

Light Voting Reported In City Commission Election

A city election was attracting only a small number of voters in polls in the city hall fire station this morning.

Only 145 persons had cast ballots at 12:30 p.m. Three city commissioners are to be named in the election to serve terms of two years each.

Other commissioners whose terms expire are H. W. Wright and Dr. C. W. Deats.

Pay Roll Slash Of $1 Billion Is GOP Goal

House Opens Debate On Big Omnibus Appropriation Bill

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The government pay roll, carrying an estimated 2,000,000 names, shaped up today as the main target of a Republican budget-cutting drive in the House.

Approximately $7 billion in an omnibus $29,045,030,164 appropriation bill now before the House represents pay roll costs, according to Republicans.

Rep. Taber of New York, leader of the House Republican "economy bloc," disclosed the GOP goal yesterday as the House opened debate on the big bill financing more than 40 federal agencies for the fiscal year 1951, which begins July 1.

Reductions in personnel are only one of his objectives, Taber said, for he argued the bill is "too liberal" and can stand cuts throughout.

Some Republicans are backing an amendment that would order a 10 per cent reduction in planned government personnel strength for the new fiscal year.

Although the House Appropriations Committee already has lopped $1,567,000,000 from the totals requested by the President, Taber said committee reductions "have not been as deep as I'd like to see and they haven't been as general as I'd like to see."

Republicans applauded as Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the appropriations committee offered to go along on any reductions "where it can be consistently shown that it can be cut."

But Cannon held out against "blind, blanket" cuts and said Congress would abdicate its responsibilities if it followed suggestions that it direct the President to withhold 10 per cent of the funds finally provided.

He urged Republicans and Democrats alike to "close ranks and oppose any increases in any items anywhere in this bill."

Pointing to a mounting national debt, Cannon said, "the best defense against war is solvency."

County Court Jury Cases Set Today

Several jury cases were set for this afternoon in county court. Originally, plans were to begin a session of county court this morning, but only 10 jurors put in appearance.

County Judge John Dillard Jr., ordered talesmen to place out the panel for this afternoon.

Jury Deliberations On Bednasek Begin

IOWA CITY, Ia., April 4 (AP)—A jury of four women and eight men today began its deliberations on the fate of Robert E. Bednasek who is accused of strangling a pretty University of Iowa coed, 20-year-old Margaret Anne (Gee-Gee) Jackson.

The state in a surprise move last night, asked the jury to send Bednasek to the gallows. Two members of the jury told the court prior to their selection as jurors that they opposed the death penalty.

The jurors received the case from District Judge James P. Gaffney at the conclusion of lengthy instructions by him.

The judge told the jurors they could return one of four verdicts: First degree murder which carries a sentence of death by hanging or life in prison.

Second degree murder which carries a sentence of 10 years to life in prison.

Manlaughter which carries a mandatory 5-year prison term.

Acquittal.

The judge advised the jurors that if they find the 24-year-old psychology student guilty of murder in the first degree they must recommend whether he be sentenced to death or life in prison.

Judge Gaffney also told the jurors that if they do not find "beyond any reasonable doubt" that Bednasek is guilty of any of the charges they then must find him innocent.

In closing arguments, which ended late last night, Bednasek was described by prosecutors as a "cold-blooded killer," and as an "innocent boy" by defense attorneys.

County Attorney Jack White, at the end of his final plea, demanded the "supreme penalty" for Bednasek. This penalty in Iowa for first degree murder is death by hanging.

Vinson Says America Faces 'Atomic Blitz'

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The Defense Department today crossed new studies of its $13,911,127,000 budget to determine whether more money should be asked for Air Force and Naval planes.

Secretary Johnson said he has asked the Joint Chiefs of Staff to re-examine the question.

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The chairman of the House Armed Services Committee called on Congress today to vote $583,289,211 for more warplanes to help meet the threat of an "atomic blitz."

Protesting "that the administration's $13,911,127,000 military program will without American air power on the vine," Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) urged instead that air strength be boosted promptly.

Vinson said in a speech prepared for House delivery that the President's budget for the fiscal year beginning in July does not assure adequate defense at a time when "the atomic blitz of tomorrow is a real, a genuine possibility."

"It is universally known today that Russia is building the largest air force in the world. What are they building it for? They are building it for use whenever their carefully-timed Pearl Harbor day comes around."

Previously Vinson has said he expects to sponsor several amendments to the bill authorizing military spending for the year beginning next July 1. In his speech, however he brought up only the proposal for increasing air power.

The pending budget allotts $1,300,000,000 for Air Force procurement and $650,000,000 for new planes for the Navy and Marines.

Vinson would give the Air Force an additional $200 million or a total of $1,500,000,000 for new planes, and the Navy an increase of $383,289,211 or $1,033,289,211 for the same purpose.

These increases, Vinson said, are needed to maintain an up-to-date 48-group Air Force and a modern naval air arm.

A House Military Appropriations Subcommittee reported recently that this country now has only 44 to 46 modern group.

Unless additional money is made available, Vinson said the nation would have only 42 modern groups by 1956. And the present bill, he added, "leaves a deficiency in naval aircraft procurement of 1,349 planes."

Veteran of 36 years experience in military legislation in Congress, Vinson lashed out caustic criticism and challenges—and some left handed praise.

His principal target was Secretary of Defense Johnson.

"The issue is clear cut," Vinson said. "It is whether the Congress will say what kind of defense the nation will have—or whether the creature of the Congress, the secretary of defense, Mr. Louis Johnson, will tell us what kind of defense he will let the Congress have."

BERLIN, April 4 (AP)—The West. ern powers in Berlin have organized an allied general staff to spring into action in any emergency.

This was disclosed in an interview today by Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U. S. commandant in the divided city.

In some respects the new American-British-French staff resembles wartime SHAEF—Supreme Headquarters of the Allied Expeditionary Force. There is no overall commander but the post is reserved for such appointment in the event of genuine aggression.

Taylor said there had always been a need for such a general staff and that the attitude of the East German Communists had stepped up its organization.

He said the staff's primary task is to plan the suppression of any "putsch" tactics that might be forthcoming from the East.

The staff came into being after the Communists threatened to use a youth march of a half million East Germans to storm the city May 27-30, and spread disorder and fear. Since then the Communists have taken a milder tone in their plans for the end of next month.

The Berlin allied staff has four divisions: G-1, a committee of American, French and British political experts who exchange ideas on this branch of the cold war; G-2, the western intelligence officers; G-3, the security unit made up of the military police and com-

Midland Asked To Join CRMWD Early Decision On Multi-City Water Supply Is Anticipated

Spurred by requests from member cities, the Colorado River Municipal Water district directors may be moving toward a fairly early decision on a multi-city water supply.

Directors of the district, now composed of Big Spring and Odessa, extended a final invitation to Midland to become a part of the proposed development. A decision was to be requested at the next meeting of the Midland city council.

Meanwhile, no action was taken by the board as between the district's own proposal of a water supply on the upper Colorado River and one by the bureau of reclamation for a reservoir at Robert Lee.

Monday's meeting in Big Spring primarily was for the purpose of receiving a report from Simon Freese, representing Freese & Nichols, district engineers, on cost analysis of the two projects. In addition, Freese developed some estimates on original costs for a district project for Big Spring and Odessa, or for either city alone.

Substance of his findings was that there would be little difference in cost of water to Big Spring as between the two projects. Odessa would find a substantially higher cost on the bureau project, he said, and over the life of the project (50 years under bureau estimates) this might amount to as much as $15 million, he said.

Quality of water at the upper site, 25 miles northeast of Big Spring, would be considerably higher, said Freese, although the Robert Lee water would be entirely acceptable.

City commissioners of Big Spring, represented by a majority at the meeting Monday, urged the CRMWD directorate to an early recommendation as to a course of procedure to secure water. There were no Odessa commissioners present, but it was understood that on the basis of previous contacts that city was leaning heavily on the district for a recommended course of action.

Attorneys for the district also will be instructed to draw some sample contracts as a basis of ascertaining what might be involved between the district and cities. Under existing legislation, the CRMWD district has the power to contract with cities for water, and an act of the legislature also gives cities authority to contract with districts, provided that the contracts are ratified by popular vote.

Although Freese mentioned that a moderate tax (possibly 40 cents) by the district for three or four years would create one-year's reserve in funds and thus stabilize water rates, city officials indicated that they might prefer an early water rate increase if the project became a reality.

This would put the district project purely on a revenue bond basis, which is the same as the bureau of reclamation proposal.

"In either case," said Piner, "the participating cities are going to have to pay for the water. The question is one of relative costs and of time." He noted that "the difference between two and five years or longer can be very great at this critical period for our area."

No date was set for another meeting of the directorate of the CRMWD, but indications were that it might follow shortly on the heels of Midland's reply. Snyder also is to be advised that water would be available at damsite for that municipality. An answer from that source would be asked before time for actual financing.

Midland Mayor Won't Comment

MIDLAND, Tex., April 4 (AP)—Mayor William B. Neely said today he had no official comment concerning the "final" invitation extended to Midland to take part in a multi-city water supply project.

"We were not advised of the Big Spring session and have received no official word from the water district," Neely said.

He did say, however, that Midland is interested in a recently proposed Federal Bureau of Reclamation project to provide reservoir water for West Texas cities and has asked the bureau to furnish additional information.

"We are not interested in entering any compact which has in mind the creation of a district which would have the power to condemn property or levy taxes in Midland or Midland county," Neely said. "We do not believe such powers are necessary to accomplish the desired purpose."

Members of the city council are agreed that Midland should do its part in providing additional water for the continued growth of West Texas. But we are not so thirsty that we will enter any type program without proper thought and consideration."

McGRATH SUPPORTS NEGRO'S SUIT Supreme Court Hears Segregation Cases

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The Supreme court hears further arguments today on cases testing validity of the "separate but equal" doctrine of racial segregation.

Two Negro students want the court to order them admitted to white classes in state universities, on a completely unsegregated basis.

A third Negro yesterday asked the justices to declare segregation on southern railroad dining cars a violation of the Constitution.

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, supporting the Negro's case against dining car segregation, declared:

"Segregation is a form of inequality and discrimination condemned by the Constitution and the Interstate Commerce Act. Segregation signifies, and is intended to signify, that each and every member of the colored race is not the equal of any member of the white race."

Rep. Hobbs (D-Ala.), stating that he spoke for Congress, replied to McGrath with the assertion that: "God Almighty made people of different colors. God is the author of discrimination and his creatures have proved they liked his handiwork."

Hobbs, apparently referring to

McGrath and Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman, added: "Both the big heritages of the Department of Justice are here—I'm measuring my words—fighting a coordinate branch of the government, when the Constitution gives Congress the exclusive right to regulate interstate commerce, or interstate travel, as it means in this case."

The Alabama representative asked the high court to "treat this case on the principles of existing law—not on philosophical grounds or on political evangelism."

The first case argued was that of Elmer W. Henderson, of this city. He complained that he could not get a meal on a southern railway dining car on a wartime trip to Birmingham. The court then heard a few minutes' argument on an appeal by G. W. McLaurin, who complains he was required to sit apart from white students at the University of Oklahoma.

After arguments in the McLaurin case are completed the court then will call the appeal of Herman Marion Sweatt, Texas Negro. Sweatt says he was denied admission to the white law school of the University of Texas. He refuses to register in a new law school set up by Texas for Negroes.

NO CITATIONS SEEN

Stalemate Looms In Loyalty Files Row

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—The Senate Communist investigation headed for a possible stalemate today. Senator Connally D-Tex. predicted the Senate would vote contempt citations for officials refusing access to secret loyalty files.

A Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee investigating charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that the State Department is harboring Communists and is being influenced by Soviet spies, seemed balked at every turn.

It faced the necessity of obtaining a contempt citation—which Connally told reporters. It stands little chance of getting—to reverse President Truman's decision against opening the confidential files.

Without much hope of success, it sought means of forcing McCarthy to make available six documents he turned over to the FBI in connection with his charges that Owen Lattimore, writer on Far Eastern Affairs, is a Soviet agent in the State Department.

The subcommittee will give Lattimore, who already has called McCarthy's charges an "unmitigated lie," a chance to answer them formally in a hearing Thursday.

Connally said he doesn't believe the subcommittee, the full committee, which he heads, or the Senate will vote to cite for contempt Secretary of State Acheson, Attorney General McGrath or Harry Mitchell, head of the Civil Service Commission.

The three officials were instructed by President Truman not to let the subcommittee, headed by Senator Tydings (D-Md.), look at secret loyalty records.

Senator Brewster (R-Me.) said that if no contempt proceedings are ordered, the Senate will be in the position of "backing down" on its vote to clothe the committee with subpoena powers to get the files.

Tydings called the subcommittee together to consider not only that problem but McCarthy's refusal to make his Lattimore case documents available.

Tydings conceded to reporters that the prospects of obtaining any evidence from either source now appear slim. He said the committee could undertake its own investigation of each of about 90 cases where McCarthy has supplied names, but added that would be expensive and might take a long time.

Bridges Jurors Still Undecided

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4 (AP)—A federal court jury today went into its fifth day of deliberations on whether CIO Longshore Leader Harry Bridges and two aides led to conceal his membership in the Communist Party.

Wary, grim, with some angry faces among their number, the eight men and four women recessed at 10:15 p.m. (PST) last night until 9 a.m. this morning. They had deliberated then approximately 28 hours since receiving the case at 12:43 p.m. last Friday.

The 48-year-old Bridges, a native of Australia, was accused of committing perjury when he claimed, at his naturalization hearing in 1945, that he never was a Communist. Henry Schmidt and J. R. Robertson, his associates in the union, and his naturalization witnesses, were accused of abetting the perjury and conspiring with Bridges to defraud the government.

Full-Scale Drive For Membership Launched by C-C

A full-scale membership drive, the first held for the chamber of commerce in several years, was launched at a meeting of the board of directors Monday.

Approximately 40 committee members, directed by Cecil McDonald, membership committee chairman, are to make personal calls in the campaign that is expected to be completed in about 10 days. Goal of the workers is to contact every non-member business and professional man and others interested in the chamber's 1950 work program, McDonald said.

The drive was keyed by an address by chamber president Adolph Swartz who outlined a program of five major projects and approximately a dozen lesser goals. Water, housing, more office and business space, highway and road development and the development of industry were the major points set up for the chamber in 1950.

New Duster Hits Big Spring As Mercury Skids

Winter's lightning job Monday evening knocked out spring weather and brought another wicked duster.

In the space of less than 12 hours, temperatures added a total of 57 degrees.

Weathermen were caught napping. A stationary front near Amarillo suddenly came to life late Monday and roared southward. It smashed Big Spring at around 40 miles per hour sustained velocity and produced gusts up to 50 miles per hour.

Slipping in from the Plains area, the wind rolled in masses of sand and dust. Some idea of its punch may be seen from its progress to near Corpus Christi by mid-morning Tuesday.

Temperatures had reached 93 degrees Monday afternoon in a summer groove. But between 4 a. m. and 7 a. m. today, the mercury slipped to 36 degrees. It may get near freezing tonight, but it is weathermen felt that no damage would be done.

Mansfield Wins Matched Roping

Toots Mansfield, a past master at holding steady pressure down to the wire, took J. D. Holleyman, Odessa, into camp Sunday.

On 10 calves in a matched roping event, Mansfield finished with 170.9 seconds to 109.9 for Holleyman. Until the last calf, only three seconds separated the two contestants.

Mansfield, who had a 100 lb. weight advantage, kept on the pressure. Holleyman ran into trouble and required 30.7 for his last calf. Fastest time of the day was 12.8 turned in by the Big Spring roping veteran.

Nationalists Claim Chinese Red Defeat

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 4. (AP)—Nationalist China Monday hailed its greatest victory of 1950—the smashing Saturday of a Chinese Communist invading force of more than 7,500 on Hainan Island off South China.

Thousands joined a massive parade at Hothow, capital of Hainan. Tons of firecrackers were set off. Red prisoners were marched through the street.

"We have destroyed the Communist dream of conquering Hainan," said Gen. Li Yang-chig, chief of staff for Hainan.

The Nationalists said 3,000 Reds were killed and more than 2,500 were captured.

It was the second Red attempt in six days to land a force on the big island, separated by 10 miles of water from Luchow Peninsula. The Nationalists said they "completely annihilated" 4,000 Red invaders March 27.

Some Red survivors tried to escape Sunday but Nationalist warships reported they sank the fleeing junks. Five hundred more Reds surrendered on Hainan.

The Nationalists said much equipment including field pieces, tommy guns and rifles were seized.

Nationalist dispatches usually flaunt the silver lining and ignore the dark clouds. But even allowing for exaggeration, their double victory gave them something to crow over.

On the dark side the Reds undoubtedly can mass far stronger invasions. Their two attempts have the look of "feelers."

And in a fleet of nearly 100 modern power boats unwittingly supplied by the United Nations the Reds have the nucleus of a strong invasion fleet.

This is the remnant of 50 and 100 ton fishing vessels given Nationalist China but lost when the Reds captured Shanghai.

Although the vessels can carry relatively few troops, they can be used to tow loaded junks or be armed as gunboats.

Before they could be used against Hainan, they would have to break through the tight Nationalist sea blockade outside of Shanghai.

The Reds also might try to use, in their invasion attempts, the 71 former Chinese Nationalist transport planes tied up in Hong Kong.

STATE WILL NOT ASK DEATH

Tannery Worker To Stand Trial In Mercy Killing Of Brother

ALLENTOWN, Pa., April 4. (AP)—Harold Mohr was summoned to stand trial today in the mercy slaying of his blind, cancer-ravaged brother — assured the Commonwealth will not seek the death penalty.

Shortly after the 36-year-old tannery worker was indicted yesterday on murder and voluntary manslaughter charges in the slaying of his brother, Walter, 55, District Attorney Kenneth H. Koch of Lehigh County announced: "I do not feel the facts warrant pressing for the death penalty."

Although he entered a "not guilty" plea before the grand jury, Harold Mohr has signed a statement he shot his brother through the head with a deer rifle in their home at nearby Coplay on March 8.

Dr. George S. Boyer, Lehigh

County coroner, said Walter Mohr was hopelessly blind and that cancer had wasted away his face until "only the man's lips remained."

Defense Attorney Harry Creveling said he would base his case on the mercy aspects of the killing. In his statement, Harold Mohr said he shot Walter after the brother repeatedly had begged for death.

On the night of the shooting, Harold told authorities, Walter stretched out on his bed.

"Are you ready?" Harold said he asked Walter.

"Go ahead," Walter replied.

The bullet struck Walter in the head. He died instantly.

In charging the grand jury yesterday, Judge James F. Henninger said:

"You must decide whether murder was committed and, if so, whether it was with malice or with out malice."

The jurors deliberated 56 minutes before indicting Mohr on both the murder and manslaughter counts.

Mohr, who served four years with the Army medical corps in World War II, had helped his four other brothers care for Walter. One of the brothers is Coplay police chief.

In his statement, Harold said: "He (Walter) asked me many times to shoot him. Last night after supper he asked me again. I thought it over and decided to do it."

Russian-Manned Planes May Be Hitting Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa, April 4. (AP)—An air headquarters spokesman today said Russian-built planes which downed two Chinese Nationalist fighters undoubtedly were operated by Russians.

The spokesman said the planes "definitely were of Russian manufacture." And he added: Judging from their technique, "they most certainly were manned by Russians."

The Nationalist fighters were shot down Sunday during a raid on Red shipping in Hangchow Bay south of Shanghai.

That opposition, the first the Nationalists have encountered in the air in four years of civil war, was seen by many today as an ominous forerunner of Communist air attacks on Formosa.

It also led to belief the Reds will have air cover if they attempt an invasion of this Nationalist island.

The air headquarters communique said:

"Two Chinese air force Mustangs were surprised attacked by four to five Russian planes on the morning of April 2."

The Nationalist fighters, it said, were making low-level strafing runs on Communist junks concentrated near Chapu on Hangchow Bay for an amphibious assault on the Chusan Islands. This island group, about 100 miles southeast of Shanghai, is used by the Nationalists for air and naval bases.

The communique said one of the Nationalist pilots bailed out and returned safely to base.

Taipei newspapers splashed the communique. One carried the headline: "Russian Planes Openly Attack Ours."

Polygamist Is Given 2 Months

BOSTON, April 4. (AP)—A Navy deserter, who numbered two Texas women among his four wives, has been sentenced to two months in the State House of Correction for Polygamy.

James D. Mason, 28, previously court-martialed by the Navy for desertion, received the state sentence yesterday.

He has divorced both Texas women he married—but married two other women while the divorce from the second Texan was pending.

Superior Court testimony showed his wives to be:

Ruby Smith of Greenville, whom he married in October, 1939. They were divorced May 13, 1946.

He married Beulah Barclay of Denison, the same day. Their divorce became effective only last Friday.

He was married to Ruth J. Olsen of Malden, Mass., Nov. 19, 1947 and to Juanita Fugate of Norfolk, Va., Sept. 4, 1948.

Miss Olsen discovered he was married when she sought an allotment from his Navy pay and was informed of his Texas marriage. He pleaded guilty to marrying her illegally.

His fourth wife screamed and collapsed when he was sentenced yesterday and said she would try to get work in Boston to be near him.

U. S. Employment Hitting Up Grade

WASHINGTON, April 4. (AP) — The nation's unemployment situation is showing improvement after sinking to its worst condition in eight years. New Census Bureau figures show 561,000 fewer jobless in March than in February. The March total was

4,123,000 compared with an eight-year high of 4,684,000 in February. Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, in announcing the new figures yesterday, said they are encouraging and seem to mean an early start on an expected spring employment gain. Employment rose nearly 600,000 from 56,953,000 in February to 57,551,000 in March but Sawyer was only cautiously optimistic, saying: "It is too early to say whether it reflects much more than the normal pick up in seasonal industries and the end of the coal dispute just prior to the March survey."

The Census Bureau based its March estimates on data collected March 11. A report from Director Robert C. Goodwin of the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security indicated further improvement later in March. Goodwin said unemployment insurance claims dropped for the week ending March 25 to their lowest level of 1950. He said expanding job opportunities in a number of states were largely responsible for this—meaning that more jobs have become available.

There has been an almost uninterrupted decline in jobless insurance claims since late January. Goodwin said unemployment among workers covered by the insurance plan declined from 7.1 per cent in early February to 6.7 per cent in early March.

An appeal to employers to maintain full employment by creating new jobs and pushing new products was made here yesterday by Stanley Marcus, a leading Texas merchant. Marcus is executive vice president of the Neiman-Marcus department store in Dallas.

'World Citizen' Returns To U. S., Seeks Privacy

NEW YORK, April 4. (AP) — After a four-day detention on Ellis Island, "world citizen" Garry Davis was back on his native soil today, pleading for rest and privacy. The 28-year-old Air Force veteran, who spent the last two years in France crusading for world government, told newsmen on his release by immigration authorities yesterday:

"Let me slip into oblivion. I really do not have anything to say. I'm here as a private person. I'm not seeking publicity. In fact, I think there has been entirely too much publicity."

As he stepped ashore, Davis was met by his father, Bandleader Meyer Davis, and his 19-year-old sister, Marjorie.

Young Davis gave up his U. S. citizenship in Paris two years ago to become what he called "World Citizen No. 1."

He returned to the U. S. last Thursday on an immigrant's visa that would permit him to apply for citizenship after meeting the usual residential requirements. However, he says he intends to remain stateless.

Immigration authorities held him four days for medical tests—which are given some stateless immigrants. No results of the tests were announced.

Davis, bare-headed, and clad in a khaki windbreaker, appeared tired as he joined his family. Asked about future plans, he said: "Any plans I give you now would be prejudiced in my present state of fatigue."

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By Mildred Young

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you." Matthew 15:15-14.

Of all the words which have been penned by human hands, some of the greatest are those which deal with friendship. Some of the most beautiful stories in the Bible are those of friendship. Most writers at one time or another find that they must say something about this thing called friendship.

Friends are people we choose for our very own not because of family ties, but because we find something in them which does good to our hearts and because we hope that we have something to share with them.

Christ's life, death and resurrection brought about salvation for a world in need of a saving power. But if that salvation had not been shared, life, death and life thereafter, would have been in vain. Salvation is not a one-sided affair. There must not only be a Saviour, but those to save. We did not choose Christ. He chose us and called us his friends. He gave His life for His friends and told us that man has no greater love than to lay down his life for his friends. He calls us His friends. The only obligation we have to receive such a friendship is to do whatsoever His commands.

Tommy McAdams Named President Of Chirho Club

Nita Jo Hedleston was in charge of the program. Jane Reynolds and Bill Hanna served refreshments to the group. Nita Jo Hedleston and Tommy McAdams were named as the refreshment committee for next Sunday. Maxine Rosson was named as program chairman for next week.

Attending were Betty Earley, Margaret Martin, Nita Jo Hedleston, Marie Haley, Jane Reynolds, Nancy Smith, Bill Hanna, Tommy McAdams, Brownie Rogers, Maxine Rosson, two guests, Mary Lou Slaggs and Della Haley, and the sponsor, Mrs. H. W. Smith.

To make toasted bread cubes for soups, salads, or puddings, cut the crusts off the number of bread slices required, then cut again into small cubes. Place on a cookie sheet in a slow oven and toast until the cubes are golden brown on all sides, turning frequently.

Help me to be thankful for Thy friendship and Thy love, May I always be willing to fulfill my obligation for Thy friendship and salvation. Amen.

Back To The Bible
My children are all grown and married. But I am still interested in the present and future of the young men and women of our land. Especially am I interested in "The Faith which was once delivered to the saints." Jude 3.
I affirm, "That those who participate in the square dance are walking after the flesh as contemplated by Paul in Rom. 8:13 and by John in I Jan. 2:15-16."
I will also affirm that, "Any member of the church of Christ that participates in the activities of, or in any way promotes the square dance are sinning and must be admonished to turn from such practice, and if such a one refuses, then such a one must be withdrawn from the church that condones such, loses its identity as a church of Christ."

ECA, If Sound, Worth Continuing Adequately And Realistically

Everyone would like to see expenditures reduced and taxes lowered. All angles are being watched, and one of these is the ECA or Marshall Plan. The United States has invested billions of dollars to date in economic aid to bulwark nations against Russian imperialism. It has helped to contain communism and to turn the tide first in Greece and Turkey, and later in Italy and other points. Some think it might have kept the Czechs from falling under Russian domination had not the Reds poled a big army on the border to back its coup and choke the Czechs off the ECA pipeline. Of course the program has not been uniformly and completely successful in restoring Western Europe to an even economic and political balance. There are good reasons to believe that it has been good insurance and a lot less costly in money alone than an actual clash of arms would have been.

Comparatively Early Action May Be Forthcoming On Water Matter

It is easy to grow impatient at the delays in reaching a decision on a long-range water project, but delays have been necessary in order to give due consideration to all possibilities. Now the signs are that a decision on a course of action may not be too far removed. That doesn't mean day after tomorrow. A decision within a couple of months would be moving comparatively fast, when it is considered that the matter has been under study for almost four years. What will that course of action be? The answer to this is pure conjecture, for the district has not exercised a choice between its own project and a government one. Its own project would be a smaller dam on the upper Colorado River 25 miles northeast of here. The government project would be a bureau of reclamation reservoir at Robert Lee. Both would include connecting service lines. At this moment—and it is a guess—it appears that the decision may be in favor of a private project. The cost factors, as concerns Big Spring, are relatively the same by either route. For Odessa: the private route, principally because of a 30-year demand rather than 80 years as under the bureau proposal and because of difference in pipeline and pumping head costs, would cost substantially less than the bureau proposal. However, the bureau might come back with a revised proposal in its contacts with individual cities. The element of quality, despite bureau hesitancy to confirm, is on the side of the private project. On a 30-year basis, adequacy of supply is about equal if Big Spring and Odessa tackle the project alone. On a 50 year basis, the bureau project might offer the greatest reserve. But the big item—and perhaps the compelling item since costs comparisons are what they now appear to be—is the element of time. Big Spring and Odessa want more water and they want it as soon as possible. On their own, they might have it in two years. With the bureau, maybe in five years, and maybe not at all. It is the uncertainty in the latter instance that may lead to a definite course of action soon.

Commies Stepping Up War On Religion In Eastern Europe

THE RED WAR AGAINST RELIGION is being stepped up in eastern Europe. Success or failure of the Communist offensives may hinge largely on this point. Ten high-ranking Catholic clergymen have gone on trial in Prague, charged with treason and spying. A Vatican informant in Rome says this indicates that the last of the faithful Roman Catholic leaders in Czechoslovakia "are about to be suppressed." This comes as the International Court of Justice at The Hague rules in effect that three other satellites—Hungary, Romania, and Bulgaria—must appear before the bar of justice in the United Nations. The Red line cannot tolerate religion because the latter condemns the sweeping violations of human rights upon which communism is building.

Truman-Stalin Meet Could Not Settle Future Of All Mankind

In the minds of those who favor and of those who oppose a "Truman-Stalin meeting"—which is shorthand for U.S.A.-U.S.S.R. negotiation—there is a common and basic idea. It is that the destiny of the world will be determined by Washington and Moscow. This, I believe, the great post-war illusion. The idea was plausible enough in 1945 and for the two or three years thereafter when the other victors were exhausted and the defeated nations were prostrate. But the idea that these are only two world capitals is rapidly becoming a crude exaggeration of Soviet and of American power and a grave underestimate of the purposes and forces of the many other peoples of the world. The reason why a Truman-Stalin meeting must fail is in the last analysis that Truman and Stalin lack the power, even if they had the will, to settle the future of mankind. Each is the head of a strong state. But they are not the masters of the world, and the other large states and peoples of Europe and Asia will be principals, not pawns, satellites, clients, dependents, in the shaping of events.

To recognize this as the reality and to work accordingly, I believe, the beginning of a sound and effective diplomacy. The Germans and the Japanese, the Indians and the Chinese, the Turks and the Pakistanis have a part to play in the world which cannot be determined for them in Moscow and in Washington or even in London-Paris-and Washington. In the re-shaping of our foreign policy, which is now urgent and unavoidable, the preface to all planning and policy-making is to clear our minds of the notion and of the unconscious assumption that Asia and most of Europe are the stakes of a diplomatic struggle between Russia and America. There are, of course, dependent and weak countries. But there are also great

Truman Has Good Precedents For Stand Against Turning Over Files To Senate

WASHINGTON. — When it comes to turning over loyalty files to the Senate, the Republicans are up against the fact that William Howard Taft, father of their top leader, sided against them and with Harry Truman, so did six other Presidents of the United States and a House Judiciary committee. President George Washington was the first to say flatly "no" in 1796 when he refused to give the House a copy of instructions to U. S. diplomats who had negotiated a treaty with Great Britain. George Washington said: "As it is essential to the due administration of the government that the boundaries fixed by the Constitution should be preserved, a just regard to the Constitution should be preserved, a just regard to the Constitution and to the duty of my office forbids a compliance with your request." President Thomas Jefferson continued the precedent by refusing to allow two cabinet members to supply documents at the Aaron Burr trial. President James Monroe also declined to give up papers about the conduct of naval officers, while Andrew Jackson was ordered by the Senate to supply a memo read by him to his cabinet on removal of public money from the Bank of the United States. He refused. Later President Grover Cleveland backed up his attorney general who would not give the Senate documents on the removal of a district attorney. President John Tyler even sent a message to Congress spelling out his reasons for refusing to give war department reports on Cherokee Indians to the House of Representatives. Senator Taft's father spelled out the issue quite clearly, though it was after he left the White House. "The President," he said, "is required by the Constitution from time to time to give Congress information on the state of the union. But this does not entitle Congress or either House to elicit from him confidential information which he has acquired for the purpose of enabling him to discharge his constitutional duties, if he does not deem the disclosure of such information prudent or in the public interest." In 1879 the House Judiciary committee even rebuked an investigating committee for trying to pry out State Department records regarding the conduct of George F. Seward, a counsel general in China. "Under our theory of government," the judiciary committee ruled, "all records of the executive departments are under the control of the President. Whenever the President has returned (as sometimes he has) that in his judgment it was not consistent with the public interest to give the House such information, no further proceedings have ever been taken to compel the production of such information. Indeed, upon principle, it would seem this must be so. The mischief of the House calling for documents might easily be a very great one."

THE HOLY WEEK STORY: Agony In The Garden

AND HE CAME out and went to the Mount of Olives; and His disciples followed. And He said unto them, Pray that ye enter not into temptation. And He knelt down and prayed, saying, Father if Thou be willing, remove this cup from Me; nevertheless not My will, but Thine be done. And there appeared an angel unto Him from heaven, strengthening Him. And when He rose up from prayer, and was come to His disciples, He found them sleeping for sorrow. And said unto them, Why sleep ye? rise up, and pray, lest ye enter into temptation. And while He yet spake, behold a multitude, and Judas went before them, and drew near unto Jesus to kiss Him. But Jesus said unto him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of man with a kiss? When they which were about Him saw what would follow, they said unto Him, Lord, shall we smite with the sword? And one of them smote the servant of the high priest, and cut off his right ear. And Jesus answered and said, Suffer ye thus far. And He touched his ear, and healed him. Then Jesus said unto the chief priests, and captains of the temple, and the elders, which were come to him, But ye come out, as against a thief, with swords and staves? When I was sily with you in the temple, ye stretched forth no hands against Me; but this is your hour, and the power of darkness. Then took they Him, and led Him, and brought Him into the high priest's house. (Condensed from Luke 22:39-54)

It's Good Policy To Let People You Meet Come In Out Of Snow

Back in the horse and buggy days, there lived a small boy who was finding it rather difficult to provide for himself the necessities of life. In addition to other odd jobs, the lad was driving carriages to parties. While his customers entertained themselves on the inside of one of the nicer homes of the community, the boy stayed with the horses. Unfortunately, winter brought no change in his duties. On one of the extremely disagreeable nights, the boy took the cold as long as he thought he could bear it and then walked to the house to ask for shelter. Not wanting the "little tramp" to enter her expensive parlor, the hostess for the affair slammed the door in the lad's face. So he returned to his horses, and to his struggle to get an education and become a worthwhile person in the world in which he lived. Years later, a young minister went to the community to become the pastor of one of its churches. On his first Sunday in the town, one of his members asked him to drive home with him for lunch. He said that his wife had remained at home to prepare the meal and that everything would be ready when they arrived. As the minister drove down the road which led to his host's home, the scene suddenly became very familiar. He remembered a snow storm and when the house came in sight, he remembered a hostess who had once lived in the home. And then he realized, that this woman was to be his luncheon hostess. He didn't intend to say anything. He was going to be the perfect guest. But as he entered the home, he was greeted by an overly enthusiastic hostess who beamed when she exclaimed, "Oh, Doctor, I'm so glad you came!" For some reason unknown to himself, the pastor looked at his hostess for a moment and answered her greeting by saying, "I'm not Doctor to you, I'm the little boy, you turned out in the snow." The woman faints. The host and the minister had lunch without her. The minister left the home as quickly and painlessly as possible. The incident was closed for several weeks. Then, one day, the pastor's phone rang and the hostess was at the other end of the line. She wanted to know if she could have an interview. He replied in the affirmative and the hour was set. It was a very humble woman who arrived at the study the next day. She told the pastor of how she had lived a life which had excluded every other human being. She said she was sure that all she had ever done had only made herself and others unhappy. She said she wanted to make amends as best she could and that she would do anything the minister asked, scrub floors, wash windows or perform any other difficult task. Soon the woman did find a place of service in her community, her church and her home, and she spent her remaining years as a much happier person. She had learned what a lot of us need to write on our hearts. We never know the real value of the people we meet until we let them come in out of the snow.—MILDRED YOUNG.

Congress Isn't Likely To Take Fight With Truman To Court

WASHINGTON, (AP)— CAN CONGRESS force a President to give it confidential information he wishes kept secret? Many Congresses have tried. None has succeeded. Seventeen Presidents, starting with Washington, have refused such requests. Every time in the past when the President turned it down, Congress has let the matter drop. If any Congress had carried its fight to the Supreme Court, there might have been a final answer. That hasn't happened. The problem is here again. The Congress is demanding secret information—loyalty files—from Mr. Truman. He hasn't yielded. And it is unlikely that this Congress, where Democrats have a majority, will fight him up to the Supreme Court. A PRESIDENT CAN REFUSE A CONGRESSIONAL demand to see government papers on these grounds: That the U. S. Constitution the powers and rights of the three branches of the government are clearly separate and one can't impose its will on the other. The three branches are: 1) The Legislative—Congress which makes the laws; 2) The Judicial—federal courts which interpret the laws; and 3) The Executive, which carries out the laws. This branch, headed by the President, includes the various departments and agencies, under his control. This was the idea behind the separation of powers in the Constitution: To keep the government balanced, with one branch a check against the others, so that no one branch could dominate the others and thus run the government. THIS QUESTION OF THE SEPARATION of powers comes up again now in the case of Senator McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, who has charged that the State Department harbors Communists and pro-Communists.

A subcommittee of the Senate was created to investigate his accusations. He named some State Department employees. State Department officials said those people were investigated by the FBI or the President's loyalty board and cleared of suspicion. Where, then, is McCarthy's proof? He said it's in the files of the FBI, or the loyalty board, or the State Department. All three of those agencies are in the executive branch. But McCarthy said that if the subcommittee, which is part of the legislative branch, could see those files his charges would be proved. At last, Senator Tydings, Maryland Democrat and chairman of the subcommittee, asked President Truman to let his subcommittee see the secret files of the accused people. MR. TRUMAN WROTE TYDINGS A long letter which, in effect, said "no," although nowhere in his letter did the President flatly say "no." His reasons? Generally, his reasons for refusing were those given by other Presidents when they refused similar congressional requests: It would not be in the public interest to open the files. SINCE ALL THREE WORK IN THE executive branch and are under the President's orders, none of the three could be expected to go contrary to the refusal already made plain by the President. If, upon their refusal to obey the subpoena, the subcommittee should drop the matter, that would be the end of that. All other committees in the history of Congress have stopped right there. But—suppose the subcommittee and the whole Senate should refuse to take "no" for an answer and decide to take the case to the Supreme Court for final decision. What would happen? That will be discussed tomorrow.

Now Is Time To Get Down To Earth And Begin A Begonia

NEW YORK, (AP)— THE SEASON OF ality madness is upon us. It is the time to find a home on the loam and begin a begonia. With bulb and seed the spring gardener goeth forth to sow the good earth in his backyard, and he cometh in at eventide, racked by his own growing pains and covered with top soil. And to save my life this is one class of citizen I cannot understand. I have a dim appreciation of why people become bird-watcher, and my soul knows a sense of sympathy with horseplayers, butterfly collectors and that strange kind of fauna that goes up before dawn to prowls beaches in search of the better seashell. spring sends man out to duel the landscape? Why does he want to anyway? All I can see he does is annoy the balance of nature. There he stalks, this man without a hoe, giving hormone shots to geraniums that don't want them, ambushing innocent potato bugs with deadly spray guns and interfering with the home life of robins. By autumn he will total up his victories and find he has raised about $25 worth of vegetables. To do this he will have spent about $500 in fancy tools, $50 in doctor bills, sunburn lotions and liniment, and about $100 in labor. This is figuring his time at a nickel an hour, which may be more than it is worth.

WHAT PRIMORDIAL URGE EACH Rabbits Again Are Australian Problem SYDNEY (AP)— Rabbits today are a bigger worry to the sheep and cattle growers of Australia than ever before. The rabbits are eating grass meant for sheep and cattle, and are increasing in numbers. There are four main reasons: 1. Americans are wearing fewer felt hats made from rabbit fur. This makes the business of killing rabbits for skins less profitable. 2. There has been a slump in the export of rabbit carcasses to Britain. 3. The past season has been a good one. Rabbits thrive when there is plenty of grass. 4. There is a shortage of wire-netting to make rabbit proof fences.

Mechanized Rustlers Causing More Trouble Than Old Style

By SAUL FELDMAN
 OKLAHOMA CITY, — There's a lot of cattle rustlin' goin' on these days, pardner, but the thieves cuttin' strays from the herds ain't ridin' cow ponies; they don't carry shootin' irons and nary a one gets strung up to the nearest oak. Nope, these modern rustlers are mechanized, and are causing more trouble than the old style ever did in the rustlin', tottin', shootin' days portrayed in western movies.

Carl Cannon, brand inspector for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, estimated more than 300 persons are engaged in the cattle stealing business in Oklahoma.

There's no accurate estimate of the amount of cattle stolen but Jake Sims, chief of the Oklahoma Bureau of Investigation, believes losses run into hundreds of thousands of dollars a year.

Modern rustlers usually work in pairs, using a truck or semi-trailer. They strike swiftly at night, driving up to a pasture or farm yard where they load the cattle.

It's a simple operation for anyone with any knowledge of cattle. With modern highways, they can be 300 miles away from the scene of the theft by morning.

Disposing of the cattle is almost as simple. Each of the 77 Oklahoma counties has at least one community cattle sale each week. The rustlers deliver their stolen cattle to a commission man for sale.

It isn't unusual for a rustler to make off with a dozen head during a night. With an average head bringing from $150 to $200, that's a good night's work.

One rustler was caught working a double shift. He'd steal the cattle, drive 300 miles and sell them. On his way back, he'd rustle another lot and dispose of them at his starting point.

Some stolen cattle are sold to small, independent houses and local butchers and a few are trucked out of the state. However, a federal law against the movement of stolen cattle across state lines has stopped much of this.

Cannon says that one rustler finally was tracked down after he evaded the law several years by working with a prominent ranchman. He swapped his stolen cattle to the ranchman for other beef animals.

"This rancher would run the stolen cattle into the blackjacks and no one ever thought of looking there," Cannon explained. "The ranchman took a loss, but he didn't risk getting caught selling stolen stock."

Cannon, a reopener of all his life, believes tightening economic conditions are causing the sudden upsurge in rustling.

"It's an easy way to make good money, and you don't need much equipment," he pointed out. "A few rustlers even steal trucks to move the cattle."

Blaine County Sheriff Raford Scott reports that cattle rustling in his county is the worst since he took office 16 years ago.

What's the solution to this modern rustling?
 The association is fighting rustlers through its 95 inspectors, who are stationed throughout the South-west to check brands.

"We can usually track down stolen cattle if they are branded and appear at a market, but most farmers and ranchers don't take the trouble to brand their stock," Cannon said.

"Just to show you how it works, 11 head of cattle were stolen from a Selling, Okla., sales barn recently. Only one two-year-old white-faced heifer was branded, but that was enough."

"I found the heifer at the Oklahoma City market and began tracing its sales. That heifer was sold and re-sold five times before it finally got here. We caught the rustler after checking records at the first sale."

Cannon caught a pair of rustlers association 15 years, pointed out it isn't always easy to spot brands. This one was covered with hair and only by getting the brand at the right angle in the sunshine could it be seen. Some cattle have as many as six different brands.

While it isn't a common practice, some rustlers will use brand blotting to change brands.

Cannon caught a pair of rustlers who were skillfully changing the bar-elve mark (an 11 with a bar underneath) into a pippen brand (two parallel lines crossing).

While the big ranches brand and also ear clip their cattle they still suffer large losses. Rustlers take the yearlings which still are to be branded as well as marked cattle.

It's hard for farmers and ranchmen to keep watch on their cattle. Brake Bingham, a western Oklahoma ranchman, said "even if I knew that something was going on on the far side of the ranch, I couldn't get over in time to do anything. They would have loaded the cattle by that time and got away."

Most cattle rustlers follow a set pattern, and many are remarkably clever.

Sheriff Scott recalls one pair that always carried a couple of county hounds with them.

"The rustlers had a ready excuse—they were coyote hunting. The farmer didn't think much more about it, until his cattle turned up missing."

Cannon recalls a woman rustler who was an evangelist. She would show up at a Texas stock market with a dozen head at a time to explain "these were given to me by my good brethren."

She was caught when one of her cattle had a brand that didn't belong to a "brethren."

In an effort to aid county law enforcement officers O. K. Bivins of the Oklahoma Crime Bureau has issued a partial list of 100 known and suspected cattle rustlers operating in the state.

Bivins points out it is useless to attempt to trace rustlers through the tracks, or to set up road blocks.

REP. EUGENE WORLEY

Worley To Take Seat As Appeals Judge Today

WASHINGTON, April 4, (AP)—Eugene Worley of Shamrock, was scheduled to become a judge on the U. S. Customs and Patent Appeals Court today.

He said farewell yesterday to the House of Representatives, declaring the Democratic form of government "is safe so long as it is in the hands of men" like those with whom he has served the last ten years.

He received tributes from both Democrats and Republicans.

Rep. Albert Thomas of Houston spoke first, praising Worley as one of the most popular men to serve in the House in the last decade.

Rep. Cole (R-NY) was among many other of the members who expressed similar thoughts.

Worley, 42, brushed a handkerchief to his eyes as he sat quietly in their midst.

The tributes were capped by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Bonham. He said:

"I have not seen a young man with more sterling qualities or promise of ability. If he had chosen to stay, he could have been one at the top."

Mystery Sub Hunt Is Inconclusive

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4, (AP)—The Navy says foreign submarines "very probably" have been operating off the California coast.

A four-day search by surface and air craft produced only "inconclusive" results. But there wasn't much that could have been done about it since the strange submarines were in international waters.

Capt. J. A. Holbrook, commander of the destroyer Colahan, returned yesterday from the search and reported having made contact twice through radar and sonar with objects he believed were submarines. Captain Holbrook is a former submarine officer.

After evaluating the captain's report, Rear Admiral R. I. Entwistle, vice commander of the Western Sea Frontier, said the contacts "probably" were one or more foreign submarines on routine peacetime patrols.

At no time during the search was any submarine sighted, either by surface craft or from the air.

Although investigation of several reports of submarines having been sighted is continuing, the WSP said search was being suspended "pending further developments."

With possibly one exception, all the submarines reported sighted have been well beyond the three-mile limit. Ships of any nationality—warships as well as merchantmen may operate freely beyond territorial waters.

GRAND JURY REPORTS

'Non-Virgin' Club Ruled Non-Existent

BORGER, April 4, (AP)—There is no such thing as a "non-virgin" club among teen-agers in Borger, the Hutchinson County grand jury has reported.

Newspaper articles had said there was evidence such a club existed and that it was believed to require its members to have sexual intercourse at least once a week.

The grand jury report yesterday described this as "sholly without basis in fact, and completely unwarranted upon the basis of the suspicions and rumors it repeats."

In publishing reports of the club The Borger News-Herald said its information did not consist of proved facts. But the paper said the alleged existence of a club became a matter of common gossip in Borger.

Commenting editorially on the grand jury report, which it printed in full, the newspaper said: "It was only after a period of several weeks of considering information, most of which was volunteered, during which time the alleged existence of such a club became a matter of common gossip in the community, that the News-Herald finally released its article."

"During this time the city editor was in close contact with certain local officials, and the article itself was not published until after it had been shown to both Sheriff Hugh Anderson and Supt. (of schools) D. A. Cryer."

The newspaper's editorial said the grand jury report should correct the parents of the community.

The report was made to the 84th District Court at Stinnett. It was signed by Foreman Martin Beasley and 11 other jurors.

BOTH SIDES SEE VICTORY

Rangers On Guard As Laredo Ballots

By The Associated Press
 Heated campaigns in Laredo and Mission promised to bring a big vote, but interest in other municipal elections in Texas today has been low.

Cities not under home rule charter hold elections to select city officials and many have special issues to be voted upon.

Texas Rangers have been standing guard in Laredo since last Friday—requested by both sides in the fiery campaign.

The Rangers are at the Texas-Mexican border city to maintain order and insure a quiet, bloodless election.

Mayor Hugh S. Cluck heads the incumbent party at Laredo, called the Independent Club. The Popular Political Party, headed by E. J. Dryden, Sr., its candidate for mayor, is the first organized opposition encountered by the old party since the 1934 election.

Both sides predicted victory in today's election.

"We're turning out in full force and I hope the result will be a sweeping victory," said Cluck.

"We are confident we have sufficient votes," said Dryden. He made a final accusation: That the Independent Party is buying votes.

Dryden claims his party members have been beaten and mistreated. He claims there was a fear gas attack on a party gathering a week ago.

Some 2,000 of Laredo's estimated 50,000 people are eligible to vote.

Charges of lies, special privilege and political machinations have been exchanged by various candidates at Mission.

Three candidates want to be mayor of Mission—Logan Duncan of the Citizens ticket, O. V. Bridges, a city commissioner running as an independent, and John Peters, most of Texas' larger cities are "home rule cities and will not elect officials today."

Grass Fire Near Munny Reported

A grass fire on the west side of Municipal airport burned over about a section of land yesterday afternoon, city firemen reported. Cause of the fire was undetermined. No other damage resulted from the blaze which broke out about 2:15 p. m., firemen said.

Firemen also extinguished a trash fire at 1104 Nolan about 8:30 p. m. and a grass fire in Birdwell park at 7 p. m. Cause of the fires was not known.

A blaze, starting from a welding torch at the Southern Ice company, damaged an ice chute before it was put out about 3 p. m. yesterday.

South Offset To Reinecke Pool Well Completing

A south offset to the discovery in the Reinecke pool of southeast Borden was in the process of completing while a west outpost prepared to test a possible reef section Tuesday. Livermore No. 1 Whitaker, south offset to the discovery, flowed through tubing before being shut in for potential. This venture had topped the reef at 6,731, which makes it 23 feet high on the reef to the No. 1 Reinecke. Bottom of hole was 6,792 feet and five and a half-inch string was cemented at 6,733 feet. After washing the hole open with 500 gallons of mud slush, the test flowed three hours to pits to clean then through open two-inch tubing to tanks for 10 hours. It averaged 139.8 barrels of clean oil per hour. Location is 660 feet from the west and north lines of the southwest quarter of section 53-25-H&T.C. Castleman & O'Neal No. 1 Griffin, half a mile west of the discovery, was reportedly beginning a drillstem test below 6,868 feet at noon Tuesday. The outpost, located 600 from the north and 467 from the east lines of section 51-25, H&T.C. picked up first reefy lime at 6,800. At 6,860 it softened. The percentage when first picked up was about 10 per cent lime and 90 per cent shale, but at 6,808 it was practically all lime. The latter depth is a datum minus of 4,502 or 96 feet low to the discovery. Exact location was confirmed on two tests in the area. Livermore No. 2 Reinecke will be 660 feet from the east and 667.35 from north lines of the south half of the northwest quarter of section 53-25, H&T.C. Livermore No. 2 Whitaker, a south offset to No. 1 Whitaker, will be 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 53-25, H&T.C. Both are slated for 8,000 feet. Barnsdall has been given May 31 as a hearing date on an application by it and Pacific Western for discovery allowable on the Barnsdall No. 1 W.L. & R.L. Wilson, which almost straddles the Howard-Borden line.

Senate Tries To Classify DP's

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Sen. debate over a bill to admit more war refugees into the United States centered today around the question: Who are to be classified as displaced persons? Opponents of legislation recommended by the Senate Judiciary Committee contended it would break down the present program by changing the definition of DP to include 8,000,000 persons of German ancestry driven from their homes in Eastern Europe after the war. A substitute measure offered by 18 Republican and Democratic senators would retain the present definition under which only refugees who are the concern of the International Refugee Organization would be eligible to enter this country as displaced persons. This is one of the major differences between the two bills which have stirred up a strong dispute since they were brought before the Senate Feb. 28. Debate on them was resumed last Friday after being suspended March 8. The Senate has agreed to start voting on the legislation at 2 p. m. tomorrow and stay in continuous session until it and all amendments are acted on. The present law, passed in 1948, provides for the admission of 205,000 DP's before June 30. The committee bill would increase this to 320,000 and the substitute to 339,000. Sponsors of the substitute argue that the committee bill would keep, and even strengthen, some provisions of the present law that President Truman and others have said discriminates against Jews and Catholics. However, they directed most of their fire yesterday at its changed definition of displaced persons.

HERRIOT CITES SIMILARITY Australian Visits Local Soil District

Robert I. Herriot, Soil Conservationist with the Department of Agriculture of South Australia, spent Tuesday and Wednesday of last week in the North Concho River (Coke county and Martin) Soil Conservation Districts with E. J. Hughes, district conservator, observing how districts operate in West Texas. Herriot stated that a large portion of his country is similar to West Texas and that problems of getting good land use applied are essentially the same. C. H. DeVaney blocked the ends of the terraces on his farm northeast of Coahoma. DeVaney constructed the end blocks on his terraces to hold more water on his field and stop washing of the ends. He has also chisel plowed his farm to help the soil soak up more water. Cover crop of Abruzzi rye on the farms of Ed Hatch and Glenn Cantrell north of Big Spring kept the soil from blowing during recent sand storms. Earl and J. T. Russell, who farm the Eh Hatch place, drilled rye in their cotton land last fall for a protective cover. Cantrell also drilled rye in his cotton land. The Russell Brothers pointed out that the root system of the rye plants were very effective in holding the sand particles. Plant covers help break the force of the wind and keep it from picking up soil. Walter Robinson, district cooperators in the Midway soil conservation group had 100 acres of feed stubble that help control blowing. Robinson plowed his stubble to leave as much on top as possible. The feed stalks kept the wind from getting a clean sweep at the land. Three miles of terraces were completed this year on the farm of Mrs. Mildred Jones in the Ackworth conservation group. The terraces were constructed as part of the coordinated soil and water conservation program on Mrs. Jones farm, to hold water on the farm and prevent washing. J. L. Whitmore and W. L. Wilson, Jr. had contour lines run on their

Directors Of C-C Favor Uncurtailed Services In 1950

Uncurtailed services during 1950 were favored by number of commerce directors Monday. Directors took this attitude in considering the budget. They approved it calls for expenditures of approximately $24,000, an increase of about $4,000 over the past year's outlay. However, the figure is about the same as was expended in 1949, the centennial of the discovery of the spring for which the city is named. Most of Monday's session was devoted to discussion of procedure in raising the estimated $4,500 needed to balance the budget. If expenditures are to the maximum, several directors volunteered to increase in membership participation. Under R. R. McKuen, workers may contact others in the membership to explain the need for added support. Another phase of the program is stressing of membership enlistment. A campaign in this direction is due soon. President A. Swarts reported that there had been some inquiries from out-of-town about the proposed office building project, but at the present the project is still nebulous.

CONSTITUTION INVOLVED

Two Senate Groups To Probe Gambling

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Two Senate committees made separate plans today for investigating organized gambling throughout the nation.

One inquiry is backed by the Senate Judiciary Committee and the other is being considered by the Senate Commerce Committee. This possibility of a two-barreled investigation developed when Attorney General McGrath sent Congress two bills aimed against slot machines and interstate gambling on sports events.

These measures in the Senate were placed in the hands of the commerce group headed by Senator Johnson (D-Colo.).

The Judiciary Committee already has asked Senate action on a resolution by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn) calling for a $50,000 spending authorization to launch its check on gambling and organized crime.

Johnson said he was particularly interested in the measure which would ban interstate communication of gambling information on horse races and other sports.

"That gets into the ticklish situation involving the freedom of information guaranteed by the Constitution," Johnson said. He added he expected no trouble with the bill which would prohibit shipment of slot machines into states where they are illegal.

The Kefauver resolution would permit the Judiciary Committee to investigate the use of interstate communications by gambling rings and crime syndicates.

The measure is broad enough to cover the whole field of organized crime if the committee should decide to dig into it.

Germany Still Russian Goal

WASHINGTON, April 4 (AP)—Germany is still the main goal of the Russians and it is a "real crisis that impends in Europe," says U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy.

The top American in the U. S. occupation of Germany gave his views to the House Appropriations Committee in testimony made public Sunday.

"It is not a sense of inferiority or fear of attack that leads the Russians to put all this pressure on the Western to build up vast armies air fleets and submarine squadrons, and to carry out their purges and their so-called trials," their slave labor programs and their mighty propaganda efforts in Germany," McCloy said.

"They are putting on the pressure, in my judgment, because they feel their strength and the immediate hope of success."

"Their points of attack are Germany and the Far East, but Germany is still their main goal. With it they feel that they would most effectively shake the hold of democracy in the West."

Bomb Damages Negro's House

DALLAS, April 4 (AP)—A bomb last night heavily damaged a vacant two-story house in a white neighborhood, sold only hours earlier to a Negro.

Police Lt. L. S. Reeves said a bomb had been thrown through a window or pisted under the house.

"I made the down payment and signed a mortgage for $5,444 at seven per cent interest," said Garland Mathis. "I intended to move into the house, but I don't know what I'll do now."

The house is only three blocks from a section where a home occupied by a Negro family was damaged by a bomb explosion several weeks ago. No one was injured.

Mrs. Jewel Harper said she had already given the key to the house to Mathis. She said she had evicted two white families from the house last Friday for non-payment of rent and decided to sell the house to Negroes.

Neighbors told police that all the houses in the south Dallas neighborhood were occupied by white families, some living in the block for as long as 25 years.
