MEXICO CITY, Mar. 11. (AP)—Surrender of the troops of General Jesus Aguirre, revolutionary leader who was driven out of Vera Cruz last week, was reported in a government bulletin issued here today.

The troops whose number was not stated, surrendered at Juanita in the state of Vera Cruz. They were disarmed.

Apparently this ends the revolution as far as Vera Cruz is concerned. General Aguirre is being pursued by the federals.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11. (AP)—More encouragement over the situation in Mexico was drawn today by administration officials from the latest dispatches from that country, but they still were keeping a close watch on events south of the Rio Grande.

Acceleration of efforts to assist the Mexican government in putting the revolution was one development of the day, the war department assembling 10,000 enfield rifles with large quantities of ammunition for which the government to the south has asked for surplus stores of this country.

Disposition of the 300 federal troops and their families from Juarez who were given asylum last week at Fort Bliss after they had crossed into El Paso formed the subject of conferences between state and war department officials. It was disclosed that Brigadier General George Van Horn Moseley, commanding at Fort Bliss, had reported that he had made no agreement with the rebels which would prevent the return the federal force to Mexico at any time. It was regarded as likely, however, that action by the Washington government would be deferred pending communications from Mexico City.

Secretary Kellogg stated emphatically that the rebels had not been recognized as belligerents by the American government.

MEXICALI, Baja California, Mex., March 11. (AP)—General Abelardo Rodriguez, governor of the northern district of Baja California, confirmed news despatches today telling of the defection of the southern district of Baja California in joining the Mexican revolutionists. From a military viewpoint the action has no significance, he added.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Mar. 11. (AP)—Major H. O. D. Segrave, British race driver, set a new world's automobile speed record here today at 231.3246 miles an hour.

Taking a four mile start, Major Segrave flashed over the northward run at a speed of 231.5125 miles an hour and then a few moments later sped back southward at a clip of 231.21327 miles an hour.

His time for the miles on the north run was 15.55 seconds while that on his south run was 15.57 seconds.

The new record surpasses by 23.81 miles an hour the mark set here last year by Ray Keech, driving J. M. White's triplex, whose time was 207.55. White's car with Lee Bible at the wheel was groomed to run right after Segrave in an effort to better the Britisher's mark.

Where Revolution Tide Changed in Mexico

Above is a general view of Vera Cruz, which fell before the attack of the rebel general Jesus Maria Aguirre. Federal forces soon regained the city, however, and General Aguirre part of whose troops deserted him to join General Escobar in Chihuahua and some of which turned federal, is offering to surrender. Shown here are General Aguirre and a group of his soldiers before their defection, and former President Calles, who is leading a great federal army toward Torreon for perhaps the decisive encounter of the revolutionary movement.

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL LIKELY WILL BE ESTABLISHED AT NEW LAKETON TOWNSITE EAST OF CITY

Laketon school will be the scene of a community meeting Friday night at 8 o'clock, when residents of the Laketon, Keplinger, Snowden Lake, and Cottonwood districts will be present.

The desirability of erecting a consolidated school at the new Laketon townsite will be the chief topic of discussion, John B. Hesse county superintendent, says. He says that the county trustees will be present at the meeting.

The four communities are close together and the citizens of those communities believe that better school arrangement could be arranged by consolidating the four districts.

Five new schools have been built during the last ten months, the county superintendent says, and the districts east of Pampa also desire new and larger buildings and better equipment to keep up with the rest of the county.

Rains Are Needed on Texas Ranges

AUSTIN, March 11. (AP)—The condition of Texas ranges on March 1 was 79 per cent, three points lower than one month ago, according to H. H. Schultz of the United States department of agriculture, division of crop and livestock estimates.

As a rule, range conditions improve in February, but cold, cloudy weather during the past month and lack of sufficient soil moisture in many sections has held back the growth of new vegetation, resulting in the deterioration of ranges, he said.

"Although local rains have improved ranges in some counties, a good general rain is now needed to revive grasses and weeds, fill water tanks and assure plenty of spring feed," Schultz said.

FORMER "WICKEDEST MAN IN WEST" DIES IN DODGE CITY, KANS.

DODGE CITY, Kans., March 11. (AP)—Ben Hodges, Dodge City's most picturesque survivor of the days when this former cattle town was known as "the wickedest town in the west," died here yesterday at the disputed age of 75 years.

Ben has been celebrated in local folk lore and many magazine articles as the most dreaded horse thief of the old bad west. He was inordinately proud of the reputation.

During recent years doubters have published statements that these stories grew out of nothing but an early career of making a living in the easiest way he could devise.

Loss of poultry in the poultry building was keenly felt by show officials. The exhibit here this year is believed to have been the biggest ever held in the South. The fowls that burned were from all parts of the country. Attempts to remove them failed owing to dense smoke.

EXHIBIT HALL BLAST STARTS DAMAGING FIRE

More Than 2,000 Fine Fowls Destroyed This Morning

FIREMAN HURT WHILE ON DUTY

Exposition Will Not Be Hampered by Mishap

FORT WORTH, Mar. 11. (AP)—Fire, believed to have started from an explosion in the Merchants exhibit hall, destroyed that building, the poultry show building and the agricultural exhibit building at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show today.

G. F. Wilson, fireman, was injured by debris while fighting the fire. Firemen worked under difficulties as the dense smoke filled the buildings. Virtually all the fire apparatus of the city was mustered.

More than 2,000 high bred fowls perished in the poultry building, which was a total loss. Exhibits in both of the exhibit halls were lost.

Fire livestock in stables only a few hundred yards from the scene of the fire were moved to open spaces, when the fire started. Hoses was played on the coliseum and other exposition buildings.

Despite the valiant efforts of firemen flames spread to the automobile building which houses more than 150 automobiles. Firemen directed many streams of water on the building.

The fire will not affect the other portions of the exhibitions, according to directors, and attractions will be held as usual. Although the loss was large, only a small portion of the event was affected.

The blaze was first noticed when a workman saw flames burst out in decorations hanging from the ceiling of the merchants' exhibit building. Nearby buildings were quickly emptied, the doors closed, and water played on them, but the blaze could not be checked for some time.

Visitors on the show grounds were with difficulty kept out of the vicinity of the burning buildings. Early fears that difficulty in moving livestock in nearby buildings would be encountered prove unfounded.

REFORMATIONS are wrought at a price, and those who pay it seldom reap the benefits.

Reformation, however, vary greatly in character. A change may be wrought in politics through one method, and yet that method may not fit at all into reformations of morality and social uprightness.

We are not alarmed by the manifestations of lawlessness, but are apprehensive of the effect disrespect for law—the criminal indifference—that is everywhere noticeable.

The delinquencies of the youth of today rest upon two or three basic wrongs. One is the temptations that are allowed to be put in their paths, or to beckon them on.

But let us look deeper. Herbert Hoover in his inaugural address said that the responsibility of the government to enforce the law is co-equal to the people's duty to observe it.

Exactly. Failure of one side does not excuse the other, but sometimes we think officers have little incentive to do their duty in the strict sense of the word.

There are, of course, plenty of citizens who obey all the laws, or nearly all of them, and who wish the statutes enforced as written.

There are delinquent parents. There are parents who have neglected to exact the respect from their children that grow-up citizens are supposed to have for the law.

Perhaps they are not worthy of respect. The children run wild, get into mischief, and may ruin their lives.

The Missouri Association for Criminal Justice, with whose methods and reports we are familiar through contact with the work, indicts the parents equally as much as the law.

The investigator can have little patience with the parent who expects his children to be guided, protected, and controlled by the government.

There is the weak-kneed father who cannot keep his twelve-year-old son at home, and wants the policeman to know where the lad is at all hours.

This same parent blames the school teacher because his girl goes wrong while her mother neglects to teach the young lady regard for authority, of life's meaning, and of the consequences of wild living.

From these homes go the trouble makers of college life—sent to college to be watched, and reformed. Colleges are not reformatories.

The schools, the churches, the courts, the newspapers, the civic organizations—all of these are being begged to "do something" by every person whose child or friend has met trouble.

Every agency which touches lives has power to work for law and order, but without the influence of the home, and the support of those who profess to wish a clean, well ordered nation, legally constituted authority cannot accomplish half what is expected of it.

We are not alarmed by the manifestations of lawlessness, but are apprehensive of the effect disrespect for law—the criminal indifference—that is everywhere noticeable.

What would be more logical than to have, in every community, an Open Forum club which would devote regular periods to the study of laws, legal systems, methods of criminology, capital punishment, juvenile courts, and the like?

Criminals have warped outlooks on life; many citizens likewise have dangerous attitudes on obedience to law. We ought to quit making laws until we decide on what to do with these we have. Think it over.

WASHINGTON — One cannot produce an accurate story of how Mr. Hoover chose his cabinet, but it is at least possible to tell how the newspaper correspondents selected it.

At the outset it was just a hit or miss game of guess, Misses far outnumbered hits, but finally, within a week before March 4, the reporters covering the president-elect had guessed nearly an entire cabinet, among which were several names of which one could be quite certain.

For the guesses often eventually brought private confirmation from someone who knew.

Speculation about the cabinet began in a small way even during the campaign. On the Hoover train correspondents sought confirmation of an idea that Mellon would remain as secretary of the treasury.

George Akerson, Hoover's assistant, explained that if Hoover were to promise Mellon further tenure on the job that he would be violating the corrupt practices act or something, but he managed at the same time to convey the impression that Mr. Mellon's retention was a distinct likelihood, whereupon the correspondents put Mr. Mellon into the cabinet as No. 1.

The day after election all editors began to wire their representatives for cabinet dope and the great game was on. At that time there was a general idea that Borah would be secretary of state.

Incidentally, Doak would have been given that job if so many other organized labor leaders hadn't protested at the last moment.

Strangely enough, Charles Francis Adams, the new secretary of the navy, went unnoticed when he visited Hoover in Miami—no one had ever heard of him and he wasn't considered a possibility.

Then one night a Boston sports writer, down to cover the Sharkey-Stribling fight, went out and picked up information which caused him to wire his newspaper that a guy named Charlie Francis Adams, but "not THE Charles Francis Adams," would be secretary of the navy.

It later developed that THE Charles Francis Adams was a Polish gentleman who had adopted the name and had become prominent in Boston sport circles.

Walter F. Brown had been figured for a cabinet job because of his part in the campaign, but the positive tip that he would be postmaster-general came almost simultaneously from Ohio friends and the postmaster-general's office in Washington.

The boys were sure Jimmy Good would be secretary of war when Donovan came from Hoover's home and remarked: "I read in the paper where James Good was going to be secretary of war".

As a matter of fact, nothing of the sort had appeared in print previously—and correspondents liked Donovan better than ever.

The general assurance that William J. Donovan would be attorney general was strengthened after Donovan's post-election visit at Palo Alto. He was known as one of Hoover's closest friends, as Hoover's campaign legal adviser, as the inspiration of many campaign maneuvers and as the man who had been the real attorney general ever since Coolidge conferred that title on John G. Sargent.

Furthermore, most of the newspapermen liked Donovan very well. So all insisted in dispatches that he was the one best bet for attorney general. Nothing Hoover or Donovan said ever corroborated this theory.

The tip of Henry M. Stimson, who is now secretary of state, came from New York, apparently from some of his business associates. Stimson had to be notified early so that he could get here from the Philippines. In Miami a friend of Hoover's told some of the newspapermen that the report was true.

When a Mr. Doak visited Hoover one day in January the reporters found that he had been born in the south and was connected with organized labor. So everyone jumped to the "story", especially after a politician close to Hoover told one correspondent that Doak really would be secretary of labor. Incidentally, Doak would have been given that job if so many other organized labor leaders hadn't protested at the last moment.

General Calles Must Watch for Attack at Rear

(By the Associated Press.) Opening of the second week of the Mexican revolution found government and rebel forces converging rapidly with the likelihood of a decisive clash in the region of Torreon where General Escobar, rebel commander-in-chief, is concentrating heavy forces.

General Calles, generalissimo of the federal army, leading a powerful body of picked men, estimated at 18,000, was proceeding northward along the National railway toward Torreon. Canillas, important railway junction held by the rebels for a short time, fell before the advancing federals without bloodshed, more than 1,000 men surrendering, according to Mexico City reports.

While the federals were proceeding northward through Zacatecas, the rebels were developing an important movement along the west coast of Sinaloa, under command of General Cruz, with Mazatlan as their immediate goal.

Should Mazatlan fall to the insurrectionists, a way would be open through Nayarit and Guadalupe to Mexico City itself, enabling the rebels to outflank General Calles and possibly attack him at the rear.

The federal forces were aligned in a wide half-moon which has been steadily constricting toward the northwest. Federals under General Almazan on the right flank were advancing toward Torreon from the east, keeping pace with the Calles movement from the south.

To meet this double threat, heavy rebel reinforcements were proceeding southward toward Torreon. Other bodies were rushing down the Southern Pacific railway toward Mazatlan.

About 1,300 soldiers in the lower district of Baja California, went over to the insurrection and were reported en route across the Gulf of California to aid in the drive to Mazatlan.

Will Execute Leaders. General Aguirre, rebel leader in Vera Cruz, who was decisively defeated last week, was reported to have asked terms of surrender. Government vessels were guarding against his escape by sea. He was told unconditional surrender were the only terms he would get.

The likelihood that the government would take strong measures with the rebel leaders was indicated at Mexico City, where court martial and executions were expected to close the uprising.

Rebels Concentrate Forces. EL PASO, Mar. 11. (AP)—An early conflict between Mexican rebel forces and federal troops seemed imminent today with two trainloads of rebels en route to Torreon, Coahuila, a rebel stronghold. The train, carrying about 300 revolutionaries, left Juarez Saturday night. They passed through Jimenez late Saturday, and were expected to reach Torreon late today.

Reports that two trainloads of reinforcements for the Juarez garrison were on their way north has not been confirmed here, and General Marcelino Murrieta, commander of the Juarez garrison, indicated he did not expect additional troops at this time.

That the rebels were in command, at least as far south as Chihuahua, was indicated when a Mexican national railway train from that point reached Juarez at 7:30 p. m. yesterday, on time. No soldiers and few passengers were on the train. Delivery of mail from the train was held up by the American government axons from the Mexican ambassador at Washington received here by the Mexican consulate closed all ports in Mexico, including border points held by the rebels, to international traffic. This placed an embargo upon shipment of goods as well as mail.

Leading Figures Among Rebel Commanders

General Francisco Manzo

Governor Eusebio Tapete

General Gonzalo Escobar

HERE ARE PHOTOS of some of the leaders in Mexico's latest revolution. General Manzo is in command of strong rebel forces in Sonora. General Escobar, of Coahuila, has been named supreme commander of rebel forces. He occupied Monterey in one of the first major offensives, but was ordered to retire to a stronger position. Both Manzo and Escobar have had long military experience, the latter having been cavalry chief under General Carranza.

General Roberto Cruz

General Tapete, who is governor of the state of Sonora, has openly defied President Portes Gil in a public message of sympathy with the rebel cause, headed in that area by General Jesus M. Aguirre. The tall figure of Roberto Cruz has aroused fear in the vicinity of Guadalupe City. General Cruz was a federal officer until he recently was relieved of his command by President Gil, who grew suspicious of his activities just before the outbreak.

Mexican Transport Sails Under Orders

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 11. (AP)—Supposedly under sealed orders, the Mexican transport Progresso put to sea last night after pending several weeks here for repairs.

On March 5, Commodore Garcia Jurado, who was supervising the repairs, and Captain Angel Del Cozo, commander of the vessel, telegraphed Mexico assurances of their loyalty to the government. At the same time, Consul General Alejandro Lubbert asserted the Progresso would be held here until orders were received from Mexico City.

Oklahoma City Well Horizon Is Still Disputed

BARTLESVILLE, March 11. (Special)—The performance of the Oklahoma City discovery well No. 1 Fee, which has been placed experimentally on gas lift does not change belief in shallower production horizons as well as the possibility of production in the Wilcox sand and from the same producing horizon in other locations which the company is now drilling. This is the statement of Cities Service interests in the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company who drilled in this well. It is further stated by these same interests that while the identity of the horizon from which this well has been producing has not been established, some geologists claiming it is the Hunton lime, others the Simpson, and yet others the alacooche, it was felt by company officials that this well would eventually show a rather sharp decline. With this thought in mind at the time it was discovered an attempt was made to mud it off and go on down to the Wilcox sand. When production began to decline it was decided to put it on gas lift for experimental purposes.

This well produced today 3,449 barrels of oil with a total production to date of 461,294 barrels valued at $600,000.

Estrada, who has been an exile in the United States for the last five years has been designated chief of operations in Zacatecas, Montero said.

Jolson Delights Big Crowd From Many Places

Scores of out-of-town visitors were here yesterday afternoon to see and hear the "Singing Fool." Vitaphone classic now offered by the Rex Theatre.

Those in the crowded theatre, from which many persons were turned away for lack of seating capacity, appeared much affected by the powerful appeal of Al Jolson, the jazz singer, cast in the role of tragic comedian. The sincere performance of Jolson, the clown through the gamut of human emotions as his wife proves unfaithful and his beloved "Sonny Boy" dies, affords one of the strongest pieces of contrast imaginable.

"The Singing Fool" is not a comedy, but a moving story of intense pathos. Besides Jolson, the other leading player, in the opinion of many, is little Davey Lee, as "Sonny Boy." Davey plays plenty of childish "it," and says his lines in a most subtle manner. The other characters are well cast but are subdued as mere ripples in the swirling eddy which engulfs the singing fool of Broadway.

It is essentially a singing theme, therefore there is no forcing of this element into the picture.

The final glimpse of Jolson as the black-face comedian, bowed and quivering with grief but determined that the show shall go on, should be prophetic of a Jolson talkie embodying this character in the lead, Jolson, of course, is at his best in this pose, and he has shown that he is an emotional actor of more than ordinary ability.

Aguirre's Men Moving to Join Escobar Troops

NOGALES, Ariz., March 11. (AP)—Mexican rebels continued to march southward through Sinaloa today, headed by Mazatlan, and an apparent battle with federal troops standing fast in that strategic city. Across the Gulf of California, other revolutionary forces from the lower half of Baja California also headed toward Mazatlan.

Great Battle Looms. Five thousand soldiers declared by General Francisco Escobar, rebel commander in Sonora, to be concentrating on Southern Sinaloa and marching for the attack on Mazatlan. Declaring these forces aimed to rout General Jaime Carrillo, federal leader holding Mazatlan, Borquez overnight brought 2,000 soldiers by train out of Southern Sinaloa to move eastward into Chihuahua. They were not needed on the Sinaloa front, General Borquez explained, as they were destined to join the rebel forces threatened with federal attack at Torreon and in Durango.

Quila, Sinaloa, early today marked the advance line of the southward marching rebels. The point is 100 miles north of Mazatlan and 30 miles south of Culiacan, approaching which concentration point was General Roberto Cruz with 2,500 cavalrymen to join the attacking column.

Huerta Followers Rebel. Reports reaching here this morning said the followers of Adolfo de La Huerta, former provisional president of Mexico now living in political exile in Los Angeles, were aligning themselves with the revolutionaries.

With the reported arrival in Guaymas, Sonora, of 1,300 rebel troops from the lower district of Baja California, General Francisco Manzo, rebel leader in charge of the movement of troops into Chihuahua, advised the Nogales headquarters at Governor Amado Aguirre of the lower district had not revolted as first stated. General Manzo declared the 1,300 soldiers had deserted Aguirre.

NEW YORK, March 11. (AP)—A fleet of planes destined for use by the Mexican government forces against the rebels is being turned out at the Vought Aircraft factory, Long Island City.

The first group of the planes, which will leave the plant fully equipped with machine guns and bomb racks, is expected to start for Mexico this week.

Chance Vought, head of the company, declined to say how many had been ordered but said his plant had been working day and night to fill the order.

Texas League Managers Pleased as Charges Warm Up—Young Rookie Holds Giants Hitless for San Antonio Bears

White Sox Are Hopeful—Dallas Steers Swamped

DALLAS, March 11. (AP)—Everything looks bright to Manager "Lena" Blackburn of the Chicago White Sox.

Holdout worries have faded with the signing of Alex Metzler, star outfielder; his rookie pitchers are hurling excellent ball, and his team has won three straight exhibition games from the Dallas Steers.

The White Sox were forced 11 innings yesterday to win, 6 to 5. Dallas misplays caused its downfall.

Earl Averill, costly rookie purchased by the Cleveland Indians from the San Francisco club of the Coast league, will play center field, Manager Roger Peckenpaugh said today at the New Orleans training camp.

He will be flanked by Jameson in left and Porter in right.

After breaking even with Los Angeles in their first two exhibition games of the season, the Cubs were back on Catalina Island for more conditioning today.

Rogers Hornsby wielded his willow with gusto in the Angels series, cracking out two homers, a brace of doubles and a single, and accounting for seven runs.

Three home runs failed to aid the St. Louis Cardinals in yesterday's exhibition tussle at Sarasota, Fla., with the Indianapolis Indians, who clubbed a 11-to-0 victory off the offerings of three recruit hurlers.

For today's practice session at West Palm Beach, Fla., in preparation for the first exhibition contest next Saturday, Manager Howley of the St. Louis Browns was to send Schulte, McNeely, and Jenkins to the outfield for the "regulars." Mellillo at second, Kress short, Donero third and one of his young catchers to first because of Lu Blue's late arrival.

Detroit Tigers Turn
At Phoenix, Ariz., Detroit Tigers regulars yesterday evaded up for their defeat by the Tiger Cubs Saturday, winning the second practice tilt, 10 to 9.

One more "Verboten" sign has been hung out at the Pittsburgh Pirates training camp at Paso Robles, Calif., along with the "no liquor" and "all to bed by 11 p. m." warnings. The new words are "card playing taboo." This step was taken by Donie Bush after hotel officials had complained of the carelessness of the men in throwing cigarette butts about the floor.

The condition of Ira "Pete" Flagstead, mainstay of the Red Sox outfield, was worrying Manager Bill Carrigan today. Flagstead arrived at Bradenton, Fla., over the week-end after a five-day trip from Olympia, Wash., underweight and reporting he had spent several weeks in a Tacoma, Wash., hospital suffering from influenza.

At St. Petersburg, Fla., John A. Heydler, president of the National League, was a visitor today at the Braves' camp. He will attend the first of the exhibition games staged by the tribe with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Goose Goslin, American league batting champion, has reached the Washington training camp at Tampa, Fla., with an arm full of good news for Manager Walter Johnson.

His throwing arm, he says, is all right. It was all wrong most of last season, and he had to relay the balls that reached him via the infield.

The Reds took a thorough trouncing, 6 to 9, after downing the Philadelphia team Saturday in the Cincinnati's exhibition game of the season.

DALLAS, March 11. (AP)—The Houston Buffaloes resumed spring training at Houston today after a brief layoff over the week-end due to the fact that the squad was rapidly rounding into first-class shape, Manager Frank Snyder willed them an off-day Sunday but promises strenuous training from here on out. Pleased with the way his infield and outfield are shaping up, Manager Snyder indicated he will devote the majority of his time now on to the development of the pitching staff.

Elated over the form they displayed in breaking even with Oklahoma City in the two-game series in Fort Worth Saturday and Sunday, the Panthers were back at Mineral Wells to resume training. Overcast skies and a sprinkle of rain early in the morning threatened to keep the athletes indoors this afternoon for the first time since they arrived here, March 4.

At Wichita Falls, the Spudders bused themselves in batting and fielding drills.

Pitchers Look Good

Yesterday the Spudders defeated their training mates from Abilene, 12 to 4, in an exhibition game. The work of two Spudder pitchers, Cy Smith and Hal Witte, was impressive.

A full squad is due at Beaumont today was to see practically all the Exporters removing muscle kinks and getting acclimated.

Rube Stuart, owner of the Exporters, had a talk with Mugsy McGraw at San Antonio about Eddie Marshall, star shortstop of last season's Shippers. The Giants like Eddie and there seems little chance of his returning. Reports on Young Akers, who is scheduled to fill Marshall's shoes at short, are that he is a colorful youngster with a fence-busting wallop.

Bears Are Pleased

The San Antonio Bears were much better pleased with themselves than three days ago. Though they lost two week-end games to the powerful New York Giants in their Laredo spring camp the Bears considered the scores of 8 to 2 and 6 to 1 far from disgraceful in view of the fact that the Giants were at full strength with the exception of First Baseman Terry, while the Bears had rookies on first and third and in one outfield position, besides in the box and behind the bat.

The work of Leissner Poth, young fastball hurler from the town that bears his name, Poth, Texas, was the talk of the camp today as rain threatened to keep the players in the hotel lobby. He blanked the Giants without a hit in his three-inning stretch on the hill Sunday.

Forty-two Waco Cubs were to report to Skipper Derrill Pratt, maker of big leaguers, for the formal opening today of the 1929 spring training camp.

Many Hurlers Ready

The hurlers include Phil Gallivan, Eugene McClung, Rudy Shelton, Ralph Steiff, C. O. Thurman, Tom Blake, Tony Piet, Rex Love, Phil Weintraub, Nick Dumovich, Russell A. Braucheu, Buster Winkler, and Earl Caldwell. Caldwell, one of the most feared slabsters of the league last year, says he is set for the greatest season of his life.

The daily routine workout awaited the Dallas Steers upon their arrival at Corsicana from Dallas today where they engaged the Chicago White Sox in a three-game series over the week-end. They were due here about noon.

They will be joined at their training camp by Dusty Bogges, utility man, formerly of Waco and San Antonio, who arrived Sunday.

Shreveport's stock in the American association is high as a result of two defeats by the Sports of the Minneapolis Millers over the week-end.

The Texas leaguers took a good game Saturday and won a terrible affair, 10 to 1, Sunday.

Routine training was resumed today.

SOONERS WIN 31 STRAIGHT WITHIN OWN COURT CIRCUIT

Thirty-one victories without a miss in its own conference is Oklahoma's record. Tom Churchill and Bruce Drake have taken a big hand in the smashing success.

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The University of Oklahoma's speedy basketball five ran its string of consecutive conference victories to 31 by annexing the Big Six title this season.

Not a conference game have the Sooners lost since the Kansas Aggies beat them in 1927. Eighteen of the 31 victories were chalked up last year, when Oklahoma won the last cage title of the old ten-team Missouri Valley conference.

By defeating every team in the new Big Six the Sooners have threatened the record of 34 straight victories set by Kansas during its five-year basketball reign in the southwest.

Four of this year's Oklahoma quintet will play again next season. Bruce Drake, captain and guard of the honorary first team of the Big Six as chosen by The Associated Press, is the lone senior.

The Sooners' only defeats this year come at the hands of Washington university of St. Louis, champions of the new four-team Missouri Valley conference. Washington beat Oklahoma twice.

Since Hugh McDermott became Oklahoma's basketball coach the Sooners have been an annual menace to southwestern cage champions. In 1926 and 1927 Oklahoma finished second to Kansas in Missouri valley competition.

Tom Churchill, leading scorer in the Big Six this year, a junior, and Clifton Shearer, sophomore center, also were named on the first Big Six team chosen by The Associated Press. William Noble, a guard, and Laury Meyer, forward, were the other regulars on the championship five.

RELIES ON VETERANS

There are few strange faces in the training camp of the Philadelphia Athletics at Fort Myers, Fla.

With the exception of Tris Speaker and Ty Cobb, who have departed, the Athletics are going to battle for the 1929 pennant with the same players they used last summer.

Connie Mack probably has the smallest squad in the training camps. The exact figures on other clubs aren't available yet, but Mack has only 27 players on his list and there are no sensational rookies about for the writers to write pieces about.

Mack, however, is content with things as they are. And he doesn't take stock in those stories that went the rounds last summer and during the winter that the Athletics lack a heart.

"I'm an old Irishman and I have plenty of guts and I won't have any one around who hasn't got guts," he told this writer.

And laht is the real answer to the question about the courage of his ball players.

MACK'S VIEW ON RACE

"I think the Athletics will be up there again this year," Mack says. "I wouldn't dare say that we are going to win the pennant because you newspaper fellows have been razzing me too long. But I will say that we are going to be in the race."

Mack was asked about the other clubs.

"The Yankees will be a great ball club if the Babe, Penneck, Combs and Lazzeri are up to their game," he replied.

"Detroit is going to have a very good club and the St. Louis Browns can't be ignored. I think it is going to another tough pennant race, and I'll promise you one thing—the Athletics won't quit."

"I wouldn't have a quitter on my team and I wish I could make it stronger."

SIMMONS READY TO GO

One of the great sources of satisfaction to Mack is Al Simmons' fine condition. Al looks to be in great shape. He was sick at this time last season and he wasn't able to play all through the first quarter of the pennant race.

He reported a little over weight, but he will get rid of that before the season starts. That means he will be in there driving in runs for Mack at the start of the ball.

Jack Quinn is around and he says he is going to win a lot of ball games again. He probably will win a few. Jack Britton is still winning fights.

Connie isn't certain about his lineup. He did say, however, that Ossie O-

Vernon and Childress in Baseball Loop With Oklahoma Towns—Single Franchise Remains to Be Located

VERNON, March 11. (AP)—Five Texas and Oklahoma towns—Vernon and Childress in Texas, and Altus, Lawton, and Anadarko in Oklahoma—will have berths in the newly organized Red River Valley league, a class D circuit, it was decided at a meeting here yesterday. A sixth town, to be selected, will complete the league.

Grady Shipp and F. E. Withers, both of Vernon, were elected president and vice-president, respectively. H. A. Stroud of Lawton was named statistician.

The circuit's season, according to tentative plans, will open on April 24.

Tom Heeneey to Meet Slattery in Gotham Tonight

NEW YORK, Mar. 11. (AP)—Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo 175-pounder, and Tom Heeneey, the New Zealand blacksmith, are the big question marks on the national pugilistic horizon this week.

Slattery, possibly the fastest of all light heavyweights, comes back to Madison Square Garden tonight to meet the stiff punching Jersey City counter-fighter, James J. Braddock.

Heeneey, trounced by Gene Tunney in a championship battle here last summer, and decisively beaten by Jimmy Maloney about ten days ago in the first start of his second American tour, engages Otto Von Porat, Norwegian slugger, in a 10-round match at the Chicago coliseum tomorrow night.

IOWA TRACK AND FIELD STARS ARE NEW CHAMPS

IOWA CITY, Iowa, March 11. (AP)—Iowa's versatile track and field artists are the new Big Ten indoor champions.

Placing in 7 out of 10 events, the Hawkeyes galloped away with the title Saturday night with a total of 39 2-3 points. Illinois, the defending champion and heavy favorite to repeat, came in second with 20 5-6 points, while Wisconsin was third with 15 5-6 points.

will isn't going to be a pitcher. Ossie will play first base ore the outfield and maybe, in a jam, will be shoved in to throw them past the batters.

Mack has so many utility men that he can't be certain about his lineup. Jimmy Dykes, the Fox boy and Cochran, as well as O'well, can play so many positions that the old man has a problem to keep them working.

Robinson Hard Hit and Smile Not Appropriate

CLEARWATER, Fla., Mar. 11. (AP)—Wilbert Robinson, the "Jolly Robby" of Brooklyn baseball, finds it harder to display his beaming smile as the Robins go about their training. Any frowns Robby may be concealing seem justified.

Dazzy Vance, speedball king of the National league, is losing valuable days while he confines his attention to the business office instead of the ball field. The Dazzier thinks the club officials have under estimated his value by about $2,500.

Glenn Wright, a great shortstop for Pittsburgh, pulled up with a lame arm in his first day of practice and is under treatment.

Two positions were assigned. Del Bissonette, who can hit and field, will play first base and Herman will take care of right field. Herman is no ball hawk but he is the club's best hitter.

Jack Flowers was given a tentative advantage at second base but Billy Rhiel, who has had two trials with the club, has complicated the situation by his good playing in practice.

Wright in shape is conceded the shortstop position but if his arm should be slow in coming around, Dave Bancroft will have to step in. Gilbert is essential at third base from a defensive standpoint but if he fails to hit, Hendrick may have to be moved in from the outfield for the sake of the offense.

Rube Bressler will be an outfielder, at least part of the time. Max Rosenfeld one of the University of Alabama crop of football and baseball players, John Frederick, a Memphis graduate, the much traveled Henry Cullop and Hal Lee, a former infielder, furnish an interesting contest for the available outfield openings. Mox Carey is listed as an outfielder, but probably he will coach and act as first lieutenant to Manager Robinson.

Seven of last year's pitching staff, excluding Vance, are back. Thus far there has been no indication at the training camp that any of the veterans will be displaced. The holdovers are Doug McWeeny, Watson Clark, Big Jim Elliott, Roy Moss, and Louis Koupal.

One of the young pitchers is not so young. Winn Ballou, drafted from Milwaukee, has had much major league experience. Jim Richardson from New Haven, Clise Dudley, late of Atlanta, and Bill Moore, a Macon product, are working hard to win a place. One, or two at the most, can succeed.

The Cooks of Kansas City, champions last year, have another strong aggregation. The champions will play their first game tonight against the Trulock Motors of Northboro, Iowa, a team composed of former Illinois and Iowa university players.

MEXICANS CHARGED IN DEATH OF SHERIFF

Summons to appear before the grand jury were issued by Mrs. Alma Murray, widow of the slain official, who was appointed to fill his unexpired term.

Sale of Disputed Strip of Oklahoma Will Be Opposed
WELLINGTON, Mar. 11. (Special)—A few property owners, who for the past 30 or 40 years have thought themselves as being Oklahoma citizens, are now trying to render their lands for taxes in Texas, according to Collingsworth county officials. It is hoped to have the boundary question solved in time to collect revenue from the territory recently acquired by Texas from Oklahoma through a new survey of the Texas-Oklahoma boundary line, it is said.
Collingsworth county profited more from the new survey of the 100th meridian, the boundary between Oklahoma and Texas, than any other county in the Panhandle. Approximately 12,000 acres, in more than 125 farms will be added to this county through the relocation. The property has a taxable valuation of $350,000. The Collingsworth county strip is 30 miles long, three-eighths mile wide at the northern line and five-eighths mile at the southern limits of the county.
"Of course we are glad to receive the added territory," R. H. Templeton, county judge said, Saturday. "However, we want the people in this strip to have clear titles to their lands, without cost to them, if possible, although it may call for an act on the part of the United States government. A large number of the people in this territory have been trading in Wellington and other towns in Collingsworth county for a number of years, and we believe that they will not be displeased in becoming Texas citizens." Judge Templeton stated that he was opposed to the sale of the strip to Oklahoma.

Rotary Session in Texas Regarded as Big Opportunity
DALLAS, March 11. (Special)—The greatest opportunity which Texas and the Southwestern states have ever had to bring their advantages as a location for business and industries before a large group of American business leaders, will be afforded when the twentieth annual convention of Rotary International is held in Dallas May 27-31, according to Lester Dawley, chairman of the Dallas Rotary club's host committee.
The host club committee, and a score of its associated committee organizations, have been at work for nearly a year, making complete preparations for entertaining the delegates, numbering from 10,000 to 15,000 who will come not only from every important city and town in America, but from a score of foreign countries.
Pointing out that the entire Southwest will enjoy the opportunity to show the Rotarian visitors its advantages, Dawley called attention to the fact that the visitors will enter Texas, en route to Dallas from all the gateways, North, East, South and West, and that in addition to this, thousands of the visitors will be enabled to obtain a close-up view of the Southwest as a result of dozens of circle tours and excursions which are being arranged to precede or follow the convention.
A tour of the Latin-American countries immediately adjoining Texas on the South is one of the features being planned, for the visitors.
Particular significance to residents of the Southwest is seen in the holding of the convention in this territory at this time, in view of the potential development of trade with the Southern republics, upon which the program of better international relations, fostered for years as part of the creed of the Rotarian organization, is expected to have a decided effect, according to Chairman Dawley.

Hoover Has Open Mind on Volstead Act and Enforcement
WASHINGTON, March 11. (AP)—President Hoover as he casts about for the members of his law enforcement commission is believed to be keeping an open mind on the Volstead act as a medium to enforcing the prohibition amendment, which he has announced he wishes to see succeed.
This is indicated by the context of what he has had to say on the subject of prohibition. In all of his pronouncements since his reply to the questionnaire of Senator Borah of Idaho, more than a year ago, there has been no mention of the Volstead act, and consequently no endorsement or condemnation of it. Each time, Mr. Hoover has discussed prohibition his reference has been directly to the Eighteenth amendment.
Those who profess to know Mr. Hoover's views regard this as a studied attitude and one leaving him free to deal with amendments to the present dry laws should the investigation of his national commission show to his satisfaction that such amendments would aid in making the Eighteenth amendment more effective.

"It's Sure Been a Surprise to Me", Says an Amarillo Farmer
"I NEVER SAW ANYTHING IN MY LIFE THAT GAVE SUCH QUICK RELIEF AS ORGATONE," DECLARES DOYLE.
"It's the honest truth before I had taken this Orgatone a week, I was feeling so well and strong that I hardly knew myself," says John Doyle, a well known farmer residing at 904 N. Arthur St., Amarillo, Texas, the other day.
"I had a very bad case of stomach trouble and liver disorders," he continued, "that knocked me out so I hardly felt like working at times. My stomach was in such an awful fix every thing I would eat disagreed with me and made me miserable all the time. I would have heart-burn so I could hardly stand it and, in fact, for a whole month before taking Orgatone I just felt completely worn out."
"I commenced to read in the papers about several Amarillo people who have been taking Orgatone and getting a world of good out of it, so I began to feel better right from the very first dose and before the week was out I was feeling more like my old self again and had been getting along in fine shape ever since like nothing had ever been the matter with me. I never saw anything in my life before to give such quick relief as this Orgatone and I haven't had a single symptom of my trouble since I started on it."
Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Pampa, exclusively by the City Drug Store, 300 W. Foster, Johnson hotel building, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative. Out-of-town customers are being supplied promptly by mail upon receipt of price one bottle $1.25 or six bottles $6.25.—(adv.)

Wales May Be Appointed Regent
LONDON, March 11. (AP)—Possibility of the appointment of the Prince of Wales as regent to rule for his father during the remainder of King George's convalescence was discussed in London newspapers and parliamentary circles today. There were indications that legal aspects of the matter were under consideration by the attorney-general and the solicitor-general.
The action, if taken, would have for its background the constitutional duties which devolve upon the crown in the course of a general election, which this year is slated for some time in May.
The king—or the regent—must dissolve parliament, and in the event of a victory by the opposition party, in this case either Liberal or Labor party, would have to confer with the new leaders regarding appointments, future policy, and the like. In the event of a deadlock after the general election the king, or regent, would have to decide to which party to give power.
These duties are considered sufficiently arduous as to make it unlikely King George will be able to leave Bognor soon enough to undertake them. The council of state appointed to act for him during his illness is expressly forbidden to dissolve parliament in the act creating it, and hence the appointment of a regent appears as the only solution of the difficulty.

LONDON, March 11. (AP)—Possibility of the appointment of the Prince of Wales as regent to rule for his father during the remainder of King George's convalescence was discussed in London newspapers and parliamentary circles today. There were indications that legal aspects of the matter were under consideration by the attorney-general and the solicitor-general.
The action, if taken, would have for its background the constitutional duties which devolve upon the crown in the course of a general election, which this year is slated for some time in May.
The king—or the regent—must dissolve parliament, and in the event of a victory by the opposition party, in this case either Liberal or Labor party, would have to confer with the new leaders regarding appointments, future policy, and the like. In the event of a deadlock after the general election the king, or regent, would have to decide to which party to give power.
These duties are considered sufficiently arduous as to make it unlikely King George will be able to leave Bognor soon enough to undertake them. The council of state appointed to act for him during his illness is expressly forbidden to dissolve parliament in the act creating it, and hence the appointment of a regent appears as the only solution of the difficulty.
