TEXAN ATTACKS CREAGER TODAY

Asserts Protection Is Given Against Dry
Raids

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (P)—Charges that R. B. Creager, Republican national committee man for Texas, several years ago "protected" some Texas hotels from dry raiders were made before the Senate committee investigating disposition of patronage in Texas today by Lloyd Hill of Fort Worth.

Hill, who was an unsuccessful candidate for postmaster at Fort Worth in 1921 told the committee it was "generally assumed" that candidates for postmasterships were expected to pay 10 per cent of their salary to republican organizations.

He said a bell boy at the Adolphus
hotel in Dallas told him that Creager protected a place where drinks could be obtained. He also said he understood that the Metropolitan hotel in Fort Worth received "protection."

After he had received endorsement
for the postmastership appointment, Hill said he attended a meeting of Republican organization workers at which pledge blanks were distributed, and that he was asked for $1,200 with the promise that if he did not receive the appointment the money would be refunded.

"Everybody who wanted an office and who was at the meeting was expected to contribute," he said. "I signed a note for $1,200 with an agreement for a refund, but half of the pledge which I paid was not returned."

He submitted canceled checks to show the payments.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (P)—Testimony that a "small proportion" of federal office holders in Texas had contributed to the Republican campaign fund in that state was given today by Leonard Withington, secretary of the Texas Republican committee, in the senate's investigation of patronage distribution.

Withington submitted a prepared statement to chairman Brookhart of the investigating committee, the only member of the committee present for today's hearing. Representative Wurzbach, Republican, Texas, questioned the witness.

In his statement, Withington said
total expenses of his headquarters maintained in Dallas were $25,000 a year. Of 9,000 postal employees in the state, he added 982 had contributed notes to the Republican fund from September 1, 1921, to December 31, 1928.
Of these 133 failed to play their pledges.
During that period, Withington said pledges from these office holders amounted to $90,462. In the same period 457 office holders made cash donations of $10,109.80. R. B. Creager, of Brownsville, Republican national committee man, Withington said, "has

COMPLETION OF NEW STATION IN MOBEETIE MADE

The Clinton & Oklahoma Western depot where the new Mobeetie will be located has been completed and houses for company officials are under construction, W. H. Rochester, engineer in charge of construction, said this morning.

He also stated that stations four miles north of Wheeler and at Zybach are under construction and will be completed soon after February 7.
After the completion of the Zybach station, the building outfits will cross into Oklahoma to begin work on the first station in that state. Steel rail has been laid across the Oklahoma line
and is fast nearing the road's destination, Cheyenne, Okla.

Railroads to Take Over Express Work

CINCINNATI, Jan. 29. (P)—Robert Morgan, grand vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees, today disclosed that the railroad companies of the United States have completed plans to purchase all facilities of the American Railway Express company. The deal involves $35,000,000.

made no personal appointments but has adopted a fixed policy which has been approved by the state organization.

"At no time," he said, "is any contribution made by the applicant taken into consideration nor is Mr. Creager informed as to the status of the applicant as to contributions."

Postmasters at Fort Worth and Austin have been regular contributors, Withington said, but John Philp, postmaster at Dallas, has paid nothing on a note made three years ago pledging $300.

Withington said his organization had furnished about $30,000 for campaign work among "Hoover Democrats" and he had furnished names of 34,107 Democrats who had said they would not vote for Alfred E. Smith.

BRIBERY FACTS HINTED BUT NO NAMES GIVEN

MOODY JOINS IN QUESTIONING

No Report on Move to Ask Congress to Investigate

AUSTIN, Jan. 29. (P)—Corridors of the state capitol buzzed today with comment on a night session of the house committee on federal relations which failed to pass out the Harding resolution calling for an investigation by congress of alleged tyrannical practices against independent oil operators, particularly in Fort Worth.

The committee reached its decision with only one dissenting vote after a hearing in which E. M. Ladd, former publisher of a Fort Worth oil journal,
made charges of bribery and collusion against postal authorities operating in Fort Worth without naming individuals.

The crowded committee room became silent when Ladd said he had evidence which would point strongly toward a pact between a state official and a Houston auditing company, Governor Moody, a spectator, interrupted, saying "the name of some state official has been attacked," and demanding that Ladd name the accused man. When the witness refused, saying the information would be divulged
only to a congressional investigating committee, Governor Moody declared if he were committee chairman he would force Ladd to answer or "he would eat breakfast in jail."

Ladd then said he possessed photostatic copies of correspondence passing between Assistant Attorney-General Rice M. Tilley, who had been quizzing him regarding the purported federal persecutions, and a Houston accountant which aroused in his mind suspicion of a collusion. He added the evidence was a copy of a telegram from Tilley to the Matador Oil company of Amarillo, in which the assistant attorney-general was attempting to collect $1,000 due J. A. Phillips of Houston for auditing the company's books.
When Tilley produced documentary evidence showing he was following a precedent, Ladd apologized.

For more than an hour and a half, Ladd told of purported corruption in the ranks of federal operatives in Fort Worth, and despite insistent demands from members of the committee, refused to furnish names of the accused government employees. He said he possessed evidence of ten $1,000 bills having been left in a law book, another transaction in which $1,500 was paid
a government official not to start prosecution in an oil fraud case, and another which two government men were seen driving expensive automobiles after an alleged bribery. He said he feared his mailing permit in Fort Worth would be revoked if he openly charged government officials.

"AW, IT'S BETTER TO LAUGH THAN TO CRY!" SAYS BOY,
12, WHO HAS BROKEN BONES 30 TIMES AND HAS SPENT EIGHT OF HIS
TWELVE YEARS IN BED

Billy Newhart . . . he likes to receive postcards.

By NEA Service
BELLAIRE, O., Jan. 29.—Billy Newhart has had only 12 years of life—and eight of them have been spent in bed.

Beginning when he was 14 months old, he has broken one bone or another in his little body 30 times. The days when he has been able to walk about have been far fewer than the days that saw him flat on his back in bed. He has never been able to romp and rough-and-tumble it with the other boys, and he probably never will.
But he keeps cheerful, at that, as he lies in his bed beside a first floor window, gazing out now and then to see his playmates run and jump and yell in a vacant lot next door.

"Aw, well, I might just as well live," says Billy. "I get 'em broke just the same, and it feels better to laugh
than to cry."

Billy's bones do not have sufficient lime in them, according to the doctor, and his system cannot seem to transform lime from his food into bone material. When he was a little over a year old he fell out of bed and broke an arm. Since then he has suffered 29 other fractures—almost all as a result of falls that most children could take without noticing them.

It was just a few days ago that he had his latest accident. He slipped while getting out of an automobile and tumbled off the running board to the ground. A fall like that wouldn't hurt most people—but it broke both his legs and one arm.

The chief bit of enjoyment the plucky little invalid gets comes from the postcards that other children send him.
People all around here know about little Billy Newhart, and nearly every day there are two or three postcards for him. His mother goes to the mail box by the road every day, and if she comes back with something for Billy his whole day is made brighter.

And there, by the way, is an idea—
for you. A postcard only costs a penny, and the job of writing and mailing one isn't so tough. And they mean more to this little shut-in than you could ever imagine.
The address? It is Billy Newhart, Bellair, Ohio, R. F. D.

NORTHCOTT TO CALL 'MOTHER' FOR WITNESS

Wants to Prove She Is Not Relative
as Claimed

SHE IS GIVEN COOL GREETING

Girl's Testimony Not Shaken by Killer's
Questions

RIVERSIDE, Calif., Jan. 29. (P)— With Mrs. Sarah Louise Northcott, his mother, waiting to be called to the witness chair, Gordon Stewart North-cott today plunged into the second day of his fight to refute evidence which the state has amassed in its effort to hang him for the alleged slaying of three boys.

Northcott's 61-year-old mother, whose parentage, however, he repeatedly has sought to question during the past few days, spent last night under the same roof with her proposed son.
She met him yesterday, soon after being returned here as a witness from San Quentin prison, where she is serving a life sentence on her plea of guilty to a murder charge.

Northcott received her cool, attendants said.
Stopped so far by prosecution objections in his efforts to bring in testimony which he asserts will show he is not Sarah Louise Northcott's son, the young Canadian has declared he will bring such testimony into the case if he has to do it himself from the stand.

The questioning of Jessie Clark, sister of Sanford Clark, the lad whose story of alleged atrocities at North-cott's Wineville ranch eventually brought about his arrest, Northcott yesterday made an attempt to make the girl admit she had "heard it imputed" that Mrs. Winifred Clark of Vancouver, Jessie's mother and North-cott's supposed sister, "is something more than my sister."
Miss Clark testified, however, that Mrs. Clark is Northcott's sister. She also told the court Northcott had beaten her without cause.

Hoover Is Wished Good Luck When Al Smith Calls

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 29. (P)—
President-elect Hoover and Alfred E.
Smith spent 25 minutes with each other today at the Hoover vacation home on Belle Isle mostly reminiscing about events in the campaign last fall.

Wearing his celebrated brown derby and formal morning clothes, the democratic standard-bearer of 1928 reached Belle Isle promptly at 11 a. m., the hour for his appointment with his victorious opponent.

Accompanying the former governor were John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, and William F. Kenny, life-long friend.

The president-elect in white trousers and shoes and a double-breasted blue serge coat stood just within the doorway shook hands with his late opponent. The visitors were made comfortable in two large easy chairs and the president-elect and the democratic leader did most of the talking.

Governor Smith said afterwards that he had congratulated Mr. Hoover and wished him luck.

GRAY'S CRUDE YET COMMANDS GOOD PREMIUM

Under the new crude oil schedules
first announced by the Humble Oil company and met by most of the companies in the Pampa field, the Gray county "sweet" oil continues to pay a premium.

Gravity	Premium
Under 29	69
29 to 29.9	75
30 to 30.9	81
31 to 31.9	87
32 to 32.9	93
33 to 33.9	96
34 to 34.9	99
35 to 35.9	1.02
36 to 36.9	1.05
37 to 37.9	1.08
38 to 38.9	1.11
39 to 39.9	1.14
40 to 40.9	1.17
41 to 41.9	1.20
42 to 42.9	1.23
43 to 43.9	1.26
44 and above	1.29

Priests in Carson and Hutchinson counties range from 72 cents under 29 gravity to $1.14 for oil over 44 gravity.
Wheeler county prices are 70 cents
under 29 gravity to $1.24 for oil over 44 gravity.

M'LARTY LAND NEAR LEFORS NOW INVOLVED

Breach of Contract Is Claimed Against Texas Co.

SMALL WELL UNDER DISPUTE

Payment to Landowners Ceases When Test
Is Completed

Suit to recover lease on 1,278.6 acres of land in the LeFors area of Gray county and to obtain $100,000 damages growing out of purported breach of contract has been filed in district court against the Texas company by Mr. and Mrs. S. W. McLarty, residents of Wil-barger county.

Growing out of interpretation of lease contract the suit attracted considerable interest here because of its similarity to many others affecting Gray county oil development.

The leases in question include the following tracts:
East half of section 1, block 1, A. C.
H. & B. survey, 320 acres.
East half of section 10, block 1, A. C.
H. & B. survey, 320 acres.
All of block 2, B. & B. survey, containing 390 acres.
All of J. M. Rose survey, containing 248.6 acres.

On February 8, 1923, the plaintiffs leased this land to the Texas company, the petition states, on a cash consideration of $3,190, and the agreement that "if operations for the drilling of an oil or gas well were not begun on or before the 8th day of February, 1924, said lease shall then terminate as to both parties unless the lessee on or before said date shall pay or tender to the credit of lessors the sum of $320,
and that thereafter in like manner and upon like payments or tenders of the same amount by the lessee and without any drilling operations, said time limit may be further extended and this lease kept in force for like periods of time successively six months in each instance, but in the absence of drilling operations, this lease cannot be kept in force for a total period longer than nine years from the date of the first extension."

"That it is further provided in said lease agreement that if lessee shall drill
a well and discover oil or gas in paying quantities in or under said leased land, then said lease shall remain in full force and effect for ten years from such discovery and as much longer as oil or gas is produced in paying quantities."

The petition alleges that the Texas company paid the agreed lease money
until it brought in one small well, No.
1 McLarty, sec. 2, B. & B., which was brought in March 23, 1928, and thereafter ceased paying lease money. The plaintiffs maintain they have received little remuneration from this well, and that the Texas company has not "produced oil or gas in paying quantities" from the land, and that therefore the defendant forfeited the lease.

That the lease was breached April 12, 1928, through failure to pay lease money on the basis of not having discovered oil or gas in paying quantities, and that possession of the lease has not been granted the plaintiffs are factors claimed in asking for $100,000 judgment and recovery of the lease.

Attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. McLarty are Cofer and Cofer of Austin and Carrigan, Britain, Morgan, and King of Amarillo.

PAYING UP TIME is not popular in the world, but it is here and the best thing to do is pay up and shut up. In the payment of taxes, the poll tax should not be overlooked.

Taxes should be paid promptly. We do not believe the city or county or school district should permit delinquent taxes to mount year after year.

UNDER CERTAIN conditions, the state highway department may contribute to the cost of pavement within city limits which is in direct connection with state traffic.

Ranger, which is larger than most of the small cities which usually receive this aid, has just been given a $5,000 appropriation to help widen the Bankhead highway within her city limits.

Pampa may have need for such assistance.

DR. EMIL LUDWIG measures geniuses as few biographers are able to do. In fact, he is recognized as perhaps the leading authority on genius.

"Genius is talent developed to the nth power—plus certain inner capital that we call character. Ordinarily, we recognize genius by its fruits; that is, in the poems, paintings, philosophies, inventions, governments, or other organizations that it creates.

"In short, the genius is the man who fulfills his fancies. Calculating the odds against him, he preserves in the development of his natural gifts and, passing through stages of growth and change, acquires those abilities which enable him to transform his imaginings into facts."

Along Hoover's Trail in SOUTH AMERICA

BY RODNEY DUTCHER WASHINGTON—Montevideo is the capital and only large city of Uruguay. There's something about it you'll like.

Your correspondent ducked the Hoover party for a day and went over on the night boat from Buenos Aires instead of on the cruiser. If the crowds on the docks and on the rails hadn't been shouting their goodbyes in Spanish the trip would have duplicated the night ride from New York to Albany, Boston or Fall River.

Romance presumably breeds on these ships. Anyway, there were honeymoon couples and plenty of sociability. Uruguayans and Argentinians enjoyed a rather good orchestra with their beer and wine until midnight. Apparently no one ever does in these countries of Latin America.

Making Quail More Plentiful From the Wichita Falls Times:

The quail-shooting season just closed was one of the best in a number of years in Northwest Texas, according to local nimrods. For the first season in over a decade, it has been possible for a Wichitan to take his dogs out, get some shooting, and return the same afternoon.

We believe that stricter observance of the game laws has been responsible for the improvement, and that with some needed changes in those laws, many more good seasons are ahead.

The season just closed has offered an object lesson in the value of game laws. Wiser game laws, with more vigorous enforcement, will make Northwest Texas as good a quail country as it was two decades ago.

The class room is set in a beautiful grove, to which are taken each day their collapsible combination desks and seats. Sun baths and walks along shaded paths are part of the daily curriculum.

drunken foreigners during the Hoover tour, but never a native under the influence except a brakeman on a Central American train—and he had taken some lessons in the United States.

Montevideo itself turned out to be sprawled out typically over a wide stretch. Throughout Latin America this lack of urban concentration has retarded sanitation, street building, telephone lines and similar improvements.

The idea of progress and personal improvement has affected even the poorest people of Montevideo. It is customary for them to buy tiny plots of land, erect small, crude dwellings from piano cases, corrugated metal or similar material and perhaps take 15 or 20 years to pay for what they can finally call their own homes.

Paved streets have created the familiar situation where busses are in serious competition with street cars, which are now nearly empty. Motor-ing has been built out from the city—there are at least five con-hard roads none of which extends less than 30 miles. Ford and General Motors do most of the automobile business.

The stress that Montevideo places on the health of her youth is seen in the 20 playgrounds which dot the city, with full equipment.

Your correspondent visited one of three schools where children of retarded physical development are sent each day. There were no cripples there; in fact, the kids looked quite normal. But here they play, eat, study and garden outdoors, next to nature, with two-hour rests in deck chairs after lunch and only an hour's actual study each day for the purpose of retaining what they already have learned.

The class room is set in a beautiful grove, to which are taken each day their collapsible combination desks and seats. Sun baths and walks along shaded paths are part of the daily curriculum. Uruguay pays the carfare of these children from home to school and back again—of all her school children for that matter. University tuition is also free and it is worth noting that the University of Montevideo has as high a standing as any in this hemisphere.

TWINKLE

Well, they have taken up aviation more earnestly than diversification—have some West Texas towns.

One triplet we ought not to be proud of is that of our accident rate, which for the early part of this year was three times the 1928 average.

While they are making food more beautiful, we hope they will do something about food for thought, which often isn't palatable.

The Abilene Reporter pertly remarks that until recently those Chicago crooks were about the only bunch which hadn't felt some kind of panic in the last decade.

Yes, and the land grabbers had been getting along pretty smoothly, too.

Whitey Walker will claim an alibi. That's a more honorable disease than insanity as the latter is sometimes pleaded.

If all these purported dog lovers—and we count the writer among them—would license the life, peace, and quietude of one canine, the dogs' life would reach a higher level in this city in 1929.

Sometimes when you're broke it's hard to exercise your bent.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE REX
 "Anybody Here Seen Kelly" is showing at the Rex theatre for the last time today. The Jazz Pirates will be on the stage at 7:30 and 9:30 o'clock.

A complete change in the vaudeville program will be effective at tomorrow's matinee. Thursday night at 11:45 o'clock the Pirates will conclude their engagement here with a midnite show. A complete change of program will be made for the final showing.

"Floating College" will be on the screen tomorrow and Thursday.

AT THE CRESCENT
 For those who have never experienced the so-called dangers of the air and who are postponing the trial flight until flying is safer, "Wings," Paramount's great story of the American "Ace" in France, which is showing at the Crescent theatre, offers an opportunity to gather all the thrills of flying without the dangers.

The spectator is carried through the air, mixed in "dog-fights" and dawn patrols and given a taste of the aerial fighter's life which is breath-taking but entirely devoid of danger. "Wings" was dangerous in the making. Players director, supervisor and cameramen alike spent hundreds of hours in the air in making "Wings." Director William Wellman, himself a member of the Lafayette Squadron during the World War, insisted on realism.

Texas' Saunders Does 400 Barrels

The Texas company opened up its No. 9 Saunders in the northwest corner of section 1 of the J. Eustis survey, 1 1/2 miles east of the LeFors townsite, Sunday afternoon. The well made 400 barrels of high gravity oil in the first 24 hours.

The test was drilled in last week but shut in until pipeline connections were made. The hole is bottomed at 2,700 feet.

OIL NEWS and NOTES

Shut-down Protest in Mexico May Be Made Against Law

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29. (AP)—El Universal said today complete paralyzation of oil fields in the state of Vera Cruz had been threatened by oil interests in protest against a state law. The law became effective on January 17.

The law imposes a new local tax of 15 per cent on royalties to land surface owners, on deals transferring rights, on option contracts entered into before January 17, and on amounts due for transfers of exploration and exploitation rights.

The newspaper said oil interests had decided to oppose the law by all legal means and to resort to complete stoppage if necessary.

Expert in Writing Show Cards Will Start Test Friday

"Arto," the display card writing wizard, has completed plans to begin his local exhibition at 2 p. m. next Friday in one of Malone's show windows. He will write until some time Monday, not stopping for rest or sleep and writing the event, and Owen C. Moore, the other.

Announcer Hill, formerly of KGN Chicago, will make announcements during the event, and Owen C. Moore, brother of Arto, will also assist.

Arto holds the world's record in show card writing. He had worked for 31 hours continuously, turning out hundreds of cards in that time. He has been gathering material for the cards and has hundreds of slogans, firm signatures, and sales talks prepared.

He has been here for more than a week, and after finishing the gruelling test will rest a week or more before going to his next engagements.

U. S. Production Again Continues Upward Climb

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 29. (AP)—Continuing the sharp upward trend which has marked crude production during the past month, the estimated daily average production of oil in the United States set a new high mark during the week ending January 26. The estimated daily production was 2,667,056 barrels, 17,526 barrels more than for the week ending January 19, according to the Oil & Gas Journal.

The new record is attributed to continued increase of production in the Santa Fe Springs, Calif., area, and a rise in the production of heavy oil which for some time has remained constant. Santa Fe Springs production during the week increased 15,000 barrels daily. Heavy oil for the total United States increased 9,361 barrels daily.

Despite an approximate increase of 2,845 barrels daily in the greater Seminole area during the week, Oklahoma production remained virtually constant. West Texas reported an increase of about 2,000 barrels daily. Mid-Continent daily production increased about 1,000 barrels.

Gulf Coast and Southwest Texas heavy oil increased noticeably to raise the heavy oil average. California light oil increased approximately 12,000 barrels daily.

BOND CROOKS ARRESTED

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29. (AP)—Two of four persons suspected of having headed a gigantic clearing house for stolen bonds were under arrest today and apprehension of the other two was expected before nightfall. Securities totaling $10,000,000 in value are thought to have been involved in deals consummated by the quartet.

Scott Barcus is in Canadian today.

Delmar Wildcat Now Nearing Pay

An important wildcat test being watched with interest by oil companies is the Delmar Oil company's No. 1 Chapman in the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 10, block 26, H. & G. N. survey. The test is down 2,200 feet and is standardizing after setting the 8-inch casing.

This well is six miles southeast of LeFors and is more than a mile from any production.

Prohibition Fund Measure Has All Party Lines Mixed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—A phase of prohibition, the live-wire of politics, was today before the house.

Representative Wood of Indiana, announced yesterday he would call up the amendment adding $24,000,000 for prohibition enforcement to the first deficiency bill shortly after the house convened.

Since the proposal was first introduced in the senate by Senator Harris of Georgia, it has been attended by controversy and even before it reached the house, members there had announced differences of opinion that promised a full-sized row. Some wets are supporting it; some dries are against it, and party lines are muddled.

Added to this was Secretary Mellon's opposition to the proposal and the fervent support given it by most dry organizations. F. Scott McBride, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, after making statements interpreted as supporting Secretary Mellon's position, later declared for the amendment and has sent a circular letter to representatives urging its passage.

Beryl, Jr., little son of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Harris, has been quite ill but is reported doing nicely this morning. Mr. Harris is the manager of the local Amarillo Furniture Store.

Suffered for 15 Years; Then Took Sargon, He Says

"For 15 years I suffered from a complication of troubles that I believe started with an inactive liver. I was weak, nervous and generally run-down. I frequently had a sharp, shooting pain in my side. My sleep was poor and I lost weight, strength and energy. Nearly everything I ate caused indigestion. I took a trip to Hot Springs, but got no relief there, and then I visited several health resorts in the North seemingly without benefit.

"A friend of mine told me about the fine results he had gotten from Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills, so I bought a bottle. I could see a difference for the better from the first few doses. I began to sleep better and to eat anything I wanted.

"I now feel like a new man. My appetite is fine. The pains in my side have disappeared. I am not the least bit nervous, and am full of new energy. I have gained weight and my friends are all commenting upon my wonderful improvement.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are wonderful. They ended my constipation and biliousness without griping in the least.

"I wouldn't be without Sargon if it cost twenty dollars a bottle."

The above remarkable statement was made by A. J. Mason, residing at the Colonial hotel, Ft. Worth and owner of considerable property in that city.

Sargon may be obtained in Pampa from Fatheree Drug Co., and in McLean from Erwin Drug Co.—(Adv.)

INVESTIGATION NEAR

AUSTIN, Jan. 29. (AP)—Investigation of the general land office, voted last week by both legislative branches, today seemed certain to begin soon after a meeting of five senate and house members named to check records of the office. At a meeting of the committee today, Representative Fred H. Minor of Denton, was selected chairman of the group.

Hoover Opposed to Time Clause in Cruiser Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. Herbert Hoover was on record today as endorsing "warmly" the views of President Coolidge who wants the senate to eliminate the clause requiring an immediate start on the proposed naval construction program but the naval advocates were still confident of retaining the time limitation.

Just as confident, also, of final passage of the bill, leaders were driving today toward the first night meeting of the session in an attempt to bring the long pending bill authorizing 15 cruisers and an airplane carrier nearer to a vote.

A published statement by Chairman Britten of the house naval affairs committee that he believed the retention of the time limitation clause would be "pleasing" to Mr. Hoover drew a message yesterday from the president-elect to President Coolidge.

Wildcat Test to Be Important One

Malone and others caused no little discussion when they announced that a test would be drilled in the northwest corner of the northwest quarter of section 10, block B-2, H. & G. N. survey, on the W. H. Taylor lease.

This important test is six miles from production in three directions: the Bowers-McCee pool, the LeFors pool and the Chapman pool in block 25.

The test is drilling ahead at 1,900 feet.

TROUBLE IN SPAIN

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Jan. 29. (AP)—Advices received here today indicate revolutionary activities have broken out in many parts of Spain among both soldiers and civilians.

AUSTIN, Jan. 29. (AP)—The senate today passed the Alamo bill, appropriating $1,000,000 or as much thereof as necessary to acquire all the property in the block in which the old fortress is located.

Aviation Group of W. T. C. C. Will Meet February 5

STAMFORD, Jan. 29. (Special)—The aviation committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Texas hotel in Fort Worth February 5, at 10 a. m. After perfecting the organization, the committee will consider legislation protecting and regulating aviation in West Texas.

In the afternoon of the 5th, the members of the committee will be the guests of the Texas Air Transport Company, Inc., and will be given a ride in one of the large new T. A. T. planes.

The aviation committee, as announced by President Bourland of the regional organization Monday, is composed of ten well known West Texas aviation enthusiasts, who are business and professional men, and editors of the western section of the state. They are P. R. King, Big Springs; Karl E. Wallace, Coleman; J. E. Hill, Amarillo; Hershel Colbert, Sweetwater; Carl Cromwell, San Angelo; R. E. Story, Plainview; M. K. Berry, Vernon; George E. Benson, Lubbock; Dave V. Smith, Midland; and Max Bently, Abilene.

Tear Gas Used in Taking Queer Religious Sect

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Jan. 29. (AP)—Holding ten prisoners, taken with the aid of tear gas, police stood victorious today in the second clash with the Doukhobor fanatics.

The first skirmish was won last Friday by naked fanatics, when they put to rout two provincial policemen sent to arrest members of the colony for taking their children from school.

Returning yesterday 14 police found 50 members of the colony, men and women, mobilized in a house. The fanatics resisted the invaders and a fight ensued in which the women joined.

The Doukhobors, otherwise known as the Sons of Freedom, are Russians whose religious tenets include the belief that Christ was wholly human.

JUST A GROWING BOY
Artie McGovern, custodian of the Ruth girls line, announced as the Big Fella was getting ready to go south that he had worked himself down to 230 1-2 pounds.

"This makes the Babe in the bes shape for this time of year that he has been in since he started working with me," McGovern said. "We have decided that the Babe will play at around 222 pounds this year. His best weight last year was 218 pounds, but we have put it up this year to allow four pounds for normal growth of a year's time."

A BETTER AND SAFER JOB
McGovern, since he went into the training racket, has become very successful through the publicity he got in bringing the Babe and Johnny Farrell, the golf fella, around into physical shape.

He used to fiddle around with prize fighters and was one of the first referees licensed by the New York Boxing Commission when the Walker law came in.

He worked in a bout one night down at the old Pioneer Club, a horse sales barn on the East Side and some of the boys didn't like his decision.

He was greeted with a black-jack when he stepped out of the club and had a lot of his bones kicked in by the brave gangsters who worked on him when he was down.

He quit the referee business right there.

GABBY STICKS TO FACTS
When the parents of a young lady in Chicago announced their daughter was to become the wife of Gabby Hartnett, the Chicago catcher, the reporters wanted to write a swell romance about it.

It would have made a good story that they saw each other for the first time in the Cub's ball park. That Gabby was chasing a foul and fell into the box where the young lady was sitting. Their eyes met. She knew he was the fellow for her and he knew in that one glance that he had met his wife.

Or he could have been knocked out on the concrete floor of the box and when he came to he saw her rubbing his head and pouring pop into his face.

But Gabby wouldn't stand for fancy yarns.

"There isn't anything pretty to write about our romance. We just love each other and we've known each other for a long, long time," he said.

WHAT IS HE, THEN?
When Tunney and Muldoon and their associates are through making mistakes in the effort to find a satisfactory successor to the vacant heavy-weight championship title, the New York

York Boxing Commission might devote some attention to the rassing situation. A committee might be appointed to find out who is the rassing champion.

One of Jack Curley's piano movers filed a challenge with the commissioner against Der Gus Sonnenberg and Muldoon, the reformed rasser, threw it out the window.

"There is no champion," the reformed rasser decreed.

Sid Terris Gets Knocked Out for Third Bad Loss

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—To all intents and purposes, "fins" has been written to Sid Terris's fistic career. The "Ghost" of the St. Nicholas arena last night, was knocked out by Babe Herman at the St. Nicholas arena last night. And with the heavy right hand punch that floored him went all Terris's hopes of a successful come-back campaign. He may fight again but not among the first rank lightweights of the present day.

For five rounds Terris was able to avoid the wild, awkward right hand swings Herman threw his way. But after twenty-two seconds of fighting in the sixth round Herman connected flush with Terris's jaw and the New Yorker went down and out. It was his third knockout defeat in less than a year.

Michigan Bars Dave Barry, Who Gave Long Count

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. (AP)—Dave Barry, Chicago referee, today wondered whether Michigan planned to bar him from its boxing rings because he tolled the famous "long count" in the Dempsey-Tunney championship match here in 1927.

Chairman James Brown of the Michigan state athletic commission last night announced Barry would not be allowed to officiate in Michigan rings, but refused to give the reason.

"I can hardly believe the so-called 'long count' is the cause," said Barry, "but if it was because of a state law requiring one year's residence in Michigan, I believe Brown would have said so. Too, I recall that Jack Dempsey was allowed to referee there last June and he is not or was not a resident."

Likely Hold-Outs Worrying Giants as Season Nears

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—All but eight of the names on the New York Giants' roster for the coming baseball season also appear on contracts but among the missing eight are two that may cause a bit of worry. They are Freddy Lindstrom, star third baseman, who was runner-up to Jim Bottomley for the National league's most-valuable-player award last fall, and Bill Terry, one of the outstanding first-sackers of the circuit. The Giants' management, while insisting on the point that the hold-out season still is far away, does not conceal the fact that it is more eager to see their signatures on contracts than they are to put them there.

Horseshoe Throwing Contest Is Launched By Four Newspapers

DALLAS, Jan. 29. (AP)—A series of eliminations to discover city, county, district and state champion horseshoe throwers will be started over the state February 15, under sponsorship of four Texas newspapers.

Old and young of both sexes, the strong and the feeble—anyone able to toss a horseshoe 40 feet toward its mark—will be eligible to enter the contests.

Newspapers sponsoring the revival are the Houston Post-Dispatch, San Antonio Light, Dallas News, and Fort Worth Press.

British Prepare to Resist Raid

LONDON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Two squadrons of the British air force and armored cars watched the Iraq-Koweit frontier today in expectation of a new raid from the desert. Three British naval sloops were reported to be going to Koweit, near territory where the Rev. Henry A. Bilkert, American missionary, was killed last week.

A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Basra said six or eight hundred Wahabi raiders were gathering in the vicinity of the frontier. They were emboldened by the success of their last venture in which the American was slain.

Two Different Reasons for using CONOCO-ETHYL BOTH OF THEM GOOD

1 To Save Wear and Tear
If you keep an accurate record of what it costs to operate your car, you'll soon realize that Conoco Ethyl Gasoline actually saves you money—despite the fact that it costs a few cents more per week than ordinary gasoline.

It saves by keeping out the knock that wears and tears the engine . . . and by producing 100% power from every drop. There's no waste when you use Conoco Ethyl. It burns cleanly and at the right time—regardless of the compression of the motor.

Conoco Ethyl will reduce your cost per mile. Try it and convince yourself.

2 To enjoy High-Compression Performance
Lots of people don't take the trouble to figure the savings that Conoco Ethyl brings them. They use Conoco Ethyl because this super-fuel does more than merely move their cars . . . it provides a real motoring thrill by bringing out every ounce of power which the engine was designed to develop.

Instant pick-up, smooth running at all speeds, high gear performance on the steepest hills. There's a great satisfaction in driving under such conditions!

"When a sweet tempts me, I light a Lucky Strike."

Rosalie Adele Nelson
Rosalie Adele Nelson, The Original Lucky Poster Girl

"I'm a 'Lucky Girl' because I've found a new way to keep my figure trim. Whenever the desire for a sweet tempts me, I light up a Lucky Strike. It's remarkable how nicely the toasted flavor of Luckies satisfies me. Toasting has taken out all impurities—all that is left is the thrilling Lucky aroma. I certainly am lucky to be 'The Lucky Girl.'"

ROSALIE ADELE NELSON

THE modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Thousands are doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skilfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

Stewart Beaten in Ouster Battle Declare Enemies

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—Victory in his battle to oust Col. Robert W. Stewart as chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana was claimed for John D. Rockefeller, Jr., today. An associate of Stewart disagreed.

Thomas M. Debevoise, manager of the Rockefeller campaign for proxies to be voted at the annual meeting of the company March 7, said he believed the Rockefeller group now has enough votes to swing the election.

It is estimated that approximately 90 per cent of the total stock will be represented at the meeting and that control means the holding of more than 45 per cent of the proxies. There are 9,282,000 shares of stock held by 58,000 stockholders.

"Now we are trying to obtain a majority not only of the voting stock but of the stockholders of the company," Debevoise said.

The contest had its origin in the refusal of Stewart to resign at the request of Rockefeller after the chairman had appeared before the senate committee investigating the Teapot Dome oil leases. Testimony of Stewart concerning his relations with the Continental Trading corporation displeased Rockefeller.

George K. Bowden, who has been handling Stewart's proxy campaign in New York, said he did not believe the Rockefeller group had enough proxies to control the election.

Important Hearing on Water Rights Gets No Action

AUSTIN, Jan. 29. (AP)—Senate and House committees last night heard arguments for and against water priority proposals of Senator Woodward of Coleman and Representative Tillison of Sealy.

Representative Tillison said the difference between his measure and the re-drafted Woodward bill would regulate power companies while the other would close the door of Texas on hydro electric development.

Both would give municipal and domestic purposes, irrigation and factory use, other than the development of hydro-electric power, priority over hydro-electric development, but Tillison's bill would make irrigation districts purchase their supply of water from power companies where those companies had a prior contract.

THIS HAS HAPPENED ASHTORETH ASHE, engaged to HOLLIS HART, her millionaire employer, finds herself, unexpectedly, in a wretched situation. An unpleasant story concerning their romance has reached her ears in an airplane accident with MONTY ENGLISH, her ex-sweetheart. And meantime, SADIE MORTON (a friend of Ashtoreth's) is threatening to sue Hollis. Sadie's fiancé is blackmail. Ashtoreth, mortified and frightened, determines to thwart Sadie's schemes, and marry Hollis immediately.

His telephone her from Connecticut, where the plane crashed, that he is on his way to Boston. And he tells her that he can have the five-day marriage law waived, and marry her in the morning. She is excited and happy, but a bit dismayed because of the disagreeable news of Monty English. She is about to tell him that she is blackmailed, when Hollis telephoned, Monty was with him, he asked to speak to Mrs. Ashe, but the connection was abruptly severed.

Now, Ashtoreth, with her head in a mad whirl, is planning for her marriage.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXIX.

GETTING married to a famous man isn't half as nice as it sounds. That is, it's a dreadful strain.

A regular nightmare, Ashtoreth said. Only worse. Oh, much, much worse. . . . With reporters asking a girl how many nightgowns she had, and if it was a love match. And would she please tell them the story of her romance, and how Mr. Hart proposed? And where they were going to live? And did she mean to have a family?

There were photographers, with big black cameras, on the steps. And movie men, who set up tripods on the sidewalk. There were reporters from every paper in town.

Sadie had disappeared. And Mr. Hart was holding up his hands, and called on heaven to witness a mother's grief.

Ashtoreth wanted to be married in ivory satin, with a wimple like a nun's, to swathe her throat and face. She wanted to carry a pure white Easter lily, with a long stem. All her life she had dreamed about it. All she had to do was close her eyes, and hear the organ music roll. She could so herself, a vision in filmy white, standing on a red carpet, before a great white altar, with candles so lofty they seemed half lost in the darkness. Standing before a man of God, important in ecclesiastical robes and the trappings of churchly office.

PROBABLY every girl dreams of such a wedding. And some see their dreams come true.

Anybody would think that Ashtoreth, engaged to one of the richest men in the country, could have been married in any fashion she chose. As a matter of fact, she joined hands with Hollis in the office of Mr. Harvey Higginbottom, who was his attorney. And happened, also, to be a justice of the peace.

She wore a black crepe satin, six months old. A small velvet hat, and a pointed fox scarf.

In her ears were large single pearls, and about her neck a graduated string. On the third finger of her left hand she wore another monstrous pearl, a cleansing from a gorgeous setting of diamonds. Hollis had bought them in New York, after she had taken the train for Boston.

The scarf he had also bought. It was in the window of a nearby shop, and impressed itself upon him as being soft and beautiful enough to warm the pale, slim throat of his lovely Orchid. The pearls he had carried in his pocket. The scarf arrived, by messenger from New York, a few moments before the ceremony.

Ashtoreth carried an armful of orchids. Hollis, she decided, must have ordered them by the gross. They were in bowls and vases, everywhere about Mr. Higginbottom's office. On the desk and the window sills, and the mantle.

They were married at noon, on the heels of an incredible morning.

HOLLIS has arrived some time after midnight, with a terrible tale of the airplane accident, and high praise of Monty English.

It was very foggy, and they were flying low. Three hundred feet or so, he thought, from the ground. Suddenly the motor died, and the plane went into a spin.

As she crashed through the trees, the wings were torn from the fuselage. And the body, when they struck the ground, was twisted and battered into a shapeless mass.

The pilot, Hollis said, was badly shaken up. The shock alone had almost killed him. He and Monty had clambered from the forward cockpit, and lifted the poor chap out. He was bleeding from the nose and mouth, and crying like a woman.

Hollis stayed with him, while Monty sought the open road, and help. There was a newspaper in the plane, that Monty had carried. Hollis was tearing it apart, and using it to staunch the flow of blood from the pilot's nose, when his own name, on the front page, caught his eye.

"Hollis Hart, prominent Bostonian," it said, "returned today on the S. S. Juanita from a cruise to the West Indies. With Mr. Hart was a young lady of unusual beauty, said to have been a stenographer in his employ. Her name on the passenger list was given as Ashtoreth Ashe, and her address Boston."

"Miss Ashe is a striking brunette, with beautiful eyes of a peculiar gray-green. Her age was given as 23. She is tall, and slim."

"Mr. Hart is said to have expressed a particular preference for the romantic Isles of the Caribbean. A retreat at Dominica is alleged to have been visited by Miss Ashe, who left the boat at the island, while the other passengers went on to Trinidad."

"Upon the return voyage of the S. S. Juanita, Miss Ashe reappeared with Mr. Hart."

"Passengers, who viewed the romance with considerable interest, declare that the devotion of the millionaire to the beautiful stenographer was the talk of the boat."

"Mr. Hart, well known man about town, has already figured in many affairs of the heart. His engagement has been frequently rumored, and as many times denied."

"The Hart fortune is estimated as exceeding $20,000,000. The family has been foremost in Boston society for many generations, and dates its American ancestry to the early Huguenot settlers. Mr. Hart is a sportsman of note. He is well known for his philanthropies, and has often been called the most eligible bachelor in America."

"Efforts to reach the Ashe family in Boston had failed at a late hour this afternoon. Following their departure from the boat, Mr. Hart registered at the Ritz, but checked out shortly. He and his fair companion are believed to be en route to Boston."

HOLLIS had torn the story from the paper, and stuffed it in his pocket. Shortly Monty returned with help, and the injured pilot was conveyed to a hospital. By that time, wires across the nation were humming with news of the accident, and the remarkable escape of the two passengers. Names were ascertained, and the story of Hollis' return from the Caribbean linked with the news of the crash.

The Ashes—mother and daughter—locked the door of their apartment. And silenced the electric buzzer, and stuffed the telephone bell, to hear from Hollis' lips the story of his adventure with Monty English, former sweetheart of the girl he loved.

Maizie had met her future son-in-law stiffly. He was, she reflected sourly, old enough to be her elder brother. He had, moreover, involved Ashtoreth in an unpleasant scandal. She looked on him with distrust, and shook his hand coldly, coloring with displeasure.

His ease and assurance put her at a disadvantage. So that she was awkward, and more ungracious perhaps than she meant to be.

She was jealous when he touched Ashtoreth, and angry. She could have cried, when he took her child in his arms, and kissed her. Her mother instincts were untamed as a tiger's, and she wanted to strike his arms away, and tear his hands from Ashtoreth's shoulders.

(She thought of Monty, and could not dismiss him from her mind.)

"If it was Monty," she thought, "I should not mind losing Ashtoreth to him. It wouldn't be like losing her then."

She felt that Hollis would separate her forever from her adored child. And the dreadful fear became a horrible conviction, as she watched them together.

"TELL me. . . ." She interrupted their love making. "Tell me, Mr. Hart, about Monty."

"Oh, yes—young English!" Hollis started. "A remarkably fine young man, Mrs. Ashe."

"Yes," Maizie agreed grimly. "He's one fine boy, Monty is. I love him as if he was my own son. They don't come any better than Monty. Money or no money, you can't beat a fine, clean boy, Mr. Hart."

"Oh, mother!" deprecated Ashtoreth faintly.

"It's such a long story," apologized Hollis. "I'm afraid I haven't been very coherent. I told you about seeing the story in the paper, and thrusting it in my pocket. Well, when young English came back, he noticed it. I'd destroyed the rest of the paper, do you see, and this was sticking out of my pocket. He reached, and pulled it out."

"Were you saying this?" he asked. "It happens to be something I wanted myself."

"Well, naturally, I was surprised. 'Is that so?' I said. Then I told him that I was Hollis Hart, and that the young lady was my fiancée. 'Do you happen to know her?' I asked. 'Is that why you were interested?'"

"For a moment, the boy looked as though I had struck him in the face. He staggered a bit, and I thought he was going to fall. The crash had unnerved him a bit. 'Do I know her?' he gasped. 'My God, man, I love her!'"

Hollis looked directly at Ashtoreth.

"And then," he told her, "I knew it must be Monty English—the boy who wanted to meet you at the pier. I think I put out my hand to him. I called him by name, I believe. It's all a little hazy."

Maizie was wiping her eyes.

"It's a shame," she moaned. "My heart goes out to Monty. That's why he was coming to Boston. Ashtoreth—he'd read that story in the paper."

"Yes, he told me so," continued Hollis. "You see, Orchid, he couldn't know, my darling, how much I love you. He was coming, I think, to beat me up, or shoot me, or something of the sort. He thought . . ."

"POOR dear Monty!" murmured Ashtoreth.

Maizie sat up straight, and looked suspicious.

"He was with you when you phoned," she said. "But he'd gone by the time I got to the telephone."

Hollis nodded. "Yes, Mrs. Ashe. He told me, after the conviction was broken, that he had decided he would rather not talk. He was pretty much broken up, poor chap."

Ashtoreth was deeply distressed.

"But you told him, Holly, that everything was all right? And that we were going to be married?"

"I assured him, my dear, that I worshipped you beyond life and death, and that I mean to make you the happiest girl in the world. I told him we were going to be married in the morning. . . ."

"And then what did he say?" interrupted Maizie.

"That he thought he'd be getting back to New York," answered Hollis. "We shook hands, and said goodby. And he congratulated me, like a prince."

Ashtoreth swallowed a lump in her throat.

"Let's not talk about Monty," she said. "I don't want anything to spoil my happiness this night."

"Nothing will ever spoil your happiness, my darling," Hollis told her gravely. "I've telephoned my lawyer, dearest, and he will make arrangements to have the law waived, so we may be married in the morning. We'll have to file intentions of course, and outfit the reporters as best we can."

"You'll never outfit them," warned Maizie emphatically. "Don't I know? My husband was a newspaper man for 15 years, Mr. Hart, and there's no fooling the pack

Shreveport Will Hold Pendleton If Freed of Charges

According to a telegram received yesterday afternoon by Sheriff E. S. Graves, Asa (Ace) Pendleton, wanted here on bank robbery charges, but held in Louisiana, has definitely been identified by four witnesses as having taken part in a robbery in Shreveport.

A telegram was signed by T. R. Hughes, sheriff at Shreveport, and read: "Asa Pendleton has been identified by four witnesses as having taken part in an attempted robbery of a bank here and the shooting of the cashier. Send a warrant here for Pendleton and if he beats the case we will hold him for you."

"Also take up with Chief of Police Robey at El Paso because we are due him courtesy sending Pendleton where he was wanted, as it was through his department that the man was arrested."

Northwest in Grip of Severe Storm

SEATTLE, Jan. 29. (AP)—Winter still held an unrelenting grip on the Pacific Northwest today after burying a large area under a heavy snow blanket and paralyzing traffic in many places.

Alfred Johnson, 14, was killed yesterday when a sled crashed into an automobile.

With snow continuing to fall in many sections and the weather bureau promising no immediate relief from the cold, several logging camps and the mills which they supply were shut down.

Traffic in Eastern Washington and Oregon was demoralized by heavy drifts. Train schedules were interrupted and automobile transportation almost paralyzed.

MORE CHARGES AGAINST SOONER GOVERNOR VOTED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 29. (AP)—Three additional impeachment charges against Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor, today were voted out of the house general investigation committee in an executive session.

Article 11 of the committee's report charges Governor Johnston unlawfully issued a deficiency certificate for $2,000, for attorney fees to C. B. Cochran, Oklahoma City attorney, who aided a special state supreme court, in the contempt trial of H. Bart Martin, Tulsa attorney. Cochran was employed, it was alleged, by the governor.

Article 12 alleges that another deficiency certificate for $2,000 was issued to D. Hayden Linebaugh, Muskogee attorney, who also assisted the special court in the Martin trial.

Article 13 charged the governor had "exhibited and demonstrated and established his official incompetency" to hold the office of governor, by "permitting others to exercise and discharge duties imposed upon him, and by his reckless, wilful and wrongful submission to the dictations and dominations of designing persons, and by his failure and omission to act, do, and perform duties of his office."

NEGRO SLAYER IN HANDS OF MOB IS IN GREAT DANGER

MENDENHALL, Miss., Jan. 29. (AP)—Deputies of the sheriff's office were called to the Strong right section, 12 miles from here, on the report that a mob had taken Jack Walker, negro, and was preparing to lynch him.

Walker is alleged to have shot Alfred Little, prominent planter, some time ago, and was out on bond.

Tack Is Removed From Stomach of Charles Hester, Jr.

A tack was successfully removed from the stomach of Charles Hester, Jr., 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hester in Amarillo last evening. The tack was removed by means of a bronchoscope without making an incision.

Fire at Dodd Building Is Small

Very little damage was done when fire broke out in a building at the rear of Dodd's Produce company building last night about 11 o'clock. Although there were more than 50 hens and a quantity of straw and boxes in the building, damage was mostly by water and chemicals.

A fast run by the department found the fire before it had gained much headway and the damage was confined to one corner of the building.

The origin of the blaze is unknown.

Rose makes about the same percentage on the tickets that she made down on Broadway, and averages about $45 for a week of seven nights' dancing. Most of it, she says, she takes home to her mother; her own sleazy, East Side clothes indicate that she spends little on herself.

So perhaps Rose is not as "hard" as she looks, although she says she can handle any "fresh sap" and she emphatically does not want a "woman cop" around to "cramp her style."

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE

By RICHARD G. MASSOCK

NEW YORK.—Dance halls are to be made safe for New York's womanhood. A squad of Commissioner Whalen's patrolwomen will see to that.

But Rose of Delancey street wants no "woman cop" around the Aurora Gardens, where she dances nightly for her cakes and coffee. Rose says she is able to take care of herself; she is afraid police interference might scare the dollars away.

Rose formerly was "hostess" in a Broadway dance hall—a taxi dancer whose companionship in one-steps and waltzes could be had for $2.80 an hour. Out of every 35-cent dance ticket she turned in, Rose collected 25 cents. It was fairly good pay, Rose thought, and occasionally some "lonely egg" with plenty of cash would hire her for "company" on a night club expedition. Everything, of course, was strictly "on the up and up."

But the night club racket slumped, the big-money customers quit coming to the dance hall, unescorted "amateurs" were willing partners for the young fellows who did come, and hostessing in polite surroundings became less lucrative, sometimes hardly paying for the stockings Rose wore out.

"One of the Girls"

Rose, therefore, went up the fringe of Harlem, to Aurora Gardens, which is not exactly the name of the cramped, dingy, dimly-lighted hall where she now is "one of the girls." "All proceeds of next Thursday's dance will go to the girls," reads a sign.

"The girls" are 18 in number, and of indefinite ages. They have no competition from "amateurs," for girls not employed in the place are barred. Usually about 50 men are lined up at the railing around the floor. When not dancing, it is the girls' duty to promote business. "Don'tch want to buy some tickets?" wheedles Rose.

"Six tickets sell for a dollar, and entitle the purchaser to 12 dances. It sounds like a lot, but "12 dances" means about 15 minutes on the floor. The orchestra plays on without stopping, the drummer rapping on the edge of the drums to signify that a new dance has begun. Rose keeps count and when the six tickets have been used up, steers her partner to the gate.

Thompson Ready to Answer Charges

DALLAS, Jan. 29. (AP)—R. A. Thompson, former state highway engineer, voluntarily will go before the state legislature and explain any matter on which there is a question, he said here today in discussing the proposed investigation of the state highway engineer's office while he filled that post.

"I noticed in charges that have been introduced a reference to my approving the appointment of a firm as engineers to conduct surveys in several counties. At that time the county commissioners courts entered into contracts with the engineers for the surveys, and my only duty was to approve action of the contract agreements," Thompson said.
