

LOST LUBBOCK COUPLE RESCUED

Political Prognosticators Frankly Loath to Predict Texas Outcome

"That's gold in these here prairies."
The plot concerning the prevalence of summer smiles thickens.

Just when The News thought it was promoting smiles and doing a public service, it discovered something. Many of the men found smiling seemed more than ordinarily happy. Investigation revealing that their wives were out of town. One man's wife is leaving the country even, hence his broad grin.

These "summer bachelors" are planning on getting together, hiring a cook, and saving money. The trouble is that they are debating on whose house to congregate, and the odds are that none of them wants to take the risk. Chances are that the smiles will subside before the various household managers return. All that flitters, you know, doesn't always dazzle for long.

Maybe there is something in this joke about absent-minded school teachers. Principal L. L. Sone was sitting by the Pampa at Lions club Thursday. There was a large pillar between us. Mr. Sone was heard to repeat several times: "Pardon me?" At length he was seen to have a very curious expression on his face. He then confessed that his elbow had been hitting the circular pillar, and that he had been asking the Pampa while making away with that delicious fried chicken served by the Baptist ladies.

More cheers for Clint Small. The Wellington senator has picked Pampa as the site for his only Panhandle appearance. Let's invite the vote and make it one of those "raja" occasions you read about. Judge Willis can practice up on his prize oratory and the Pampa will open his dictionary and write some not eulogies to warm the weary candidate's heart. 'Rah for Clint.

More about these short weeks. It is rumored that the big business executives, being golf enthusiasts, are shortening the working week in order to give more time for the grand old pastime. Maybe Bobby Jones inspired it, but anyhow it's a good idea for the white collared boys.

The cattle raisers, the wheat farmers, and the cotton men are vitally interested in our welfare. We must eat more steaks to stabilize the livestock industry. We must eat more wheat so that we can pay more for it. And we must wear more cotton so the cotton farmers can buy more wheat. At the same time, we must be careful, for remember that "coming events cast their shadows before." It's a complex world.

Of politics: Why should not we Pampa folk feel sort of peeved at most of the gubernatorial candidates? They are passing us up as if we did not exist, and it is hard to get our enthusiasm up to fever heat without some official rag-chewing in our midst. Of course, we can take it as a compliment in the sense that they assume we have the good judgment to support Clint Small solidly. They realize that he has done for us.

A few of the politicians are fighting off the heat and are investing themselves of harsh phrases and cutting clauses. For the most part, however, they appear about as interesting as a bunch of wretches struggling to make up halibut for public consumption.

And the poor candidates for the lesser offices cannot attract 1 percent of the attention. How any one of them expects to corral more votes than any other we are unable to tell. Hundreds of thousands of voters will cast their ballots for candidates of whose qualifications they are ignorant.

CLOSE RACES ARE EXPECTED FOR PRIMARY

About 800,000 Votes to Be Split Eleven Ways

SEVEN LEADERS DRAWING FAVOR

Hot Speaking Tours Next 3 Weeks Outlined

By the Associated Press
Ordinarily dividing 11 into 800,000 would be a simple matter of arithmetic, but the task of splitting 800,000 votes among 11 candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to be undertaken by the members of that party on July 26 has created a political conundrum. Impartial experts and prognosticators dared not attempt to solve in advance.

Although what has been in some ways one of the Lone Star state's most interesting campaigns today was within three weeks of the first primary, when all save two of the aspirants were to be eliminated, there wasn't anyone brave enough to volunteer any information as to how the votes would be divided.

While there wasn't any way of telling how many votes would be cast, considering the number of aspirants on the stump frantically arousing the electorate to a choice, and recalling that in 1926 there were 821,000 voters participating in the first primary, the smart ones believed 800,000 a conservative estimate for this event.

In 1926, there were six gubernatorial candidates in the Democratic primary, and Dan Moody, then attorney general, received 409,000 votes, or almost a clear majority. Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, then

New Tire Shop Is Biggest Item In Week's Permits

Construction of a new $18,000 tire shop and service station at 501-05 West Foster was begun last week by Adkisson and Gunn, featuring the $20,875 building program started in Pampa in the last seven days. This amount raised the total for the year to $668,213.

The new tire shop will be surpassed by none in the Panhandle in spaciousness, fixtures, stock and conveniences, the owners stated. When the new structure is completed, the stock of the company will be enlarged, all drive-ways will be under roof and the new place will carry gas and oils in stock for customers. Gradual growth of the business required the erection of the new building.

A permit to re-model the building formerly occupied by Jarrett's Fashion shop at 111 South Cuyler for use as a vaudeville theatre was issued yesterday to C. P. Washmon. Rebuilding of the interior is now under way. Total of the permit was $1,000.

Other permits were issued to the following: R. L. Lovett to build a residence in the Finley-Banks addition at a cost of $750; C. F. Claussen to build a frame residence in the Keister addition at a cost of $700.

City Building Inspector F. E. Townsend states that the need for apartment houses and rent houses of all kinds continues to increase. These and rooms are even scarcer now than they were last summer. Because there are so few houses for rent, many prospective citizens with families are daily discouraged from moving to Pampa. Men with families always investigate living conditions before they make plans to move, and many families have not moved to Pampa because of the condition that exists here. Mr. Townsend suggests that several apartment houses would be a needed investment.

Lost Girl

Above is a photograph of Miss Nada Doss, 17-year-old Pampa girl, for whom a wide search has been instituted since she disappeared several days ago. No clues have been found to indicate her whereabouts. The Kerley-Crossman American Legion post here is assisting in the search.

Hearing in Road Bond Election Issue Monday

A hearing to determine whether a $2,000,000 road bond election shall be called in road district No. 5 is scheduled to be held at the courthouse tomorrow.

The county commissioners will hear testimony for and against the issue, but any facts or arguments presented probably will not effect the decision of the commissioners. It is highly probable that an election will be ordered held some time in August. The hearing may last a day and it may last several days, depending upon the amount of testimony which protestants and supporters may present.

A county-wide election to decide whether $3,500,000 in road bonds should be issued will be held August 2.

Alanreed Will Sponsor Political Rally Tuesday

The Chamber of Commerce and citizens of Alanreed have extended an invitation to all candidates and the Pampa band to be present at a get-together meeting at the public school building next Thursday evening, July 10.

The Ladies Missionary society of the Methodist church of Alanreed will serve cold drinks and a special auctioneer has agreed to present to sell the lunch boxes to the highest bidder. The proceeds will go to remodeling the parsonage of the Methodist church there.

The president of the Chamber of Commerce at Alanreed said in his invitation that they were out of touch with the political situation down there and were anxious to have this rally in order that the citizens might get acquainted with the candidates and the political situation in general. Dr. Roy A. Webb states that the Pampa band has agreed to go and that a number of the candidates have agreed to assist in defraying the expense of the band to and from Alanreed.

Violin Quartet Will Be Heard This Evening

The violin quartet directed by Otto Schick will be heard again this evening, this time at the First Christian church.

The quartet is composed of Eleanor Frey, Laverne Twiford, Dorothy Mae Meers, and Ebb Wallace. Under the direction of Prof. Schick this group is making rapid progress and is being heard at many of the churches. It is expected to become a part of a violin choir to be formed later. Mrs. T. P. McSkimming is accompanist.

Willis Active In His Justice Court Campaign

An active campaign has been started by Eil D. Willis for the office of the justice of the peace of precinct No. 2, place No. 2.

In placing his name in 'The News' announcement column, he made the following statement: "I wish to take this means of thanking my friends who are giving me so much encouragement and help in my campaign for justice of the peace of precinct No. 2, place No. 2."

"I feel that I am qualified in every way to fulfill the duties of this office that I now seek, due to the fact that I have had considerable practice in the courts of Wichita county, Texas, during my connection with the law firm of Weeks, Morrow & Francis of Wichita Falls. "I attended George Washington law school at Washington, D. C. for a period of one and a half years, and the University of Texas law school for one term. I came to the Panhandle in 1925 and have seen it grow into one of the wealthiest parts of the state. I realize the importance of this office and pledge myself to honesty, impartiality, and fair dealings if you voters see fit to elect me."

HARVEST TO BE FINISHED IN FEW DAYS

Ninety-Five Per Cent of Crop Already Is Cut

MUCH HELD IN FARM STORAGE

Near Million Bushels Shipped From Vicinity

When the sun went down last night, 95 per cent of the 1930 wheat crop had been harvested, according to estimates of local grain dealers. Most of the big fields are already harvested, but it is expected that loads will continue to straggle in until next Thursday, the date which dealers say will see all the wheat cut.

Wheat growers throughout the territory celebrated July 4 on their combines, but there was only half as many loads of wheat brought to the elevators on Saturday as there were on Friday. The Chicago market was closed Friday and Saturday but dealers paid around 68 cents a bushel for wheat. Much wheat was sold last week but farmers are still holding the major part of their crop in storage.

Many sold all of their wheat and bought it back in the Chicago Board of Trade through the Henderson Grain Exchange here, one dealer said. In doing this, they avoided payment of storage fees. Carrying charges through the Board aggregate only a small part of the cost of holding grain. Other farmers, prejudiced against buying "futures," chose to hold their wheat. Estimates indicate that half of the grain is being held.

According to latest available figures which were obtained from Santa Fe officials at Amarillo, a total of 954,400 bushels had been shipped out of the Pampa territory. This estimate was obtained by multiplying 709, the total number of cars shipped, by 1,600 bushels, average car content.

The car shipments were distributed as follows: Pampa, 244; Kingsmill, 125; Laketon, 197; Hoover, 86; and Heaton, 57.

Lubbock Man Kills Dairy Hand—Cites Threat

LUBBOCK, July 5. (P)—Bob White, 30, dairy helper, was dead tonight after being shot during an altercation at the dairy of W. T. Sessums, near here. Sessums telephoned the sheriff's office and surrendered.

White had been shot four times. A justice of the peace opened his inquest hearing tonight, but said it would be completed tomorrow.

Officers found a heavy wrench lying beside White's body. In a verbal statement to officers, Sessums said White had advanced toward him with the wrench in hand. He said White, who came here two months ago, had quarreled with workmen at the dairy and several of them had left. Sessums also claimed he had heard threats against himself and his family of ten children. Little was known of White, although he was believed to have a brother in St. Louis.

WEATHER

Oklahoma and West Texas: Generally fair, continued warm Sunday and Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Colt and baby daughter of Luling are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Townsend. Miss Alice Russell of Amarillo returned home Saturday afternoon, after spending a week here as the guest of Mrs. M. L. Smith, 811 West Francis avenue.

SEVEN OF FIFTEEN BALLOONS IN HOUSTON RACE DOWN—OTHERS OVER ARKANSAS, OKLAHOMA

Thunderstorms Dodged by Fliers, Who Lose Gas in Maneuvers—One Ship Lands in Swamp

HOUSTON, July 5. (P)—Inclement weather an exhaustion of gas gradually forced various entries in the national balloon elimination race to earth late today.

Shortly before midnight seven of the fifteen balloons which took off from here yesterday and floated away in a northeasterly direction were awaited on the ground, and reports of the grounding of others were awaited. Although the weather at the commencement of the race was excellent, thunderstorms and cross currents of winds were encountered by the fliers, necessitating the greatest skill by the fliers in keeping aloft and on their way. Nevertheless, the first of the pilots to land reached earth without injury.

One of the army entrants, piloted by Lieut. W. R. Turnbull, came down "somewhere near Bogota, Texas," at about 4 p. m. Officials of the committee in charge of the race said "they must have been way out of town to report so late." Lieut. C. M. Brown was the aide in this balloon.

After battling convection currents and thunderstorms, which forced them to throw away everything in the way of ballast, pilots of the army balloon No. 1, landed at 5:05 p. m. 18 miles east of Mena, Ark. Capt. K. S. Axtater, pilot, telephoned his wife at St. Louis immediately after the landing. Lieut. Ralph Holmes was Capt. Axtater's aide. The Detroit Aircraft Corporation balloon, piloted by W. A. Klifford and R. S. Cunningham, descended on the banks of the Red river, 11 miles from Texarkana, at 2 p. m.

POSSE FINDS YOUNG FOLK ON MOUNTAIN

Had Wandered Since Yesterday; Had No Food

CHURCH GROUP WAS ON PICNIC

Storm Breaks When Exploring Under Way

CAPTAN, N. M., July 5. (P)—After a night and day of wandering in the mountains H. Y. Price and Miss Willie Mae Hawthorne, young Lubbock, Texas, couple, lost on White mountain, arrived at Ruidoso late today. They were exhausted and had not eaten since yesterday noon.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Frances and Warren Streets People of all ecclesiastical orders claim to love the Lord. There are some things that we cannot know, but here is one thing that we do not suppose or guess about, for the Lord has told us of those that love Him.

Jesus said: "Many will say unto Me in that day, Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Thy name? And in Thy name cast out devils? And in Thy name done many wonderful works? And then will I profess unto them, I never knew you: depart from Me, ye that work iniquity."

The fact that one says, "Lord, Lord," is no proof of love for the Savior. Many people are doing that today. Matt. 7:21-29; 1 John, 5:3. If you hear one saying that some of the commandments of Jesus are essential, regardless of what that commandment may be, you may know that one does not love the Lord. Study with us this lesson at the morning service.

MAGNOLIAS AND GULF GUNS PLAY DECISIVE GAME TODAY

BATTERIES OF CLUBS EXCITE BIG INTEREST

Both the Gulf Guns and the Magnolias were confident last night of winning the premier baseball classic of the season, which is to be played this afternoon between the two clubs at Gulf Park, 4 miles south of Pampa at 3:30 o'clock. By reason of recent victories, the two clubs rate highest in the Pampa territory.

The game has attracted interest throughout this territory and a record crowd is expected to witness it. To reach Gun park one travels on Oyler street to the concrete road and thence on to south to the first road going east after passing the juncture of the LeFors highway.

Neither the Guns nor the Magnolias would announce their batteries last night. The Mags may run in a new pitcher at the last moment, but it was believed that they expected to cash in on either Melton, Blankenship, or Varnell. Nobody knew exactly what the Guns had up their sleeves, but there were persistent rumors that the Guns had acquired some dangerous pitchers. One Gun exploded that six of the Gulf men who played in the Memphis game would be saving their complexions in the cellar. If this be true, the Guns must believe they have assembled a potent club. It was reported that Johnny Munds, Hickey, Pope, and Lefty Coup would not be in the game. A Magnolia scout offered the information that the "changes in the Gulf batting order would be as radical as rumors indicate, and that the new pitchers, batsmen and fielders had been practicing with the Gulf for four days. However, it makes no difference what cards the Guns have in the hole. They are confident of victory and they are hunting for sportsmen to take their money. An interested spectator of the game will be Hamner Gober, who has nightmarish tales to tell of the time when he came up with the short end of the score when the Tacks meet the Mags and the Guns at the tournament. Already Gober has his eye on certain Mags and Guns.

This will probably be the last big game of the season here, at any rate the most interesting. The Amarello tournament will be in progress next Sunday. For two months the Guns and the Mags have been looking forward to the game today. The Mags have been wanting to play the Gulf for six weeks, but games already scheduled by the Guns prevented a meeting. Also, the Gulf has eliminated all local teams but the Mags and they hope to beat them by a bigger score than the "Tacks victory over Skellytown Friday. Magnolia beat Skelly last week, 8 to 7. The Tacks won a 17 to 6 victory over Skellytown Friday.

Magnolia Wins Tight Game Off Coltexo Team

By recruiting Wight, shortstop of the Phillips "66" club who made two runs, one of which was a homer, the Magnolias barely managed to defeat the Coltexo Gasoliners at LeFors Friday afternoon 4 to 3. Magnolia's Melton pitched a sweet game, striking out nine, but the infield made four errors and the outfield one. On the whole, their showing was not as good as in previous games.

Ross, the Coltexo moundsman, allowed 7 hits and struck out three men. Melton was hit four times. The Coltexans made three errors. D. Ross made a sacrifice hit for Coltexo and Lister one for Magnolia.

TILDEN STAGES COME-BACK TO DEFEAT ALLISON, TEXAN, FOR WIMBLEDON SINGLES CUP

BY FRANK H. KING
Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 5. (AP)—Bill Tilden, at the age of 37, today came back for the Wimbledon tennis title he last won nine years ago, and by defeating Wilmer Allison, the Texan, in straight sets, 6-3, 8-6, 6-4, again climbed to the singles champion's throne.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Elizabeth Ryan, present and past Californians, captured the women's doubles title 6-2, 9-7, in an exciting match with Sarah Palfrey and Edith Cross, the one from Boston, the other from San Francisco. Miss Ryan then paired with the Australian, Jack Crawford, to win the mixed doubles championship 6-1, 6-3, from the Germans, Daniel Prenn and Fraudlein Krakwinkel.

Thus with Mrs. Moody's victory yesterday in the women's singles over Miss Ryan added to the total, three Wimbledon titles—have gone to the United States in the greatest sweep any nation has ever gained at Wimbledon. Miss Ryan shares a fourth, and the fifth will cross the Atlantic Monday afternoon when George Lott and Johnny Doeg play Allison and John Van Ryn for the men's doubles crown. These five are all the titles there were to be won in the two weeks of international play.

King George, Queen Mary and Prince George, the latter president of the All-England club, in a generous sporting gesture came to Wimbledon to see the Americans take over the historic spoils. Having no Englishmen at all to cheer for, the crowds vented their enthusiasm on their monarchs. The queen, in a pink gown topped by a tall toque of pink beige with pastel tints around the crown, and the king in a summery suit and light grey derby, were cheered lustily as they were seated just as Tilden and Allison started warming up.

"They never come back," according to a well worn epigram of sports, but Tilden did—and with all the convincing mastery of old. Allison played brilliant tennis, without doubt as brilliant as he displayed in topping Henri Cochet, the Wimbledon titleholder, on Wednesday, but Tilden's genius at a game calling for youthful stamina, delicate skill, and lightning judgment enabled him to dominate today's play throughout most of the match. The plaudits of a gallery of nearly 15,000 were for the great defense of the agile Texan rather than the hope held out that he could win.

Again Tilden's tremendous speed from service served him well. In long games Allison was fighting to save his service while Tilden's smashing service aces always were in reserve to be unloosed in the moment of crisis. Allison's speed at times was more marvelous than Tilden's. From his almost frail physique he drew shots that left his tall opponent standing.

Coltexo Defeats Phillips "66" By Score of 15 to 5

After holding the Magnolias 4 to 3 Friday afternoon, the Coltexo Gasoliners jumped on the Phillips "66" team and gave that aggregation their worst licking of the season. The final score was 15 to 5. Lefty Thomas allowed four hits while the Coltexans hit Wight and Rains 17 times.

Conforming to a custom established two weeks ago, the Phillips men made seven errors, while the Coltexans playing carelessly and leisurely made three.

The batting order:
Coltexo—Baldwin 2b, D. Ross ss, Ballew 3b, Ball 1b, Newson cf, Coffee c, Culwell rf, Thomas p.
Phillips—Locke 2b, Cooper ss, Kirkpatrick 3b, Wight 1b, Welborn rf, Miller cf, Browning c, Carter lf, Rains and Wight p.

Jones Keeps Pros From Winnings

Professional golfers this year hope to keep Bobby Jones, America's hardest working amateur, from cancelling the profit which would go with winning the American Open, starting at Minneapolis this year, June 10. Among the pros with this aim are Walter Hagen, Horton Smith and Leo Diegel.

KOPECKY IS WINNER OVER TEX WATKINS

Whether they wrestle in the nice manner of Otis Clingman or in the burly style of Ted Watkins, Joe Kopecky, the redoubtable cotton-picker, usually wins—just as he won two falls at the Pla-Mor Thursday night in a slug-fest with Watkins.

Tex fell victim to one of Joe's favorite tricks in the first fall. The lanky Bohemian allowed himself to be tossed again and again to the mat with headlocks and body slams. Tex kept it up for two minutes. Then, despite the fact that Tex had been warned by the crowd for a minute, Joe slipped down on Watkins' back, grabbed him fore and aft, lifted him high above his head and hurled him to the floor. There was left no breath in Tex and all Joe had to do was sit on his chest. Tex knew that Joe was invulnerable to headlocks and he should have known better than to fall into the cotton-picker's trap. This fall lasted 19 minutes.

As referee Sam Fenberg announced to the crowd, "Tex won the second fall with a series of rights and lefts to the jaw." As a matter of fact Tex won the fall with eight blows.

Kopecky butted Tex very low to win the third fall. While Tex was keeping close to the ropes, writhing and grasping his groin, Joe flipped him to the mat and put a simple toe-hold on him, but Tex was already done for and he feebly patted the canvas 22 minutes after the fall started.

The match was not as rough as it might have been but it apparently satisfied the big crowd which had come to see blood spilled. Joe confined his dirty work to slugging and rabbit-punching, with a little hair-pulling thrown in for good measure. Tex was more versatile. He gouged Joe's ears and nose, bit Joe's big toes, tried to strangle him with his bath-robe. Tex showed some originality when he fetched a string which was tied to the ropes and attempted to smother Joe with it.

But all in all, both Tex and Joe are sadly lacking in inventive or creative genius. They might have grabbed nearby pop bottles and chased each other over the hall. They could have fought in the dressing rooms. At any rate, they might have resorted to the old trick of slapping one another when they started to shake hands. As it was their wrestling was tiringly standardized and lacked novel and diverting elements. Since they did practically no wrestling, they might have been more entertaining. Let them learn from Dutch Mantell.

In the prelims, K. O. Kitchin, turned wrestler, displayed a surprising mastery of several holds and downed Kid Lee in three minutes with a vicious body scissors. Tommy Thomas used the same hold to win from O. D. Alexander in three minutes.

Prairie to Play At White Deer

The Prairie Oilers will play the White Deer club at White Deer this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The battery staff includes Brandon, catcher and McKinley, pitcher.

Because the Oilers play more for the sport than for any other reason, they have not ballyhooed their team and record much, but they have quietly developed a club that can hold its own with the best in this section. Their game with Magnolia recently revealed unexpected strength, although the Mags won the

The Husband Hunter
© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE, INC. BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Natalie Converse, jealous of her husband's friendship with Bernadine Lamont, leaves him. Alan is consoled by his secretary, Phillipa West, who is seeking to make an advantageous marriage.

Natalie returns, and Alan realizes that he loves her, but the entanglement that Phillipa has cleverly engineered prevents him from attempting a reconciliation. Phillipa refuses to release him.

Alan returns to his home when Natalie appeals to him in an emergency, but his chivalrous feeling for Phillipa keeps her standing between them. Natalie goes to Alan's office and there meets Bernadine. Her old jealousy flares up again and she quarrels bitterly with Alan. As a result he dines with Phillipa. He does not go home that night. The next day Natalie comes to the office to plead for forgiveness, but Alan is out. She waits a while in his private office, then departs in despair.

Phillipa, fearful lest Alan's anger should not endure, plots to discredit Natalie. In a letter she changes the name of a "stock" Bernadine wants to one that is worthless. Bernadine comes to the office after the order has gone through, and discovers the change that has been made. In the investigation that follows Phillipa directs suspicion at Natalie.

Alan believes her guilty and goes up to Hillshire to accuse her. Natalie is stricken to utter hopelessness. Alan leaves her and goes to Bernadine to make good her losses. Not long afterward she dies and Alan turns to Phillipa to help him care for Bobby, Bernadine's young son. Natalie, in Philadelphia, reads of Bernadine's death. She returns to make a last plea for a reconciliation. Alan misunderstands her motive and tells her he is going to marry Phillipa West when he is free. Natalie says goodbye to him. He goes to Phillipa, who is dissatisfied with her position in Bernadine's house looking after Bobby. She is determined not to be burdened with the child.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVI
Phillipa's tones, as she talked with Alan by telephone, quickly changed from imperiousness to their former gentleness. His gruffness started and alarmed her.

She was furious because she was compelled to resort to the role she had thought she could abandon, but she trusted it to disarm Alan, and it did. He told her he was sorry to be late, that he would be up shortly. He had no desire to quarrel with Phillipa, he told himself, settled dejectedly in a seat on the train. She was wonderful all through everything. Wonderful with Bobby, wonderful to him.

His brows creased a little over his thoughts. Bobby didn't seem to like Phillipa, but he was a polite little beggar, he behaved well. "He will get over it. Probably resents Phillipa's authority with some childish idea that she's taken his mother's place by force."

Alan was feeling very tender toward Phillipa when he reached Westchester, very deliberately tender. Was he going to be a weakling and live in the dead past, or would he, denied happiness himself, provide as much of it as he could for those who would share his future?

He bought flowers to take Phillipa, and if they were to him in the nature of a funeral offering for his buried hopes, he was determined that Phillipa should not know it.

Phillipa accepted the flowers with gratifying appreciation. But she guessed they were meant to satisfy some conscience or soul impulse of Alan's. She looked at him through narrowed eyelids. What had happened?

She saw that she should not ask; but there was that in his face that indicated a coming revelation of some kind. She waited, and made him as comfortable as she could.

Through the dinner Alan was silent. Phillipa let him alone, but later, when they were in the car, she grew impatient.

"Did you have a hard day at the office?" she asked, as an opening for his confidence. "You look tired."

"Phillipa," Alan said abruptly, "do you realize that when you accept me, you have to take Bobby as well? You're fond of the little fellow, aren't you?"

Phillipa wondered if he asked because she had refused to take Bobby on the drive with them. "Why, of course I am," she responded promptly. "And naturally I know that you're his guardian."

Alan turned his head for an instant and looked at her. "Didn't I ever tell you that I'm going to adopt him?" he asked.

"No," Phillipa said sharply, then: "I thought you were going to put him in a school."

"Would it make any difference to you if I adopt him?" Alan questioned.

Phillipa hesitated. She didn't like his mood, but she had to take a stand now or never, and she certainly wasn't going to have him adopt the kid.

"Well," she said slowly, "you know I told you once, Alan, that I'd like to have children of my own."

If she expected to stir him, she was disappointed. "Bobby's just like a child of my own to me," Alan answered promptly.

"But not to me," Phillipa snapped back, before she could stop herself. "To be sure, he's a darling, and all that, but why start that way with an adopted child? You'd be sorry when..."

"I couldn't love any child any more than I do Bobby," Alan retorted. "And the sooner I adopt him, the better I'll like it."

"But I won't..." Phillipa stopped herself this time, but she was on the verge of a furious outburst of protest. "You might have told me before," she said curtly. "It's a lot to ask. You know that, don't you?"

"I suppose it is," Alan agreed, "but when I think of Bobby, I wonder how anyone could fail to want him."

"Oh, well," Phillipa hedged, "no girl wants to settle down with a ready-made family, but if it means so much to you..."

"I knew you'd come through," Alan broke in enthusiastically.

Phillipa frowned and jerked her shoulders. "I wish you would think it over a little more," she said pettishly. "After all, you know, Alan, you've asked me to be your wife, and you haven't been any too thoughtful or considerate at times. You ought to think of me as well as Bobby."

Alan was conscious that she spoke the truth. He realized how he neglected her in the hope that she would let him go. And perhaps he was asking her to assume too great a burden. But he wouldn't give up Bobby!

His lips set tight in resolve on that subject. They drove back home without further discussion of Bobby, though the little boy was uppermost in the minds of both.

Phillipa, misled by Alan's silence into thinking she had made a good start toward bringing Alan to her own view of the situation, decided to institute a campaign to discourage him from going through with the adoption.

And Alan made up his mind to say nothing about his plans to Phillipa. He felt guilty over his decision, but he had told her plainly how he felt toward Bobby, and he sensed that she meant to oppose him. He dreaded the undercover methods he feared she'd employ—the constant harping on the wrongs of his side of the question, and the unending flaunting of her rights.

He knew she could make him feel like a selfish monster, and he didn't want to feel that way. He wanted to be happy in the thought of having Bobby as his own, legally; in teaching him to say "Daddy."

With a flare of resentment toward all women, he declared—to himself—that he had a right to a little happiness at least. He would go ahead with his plans, and keep his mouth shut!

Thinking it over that night, after a somewhat cool parting with Phillipa, he began to wonder about her. Perhaps it was natural for a girl to want a chance to have children of her own before adopting any other, but Phillipa had seemed to love Bobby. And the poor little shaver—without a relative in the world—why, any woman, with a mother's heart, would want him!

Alan was not certain he had seen Phillipa push the boy's hand away from her when they were leaving the house, but he remembered the sharpness of her voice as she said: "It's time for you to be in bed; run along."

"That," "Please take me with you," coming in a pitifully pleading voice still echoed in his ears. Nellie's sulky: "He won't sleep anyway miss," he remembered too. But Phillipa had been firm.

"And I didn't go up to say good night to him when we got back," Alan reproached himself.

He awoke the next morning in a bad humor. He would go see his lawyer at once.

Phillipa telephone while he was at breakfast, to say she was coming down to do some shopping and that she wanted him to lunch with her. Her voice was sweetly coaxing.

Alan was seized with a desire to find out just how sincere she was. "I can't see you," he said brusquely. "I have an appointment with my lawyer."

"With your lawyer?" Phillipa repeated unseeingly.

"Yes, I'm going to adopt Bobby as soon as possible," Alan answered.

He heard a smothered gasp, and a bang as the telephone receiver was slammed in place.

A little later, when Phillipa called again to try to undo what her temper had done, Alan was on his way to his office. There he found a memo to call the Lamont home. Well, he would when he had opened his mail. But before he had completed that task, he received a caller that made him forget Phillipa.

"You smell of the sea," he said to the tall young man whom he had just greeted with friendly warmth. "Of the boat this morning?"

"No several days ago," the young man answered.

"Your mother too?"

"Yes, but she's gone up to Maine. I'm staying in the apartment for a week or two. I want you to come up tonight, Alan."

Alan considered. "Sorry, old man," he said finally. "I would have to duck an engagement, and I don't think I can." He hoped Geoffrey would accept his excuse, for he didn't want to talk about Natalie, and he saw no way to escape it with Geoffrey Norman.

"Look here," Geoffrey said earnestly, "I want to see you, Alan. It's important."

"Well, I'm not too busy to listen to you now," Alan suggested. "Fire away."

"Geoffrey shook his head. "No," he said, "you must come up to the apartment tonight. Sorry to insist, but it's got to be that way if you're willing to do a great favor for me."

Alan gave in. "All right," he said, "but I'll have to leave early." He was thinking that he would run up and say good night to Bobby to make up to the boy for his neglect of the night before.

Thinking of Bobby reminded him he was asked to telephone Phillipa. As soon as Geoffrey left, after cautioning him not to forget their engagement, he put in the call.

Phillipa answered, eager to be pleasant, but Alan ignored her invitation to lunch with her—he had forgotten it—and rather coldly informed her that he would not be up to the house for dinner. "I'll be up later to see Bobby; tell him, won't you?" he added thoughtlessly.

Bobby! Bobby! Bobby! "And that's what I've missed two trains for," Phillipa stormed on her way upstairs to get her hat and bag. In the upper hall she came upon Bobby playing with some wooden Indians.

"Take those into the nursery," she said angrily, "and don't bring your toys into the hall again."

Bobby looked at her with mutiny plain on his baby face. "But my mama letted me," he said defensively.

Phillipa glared at him and passed on. "If I don't watch out I'll be slapping his face," she warned herself, as she snatched up the things she had earlier thrown on the bed. She was leaving the house when the telephone rang a second time. She flew to the instrument hopeful that Alan was calling to apologize.

Pythian Lodge Observes Fourth

Knights of Pythias lodge members celebrated the Fourth of July in patriotic style at their regular meeting Friday evening.

Ernest Gee, past district deputy grand chancellor of this district, spoke at length on the history and origin of the order. R. R. Hungate, chancellor of the local order, spoke of the needs of the local lodge at this time and stated the outlook for the coming year was bright and that he hoped the newly elected chancellor, R. M. (Mose) Johnson, would have the most successful year of the order in Pampa. In the absence of Judge Clifford Braly, Walter Hardin was called upon for a speech on the subject, Fraternalism and Patriotism in America. His ten-minute speech was followed by the cheers of the members.

The regular meeting closed promptly at 10 o'clock and was immediately followed by refreshments furnished by the losers in an attendance contest which closed late Friday night.

After refreshments were served, Walter Hardin invited the members to a miniature golf game on a course.

The four highest scores were made by Ernest Gee, 58; C. C. Matheny, 59, and Walter Hardin, 67; R. R. Hungate, 68.

POLITICS—

servicing her first term as governor going into the run-off by a narrow margin.

Leaders Hogged Ballots

Next to the current campaign, 1924 furnished the greatest number of Democratic gubernatorial candidates, when nine went to bat in the first primary. It is interesting to note that there was a spread of only 68,000 votes among the four leaders, the trailing five receiving less than 100,000 altogether. That year Felix Robertson of Dallas and Mrs. Ferguson were in the run-off, Mrs. Ferguson nudging Lynch Davidson of Houston out of runner-up position by a bare 5,000 votes. T. W. Davidson was 15,000 votes behind Lynch.

In 1928 the vote fell off to 675,000 in the first primary, Governor Moody getting 442,000 of these to win the nomination without the necessity of entering the run-off.

Politicians admittedly are at a loss to "dope" out the division this time and are guessing that it will be a tight fight between at least seven of the candidates, to-wit: Mrs. Ferguson, Senator Thomas B. Love, Earle B. Mayfield, Barry Miller, Clint C. Small, R. S. Sterling, and James Young. They are not ignoring the candidacies of C. C. Moody, Frank Putnam, Paul Loven and C. E. Walker, but they do believe the probable division among the seven who have been active in intensive campaigns presents an interesting study. Normally either one of the seven could be expected to poll 100,000 votes easily, they figure.

Mapping Closing Drives

The campaign guns were silenced over the Sabbath and the stump speakers pulled up to rest and to survey the situation. Managers of the candidates meanwhile mapped out strenuous itineraries for the new week.

Mayfield was to hit the high spots in East, South and Central Texas. He was scheduled to open at Beaumont Monday night, speak at Houston Tuesday night over station KTSA in San Antonio Wednesday noon, and to an audience there that night, Lockhart Thursday afternoon and Austin at night, Mart Friday afternoon and Waco Friday night, Waxahachie Saturday afternoon and over station KTAT, in Fort Worth Saturday night.

The Ferguson itinerary was as follows: San Antonio Tuesday, Corpus Christi Wednesday, Yoakum Thursday, Brenham Friday, Lockhart Saturday.

Sterling dates were announced as follows: Monday, Weatherford 2:30 p. m., Eastland 8 p. m., Tuesday, Stephenville 10:30 a. m., Dublin 2 p. m., Comanche 4 p. m., Brownwood 8 p. m., Wednesday, Santa Anna 10:30 a. m., Coleman 2:30 p. m., San Angelo 8 p. m., Thursday, Ballinger 2:30 p. m., Winters 5 p. m., Abilene 8 p. m., Friday, Anson 3:30 p. m., Stamford 8 p. m., Saturday, Albany 10:30 a. m., Breckenridge 2:30 p. m., Fort Worth 8 p. m.

Loven Begins Campaign
Loven, who started his active campaigning only Friday, was booked for Comanche Monday morning and Grandview in the afternoon, Albany Tuesday, and Valley Mills Wednesday.

Love planned to carry his campaign to the Rio Grande valley, opening at Donna Monday night, speaking at Raymondville Tuesday afternoon and Harlingen Tuesday night. Wednesday afternoon, he planned to talk over station KTSA in San Antonio and Thursday he was listed for four speeches in Denton, his main political address there to be at 3 p. m., the others to be talks before students of the College of Industrial Arts and North Texas Teachers college and the Rotary club. Friday he will speak over station KTAT in Fort Worth and Saturday night at Whitewright.

Miller's itinerary for the week: Monday, Comanche. Tuesday, Brownwood; Wednesday, San Angelo; Thursday, Springtown; Friday, Mineral Wells; Saturday, Denton.

Young and Small headquarters have not released the itineraries of their candidates.

BALLOONS—

Cunningham walked two miles to a farmhouse and reported that he and Kilkoff and their balloon were uninjured, but in a swamp.

The Kelvinator balloon of Detroit landed at Horatio, Ark., 25 miles north of the place where the Detroit Aircraft entry grounded. The pilot, Dr. George Legalle, telegraphed headquarters of the race at Houston of his successful landing, but gave no details of his experiences.

The army balloon No. 3 from Scott Field, Ill., came to earth four miles east of Danville, Ark., at 7:30 p. m. and Pilot W. D. Buie and his aide, Lieut. J. P. Kidwell, reported that their balloon was in good condition.

The Aero Digest balloon from New York and the Navy No. 10, which were unable to hop a mountain ridge near Daisy, Ark., 50 miles to the northeast, came to earth safely within a half mile of each other about 5 p. m.

Meanwhile, reports from various sources indicated other balloons were floating over Arkansas and Oklahoma, and until the last one was down it was impossible to name the winner of the race, the balloon which drifted to the point farthest from Houston.

Body of Young Woman Is Found

BUTLER, N. J., July 6. (AP)—The body of a young woman, shot twice, was found in an automobile on the Marlinton road about five miles northwest of here late today. In the car was a note saying "you will find the other bodies along the road."

The note telling of other victims was unsigned. Handwriting experts this morning will compare the writing with that on the notes written by the "3-X" murderer of Queens on the theory that the slayer is the maniac who has terrorized the New York borough and committed two murders there.

Discovery of the body and the note started state troopers under the command of Sergeant Simpson of Pompton Lakes station on a hunt along lonely roads of the surrounding territory.

The Marlinton road is a deserted thoroughfare sometimes used as a short cut between Butler and West Milford. The coupe was noticed along the road throughout the day. Last night passersby looked in and saw the body slumped on the floor with two bullet wounds in her head.

Hoo-Hoo Official Commends Use of Advertising Designed by The News

Heartily endorsement and congratulations concerning the advertisement run by the Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo, or lumbermen's organization, in the Pampa Daily News have been given by H. R. Isherwood, national secretary-treasurer of the body.

The following letter is self explanatory: Mr. W. W. Presnell, Pampa Daily News, Pampa, Texas.

Dear Mr. Presnell, Of course as a member of Hoo-Hoo, I know you will be interested and pleased to note the special editorial in the May Bulletin, together with our reproduction of one of your ads of the Pampa Hoo-Hoo club.

We look upon this as the most constructive advertising ever done by any club in the country, and we certainly are proud of the Pampa club. This is one of the most forward steps you could possibly take in developing civic pride, civic interest, and to gain the good will of the public, which is necessary in the development of any progressive movement.

You are to be congratulated and to be thanked not only by the Pampa club but the lumber industry in its entirety for your usefulness and great interest in this movement, in securing the page ads for the Modernizing bureau such as you have already used in your recent issue. I have just looked over copy which you mentioned in your letter, the pink sheets, and certainly it is gratifying, and we are making proper mention of this in the July issue of our publication.

We thank you most kindly for your splendid cooperation and kind consideration. Please send us complete set of the ads from the first up to date, and place us on record to secure one dozen copies of each issue of your paper that carries these ads, which we wish to send to our supreme officers.

That which I have in mind is to have a photostat made of these ads and a little later on to work up a series of ads, using yours as a basis for submitting to our clubs throughout the United States.

With kindest wishes,
HENRY R. ISHERWOOD

Small Repeats His Opposition to Statewide Bonds

BRADY, July 5. (AP)—Reiterating his opposition to the state highway bond issue and advocating an industrialized prison system on the present location, Senator Clint C. Small of Wellington, candidate for governor, spoke at the Brady July jubilee today.

He said the penitentiary system could be put on a paying basis by manufacturing clothing and growing food for state institutions.

He said Texas now was building 1,000 miles of good roads annually from the current revenue and declared the highway problem could be solved in 12 years without the necessity of a bond issue.

Manicurist Meets Man of Her Heart

"The Devil's Holiday"—a new Nancy Carroll picture, is coming to the Rex theatre on today for a 3-day run.

It is an original play by Edmund Goulding, sensational author-director who wrote and directed Gloria Swanson's "The Trespasser."

Goulding chose a typically American locale—the Mid-western wheat country, for this stirring romance drama. It concerns the lives of God fearing farmers and the enemy-breed, the urbanites who attempt to prey upon them.

As a gold-digging manicurist in league with several tricky salesmen, Miss Carroll gets a commission for winning and dining the farmer-buyers of agricultural implements. After she gets them "ga-ga" about her the salesmen put over the finishing touches by closing the sales. It's an "on-the-level" racket, but it's not exactly open and above board, and there comes a day when Nancy regrets that she ever engaged in it, for she falls in love with Phillips Holmes, handsome young son of a wealthy farmer, after she has baited him for a deal with a tractor salesman.

Heavy emotional scenes follow when Nancy tries to compromise her mode of living with the simplicity of life to which Holmes has been accustomed. The story has many stirring, dramatic moments.

Included in the supporting cast are James Kirkwood, Hobart Bosworth, Ned Sparks, Morgan Parley, Jed Prouty, Paul Lukas, ZaSu Pitts, Morton Downey, Guy Oliver, Jessie Pringle Wade Boteler and Laura La Varnie.

Miss Marjorie Lee, nurse in Pampa hospital, left today for a vacation which she will spend at her home at Hilton, Okla.

Miss M. A. Pitts, superintendent of Pampa hospital, spent July Fourth in Amarillo.

Dr. V. E. Von Brunow is spending several weeks at a beach hotel in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Figures Show Texas' Rank in Lumber Field

LONGVIEW—Interesting figures on the lumber industry of Texas for the last half century have been compiled by Curtis Morris, statistical director of the East Texas chamber of commerce. For instance, in 1880 when Michigan was the first lumbering state, Texas ranked thirteenth, producing 2 percent of the United States supply. By 1890 Texas was producing 3.5 percent, and ranked seventh, a position that she averaged down to 1928. In the quarter century beginning with 1904 Texas saws cut a total of 42,000,000,000 board feet of lumber for an annual average of 4.5 percent of the United States production.

A more humble role for several years confronts the timber industry of East Texas, the survey reveals. The Southern Pine association reports that in 1928 Texas cut 1,300,000,000 feet, and estimates the 1930 cut at 1,200,000,000 feet. According to the Texas forest service, of an original 14,000,000 acres of virgin pine 900,000 acres remain, and there is an equal amount of hardwood remaining. Commercial second growth pine is estimated at 2,500,000 acres, and a commercial second growth hardwood at 2,800,000 acres.

Plane Damaged—Pilot Escapes

The Spartan biplane owned by Murphy and McKernan was slightly wrecked about a mile northwest of the airport Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the landing gear on the right side collapsed. The ship turned a complete somersault and landed upside down. The pilot, Roy "Dutch" Bartgis, was uninjured. The propeller was slightly bent and the wings damaged a little. The plane had not been up in several months until Friday Bartgis was circling near the airport when the engine stopped while he was above the canyon just north of the landing field. The veteran pilot made a good landing on the hill north of the canyon and had coasted 100 yards when the landing gear snapped. The damaged ship was towed back to the airport last night.

Prisoners Given Elaborate Meal

Prisoners in the county jail celebrated the Fourth in a grand manner, and Deputy Herman Wachtendorf broke a precedent to which wardens and jailors in penitentiaries and jails throughout the country rigidly conform. Custom has decreed that only the final meal of prisoners shall be elaborate. Usually it is a chicken dinner with accessories, served just before the prisoner begins "the last mile."

Bearing in mind that "all men are created free and equal," Jailer Wachtendorf Friday served the prisoners in the county jail a savory chicken dinner, including dressing, lemon pie, iced tea, and "French fries."

SPAIN GIVES THIS HOUSE ITS FEATURE

Large wall spaces and few windows are the features of this design, which hails from sunny Spain. It represents a combination of the beauty of an old motive with the comfort and convenience made possible by modern science.

The front of this home faces north, but the view and the garden are on the opposite side, the south, and this side is really the important one. The garden is thus screened from outsiders.

The living and dining rooms and two of the bedrooms, including that of the owner, all face the garden, which adds to the attractiveness of this design.

Arrangement of the stairs allows for entrance to the basement without entering any of the rooms, which is a desirable feature.

On the upper floor are three bedrooms and two bathrooms, one of which has additional space for dressing or for a shower if one is desired separate from the tub. Fireplaces are provided both for the living room and owners' bedroom.

The most desirable color for this type of house is buff or white stucco and red tile roof, all in keeping with the Spanish design. Colorful window awnings will add to its beauty.

The garden is an important feature of this type of home, and should not be neglected when planning the location of the building on the lot. In warm weather the family will want to spend almost as much time out-of-doors as within.

A lot about 60x150 feet is recommended for this home. The cost should run between $10,000 and $12,000.

Zinnias at Alexander Home Are Exceptionally Fine This Summer

BY ARCHER FULLINGIM
If you would learn how to grow zinnias, obtain directions from Mrs. C. C. Alexander at N. 922 East Browning avenue, for she has some of the finest in town. Last week, these rows of the colorful flowers were in full bloom in Mrs. Alexander's flower garden in the east side of her yard. Each row was probably 40 feet long. The blooms were red, yellow, white, orchid, purple, and orange.

Everything in the garden was doing well. There was a row of California poppies which looked so healthy and happy that they might have been growing on the foothills of the Sierra Nevadas in the lower end of the San Joaquin valley of California. A row of nasturtiums augmented the brilliance of the garden.

There were also rows of cosmos the blossoms of which—especially if they are pink—giving meaning and luster to mid-summer's sensuous silence. The dust and rust and heat of August are feared by many, but cosmos around one's place will lessen the fierceness of the month. There were four o'clocks, hollyhocks, and other flowers in the garden—all in rows which are irrigated, and irrigation is the only satisfactory method of watering flowers in this plains country.

Mrs. Alexander also has an ample, green lawn which is well-watered. It is this writer's observation that lawns of grass and clover do not grow brown in mid-summer despite almost constant watering. When the time comes for certain kinds of grass to turn brown, no amount of water can stop them. The lawn of V. E. Fairhead at 502 West Kingsmill continues to be probably the greenest in Pampa, as it was in April. The Alexander lawn is framed with elm trees between the sidewalk and the street and with appropriate and cool-looking shrubbery next to the house.

Bob Estes was brought in to McKean and Connor hospital last night in a Stephenson ambulance. He was severely injured in an oil field accident.

ANOTHER CASUALTY
"You tell me," said the judge, "that this is the person who knocked you down with a motor car on the Fourth of July? Can you swear to this man?"
"I did your honor, but he only swore back at me and drove on."
Don't swear at the heat. Buy an electric fan from us and keep cool. Be they ever so humble, there's nobody stays home. We have delivered new 22-36 International tractors this past week to R. A. Stanley and John Haggard.

MODERNIZE BRING YOUR HOME UP-TO-DATE

A Mansion Can Be Made From an Old Style House at Small Cost

HAVE THE OLD HOME REMODELED INSIDE AND OUT

There are many homes in Pampa and surrounding territory that have been standing several years, houses that were considered good ones in their day, but the hand of progress has been busy in recent years building homes of a modern type. The old straight roof, narrow windows, plain floors, etc., are giving way to larger windows, hard wood floors, built in fixtures and more modern designs.

The old fashioned house will soon be a thing of the past; in its place will rise a home of modern architecture with all the conveniences that the housewife craves, there will be built into the new home many labor saving appliances and devices, and the housewife, while her heart swells with pride, will also take on new life. Life for the whole family will become more replete with joy. All this can be accomplished with very little expense.

Why not take enough time off from the routine of life to call on your favorite lumberman; he will courteously explain to you just how easy and economically you can be maintained so as to defeat depreciation by a careful schedule of monthly activity.

CONVERT THE OLD HOUSE INTO A MANSION

JULY CHORES FOR THE HOME OWNER DON'T NEGLECT PROPERTY

Here is the July program: Make thorough repair in place of earlier makeshifts. Repair fences, garages, barns, graineries, poultry houses, out-buildings, etc. See that all buildings are in perfect repair. Inspect gutters and leaders for patching, painting and replacement. Extra gutter spikes may be needed on iceforming north side. Make preparation for fall tree transplanting by putting the ground in proper condition. Trees and shrubbery are very essential to the beauty of any home whether city or rural and add greatly to the value of property.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF VACATION PERIODS

While you are away on vacation would be an ideal time to have the interior of your home decorated and built-in conveniences added. See your favorite lumberman and arrange with him to have this work done while you are away. The wife will be relieved of trying to keep house while the work is being done and you will be delighted to return and find your improvements have made the old home so much more attractive.

WHAT WEST TEXAS EDITORS SAY

Tom Love vs. Clint Small.

Canyon News: Senator Tom Love is making a trip through the Panhandle this week. He is appealing to those who voted for Hoover to support him.

Road Bonds as an Issue

Wichita Falls Times: At a meeting of opponents of the State-wide road bond plan last week speakers declared that the plan should not be made an issue in the primary campaign.

Most of the gubernatorial candidates are opposed to the bond issue and their utterances on the subject make it easy for the voter to forget that the next governor, whoever he may be, won't have much to say on the bond issue.

Love Two Years Behind Times.

El Paso Herald: Tom Love is two years behind the times. He is campaigning for the governorship on an "issue" which passed into history with the presidential campaign of 1928.

He has come into West Texas—energetic, pulsing, vigorous, growing West Texas which is living in today and tomorrow—and is talking about Al Smith and "Raskobism" and the people who voted for Hoover—Well, what of it?

No one in West Texas is sitting up night in deep concern over what happened in 1928.

The acrimonies of that campaign died after the election, so far as the voters are concerned.

This is a new deal. The old game is past and forgotten. We are about to elect a governor for Texas in the year 1930, not in 1928.

Yet, Senator Love, with all due respect to him, is living back in the dim and distant past, talking of Al Smith and "Raskobism" instead of the issue of today.

What has Tom Love to offer us for the future? What are his constructive ideas for giving Texas a better state government?

If he has such ideas, he has not made them evident. He would abolish ad valorem taxation, but offers nothing of which he seems sure in his own mind as a substitute to produce the revenues now yielding by ad valorem taxes.

He favors a state income tax—if any maybe. Granted that Senator Love favors improvement in the state educational system, he is merely in the position of probably every other candidate, for what candidate would admit he did not favor doing everything possible for our schools and colleges?

Voters of today are living in today and tomorrow. They hear with closest attention a candidate who, like Clint Small, is in step with the times, planning for the future, with ideas for the development of this great state of ours.
