failed to turn their attention toward monetary aid at the regular session "we might as well discharge them."

Speaking in behalf of the extra session, Representative Woodruff of Decatur answered Kincaid with charges that "the 39th legislature, which approved appropriations at its outset bungled more measures than any other in the history of Texas."

Woodruff told the House provision for a sixty-day regular session was made when situations were less complicated than now, and declared the time was present when a change should be made in the law, giving the legislature made in the law, giving the legislature sure.

Dewey Young Asks Opinion on Paving Bond Propositions

Representative Dewey Young, in a letter to George Briggs, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, asserts that sentiment at Austin favors a statewide road bond issue, but that opinions vary as to the best plan.

"I am sure some disposition will be made of the question of a statewide bond issue," he wrote. "I do not know which plan will finally be submitted to the people, but I am sure one of them will be passed upon by the legislature."

"I would appreciate ideas immediately from you giving your opinion on which one would be best adapted to the purpose, as you interpret the proposals through the columns of the newspapers. This is indeed a big issue and is one that we should not forget the people in, as they in time may defeat it with their vote. It would be practically useless for us to submit a proposition which will be voted down."

Veterans Discuss Desirability of Playground and Municipal Band— Drum Corps Will Be Organized Here

With a paid up membership of 169 out of a total of 310, the Kerley-Crossman Post of the American Legion of Pampa has the distinction of having the largest paid up membership for 1929 in the 5th division, it was announced at a Legion meeting last night.

A large gathering discussed a proposed park and playground for Pampa, to be known as Legion park, but to be a civic enterprise. An excellent place has been located and all that remains is to have public minded citizens assist in securing the location.

A band to be maintained by levying of a 1 to 3 mill tax also was discussed.

The post believes that a band is an asset to a city and community. Pampa has the talent and leadership. The Legion plans to organize a drum corps of at least 24 members. Twelve drums are on hand and J. E. Hartley, formerly of Amarillo, is ready to instruct the corps.

Other important matters undertaken by the Legion are the sponsoring of one or more Boy Scout troops and assisting the Pampa Automobile Dealers association in another successful show. In the absence of Commander F. M. Culbertson, P. E. Boyd acted in that capacity last night.

Whitey Walker and Fred Nave Held In Buffalo, New York

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 16.—(AP)—Clyde Roberts, held by Buffalo police for Texas authorities on a series of charges, was identified today as one of a gang that held up a bank in Lamar, Colo., last May, shot and killed the president and his son, and kidnaped a teller. The identification was made by Chief of Police H. D. Harper of Colorado Springs.

Ace Pendleton, identified as participant in the $32,000 hold-up of the First National bank here March 31, 1927, is in jail at Eldorado, Ark., and two of his gang, Clyde Roberts and Fred Nave, are in jail in Buffalo, N. Y. All are wanted here. The pair arrested in New York will be requisitioned on minor charges here, and by Hutchinson county officers in connection with the killing of Deputies Pat Kenyon and A. L. Terry at Borger on the night following the robbery. Pendleton will be requisitioned in direct connection with the hold-up.

Sheriff E. S. Graves, notified of the whereabouts of the fugitives by the Pampa Daily News today, immediately began activities to get the men in his custody. Roberts, alias "Whitey" Walker, was identified today by a photograph sent to Sheriff Joe Ownbey of Hutchinson county by Buffalo detectives. He is believed to be the Roberts who escaped from the Gray county jail while held on a car theft charge. Nave jumped his bond here while awaiting trial on a bootlegging charge.

Only Pendleton has been positively identified as one of the bandits who raided the local bank, but the other men are wanted as suspects in half a dozen crimes of this and like character. Pendleton was held for a time at Okemah, Okla., but was released before local deputies arrived with requisition papers.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 16. (P)—Plans

were under way today for the extradition to Texas of Clyde Roberts, 29, and Fred Nave, 34, arrested here as members of the Ace Pendleton gang, an outfit accused of bank hold-up and murders. They were identified by means of finger prints.

Among other things they are wanted for alleged participation in the holdup March 31, 1927, of the First National bank of Pampa, Tex., in which $32,000 was taken, and the alleged murder of the following night at Borger, Tex., of Deputies Pat Kenyon and A. L. Terry who were searching for the bank robbers.

Five alleged members of the Ace Pendleton gang now are in custody. Ace, himself, is under arrest at Eldorado, Ark., and is held on homicide charges for Texas authorities. Texas has two other alleged members in jail.

Roberts when caught said he was Walter Anderson of Milton, Fla., and Nave described himself as John Ewing of Protom, Mo. Modishly garbed and wearing excellent jewelry, the two suspects said they had committed no crime and had stopped off in the city for a few days before leaving for Florida via airplane.

Both had considerable money in their pockets. Nave's pockets also yielded $450 in traveler's checks. These checks were stolen, the American Express company announced later, when the vaults of the First National bank of Washington, Okla., were looted by bandits in November, 1928. Nave however, insisted he had purchased the checks in the regular way and had no idea they were stolen.

Roberts, according to word received from the department of justice, was convicted of grand larceny in Payne county, Oklahoma, in 1922, and sentenced to prison to serve five years. Nave, was sentenced to two years on a grand larceny charge in Taney county, Missouri, February 24, 1918. He was arrested on different occasions in Texas cities for selling liquor, according to the telegram.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Jan. 16. (P)—Fred Nave and Clyde Roberts identified in Buffalo, N. Y., last night as members of the Ace Pendleton gang wanted in Texas in connection with bank robberies and homicides, also are wanted in Arkansas in connection with recent bank robberies in the southern part of the state, Constable J. L. McBurnett announced.

The Rev. James Todd, Jr., pastor of the First Christian church, will direct the survey of Gray, Roberts and Wheeler counties, according to the decision of the state secretary of missions, J. B. Holmes of Fort Worth. Laymen and other ministers of the district will assist in the work.

We got into a jam with Chile over the Tacna-Arica dispute, but Ambassadors Henry P. Fletcher and William M. Collier applied themselves earnestly during their terms to the sort of thing Hoover had in mind when he went good will touring.

Along Hoover's Trail SOUTH AMERICA

WASHINGTON—Only a few years ago the term "Yankee" was one of opprobrium in Chile and a citizen of the United States there was likely to get himself spat upon.

Today the Chileans call themselves the "Yankees of the South" and things are different. The Chileans are such a proud nationality that they refuse to acknowledge the racial equality of other Latin Americans and there is much to the argument.

Meanwhile, American investments in Chile have increased from $15,000,000 in 1912 to more than $500,000,000 today. Before the war Britain sold 28 per cent of the foreign goods in Chile and Germany 24 per cent; we were almost out of the picture.

Over a long period of years a series of incidents served to make us more than unpopular in Chile. First it was a number of pickering over seized vessels. Then Secretary of State Blaine showed open preference for Peru in the War of the Pacific in 1879.

Since the war, Chile's need for American capital and a better brand of diplomacy appear to have done much to wipe out memories of friction.

The psychology of the Chileans, however, probably has more to do with the present friendship between our two countries than anything else.

What pains us is the thought of the very stiff-necked Mr. Colidge doing anything but presiding. A magazine boasts that it does not try to take its readers from reality. Truly, truth is stronger than fiction.

intelligent, progressive and enterprising people who see the counterpart of these characteristics in ourselves. Their racial stock is of the pioneering Spaniards and the splendid Araucanian Indians.

Populated by but 4,000,000 persons and almost minute in comparison with Brazil or the Argentine, Chile is nevertheless on a par with either.

First by war and then by political and industrial enterprise, Chile has fought herself into her present important position. Her wealth has been torn from the minerals in her mountains and the nitrates in her deserts.

Lately Chile has been fighting a serious economic situation brought about by loss of her nitrate monopoly. In 1926 restrictions were taken off nitrate production and the output jumped 70 per cent.

Panhandle Girls Defeat Locals by Score of 15 to 10

Panhandle high school's fast girls sextet defeated girls of Central high last night, 15-10, after leading by a lone point at the end of the first half, 3-2.

It was a case of Panhandle's superior passing against Pampa's nearly airtight defense under the goal. While the visitors held the ball much of the time, their scoring machine functioned poorly.

Pampa's scoring was cut down by lack of chances at the basket, while Panhandle's aggressive centers fed the ball to Rorex and Robertson very efficiently.

Harvester Trio Scores as Needed in Speedy Game

An ambitious Harvester quintet re-pelled the challenge of the Panhandle Panthers last night and emerged victors, 25 to 10.

It was, in some respects, a battle of centers. Troy Stalls, Harvester giant, met his equal in Davis, lanky Panther. Both men were sure fire under the baskets, and were closely watched. Each looped five baskets. Panhandle's play was around their center, however, while the Harvesters had a more varied offensive with Kohl and James as scoring threats.

Kahl was right with his long distance shooting, getting three counters by this rout. James was faster than ever, in fact he lost several scoring chances by speeding past the board. His dribbling was instrumental in carrying the ball through the fast visiting team.

Davidson, visiting forward, was a fast little man with an accurate eye, and was second only to his elongated center in scoring. Most of the foul goal efforts of both teams were fruitless.

The score:

Showing best form of the season the Moose basketball quintet won from the Miami team last night, 28 to 22. With Jameson, Back and McCready high point men the local boys were able to beat their worthy opponents.

Although without practice, the Moose boys have a snappy combination that should win many games. With Back and Patton added to the team much improvement was noted in last night's exhibition. For Miami Cox and Meac were high point men.

The Moose team lined up with Jameson, Back and Patton forwards, Sheehan, center, and Roberts and McCready on defense.

Johnston Kept Friend on Salary as "Investigator"

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 16. (P)—Members of the house of representatives investigating committee indicated they intended to follow in their inquiry today into the department of Gov. Henry S. Johnston, one of the trials which, in 1923, led to the removal from office of former Gov. J. C. Walton.

Twenty-two charges of impeachment were voted out against Walton. One of the counts on which he was convicted was that he was carrying T. P. Edwards, his personal chauffeur, on a state payroll which indicated he was otherwise employed.

Yesterday members of the investigating committee began a similar line of questioning in connection with the employment of Buck Eldridge of Perry, Okla., Governor Johnston's home town, as a special investigator for the chief executive.

J. M. Barker, superintendent of bureau of investigation, when called to testify yesterday, told the committee Eldridge had been on the payroll of the bureau, at the direction of the governor's office, but he "had never done any work for the department."

Barker added he had discharged Eldridge yesterday, "because he ought not to be on the payroll."

Barker, who has been in charge of the bureau for the past three months, said Eldridge was on the payroll when he took charge, but the first time he called for pay, he (Barker) did not know him.

"He put in a claim for the work," Barker testified. "I saw Sullivan (H. E. Sullivan, the governor's secretary) about it and he said to pay him. He has drawn three checks for $150 a month, and about $75 a month in expenses since I've been in office."

Public Forum

Editor, Pampa Daily News:
I saw an article in the "Go-to-Church-Sunday" column which told of the great educational program that is being put on in the churches today, and how far ahead the churches of today are over the churches of yesterday and it got under my skin so much that I want to make a comeback.

Maybe I am getting to be an old man and I know I don't attend church as often as I should, but I want to tell the preacher one thing.

We don't have the preaching that we used to have. Maybe we were behind in education but we had preachers who had enough holy zeal in them that when they opened their mouths, it rolled on out and could be felt by their audiences. It took hold of our hearts and we went out inspired to consecrate our lives anew to the Lord.

Ministers of today are prone to lay the indifference of the people to "outside influences," but I will tell you what's wrong. There is no fire in the sermons we get today. It's a man talking, not the Lord using him as His mouthpiece. Who can judge the extent of the harm when a sick soul goes to the place of worship to get nearer to God, and has to sit for an hour through a long lecture on history and education?

You can't educate people into the church. My Bible teaches we are saved by faith.

I think I can speak with authority in this. I have laid awake nights and I have walked the floor, but I have had to put away all my "bright reasoning" and become as a little child and just believe and have faith, but it's a hard door to find alone and men are missing it and when they are hunting, soul sick and weary, what do they find?

I heard a minister say recently that churches would be run as systematically as schools and on the same plan. What would school be to a little child without that have to go to his mother, his home—to repair his heartaches, to get his food, etc?

If churches are to be just an insti-

Sandino to Give Up Only Providing Marines Leave

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 16. (P)—General Augustino Sandino, rebel leader, has proposed that the province of Nueva Segovia be separated from Nicaragua and placed under his control.

President Jose Maria Moncada's reply to the proposal was to call it treason and to order the enlistment of volunteers to combat Sandino and his followers, whom he termed outlaws. He added that the proposal was "lunacy."

tution of learning, what are the older folk to do for comfort, for spiritual food? In our hour of need, what will we turn to? No! No, it can't be done unless we leave out God, and sometimes I think we are leaving Him out.

I hear ministers prattle of how they are building their churches because so many families are moving here and transferring their memberships here, or some little soul has been led to the door of faith by his mother, joins the church. Let me ask you. How many has your preaching reached? How many had not already made the confession or who have not been trained in a Christian home, have joined your church?

We go to church to learn more about God but something is wrong with the way religion is being presented to us today. It isn't dry, it isn't stale. It only seems so by the way it is being presented to us.

Preachers get conceited because we all sit and listen and nobody talks back to them. Who gave preachers the right to use the pulpit to air their personal hobbies, let it be science, education, or what not?

Go in any congregation some Sunday and watch the people. Some nod, some read, some figure their bills. The ladies fold and refold their handkerchiefs, or take a really good look at the child in their arms, or at their husbands by their sides. But who lisens? There is nothing to listen to, and they use this hour of torture to show their Lord that they want to be His followers.

In the old days I have seen old men and women go chuckling out of church, happy in thought that they were soon to go on. Why can't we have preachers that will make us realize our religion?

How I'd like to hear a few good sermons again before I toddle on.
