12 NEW WELLS UP POTENTIAL 6439 BARRELS

The Panhandle oil field continued its sensational period of activity last week with 12 new wells begun given a total potential of 6,439 barrels, three gasers producing 139,898,000 cubic feet, and 30 new locations being registered with the local office of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Filing of first intentions to drill was the third largest in any one week this year. The peak was three weeks ago when 33 locations were staked.

Gray county led the way in new activity with 15 of the new locations all of them in the prolific west and south Pampa fields. Hutchinson county reported nine, Carson four, with Moore and Wheeler one each. Smith Bros. et al began a drilling campaign in Hutchinson county with four tests in section 14, W. P. Hedgecock survey. The tests are in the new area recently opened by Phillips and later improved by Rogan Oil company about three miles northwest of Stinnett, county seat of Hutchinson county.

Cities Service Oil Company again came into the drilling limelight with six locations in Gray county, two on their I. B. Hughey lease, three on the Archer and one on the Meers, all south or west of Pampa.

New production was paced by Gray county with six wells having a total potential of 3,248 barrels. Hutchinson county's five wells were good for 2,488 barrels of new oil. The other well was in Carson.

An interesting completion was that of the Rogan Oil Company of Pampa which completed its No. 1 Kay in section 27, block M-23, TCRR survey, Hutchinson county, for 775 barrels. The test is about three miles northwest of Stinnett and continued to flow up a new area opened a few weeks ago by the Phillips Petroleum Company when it No. 1 Kay, in the same section, produced 431 barrels.

Best well of the week was the Cities Service Oil Company's No. 4 Sallor, section 138, block 3, I&GN survey, Gray county which was given a potential of 876 barrels.

WATERSHED BILL PASSED WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Senate passed today and sent to the House a bill to authorize preliminary examinations and surveys for runoff and water-flow retardation and soil-erosion prevention on the watersheds of the Rio Grande and Pecos rivers.

Calico was first brought to England by the East Indian company in 1831.

AS SEARCHERS HUNTED TENEMENT RUINS FOR VICTIMS

This jumbled pile of bricks, timbers, splintered walls and twisted pipes formed the tragic monument for at least 19 persons who died as their home, a six-family dwelling on Staten Island, crashed to the earth during a terrific thunderstorm. Its foundations undermined by rushing flood waters, the building fell with almost no warning, ripping the wall from an adjacent building, leaving its rooms exposed as shown here. Firemen and firemen who assisted in the frantic rescue work are shown searching through the debris.

HOUSE SPEAKER THINKS WAGE, HOUR BILL DEAD FOR SESSION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—Speaker Bankhead signaled a pessimistic outlook for the wage and hour bill when he announced today with a virtual admission that the administration's wage and hour bill could not be passed this session. "There is every appearance of a definite impasse in the rules committee and no indication that members will change their minds, at least at this session," Bankhead told reporters.

The wage-hour measure apparently was headed toward the same limbo to which this Congress had sent President Roosevelt's Supreme Court and governmental department reorganization proposals.

Hopes of wrenching the bill from the rules committee had disappeared to such an extent that the speaker said it might even be necessary to use a petition to bring it to the floor when Congress meets next year.

Bankhead, however, would not forecast that Congress would reach its adjournment goal by a week from tonight.

Despite the speed with which Congress can act when it sights an adjournment goal, some capital leaders were inclined to believe August 24 or 25 would be the final day of the session.

One major measure still faced a threat of a veto unless it could be revised to meet administration objections. That was a sugar-control bill, which the House probably will send to conference with the Senate Monday.

Also on Monday, the House agriculture committee will meet to consider a Senate-approved resolution pledging Congress to consider at the outset of the next session—regular or special—general crop control legislation. The President has insisted on such assurance before going ahead with an immediate crop loan program.

Chairman Jones (D. Tex.) said the resolution would obtain speedy approval of the agriculture committee and probably would be brought up in the House Tuesday or Wednesday.

BARBER WOUNDED. HENDERSON, Aug. 14 (AP)—J. P. Jones, barber, was wounded today in front of his shop and Andy Duncan, 35, farmer, was charged with assault to murder.

ENCAMPMENT OF SONS OF LEGION POSTPONED DALLAS, Aug. 14 (AP)—Drury Phillips, state commander of the American Legion informed Dallas officials today the encampment of the Sons of the Legion, scheduled at San Angelo Aug. 21 to 24, had been cancelled because of infantile paralysis over the state.

Mr. Phillips said the state convention of the Legion and the Auxiliary would be held as scheduled on those dates. The Sons of the Legion encampment is held annually in conjunction with the convention.

WATERSHED BILL PASSED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Senate passed today and sent to the House a bill to authorize preliminary examinations and surveys for runoff and water-flow retardation and soil-erosion prevention on the watersheds of the Rio Grande and Pecos rivers.

Calico was first brought to England by the East Indian company in 1831.

ROANOKE PAIR PICKED TEXAS' BEST FARMERS

ROANOKE, Denton County, Texas, Aug. 14 (AP)—In 1912 Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Peterson of Roanoke were share croppers on a rented farm. Today they are owners of one of the best farms in the state and have been adjudged Texas' master farmers.

Hard work and a policy of pay as you go accomplished it. Aside from that, Peterson, son of a Swedish farmer, had no formulas to apply in solving the problem of success.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson won the distinction of being Texas' master farmers in the contest conducted by the extension department of Texas A. and M. college and sponsored by a Dallas publication.

The farm and family were judged on the operation and organization of their business, their methods and ability, appearance and upkeep of buildings, their home and home life, and citizenship. The latter included points for community leadership and interest in national affairs.

Twenty-five years ago Peterson was farming 20 acres of wheat on shares. Out of the profits he bought his own team and tools and started out for himself on the same land. He followed a policy of growing his own feedstuff, and did not rely on one money crop.

Cattle, chickens, hogs, turkeys were added as the couple's finances permitted. At the end of four years, Peterson bought the farm and he had it paid for in nine years. Then he built his home. Now he owns 663 acres and rents another 160. It is all paid for but a recently-acquired plot of 200 acres.

This year Peterson planted 100 acres in wheat, 90 in oats, 40 in barley, 30 in corn, 70 in cotton. He has his own orchard and garden. His four boys, each with his own crop, help him with the work.

In a hospital at Overton Dr. S. E. Potts said she had only a slight chance to live. Mrs. De Guerin was burned from head to foot and was taken from the wreckage of the room by members of the family, who put out the fire with a garden hose.

WOMAN INJURED IN EXPLOSION OF GAS TYLER, Aug. 14 (AP)—Gas accumulated in a bathroom exploded and critically injured Mrs. Perry de Guerin, 56, at her home in Sexton City today.

SOLDIER BENEFIT BILL PASSES. WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Senate passed today a bill to give soldiers in future wars death and disability benefits at least equal to those granted to World War veterans.

FAREWELL SHOWER GIVEN WEDNESDAY FOR MRS. STARK Mrs. Leo Stark was honored with a farewell shower Wednesday afternoon by Meses. E. G. Stark and A. A. McCullum at the home of Mrs. Stark.

$22 PER CAPITA SCHOOL TAX IN COURTS AGAIN

DALLAS, Aug. 14 (P)—The controversy-hounded $22 per capita scholastic apportionment went into the courts a second time today when District Judge Claude F. McCallum issued a temporary order here restraining State Comptroller George Sheppard from certifying the amount.

Attorney General William McCraw, who recently argued injunction restraining the board from reconsidering its vote on the $22 figure, by a technicality found himself on the side of an opposite argument. He announced he would represent the comptroller at a hearing next Saturday here.

McCraw, advised of the action brought by Ben F. Tisinger of Dallas, R. S. Seales of Caldwell, members of the State Board of Education, shortly after he had ruled the comptroller had no choice but to countersign the certificate, termed the litigation "trivial."

"There is nothing to be accomplished by various officials suing each other and enjoining administration of state affairs," McCraw said.

Meanwhile Tisinger disclosed that 12 members of the education board have requested Chairman Ghent Sanderson to call a meeting of the body in Austin next Friday to set a new per capita.

GAS PIPE LINE BILL BLOCKED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (P)—Passage of a bill to place interstate gas pipe lines under control of the federal power commission was blocked in the senate today by Senator Austin (R-Tex.).

The measure was on the verge of passing by general consent without debate when Austin made his objections.

"The measure seems entirely too important to me to be passed without general debate," he said.

Senator Tom Connally of Texas said he was sure the bill would in no way place the production in the hands of the federal government, but that he would not object to further consideration of the measure.

Representative W. R. Poage of Waco, Tex., recently said he favored the bill and believed it possibly would bring about a reduction in rates to domestic gas consumers in most of Texas. He pointed out that gas from the Panhandle fields crossed the state line into Oklahoma and then reentered Texas on its way to the majority of its consumers in that state. The government would thus be empowered to fix rates, he said.

President Jackson in 1828 launched an attack on the Bank of the U. S. as he considered it a detriment to state banks.

KEY possession in Italy's drive to forge an African empire in Eritrea, blazing hot desert, land stretching along the western shores of the Red Sea. Through this torrid area is being routed the foreign trade of central Italian East Africa, and already hides, and skins, brought to the coast by caravan, are showing up as the first Ethiopian exports.

Lying closest to Addis Ababa and Dessye, primitive Assab, small Italian port of southern Eritrea, looms as the real center of this empire-building drive. Less than 70 years ago, an Italian shipping company bought Assab from a native sultan for $6000 in debased Austrian coin, and today the Italians patrol no less than 600,000 square miles surrounding it.

Oppressive heat in the white man's burden in this Italian colonial drive. Even a dip in the Red Sea off Eritrea proves none too cooling, since the water constantly runs a temperature in the 80s. And because of the climate, the camel caravan continues to exemplify the one transportation method. An Eritrean camel is shown on an Eritrean stamp issued in 1934.

Launch Three-Way Investigation of Air Disaster Which Killed 4

Seeking to determine responsibility for the accident in which four persons lost their lives, authorities have launched a three-way investigation of the air disaster at Daytona Beach, Fla., where an Eastern Air Lines transport plane crashed to earth in an early dawn takeoff. The wreckage is shown above. The ship accidentally struck a newly strung power line and hurtled to the ground.

more deeply concerned with the disappearance of the Blantons and its solution than I.

"I immediately posted a reward of $500 for information leading to recovery of the bodies of these men; and $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the parties responsible for their deaths, if they are dead. I have conferred with Col. H. H. Carmichael, director of the public safety commission, and Ranger Capt. Bill McMurrey, who has been in immediate charge of the investigation, from time to time. I know these officers have done everything they can to solve this affair and I know they are continuing that investigation.

"It should be borne in mind that the Blanton family did not notify even the local officers until the day following the disappearance. State officers were not called into the case for several days, and meanwhile a rain had wiped out any possible tracks or other clues.

"If Capt. McMurrey, who is one of the finest rangers the State has ever known, had been notified immediately, he might have found tracks, or other clues, that might have assisted in solution of the case.

"For several months the public safety commission employed a special investigator approved by Mrs. Blanton. At all times the commission has had as many as three men working on the case.

"True it has been several months since these men disappeared, but it sometimes takes many years to solve crimes. It is difficult for people generally to understand the size of the territory involved in this case and its many other aspects.

"Just last night I read an account of the solution of a murder in Pennsylvania nine years after it was perpetrated. For several months after the crime the press and public generally were very impatient with the officers. This frenzy did not assist in solution of the crime.

"Needless to say, as long as I am governor, the rewards will stand and be paid promptly to any person entitled to same. The investigation will be pushed vigorously, and I certainly hope the crime will be solved.

"The public safety department and Capt. McMurrey have their theories, but are not yet in possession of sufficient evidence to obtain a conviction.

"The Blantons disappeared after starting on a duck hunt. Col. Carmichael said those in control of a large ranch in the region had offered every co-operation and were willing to bear the expense of hiring detectives to work on the cases.

MEMORIAL PROPOSED FOR CITIZEN SLEUTH

HALE CENTER, Aug. 14 (AP)—A $40,000 school building, memorial to J. Frank Norfleet, Texas rancher who turned sleuth to catch the crooks who swindled him out of his property, is proposed by citizens of the inland community, Cotton Center, located on what was once part of the "gang buster's" ranch. Headed by L. King, community leader and former Norfleet ranch hand, a memorial society has organized and applied for a charter. The structure would be a gymna-sum, vocational and home economics building, architectural companion of the present Norfleet consolidated school building.

Norfleet, now past seventy, spoke at a community rally last night during which Dr. A. J. Hill, president of West Texas State Teachers college, paid him tribute.

Prior to 1890 designs for paper money issued by the U. S. treasury were changed frequently, throughout the world.

Love Gets a Lift

BY IDA RINER GLEASON Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

LOVE GETS A LIFT CAST OF CHARACTERS KATHLEEN O'SHAN—heroine, writer of greeting card verse. BOB McTAVISH—hero, detective story writer. PAT—the janitor who played Cupid. The DUCHESS—Patron of surrealist art. PROFESSOR BRACEY—Egyptologist. Yesterday: Pat decides that Bob's dog, Schmatz, can be used as an excuse to bring the young couple together.

Bob picked up the dog and leaned back, smiling at Kathleen. "Yes, do come tonight and bring Schmatz. Maybe he could find a rhyme for bone," she said.

Chapter III Lifting the dog in his arms, Pat rapped at Kathleen's door. When she opened it, he managed a worried expression. "Look, Miss Kathy, would ye be so kind as to keep him till his master gets back. He belongs to the new man upstairs, Mr. Bob McTavish. He's a writer or something. Quite a likely young feller I'd ed on Bob's door. The young man stuck his head out. "Oh, hello," he said. "Say, seen anything of my dog? I let him out quite a while ago."

"I seen the gurl downstairs talkin' him in. I think," Pat answered gravely. "She's got studio number one. Thought I'd jist tell ye."

"Thanks. I'll run right down and get him." Bob started for the stairs. Pat grinned. "It's a grand little gurl she is now. Had that studio quite a while. Writes rhymes or something."

"Oh, a poet!" "Well, if green rhymes with queen, she is," answered the Irishman sagely and picked up his dustpan. He watched Bob knock at Kathleen's door.

Inside studio one, Schmatz hurred himself delightedly at his master, while Kathleen looked on with a smile. "Positive proof that you're Mr. McTavish," she said. Then went on to explain how she happened to have the dog, adding, "And I'm Kathleen O'Shan, in case you want to prosecute me for stealing him."

Bob smiled back at her. She made a pretty picture in her neat apron, a ready smile playing around ruddy lips. Quite the prettiest thing he had seen since he came to the city, he decided. "You say the janitor brought the dog to you?" he asked. When she nodded, "I see, Pat seems to have the welfare of his tenants very much at heart. He said you were a poet."

"Oh, no," Kathleen hastened to correct him. "Nothing so arty as I at. Besides, I've got to support myself. I do greeting cards for a living. You know, valentines, birthdays, mother's day cards, friendship cards and all that. Sometimes it's fun and sometimes it's an awful headache, especially about now when it gets near bill time. I get to worrying then I can't rhyme anything but due and blue."

"You mean to say you actually make a business of selling those cards? I always supposed they just printed them. Never thought about the people who must write them."

"Well, you can think about me doing it now," Kathleen's tone had an edge. Pat said you were a writer, too. I suppose you do books, or these stories that're all dressed up with pictures in the big magazines."

Bob picked up the dog and leaned back against the kitchen wall, smiling up at her. "Pat's a regular information bureau, isn't he? And of course I did ask for that last remark, after what I said about greeting cards. But you're wrong, lady, dead wrong. I've got to eat, too, you know. That's why I write for the pulps."

Kathleen looked mystified. "You know the kill-'em-on-every-page kind. Sheriff's posse, master detectives, deadly crooks rampant in every paragraph. It's a great life. My menu's governed solely by the number of words I sell in a month. Ten thousand words, bean soup. Twenty-thousand, maybe a pork chop, and once when I caught one editor just after he had come out from under an anesthetic or something, and he paid me a prize of $500. I ate a whole turkey dinner all at one time."

A dimple showed at the corner of Kathleen's mouth, and she fished a pencil out of the pocket of her apron and inspected it closely. "I can make good bean soup," she remarked irrelevantly. Bob leaned forward eagerly. "What?" he asked. "Yes, do come tonight and bring Schmatz. Maybe he could find a rhyme for bone."

"And if he did, that would be doggerel, wouldn't it?" laughed Bob, and made for the door. As he ran up the steps, the janitor was still working in the upper hall. Bob reached in his pocket. "Here, buy yourself some tobacco, Pat. You're a discriminating person."

The old man grinned. "How many rhymes do you think it takes to pay her rent? Too bad that agent don't have to try thinkin' thim up himself."

Bob waved his arm dramatically. "If he did he'd probably end by sending her a note saying, 'It's Patrick's idea now, indeed. Dear loidy, that yer rint is paid. Maybe we can suggest it to him.'" His door banged shut.

But although he resolutely sat down to his typewriter, it was not so easy to close the door of his mind. Certain black-lashed eyes of Irish blue kept coming between him and the villain. His own eyes strayed frequently to his clock without his being able to do much about it, and in the back of his mind lay the warning thought that he was going to see her again soon.

Studio one was feeling the effects of his visit, too. Kathleen tried desperately to think of her verse. But it was no use. In spite of the impending rent bill, a happy song kept bubbling from her lips, and the flavor of bean soup became much more important than how many rhythmic beats a line might have. She kept jumping up and rearranging the key dishes she had put on a table in one corner of the room, muttering,

"Hair—fair—" Reading her rhymes out loud had got Kathleen into the habit of talking to herself. "What nice blond hair he had—the way it waved back from his forehead—ob-

PAMPA INSURANCE MEN PRAISED FOR RESULTS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Berry returned yesterday from a vacation trip to the Dallas Exposition and the Fort Worth Fiesta. Mr. Hill and Mr. Berry are local representatives of the Great National Life Insurance Co., and were pleased while visiting the Dallas headquarters.

"Frank Hill," it stated, "who first joined the Great National in 1929, is leading the entire agency organization in net increase in insurance in force as well as new paid for business in the first seven months of 1937."

Mr. Berry, new in the agency, was praised for his excellent start and was hailed as a prospective leading producer.

dear, this hasn't a thing Irish about it! Bob McTavish—that's Scotch. Almost Irish, but—well, if I don't get in some checks soon, I'll not be here long anyway, so what the dickens!" She flopped down into her chair once more and firmly reached for a sheet of paper.

But if Kathleen was finding it distracting that Bob had taken the studio upstairs, the Duchess too was very much aware that the room across from her had been rented. Now she languidly knocked the ashes from her cigaret and remarked to a tall dark man with exaggerated sideburns, who was leaning over her case:

"Rather a good-looking new tenant has just moved in. I must certainly get acquainted with him."

ROBERT MONTGOMERY, PATSY KELLY IN LAUGH-RIOT AT LA NORA

KAY FRANCIS STARRING IN SHOW AT REX

In one of the funniest films ever produced, Robert Montgomery and Patsy Kelly appear today at the La Nora. The comedy riot, "Ever Since Eve," brings out the idea that ever since the first woman, Eve, tricked Adam with a tooth-paste smile, gorgeous girls have made many men look rather ridiculous. The leading lady is posed as the modern Cleopatra, Queen of Sanda, or perhaps Mary of Scotland, and succeeds in making the picture a great side-splitting comedy romance. Included in the cast are Allen Jenkins, Louise Fazenda, and Frank McHugh.

At the Rex, debutant William Powell and beautiful Kay Francis are seen in "One Way Passage," brought to the local screen again by popular demand. With an unusual plot, and exceptionally fine stars, the film tells a poignant story, relieved in its intensity only by the comedy roles of Herbert Mandin, Frank McHugh, Aline McMahon, and Warren Hymer.

"Law and Order," on the Crown screen today, brings two old favorites, Walter Huston and Harry Carey, to local fans. In an untamed lawless community, the popular stars bring justice where due with smoking six-guns as the jury. The film is packed with breathless fight scenes, and laughter is provided by inimitable Andy Devine.

LAUGH RIOT AT LA NORA. In "Ever Since Eve," Robert Montgomery plays the part of a goofy author who cannot settle down to finish his novels because he always has his mind on blondes. The leading lady assumes the role of a secretary who has been so pestered by previous employers on account of her good looks, that when she goes to work for Bob she does so in disguise, making herself as homely as possible.

Bob meets her at night, undisciplined, doesn't recognize her, and falls in love with her. The complications resulting from this are said to be fast and furious.

Perhaps one of the best features of the picture is the presence of a side-splitting supporting cast of comedians. Performances by Allen Jenkins, Frank McHugh, and Patsy Kelly keep the audience in the provincial gales of laughter.

A featured short at the La Nora showing today will be the "March of Time," picturing the Texas Panhandle's dust bowl. These films were requested withdrawn by the Texas House of Representatives because of this picture they gave of conditions supposedly existing in the Panhandle.

ROARING GUNS AT CROWN.

All the picturesque color of the wildest frontier of the early West is said to be present in "Law and Order," the Universal drama opening today at the Crown theater.

Memories of the iron-nerved marshals of the frontier days are revived by various exciting sequences of the picture, the scenes of which are laid in the town of Tombstone, Ariz. For it was in Tombstone that many famous gunmen "fought it out" with six-shooters in the main street.

"Law and Order" tells the story of a courageous peace officer who rode into Tombstone with three companions at the height of the lawless period of the Southwest, and endeavored to bring "law and order" to a region where a man's gun was his constant companion and best friend.

The role of this fearless U. S. Marshal is played by Harry Carey, the part also includes such popular screen players as Russell Simpson, Raymond Hatton, Andy Devine, Russell Hopton, Nelson McDowell and D'Arcy Corrigan.

REQUEST SHOW AT REX.

William Powell and Kay Francis have been co-starred in a number of pictures, each of which has met high acclaim from both the public and the press. Their greatest triumph however, was in the tragic and hauntingly beautiful idyll of thwarted love—"One Way Passage," which comes to the Rex theater today, brought about by public demand.

Powell and Miss Francis are ideally cast in "One Way Passage." In the roles of Joan Ames and Dan Hardesty they meet momentarily in a Hong Kong night club—and it is a case of love at first sight.

Joan has been told by her doctor that her heart may stop beating at the least exertion. Dan is going back to San Francisco in charge of a detective who will give him up to the gallows for murder when the liner docks.

Their second meeting is aboard the ship—and there each determines to make the month at sea an interlude of ecstasy. The ship's one stop is made at Honolulu where they have one day of stolen happiness, before they return to face tragic realities.

MURDER MYSTERY.

America's newest craze, girl "soft-ball" games, takes its turn on the screen in Columbia's latest release, "Girls Can Play," which is scheduled to open Thursday at the Rex theater. Jacqueline Wells and Charles Quigley hold down the leading assignments, and are assisted by a cast that includes Rita Hayworth, John Galloway, George McKay, Gene Morgan, Patricia Farr and Guinn Williams.

The story brings up the possibility of racketeers muscling in on the newly popular sport which is proving so lucrative all over the nation, Jimmy Jones, a sports writer on a newspaper, runs across Ann Casey while she is trying to get a modelling job. Innocently, he is the cause of her losing the position. When he comes across Ann again, she is pitching for a softball team. Conversation with Ann convinces Jimmy that there's something phony behind the team. In an attempt to investigate the team's backer, Harris, Jimmy arrives on the scene just as an unknown fellow is about to shoot him. Jimmy stops the would-be assassin but gets no explanation from Harris. The next day the man is found dead. And the sports writer comes across some astonishing facts before the picture thunders to an end.

"MOTOR MADNESS"

A new male star is featured with Rosalind Keith in Columbia's new drama, "Motor Madness," which is scheduled to open Tuesday at the Rex theater. His name is Allen Brook, and this is only his second appearance on the screen. Previously, he was seen in "The Holy Terror."

"Motor Madness" tells the story of a young motorboat racing driver who refuses a bribe to throw an important race he is to drive for his girl's father. There is a fight, and he finds himself in jail when the Coast Guard arrives on the scene. His girl drives the first race, loses the boat into a buoy, and is seriously injured.

In a desperate attempt to get money for the girl's operation, the young man consents to drive two fugitives from justice out to a ship beyond the 12-mile limit. Just before the final race, he is arrested as an accomplice, but things adjust themselves in vigorous fashion by the time the picture ends.

"SLAVE SHIP"

Storming in epic sweep over half the world, as the last slaver sails on his last desperate voyage, "Slave Ship" opens Friday at the La Nora theater, giving the screen a new claimant for the title of mightiest of all the sea sagas.

Twentieth Century-Fox's most spectacular production of the year, "Slave Ship" co-stars Warner Baxter and Wallace Beery in a pulsing tale of the slave-trading era, with Elizabeth Allan and Mickey Rooney among those on the boat as, with decks reddened by mutiny, it roams the seas on its final fury-racked voyage.

"Slave Ship" traces the tempestuous career of a swift bark engaged in the slave trade, and its courageous captain, Warner Baxter, who planned to retire from "blackbording" to settle down to a new life with his young bride, Elizabeth Allan.

As they sail on Baxter's boat on the honeymoon cruise which is to mark the end of its day as a slaver, they find that they have been betrayed by the mate, Wallace Beery, and the crew, avid for more slaving profits. The honeymoon cruise is turned into a voyage in which they are continually brought face to face with danger and death.

Sought by the navies of every nation, and torn by mutiny aboard, the slave ship sails on through adventures on the high seas and along

KIWANIS HERE WILL OBSERVE 7TH BIRTHDAY

Pampa's Kiwanis club will be seven years old next Friday, and will celebrate the anniversary with a birthday theme in the regular meeting on Friday, August 22, 1937. Members from various clubs over the Panhandle were present to welcome the local group into the international organization. John F. Studer, first president, presided. From the Amarillo Kiwanis club, several members were present, including S. J. Cole, then president of that organization. Included on the rolls were 35 members, who were to be presented with a charter at a meeting some weeks later.

Newly elected officers of the club were: Mr. Studer, president; Paul D. Hill, vice president; H. R. Thompson, secretary-treasurer; T. F. Smaling, district trustee. Directors were E. W. Blair, Alex Schneider, M. P. Downs, N. P. Willis, Edwin Vicars, Mark Long, and R. L. Chamption. Walter Butler was sergeant-at-arms. Guest-of-honor at the organization meeting of the club was Franklin H. Keen, Washington, D. C., representative of the Kiwanis International.

In the first meeting of the club after its organization, Josh Lee, now United States Senator from Oklahoma, spoke to members on the objective of the Kiwanis club. This meeting was the first under the leadership of the new officers.

Since the presidency of John Studer, six others have served. In order of their succession they are: A. G. (Pete) Post, C. E. (Dan) McGrew, Fred Thompson, Guy McTaggart, W. V. Jarratt, and the present incumbent, Chris B. Martin. Other officers now are Tom Aldridge and Ernie Voss, vice presidents, and John Roby, secretary.

Since the beginning of the club, the major objective has been aiding underprivileged children. The local club does much in the way of helping unfortunate children that it not publicized. Each year, one or two Pampa children are sent to the state school for the deaf in Austin.

Minor operations, such as tonallectomies, eye and ear treatment, and the fitting of glasses are given free of charge to children every month. Another project of the club has been the Girl Scout Little House in the east part of town, built at a cost of about $1,800. The Pampa Junior Police plan is sponsored by the club under the direction of J. B. Mason, chairman of the Kiwanis safety committee.

The program at the luncheon Friday is in charge of Shelby Gantz, chairman of the program committee, and will honor the charter members of the club. Definite arrangements have not yet been completed, but the birthday theme will be brought out all through the session.

PANHANDLE HERALD WINS PLACE IN COVETED HALF-CENTURY CLUB

The Panhandle Herald, pioneer newspaper of this section, has been awarded membership in the American Press Hall-Century Club an honor conferred on papers that have been published continuously for 50 years and one that is coveted among newspapers over the nation.

The Herald recently celebrated its fiftieth anniversary of service to the citizens of Panhandle. The membership certification came following this record achievement marking five decades of work in the newspaper field.

The paper was published for the first time on July 22, 1887, by H. H. Brookes. Mr. Brookes was one of the most picturesque characters in the Panhandle history, and came overland to the small pioneer village to begin the weekly. Its first name was to have been the Carson City Herald but by the time he was ready to operate, the name of the town had changed, and the present name of the paper was adopted.

Mr. Brookes brought some of his equipment with him from Henrietta, where his wife remained for a time to publish the Herald there. The first issue was printed in a tent near the present site of Panhandle, on a press built by Brookes himself out of timbers.

In 1889, the pioneer publisher left Panhandle for Amarillo, where he began the publication of the Live Stock Champion.

Following Mr. Brookes were several other owners. Among them were L. D. (Dave) Addis, Ed A. Jarboe, J. C. Williams, J. L. Gray, W. H. Mitchell, Frank Elston, R. C. Dessieux, J. C. Lowe, Fred and Rolly Wester, J. Sid O'Keefe, Lee Satterwhite, E. E. Manney and J. L. Nunn. Nunn, Warren Publishing company, and the Panhandle Publishing company. Present editor and publisher is David M. Warren.

The weekly is at this time one of the most modern Panhandle area newspapers, carrying affiliation with the Texas Press Association, Panhandle Press Association, and the National Editorial Association. The staff members have received many compliments from newspapers over Texas on their anniversary and their membership in the Half-Century club.

Here's Explanation of Proposed Amendments:

Editor's Note: This is another article in a series on proposed amendments to the state constitution.

AUSTIN, Aug. 14 (AP)—Texas voters will have opportunity Aug. 23 to approve a proposed amendment to the state constitution authorizing a discount system for the prompt payment of ad valorem taxes.

The purpose of the plan, applicable to taxes due the state government or its political subdivisions, would be to encourage payment before delinquency occurs. It is the latest outcropping from long agitation over the amount of delinquent taxes outstanding, which experts say is a staggering sum.

The legislature would be allowed to provide for discounts of three per cent if taxes paid 90 days before they became delinquent; two per cent for 60 days and one per cent for 30 days. The amendment would be effective Jan. 1, 1939.

Such taxes are due Oct. 1 and if not paid by Feb. 1 an interest charge of one per cent is added for each month payment is not made until July 1 when the rate becomes five per cent. At that time taxes also become delinquent and a penalty of eight per cent is added.

Sponsors of the amendment hold its adoption would give tax-payers an attractive "business" reason for paying before interest and penalty are incurred. They claim he could even afford to borrow money at a bank to pay taxes.

It also is argued that increased collections would far more than offset the loss in revenue by discounts.

EXTRA FARE CHARGES ELIMINATED BY TWA

Elimination of extra fare charges on skyscraper and skylub planes of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., was announced today in Kansas City by John B. Walker, vice president in charge of traffic.

"Heavy demand for seats on the new equipment when first introduced required an extra fare seat charge but with the de luxe type planes now in full operation we desire to pass the traveling refinements on to the public at no extra charge," Mr. Walker explained.

The saving to air travelers on the transcontinental flights and on those between Chicago and New York will amount to about three per cent of the fare.

PAMPANS MAKE STUDY OF SOIL EROSION PLANS

J. L. Lester and A. E. Frazier, local agriculture instructors in the high school, have been studying soil erosion control in Texas Technological college at Lubbock for the past two weeks.

The Pampa teachers have been in intensive study and research on the erosion subject for ten days, including laboratory field work over the Panhandle for the last four days, a letter to Roy McMillen, business manager of the Pampa independent school district, disclosed.

They have been attending the course, under the direction of Dr. Young, professor of agronomy at the college, in order to gain a better knowledge of erosion control in this area. The classes were held each day and each evening. Afternoons were spent in laboratory work in actual erosion conditions.

Following the session on the remedies for wind and water erosion, the Pampa teachers were taken on a four-day inspection trip to visit soil conservation projects in the Texas division of area six. They visited the Littlefield, Hereford and Vega pro-

Mrs. Lester met the two local instructors Saturday in Memphis and will accompany them home.
