

SCHOOL BOND VOTE UP TUESDAY

PROBE OF UNIVERSITY LEASING IS HALTED BY FIGHT

FORT WORTH WOMAN IS CHARGED WITH KILLING BUTCHER

Today the Pampa deems it his civic duty to ask a few questions bearing upon the general idea of trading in Pampa.

Do you buy Pampa-made bread?
Do you buy Pampa made ice cream?
Do you eat Pampa butter?
Do you buy your clothes, your lumber, your jewelry, and your other necessities of Pampa merchants?
And where do your printing, stationery, and office supplies come from?
There is no need for looking outside of Pampa for skilled services. If something breaks, local welders or repair men can fix it. If you change the combination of your safe and lock it, forgetting the new combination, there is a typewriter repair man who can open the box. If you wish to buy baby chicks, we have them—or baby rabbits, love birds, or skunks. Trading at home means keeping the payroll at home, and that means prosperity.

Many folks ask us how the railroad decision is going? Frankly, we don't know. Attorney Chas. C. Cook doesn't know, but he is optimistic. C. A. Williams of Childress doesn't know, but he is optimistic.

"I believe Childress will get the Denver Northern rail line out of here northward to Pampa," Mr. Williams says. "Going into the meeting (recent Washington hearing) with the re-hearing granted and presenting more material proving that the line should be built, we occupied a more advantageous position this time than at the previous hearing. We were permitted to open the argument and close it, a factor which in itself gives one an advantage over his adversaries."

For one thing, the new census figures were available to the Burlington proponents in the last hearing, and these were impressive. Pampa did not greatly need these facts, but they helped Childress in showing that Pampa's growth is in keeping with the general territory, rather than being due to oil development only.

The Pampa wishes to remind the readers that this year, as usual, the Pampa Daily News will give a big free election party. The News will receive the Texas Election Bureau and Associated Press services on state returns, and will compile its own county and district results.

Bulletins will be received at frequent intervals and will be telephoned and posted as received. A large bulletin board is being prepared to show county returns by precincts. Thousands will look to "Jenge."

The News for complete county and state returns Saturday night and Sunday, and members of the staff will be continuously on duty on these two days.

Jepp Todd of Canadian tells us that a neighbor of his has another angle on this "Hoover prosperity." This neighbor had listened patiently to the boasting of a friend who told of the many registration papers that covered his fine livestock. At length he interrupted to say that his livestock, too, were well covered with papers, but that the bank held the papers.

Speaking of elections, don't forget the one to-morrow—$25,000 to complete the school building program. Vote yes for your children's sake.

So do politicians, in the absence of better suggestions, are pleading for us to "uphold Texas' glorious traditions"—meaning by electing them. Wouldn't it be better to make some new glorious traditions by voting for

DRINKING LED TO CRIME, SAYS GLADYS EARL

Virginia Man Kills Three Small Children

ILLINOIS FINDS AXE MURDERS

Evidence Pointing To Woman—Three Dead

PORT WORTH, July 21—(AP)—J. Barksdale, a butcher, was dead today, from wounds inflicted with a butcher knife. Mrs. Gladys Earl, an acquaintance, was charged with murder.

Barksdale went to Mrs. Earl's home Sunday. She told officers there was quarreling between Barksdale and Mrs. Earl because she would not order three women friends to leave the house. Mrs. Earl told officers and newspapermen that the group had been drinking.

A few minutes before the stabbing, the two had been in the kitchen, where, Mrs. Earl said, Barksdale cursed the three women. She went back into the kitchen, returned with a butcher knife and the butcher was stabbed, once above the heart and once in the abdomen.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., July 21 (AP)—State and county officials today said Taylor Hott, Martinsburg laborer, had confessed to them that he killed his three small children because his wife was unable to take care of them.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., July 21 (AP)—The bodies of the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Hott, Martinsburg, apparently killed and hurled into the waters of a quarry hole near here, were discovered by four boys today.

The children were, Vertrude Virginia, 7, Calvi W. 6, and Boyd Preston, 5.

GENEVA, Ill., July 21—(AP)—Three persons were found slain with axes early today in the home of Charles A. Anderson, one of the victims. His 18-year-old son had also been hacked to death while his wife, thought by police to have slain her husband and son, was found on the floor with her throat and wrists cut with the sharp edge of a handaxe. The home had been set on fire, but the flames were extinguished by neighbors.

A long handled axe had been used to dispatch Anderson and his son. Neighbors were aroused by Charles Larsen, brother of Mrs. Anderson, who had been awakened, he said, by smoke, and, descending by an outside stairway was breaking in the windows to get at the fire.

Larsen and the neighbors forced an entrance, put out the fire and discovered the bodies of the slain. Anderson, 55 years old, lay across a bed, his head and body gashed with the long handled axe which lay before him. The son, Willis, also cut and beaten with the axe, was in another room. He was still alive but died without regaining consciousness.

The body of Mrs. Anderson, 48, was on the living room floor. Beside her lay the hand axe.

The beds of Anderson and his son had been set afire. The flames were put out before they had spread much.

Sheriff Burgh and the chief of police said the positions of the bodies and the weapons and the manner in which the three were killed, indicated the two men were killed by the woman, who then took her own life. Larsen was held for further questioning.

In an attempt to help beautify the city, Pittsburg, Kans., club members tore down two dilapidated houses after gaining permission of the owners.

First Lady at Mountain School "Commencement"

"No more lessons, no more books—no more teachers..." It was the end of the first term in the little Virginia mountain school endowed by President Hoover and others, and Mrs. Hoover was a surprise guest at the commencement exercise. The First Lady is shown above, at the right, as she bade good-bye to the 18 pupils who were present for the last class in the school building erected near the Chief Executive's Rapidan fishing camp. Miss Christine Vest, the teacher, is in the foreground, at the left.

City Gets Big Plant

Stock Foods and Ice To Be Made Here

The News was authorized to announce today that the Southwest Food and Refrigerating company, would soon begin erection here of a $150,000 plant.

The ice plant section will have a capacity of fifty tons, and the prepared stock food division will be large enough to serve a large territory on a wholesale basis.

The company is a branch of the King syndicate of Chicago, which has branches in many Middlewestern states.

Announcement of the location of the new plant will be made soon.

Placing of the plant in Pampa was made after a thorough survey of the field, and it is based upon the belief that dairying and livestock raising will be a growing industry in this section.

Pilot And Girl Killed In Crash Of Adrian Ship

AMARILLO, July 21—(AP)—Clarence Thuet, 26, pilot, and Marjetta Hall, 15, passenger, were instantly killed yesterday when a small monoplane crashed at Adrian, Oldham county, 45 miles west of Amarillo.

Spectators said the plane apparently banked too short, went into a nose dive and crashed from an altitude of less than 500 feet.

Miss Hall was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ed Hall of Adrian. Thuet resided at Vea, Oldham county.

He had been barnstorming frequently at Adrian during the summer and Miss Hall was said to have taken several rides with him.

BOB LONG IN AFFRAY WITH J. O. EARGLE

Representative And Auditor Engage In Row

DISSENSION IN INVESTIGATION

Charges May Become Basis Of Wider Inquiry

AUSTIN, July 21—(AP)—Investigation of the alleged irregularities in the investigation of the leasing of oil and gas lands of the University of Texas came to a temporary halt today while Representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls, a member of the house investigating committee, and J. O. Eargle, an employee of the state auditor's department, engaged in a heated discussion which culminated in a fist fight.

Long had charged unethical practices on the part of Eargle in his audit of the books of the University of Texas.

During the discussion Eargle jumped to his feet with the statement: "Don't call me a liar, Bob Long, or I'll throw you out the window."

Long countered with "You could n't throw anyone out the window, Mr. Eargle."

The combatants closed so quickly that no one was able to determine who struck the first blow. They were mixing heatedly when other members of the investigating committee pulled them apart.

Referees Are Hit

The "referees," Judge Harry N. Graves of Georgetown and Ray Holder of Dallas, however, were hit more frequently than any of the principals in their effort to separate the combatants.

Long claimed that Eargle was the main cause of the friction between the investigating committee and the state auditing department and stated that Eargle should be "fired."

Eargle admitted that he had done something unethical but both members of the auditing department (at least) refused to discuss it, saying that a stenographer would be obtained and that Long and Eargle would be required to testify under oath later in the day.

Following the fistfight, the committee adjourned.

For some time it was generally known that Long had been dissatisfied with the work in the investigation of the leases.

Moore Lynn, state auditor, charged that Long was the cause of the dissension and that he had been going on causing trouble. He also stated that Long had told other persons that he "had enough stuff on Lynn to hang him higher than Lynn on a tree!" Lynn invited Long to bring out his stuff and lay it before the investigating committee, saying that he had nothing to conceal.

When things had calmed down somewhat, Long pointed his finger at Eargle and said: "There is the man who has been causing all the dissension in this investigation."

Representative Ray Holder stated that the purpose of the committee meeting was to clean up anything that the investigation could continue on an efficient basis. He stated that he knew of nothing "dirty" that had been going on in connection with the inquiry. "If I have to quit my job and come down here to get the investigation to functioning properly, I will do so."

Piggy Wiggley Robbed
KANSAS CITY, July 21. (AP)—Robberies obtained between $17,000 and $22,000 of Piggy Wiggley store receipts in holdups in three widely separated parts of the city today. Police believed the robberies were carefully planned and executed by a bandit gang.

Big Black Bear Bagged As Brute Braves Bullets

CHICAGO, July 21. (AP)—A big black bear started a tree-sitting contest all by himself yesterday and got himself shot dead.

He weighed 300 pounds and no one seems to know where he came from. However, he was sitting in a tree in Melrose park. Police were called, when the big bear saw them, he lumbered down, which was the signal for the law—unfamiliar with black bear maneuvers—to spring in an opposite direction.

One policeman, deciding it was better perhaps to die from bear bites than from heat prostration turned and let the big brute have a few bullets.

The bear paused and decided to get back in the tree. The policemen thereupon returned and dispatched him definitely.

County Values Are Less Than Once Figured

Because the assessed valuation of Gray county property for 1930 averages about 25 per cent of its total valuation, the county lost about $8,000,000 in oil values, it was learned today.

Although the tax rolls have not been completed, it is estimated that the total valuation of Gray county will be approximately $26,000,000. Total valuation of oil property will aggregate about $20,000,000 or eight million less than was first estimated. Previous appraisals were based on assessments of from 40 to 60 per cent of the total valuation.

In the board of equalization hearings conducted by the county commissioners during the last and previous weeks, the oil company officials and tax experts pointed out the assessed valuations of banks in the county ranged from 12 1/2 to 25 per cent of their total valuation. Contending that it was the duty of the board to "equalize" taxes, they declared that a 60 per cent valuation was unfair and demanded that their property be valued on the same basis as the banks.

One of the oil company tax experts cited figures intending to prove that the valuation of banks and farm lands in Gray county had not changed in the last ten years. He declared that farm land was assessed at eight per cent of its valuation.

The oil operators in asking for a reduction in the assessed valuation, said that the courts would not uphold any action of the board which would assess oil property at 60 per cent of its value and other property in the county 25 per cent. Many royalty owners and operators in demanding lower valuation, claimed that no well in the county is producing as much as it was last year, that the peak of production had passed in South Gray pools and that the output of the pool would decline from now on.

Some of the commissioners held that oil property should be assessed higher than banks and farm lands because the investments are less and the profits are many times larger. The tax experts declared that assessed valuation of banks was the state-wide criterion for all assessments, and that it was the duty of the board to "equalize."

The total valuation in 1929 was 21 million dollars. Oil property was valued at $15,000,000. The average daily production in 1929 was about 38,000 barrels. The average for the first six months of 1930 is about 55,000 barrels.

TRUSTEES IN APPEAL FOR SMALL ISSUE

Supplementary Fund Needed For New Buildings

POLLS WILL BE IN B. C. D. ROOM

Enrollment Growth Is Cause For Action

Fearing that the primary and road bond elections will over-shadow the supplementary school bond election tomorrow, members of the school board today made an urgent plea for all friends of the school system to cast ballots.

The election will determine whether $25,000 in bonds shall be issued to pay for additional costs in the enlargement and construction of new school buildings.

The polling place will be at the Chamber of Commerce. Charles I. Hughes will be election judge. He will be assisted by P. B. Carlson and W. R. Campbell. All legally qualified voters who are property owners may vote.

An unexpected enrollment after $200,000 in bonds were voted made it necessary for the school board to construct larger buildings. The additional cost will be about $25,000. Additions are being built to the ward schools and to Central high school. A new building is being erected at the end of North Frost street. Original plans for all the buildings were enlarged when it was learned that the enrollment would be much larger than was expected.

Funeral For Dalhart Sheriff Will Be Today

DALHART, July 21. (AP)—Funeral rites were planned here today for Sheriff George W. Alexander, slain Saturday in a pistol fight in attempting to arrest a man sought for jumping bond on a liquor law charge. Lon and Orrell Dillinger, brothers, also were killed.

Arleta Berger Dillinger, widow of Lon, whom she married June 25, was reported out of danger from a bullet wound in the hip.

Deputy H. D. Foust, with Alexander in the fight, said yesterday that it was not likely that charges would be filed against the woman.

The sheriff's office had received a tip that Lon Dillinger, for whom officers held a warrant for jumping bond on a liquor law charge, could be found at the farmhouse. Sheriff Alexander and the deputies surrounded the house.

When the officers advanced the shooting began. Deputy Earl Dameron said he was standing near the sheriff when he fell. Orrell Dillinger had greeted them, then started backing toward the door and went inside. He was mortally wounded.

Deputy Foust went to the rear door of the house and encountered Lon Dillinger and his wife. Lon was shot through the head and died instantly. The woman was wounded.

Booster Plant Is Being Enlarged

Two new units are being added to the Cities Service booster plant near Pampa. When completed in September, the plant will have six units.

The new units will raise the pressure in the Cities Service line to 4500 psi, enlarging the capacity 25 million feet of gas.

Gold nuggets worth $54 were found in the gizzard of a hen near Salina, Kans.

DEFECTS IN TEXAS LEGAL MACHINERY

Neither lawyers, editors nor laymen doubt that justice miscarries too frequently in Texas courts. Responsibility for the situation is variously imputed to antiquated rules for court procedure and to the ignorance, stubbornness and downright cussedness of juries.

At its recent meeting in San Antonio, the Texas Bar Association received from its committee on remedial procedure and law reform certain recommendations which tacitly admit the need for more modern legislation, and for simplification of the rules of procedure.

That a bill be offered the legislature authorizing the Supreme Court, in conjunction with a committee of trial judges and lawyers to prepare rules of procedure to the end that they may be more simple and flexible, so that fewer cases may go off on questions of practice and into the merits of the controversy be more readily reached.

That a bill be offered the legislature to the effect that preliminary pleas in capital cases be made at or before the time the court takes up the case for setting and ordering the venire, so that a motion to quash or change venue be made before the jury is ordered, thereby saving thousands of dollars and frequent delays.

That a bill be offered the legislature which shall make jury comment upon the fact that a defendant did not testify in his own behalf non-reversible error.

That a bill be offered the legislature permitting amendment of indictments as to descriptive matters, names and places where such amendment would not change the identity of the offense originally charged.

That a bill be offered the legislature requiring the judge rather than the attorneys to qualify the jury.

That a bill be offered the legislature permitting an indictment to charge more than one offense where the respective offenses grow out of the same transaction. For instance: If a man burglarizes a house and steals something while he is in the house, under the proposed bill he would be indicted and tried for both offenses at the same time, instead of having two separate trials as is now required by law.

That a bill be offered the legislature providing that cases shall not be reversible for harmless error which in which in no way could have injured the defendant.

It would be difficult to prove that changes such as these recommended by the Bar Association committee in any way would be prejudicial to the interests of the defendant. On the other hand, any person acquainted with the trial record of some recent and notorious capital cases would appreciate how such laws would have expedited justice, saved months of time and thousands of dollars.

Upon the whole, editorials and legal opinion are in thorough agreement as to the advisability of writing these suggested changes into law. Texas editors, however, favor remedies rather more drastic than those suggested by the Bar Association.

An idea of the state of editorial opinion may be gleaned from these extracts of a recent editorial appearing in the Grand Saline Sun:

"A perusal of the editorial columns of newspapers from all sections of the state finds a universal condemnation of our present court system and its out-of-date machinery for the dispensation of justice. . . . A resume of all that is wrong with our courts would fill volumes, but today in Texas the Civil Judicial Council is studying the civil courts to make recommendations to the legislature for the enactment of necessary laws to promote justice and efficiency in the trial of civil cases. A new criminal code prepared by experts will be presented to the next legislature. . . . This would seem to point the way to some relief in the courts. . . . However, one who is acquainted with the past actions of the Texas legislature and with the apathy of the Texas voter, can not become very optimistic over the chance of the recommendations being put into effect. When they are presented to the legislature they will be buried in a grave of cheap politics, and our sterling representatives will talk about evolution, Tammany Hall, the old red school house, the price of popcorn in Liberia or anything else which does not pertain to good government."

The Wichita Falls Record-News is easier on the long-suffering legislature than is the Sun, but harder on the courts. We quote:

"Another chapter was written Wednesday when the court of criminal appeals dismissed the appeal of Pete McKenzie, slayer of a San Antonio policeman, who was saved from the electric chair by the institution of insanity proceedings and whose case, since then, has been weaving out of one technicality into another. . . . What will be the end of the rigamarole no one can say. But the effect of it is much more easily determined; and its effect is to increase public distrust to the courts and to intensify public distrust with the law's technicalities."

Jurors do not escape their share of the blame, in an editorial appearing in a recent issue of the Uvalde Leader-News, said the Uvalde editor:

"The outrage of justice in and out of the court rooms is apparent to all thinking people. Bad enough for a mob to take the law into its own hands, but almost as bad for a jury to let loose proven murderers without any defense. Criminals have been given trivial sentences, and for lesser crimes others have gone to the chair or th hangman's rope. A former peace officer conspires with two negroes to rob a bank and then kills the negroes to get the reward. There was no question about his guilt, but the jury quibbled over the term of sentence. Now there is to be another trial with all its expenses and grandstand plays. Surely the Texas legislature should find time to adopt a more modern code of criminal law and procedure and reorganize the police so as to assure better service. The weakening respect for our courts bodes ill for the future."—Editorials of Month.

DANCING JUDITH

By CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JUDITH GRANT, beautiful artist's model, shares her Greenwich Village apartment with CHUMMY MORLEY, a lovely girl who lost her memory seven years ago when her lover, ALAN STEYNE, went away, and who has never regained her normal mentality. Steyne suddenly returns and meets her, but Chummy at first fails to recognize him. He falls in love with Judith, telling her that he had never loved Chummy and had not known she had loved him. Then, abruptly Chummy's memory is restored, and when Steyne enters the apartment one day she throws herself into his arms. She takes it for granted she is to be married, but Steyne tells Judith again that he does not love Chummy, and again he asks her to marry him. Judith refuses him, and goes to pose for the successful portrait painter VINCENT STORNAWAY. He introduces her to BRUCE GIDEON, rich financier, who becomes infatuated with her, takes her out to dinner, and finally offers to star her as a dancer in a musical show.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XI
Judy turned up at the hotel about ten minutes late. Gideon was waiting for her in the vestibule. He greeted her with a brisk smile that did not have time to bring out the coarseness of his face, and led her to a corner table in the grill room, temptingly laid out with hors d'oeuvres, and with a big bunch of crimson roses in the center.
"Your friend is here, Miss Judy," were his first words. "With a young man, I suppose."
He pointed to the far end of the room, which was beginning to thin out. There sat Chummy, drinking coffee and smoking, and opposite to her was Alan. Chummy's back was to Judy, but the girl knew what her friend's face was like. A fierce pang went through her though she asked herself with scorn whether she was such a worm as to grudge Chummy her happiness. Alan was looking at his companion with his laughter-filled eyes.
Judy took her seat with her back to their table. She affected an immense appetite, and her ever-laughing lips bubbled inconsequently as the big, pale, black-haired man with the self-indulgent face and the cross mouth sat and watched her.
"You shouldn't ask me to these swell places, really, Mr. Punch!" she said. "I've no clothes. They thought I was the scrub woman when I came in—nearly turned me out!"

"You will have all the clothes you want if you accept my proposal, Miss Judy," Gideon answered said. "You know, I've never had a dancing lesson in my life."
"That's easily remedied. I've been looking into matters. With your natural talent, it might not take you more than 18 months to get ready."
"Eighteen months!" Judy stared at him.
"Eighteen months of practically constant work."
"And how am I to live, please?"
"That would be a matter of arrangement between you and me. Let me say from the beginning that with me it's purely a matter of business. I am a business man. I have been interested in theatrical concerns before—not all of them successful."
He smiled at her. There was a subtle difference in it to those first smiles that she had hated, and that had seemed to wish to grasp her in an undesired embrace.
"I am quite willing to advance the money for your training—that is to say, your lessons and your living expenses while you are at work."
Judy was so astonished that she spoke with her mouth full.
"How do you know I could ever pay you back?"
"I am sure you will. I have eyes in my head, and I know a lot about dancing, although I can't dance myself. I'm too much of an elephant, you see. Of course, before we make any plans, I would get you to dance before the person I propose as your teacher—M. Guarverius."
Judy gasped. She knew the name of the famous Russian.
She had sat and cried with delight when she had seen Marie Flomena dance. Flomena was the master's favorite pupil, and her dancing was a mixture of poems and clouds and dreams.
"He'd never take me on!" Judy said.
"Yes, he will. I have spoken to him. He is ready to see you dance at any time."
She was hushed for a moment.
"How do you know I'd be a success?" she asked.
"I am sure of it. To begin with, it doesn't only depend on you. With plenty of advertisement, the most suitable theater, a proper support, the best kind of music, and all that, when you are ready, you're bound to draw all New York."

Judy looked at him, her little face fiery red with excitement.
"You mean that you could pay for all those things, and that you could make me a success?"
"No—it is you who will make the success," Gideon said.
"But supposing I didn't? You could make me one—that's what you mean."
Gideon made a mistake.
"Something of the kind," he said. And then, seeing her furrowed brows he corrected himself. "I mean, until we get the public to appreciate your art, Miss Judy."
She looked at him with the immense gravity of a child.
"You mean that you would pay for me to be a success. Why would you do it?"
"Because I am convinced that you are one of the world's greatest dancers," Gideon replied. "It is a business proposition, pure and simple."
Judy attacked the ice cream and the forced strawberries that the waiter had just placed before her.
"No, thank you, Mr. Punch," she said a moment later. "It would worry me too much. After all, I'm independent now. I ain't got much money, as they say, but I do see life. I never did have any fancy for responsibilities. I should owe you hundreds of dollars."
Gideon smiled at her simplicity.
"What about Miss Morley—wasn't she a responsibility?" he asked.
"Oh, but I love her so much!" Judy replied.
At the same moment she looked toward the far corner, and saw that Chummy and Alan had gone.
"You don't refuse my offer, do you?" Gideon asked.
"Yes, I do."
"Not outright? Please, Miss Judy, think it over. Let's say a week. It is more than foolish of you to give up the idea of a career." Here he proved himself very guileful. "Of course, I know that you could get a job any day in any company where there was dancing to be done, and job, even for a genius, and there's work your way up; but it's a long so much to be got over—jealousy and prejudice and pull and all that."

"I know. I don't really want to think it over at all, Mr. Gideon," Judy was very solemn now, and businesslike, too. "I'm quite happy as I am. I couldn't bear the idea of owing you such a lot of money, and perhaps never being able to pay it back. And—18 months!"
She made a little face of dismay that was almost comic. She had never studied anything in her life. She had never even tried to concentrate her thoughts for more than a moment at a time. She was all instinct and impulse, like a feather in the wind; her only ballast was her big, loving, loyal heart.
"I won't take no now, Miss Judy," Gideon gave her a light for her cigaret. "Do think it over, please! My offer is open for a week."

As Judy and Gideon left the hotel a woman passed them. Gideon waved his hand at her in a familiar greeting.
Judy at once recognized that long, sallow face, the bold, indifferent, half-humorous gaze, and the raven-black hair of Stornaway's portrait. The long drop earrings were of black, pear-shaped pearls today. The woman had a superb figure, and was dressed in black, with regal sable furs.
"My sister," Gideon said to Judy. "There is a charity bazaar on here today, and she has a booth."
Judy met his eyes with a blank stare. She was furious with him for making her realize that she was not of his world. He had not attempted to make her known to his sister. He would come and mix with her friends, but she was not good enough for his.

"I must get back to Dickbreeds," she said. "He was mad with me for coming."
"I'll drive you."
"No, thanks! I'll get on a bus."
He gave way, seeing that she was more furious still could see but have known that it never entered his head that she could be angry with him because he had not introduced her to his sister. She would not shake hands at parting, and when he begged her to think well about his offer, she did not answer him.
The next afternoon, close on five o'clock, she stumbled out of Max Dickbreeds' studio, half dead with fatigue. The great man had finished his picture, and, raving at its badness and her hopelessness as a model, had pushed a 50-dollar bill into her hand. This represented riches to Judy, but she was too tired to think of the nice things it would buy.

The acute financial crisis, indeed, was over. Judy could always earn enough for her own erratic needs, in which food played such a small part. Their rooms were ridiculously cheap, and now that Chummy had her little allowance and all her wits about her, and the doctor was paid, and everything was going smoothly, there was no need to worry about money at all.

It had been a wonderful day, and Judy, though such a town bird, sighed for fresh air and trees and some open space. She boarded a bus to go down Fifth Avenue, but at Central Park she got out.

Demand for Maytags breaks all records in Texas

A Solid Trainload Shipment

ORDINARY shipments no longer meet the demand for the New Maytag in Texas. 1930, to date, has been the Maytag's most prosperous year in Texas. The last shipment, just received, is a solid trainload, valued at quarter of a million dollars... substantial proof of progress and prosperity in Texas... the largest shipment of washers ever sent to the Southwest.

Texas women know the wisdom of keeping the clothes at home where they will get the proper care and attention. They have learned the economy and satisfaction of the gentle, convenient Maytag way of washing... the method that won world leadership for the Maytag... that won preference for the Maytag in both the city and farm homes of Texas.

Your Maytag is here. We have received our share of this record trainload shipment... a shipment that is making washer history in Texas... making happier washdays... washdays without hand rubbing.

CHURCHES

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
 "You've got to play it fair!"
 "You've got to play it square!"
 "You can't steal home on a foul ball."
 "You've got to play it square!"
 That was the ringing challenge from the graphic baseball story told Sunday night by Congressman-Evangelist Upehaw at the Central high school gymnasium to a large and delightful crowd.

The famous Georgia orator was speaking on "The Life Beautiful," with young people as the special guests of honor. "The life beautiful, the life that really counts," said the speaker, "must be planted in the soil of the genuine—a genuine love of the genuine. Then, it must be a life of purpose, a life of piety, and a life of power."

He closed with a stirring baseball story, picturing Walter Johnson as he saw him pitch himself to baseball immortality as he won the world series in Washington. "Walter Johnson put character into baseball," he said.

He then told a story of another baseball hero whose father was a blind man who used to say, when Frank knocked a home run or shut out others by his wonderful playing: "I wish I could see my boy play that game." The blind man died suddenly before Frank had expected to play in a championship game on the afternoon of commencement day. Frank could not be expected to play ball with his father in a new grave, but he suddenly appeared on the scene, snatched the ball from the substitutes hand, and pitched and played as he had never played before, leading his team to a great victory.

After the shouting and tumult were over, the college president, with tears in his eyes, urged Frank to tell why he played when his father was in a new grave and how he played better than he had ever played before. Remembering the words of his blind father, Frank said to the college president: "Prexy, I just had to play today. I had to do my best. It was the first time Daddy could see me play."

With the audience deeply moved by this stirring story of human interest, the speaker drew a powerful lesson for the young people, saying: "The eyes of your loved ones on earth and in heaven are watching you play life's game. If you fail they will weep over your failure, and if you win, they will thank God and rejoice. You cannot build life's pyramid alone—you must build on the Rock of Ages, or all your building will fail.

"Old Time Religion" was the theme of the morning hour. More than a hundred came forward to consecrate themselves for the success of the meeting. Four united with the church during the day. A remarkably large crowd assembled at 8 o'clock this morning for a profoundly impressive message on "The Unknown Worker." Services will be held from 8 to 9 o'clock every morning, and at 8.30 o'clock at night.

GOLF BATTLES AMARILLO TACKS FOR PANHANDLE TITLE

GUNS DEFEAT SKELLY NINE SUNDAY, 5-3

The baseball championship of the Panhandle, won by the Pampa Grays in 1928 and 1929, is the title which the 1930 Pampa team, the good Golf Guns, are fighting for in a game with Amarillo's Tactless Texans in Metro Park at Amarillo this afternoon.

The great Guns giving the best exhibition of fielding seen in the tournament, completed four double plays and made remarkable circus throws and catches while defeating Skellytown 5 to 3 yesterday afternoon for the right to play in the final game. Because the Tacks beat the Guns 17 to 12, July 10, on the opening game of the tournament, the professional dopsters favor the Tacks to win. Three of the runs in this game were made when the pitcher overthrew first base. The Guns did not protest but Emmet Gieber fussed with the umpires for 20 minutes yesterday when the Tack moundman did the same thing.

With her best pitchers sitting in the cellar nursing swollen, aching arms, received in a double-header on Saturday, Memphis lost to the Tacks in a second game yesterday, 10 to 4. Bursleson hurling for the Owls was hit 14 times. The victory was easily won by Amarillo, and Memphis without a pitcher was like a ship without a rudder. With Bursleson on the mound, Memphis was one of the weakest teams in the tournament. That is why the Guns were not impressed with the Tack victory yesterday.

Haddock hurled for the Winchester the entire route yesterday. He was hit ten times but the remarkable fielding of the Guns stopped grounders, loopers and all kinds of balls. Hits allowed by Haddock were far between. Rose started the game for Skellytown and had chalked up four runs in the first four innings when Lefty Dillon went in. Dillon pitched his best ball of the year, allowing three hits in five innings. In the third Weathered, Gun left fielder, took T. White's single in his bare hand and chunked out Rose at the plate. The throw was perfect.

About the game this afternoon, one thing is certain: the Guns have made more runs on Tack pitchers than any other team in the tourney. The Tacks also knocked Lefty Graham out of the box and hit Haddock enough, but that was before Lefty became acclimated. Lefty showed that he was still to be reckoned with when he shut out the Canadian River Gassers 14 to 1. The Guns might put Lefty Graham back in the box. However, it was the Gulf's plan yesterday to start Haddock. Copp, Graham and Haddock, all three, may get a chance to bring the championship to Pampa for the third consecutive time.

Pampans are backing the Guns to the limit, and local fans say they can't find enough money in Amarillo. To sum up: because the Guns have got the best infield, outfield and pitchers, there is no reason why the Guns shouldn't win—unless, of course, they have an off-day.

Exclusive of the pitchers, the batting order this afternoon is as follows: Roberts, 2b; Cox, 1b; Marcum, cf; Phillips, ss; Weathered, lf; Sullivan, c; Munds, rf; Williamson, 3b.

If the Guns win this afternoon, they are planning on entering the Denver Post tournament. They will also play a number of games at Pampa. They have already matched games with Memphis.

Memphis' Lead Now 9 1/2 Games

ATLANTA, Ga., July 21. (AP)—Memphis was leading the Southern association by nine and one half games today, as a result of Sunday's contests.

By punching hits and taking advantage of errors in the defensive playing of the Atlanta Crackers, the Chicks scored five runs in the sixth inning to win 7 to 4. Both teams hit freely and played loosely, the Chicks being credited with four bingles and the Crackers with three.

After losing six straight games the cellar occupying Mobile club led by Leonard won the first game of the double header with New Orleans, 3 to 2. Leonard and Gilatto limited the batters of both teams to six safe blows, the Bears playing errorless ball. Theo Pels scored six runs in the second inning and followed with three in the third of the second game to win 9 to 2.

Birmingham defeated Nashville 10 to 8 in a slugfest, the Barons being out-hit 17 to 15, as they ran in four hurriers to the Vols two.

Due to the Crackers' loss, Little Rock was within five points of tying them for the fourth position in the league. The Travelers split a double bill with Chattanooga, copping the first 4 to 3, and losing the nightcap, 7 to 3. The Travelers out-hit the Lookouts in the second game but their blows were ineffective.

Many At Funeral Of Mrs. Theo Tipps

A large crowd from Panhandle, White Deer, and Pampa, attended the burial services of Mrs. Theo Tipps at Pampa cemetery yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Tipps died Saturday morning in an Amarillo hospital after an illness of nine weeks. She had lived in Panhandle two years, White Deer, two years, and in Pampa three years, and was well known in each of these towns. Her husband is manager of the Southwestern Public Service company at Panhandle and White Deer.

Mrs. Tipps was born at Blum, Tex. Aug. 24, 1896. She was a member of the Baptist church. Funeral services were held yesterday at the First Baptist church, Panhandle, with Rev. Hicks and Douglas Carver of White Deer in charge.

Survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Alice Watters, Denton; Mrs. W. G. Foreman, Blum; two brothers, C. C. and W. L. Patrick, Dallas; her husband and four children, Inetta, Harold, Edna Marie and Margaret Tipps.

Americans Will Battle French For Net Titles

AUTEUIL, France, July 21. (AP)—America's Davis Cup tennis team once more has gained the Davis Cup challenge round and will meet France for the historic trophy on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The youngsters from across the Atlantic cleared the last hurdle when they eliminated Italy in the interzone finals and with Big Bill Tilden once more making a dramatic entrance upon the scene, look forward confidently to the challenge round.

The outlook at present is for Tilden and George Lott to handle the singles assignments against Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra with John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison pairing in doubles against a French team that may be composed of Jacques Brugnon and Christian Boususs. The French have indicated they have little hope of winning the doubles and prefer to save Cochet and Borotra for singles duty alone.

The American team completed its conquest of Italy yesterday, dividing the last two singles matches to make the final score four to one. Lott swept aside Giorgio de Stefani in straight sets 6-3, 6-1, 6-2, but Allison was defeated by Baron Humbert L. de Morpurgo, 7-5, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4. The series, however, had been clinched on Saturday when Allison and Van Ryn defeated Morpurgo and Placido Gaslini in doubles.

Western Golfers Starting Tourney

CHICAGO, July 21. (AP)—An army of golfers drew its steel today to begin the battle of Beverly Country club, scene of the western amateur championship tournament.

Billy Sixty of Milwaukee and Art Sweet of Chicago were listed to head the parade of 215 aspirants over the 36-hole qualifying route, which will be finished Tuesday. The low 32 then will set out in match play duels with the 36-hole championship final set for Saturday.

MORGAN HITS NEEDED HOME RUN IN NINTH

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

Eddie Morgan of Cleveland won a game by a home run in the ninth yesterday. He slammed his 18th circuit blow of the season with one out and one on base to defeat the New York Yankees, 9 to 8, and to undo the work of those more famous hitters, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig. Ruth poked his 34th homer off Milburn Shofner, a perennial victim of the Ruthian drives, in the fourth inning. Gehrig hit his 26th a moment later and another in the next inning. Bib Falk gave Morgan something of a race for the place in the spotlight by hitting for the circuit when he appeared as a pinch batsman in the sixth.

Jimmy Foxx also had the satisfaction of winning a ball game by the home run route. Foxx connected with Guy Canzoneri's delivery for No. 26 with one mate on base in the eighth and enabled the Philadelphia Athletics to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 3. Other results of this homer were to give Lefty Grove his 13th victory of the year, to hand Cantrell his first American league defeat the day after Toronto acquired him from Toronto, and to put the Athletics four games ahead of the Washington Senators, defeated at St. Louis.

The Senators produced a pinch homer by Joe Judge in the ninth followed by a similar clutch by Art Shires, who supplanted Judge at first base, but they only produced three runs, not enough to overcome the St. Louis lead and the Browns won, 8 to 6.

To complete the American league's cycle, Bob Reeves of Boston hit a homer with two on base in his one time at bat in the Red Sox second game but it only served to prolong the agony. Chicago's White Sox pulled out a 5 to 4 victory in the ninth inning of the second game after pounding out a 16 to 4 decision in the opener as Ted Lyons scored his 14th victory of the season.

The National league produced no last minute homers, but there were plenty of them and an even more plentiful supply of hits as Brooklyn and Chicago suffered sharp letdowns after the finish of their crucial series. The St. Louis Cardinals, handed the league leaders a 15 to 6 trouncing, driving Bill Clark from the mound with seven runs in the second inning. The Cards made five errors but atoned for them by pounding out 17 hits, two of them homers.

Chicago went down with hardly a murmur under the assaults of the New York Giants, who likewise made 17 blows and won by a 13 to 5 count. The Cubs led only in the first two innings, when they scored four of their runs. Hack Wilson hit his 26th home run of the year as the final gesture of the game. The result of these two games put Chicago one point closer to Brooklyn and left the teams in their virtual tie for first place.

Boston and Cincinnati, battling for sixth place, failed to reach a decision in their attempts to break the current tie. The Reds won the first game 8 to 5 with a home run barrage behind the effective pitching of Red Lucas but Boston reversed the result in the second, pounding three pitchers for a 13 to 1 triumph as Tom Zachary held the Reds.

Canzoneri and Bass Will Fight For Ten Rounds

NEW YORK, July 21. (AP)—Benny Bass of Philadelphia and Tony Canzoneri of New York occupy the place of honor in national boxing this week. They clash in a ten-round bout at Philadelphia tonight.

Bass and Canzoneri put on one of the most savage 15-round battles Madison Square Garden has ever seen a little more than two years ago. Bass at that time was recognized as featherweight champion by the National Boxing association while Canzoneri was recognized by the New York State athletic commission. Tony won the decision after 15-rounds of the bitterest kind of fighting. Since then Bass has won a title and Canzoneri has lost one. Bass holds the junior welterweight title in states where that division is recognized. Canzoneri has been campaigning as a light weight since he lost his featherweight crown to Andre Routs who subsequently passed it on to Bat Battalino.

MacFarlane Is New Open Champ

ELMSFORD, N. Y., July 21. (AP)—Willie MacFarlane of Tuckahoe, N. Y., is the new metropolitan open golf champion.

In a battle of former national open champions, MacFarlane beat Johnny Farrell of Mamoroneck, N. Y., by two strokes yesterday in the 36-hole playoff of the tie in which wound up the regular 72-holes of championship play. All seven at the end of the first 18 holes of the play lead at the end of 27 holes only to off, MacFarlane took a one-stroke lead over Farrell at the 29th hole. MacFarlane then evened the and into a one-stroke lead at the 34th and picked up a stroke on each of the last two holes to win with 142 to Farrell's 144.

MacFarlane held the open title in 1925 and Farrell in 1928.

SPUDDERS TO HAVE TROUBLE REST OF WAY

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

Emerging from a wild weekend, in which they found themselves scrapped to a standstill by the rejuvenated Dallas Steers, the loop-leading Wichita Falls club discovered today that their advantage over the field had been whittled down to a pair of games and that they faced a long, arduous road trip through the southern provinces.

Although it is far too early to predict that the "Brownies"—which Commissioner Landis would insist is their proper appellation—are not to win the second half, the fact remains they are finding it double tough to regain the long lead they enjoyed when the season was split.

In Sunday's double bill at the Oil city, the Steers battled thirteen rounds to win the opener, 13 to 12, and then held the Spuds to a 5-5 deadlock in the nightcap, halted by darkness. Only a three run rally in the last of the seventh saved the leaders from a double loss.

The day was a costly one for the mavericks, Catcher Tobin receiving a severe spike wound that will keep him out for at least a week and old Grover Alexander, appearing as a relief flinger in the first tilt, wrenching a knee that sent him hobbling to the bench. Milt Steenrager, who had won five straight games for the Spuds, was batted from the hill in the opener, in which five pitchers tolled for the Steers.

Both the Fort Worth Cats and Waco Cubs seized the opportunity to win and close in on the first-half champs, the Cats taking their opener at Shreveport, 4 to 2, and the Prattmen starting their home stand with a 7 to 6 victory over Houston. The Cubs, opening an extended engagement under their own arc lights, will have a grand opportunity to tag the Spuds during the present week.

Homers by Les Mallon and Dick Whitworth in the closing innings gave the Panthers their decision at Shreveport. Oscar Tuero held the invaders scoreless for six innings, but weakened toward the last and was charged with his second straight loss. Whitworth limited the Sports to six hits; three of them by McClanahan.

Del Pratt resurrected the old squeeze play to give his Cubs the jump on Houston. With the score tied in the last of the eighth, one out and the bases jammed, Del bunted and put the winning run across. The Buffs, with 16 hits off Stein and Thurman, roundly out-hit the homelings, but a brace of homers by Gene Rye kept the Cubs in the game.

The cellar-contending Beaumont Exporters and San Antonio Indians divided a pair, the Shippers taking the curtain-raiser, 5 to 2, behind Jimmy Walkup's fine pitching and the Indians coming back to slug out a 11 to 3 triumph in the second. Oscar Eckhardt failed to help his lofty batting average, getting only two hits in eight appearances for the day.

Bill Tilden Is Hurt in Practice

PARIS, July 21. (AP)—Big Bill Tilden, famous American tennis star, sprained an ankle in a practice match with Karl Kozulsi, Czechoslovakian professional today.

Tilden, who only today announced that he had accepted an invitation to play for the United States in the Davis Cup challenge round, told the Associated Press that he thought he would be kept off the courts only one day.

A masseur who attended him, however, said that he was unable as yet to tell just how serious the injury was nor just when Tilden would be able to play again.

Markets
WHEAT IS WEAKER
CHICAGO, July 21. (AP)—Rains and cooler weather led to lower prices early today both for wheat and corn. Besides, big arrivals of wheat in Chicago today, 1,158 cars, against 382 a week ago, tended to pull values down.

Opening 5-8 to 1 3-4c off, the wheat market afterward underwent an additional sag. Corn started 1 1-4 to 2 3-4c lower, but subsequently recovered somewhat. Oats were easy. Provisions also declined.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, July 21. (AP)—Wheat: No. 1 red 89 1-2; No. 1 hard 89-90. Corn: No. 1 mixed 81 1-2; No. 1 yellow 81 3-4 to 82 1-2; No. 1 white 34 1-4.

Oats: No. 1 white 37 1-2 to 38. Wheat closed heavy 2 1-4 to 2 3-4 a bushel lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 1 3-4 to 2 3-8c down, oats 1 to 1 1-4c off, and provisions unchanged to a drop 1 1-2c.

Former Deputy Pleads Guilty to Sayre Slaying

SAYRE, Okla., July 21. (AP)—Joe Pounds, former deputy sheriff of Beckham county, pleaded guilty today to the murder of Sheriff C. H. Phillips and was sentenced to life in the state penitentiary.

Pounds waived preliminary hearing and was immediately taken before Judge E. L. Mitchell and sentenced. Preliminary trials of Jess Brown and Frank Griffin, charged in the same case, were set for Aug. 11.

Phillips was shot to death several weeks ago at the door to his office. He had been a vigorous enforcer of prohibition laws and friends said his refusal to permit bootleg rings to operate in the county won him their enmity.

NEA San Francisco Bureau Ever see a Chinese Shriner? Well here's one. Leo Kern, above, is an American-born Chinese, and a member of Islam Temple. He is manager of the famous Chinese Telephone exchange in San Francisco's Chinatown, where only Oriental girls take numbers spoken only in Chinese.

Denver Girl Killed
DENVER, Colo., July 21. (AP)—A gunman appearing suddenly from nearby shadows shot and fatally wounded Miss Theresa Spanarella, 18, as she paused to talk to her sister and a girl friend on a street corner last night. The slain girl's brother told police Alex English, her brother-in-law, was the slayer, but could offer no motive for the shooting.

Suffers Neck Fracture
HOUSTON, July 21. (AP)—John Fortin, 24, was believed to have suffered a broken neck but was still alive early today after an automobile collision in the outskirts of Houston.

Collector For Tax
TO THE VOTERS OF GRAY COUNTY
As a home boy, reared in Gray County, who worked his way through college, who has studied and practiced every kind of office work, from a one-man office to one with 1,200 employees, from office clerk to accountant, including filing systems, bookkeeping systems, and practically every kind of machine used in an office, who has trained hundreds of office clerks, stenographers and accounts, I ask your earnest consideration for Tax Collector in the Democratic primary next Saturday.

Our tax valuation was three and one half million dollars in 1925. Today it is approximately thirty million dollars. The duties of the Tax Collector's office have increased accordingly. And beginning January 1, 1931, the office will be operated under the schedule for counties of more than ten thousand population instead of the old schedule.

This office demands a man who is honest and dependable; that is capable and competent to do the work efficiently, and one that will do it. Upon my past record I ask that you vote for me on July 26th.

I have tried to see every voter but have missed many of you, still I want every citizen to know that I will appreciate your vote. I want the office, I need it and when elected I will give the best service I can according to my training and ability.

Sincerely yours,
WALTER D. HARDIN.

Politics
up his campaign again today with a speech at Dallas at 8 p.m.

Barry Miller, equally confident, issued a statement from his Dallas headquarters enumerating his estimates of strength in various quarters of the state as basis for the prediction he would certainly be in the run-off.

He planned to speak at 2 p.m. today at Waxahachie and 8 p.m. at Fort Worth.

The Fergusons were booked to speak at 2 p.m. at Athens and at 8 p.m. at Corsicana.

Ross Sterling of Houston expected today to swing into southwest Texas, speaking at 10:30 a.m. at Schwertner, 1 p.m. at Granger, 2:30 p.m. at Taylor, and 8 p.m. at San Antonio. From the Alamo city he expected to swing south to the Rio Grande Valley for a speech at Harlingen and another Tuesday night at Corpus Christi.

Young's program called for speeches today at Mineral Wells, 3:30 p.m., and 8 p.m., at Stephenville.

Thomas B. Love's itinerary listed speeches today at Clarksville at 3 p.m., and Paris at 8:15 p.m.

Mayfield was booked to appear at Alvarado at 2:30 p.m., and Cleburne, 8 p.m.

Governor Dan Moody yesterday issued a statement offering his "proof" that Cecil Storey of Vernon, legislative representative and candidate for Attorney General, had the support of Jim Ferguson.

Moody's statement pointed out that Storey voted for the Ferguson amnesty bill and later voted against repeal of the measure. He also charged that Storey voted against the proposed investigation of the Ferguson administration and against killing a bill to legalize horse racing.

Storey had accused the governor of "butting into" the attorney general's race to assist Attorney General R. L. Bobbitt, his appointee.

James V. Allred of Wichita Falls, another aspirant for the attorney generalship, spent yesterday in Houston and planned to speak Monday morning at Texarkana, in the afternoon at Clarksville and at night at Paris.

Storey expected to speak over the radio at Houston tonight.

NO MORE PILES
HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, is guaranteed to banish any form of Pile misery. It gives quick action even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and strengthens the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why HEM-ROID succeeds where other salves and cutting fail. Patheco Drug Store and druggists everywhere sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it cost you nothing if it doesn't end all Pile agony. Adv.—1.
