Self Control in Athletics Worthy of Being Rewarded

Pampa Lions in awarding annually a sportsmanship trophy in football are putting a premium upon a quality much to be desired in interscholastic events—good conduct upon the field and in preparation for such games.

The trophy this year went to Ray Chastain, half-back. It happens that Ray was not the leading ground gainer on the Harvester squad. He was used for other purposes, such as clearing the way for the other backs and blocking out opposition players who come charging at the man with the ball. His ability to run from a starting start on spin plays was his chief delight, and no man on the squad was as hard to knock off his feet. No without a temper, he learned to control it.

Chastain spoke with truth as well as modesty when he said the reward might have gone to the entire team just as logically. But he was the man chosen for the honor. His keeping always in condition and giving of careful attention to conduct off the field as well as on it were important factors in his favor.

Physical condition is vitally necessary in football. It will be especially so next year, when Amarillo and Lubbock will be played early in the season. It behooves the Pampa lads to look far ahead to next season's play and to be ready when the call comes.

It should not be difficult for the boys to keep fit. Coach Odus Mitchell and the other high school men ask nothing unreasonable. These men live clean lives, much to their credit and to that of their school. Pampa is not "an oil town" with "a team picked up from everywhere," as some distant fans have erroneously assumed.

The same qualities that made the Harvesters so formidable this season should be perpetuated.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (NEA).—There is one senator here who will have almost no time at all to make any large marks on the pages of legislative history. He was never in the senate before and after the present short three-month session is over he won't be there any more. This senator is Ben Williamson of Kentucky, known as "Uncle Ben" out home, who was elected for this session only.

Uncle Ben isn't perturbed by the fact that he only gets three months in office, whereas nearly all other senators have at least six years of it. In fact, it suits him better that way. One thing he never did was yearn for political office. He wasn't attracted by the prospect of serving those three months, either. Now that his friends have persuaded him and elected him and now that he's here, he will not seek to make his brief senatorial career as that of a meteor flashing across the sky. He will just try to "go along" and be a good Democratic senator and do whatever little he can toward getting legislation that will afford relief made necessary by the depression.

Williamson has a certain charm about him which is lacking in the makeups of most of the politicians who break into congress. For many years his great hobby has been the aid of crippled children and the nearest approach he has ever made before to holding political office has been his service on the Kentucky Commission for Crippled Children, the State Board of Charity and Correction and the board of directors of the International Society for Crippled Children.

In Ashland he built up a large hardware business which does about $1,500,000 worth of business a year and through his efforts for children and other public activities he became very popular in his state. He had participated in no more than local politics, but Kentucky Democrats figured that his popularity would balance and help the ticket, so they finally persuaded Uncle Ben that he could leave his hardware business long enough to go to Washington for the short term.

He is tall and thin, appearing almost cadaverous, but his most conspicuous feature is a kind and friendly smile which goes with a mild voice and a retiring disposition. He is 66 years old and dresses most conservatively.

For 14 years he has been selling light and heavy hardware. He is a Rotarian.

The drought strikes Senator Williamson as something in which Congress especially should interest itself. He has a happy belief that Congress will do something "adequate" about that.

"My whole state is involved," he explained. "Even water supplies have been very seriously affected. Suffering is going to be more acute this winter. But I think Congress can be depended upon to supply prompt and adequate relief."

"Uncle Ben" is going to be happy if he can help do something for the crippled children this session. A bill designed to stimulate more work on their behalf may be introduced, in which case he will play for it as hard as he knows how. He enjoys telling about what his commission has done in Kentucky.

"The largest problem we have is finding the cripples," he explains. "They're scattered here, there and yonder. But we have tried to get people interested in them and everyone who knows of a crippled child is supposed to produce that child for our clinic. We get out field workers, always graduate nurses, through the territory which the traveling clinic will serve, to beat the bushes in advance. These workers undertake to locate the children through various local and county groups, trying in every way to make the community aware of the clinic and its possibilities. Then when the doctors and nurses come for the clinic we virtually commandeer people with automobiles to bring the afflicted children in. The whole work, involving co-operation of the state agency with communities, is aided greatly by the pleasure anyone gets out of finding a crippled child and seeing him put on his feet. Our orthopedic surgeons put the children in hospitals or on waiting lists or do whatever they can and we have had a very gratifying percentage of cures and corrections. The Kentucky method is now pretty well known over the country."

Legge Declares Giving of Wheat Of Little Value

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11. (AP).—Chairman Legge of the Farm Board warned the Senate Agriculture committee today enactment of the Carter resolution to distribute 40,000,000 bushels of the grain stabilization corporation's wheat for benefit of the unemployed might affect prices adversely.

Legge said the corporation to maintain prices in event of such a distribution, would have to buy back a large proportion of the amount distributed for sale purposes. "It would just replace so much wheat coming from other sources of supply," he said of wheat. He pointed out the domestic price was now approximately 30 cents above the world price and to maintain that level the board would have to bear the burden of carrying a large portion of the surplus.

Legge would not estimate the amount of increased consumption if the 40,000,000 bushels were diverted for relief, but said it would be small. While welcoming "any means of getting rid of the wheat holdings, Legge said from the standpoint of relieving the suffering, there was question whether providing one-fourth of the unemployed might affect general supply of all things needed.

Rose Bowl Tilt Will Be Popular

FARMERS, Calif., Dec. 11. (AP).—Earl Foster, graduate manager of Washington State college, said today more than 30,000 tickets to the Washington State-Alabama New Year's day game here had been sold when his office closed last night. The Rose tournament committee, as was its custom, turned the management of the annual intercollegiate clash over to the western representative, Foster, said he expected to be forced to post standing

JUPITER, BRIGHT IN EARLY EVENING, MOVES WEST ACROSS DECEMBER SKY

BY ROBERT H. BAKER (Professor of Astronomy, University of Illinois)

URBANA, Ill., Dec. 11. (AP)—The planet Jupiter is displayed in the eastern sky in the early evening during December. It rises in the northeast at 7 o'clock on the first of the month.

Coming into view about four minutes earlier from night to night, it can be seen as early as 5 o'clock at the end of the month.

Jupiter is now in the constellation Gemini, the Twins, and not far south of the bright stars Castor and Pollux.

This planet is easy to find. After it has been identified it should prove interesting to watch, once a week, to notice how it is moving with respect to the stars.

The planet is now moving westward across Gemini and will continue to move in that direction until the first of March. Then it will turn and move toward the east, passing its present position about June 1 and hastening on into the adjoining constellation Cancer.

Jupiter is the largest of the planets and is more massive than all the others combined. With the exception of Venus and occasionally Mars, it is the brightest.

Moreover, its day is the shortest, being less than 10 hours. In order to turn around in so short a time a point at the equator must whirl at the rate of 27,000 miles an hour.

Even a small telescope gives us an interesting view of this great planet and shows four of its satellites—Jupiter has nine in all.

The four brightest satellites appear like stars in the telescope, rapidly changing their positions as they revolve around the planet. Two of them are about the size of our moon; two are 50 per cent larger than the moon.

Man Is Sought In Slaying Case

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 11. (AP)—Jean Dayle, 23-year-old blonde, was held today on an open charge after police said she had confessed slaying Sam Frank, 65, Memphis jewelry auctioneer in a hotel room here Saturday.

Police were attempting to learn the identity of a man with whom, she said, the girl admitted planning the robbery of the salesman, but whom she refused to name.

Officers said the girl broke down and sobbed her confession only when informed her identity was known.

Frank was found dead in his hotel room Saturday. His skull had been fractured with a bottle and he had been gagged. An 11-carat diamond ring, a stickpin and some money was taken from him. The girl was arrested Tuesday after detectives here through hair dye she purchased. Miss Dayle was quoted by officers as saying no one was with her when she killed Frank. "I didn't think I could hit him that hard. I didn't know he was dead," police said she told them.

According to the alleged confession Miss Dayle, under guise of "having some drinks" in Frank's room, administered several doses of a drug which she feared had not taken effect.

She was quoted as saying she struck him over the head, gagged him with one of her stockings and robbed him.

BLAMES HIS WIFE FOR HIS BEER BLINDNESS

CHICAGO, Dec. 11. (AP)—The question before the court was whether John Warren, 33, should pay temporary alimony pending settlement of his suit for divorce from his wife, Catherine. It was answered by Judge Trude negatively after Warren, led into the courtroom by his father and mother, said:

"My wife used to operate a beer flat. I drank some of her moonshine. It was poison and made me blind. I haven't been able to work for three years."

Commander at Fort Bliss Dies During Night

EL PASO, Dec. 11. (AP)—Salute guns boomed at intervals today at Fort Bliss, in honor of General George C. Barnhardt, 62, commanding officer of the post, who died in a hospital last night of blood poisoning.

It was considered probable the body would be sent to Washington, as General Barnhardt was eligible for burial in Arlington cemetery.

A round of golf played last Friday was believed to have aggravated a toe infection, causing blood poisoning, and the General's physician sent him to a hospital Monday evening.

Sergeant Robert W. Wheaton, member of a medical detachment, supplied blood for transfusions in

Harley Sadler's Father Is Dead

ABILENE, Dec. 11. (AP)—J. E. Sadler, 73, pioneer West Texan, died unexpectedly last night at Crosby, Okla. He was the father of L. A. Sadler, banker of Abilene, and Harley Sadler, youthful but veteran theatrical producer. On receipt of word of the elder Sadler's death, Harley Sadler closed his show, which was running at Big Spring.

Lubbock, Dec. 11. (AP)—J. E. Sadler, father of Harley Sadler, widely known theatrical man, will be buried tomorrow afternoon in Avoka, Jones county, relatives in Crosbyton said today.

ROBBER ENJOYS LAST LAUGH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11. (AP)—While M. B. Huthing was taking a walk near his home last night he was confronted by a robber.

"Her, Her!" chuckled Huthing. "The joke's on you. My money's in the bank."

"Well, get some of it out," answered the robber, and using a pistol to enforce his orders, marched Huthing home, forced him to write a five-dollar check then marched him to a corner store and forced him to cash it.

"Heh, Heh!" chuckled the thief as he started away. "You haven't got so much now."

Hospitals to Be Given Alcohol

Judge W. R. Ewing yesterday instructed Sheriff E. S. Graves to give 27 gallons of alcohol, seized in liquor raids, to Pampa hospitals. However, the sheriff is going to fix it, before he gives the custody of it to the hospitals, so it cannot be used as a beverage.
The high sheriff was also ordered to destroy all liquor except samples needed in prosecution of cases, as soon as possible. The judge issues a similar order after every term of court. He will carry out the instructions before the first of the new year when his term of office expires, he said.

Will Use Men Replacing Machine

The Machine, friend to men when there's plenty of work and an enemy when jobs are scarce, was dethroned for the time being in one place here this morning.
A ditch-digging machine which burned yesterday when it rammed into a high-pressure gas line 25 miles southeast of Pampa was replaced this morning by 25 men who had been hunting a job a long time. Floyd Arard, contractor, was aboard the machine when it struck the pipe.
Philosophized Mr. Arard this morning: "Burn all the machines and every one will have a job, or maybe there wouldn't be any at all. This machine-or-man business is a problem. I am going to use men as far as I am able."

REPORT ON SUBSIDIZATION INQUIRY IS EXPECTED TODAY

ANTI-SENIOR RULE MAY BE STRICKEN OUT

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
DALLAS, Dec. 11. (AP)—Three major items faced the Association of Texas colleges in its annual session here today.

First, and deemed by Pres. D. A. Fenick of the Southwest conference the most important item, was the promised report by Maj. John Griffith, special investigator, who has devoted months to ferreting out any evidence of subsidization in Texas schools. Just what evidence the Big Ten official has accumulated, if any, has been kept secret pending today's meeting.

Secondly, and of intense interest to sponsors of the Dixie classic, annual all-star benefit till here, was the scheduled vote by the Southwest Conference faculty committee on a question of abolishing the so-called "anti-senior" rule passed a year ago. The rule forbade any senior playing in post-season football contests, on penalty of becoming ineligible to participate in basketball, baseball and track.

Third, there was the annual problem: To admit or not to admit another member to the Southwest conference. Centenary college of Shreveport and Texas Tech of Lubbock were regarded as certain applicants.

Prospects were, however, that the seed would fall on barren soil, as the conference seems disposed to worry along for a while, at least, with its present seven-school lineup.

While the section's major circuit was threatening out these problems, the executive committee of the Texas conference and Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association were to review the year 1930 in their respective sessions.

Knute Rockne, Sick and Tired, Cancels Dates

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 11. (AP)—Seated on football's throne and gazing reflectively on all the trophies and testimonials of greatness he and his Notre Dame eleven have won, Knute Rockne today pondered: What price glory? What price success?

He was ill, physically and mentally weary, and wondered if it was worth it all. He was tired of football, tired of the plaudits of the crowd, and yearned to cast it all aside.

When the tumult died after yesterday's rousing receptions for the master coach and his team, back from their conquest of Southern California, Rockne held on until he could say a few words to the student body and the South Bend citizenry and then stumbled to bed.

"I wonder if it's all worth the while?" he mused. "It's all got me and I personally don't care when I see another football game again. I'm not complaining, understand me, but I'm a sick man and exhausted. My legs, which almost stopped me last fall because of influenza, have swelled up again and the pains are getting worse and worse. I'm going to keep that date in New York Sunday and then I'm going to Rochester, Minn., for a thorough over-hauling by the Mayo Brothers for two or three weeks.

"I've got to do it all and may make some enemies because I have to turn down invitations to speak but if no one else thinks about my health, I'm going to."

Twenty-five of his former football pupils, including the "four movement" of 1924 were on the practice field here, awaiting his instructions for the charity game with the New York Giants professional team at New York, while still another banquet, the annual public football banquet, was on his schedule tonight.

CADETS ARE STRONGER AS ENDS RETURN

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 11. (AP)—With the return of King and Messinger, injured ends, to the Army lineup, the Cadets' prospect of checking the Navy offense in Saturday's game have improved considerably. Still the Army regulars have not solved the problem of how to hold off their own piebe team when it uses Navy plays.

Army's secondary defense was kept busy yesterday, as the piebes gave their version of the Middy passing attack in a full speed scrimmage and the drill wound up with a special drill in pass defense.

Major Ralph I. Sasse, head coach, appeared discouraged yesterday as two of his injured players returned and made fewer predictions of disaster because of the poor condition of his squad.

Navy Hacks Light

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 11. (AP)—The light weight of Navy's best backfield players has brought several clouds to the brows of their coaches, but so far it has not hampered them in tearing through the players who represent the Army team in their preparations for Saturday's big game.

Cosch Bill Ingram plans to start a backfield which averages only about 165 pounds, Dale Bauer, Johnny Gannon, Lou Kinn, and Oscar Hagberg, and his second string backs are not much heavier. These lightweights had no trouble, however, in making big gains yesterday through a "B" squad which used Army defense formations. The situation was reversed however, when the regulars went on the defensive.

Expecting Sellout

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. (AP)—The Army-Navy football game Saturday is going to be a sellout if there is any means within the powers of the various people who are handling ticket sales in New York to make it one.

With a few thousand good seats still to be sold, one of the biggest selling stunts ever to be tried is scheduled to take place with a grand windup when the Navy team, arriving here tonight, joins the ballyhoo parade.

A parade up Broadway, in which a 90-piece Navy band and detachments from various Army and Navy units around New York will take part, is to start the program. The parade will end at 46th street and Broadway where a concert by the band is expected to stimulate sales from 45 Army trucks in which will be in the line.

Whether the game is a complete sellout, the prospects are that it will be highly successful as a means of raising money for the benefit of unemployed. And as a great football spectacle the outlook is even better. Reports from the two practice fields indicate that an offensive battle is to be expected rather than a wasting game and that it may result in a duel in which each team tries to outscore its rival.

Chicago Italian Youth Has Become Challenger for Featherweight Title

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLEVELAND, Dec. 11. (AP)—Eddie Shea, two-fister Italian youngster from Chicago, is up at the top of the heap today as a challenger for the world's featherweight championship. Shea moved into title range as a result of his victory over Fidel La Barba of Los Angeles before a record-breaking crowd of 12,000 in the public auditorium last night.

The match, one of three 10-round contests, was fought under auspices of the Cleveland News, which sponsored the show to raise funds for Christmas charities. It drew the biggest crowd to ever witness a boxing show in Cleveland with gate receipts at $48,360. A profit of $19,000 was realized to buy toys, candy, food and clothes for the poor kids.

Shea, always boring in, was on the offensive with a heavy body attack, chiefly because of his greater experience and harder punching. Griffiths, however, was accorded a chance to outpoint his higher ranking foe. Griffiths weighed 186 yesterday while Stribling scaled 188.

Stribling was still a 2 to 1 favorite, chiefly because of his greater experience and harder punching. Griffiths, however, was accorded a chance to outpoint his higher ranking foe. Griffiths weighed 186 yesterday while Stribling scaled 188.

Stribling Will Be Favorite at Chicago Friday

CHICAGO, Dec. 11. (AP)—W. L. "Young" Stribling of Macon, Ga., and Jerry "Tuffy" Griffiths of Sioux City, Ia., completed their battle plans today for their 10-round bout in the Chicago stadium tomorrow night.

Griffiths has worked steadily for three weeks to bring himself to his best form for the most important test of his heavyweight career. Stribling, who has worked little because of his frequent activity in the ring, wound up his preparation yesterday.

Taberski Fails to Win at Tourney

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. (AP)—With Ralph Greenleaf apparently safe on his way to his tenth world's pocket billiard title in 11 years, interest concentrated today in Frank Taberski's attempt to win his first game of the tournament at Dwyer's Billiard academy.

The gray-haired cue artist from Schenectady, N. Y., has been up among the topnotchers for so long, that old timers are at a loss to explain his defeat in his first two games. Only two years ago Taberski held the world's title and last year finished third to Greenleaf and Ervin Rudolph but so far this year has been unable to break into the victory column.

Taberski dropped his first game to Arthur Woods of New York and then fell before the erratic playing of Onofrio Laurialso of New York, yesterday. Today the former champion meets Bennie Allen of Kansas City, another former titleholder, in an effort to account for his first match. Allen also has dropped both of his games.

Other matches today bring together Ervin Rudolph of Chicago and Thomas Boatman of Portland, Ore., and Greenleaf and Pasquale Natalie of Chicago.

HAWAIIAN GRIDDERS WIN

HONOLULU, Dec. 11. (AP)—The University of Hawaii eleven defeated Brigham Young university 42 to 13 in a football game here last night. The local eleven used line smashes to batter its way to seven touchdowns and one safety.

Cleveland-Eddie Shea, Chicago, outpointed Fidel La Barba, Los Angeles, 10. Jackie Fields, Chicago, outpointed Paul Pirone, Cleveland, 10. Johnny Parr, Cleveland, outpointed Ray Miller, Chicago, 10.

Toronto-Pinky Kaufman, Hartford, Conn., outpointed Jack Hornor, St. Louis, 10.

DRAFT PLAN TO BE DRAWN UP FOR VOTE

NEW YORK, Dec. 11. (AP)—With trading between the major leagues and the big minors still at a standstill while their representatives try to iron out remaining details relative to a new draft agreement, most of the news coming from the major league meetings here has originated with a busy band of baseball's old timers who have been seeking jobs and getting them.

Some sort of a decision on the draft question was expected today as the minor league committee of nine and the major league representatives were to get together again after reporting back to their meetings on the progress made in yesterday's conference.

Although no official announcement was made after yesterday's conference, it was believed that the committee had agreed on a suitable draft price but the minors were holding out for their proposition that they should be allowed to keep young players for two or three years before they can be drafted and majors want to have 15 men out on option for three years instead of eight men for two years.

The meetings of the National and American leagues were given over to discussions of various subjects ranging from the screening of parks to curb home runs to the "chain store" system without taking any action.

But down in the hotel lobbies business was moving briskly with veterans transacting most of it. Two former Athletics catchers, Wally Schang and Cy Perkins, found places with new teams, Schang going to Detroit and Perkins to the New York Yankees. Joe Dugan, former Yankee third baseman, also signed up with the Tigers as utility man. George Bender and Chief Bender, two outstanding stars of former days, talked business with John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, and it was expected that they would be signed, Burns as coach and Bender as scout.

Other job seekers were old Jack Quinn, who hoped to catch on with Brooklyn, and George Sisler of the Boston Braves and Lu Blue of the St. Louis Browns, both veteran first basemen. It was understood that both had been given permission to

This Game of GOLF

By O.B. KEELER

The golf ball is growing shorter—I saw in the papers the other day that all the American manufacturers now have quit making the 1.62 standard and are whirling in on the 1.68-1.55 affair that will be standard Jan. 1, 1931.

Meanwhile, the golf courses are growing longer, for the ladies, and it looks as if we have about curbed them, for a time, at any rate.

Along with the ball which they contend will steal away a lot of yards on their big shots—though I never have believed it—the Western Golf association, closely followed by the United States Golf association, has stretched the yardage for ladies' par, supplanting, as of Jan. 1, 1931, the former scheme, which was:

Up to 180 yards.....Par 3
191 to 350 yards.....Par 4
351 to 450 yards.....Par 5
Over 450 yards.....Par 6

The new scale, on which will be based the future handicap eligibility for the women's national championships, will be as follows:

Up to 200 yards.....Par 3
201 to 375 yards.....Par 4
376 yards and over.....Par 5

Getting closer and closer to the masculine ranges, what? No more par 6 holes. This new feminine par I estimate, will trim from three to five strokes off all championship layouts. Par for women on a good golf course now will be 79 and 80 instead of 84 and 85. And there won't be so much par-busting.

Least you forget the masculine figures, which will remain the same under the puffed impact of the bigger and lighter (if not longer) ball, here they are:

Up to 250 yards.....Par 3
251 to 450 yards.....Par 4
451 yards and over.....Par 5

And I may suggest that (for some

AUSTIN HIGH PREPARES FOR TYLER GAME

AUSTIN, Dec. 11. (AP)—A heavy signal drill was on tap today for the Austin High school Maroons, who Saturday will meet Tyler in the semi-finals in the state high school football championship race. The Reds will taper off their training tomorrow with a light workout and limbering up exercise.

Coach Bennie Strickland and his boys were more than slightly worked up over reports that Austin was not being taken seriously by the remainder of the eleven in the title chase and will try and emulate the Southwest conference precedent set by Rice, the latter having defeated the University of Texas after being held in contempt and regarded as the "weak sister."

Buster Nelson, star halfback and captain who is suffering a shoulder injury, will be used against Tyler in case of emergency, Strickland said. Nelson is the spark plug of the Maroon attack and his loss is keenly felt. Strickland being forced to make several revisions in his plan of campaign. He has been paying particular attention to his reserve backs and linemen to meet the assaults of the Lions.

Shreveport's dapper young man and a strong man from the Canadian forest will meet tonight at the Fis-Mer auditorium. Jack Rose will be given his desired chance to defeat Napoleon DeVora in a match which Rose hopes to be without ruses. Recently DeVora beat Rose in the deciding fall after shouting "knife."

In the preliminaries will be Little Dove of Kentucky and Ray Welsh of these parts.

AGGIE CAGERS WIN OPENER

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 11.—Victorious in their opening game of the season with the Houston Triangles last week, Coach John Reid's Texas Aggies Saturday will go to Huntsville for a pair of tilts with the Sam Houston Bearkats. The games at Huntsville will be unusual in that one of them will be played by the reserve members of the two squads and the other by cagers who now appear to be regulars. The reserves will play in the afternoon and the varsity men in the evening.

The Aggies' victory over the Triangles last week was featured by the sterling play of Beau Bell at forward, Greenville boy who last year played guard, and Capt. Cecil Hoke, Shiro, at center. Bell led the scoring in the game by sinking seven baskets from the court and his work was equally strong on the defense.

The work of a pair of sophomores against the Houston team was equally as impressive. Armand Doche, Amarillo boy who started at guard, and Clarence Marcum, Estelina, another guard, both turned in unusually strong games in their first appearance as varsity cagers. Doche proved himself a strong defensive player and unusually clever at handling the ball.

Against the Bearkats this week it is likely Coach Reid will use the same lineup he started against the Triangles with Bell and J. C. Moody, Corpus Christi, at forwards; Capt. Hoke at center; Doche and Charlie Beard, letterman from Fort Worth, guards.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CELLA MITCHELL, 17, leaves Baltimore where she has lived with her mother, MARGARET ROGERS, to join her wealthy father, JOHN MITCHELL, in New York. The parents are divorced and Mrs. Rogers is a widow following a recent marriage.

BARNEY SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl. MITCHELL asks EVELYN PARSONS, beautiful widow, to introduce his daughter to other young people. Mrs. Parsons agrees, considering Cella a means to win Mitchell's affections.

She soon becomes jealous of the girl and schemes to get rid of her by encouraging a romance between Cella and TOP JORDAN, fascinating but of dubious character. Although Mitchell forbids Cella to see Jordan she goes about with the young man frequently. LISA DUNGAN, a girl of Cella's age, becomes her loyal friend. Shields comes to New York to work for a photographic service and meets Cella. She tells him she has lost her heart to Jordan.

Reminiscence that it is really Shields she loves comes to Cella when the young man is imprisoned in a burning building. He escapes without except for a broken arm. Mrs. Parsons, who pretends to be friendly to Shields, goes to Mitchell and tells him Cella is meeting the young man surreptitiously. That afternoon Cella and Shields are strolling together when Mitchell appears. He discloses the young man and takes Cella home. The girl takes a train for Baltimore and arrives at her former home to find her mother gone. She spends a day searching vainly for clues to her mother's whereabouts. Mitchell arrives and father and daughter are reconciled. Mitchell promises to locate Mrs. Rogers and the two return to New York. Meanwhile in that city Mrs. Parsons has invited Shields to dine with her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER I

Barney Shields strode into the apartment living room with a slightly nervous smile. His new evening clothes made him self-conscious. He was also a trifle in awe of the beautiful Mrs. Parsons.

"Good evening," Mr. Shields, this is so good of you! I'm delighted that you could come."

Evelyn's voice was low and melodious. She came to meet him looking like a gold and white Grecian goddess recreated in a modern setting. Her gown was sheer, draped in classic lines that were new, yet without a touch of the new.

"Well, if I am, it's a long way off now."

Shields lifted his glass. Evelyn Parsons drank at the same time, eyes on the young man over the rim of the goblet. She was smiling.

"May I call you Barney?" she asked.

"Of course. That's what everyone calls me. Makes me so comfortable when I hear you say Mr. Shields. Impulsively Barney leaned forward. "You've been awfully nice to me," he said boyishly. "You seem to understand things. There's one thing I want to know terribly. You can tell me, will you do it?"

"Why, my dear boy, I'll tell you any way that I can—of course I will."

"Thanks. You see I could talk to you about it better than to anybody else." Shields had put down his glass and his gray eyes were gleaming. "I'm awfully fond of Cella," he began, and then hesitated.

"Naturally. We all are!"

"Yes, but you see I feel differently. Well, anyhow, I mean—listen, Mrs. Parsons, what I want to ask you is do you think Cella cares anything about me?"

"I'm sure she's fond of you."

"Oh, but that isn't what I mean! I love Cella! I always have ever since the day I met her. Do you—do you think she's marry me?"

"Oh!" The exclamation was sharp, high-pitched.

"She must have said something to you about the way she feels," Shields persisted. "You've seen her with these other fellows. Tell me! Do you think I have a chance?"

"But didn't you know?" Evelyn exclaimed. "Oh, I'm so sorry! My dear boy, I thought of course you knew."

"Knew what?"

"Why—oh, I don't know what to say! I supposed of course she had told you. Cella assured me you and she were such close friends."

"What is it she didn't tell me? What do you mean?"

Evelyn Parsons took the young man's hands in hers. "This hurts me deeply," she said in a moving voice. "I do think Cella should have told you herself. Of course."

"Oh, I forgot you didn't know. Really, I'm surprised she didn't tell you. Cella's speaking a couple of days in the country with friends. It's a gay young crowd she's been seeing quite a lot of. You know Cella's awfully popular. For a girl of—well, rather limited social experience she surprises me every day. She seems to have just that little touch that arouses men's interest. I don't know what it is, but it's a real thing. You know, she seems to be such a child and quite naive when actually she knows perfectly what she's doing. She has a way of making—every man believe she likes him best. Cella's going to be a star-society!"

"She's—she's quite popular, is she?"

"Why, of course! But then you must know that. You're such old friends I'm sure you know Cella as well as I do. Really, I'm extremely fond of the child."

Barney Shields' eyes were averted. "Maybe I don't know her as well as I thought I did," he said slowly.

Dinner was announced. Evelyn was vivacious and smiling as she took opposite the young man across a table of crystal, silver and glass.

Tulsa Oil Course Now Well Known

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 11. (Special)—The University of Tulsa, through its school of petroleum engineering, is the first of its kind in the world, is becoming a college of international repute, and already six Venezuelan and two French students have made arrangements to enroll in the institution at the beginning of the second semester.

From a list of five universities, the Tulsa college was selected by the Venezuelan government as the institution in which to educate six young men of that South American country in petroleum engineering. The students are expected to arrive in Tulsa sometime this month.

Each of the credit for the selection of Tulsa as the place for the South American students to receive their training is due to C. C. McDermond, engineer living in Maracaibo, Venezuela who visited the school during the international petroleum exposition. The government asked him what school he considered best, and he recommended the University of Tulsa.

"At Tulsa the boys can get a better and more general idea of the oil industry than in any other part of the world," McDermond commented in a letter to R. L. Langenheim, dean of the University of Tulsa school of engineering.

Other schools which the Venezuelan government considered were the University of Pittsburgh, Stanford university, the University of Oklahoma, and the University of Nebraska.

The two French students coming to Tulsa to receive their training are Gustavo Toledo and Mario Cueto, both natives of Argentina but who have spent most of their lives in France. The University of Tulsa was recommended to them by W. J. Frank, a New York engineer.

PUBLIC FORUM

Editor, The News: "I would that all men were even as myself; but every one hath his proper gift from God..."

"The Catholic church demands celibacy of her clergy for two reasons: First, that they might imitate Christ more closely, and second, that they might give undivided attention to the saving of souls."

"From the above, then, we see that although the Bible does not explicitly state that the church must demand this sacrifice of her ministers, yet it exalts virginity over marriage for those who can observe it and counsel it especially for those who are occupied with the things of the Lord."

"That the church does not demand something physically impossible from her ministers can logically be deduced from the sanctified lives of our bachelor brothers, our maiden sisters, our widows or widowers, our millions of unmarried people in the world, or those separated for a length of time from their loved ones."
