"That's gold in these here prairies."

Free advice: Taking a vacation in a manner to help the individual physically as well as mentally is an art. You see many travelers who drive as if they were on a speedway with a big prize at stake, and when they stop they exercise in a manner that you can hear their puffs and heartbeats for a block. Think it over.

Wisconsin men have seen the "desert" that was described to them by enemies of Texas. The visitors are much pleased by Texas hospitality and impressed by the agricultural possibilities of the area viewed. Most men are at heart comrades when they are brought together. It is unfortunate that we have the habit of elaborating the motives of those whom we do not know.

It should be an axiom of American business to give strangers the benefits of any doubts arising. All have seen merchants whose manner of extreme gruffness was exhibited to strangers largely to cover a natural shyness, but who in reality were tender in their dealings with acquaintances and their families. First impressions are often wrong, for people like to "act" feelings and assume attitudes to impress those uninitiated into their acquaintanceship.

Fairy lines are strong, but there are a few of our acquaintances who wish to see a continuance of the present depression in order to defeat the G. O. P. in the next national election. It is a noticeable fact in the Panhandle, travelers tell us, that politics is 95 per cent of the conversation in the old sections of Texas, but probably less than 50 per cent on the plains. West Texans are interested in results; other sections more in personalities. When the whole state catches the West Texas spirit under the leadership of Clint Small, Old Man Texas will have a better day.

The Pampa has investigated the new school bond election, which is for $25,000 and will be held on July 22, and he finds that it obviously is needed to complete the building program started through the larger issue last spring. The intent of the school board has been to hold the expenditures as close to the current needs as possible, and the sensational increase in enrollment is responsible for the small additional bond issue. It is very fortunate that the valuations in the Independent district are in proportion to the population; otherwise, it would be necessary to lower the standard of the system and possibly to split the class schedule into halves for teaching purposes. As it is, however, Pampa has one of the best school systems in the Panhandle.

It appears likely that a new device will really enable the deaf to hear through the teeth. It is about time something were done for the deaf. The dumb (deaf), with schools, colleges, and universities designed to correct natural deficiencies, have been getting most of the breaks in the past.

CHICAGO SEES ANOTHER CRIME

Spectator Killed As Gangsters Battle Officer

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—An indictment charging Frank Foster, Chicago gunman under arrest in Los Angeles, with the murder of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Tribune crime reporter, was returned by the grand jury today.

LOS ANGELES, July 2. (AP)—Five Chicago racketeers were in jail here today pending extradition proceedings against their leader, Frankie Foster, wanted in connection with the slaying of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, newspaper reporter.

Foster, alleged "arsenal keeper" for the Bugs Moran gang, was said by Chicago police to have supplied the gun to Lingle's slayer. Two of the arrested racketeers, George Davis and Frankie Fisher, were declared to be gangsters associated with Foster.

Foster insisted the pistol used to kill Lingle and subsequently traced to him was taken from him by Chicago police more than a year ago and never returned. Foster also asserted he arrived here "a few weeks" before the Lingle killing.

Mrs. Frank Foster, wife of the leader, was booked for investigation, but police said she was not wanted in Chicago.

Edgar Dudley, Chicago police detective who aided in the roundup here, said:

"We know Foster gave the gun to Lingle's slayer, and he is known to have been in the runway ten minutes before the reporter was shot. He took care of the guns for Bugs Moran."

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—Gang gunners stood in the glare of the bright lights of South State street last night and made an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Jack Zuta, gangster.

A man was killed. Another was wounded. In the excitement Zuta and three companions disappeared. The gunmen escaped behind a smoke screen emitted from the exhaust of their car. A police officer who, however, apparently escaped unhurt.

The man killed was Elbert Lusader, 38 years old, motorman on a street car. A bullet from the pistol of one of the attackers penetrated his neck.

Zuta had been arrested for questioning in connection with the slaying of Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter.

COOLING RAIN IS WELCOMED IN TEXAS

By The Associated Press
Sections of North, Southeast and the Panhandle areas of Texas, parched by an unrelenting sun for weeks, today had been given an acceptable wetting by rain that varied in quantity. Farmers were pleased with moisture that was needed to revive cotton, corn and late truck crops.

Greenville reported the heaviest precipitation, the rain measuring a little better than 1 1/2 inches and was still falling today. Nacogdoches and San Augustine counties in southeast Texas were visited by a general rain and moisture was welcomed at Paris, Mt. Vernon, Bonham, Tyler and Van Alstyne. Rain had fallen steadily for four hours at Tyler. Van Alstyne's precipitation amounted to half inch and motorists arriving there said it extended as far south as Plano in Collin county.

Port Arthur got a little more than half an inch yesterday, Mexia .54, Mount Pleasant .72, Muleshoe .58 and Sherman .34.

Dallas enjoyed relief from high temperatures as the mercury descended to a minimum of 72 with cool north winds blowing in from the rainy sections.

Chicago Plane Passes 500-Hour Mark in Flight

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—John and Kenneth Hunter in the monoplane "City of Chicago" flew through their 500th continuous hour over Sky Harbor today at 11:40 a. m. (Central Standard Time). They were approximately 80 hours ahead of the previous world's record for endurance flying.

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—Motor trouble with the supply ship threatened for a moment today to end the endurance flight of the Hunter brothers who at 7:40 a. m. (CST) had been aloft 496 hours.

The "Big Ben" warming up for the first morning contact with the "City of Chicago" over Sky Harbor, sputtered and died but a few minutes frantic work put the engine in tune and Walter and Albert Hunter went aloft with 50 gallons of gasoline for the fliers.

The motor of the "City of Chicago" hummed evenly overhead while three mechanics worked feverishly tuning up the contact plane, which had given the Hunter brothers some worry last night when it began missing. They checked it over later and when it failed this morning they immediately installed new spark plugs all around.

Tentative List of Summer Smile Exponents Given by One of Judges—Score Card of Nominees Being Kept

TO THE EDITOR:
This member of the committee appointed by you to observe who among Pampa business and professional people are and who are not smiling during this hot, feverish weather, wishes to make a tentative report, based solely on smiles seen several times daily during the last week. Those persons who smiled every time they were seen for four days and then failed to smile on, say, Monday, which was a day when the hot winds tried to their best to cook smiles, were dropped out of the running. This member of your committee kept a score card of the smiles and when one of the persons on the list failed to smile, a black mark was drawn through his or her name.

Since you suggested that the total scores be not counted for a week, none has been counted, but it is known that none of the persons still on the list would be given a grade of 100 per cent perfect at this writing.

ACTION FALLS SUDDENLY ON BIG INDUSTRY

Americans Excited by Retaliatory Step

ROYAL DECREE IS BOMBSHELL

Other Countries to Be Influenced, Is Belief

ROME, July 2. (AP)—The Italian government today, without previous notice, increased the import duty on automobiles between 110 and 120 per cent. Notice of the increase was published in the official gazette.

Representatives here of foreign motor car manufacturers, particularly Americans, were thrown into much excitement by the new schedule.

The rates were published on June 30 but passed unnoticed by the public so that the new schedule had been in effect 36 hours before the bombshell exploded in motor circles.

The unprecedented heavy customs duties were considered by agents of American manufacturers here as a form of retaliation against the new American tariff schedule.

The new rates were applied particularly to small cars. The average duty on Ford cars was increased from 7,000 lire (the Italian lire is worth about five cents American) to 16,000 lire. The percentage on higher priced cars was somewhat less. The highest priced model of one line, for example, was covered with a tariff increase of from 25,000 lire to 33,000 lire.

The new schedule was in the form of a royal decree signed by the king, the premier and other heads of the government.

It was executed to go into effect immediately and is presented later to the Italian parliament for conversion into law.

It was understood that the decree had been drawn up at a special committee meeting on June 27, after a meeting of the council of ministers the day before. No announcement regarding tariff changes followed the action, it being left to fall like a thunderbolt upon the automotive industry.

DETROIT, July 2. (AP)—Leaders in the automobile industry here generally, accepted the announcement of the increased Italian tariff on motor cars as fulfillment of forecasts made during the discussion of the Hawley Smoot bill.

Of Interest to Rum Runners and Like Gentry

WHEELING, W. Va., July 2. (AP)—Eugene Crowder's guilty conscience and a boy's premature celebration of the Fourth had Crowder in jail today.

Crowder was driving warily through the streets here, a cargo, police said, of 30 gallons of liquor in his charge. A boy tossed a firecracker beneath the machine, and Crowder, probably thinking of guns and hi-jackers or prohibition agents, leaped from the machine and fled with all the speed of his 23 years. The car rambled on, nosing finally into another parked at the curb.

Valor conquering discretion, Crowder returned, just in time to meet a policeman satisfying his curiosity regarding the accident. Crowder was turned over to federal authorities on a charge of transporting liquor.

SUMMER TERM VACATION TO BE FOR TWO DAYS

Teachers and students of the summer school will have two whole days for celebrating July 4, with the preceding afternoon and the week-end following affording those who wish to make excursions out of the city the opportunity.

Classes will end tomorrow at noon, as usual, and there will be no school Friday or Saturday, according to plans made by L. L. Sone, director, and the faculty. Allowance was made for the two-day recesses when the summer session schedule was arranged. School will close July 18 or 19.

Catholics Will Build Rectory

The Holy Souls Catholic church will erect a parsonage within the next two months, according to plans being developed in a successful campaign for funds, now under way in the congregation, Frank D. Keim of the building committee said yesterday.

The remainder of the necessary funds will be forthcoming in the near future, it is expected, in which case the rectory will be built before autumn. The building committee includes: Dan J. Gribbon, chairman; Lynn Boyd, M. F. Roche, Ed Dunnigan, and Mr. Keim. The altar society will aid substantially in the building and furnishing funds.

Old Rivals Will Compete

HOUSTON, (AP)—Old rivalries will enliven the 1930 national elimination balloon race to start July 4 from Houston.

Eight of the 15 contenders are veteran of former races. Nine civilian bags will be pitted against six military contenders and the army and navy will be evenly divided from premier service honors with three balloons each.

Two of the navy balloons will be piloted by men who were partners in winning the race last year. Lieut. T. G. W. Settle and Lieut. Wilfred Bushnell, who set a world's distance record of 952 miles to place first in 1929, will stage an inter-navy race of their own. Bushnell was Settle's aide last year.

All 15 contenders will seek the American championship, and the first three place winners will be designated by the National Aeronautic association as the team to represent the United States in the international Gordon Bennett race September 1 in Cleveland.

Small Receives Largest Gifts in This Campaign

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—Showing expenditures of $6,096.41, the largest total of any candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, the first preliminary expense affidavit of Clint Small was received by the secretary of state today.

Small also showed the largest amount of contributions, totaling $6,781. Contributions of $500 or more included E. J. Dunigan, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Davis, R. B. Masterman, W. T. Coble, J. H. Whittenburg, W. O'Brien, J. M. Sanford, J. T. Sneed, and Miles Byvins. Dunigan contributed $700 the voucher showed.

The West Texas candidate was the last of the Democratic aspirants to mail his affidavit. The envelope showed that it was registered in Fort Worth, July 1. The law regarding filing the accounts had been interpreted as making June 30 the last day for filing.

Mrs. Grace Higgins is to leave tomorrow for Wichita Falls, where she will spend a few days with her parents before leaving for New York, from which port she will sail for Europe, July 12.

THREE MEN IN JURY BOX AT THIS NOON

Three Motions of the Defense Are Denied

NO TROUBLE IS GIVEN BY CROWD

Precautions Taken to Prevent Mob Action

BEAUMONT, July 2. (AP)—Selection of a jury to try Rainey Williams, negro, on a criminal assault charge, was started here today after defense motions to quash the venire, for a change of venue and for a continuance, were overruled by Judge E. L. Murray. Three jurors had been accepted at noon.

When court recessed for lunch, Sheriff W. W. Covington slipped the negro through a rear courtroom window and rushed him to the county jail, one-half mile away.

BEAUMONT, July 2. (AP)—With a large crowd of spectators surging through the corridors of the old high school building, used temporarily as a courtroom, Rainey Williams, negro, was placed on trial for criminal assault today with perfect order prevailing.

The negro, sought three times by mobs that wanted to deal summarily with him, was indicted seven times for alleged assaults on couples while they were parked in automobiles along the highways near Port Arthur.

The first case called charged criminal assault against a negress. As a precautionary measure the negro was transferred from the jail, more than a quarter of a mile from the temporary courthouse, before the crowds began to assemble. He was placed in a cage between the sheriff's office and the courtroom so that he could be taken to the bar of the court without passing through the crowd.

The courtroom was crowded to capacity early and after it was filled late-comers were turned away by deputy sheriffs, who searched all who sought admittance.

All windows of the room had been boarded up, making it impossible to see the proceedings from the outside.

A venire of 150 had been summoned for jury service and little trouble was anticipated in obtaining 12 qualified men.

It was anticipated that R. J. Jernigan, Port Arthur attorney who agreed to defend the negro after having been committed to jail by Judge R. L. Murray for contempt of court and fined $250 for his refusal at first, would ask a change of venue.

The seventh indictment was returned against Williams yesterday when a 17-year-old white girl appeared before the grand jury and identified Williams as her assailant.

The complaint in the indictment to be tried today was first shot through the chest and later assaulted. The negro was to be brought from a hospital to the courtroom.

Kingsford-Smith Is Flying to Chicago

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 2. (AP)—Squadron Leader Charles Kingsford-Smith and his trans-Atlantic crew took off at 7:05 a. m. (EST), today for Chicago on their way to the Pacific Coast. Arrival on the coast will complete circumnavigation of the globe for Kingsford-Smith and his monoplane, Southern Cross.

A bright sun was clearing away the ground mist when the Southern Cross headed into the light breeze for the take off and shaped a course which would take her over New York to Newark, N. J., where the fliers planned to pick up the air mail route to Chicago by way of Cleveland, Toledo, and South Bend.

WEATHER

TEXAS: Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday, light to moderate southerly winds on the coast.

NEW YORK (AP)—Bathing beauties are to frolic on golf courses in nature costumes. The national association of Audubon societies is sponsoring a movement for the erection of bird baths at golf courses which do not have water hazards. The idea is to prevent the birds from being driven away for want of a drink and a shower.

ROTTEN PLANKS IN A SPLENDID STAGE
Lynch Davidson exercises his usual good judgment in discarding as gubernatorial timber all of the candidates except Jim Young and Clint Small. By so doing he got rid of a wealth of rotten planks that are menacing the splendid stage which Old Man Texas has set in the Southwest.

Of these two men, West Texans, and we believe much of Texas, will have no trouble in picking the one whose timeliness of political and legislative arrival best fits him for next governor of Texas. Senator Small has an unfinished task is potentially as large as the office to which he should be called and for which he has shown remarkable aptitude.

On the other hand are the worn-out politicians whose election would mean a continuation of the strife which has cost Texas so much and which recently resulted in a disgusting series of special sessions. Some of these candidates espouse good causes, but their personalities outrank their platforms. Fergusonism must be killed for all time in the coming primary. Moodyism, as represented by Boss Ross Sterling, must be unseated. Love, Mayfield, and Miller have their followers but they offer little hope of a progressive, harmonious government.

There are side issues which make the race complex, but which should lend strength to the cause Senator Small represents. Ferguson would neutralize law enforcement efforts by turning the prisoners out in his notorious pardon style. This is his appeal to the wets and to the bootleg crowd, although he tries to ride a horse of another color by saying that he is opposed to changes in the prohibition law while Ma muses on the wonders of temperance.

Sterling backs a lost cause in espousing his pet road bond issue, which eventually may be adopted in modified form but which hasn't a ghost of a chance while the memory of his dictatorial highway commission lasts, together with the still lingering stench of conditions which in a previous administration brought about suspension of federal aid.

Senator Love has served his time and should be satisfied with his record and with the amount of discord that he has delighted to bring about. His hope is that the issues of yesterday are the issues of today, but he does not realize the gravity of the problems as Texans know them today.

The more the situation takes form and is analyzed, the more one is convinced that reports of Senator Small's strength in all portions of Texas must be true. Those who predict success for other candidates usually will be found following Love's thought process: that of believing that the voters will line up solidly for this or that issue. Senator Small will break down the old issues and draw strength from every group; that is where his strength will prove surprising on the evening of July 26.

HARD HIT "RABBIT" BALLS RUINING MANY BALL GAMES

ALEXANDER IS ABLE TO WIN ONE TUESDAY

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

What with the extreme heat of the past week making the rabbit ball even wilder than usual, it is getting to be a poor day in the Texas league when at least one contest is not decided with a homerun barrage in the closing frames. It is tough on the pitchers, who are getting accustomed to seeing a good job of hurling go to glory on one pitched ball.

A vivid illustration of the havoc being wrought by the lively ball and a league full of free-swingers was given at Fort Worth yesterday, when the Shreveport nine came from behind to tie the Cats in the ninth and win out in the tenth, 9 to 6. Dick Whitworth, the railroader was the victim.

Going into the last frame, Whitworth had a two-run lead and things looked rosy. Then Bernie Starr caught one on the lug and it sailed far away, scoring two runs and tying the count. But the finisher touch did not come until the next inning, when, with two aboard, Perry put another out of the lot. The two big blows not only cost the Panthers a ball game they thought they had won, but prevented their climbing into a tie with Wichita Falls for second place.

A somewhat similar accident befell Ray Caldwell, Spud chunker, at Dallas. He lost a brilliant hurling duel to old Grover Cleveland Alexander, 4 to 2, when Hugh Williamson, pinch hitting for the Steer veteran, clouted one over center-field wire in the eighth with two mates on board. At the time of Williamson's money punch the first half champs were leading 2 to 1, the result of Larry Bettencourt's long homer off Alex in the sixth.

The game-wrecking homer climaxed a gala day at Steer stadium and sent 4,000 fans away in high glee. Before the tilt the 1929 Texas league pennant was raised over the ramps, and Old Pete evidently caught something of the spirit of the occasion. He gave up only six hits in scoring his first minor league victory in twenty years.

The Waco Cubs, playing under their beloved arch, finally succeeded in stopping Houston's second half rush, 13 to 8. It marked the Cubs' sixth victory in seven starts at night and was the third straight nocturnal triumph for Lefty Stein. While Stein kept the Buffs well in hand all but one inning, the seventh, when they scored five runs, the Prattmen beat a merry tattoo on the offerings of two Houston curvers.

After the Cubs had pounded Brown and Reinhart unceasingly for six innings, Tony Kaufman went in and pitched airtight ball the last two. Although he has played outfield for the Buffs all year Kaufman formerly pitched in the big leagues and is understood to be planning a comeback on the mound.

Although Heinle Schuble larruped a homer in the ninth with the bases loaded, the Exporters dropped their second straight to San Antonio, 10 to 7. Oliver Mitchell made his first try for the Shippers and was walloped hard by the Injuns, giving way to Vaughn in the sixth. Cy Smith hurled steadily for the win-

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 2. (P)—Bill Tilden beat his old rival Jean Borotra of France, in the semi-final round of the British tennis championship today in a thrilling five-set match.

Tilden won in dramatic fashion by scores of 6-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-9, 7-5.

Tilden staged a dramatic rally after trailing at 2-4, in the final set, scored one of the most sensational victories in the long rivalry between the Basque and the American and reached the final round of a tournament that he has not won in nine years.

Big Bill's victory marked the elimination of the last of the French contenders who have monopolized this championship for the last six years, as Henri Cochet was eliminated on Monday by the young Texan, Wilmer Allison.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 2. (P)—Fraulein Cecilie Aussem, popular little German tennis star, suffered a badly sprained ankle in the third set of a match with Elizabeth Ryan, American player, in the semi-finals of the British tennis championships today and had to be carried from the court on a stretcher.

Miss Ryan automatically entered the finals by default.

Fraulein Aussem collapsed on the court at a dramatic point in a hard fought match with the games standing at 4-all in the final set. She fell in attempting a difficult shot, recovered and attempted to serve, then collapsed and stretched at full length on the court while players, officials, nurses and ambulance attendants rushed to her assistance.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody entered the final round in defense of her singles title by defeating Madame

Big Bill Tilden Defeats Borotra to Eliminate Last French Netman

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 2. (P)—Rene Mathieu of France, 6-3, 6-2. Doctors said that the hot, sultry weather probably contributed to Fraulein Aussem's collapse.

Madame Mathieu, successor to Suzanne Lenglen as the No. 1 ranking woman player of France, lost the first four games to Mrs. Moody at the start of their match but then proceeded to win three in a row, breaking through Queen Helen's service at love.

The American applied more pressure and took the next two games for the set.

Madame Mathieu led Mrs. Moody by 2 games to 1 in the second set but Queen Helen soon regained mastery and with better length and speed she carried the set without difficulty, thus winning the match and qualifying to meet her fellow Californian and doubles partner, Miss Ryan, in the final.

New York Will Welcome Bobby

NEW YORK, July 1. (P)—The emperor of golf, Bobby Jones, will come home tomorrow to a welcome such as no golfer before him ever has received.

A celebration of a size that ordinarily is reserved for trans-Atlantic fliers, returning war heroes and foreign dignitaries, has been arranged when Bobby steps off the S. S. Europa on his return from England where he won the British amateur and open championships.

In the crowd that gathers to do him honor as a great sportsman will be hundreds of friends from his home town of Atlanta. A "Bobby Jones Special" steamed out of Atlanta yesterday with a train-load of the golfing wizard's admirers. Preceding their fellow-townsmen by a full day, Mr. and Mrs. Asa G. Candler, Hunter Terry, Atlanta real estate man, and Ralph Smith, representing the Atlanta Journal, landed at Newark, N. J., airport yesterday after a five-hour flight from Atlanta.

Game Today to Have Big Effect on Baseball Dope

The Magnolias' chances of winning the baseball championship of the Panhandle depends largely on the result of their game at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon with the Skellytown club at Magnolia park. Should the Pampa team win the game by an appreciable margin, it would be justified in entertaining strong hopes.

Thus far, the Skellytown club has not been defeated. The Tactless Texans were victims to the Skelly men a few Sundays ago. According to dope, Skellytown should win because the Magnolias dropped a game to the Tacks. But since then, the Pampa team has acquired two new pitchers, Melton and Varnell and a crack first baseman, Kozelski. The Magnolia pitching line-up for this afternoon has not been announced but it is safe to say that four moundsmen will get a chance to open up if things don't go right. The Magnolia team is rated 100 percent better than it was when the game was lost to the Tacks at Amarillo.

Nobody seems to know just where Skelly picked up excellent team, but

Tolan Sets New Mark by Beating All His Rivals

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 2. (AP)—Michigan university's "Midnight Express" apparently has not slackened speed.

Eddie Tolán, negro sprinter who leaped into fame's spotlight when he set the world's 100-yard dash record at 9.5 seconds, nicked the 100-meter mark here yesterday by outstripping a field including Percy Williams, Olympic champion, and George Simpson, Ohio State's hope.

Tolan's time was 10 1-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second better than the record held jointly by himself and Charlie Paddock. The place was sanctioned by the British Columbia A. A. U. but whether Tolán's feat will be presented for official recognition was not stated.

The Michigan flash hit the tape three feet ahead of Simpson and four feet ahead of Williams. His feat was considered remarkable because he ran uphill. The finish line was 30 inches higher than the starting point.

It is known that every club in the Panhandle recognized the Carson county nine as the leading contender for the championship.

Texas Aviator on Lengthy Flight

LAREDO, July 2. (AP)—Announced as a test of air corps mobility for sudden hostilities, Lieut. Yantis H. Taylor, former Texas Ranger, hopped off at 1:05 a. m., today on a proposed one-day flight to Portland, Me.

The young officer, an instructor at Kelly field, San Antonio, expressed confidence that he would be successful in reaching the army's farthest north field by nightfall. Early morning fogs, he said, would be the greatest obstacles.

The distance from Laredo to Portland over the route laid out for the flight is approximately 2,100 miles over all kinds of terrain. Lieutenant Taylor planned to fly to Kelly field to Muskogee to St. Louis to Dayton to Middletown to Portland. The air corps officer was flying a regular service pursuit plane.

May Claim Byrd-Land

WASHINGTON, July 1. (AP)—President Hoover would be authorized to claim for the United States lands in the Antarctic discovered by Americans, including Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, under a resolution introduced today by Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland.

Offering the resolution, Senator Tydings said its purpose was to "secure for this country what Admiral Byrd's work has brought about."

He contended Great Britain had claimed two areas in the vicinity of the south pole that had been discovered by Nathaniel E. Palmer and Charles Wilkes, American naval officers, in 1820 and 1840, respectively, and said it was time the American government took some "aggressive steps" in the matter.

Artie Cottrell of Oklahoma City, was in Pampa Tuesday.

THE NEW TEXACO MOTOR OIL

LONGER-LASTING, "CRACK-PROOF"

THE Texas Company again demonstrates its leadership in the petroleum field with the introduction of a vastly superior, new product—a motor oil that lasts longer—that is crack-proof—a motor oil that meets exactly every requirement of the high speed automobile engine of today! This new oil revolutionizes lubrication values as completely as the new and better Texaco Gasoline, the original "dry" gas, revolutionized motor fuels in the Spring of 1926.

An Oil Without Precedent

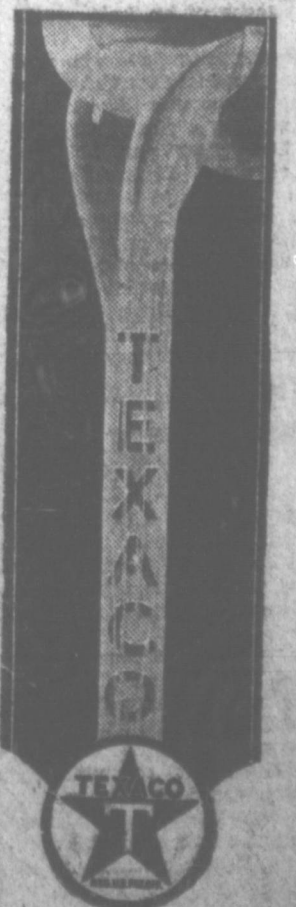

There have been oils that gave remarkable mileage. There have been oils that flowed freely at zero. There have been oils that kept your engine completely free of wax and carbon troubles. But—never until now have all these advantages been combined in any one single lubricant. That motor oil is ready for you today. It is the new Texaco—longer-lasting and crack-proof. Road tests—laboratory tests have proved it.

Available in all our 48 States

Fill your crankcase with this new crack-proof motor oil today. It will more than pay you, not only in greater value for your lubrication dollar but for your car dollar as well. It is manufactured in five grades: C, D, E, F, and G, corresponding in body to Society of Automotive Engineers (S. A. E.) viscosity ratings. 30¢ a quart everywhere (35¢ for grade G).

THE TEXAS COMPANY
Refiners of a complete line of Texaco Petroleum Products including Gasoline, Motor Oil, Industrial Lubricants, Railroad and Marine Lubricants, Farm Lubricants, Road Asphalts and Asphalt Roofing.

er. His release was ordered last night, but Zuta hesitated to leave detective headquarters. He pleaded with Police Lieut. George Barker to provide police protection to his home.

"Lieutenant, I'd never get home alive," he said to Barker, "get me across the loop, won't you?"

Car Is Followed
"All right, get in my car," Barker replied. "I'll drive you as far as State and Lake streets" (the northern edge of the loop).

The police officer got in the driver's seat. Zuta sat in the tonneau with Albert Bratz and Leona Bernstein. Solly Vision sat in front with Barker.

Lieut. Barker started from detective headquarters, driving north on State street slowly. The machine had just crossed Quincy street, travelling at a snail's pace behind a streetcar, when a sedan that had been behind swung from the rear and drew alongside, between the policeman's car and the curb.

A tall fellow in a tan suit and Panama hat opened the door of the sedan, and stepped to the running board. From a shoulder holster he drew a pistol. He aimed deliberately and sent a stream of bullets at the police machine.

Lieut. Barker jammed on the brakes and leaped to the street pistol in hand. The other car stopped also. By this time a second gunman was firing, leaning from a window of the automobile.

When the shooting began, Solly Vision scrambled over the seat into the tonneau, and huddled with Bratz and the woman on the floor behind the scant protection afforded by the sides of the car.

Barker now was standing in the brightly lighted street, exchanging shot for shot. Behind his automobile was a street car, unable to proceed because of the police machine. At the controls was the motorman, Lusader, who started, horrified, as the guns blazed.

Take to Cover
Several hundred persons had sought shelter in doorways and behind posts. A few dropped behind refuse boxes on the sidewalk.

A bullet from the weapon of the tall man on the running board of the gunmen's car struck Lusader in the neck. He died a few hours later. An aged night watchman, Olaf Svanste, was struck in the arm by a bullet.

Lieut. Barker stood firing until his ammunition was exhausted. He leaped back into the machine just as the other automobile pulled away.

The police car was only a few feet behind the other machine at State and Madison street. It was there that a smoke bomb was dropped by the machine in front, sending up a screen of smoke behind which the gunmen hoped to hide the progress of the car.

Lieut. Barker, however, kept the machine in sight, and had nearly overtaken it at Wabash avenue and Madison street when his own motor sputtered and died—its gasoline exhausted. The gunmen's car disappeared in traffic, going north.

Bad News, Boys

-The Chief Warns About Fireworks

Four boys of the "Peck's-Bad-Boy" type, who had strong convictions that July 4 should begin a week before Independence day with skyrockets and Roman candles and should end a week later with heavy artillery, learned yesterday that the City of Pampa has an ordinance against "shootin' off fireworks."

They were informed of that fact at the city jail where they were taken by police, who asserted that there is a warning in the incident for other boys. One of the youngsters had hurled a firecracker in the mustache of an irate gentleman.

Police advice to those who must shoot fireworks is: "Don't shoot 'em in the alleys because there is danger of starting a fire. Be reasonable. Don't keep your neighbors awake all night. If they make a complaint, we'll have to arrest you. Don't start in at daylight on July 4 and fire skyrockets and firecrackers all day. Use discretion. If you must make a continuous noise go to the country. Think of your neighbors. See if explosions make them nervous and if they do, move your fireworks."

Farwell-Texico Hit by Tornado

AMARILLO, July 2. (AP)—Farwell, and Texico, N. M., were struck last night by a small tornado which wrecked property damage but, so far as learned, no one was injured or killed.

Store buildings at Farwell were damaged, the old power plant there and the home of Owen Schletterer were demolished and a tourist camp badly damaged. Utility lines were blown down, but communication was reestablished at 10 p. m.

The storm was not accompanied by rain and a sandstorm which preceded the twister obscured its approach.

Wheat Is Weaker
CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—With unofficial monthly domestic wheat crop estimates averaging 10,000,000 bushels more than similar estimates a month ago, wheat values underwent early downturns today. The market was likewise affected bearishly by Australian reports of needed rains.

Opening at 1-2 to 3-4c decline, wheat showed additional setbacks later. Corn and oats were also easier, with corn starting unchanged to 1-1 1/2c off, but subsequently recovering. Provisions tended to advance.

Ranchman Charged at San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, July 2. (AP)—Charged with assault with intent to murder, K. B. (Major) Cox, veteran ranchman living near here, was under $1,500 bond today on that charge and under $1,000 peace bond in connection with an alleged attack yesterday upon Mark Nasworthy San Angelo ranchman.

Nasworthy suffered two slight wounds, one in the forehead. A pistol bullet passed through his hat. At the hearing yesterday before J. T. Mathison, Tom Green county judge, Nasworthy testified that Cox jumped into his automobile and demanded, at pistol point, that Nasworthy sign a $6,000 note made payable to Cox. He said he refused and the shooting followed.

LIVESTOCK MEN ARE ANXIOUS ABOUT US ALL
DENVER, Colo., July 2. (AP)—Tender solicitude for the ultimate consumer's appetite was expressed at the closing session of the National Livestock Exchange convention here today.

While wishing him a bigger and better appetite, the convention suggested roasts to satiate it at lower retail prices as the most outstanding means of aiding the livestock producer.

An "eat more meat" campaign has been launched by the convention.

Alvin MacAuley, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, said that Italy is "not one of the biggest markets by any means," but that the increased tariff might be an encouragement to other countries to follow.

"But we have been doing that very thing ourselves with tariff increases," he added, "and I don't see how anyone in this country can protest." He recalled that the recent American tariff measure had been adopted in the face of foreign protests.

Local Man Is Accident Victim

Walter Simmons suffered a badly fractured leg when his limb slipped under the wheel of a large truck 10 miles east of Pampa on the McBeale highway yesterday afternoon.

He was preparing to tow the truck in with a similar machine which he was driving when the accident happened. The left leg was fractured above the knee. He was employed by the Gray County Creamery. The other truck was owned by Dille Bakeries. He is improving at McKean and Connor hospital.

Everything for Men, Women and Children to Wear

PAMPA, TEXAS,
July 2, 1930.

Dear Friend:

It's easy to Fall Down Stairs.

Don't fall too hard for a price that seems cheap, sometimes it isn't as cheap as the goods.

This store goes "arm in arm" always with its companions—Messrs. Price and Quality. Never will you find the one separated from the other at our store.

Oftentimes have we been offered merchandise by wholesalers at fabulously low prices, but when we investigated the quality of the article, we promptly refused to buy, just as you have doubtless done many times yourself.

"But," you ask, "how am I to know that I am getting my money's worth on the goods I buy?" The answer is easy:

PICK a dependable store and STICK to it!

We invite you to see our new goods many times in July. Fresh goods will be received daily, and you'll be pleased and delighted with this new merchandise, and it will be our sincere joy to show it to you.

Remember that we carry a complete line of Dry Goods, Notions, Clothing, Shoes, Ladies' Ready-to-Wear, etc.

You're perhaps, already familiar with our Profit Sharing Plan. We give coupons with each purchase which we also redeem for you in our store in the famous Wm. Rogers & Son silverware with the "guarantee without time limit," as well as many other useful articles. If you're not, be sure to ask about it at once.

Again extending to you a cordial welcome to our store, we remain

Yours very truly,

Varied Expense Accounts Filed by Candidates

Not all county and district candidates had filed statements of their campaign expenditures when the deadline for the first filing date expired last midnight, according to the county clerk's record.

The largest of 34 expense accounts amounted to $240 and the smallest to $3.40. The statutes require all candidates to submit three statements of money expended in behalf of their candidacies in the first primary.

The second must be filed between July 14 and July 18, inclusive, and the third on August 5.

Biggest items in the expense accounts were advertising and cost of placing names on the ticket, though some included gas and oil. Newspaper advertising drew the largest amount of money. Several advertised their candidacies on blotters, pencils, and tire covers. One candidate paid $7 for a list of qualified voters.

One candidate, who has no opponent, in listing his expenses included the item, "cigars and drinks, $5." Charles Thut, county clerk, was assessed $75 for getting his name on the ticket. In the case of other candidates, this expense varied from $10 to $75. Assessments of candidates are used to defray costs of holding the primary.

Expenditures were filed as follows: W. J. Turpin, $43; I. S. Jameson, $63.35; L. D. Rider, $138.22; Scott Rheudisal, $90.25; Walter D. Hardin, $94.30; Louise Miller, $182.25; Judge Clifford Braly, $34.00; H. G. McCleskey, $74.31; A. H. Doucette, $52.50; S. D. Stennis, $73; A. J. Erwin, $142.25; John R. White, $102; F. A. Cary, $106; Henry L. Jordan, $48.33; A.

KOPECKY AND WATKINS TAKE THE PRIZE FOR BIG WORDS— BIG BLOWS TO BE THURSDAY

While Joe Kopecky was in his old home town, Taylor, Tex., recently did he endorse Konjorka, the woman's tonic, affirming that he owed his success in wrestling to that famed vegetable compound?

Texas Watkins, who wrestles Joe at the Pla-Mor tomorrow night, in a letter to the News declared that the Bohemian cotton-grubber not only endorsed Konjorka but stated that before he started taking the tonic he had adenoids and fallen arches and that now after 17 bottles he can eat fish, raw onions and corn-bread with milk.

"I saw the endorsement in The Woman's Gossip," Tex explained. "Joe went on to say that before he took the tonic he had shooting pains and nose-bleed. In the advertisement he admitted that he was an Egyptian instead of a Bohemian—just as I always said."

At the Pla-Mor mat which he was inspecting last night, Kopecky made no answer to the accusations but counter-charged that Tex is a member of the Ku Klux Klan and that he was kicked out of the navy for being yellow.

"Tex the fair, Tex the lovable, Tex Watkins the lily lad of El Paso!" sarcastically paraphrased Kopecky. "Never mind about my endorsement of Konjorka—I'm not saying that I did nor that I didn't. But get me straight on this. I'd rather be an Egyptian and drink 27 bottles of Konjorka than be a Ku Klux and eat Texas poor white trash! Tex,

Hod Lisenbee, and Ed Morris, take regular and quite successful turns on the mound although the team's success is limited to getting an even break in its games for the past month and remaining just ahead of the cellar-holding Chicago White Sox.

Of this group of moundmen, Mill Gaston is perhaps the hardest worker and the most effective pitcher. The star right hander pitched again yesterday and held the Cleveland Indians to three hits in his sixth complete game in succession and his 13th of the season. He also made just as many hits as he allowed, having a perfect day at bat. The Red Sox collected 11 blows off Mel Harder, but the best score they could produce was 3 to 1. It was Cleveland's 16th defeat in 19 games.

Bob Grove, Philadelphia's speed-ball ace, did about as well as Gaston in the brief time the weather allowed the Athletics to play. He allowed Detroit just one hit in five innings while young Dibs Williams aided him to a 4 to 1 victory. The teams started out to play a double-header, but the storm which stopped the games in New York and Washington cut them to one contest of the minimum length, five innings. Williams produced most of Philadelphia's counting by driving out a home run when he was sent in as a pinch batsman with two on base in the second inning.

The National league was saved a lot of complications when the Brooklyn Robins blew off the accumulated bad baseball of weeks in one inning against the St. Louis Cardinals. Watson Clark, Brooklyn's leading southpaw, proved ineffective in the second frame and Clise Dudley and Jim Elliott were not much better. They gave nine hits and behind them the Robins fielders committed three errors. The result was eleven runs and a 15 to 7 victory for St. Louis.

While this was going on, the league leading Chicago Cubs were in the process of losing a 7 to 5 decision to the New York Giants. The Cubs are a game and a half ahead now, but the Robins, had they won, would have found themselves in the strange position of being ahead in the percentage table and behind in games.

Fred Fitzsimmons was the leader in the victory over the league leaders that kept the Giants in third place. After four straight defeats, the New Yorkers found themselves only a half game ahead of the Cards. Fitz kept them there by allowing the Cubs only eight hits, of which Kiki Cuyler's two home runs and Hack Wilson's one were all that produced tallies.

Pittsburgh replaced Boston in fourth place by defeating the Braves 8 to 3. Rolly Hemsey's triple with two on in the second inning gave the Pirates a three-run start and they tallied three more in the eighth just as the Braves began to find Larry French for a few runs.

Risko Likely to Rub Griffith Out of Picture

CHICAGO, July 2. (P)—Rubbery Johnny Risko, despoiler of ring ambitions and hopes, packs his rugged fighting fists in leather again tonight in a determined attempt to wreck the comeback plans of Gerald Ambrose Griffith, the tough heavyweight from Sioux City, Iowa.

The two meet in the main 10 round event of the Chicago stadium's boxing card. Fifteen thousand fans assured of a rematch at bargain prices in case of a foul, are expected to watch the duel.

For Griffith, the fight was regarded as a crisis in his rather erratic career. Dwarfed as a championship contender several months ago by his six-round knockout at the hands of Jack Gagnon, theretofore a virtually unknown Boston boy, Griffith must defeat the big baker boy from Cleveland tonight or run the almost certain risk of stepping out of the heavyweight picture altogether. Although Griffith came back to win a decision over Gagnon a few weeks later, his victory was unimpressive at the time and more unimpressive when Otto Von Porst, the Norwegian heavy knocked Gagnon out.

Woman Baseball President Defies Judge Landis

CHICAGO, July 2. (P)—A woman, whose business world is baseball, today was determined to fight alone if necessary, even against an old warrior like Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

She was Miss Ruth Killilea, president of the Milwaukee club of the American association, who has defied the high commissioner of baseball by filing suit in federal court against his transfer order on one of her players, outfielder Fred Bennett.

When the American association of professional baseball clubs voted at its special meeting yesterday to adhere to Landis' decisions in all disputes, the conclusion was drawn that Miss Killilea would withdraw her suit to restrain the commissioner's order. But the conclusion was wrong. Miss Killilea said she would contest the case.

"The vote of confidence was very nice," she said. "But we can't win ball games that way. The judge can have the votes. We want Bennett."

The Bennett case has been postponed until Commissioner Landis makes his reply.

SONG OF COMBINES IS HEARD BY TALLEY

COLBY, Kans., July 2. (P)—Marion Talley, youthful star who tried at music as interpreted by the Metropolitan Opera company, was cheered by a new song today.

It was the melody of racing combine sickles reaping the wheat on her 800-acre farm. Miss Talley appeared in person as pilot of the machine at the beginning of her harvest.

BOSTON GETS BEST HURLING OF THIS YEAR

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

Regardless of their humble position in the American league standing as the baseball season nears its halfway mark, the Boston Red Sox can put in a claim for the honor of having the best pitching in the major leagues. They can't hit well enough to take advantage of their hurling.

A half dozen Red Sox pitchers are working regularly with a considerable amount of assurance that when they start a game they will finish it. Milton Gaston, Jack Russell, Dan MacFayden, Eddie Durham,

THE VALUE of SOUND DESIGN

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

THE GOOD PERFORMANCE of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine.

It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance.

Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.

The Husband Hunter

© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE INC. BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

BEGIN HERE TODAY Natalie Converse, jealous of her husband's friendship with Bernadine Lamont, leaves him. Alan is consoled by his secretary, Phillips West, who is seeking to make an advantageous marriage.

Natalie returns, and Alan realizes that he loves her, but the entanglement that Phillips has cleverly engineered prevents him from attempting a reconciliation. Phillips refuses to release him.

Natalie's sister, Florence, fakes an illness to bring Alan back to his home. But Alan's chivalrous feeling for Phillips permits her still to stand between him and Natalie.

Natalie goes to Alan's office and there meets Bernadine. Her old jealousy flares up again and she quarrels bitterly with Alan. The next day Natalie comes to the office to plead for forgiveness, but Alan is out. He telephones and Phillips does not tell him that Natalie is there. Natalie leaves in despair.

Phillips, fearful Alan's anger will not endure, uses a letter from Bernadine in a plot to discredit Natalie. She changes the name of a stock Bernadine wants to buy to one that is worthless. Bernadine comes to the office after the order has gone through and discovers the change that has been made in the letter. Suspicion is directed by Phillips, gaily to Natalie. Alan believes her guilty.

Natalie is stricken to utter hopelessness by the accusation. Alan leaves her and goes to Bernadine to offer to repay her losses. Not long after this Alan is hastily summoned to her bedside. Her death care for. He turns to Phillips and leaves him with her son, Bobby, to put her in charge of Bernadine's house. Natalie, living with an aunt in Philadelphia, reads of Bernadine's death.

That afternoon Natalie arrived in New York, and went word to Alan from a hotel that she wished urgently to see him.

He was inclined to refuse, but as the hour drew she had set drew near, he found himself going to her. And this being somewhat against his will, he justified himself by a decision to be unbending with her.

It was a quiet place Natalie had chosen, and they easily found a deserted reception room where they could talk undisturbed.

She found herself rather haltingly telling him what she had come to say. And how different it sounded from the way she had meant to put it. He would believe she was admitting guilt if she continued in this way, a cooler portion of her brain warned her. Still she kept on, and the quieter Alan sat, the more penetratingly he looked at her, the more she floundered.

What a sorry mess she was making of it. She could have cried with humiliation. For Alan's mouth was beginning to twist into a sneer.

He was telling himself that she had come to make a cheaply dramatic gesture over a dead woman's child. She ought to know better, for she was too clever to try denying what she did and renewing her ridiculous charge against Bernadine. She knew he wouldn't stand for that. She ought to know that he would see through this tricky gesture.

He glanced at her hands. What the devil were they reaching for? He sat up stiffly. He knew she hadn't moved them—they were tightly clasped in her lap, but the illusion that they were lifted in appeal to him was disturbingly real.

Natalie stumbled to silence. She knew she had appealed in vain. "I shouldn't have come," Alan said, with a touch of pity. "We might have spared ourselves this, for the whole matter of Bobby Lamont's future, and my own as well, is settled."

"Oh," Natalie thought, frenziedly, "why does he have to be so stiff?" But she did not speak, except with her eyes that Alan was unable to evade.

"I'm going to adopt him," he explained in answer to their question. "Yes, I thought you might do that," Natalie said rushingly, "but can you bring him up, Alan, without a woman to help you?"

Watching his hardened face, as he studied her before replying, Natalie felt that she had sunk to the lowest depths of humility in thus throwing herself at him.

The undiminished harshness of his expression made her cringe in dread of his words. She expected a tirade of reproaches, but Alan was not thinking wholly of the past. He was more occupied with the present. This was an hour he had dreamed of in his bitterest moods. Natalie—at his feet!

Her beseeching gaze, her parted lips, the air of supplication that vibrated about her—all these were as he had imagined them. Only himself was there something amiss. He was not enjoying her contrition.

And he had expected it to give him a fierce satisfaction. For it had angered him that she had gone to the end in arrogance—her letter, it had infuriated him. She had seemed to have not a touch of meekness, not a tinge of regret for what she had done. Haughty, disdainful. He had wished the time would come when he could humble her.

And now it was here. And he was going to show her what a miserable mistake she'd made about Bernadine. What a fool she'd been. Oh, yes, he was going to do it—but he knew he was going to be cheated out of his anticipated gratification. Her beauty would do that to him. His eyes were feasting on it. He knew it. "But is isn't love," he denied hotly.

His face revealed his conflicting emotions. Natalie thought the rush of red to his face—that a moment before had been white—was caused by anger.

She caught her underlip, and held it sharply between her teeth. For one wild moment she was tempted to declare her innocence and beg him to believe her.

He must hate to have her think he was weak enough to take her back, she told herself, trying to read his changing expressions. All appeals would be useless. Still she felt she must convince him that she was sincere in her desire to have little Bobby Lamont as her own.

She made a heroic effort to speak calmly. "You know, Alan," she said, and her voice broke in a gasp, "whatever you may think of me, that I would make an intelligent mother."

He surprised her by nodding in agreement. In his present mood, she thought he might take issue with her even on that point.

Her instant of elation vanished, as a sarcastic curl of his lips followed the nod. "Yes, I know that," he said, witheringly. "But you should have had children of your own. For you cannot have Bobby Lamont. I am going to adopt him, and when you are granted your divorce decree, I'll marry the girl who is to be his mother."

NEW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLIV Natalie got up early one bright and shining morning and stood meditating at her window. Across the street a woman was cleaning the white steps. She cleaned them every morning, excepting Sunday. Natalie wondered if it made her unhappy to let them go uncleaned for a single day.

The hold of habit and custom! Steps—or husbands. Was there so much difference in the weight of responsibility they placed upon the one supposed to care for them? Didn't her steps worry this woman as much as her neglect of Alan worried Natalie? Natalie wondered about it, and wondered too if she were losing her sense of values.

She hadn't been able, since reading of Bernadine's death, to shake off a feeling that she ought to do as her Aunt Emma advised, and go to Alan. Blessed Aunt Emma! She at least wasn't all cluttered up with human equations. When asked to weigh this or that problem, as likely as not she would answer: "I'm not a fish. I ain't carrying scales around with me." Then, probably, she'd laugh and add: "I got to go look at my biscuits."

Had Alan been merely fascinated with Bernadine, or had he really loved her? This was the question Natalie weighed almost every moment of her waking hours.

Aunt Emma said seriously one day: "You know, honey, I suspect a man can love any number of times but I'll bet my biscuit recipe against Dora Lane's that he loves one woman best of the lot just the same, whether he loves her first, or last."

She had said no more; Natalie had understood. And she asked herself this too as she stood watching the scrubbing going on across the street: "What woman had Alan loved most?"

And there was still another question. Someone must have come to visit at the house across the street. A chubby little baby face was to be seen at the windows occasionally. Natalie grew to watch for it and wait for the march down the immaculate steps for the morning and afternoon walks. The sight of the little round figure holding to the hand of the pretty young woman beside it—the mother. Natalie was certain—had first brought this question to Natalie's mind, and there it remained.

Bernadine Lamont had had a little son. What would become of him? She seemed to remember that Alan had said Bernadine had no relatives. Would Alan himself take the boy?

She came to believe that he would. And then she told her aunt that she was going back to Alan. "I want him," she said simply, "on any terms. If he thinks me a vile thing, well, I am to blame. He was patient with my silly jealousy for a long time, Aunt Emma."

The older woman looked searchingly into her hope-filled eyes. "Umph," she said, "and how do you expect to convince him that you had nothing to do with that letter? Can you let that drop, my dear, and be happy?"

"I'll have to," Natalie answered. "But I'll confess that it's been a hard fight to forgive him for doubting me even with my abominable behavior to influence him."

Her aunt nodded. "I see you've made up your mind," she said understandingly. "Well, I wouldn't undertake to advise you anyway, but you want to be sure, when you tackle a new job, that you know the size of it, Natalie, dear."

"I've thought of it night and day," Natalie told her. "If Alan won't believe me—he won't, but he might forgive me if he thought I deserved it, and I've thought of a way to atone for the crime I didn't commit. I'm going to tell him that I want to bring up Bernadine Lamont's son as my own."

Aunt Emma was perturbed. "But, my dear... just to make up a quarrel..."

"I want to do it!" Natalie exclaimed. "I may be blaming myself for too much wrong, but I've a feeling that if I hadn't been so unreasonably jealous of Alan, all this would never have happened."

"Perhaps not all of it," Aunt Emma agreed, "but you couldn't have stopped the boy's mother from dying, you know?"

"No, but it wouldn't have left Alan responsible for him. And I'm sure he feels that he is."

"Maybe you're right," Aunt Emma said, with a relaxing sigh. And then: "Dear me, I hope it all turns out all right."

"It will," Natalie assured her brightly. She had found it a great encouragement to have made up her mind. "But if Alan should be stubborn," she added gravely, "I'll do what I can for the little boy just the same."

Her aunt came and kissed her tenderly. "You're a good woman, Natalie," she said softly. "You ought to have children of your own."

Natalie smiled back at her. "Come and help me pack," she said breathlessly.

That afternoon Natalie arrived in New York, and went word to Alan from a hotel that she wished urgently to see him.

Charming Star Gets Big Hand in Rialto Show

Critics elsewhere have bestowed upon Ruth Chatterton the degree of "Charm Dispenser." No one doubts that she has earned the encomium. There is in every moment of a Chatterton portrayal a convincing quality of magnetic attractiveness—a quality that holds every eye and ear at strict attention.

In "Sarah and Son," playing to-day only at the Rex theatre, Miss Chatterton demonstrates her mastery of craft in a manner more fascinating than ever before.

"Sarah and Son" is a great theme. It concerns the courageous rise to fame of a poor and obscure young woman. Miss Chatterton, as Sarah, is disclosed as a young nobody who marries a worthless man. Because of his squandering habits they are reduced to penury. Their funds are insufficient to purchase adequate food for their infant son. One day Sarah chides her husband for his laziness. In revenge he spirits the child away and turns him over to a wealthy man whose wife is childless and who had been planning to adopt an orphan. Then Sarah's husband disappears.

In the meantime Sarah, delivered of the yoke of domestic drudgery, sets out to achieve fame as a singer. After a spirited battle against adversity she gains a fair success. Always there is the heartache for her lost child. One day she sings for a group of wounded soldiers in a hospital ward. One of them is her former scape-goat husband. He sees her and tells her where she can find the boy. Then he dies.

From then on the plot centers on her attempts to retrieve her son, now a lad of 11 years. She meets a young lawyer who helps her. They fall in love. The manner in which Sarah accomplishes her plans for her son provides the big emotion-packed climax of this splendid romance-drama. It furnishes acting, action and excitement of the highest entertainment value.

Fredric March plays the romantic male lead as the lawyer. Fuller Melish, Jr., is the villainous husband. Philippe de Lacy is the grown child. Other fine performances are turned in by Gilbert Emery and William Stack.
