—Pitchers dominated the batters in a Phillies intra-camp game which the regulars took from the yanigans, yesterday, 2 to 0, in eight innings.

MEXICO CITY—The Philadelphia Athletics used four pitchers of the Agriculture club for batting practice in a camp exhibition game which they won 24 to 5.

LAKELAND, Fla.—When the Detroit Tigers open their Grapefruit season against the Cincinnati Reds in Tampa Saturday, Tommy Bridges, Bengal ace, will do the hurling.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—Manager Frank Frisch ordered an intensive workout today to strengthen the Cardinals offense, as he prepared for the second game with the New York Giants here Thursday.

SAN ANTONIO—With the return of favorable weather, the Browns settled down to hard work today.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The Boston delegation in the Bees training camp awaited today's workout with mixed feelings. Milton's Elba Fletcher was exhilarated over the homer and the two-bagger he belted in yesterday's exhibition game with the Yankees.

DIPPY RACE WILL BE RUN AGAIN FRIDAY

SALOON KEEPERS IN 1837 STARTED NATIONAL

AINTREE, Eng., March 17 (AP)—You can take all your horse races, from Ben Hur to Santa Anita and lump them all together, and you still won't have anything half so fantastic and completely dippy in every respect as the race that is going to be run here again Friday afternoon.

The Grand National stands alone. You can believe practically anything you ever heard or read about it.

The race was originated actually by a group of high-spirited Liverpool publicans (broadly, saloon-keepers) who needed something exciting to do one afternoon, and so decided to hold a horse race. Being a lively set of men, they naturally felt it should be the longest race on record, with as many rail fences, hedges and creeks tossed in as could be conveniently managed. They felt, too, that a good horse ought to be able to carry a full grown man, like a publican.

The race hasn't been changed much since then, except that the course has been fenced in and modified very slightly and the tone of the participants and spectators improved somewhat. The king and queen, for instance, are expected to be on hand this Friday.

Nobody seems to know exactly how old the race is. Some record books say it had its inception in 1839, but the year 1837 is accepted "officially." So Friday's race might possibly be its centenary.

Perhaps the simplest way of giving a graphic general idea of the "National" is to point out that several thousand bowler hatted bookmakers scattered around the lawns and infield are pleased in most cases to bet you even money that your particular nag doesn't complete the course.

Any horse that runs four miles, 866 yards and carries a heavy rider over 30 jumps without something coming unsnapped is plain lucky.

RIDEOUT TWINS WILL RUN IN FORT WORTH

FORT WORTH, March 17 (AP)—The famous sets of twins of North Texas State Teachers college were entered in the special events division of the fifteenth annual southwestern exposition track and field meet here today.

Coach C. C. (Choc) Sportsman, who also will referee the meet, announced Elaine and Wayne Rideout will compete in the special two-mile run while Elmer and Delmer Brown would be entries in the 100-meter dash.

The individual entry list leaped over the 500 mark today.

The New York Giants but Pitcher Billy Weil, from nearby Melrose, was bemoaning his blowups in the fourth and fifth innings—New York won, 8-6.

SARASOTA, Fla.—Manager Joe Cronin will inspect his current Red Soxers under pressure for the first time today when the regulars play a six-inning game with the yanigans.

Harvesters 'Look Better Than Ever,' Say Coaches

Serious practice in preparation for their second encounter with the exes on Friday afternoon features every workout of the Harvester prospects of 1937 and will face former Harvesters still in school on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the turf at Harvester field. No admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend the scrimmage.

Several changes may be made in the Harvester lineup when the Mitchellmen take the field. Coach J. C. Prejan is experimenting with his tackles and guards this week, with satisfactory results probable.

Coach Oud Mitchell wants to see better blocking and tackling in the scrimmage Friday and to that end he is stressing hard work along those lines while smoothing out plays and working on new ones to spring on the exes.

It is still too early to name a starting lineup. The work of Captain J. W. Graham, Smith, Mathews, Nelson and Reynolds has been favorable to date but newcomers to the ranks are still giving them plenty of worry. It wouldn't surprise the rail birds if a pair of new tackles and a couple of strangers in the backfield appear in the starting lineup.

Missing from practice yesterday afternoon was Claude Heiskell, Oliver Coshow and Kenneth New. Heiskell is having foot trouble that kept him on the sidelines and Coshow was ill with a bad cold. New, who was scheduled to get plenty of work in Friday's scrimmage, failed to report.

Limping from leg injuries were Norman Cox, end, and Bobby Carr, halfback. They were on hand, however, and ran through new plays given for use Friday.

"The boys looked better than ever," coaches remarked.

CUNNINGHAM CHUCKLES AT RETIREMENT RUMORS

NEW YORK, March 17 (AP)—Rumors of his retirement are just a laugh to Glenn Cunningham.

The husky Kansan, who will seek his fifth straight victory in the Columbus mile at the Knights of Columbus games in Madison Square Garden tonight, says he will keep on chasing father time until "too many of those other fellows start passing me."

"Don't know where they got that retirement idea," said Cunningham with a broad grin. "The Columbus mile won't be my last big mile, nor will this be my last season of racing. I'll be around for a little while longer, anyway."

Cunningham sees a 4-10 mile "or better" for tonight's race.

Glenn doesn't believe Don Lash, Indiana's two-mile champion, will do as well at the mile as he has at his specialty.

Opposing Cunningham tonight will be Archie San Roman, Luigi Becali and Gene Venke, representing with Glenn the cream of the mile field.

Sports Roundup

By Eddie Briets

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 17 (AP)—Same old Cardinals . . . same old Pepper Martin . . . just can't stop that fellow . . . He and his hill-billy friends are making the Cardinal training camp here just about the liveliest in Florida . . . some of the natives may long for a few close-ups of Mr. Dean, but Pepper and his pals won't let them miss even old Dizzy for long.

First time he reported to a St. Louis camp, Pepper rode the rails . . . This year he showed up from Oklahoma in a hand made truck . . . If he isn't loading it with pickaninies and roaring up and down the main stem with the throttle open, he's taking on a cargo of baseball troubadours and going about serenading the citizenry.

The Florida sun hasn't mellowed Col. Jake Ruppert one dollar's worth . . . It's still $36,000 or nothing for Lou Gehrig . . . When Pete Norton of the Tampa Tribune shoots he aims high . . . He invited President Roosevelt to fish for tarpon off the Florida west coast . . . Moreover, Mr. Roosevelt promised to keep the invitation in mind . . . the veteran Charlie Gelbert's fine play is threatening to drive Alex Kampouris off second base for the Reds.

Miami papers report some of the Giants (no names mentioned) took the blast on Havana as a training spot . . . said the weather was OK, but the players couldn't cut down their weight . . . "After the second day we couldn't sweat," one Giant said . . . "Seemed like the heat just dried us stiff."

Three victories against one loss was the record of the Pampa high school girls volleyball team in games played in Miami Monday night. Scores were 15-2, 15-4, 15-10 and 12-15.

A return series will be played here next Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. The public is invited to witness the games. Bessie Grace was high point scorer in the games at Miami with 15 points to her credit. Betty Blythe was second with 9 points, followed by Sarah Pafford and Tommie Lee Close with 8 points each.

Stokes Green Is Named All-State Center on Team

Stokes Green, former Harvester athletic star, was named all-state center on the state junior college basketball team, at the finals held at Victoria last week. Jacksonville junior college defeated Schreiner Institute, Kerrville, in the finals. Another former Pampa boy on the Schreiner team was Moose Hartman, close friend of Stokes.

Green had tough competition at the center position. One center he jumped against was six feet and nine inches high, but Stokes managed to get the tip about half of the time.

Both Stokes and Moose will attend Rice Institute next year. J. R. Green, brother of Stokes and ex-Harvester, was an athletic sensation on Rice freshmen teams this year.

Both Stokes and Moose made the honor roll the last six weeks.

FINED FOR THEFT
Ray Colvin, 20, of Pampa, was fined $50 and costs yesterday afternoon on his plea of guilty to a petty theft charge when arraigned in the court of Justice E. F. Young. Colvin was arrested for taking clothing from a parked laundry truck.

CONOCO STATION NO. 2

Burdette Keim, Mgr.

601 S. Cuyler Phone 1237

GET CHANGED TO OIL-PLATING

Spring's here, but let's not put any loud "new suits" on all the old oil bogymen. After all, botherless engine lubrication gets down to a few calm facts that are facts.

No. 1 . . . You want to be certain that your engine doesn't grind every time you start, while oil is "coming up" from below. Oil-Plating, produced only by Conoco Germ Processed oil, can never lose time "coming up," because it's already there!

For the patented Germ Process creates such a powerful attraction between oil and metal that the inside of your engine becomes Oil-Plated. And you know that platings aren't runny, but stay up in place. That's the way Oil-Plating will stay up to ward off all the worst starting wear you ever heard of.

And No. 2 . . . Whether you've got a "good old car" or the latest thing, you want to make any driving schedule without being nervous about the heat indicator and the oil level. You can easily keep them where they belong. This is exactly why: the Germ Process creates a far stronger normal type of oil film and then checks friction still further by means of modern Oil-Plating—entirely extra . . . exclusive to Conoco Germ Processed oil. Costs no more when you change; costs you less all season. Continental Oil Company

TROTSKY CASE BEARS FRUIT FOR CARDENAS

By J. F. McKnight. MEXICO CITY (AP)—Now that the smoke is clearing away, hind-sighted observers of the Mexican scene declare that President Cardenas was more foresighted than his counselors when he invited Leon Trotsky to reside in Mexico.

The famous Russian revolutionary has pretty well dropped out of the news since the bargain he offered a month ago: "I am willing to let the world alone on the one condition that the world lets me alone."

More timely topics divert attention from the controversy which raged after Cardenas' invitation.

Four Achievements. And the political aftermath has been favorable to the president. He may not have seen them (although most observers think he did) but, with his invitation, Cardenas accomplished four things:

1. Effectively silenced the Stalin-leaning Confederation of Workers of Mexico, which some government quarters thought was getting too obnoxious.
2. Gave the lie to critics who charged Mexico was under soviet Russia's influence.
3. Reiterated Mexico's absolute adherence to the doctrine that asylum shall be granted all political refugees, no matter what their creed or faith.
4. Demonstrated his confidence in the stability of his regime, his belief it had nothing to fear even from such an influence as Trotsky's might be.

Trotsky Keeps Promise. Trotsky is abiding carefully by his promise not to meddle in Mexico's politics.

The Moscow trials over, he has lapsed into silence. He lets Muralist Diego Rivera, his friend, disciple and host, answer attacks upon him while he devotes his own time to preparing documentary evidence to present to the international commission of inquiry he hopes will some day "smoke out the truth" about the trials—"the greatest frame up in the world."

MUSSOLINI DENOUNCES BRITISH NERVOUSNESS

TIPOPOLIA, Libya, March 17. (AP)—Premier Mussolini, referring scathingly to British nervousness over Italy's ascendancy in the Mediterranean, to a cheering throng of 100,000 today the Italian empire had been forced to rearm to meet the rearmament threat of others.

While the guns of the missed Italian battle fleet boomed in the harbor of the province's capital, II Due shouted:

"We rearm on sea, in the sky and on land because it is our imperious duty in the face of the armaments of others."

Declaring that such reports disturbed the peace of all peoples, Mussolini said "An alarm of the dark paign has been evident in the more or less great democratic countries over my trip to Libya."

"This neuropathic alarmists, this sowing of suspected dangers, does not enhance the cause of peace because it profoundly disturbs relations between peoples."

The premier, paying his first visit to the Italian colony on the southern shore of the Mediterranean in 10 years, proclaimed an Italian will to "live in peace with all those who manifest an identical will."

Crisis Develops in Sickness of Queen

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 17. (AP)—A crisis developed today in the illness of Queen Dowager Marie of Rumania, and physicians planned an early conference to decide whether a surgical operation is necessary.

The crisis came during the night after two days of apparent recovery from an illness previously diagnosed as gastric hemorrhage.

Doctors administered injections and expressed belief the patient's liver was causing serious trouble.

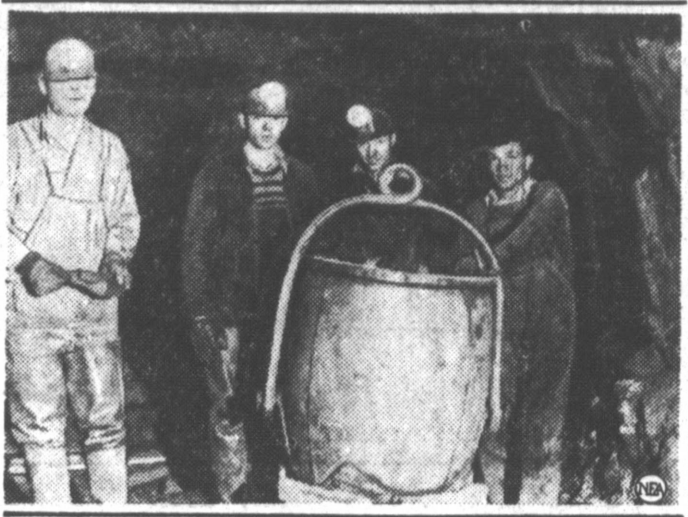

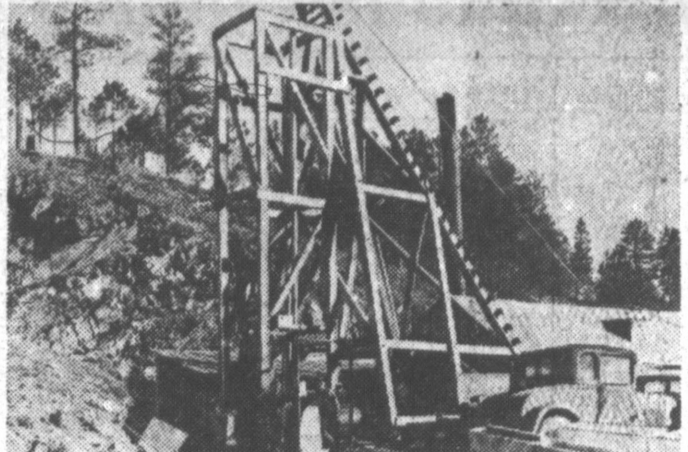

At least one physician and a lady in waiting were in constant attendance upon the 61-year old queen dowager.

Her daughters, Queen Mother Marie of Yugoslavia and former Queen Elizabeth of Greece remained close at hand.

Her son, King Carol II of Rumania, was informed frequently of her condition.

Women all over the country were holding prayer services in her behalf while schools conducted special services.

Price Lure Revives Gold Mining

Stabilized price at $35 an ounce has added profit once more to the romance of gold mining, and many abandoned mines, like the one above near Keystone, S. D., are being reopened. Work on this mine was stopped in 1907, but now the shafthouse has been rebuilt and a small stamp mill will be installed. The parked auto adds a modern touch. In the lower photo miners are shown removing debris from the 200-foot level and loading it into the iron bucket to be hauled to the surface.

HER NAME IN LIGHTS

Chapter XXIX

Daphne Brett sat on the wing chair of her hotel room in Detroit and read and re-read that letter.

Larry hadn't gone to Spain after all. If she had written to him before she left. . . .

How many times that word had come between her and her thinking only to have her realize that it all went back to one clear thing: Larry hadn't understood her, hadn't believed in her or he would not have believed that her career meant more to her than her love.

Sometimes she couldn't believe it was true. But it was. Larry had said, "Then, this is goodbye." And it had been goodbye.

She could have gone after him, told him the truth, that she wanted money for Jennifer, but again she went round in the same circle; it came out the same way always. Larry had not believed in her.

She tried not to think of it. Yet when she fell into her hotel bed or a Pullman berth on that cross-country trek, it was only to lie in the dark and ponder on the misfortune that had withered the beauty of her love.

Once her day had begun with breakfast on a train, in a hotel or in a railroad station lunch room, it was a mad scramble to assemble trunks and staff, to establish pre-arranged contacts with the shops showing her display. She had brought models and makeup experts with her, clothes for the fashion show, the necessary requisites for showing the moving pictures, and always, always she had to be present with a smile and good cheer for her product.

It should have made her happy to tabulate the mounting sales that meant more money for her. She should have been thrilled by the success of her trip, by the publicity which the product was getting. She should have been gratified by the letters that were sent to her from her home office.

But she wasn't. Because the place where those things are warm is in the heart and her heart was numb. She had letters from Jennifer. Brief, little notes. She had hoped before she left that Jennifer, in the excited happiness of her opening, would forgive that quarrel they had had two days before she left when Jennifer learned that Daphne had persuaded Tuck not to see her. Apparently she hadn't. Her notes were curt and merely passed on news about the apartment, the maid and the show.

Apple Blossoms had opened in Philadelphia and gone right into New York, rather disappointingly, since the Philadelphia critics had been enthusiastic about it. The New York critics hadn't been but the house was well sold and they had been running six weeks. It looked as though it would carry through the season.

Daphne was glad for Jennifer. Glad that one of the critics had noted the performance of "a newcomer who appears to be adaptable and has a fresh beauty not seen on the New York stage in recent seasons."

Daphne wrote an encouraging note to Jennifer and applied herself to the problem of collecting trunks accidentally left in Duluth.

Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Kansas City. Back to Chicago. Later to Detroit. Still later, Oklahoma City, Salt Lake City. Finally, Seattle and San Francisco and three months after she had left—it was now the end of November—the tour was over and Daphne was on her way home.

"Please meet me," she wrote Anne. "I feel horribly lonesome suddenly. Trip has been a success I think but now I'm itching to be home. Only I don't want to arrive all by myself. I've asked Jennifer but I'm afraid she'll be at the theater."

Jennifer was not at the theater because Daphne's train arrived at

"Well, I . . . yes, I am, Daphne. I guess I might as well tell you before someone else does." She smoothed the finger of her glove. "I'm dining with Larry. We didn't know you were coming. . . . and, last Sunday, when I was up at Brett Hall—he took me up for the day—we . . . that is . . ."

"Oh, that's all right, I really wanted to talk to Anne," Daphne said and fumbled in her bag for change for the taxi driver.

Flashes of LIFE

ERIN GEOLOGY. CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Arthur Loveridge, of the Harvard Museum of Comparative Zoology, is one for scientific explanation even on St. Patrick's day.

He advanced the explanation for Ireland's freedom from snakes that the emerald isle, as a body of land, broke away from the mainland before England, then still ice-capped. So, he said, the reptiles had no opportunity of wriggling in from France.

MILK TOAST, MAYBE. NEW YORK, (AP)—Pearl Buck, the author, agrees with the novelist Ford Madox Ford that there would be a lot more peace if everybody's digestion were better.

"Everybody ought to eat the same food and they would be more alike," she suggested to the Gourmet society.

Dr. Lin Yu Tang, Chinese editor and lecturer, said six months in the United States convinced him "loyalty to Uncle Sam is loyalty to doughnuts, ham and sweet potatoes."

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., (AP)—Mrs. Bertha Johnson was home with her newborn 21st babe today and happy after a reunion attending to all but one of her 18 living children last night.

And today she was more than ever convinced that large families are the thing.

"People ought to have more babies and not pay so much attention to making money," she said.

HABIT FORMING. KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Leo Higgins, hamburger stand manager, knows by sight a bandit who has a bad habit and muff of cross fox.

"I had to do it, Daphne, if an actress doesn't dress, she gets nowhere. I suppose you know the show closed?"

"Did it?" Daphne asked as though Jennifer had said "The lights went out." Not at all important.

"Yes, but I'm not worried. Herzberg seems to be impressed by me. He keeps in touch with me and he has a new play I'm really intrigued with. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if he offered me the lead."

"I hope he does. What else is new? Have you been having a good time? And do we still have our kitchen jewel? And is there any mail for me? And has anyone asked for me?"

"I've been having a good time. I'll tell you about that later. We still have our kitchen jewel and a few people have telephoned you but I can't tell you just now. I just told everyone you were away and you'd be back the end of the month."

"Did . . ." Daphne was about to ask if Larry had telephoned but she couldn't bear it if Jennifer was going to taunt her about Larry.

"And let me see, has there been anyone looking for you? Daphne pretended it really wasn't important to her.

"Not a soul that I can think of offhand," Jennifer said after a long, agonizing silence.

"It's gotten cold, hasn't it?" Daphne shivered in her tailored suit.

"Where'd you pick up that snappy model, Daph?"

Daphne realized with some dismay that she didn't look very chic in her brown tweeds. She hadn't had time for a finger wave in the last few days and she was gray and tired from travel. Jennifer's cool chic pointed up her own lack of it. She felt that there was more than six years between her and her sister.

She thought of all the money she had in the bank. The bonus check had been sent to her at San Francisco. Her share of the sales would add another thousand to it. A dream realized. And like a dream it had no power to impress her conscious mind. The money had been a symbol to her months before. Now it was the rock over which she had stumbled. She didn't even think of what she could do for Jennifer.

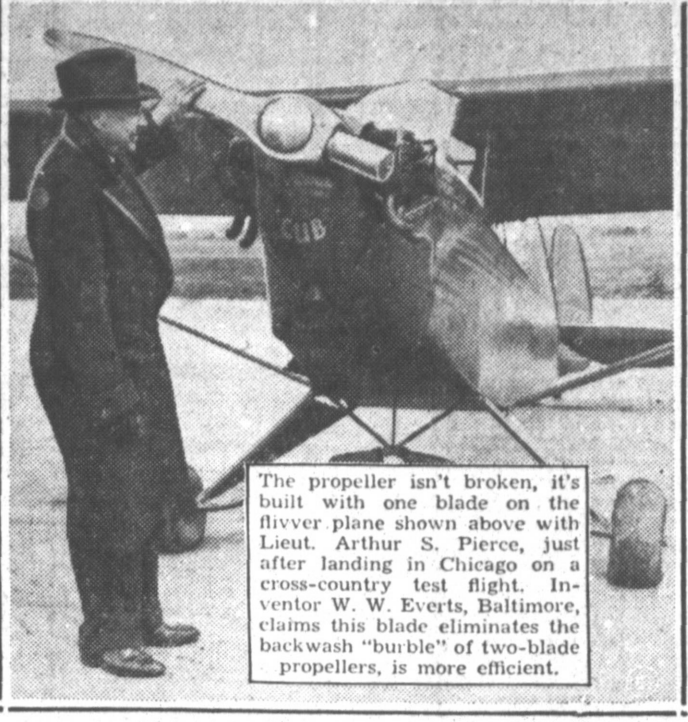

"Have you got to go to the office?" Jennifer asked.

"Not today. I think I'll go home and remove a little of the far west, the middle-western states and the effete east from my person. Then—oh, where's Anne?"

"At the apartment by this time. She had to deliver some stuff in the neighborhood. She wants you to come to her house for dinner. She's having some people in."

"I think I'll stay home and you and I will dine together. That is, unless you're busy."

Queer Propeller Cuts Out Burple

The propeller isn't broken, it's built with one blade on the flivver plane shown above with Lieut. Arthur S. Pierce, just after landing in Chicago on a cross-country test flight. Inventor W. W. Everts, Baltimore, claims this blade eliminates the backwash "burble" of two-blade propellers, is more efficient.

60-YEAR OLD WHIST CLUB HAS TWO EX-CHAMPIONS. LISBON, O. (AP)—Two former national champions are members of the 60-year old Lisbon Whist club, whose weekly sessions serve to keep alive the once-popular "grandfather" of contract bridge.

The Lisbon club, with 16 members, is believed the oldest between New York and Chicago.

MERCANTILE LIFE IS SUBJECT OF PICTURE

"Main Street," a talking picture dealing with a city's downtown mercantile life, was presented at the Junior chamber of commerce luncheon yesterday noon by Mark Pickle, program chairman.

The picture showed how men and women earned their salaries "on main street." The untidy, unsmiling, sullen clerk was shown as he waited on customers—with the customer's reaction on the side. Then the tidy, smiling, courteous clerk was shown about his and her work—with the customer's reaction.

The Rev. John Mullen announced the series of noon Holy Week meetings for men only next week in the city club rooms. He invited the Jaycees to make the next Tuesday meeting their program after luncheon in the Schneider hotel. The club voted unanimously to attend.

Members were urged to remember the old time dance on March 26 and also to start thinking about the annual June celebration.

Guests included Elmer Sheffield, B. H. Kirby and Floyd Voss.

CHAMP GUM CHEWER. WAUKESHA, Wis. (AP)—Lloyd Tespe, 14, won a contest by chewing 50 sticks of gum simultaneously, thus adding another "record" to the one he made New Year's Eve by eating 44 hamburgers in seven hours. Lloyd weighs 207 pounds.

THE FINANCIAL WHIRLIGIG

By LOUIS SCHNEIDER

INFLATION Experienced Wall Streeters say that ticker tape prices are seldom misleading. To them the tape is telling a story of pending inflation. How do they conclude that? The tape shows that high-grade bonds have been on a downturn for nine successive weeks. Commodity prices have been advancing for months. Prime common shares are moving to new low levels while commodity stocks are moving to new highs. All this plus mob psychology — according to business and banking interests — erases any lingering doubt of pending inflation.

WILD The only man in the country who can stop the speculative inflationary buying boom is President Roosevelt. But trading interests say his hands are tied. He isn't expected to do a thing about it. Wall Streeters insist that he started the ball rolling and that he would hurt himself if he did stop it.

Here's the reason: President Roosevelt wanted business improvement. Thoughts of inflation started the wheels of industry humming because hurried public buying started in order to take advantage of prices before they spurted wildly. Stock and commodity market quotations naturally respond. Advancing markets make the "have" people feel good. Should President Roosevelt do something to stop spurring commodity and security prices it would throw a damper on the good feeling, and that would halt business activity. That is why Wall Streeters say President Roosevelt doesn't dare make any move to stop the wild speculation now sweeping the country.

SWITCHING Speculative interests are running rampant in their inflationary beliefs. It accounts for the bad action of the utility, communication, food and tobacco issues. Companies in these industries sell their wares at fixed price levels. They can't increase them as rapidly as prices would spurt in inflation. For this reason traders are switching equities of these groups into oil, rubber, steel, chemical and mining issues.

PROOF There is proof that the share advance in commodity and metal prices is due to wild speculation and not war preparation buying. Those who analyze situations show that if war-minded countries were the real buyers the demand for nickel would be unusually large. But it isn't. In fact foreign prices of nickel have fallen rather than increased since January 1. The inside story is this: International Nickel practically controls the world supply. It does not offer any options on nickel deliveries. It sells only to consumers. That's where speculators are stymied. International Nickel's officials are not interested in speculative profits. They want a stable price structure based on supply and demand factors.

DENIED For several weeks tipsters have been urging friends into buying Northern Pacific Railway shares. The hope being spread is that the road's legal complications with the government concerning 2,800,000 acres of land will soon be settled; that the railroad will receive $10 an acre; that the $28,000,000 thus obtained will be used to redeem funded debt; and, that with increased loadings the common shares will be in line for substantial dividends.

Your correspondent has been authorized to reply that the legal matter is still in the hands of a Master; that a decision from the Master isn't expected until some time during the summer; that it appears as if the matter will be appealed to the United States Supreme Court; that it will be a considerable time before a final decision is reached; that there is no truth to the gossip of a quick settlement on a $10 an acre loss.

BENEFIT Even conservative stock buying interests are active in the rail shares. Coupled with the enthusiasm of speculative interests it accounts for the huge turnover in this section of the trading list. In many cases motors, motor accessories, foods and utilities are being switched into rail shares. Why? Because speculatively the railroad equities are considered behind other trading groups; because carloadings do show improvement; and, because if industrial activity continues railroad revenues will benefit.

EGGLES PLAN TO HIKE TAXES NOT APPROVED

WASHINGTON, March 17 (AP)—A blunt suggestion by Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board that the government increase taxes on incomes and profits if necessary to balance the budget met a cool reception today on Capitol Hill.

Wall Street bankers and several economists endorsed his goal but expressed less enthusiasm about his suggested methods.

Eccles in a statement last night said it would be preferable to jock up federal income to meet outgo than to keep the government in the red.

He said a balanced budget would mesh with the reserve board's "easy money" policy for achieving and maintaining a balanced recovery.

"I have not been and am not now," he said, "in favor of balancing the budget at the expense of the destitute and the unemployed."

But I am in favor of increasing taxes on incomes and profits if necessary to sustain the volume of relief and permit the paring down of public debt as private debt expands.

"Only by this process can monetary inflation be prevented."

(President Roosevelt's budget calls for a balanced budget in the next fiscal year if relief outlays can be held to $1,537,000,000.)

Typical of initial reaction in Congress was the comment of Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader: "Let's go slow about increasing taxes."

Rep. Treadway (R., Mass.) ranking minority member of the ways and means committee which originated tax laws, said: "It would be absolute confiscation of the property of the people, in view of the extravagance of the administration, to think of balancing the budget now through higher taxes."

Third Year of Married Life Called 'Worst'

SEATTLE, March 17 (AP)—The third year of the worst matrimonially speaking, said divorce Proctor Evangeline Starr today as she studied her statistical report on the 2,012 divorces decreed here last year.

Sixty-five per cent of the divorces occurred in the first 10 years of married life, and the third year led the rest.

Miss Starr said she assumed the reason is that it takes three years to get over the first flush of honeymooning and infatuation and settle down to the humdrum of married life.

Full recognition of a spouse's shortcomings, she said, are "cruelty and personal indignities" which cover a multitude of connubial sins. Intoxication was the principal cruelty alleged by divorce seeking wives.

CHICAGO, March 17 (AP)—Thirteen dollar lambs were back in the livestock market Tuesday for the first time in seven years. Scarcity has added more than a dollar per hundredweight to the value of lambs in the last week. Since the first of the year, lambs have gained more than $3 per hundredweight.

Rebel Cruiser Sinks Spanish Loyalist Arms Ship

When the history of the Spanish civil war is written, the Nationalist cruiser Canarias, above, may get credit for one of the war's decisive acts—the sinking of the blockade-running steamer Mar Cantabrico, loaded with a $2,700,000 cargo of munitions for the Loyalists. Airplanes, machine guns and ammunition the ship was transporting from the U. S. were desperately needed in the defense of Madrid. The Mar Cantabrico was sunk in the Bay of Biscay, off Gijon, near Bilbao, after trying for days to run the rebel blockade disguised as a British steamer. The crew was taken aboard the Canarias, wireless reports said.
