

Gulf Coast Preparing For Hurricane Laurie

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Tropical storm Laurie, a huge area of squalls and showers, boiled in the Gulf of Mexico about 360 miles south-southwest of New Orleans today and headed toward Louisiana and Texas.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau, in a 9 a.m. EDT bulletin said the highest winds in the storm were estimated at 50 miles an hour but said Laurie may grow to hurricane strength later today.

A hurricane watch was in effect from Galveston, Tex., to Pensacola, Fla.

Civil defense organizations were on the alert along the Louisiana and Texas coasts.

Chalm O. Perez, president of the Plaquemines Parish, La., Commission-Council, ordered all residents to evacuate an area from Venice, La., south along the west bank of the Mississippi.

That area was devastated by hurricane Camille Aug. 17 and caught the worst of hurricane Betsy in 1965.

Oil companies evacuated workers from offshore rigs and batted down the rigs. Small craft moved out of the Gulf into shelter.

At last report, the storm showed little forward movement. But the weather bureau said she should move north northwest about 10 miles an hour later in the day. The 50-mile-an-hour squalls extended out 150 miles to the north and east of the storm's center.

The Jefferson County, Tex., civil defense organization was put on 24-hour alert and all personnel were called to duty at the Sabine Pass Coast Guard station, southwest of Port Arthur, Tex.

But Jefferson County Civil Defense Director Sawyer Wolston advised residents it was too early to predict where the storm would hit.

Some people with beach houses along the Texas Gulf were reported leaving.

Plans For New Sugar Substitute Being Unveiled

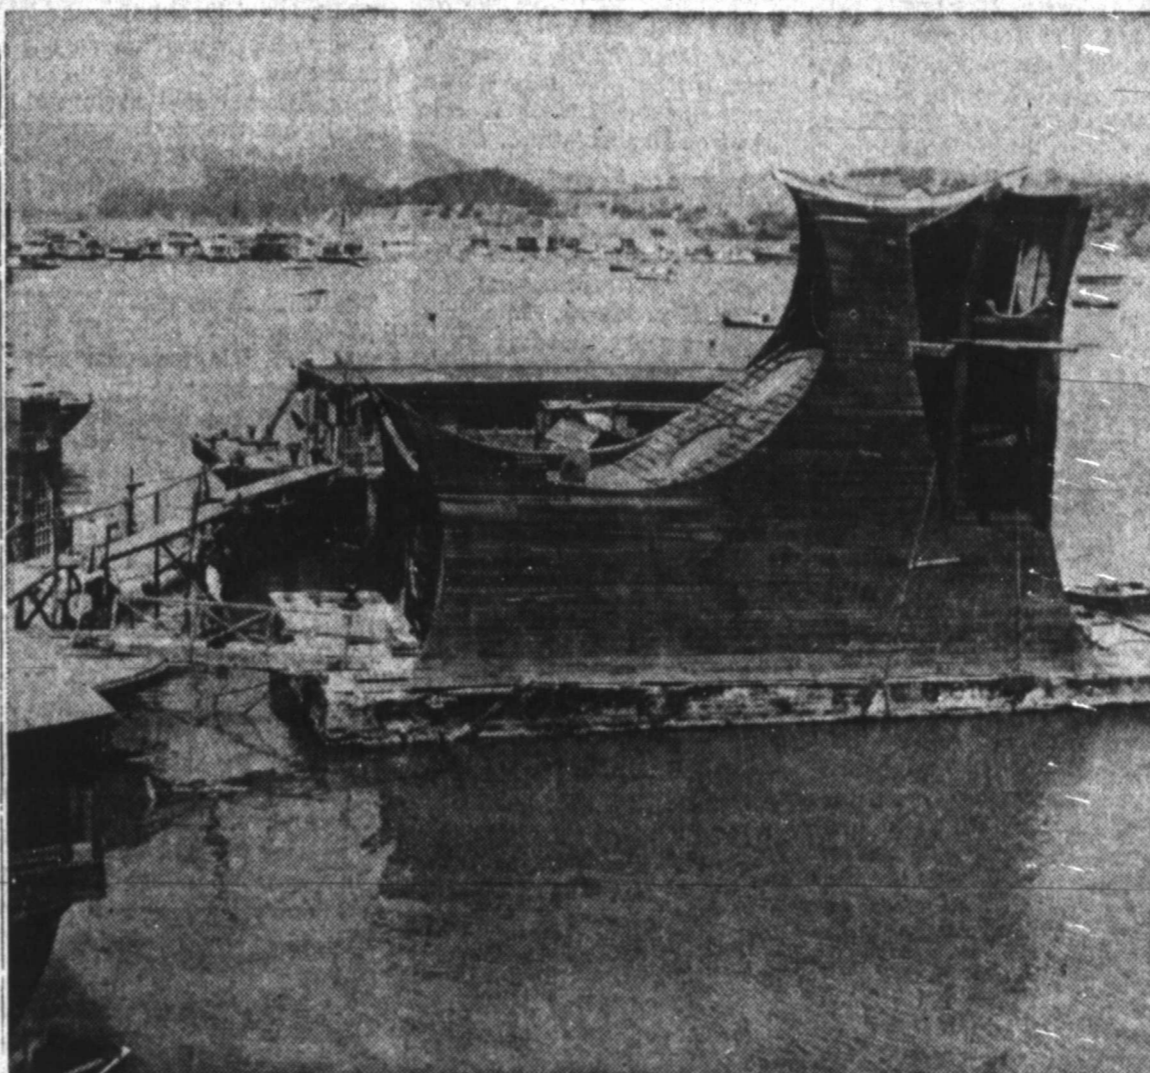

By United Press International
American manufacturers are busy unveiling plans for new saccharin base and other sugar substitutes to replace cyclamates in foods and beverages. Some other nations announced plans to ban the use of cyclamate in low calorie items.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) Robert Finch announced the ban on cyclamates in Washington Saturday. Since then Denmark and Sweden have placed similar bans on the sugar substitutes.

The restrictions in the Scandinavian countries cited the HEW action and came about through joint meetings of health authorities and manufacturers. The Finnish Food Commission in Helsinki called a meeting to discuss similar action today, and Great Britain has asked for more HEW data on cyclamates.

No Immediate Danger
Finch's Saturday statement noted cyclamates may serve as a catalyst for cancer growth in test animals. He stressed no immediate danger existed but ordered all food and drink containing the chemical off store shelves by Jan. 1, 1970.

In New York, one manufacturer of a diet beverage said his firm's new diet drinks would be labeled: "Sugar added—no cyclamates." Donald Kendall, president of PepsiCo, Inc., said in view of "unsettling news reports" his company felt it could not "in good conscience offer its customers any products of which even the remotest doubt exists."

UNIQUE HOUSEBOAT is one of the many on San Francisco Bay. The boats—estimated at 250 — are moored or grounded on tidelands extending along the waterfront north of the Sausalito city limits. Authorities in the area have termed the owners "troublemakers" and are involved in legal action to evict the houseboaters. (UPI Photo)

Senate Committee To Soften New Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Finance Committee has become a court of appeals on the tough tax reform bill which emerged this summer from the House of Representatives.

The Senate committee is halfway through its task of revamping that bill and the cries of pain which came from the board rooms of the nation's businesses, banks and foundations are now turning into sighs of partial relief and even whispers of hope.

The committee is softening the bills impact—watering down some provisions, throwing others out.

Under the skillful dominance of its chairman, Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., the House Ways and Means Committee produced a tax reform bill which went much farther than most people had expected in correcting tax inequities which had grown into the system through the years.

Once the 238-page bill passed the house, tax lawyers all over the country sat down behind calculating machines and determined, down to the last dollar, what the bill would mean to their clients.

With a bill written and passed by the House, the mail, the protests and the pressures are all in opposition. One man's tax reform is another man's tax increase and those with something specific to lose are more persistent than those with only a general principle to gain.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which now received the bill, expressed himself on this point the other day.

"The House went stronger than they would have gone had they not known there was a U.S. Senate on the other side of the Capitol to correct the damage," he said.

Bishops Finish Work On Recommendations

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The World Synod of Bishops, meeting in nine separate language groups, today completed work on final recommendations to be considered by the conference as a whole—including whether priests should be allowed to marry.

The 146 delegates to the week-long conference met for the third time in the small discussion groups after a one-day recess. The full synod is to meet again Tuesday to hear recommendations from the nine groups.

Among the topics under discussion was whether the Pope should consult bishops before making crucial decisions on such issues as birth control and whether the Curia should let national bishops conferences decide their own stands on priestly celibacy and similar subjects.

Synod sources said some liberal bishops want these matters decided within each country, depending on the particular conditions of the country concerned, rather than have Rome lay down a uniform rule for the whole Roman Catholic Church.

Pope Paul VI rejected demands that celibacy be made optional in an encyclical he issued in 1967.

During Sunday's recess, the chief American spokesman at the synod, Cardinal John F. Dearden of Detroit, came under attack from a group calling itself the Catholic Laymen's League.

In handbills distributed near St. Peter's Square after the Pope's weekly blessing to the crowd, the group said Dearden was guilty of "criminal abuse against the sacred traditions of the church."

Dearden, who is president of the U.S. Catholic Bishops Conference, could not be reached for comment on the accusation.

Six Teenagers Die Slow Death By Drowning In Canal

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI)—Three young sisters and their dates died "a horrible death" by slow drowning this weekend when their auto flipped upside down into a shallow canal, trapping the doors closed as the water leaked in.

The two-door hardtop sedan, found Saturday morning, was wedged so tightly in the bevel-shaped concrete ditch that the doors could not be opened. It was in 47 inches of water.

"They must have died a horrible death," said Sgt. Fred Taylor of the Riverside Police Department. "None of them was hurt badly in the fall into the canal."

"They were probably disoriented in the dark with the car upside down and the water coming in. I think they may have tried to swim down toward the top of the car."

A canal maintenance employee discovered the car Saturday morning.

Five bodies were found in the car. The sixth, that of John Rumble, 19, of Canton, Ohio, believed the driver, was found 700 feet downstream where his body had drifted through the windshield.

PRISON RODEO

Convicts Stage Wild Performances

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI)—Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes quit talking early so the third weekly Texas Prison Rodeo could get underway Sunday.

"You came to see a rodeo, not to hear a speech," said Barnes, who opened the events. It was quite a rodeo.

A convict cowboy was thrown by a wild bronc, three others were gored by a Brahman bull and a prison system photographer was slammed against a fence by a running calf.

Leon Thibodeaux of Liberty, serving a five year sentence, received a head injury when the bronc threw him in the wild horse race.

Willie Gregg of Longview, serving 10 years; Joe Leyda of Austin, serving 12 years; and Bobby Vandiver of Dallas, serving three years; were gored as they tried to grab a sack of coins from between the horns of the rampaging bull.

All the injured were admitted to the prison hospital, but Gregg and Leyda got more out of the experience than the others. They split the $25 prize for the event.

F.L. Ricks, 45, of Huntsville, received an injured ear and bruises and lost a camera when the calf knocked him against a fence. He has been shooting rodeo pictures for 11 years and said this was the first time he ever had any trouble.

"Imagine getting hit by a calf," he said.

Eugene Pope of Fort Worth, serving 12 years, won the $50 hard money prize for the third week in a row.

South Viets Kill 96 Guerrillas In Invasion Of U Minh Forest

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese soldiers who replaced U.S. troops in the Mekong Delta reported today they killed 96 guerrillas in the first invasion of the U Minh Forest, a Communist stronghold, in 14 months.

The offensive into the forest—known as the "Forest of Darkness"—touched off the heaviest fighting reported since the current battle lull began Sept. 17. Six government troops were killed and 16 wounded.

Troops of the South Vietnamese 7th Division swarmed into the 40-mile-long jungle on their nation's southeast coast Sunday aboard U.S. helicopters. One copter was shot down, wounding one American crewman.

In other significant developments: —The United States shipped 10 North Vietnamese seamen home aboard a junk today. They sailed northward from coastal Cua Viet below the Demilitarized Zone. The return of the 10, captured in a typhoon offshore in July, was aimed at bringing the release of more U.S. prisoners from North Vietnam.

—A total of 785 Marine airmen began withdrawing from the war zone today and headed for Okinawa as part of President Nixon's pullout of 35,000 more men.

—U.S. headquarters reported the first "significant" Communist ground attack since Oct. 5, an assault that killed five Marines and wounded five Sunday on the northern coast. Four attackers' bodies were found later.

The government troops who invaded the forest 142 miles southeast of Saigon recently replaced soldiers of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division who were sent home in August under the American pullout plan.

Even more GIs were leaving the war zone today—the lead elements of 785 U.S. Marine airmen ticketed for withdrawal by Wednesday for Okinawa. They will take 68 helicopters and planes with them.

Military spokesmen acknowledged Sunday that the division had abandoned its Vandergift combat base, the northwestern-most US bastion in South Vietnam, leaving the area bordering Laos without Allied ground defenses.

Military spokesmen said the attack that took costly Marine losses, killing five and wounding five Sunday morning, was the first "significant" Communist ground assault since Oct. 5. The attackers lost four killed in the fighting near Quang Ngai City on the northern coast.

The guerrillas opened up with a 100-round mortar barrage and then stormed into the camp manned by a 12-man Marine pacification team and South Vietnamese soldiers. The Allied troops summoned U.S. Army reinforcements to drive back the assault.

It was one of several skirmishes that flared across the battlefield Sunday, killing a total of seven Americans and wounding 17 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese losses were listed by military spokesmen as 11 dead.

Five County Police Forces To Pool Information On 'Zodiac'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Police from five San Francisco Bay area counties meet today to pool information on a killer who calls himself "Zodiac" and has bragged of five slayings—and warns there may be more.

Authorities said psychiatrists would participate in an effort to find some clue to the killer in the strange, cryptic notes he has mailed to newspapers and police.

San Francisco's homicide detail was beefed up during the weekend to handle more than 1,000 tips phoned in by the public.

Inspector William Armstrong said the tips ranged from the possibility the killer "might be identifying" with a Dick Tracy comic strip character named "Scorpio" to "every other conceivable thing you can think of."

State Atty. Gen. Thomas Lynch made a personal plea for the Zodiac to surrender, promising to see "that he gets help and that all of his rights are protected."

Vallejo Police Capt. Wade Bird believes the killer "will prove to be a genius who got so far out he went over the edge." Wade has been pursuing the cipher-writing slayer since a teen-age couple was found shot to death in a lovers lane last December.

The next two victims were young women killed in attacks on July 4 near Vallejo and Sept. 27 near Lake Berryessa in Napa County. In each case the male companion of the victim was seriously wounded.

A massive search for the killer got under way a week ago after a cab driver was shot to death in San Francisco. The killer mailed a bloody piece of the victim's shirt to a San Francisco newspaper and warned that his next target may be a school bus full of children.

He said in a note he might "just shoot-out the front tires and then pick off the kiddies as they come bouncing out."

Zodiac has been described as white, 30 to 40 years old, heavy in build, with short brown hair. Witnesses to the slaying of the cab driver said he wore glasses and had on a parka-like jacket.

Closure Of Firms Ask By Attorney General

MIAMI (UPI)—Florida Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth, in an attempt to pry loose Mafia "tentacles deep in our society," makes an all-out legal effort today to close 15 Miami resort motels and two other businesses he contends are manipulated by organized crime.

Faircloth said he would file a total of 21 suits in circuit court under a new state law designed to shut down "mobster-dominated businesses through civil rather than criminal courts."

The lawsuits, the first of their kind in the United States, seek to remove the corporations' charters and issue injunctions against any further business operations of the persons concerned.

In addition to the more than $40 million worth of motels involved in the litigation, the targets include the Bonfire Restaurant in North Bay Village and a North Dade County sports information service.

Faircloth, a candidate for the 1970 Democratic gubernatorial nomination, would not confirm reports that reputed underworld boss Meyer Lansky was the prime object of the crackdown.

"Of course, Mr. Lansky has been widely heralded as the financial wizard of organized crime," Faircloth said. "He is the genius at infiltrating legitimate business. If the chips fall that way, I hope they will."

The lawsuits are partly based on information solicited during a legislative probe of organized crime in South Florida headed by state Sen. Robert Shevin.

Shevin, who helped draft the 1969 law cited by Faircloth, said Lansky had been subpoenaed several times to appear before the committee but "each time he left the state."

Many of the persons named in the suits pleaded the Fifth Amendment before Shevin's investigating committee, but Faircloth pointed out corporations cannot claim the protection of the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination.

The attorney general said the Florida Legislature decided to wage war on organized crime through civil courts because "in civil cases you only have to have a preponderance of evidence. When you get into criminal court, you have to establish proof beyond the shadow of a doubt."

The organization has tentacles deep in our society. I suspect we will create a barrel

Soviets Attack Mao's Policies At Border Talks

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviets went into their border negotiations with Communist China in Peking today with an attack on what their top ideologist called Mao Tse-tung's "adventurist, chauvinistic" policies.

For the first time in five years, the two Communist giants were meeting in high-level discussions in an attempt to solve the differences that have threatened war along their 4,347-mile frontier. A similar 1964 meeting ended in failure.

What the Soviet negotiator in Peking had to say about the talks and what his superiors were saying in Moscow conflicted sharply. No quick or long-standing agreement was expected in the conference.

The Kremlin's top troubleshooter, First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasili V. Kuznetsov, arrived in Peking Sunday and told the Chinese: "We hope the talks will be fruitful and will benefit our countries and peoples."

In Moscow, the Kremlin's leading ideologist wrote that the Chinese were trying to split the Communist world, unleashing one of the most concentrated anti-Peking propaganda blasts in recent months.

First Hearing Into Kopechne Case Today

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UPI)—The first formal hearing into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne opens today. Dist. Atty. Edmund S. Dinis of Massachusetts is expected to call at least five witnesses, including the scuba diver who recovered her body.

The 28-year-old Washington, D.C., secretary died July 18 when the automobile of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, in which she was riding, plunged off a bridge into a tidal pool at Chappaquiddick Island, Mass.

Judge Bernard C. Erominski will preside at the hearing.

Dinis' probable witnesses were Dr. Donald R. Mills, associate medical examiner of Dukes County, Mass., Police chief Dominic J. Arena of Edgartown, Mass., scuba diver John N. Farrar who recovered the body; Funeral Director Eugene H. Friebe of Martha's Vineyard, and Dr. Robert W. Nevins, Dukes County medical examiner.

Mills, who examined the girl's body, ruled that death was due to drowning. Nevins criticized him for failing to order an autopsy.

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kopechne of Berkeley Heights, N.J., oppose efforts to exhume her body from the cemetery in nearby Larksville.

Dinis' petitions for a hearing said an autopsy was needed to resolve "doubt and suspicion surrounding the death" of the blonde victim. Brominski twice rejected motions by the Massachusetts petitions.

The 47-year-old judge said a hearing with witnesses examined under oath would best serve the "interests of both the public and the Kopechnes."

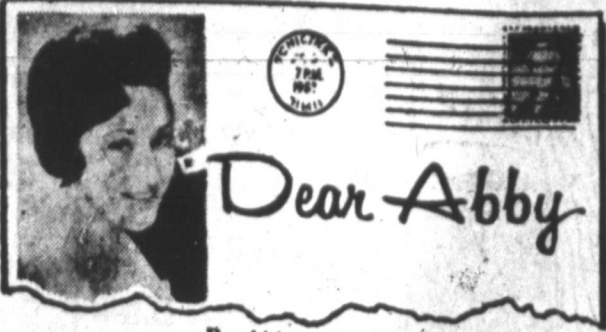

"Only a hearing will bring to light facts," Brominski said. He claimed it would enable him to resolve the "ultimate question" of whether to permit exhumation and an autopsy.

Brominski's Oct. 9 decision noted that a synopsis of Pennsylvania laws showed "Courts have never hesitated to have a body exhumed" if the application appeared "reasonable" and sought to "elicit truth in the promotion of justice."

If it comes from a Hdwe. store we have it. Lewis Hdwe. (Adv.)

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: That letter from the wife of a prominent newscaster — and your answer — stopped me cold.

She complained because so many lady viewers "fell in love" with her husband, and they wrote him "love letters" and even asked to meet him "anywhere — anytime." She asked you what kind of woman could "fall in love" with a television personality? You replied, "Probably one with a ten-year-old mentality who has nothing better to do all day than to watch television."

I'm not so sure I agree with you. There is a certain news commentator who turns me on. Loving him from a distance has its rewards. Just think of all the trouble we will avert if we never meet? Oh, Eric... where are you?

DEAR WILMA: I think I know. He's with his wife. (Pity!)

DEAR ABBY: I am 27 and my husband is 25. I never realized how immature he was until he returned recently from a year in Vietnam. He was there in a very safe capacity. In fact he never once fired a gun.

While he was gone I gained 40 pounds. When he saw me he hit the ceiling and gave me an ultimatum. I have to lose 15 pounds in one week and the entire 40 pounds in a month or else he moves out and files for a divorce. Do you not think that is a little extreme? I might add that I gained all this weight right after my mother died. She was an invalid for many years and I took complete care of her.

DEAR MAD: Attempting to lose 40 pounds in one month is unwise and dangerous. Get a checkup and a sensible diet from your doctor and try to lose at a reasonable rate. Then you give your husband an ultimatum. Tell him you're doing the best you can and if that's not good enough he had better come up with a better excuse to dump you.

DEAR ABBY: I have a boy who is cheeky to me and will not do as he is told. I have tried smacking him and sending him to bed, and even making him do without things, which helps a little sometimes — but not always.

I also have a little girl who is five, and she has started to copy him. If I take them shopping and they misbehave, I simply smack the two of them. Of course they cry good and loud and attract attention, and then people look at me as though I've done something terribly wrong. Can you help me with this problem?

CYNTHIA in BELFAST, IRELAND DEAR CYNTHIA: To "smack" a child on his bottom is one thing — and sometimes fitting. But to deliver blows to the head and face are often painful, dangerous, humiliating, and quite excessive for the boo-boo. There must be a better way.

Old Favorite Reaches New Status

NEW YORK (NEA) — Corduroy, long considered a staple for all little children, has jumped its schoolyard traces and is making big fashion news. It's making news with a new quality called ribless which looks like velvets or velvet but retains corduroy's built-in wearability. This new face of corduroy is just what the doctor (or mom) ordered for party clothes that crawl on the floor or end up with ice-cream-in-the-lap.

Corduroy is also "jumping" into fashion in all the new shapes and trimmings. Some jumpers have cut-outs at the waistline or deep Vs underarm and are worn over a striped leotard and tights. Some are front-laced in the western manner. Others are suspended low and attached to a swinging flip of a skirt. Corduroy is pointing up the revolution in young men's wear in dapper Donegal tweed printed Norfolk suits. It goes sportive in big plaid, wide-wale slacks which bridge the generation gap with dad. It's at its most elegant in a shaped, ribless, littlest Edwardian suit.

This fabric is making news in puffed, in argyles, giant plaids, Scandinavian patterns and coming on in high fashion colors such as dusty pinks, blues and the newest neutrals — pearly gray and honey beige.

Corduroy is in the fashion game and all the kids are ready to play.

PTA Committee Sets Study Course

Parent Teacher Association's planning committee has organized a five-weeks Study Course on Drug Abuse which will start Nov. 4 and continue through Dec. 2. Aim of the 12-week committee is to educate parents on drug abuse.

Mrs. Steve Odum is committee chairman for the program which was chosen as this year's PTA study. The study is a result of narcotics agent's investigation of drug use in Pampa, according to Mrs. Odum.

In the organizational meeting Friday, Mrs. Odum said "the number of Pampa youngsters known to be involved in drug experimentation and abuse is a small part of our youth population, but while the number may be small, the rate of increase is alarming."

"Consequences of drug experimentation may cause serious physical and mental disorders. Overdoses, particularly barbiturates, when taken with alcohol, may result in unconsciousness or death; unless proper medical treatment is given immediately," Mrs. Odum said.

The purpose of study is to acquaint parents with the kinds of drugs used by youth, the possible reactions, and symptoms, and methods of preventing their use.

All meetings will be held in Carver Educational Services Center, 321 W. Albert. Chester Fant, service officer of safety education service of Texas will present slides and a film on marijuana at the first meeting, at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 4. Parents and teenagers are welcome to attend, Mrs. Paul Mitchell, a committee organizer, said.

Other meetings scheduled are 10 a.m. Nov. 11; 10 a.m. Nov. 18; 10 a.m. Nov. 25 and 7:30 p.m. Dec. 2. Speakers will be George Wallace, assistant chief of Pampa police; Ron Cross, Pampa Daily News reporter; Kenneth Evans, Highway patrolman, Dr. Royce Laycock, a Pampa physician, Jim Woods, Pampa policeman, and Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan.

DIES OF CANCER
GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI)—Arnie Herber, passing whiz of the Green Bay Packers in the 1930s and later named to pro football's Hall of Fame, died at the age of 59 of cancer.

SCHEDULE GAMES
SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors announced they will play three of their regular-season National Basketball Association games here—Nov. 10 against San Diego, Dec. 9 against Atlanta and Feb. 16 against Boston.

Rams, Cowboys Remain Unbeaten

By United Press International
The National Football League championship game is scheduled for Jan. 4, 1970, but a sneak preview may be forthcoming Nov. 23 when the Dallas Cowboys play the Los Angeles Rams in a regular season contest.
The two clubs were treated to record performances by their respective quarterbacks Sunday as both ran their records to 5-0 with convincing victories.

The quarterbacks in question are Craig Morton of the Cowboys and Roman Gabriel of the Rams, physically two of the bigger signal callers in the game with both standing 6-foot-4 and each weighing 215 pounds.

Morton Ties Record
Despite a sore shoulder, Morton tied a Dallas club record by throwing five touchdowns in victory over the Philadelphia Eagles. All five scoring tosses came in the first half, three to Lance Rentzel and the others to Bob Hayes and Pettis Norman.
Gabriel, who passed for two touchdowns and ran for two more in Los Angeles' 34-21 victory over the Green Bay Packers, etched his name into the Rams' record book when he became the club's all-time leading passer with a career total of 1,019 completions. The former mack of 1.011 was held by Norm Van Brocklin.
For those who believe in signs, Gabriel may have the only advantage he needs over Morton when the Rams and Cowboys meet. Gabriel, along with teammate Merlin Olsen, appeared in a movie during the off-season entitled "The Unde-feated."
In other NFL games, Minnesota beat St. Louis, 27-10; Washington tripped New York, 20-14; Baltimore clubbed New Orleans, 30-10; Atlanta upset San Francisco, 21-7; Detroit held off Chicago, 13-7; and in a contest played Saturday night, Cleveland outlasted Pittsburgh, 42-31.

Caps Rally With TD
Rickie Harris scooted 88 yards with a punt return for a touchdown that capped a 20-point second half rally and powered Washington past New York.
Johnny Unitas looked like the "Johnny U." of old as he completed 20 of 28 passes for 309 yards and three touchdowns in the Colts' triumph over the Saints.
Falcons' safety Jim Weatherford scored a touchdown by romping 74 yards with a recovered fumble and stopped two possible San Francisco scores with a pass interception and a second fumble recovery as Atlanta beat the winless Forty Niners for the second time this season.
Errol Mann booted second-half field goals of 20 and 46 yards to help Detroit beat winless Chicago and keep the Lions one game behind Minnesota in the Central Division.

Pampa Tests Winless Horns In Amarillo

Decision time may become a happening Friday night for North Zone District 4-AAAA football teams when Monterey and Amarillo, the zone's only unbeaten meet in Lubbock.
Both Monterey and Amarillo posted victories last week to go to 2-0 in league action and the Friday night winner can probably claim the zone title.
A Monterey victory wouldn't necessarily mean all the marbles for the Plainsmen who still must face dangerous Borger. Amarillo, should it clip Monterey, has only Caprock, winless standing in its way.
Palo Duro could go to 3-0 in the South zone by whipping Tascosa Saturday. The Dons rolled by Coronado, 20-0, last week to send its season mark to 8-0.
Pampa should win its first league game in three outings and second contest of the year when the Harvesters travel to Amarillo to play Caprock (0-4) and 0-2 in the north zone.

Jets, Namath Test Houston Defense

By United Press International
Daryle Lamonica didn't wait for "Heidi" this year.
A year ago, NBC-TV, which televises the American Football League "Game of the Week," pulled a classic boner by cutting into the end of the New York Jets-Oakland Raiders game to show a two-hour special of the famed children's book, "Heidi."
The Raiders and "Heidi" were both scheduled for NBC Sunday. Rallying behind the six touchdown passes of Lamonica, the Raiders took command early and soundly thrashed the Buffalo Bills, 50-21. The Raiders even got the job done before the scheduled air time of the children's classic.

In other AFL action, Kansas City defeated Miami, 17-10; San Diego beat Boston, 13-10; and Denver topped Cincinnati, 30-23. The Jets entertain the Houston Oilers at Shea Stadium tonight.
Oakland, which remained in first place in the Western Division with a 5-0-1 record, led 42-0 late in the second quarter before Buffalo scored on a 39-yard pass from Jim Harris to Haven Moses.
The Kansas City Chiefs held on to second place in the West by riding the passing of Mike Livingston to a 17-0 halftime advantage, then staving off a late Miami rally.

Nicklaus Wins Sahara, Arnie Is Way Back

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—It was a long time between victories for Jack Nicklaus and it's a still longer time for Arnold Palmer.
Nicklaus, 29, who has taken 15 pounds off his portly frame in the past three weeks with high protein diet, had not won a golf tournament since February when he took the Andy Williams San Diego Open.
That was up until Sunday when he ran away with his fourth Sahara Invitational, taking first by four strokes over the runnerup, Frank Beard, and totaling 272, 12 under par, for 72 holes. Nicklaus won $20,000 to add to the $74,000 already won in 1969.
Beard, 30, pro golf's leading money winner this year, went into the final round of the tournament with a one-stroke edge over Nicklaus but he could not hold it as the "Big Bear" from Ohio (he still tips the scales at 195) made four birdies on the front nine and two on the backside in his round of 65. Par for 68 holes on the Sahara-Nevada course is 36-35-71.
Palmer, 40, has not won a tournament all year. He entered the Sahara after a two-month rest because of a sore right hip. He finished with a 285 total, one over par, in a tie for 34th place and won $493.33. His rounds were 69-75-68-73.
He will test the hip again at the San Francisco Open this week.
Beard, 30, a laconic Kentuckian, had rounds of 69-72-65-70 for his total of 276, eight under, good for $11,400. He leads the money winners with $171,000.00.
Dale Douglass, 33, Denver, Colo., made a run for first in the final round but failed on the 18th green when he took a bogey six.

Weekend Sports Summary

Saturday
NEW YORK (UPI)—Hawaii scored his third straight stakes triumph by winning the $113,300 Man O'War at Belmont Park Saturday. The South African-bred horse, with Jorge Velasquez riding, covered the mile and a half in 2:27 1-5, a fifth of a second better than the previous record.
ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI)—Wilkes College of Pennsylvania lost its first football game in five years Saturday when Ithaca College scored by 13-7. Wilkes had won 32 straight.
MONTREAL (UPI)—The New York Rangers and the Montreal Canadiens staged a wild nine-goal final period Saturday night as Montreal won, 7-3. The Canadiens scored six times, the Rangers three in the third period. NHL record for goals scored by both teams in a single period is 10.
CHICAGO (UPI)—Nodouble winner of the Hawthorne Gold Cup in 1968, repeated in the $124,280 event Saturday, scoring by four lengths over VIF. Eddie Belmonte rode Nodouble, who covered the mile and one quarter distance in 1:59 4-5 under top weight of 125 pounds.
DETROIT (UPI)—Jerome Drayton of Toronto set a North American record of 2:12 in winning the Motor City Marathon Sunday. Rod Wainwright of Sudbury, Ont. was second and Bill Allen of Toronto third in the 26 mile, 385-yard test.
MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Pancho Segura defeated Antonio Palafox 6-8, 6-2, 6-3 and Pachito Gonzalez downed Alex Olmedo 6-1, 7-5 in matches played during ceremonies naming Mexico City's tennis stadium for Rafael Ossa, the Davis Cup star who died in a plane crash early this year.
PARIS (UPI)—Karabas, a four-year-old owned by Lord Iveagh and ridden by Lester Piggott, won the Prix du Conseil Municipal Sunday at Longchamp. There were 19 starters in the $45,000 event.
ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Brown University, with 40 points, won the 40th annual McMillan cup sailing regatta on Chesapeake Bay Sunday. Princeton was second with 39 and Harvard third with 36. The eight-man yachts competed in five races.
Holy Cow! It's Casey Again In Staff Selections
Pampa News Advertising Manager Jim Casey, improving with age, set a record, much to everyone's surprise, when he won the News' Weekly Staff Selections for the third straight week.
Casey, as hot the last three weeks as the New York Mets, and just as surprising, guessed correctly on 22 of the 25 games with the Notre Dame-Southern Cal. game ending in a tie.
By virtue of his win this week Casey moved into a first place tie with Chico Ramirez for the season lead, both standing at 99-25.
Ranirez, Al Bassett, Doris Wilson and Ron Cross, all posted 19-5 records while Bill Heckathorn finished second with a 20-4 mark. Other staffers and their finishes were: Gene Schneider, 16-8; Tex DeWeese, 15-9; Ricky Clark, 17-7 and Press Doudna, 17-7.

Wheeler, McLean In Top Area Attraction

The irresistible force meets the immovable object Friday night in McLean when the Tigers play host to Wheeler in an important District 2-A league game for both teams.
Wheeler won its second straight game last week and went 1-0 in league play, along with Clarendon and McLean. The Tigers shrugged off two straight losses to start its league play in winning fashion by downing Happy, 19-8.
Although it's four weeks until the football season ends unbeaten Clarendon looks unstopable and either Wheeler or McLean probably has the best chance of upsetting the Bronchos.
Wheeler has finally got its offense moving, mostly on the running of Roy Don Chick and David Britt, while McLean got its finest defensive effort of the season and best offensive show against Happy.
Clarendon should have another easy week by playing host to the Cowboys and Silverton hosts Claude.
In District 1-A pre-season conference favorite Gruver, who's been having its troubles of late, plays host to revamped Canadian.
Gruver, Canadian and White Deer all won its league openers Friday night with possibly the Bucks making the best show by downing previously unbeaten Sunray, 7-6.
Canadian must meet Gruver on the Greyhounds home field but the Wildcats defense has played inspired ball in its last three outings. Gruver barely nudged a so-so Sanford-Fritch team, 12-8 last week.
White Deer, who seems to have finally put it all together, journeys to Stratford and shouldn't take the Eagles lightly. Stratford (2-2-2) is enjoying one of its best seasons ever and are always tough at home. In the other 1-A game Sunray is at Sanford-Fritch.
District 5B's Lefors and Groom open league play and the Pirates finally get to tackle Booker, after an open date last week, at the Klawas home park. Booker has lost three straight, losing to Beaver, Okla. 42-14 last week.
Groom is the cream of the crop in the Pampa area and the Tigers put their 6-0 record on the line at home by playing host to Texline (1-4) a team that's been having its troubles.
Miami will host Darroulette in an eight-man game in the Warriors homecoming. The Warriors did everything but score points last week against Turpin and should prove plenty tough for Darroulette.
ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals activated rookie Vernon Emerson, a 260-pound offensive tackle from the University of Minnesota at Duluth. Emerson replaces safety Mike Wilson, placed on the injured list.

A spokesman for the Falcons said there was definitely ligament damage to Nobis' right knee but it isn't certain how long Nobis will be out of action.

OUR CAPSULE POLICY

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TEXAS PANHANDLE TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa Daily News believes each and every person would get fore satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a voluntary basis rather than having any part of it distributed involuntarily.

(Permission is hereby granted to reproduce in whole or in part any editorials originated by the The News and appearing in these columns, provided proper credit is given.)

Inflation And Leisure

There is not much that ordinary Americans can do to fight inflation, beyond voting down school bond issues or writing their congressmen.

They can, of course, refuse to pay high prices for goods or services that are not absolute necessities.

But in this age of affluence, few things are not considered necessities. For many families, two cars have become the essential minimum. Few people, even on the tightest budget, deprive themselves of a television set.

Or Americans could bank what excess money they have each month, earning interest on their savings while awaiting the day when prices come down, or at least stabilize. This would also take some of the heat off the economy.

But working against this is the conviction that prices will never be lower than they are today. Thus it is better to spend now. Better yet—borrow now, even with high interest rates, for the debt you take on today will be paid off with cheaper dollars tomorrow.

There is another defense against inflation, and this is the one that more and more Americans are being forced to adopt: To fight fire with fire; to beat inflation at its own game by bringing in more income, either by negotiating higher wages, by moonlighting on a second job, by adding additional bread-winners to the family, or by a combination of the three.

This defense was underlined in a recent article on Hawaii by Carlton Smith and Richard Putnam Pratt, financial writer for Newspaper Enterprise Association.

They cited that state, which is one of the costliest places in the nation to live, as a portent of what's ahead for all the other states if inflation continues to push prices ever higher.

Hawaii not only has the highest percentage of working wives in the nation, it also leads the nation in the percentage of families with three or more wage earners.

Using Hawaii as a guide, the writers made a highly provocative observation:

"Our society, thanks to inflation, seems to be coming full circle back to the 19th century and the burden of work from which the social reformers thought they had delivered us." While they ascribe this phenomenon to inflation, the rising scale of living and rising expectations and desires must undoubtedly be important factors in it too.

Whatever the cause or causes, however, if Americans are earning more on the average and they are living better on the average, it is largely because, in more and more families, more of their members are working, and working at more jobs and for more total hours than probably ever before in history.

The worries expressed by sociologists only a few years ago about what Americans were going to do with all their leisure time when automation took over and the three-day work week became the norm may have been a bit premature.

Pollution With Benefits

Now it's thermal pollution that is causing worry among those concerned with the health of the environment.

Thermal pollution is the discharge into rivers or streams of water heated by industrial processes. A rise of only a few degrees in the temperature of a river can have drastic effects on its aquatic life.

Thermal pollution is especially a problem, or potential problem, in connection with nuclear power plants, which use vast quantities of water for cooling.

From Britain, however, comes a report that fish that were raised in warm sea water discharged from a nuclear station in Ayrshire grew much faster than normally. Dover sole reached marketable size in 18 months compared to the three years required by fish living in cold water.

According to one authority, a new industry may be in the making and every British power station may someday have a fish farm. Harvesting the fish could bring another side benefit—lower bills for electricity consumers.

In this country, two utility-financed projects are under way in Oregon to investigate the beneficial uses of heated water on croplands. It's believed that water from power plants or mills can stimulate plant growth as well as protect fruit trees from frosts, either through irrigation or by heating the ground with pipes.

In one experimental plot, corn planted in heated soil was found to be about a foot taller than corn grown in unheated soil. String beans had germinated faster and were fuller than beans in unheated soil.

A great deal remains to be learned about thermal pollution, but it may not be unrealistic to hope that it may provide another example of a sow's ear of a problem, created by technology, being turned into some sort of silk-purse asset, also by technology.

Law Officers Need Help

Do you like to go camping? Then wake up. One of the nation's vital resources is in danger—our recreation areas.

Mr. Joseph W. Bennett, in his recently published and revealing book, "Vandals Wild," has stated that by the year 2000... we'll have 16 to 20 million destructive vandals desecrating our parks and waterways. Presently 95 per cent of the population is allowing 5 per cent of the population to desecrate and ruin things that are meaningful to us. Widespread destruction done out of pure cussedness is common. In one Oregon county, officials became so outraged over vandalism in a park that they closed it. The park was reopened after one resident volunteered information leading to the arrest and prosecution of the vandals involved.

It is up to the private citizen to help do something about this deliberate, lawless and costly destruction. If a cure is not found, closure of our public playgrounds and recreation areas will be in order. No one wishes to pay taxes to provide vandals with property to destroy. So concerned citizens should help the authorities apprehend the destroyers.

Misleading News

Reports of late have indicated substantial increases in farm prices. Typical of these reports is a recent item in the business section of a large daily newspaper on the West Coast. The item concerns Oregon farmers. It says, "Prices received by Oregon farmers for their products average 6 per cent higher than they did a year ago." Reports like this appearing all over the country leave the impression farmers are enjoying a high level of prosperity. Nothing is said about the other side of the coin.

However, in this instance on the same page of the same newspaper, there is another report issued from the Oregon State Capital. It states: "Oregon farmers had a gross income of $512.8 million last year, and made smaller profits because of rising costs." Unfortunately, both sides of the farmers' financial picture are seldom printed side by side in this manner. The simple truth is that farmers have been less able to keep abreast of inflation than have other groups.

Here's Good Club To Join -And No Dues

By D. R. SEGAL

I am presently organizing the Millard Fillmore Society and you are welcome to join. We have no officers, no tax-exemption certificate, no secret handclaps, blood oaths and no racial hangups. The only requirement is that when you phone a man at his office and his secretary asks "Who's calling, please?" you are obliged to reply, "Millard Fillmore." That's it.

I have, for years, experimented with various alternatives. A pretty good one is, "Just tell him it's that woman's husband." Click!

There is a certain type of executive who can be reached instantly with, "This is the IRS calling to explain why we found it necessary to attach his bank accounts."

For awhile I told secretaries I was Rudolph Bing who, as everybody knows, invented the cherries. When a secretary asks you who you are and you reply 'Rudolph Bing,' she almost invariably comes back with this blockbuster: "Huh?" Sorry, Rudy, we're pretty far from the Met.

I once gave the name Giovanni Battista to the secretary of a Roman Catholic bishop when she asked who was calling. She told me the bishop was in conference and couldn't be disturbed. I told her to write down my name and ask him to call—he'd know the number. Giovanni Battista is somewhat better known as Pope Paul Peace.

Maybe it doesn't annoy you to be asked who's calling, but it chaps me. Makes me wonder if I am on the list of people to whom the Great One will give a few minutes of his time. There is a variation of the "who's calling?" gambit. It goes, "May I tell The Chief who's calling?" If you say, "No," the world comes to an end for the little sparrow.

I used the name Alf Landon for awhile and it never raised a pulse, except when I called an executive on the Kansas City Star. He remembered.

But lately I have gone entirely over to Millard Fillmore. It has a fine ring to it. Maybe it's a little fancy, but there is always the chance the secretary will get mixed up and tell her boss Fillard Millmore. Millard Fillmore sounds like somebody you ought to recall but can't.

Is he that new pop singer or one of the wife's deadbeat relatives? Better put him on and find out. A secretary in Angeles once asked me, "And what company do you represent, Mr. Fillmore?" I said, "The Tippecanoe & Tyler Tool Works." She said, "Thank you" and put her lord on the phone. They deserve each other.

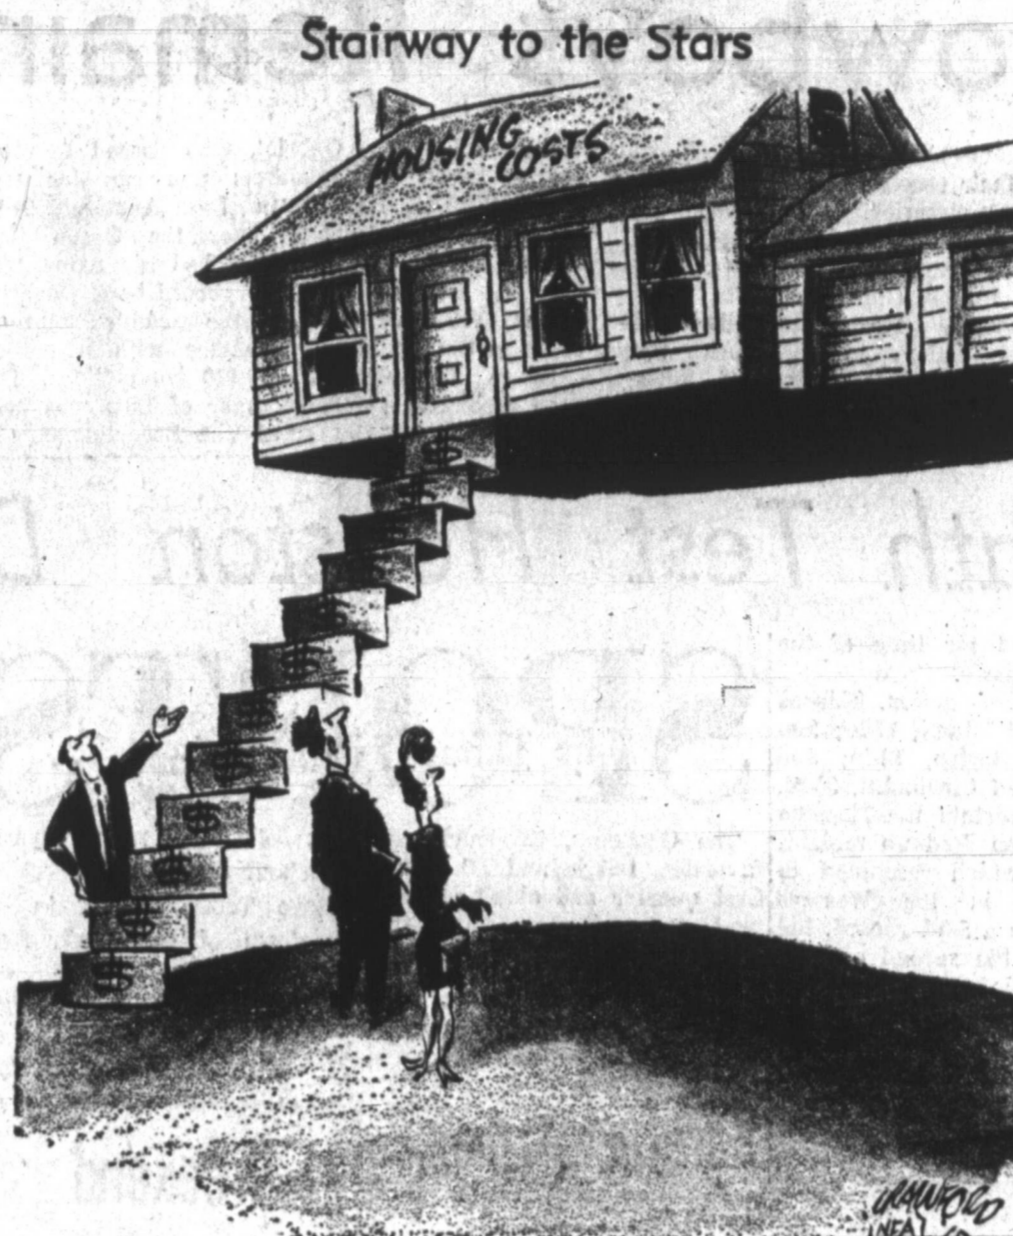

A friend of mine used to write for the New Yorker under the name Nosmo King. He got it a sign in the corridor, put up by the fire department. I have used Nosmo King on the phone myself. A nice variation is Nopar King. They's kin.

I freely admit that all of this is sheer, insupportable prejudice and that there are hundreds of excellent reasons why secretaries should ask me who I am but I can't think of one and never could. Every time I discuss this in print I get some heated replies. If you want to lay one on me, mail me a letter. My secretary has instructions not to put you on the line unless you are terribly important.

And if you want to join the Millard Fillmore Society, consider yourself in.

WIT AND WHIMS

At a certain golf club, a handsome trophy had been put up for a competition open only to members who had never won a prize. At the presentation of the prize, the winner, a very popular player, made a speech of thanks. "I think this has been a wonderful idea," he said, "this trophy for players who have never won a prize before. And to celebrate my victory in a fitting way, I want to stand drinks to everybody here who has never had a drink before."

U.S.-Trained Physicists Spared In Chinese Purge

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Several curious aspects come to light from Communist China's latest nuclear explosions: They were announced to the accompaniment of vigorous attacks on the United States—not Russia. But information reaching this reporter from Japan and Hong Kong indicates a thoroughgoing purge centered on top Chinese nuclear scientists with a history of Russian study, visits or scientific cooperation.

The crackdown was extremely light on top Chinese nuclear scientists with a U.S. background.

The purges, in fact, seem to have left the American-trained men in firm control of both nuclear and missile development.

Take one example: The three top men in Communist China's nuclear program were Ch'ien San-ch'iang, Wang Kan-ch'ang and Chao Chung-yao. Ch'ien San-ch'iang and Wang had Soviet connections. Both were arrested and imprisoned on charges of treason and spying for the Soviet Union.

Chao had an American-Western background. He received his Ph. D. from the California Institute of Technology. Chao was untouched.

With Some Reservation

By INJUN WOODY

I bet you a beaver blanket the Ruskiies are happy as a boy with two snakes today. They have just found out that a Russian made MIG 17 Jet plane can come into Florida slicker than shaving cream.

We have spent billions of the folding green for Radar protection but as it turns out we would be better off with a ring of Boy Scouts using Bonaguars. The Defense Dept. says, "Because of the short time between radar contact and visual sighting, no planes were 'scrambled' to intercept.

Ain't that nice? The plane would never have been picked up at all if the pilot hadn't brought it up to a 1000 feet to cruise around and get his bearings. Even then, if he had been loaded with bombs, it would have been too late to prevent blowing Miami out of the realm of being.

Why, G. Jimenez, after the pilot got to Homestead he dipped his wings, which is an international request to land. The wings also dip when you release bombs. After wing dipping awhile he put his wheels down.

Col. Segura, commander of the Tactical Fighter Wing at Homestead said, "any plane that comes in with his wheels down is allowed to land. If he comes in with his landing gear up he will be shot down."

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT
Biomedical Engineer
Vital in Health Team

The time when one man could embrace the entire field of medical practice is long past. One of the latest and most important members to join the health team is the biomedical engineer. This specialty got a tremendous boost from the needs of our astronauts. Without biomedical engineering research, their feats in space could not have been accomplished.

Feats closer to earth have been equally impressive. They include the artificial kidney, heart-lung machine, radioisotope scanning devices, the iron lung, artificial heart valves and cardiac pacemakers. More recently, a technique has been worked out whereby a computer can pick up the electrical impulses of the heart and interpret them within a few seconds with amazing accuracy. This may in time replace the conventional electrocardiograph.

A new ultrasound device can produce bright images of pulsating blood vessels—structures that do not usually show up on an X-ray film. This will be a valuable aid to diagnosis. A new "scalpel" does its cutting by means of a jet of argon gas only one 7,000th of an inch in diameter and hotter than the sun's corona.

With it, surgeons can operate on highly vascular areas without drawing any blood, because the intense heat vaporizes tissues and seals off the blood vessels.

Thermographs project a map of the hot spots in an area and thus reveal cancer or inflammatory diseases in which the deviation from the temperature of the surrounding tissue is too slight to be appreciated by touch alone. An artificial arm that can be controlled by signals from the brain has been perfected. Although it weighs only two pounds, it can hold a weight of 50 pounds and lift one of 10 pounds.

Taking a tip from the Hovercraft, which maintains its lift through a downward jet of air a Hoverbed has been developed. Its upward jet will support a badly burned patient and keep him airborne for 24 hours. This treatment allows the burned area to dry quickly without surgical dressings, minimizes the danger of infection and reduces the loss of body fluids.

These are just a few of the fruits of biomedical engineering.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt can't answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future

Blasted on Manual for Riots 'No Backbone'—OEO Director ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Anti-poverty director Donald Rumsfeld is being bluntly assailed as lacking the "backbone" to control the programs and policies of the agency over which he is nominally the head.

This outspokenly harsh denunciation is particularly significant as it comes from an influential Republican member of the House Education and Labor Committee that has jurisdiction over the long-pending anti-poverty legislation.

He is Rep. William Scherle, Iowa, who has long been sharply critical of the Office of Economic Opportunity, now directed by Rumsfeld. Until he took that job last spring, he and Scherle were House colleagues—Rumsfeld as a Republican congressman from Illinois.

Cause of Scherle's ire is what he considers Rumsfeld's pussy-footing on an amazing "Trainer's Manual for Community Action Agency Boards" that was distributed by OEO last August—without Rumsfeld knowing anything about it.

Consisting of two volumes, totaling 590 pages, the extraordinary manual is filled with highly inflammatory and extremist pronouncements. A graphic example is the declaration that recourse to rioting as the "ultimate threat power" is a proper means for gaining desired community action.

Last month Scherle made repeated efforts to get Rumsfeld to recall the manual. But to no avail. Not only was Scherle unable to see Rumsfeld personally, but he got the run-around from other OEO officials and even the White House.

Finally, he sent a scorching letter to Rumsfeld giving him 24 hours to reply or Scherle would place the matter directly before the full House.

Shortly before the deadline, Rumsfeld sent a placatory reply. It consisted of a copy of memorandum notifying OEO officials throughout the country that the controversial and explosive "Trainer's Manual" is to be revised. Pending that, it is not to be considered as in effect.

Scherle indignantly rejects this move as wholly inadequate and weak-kneed.

THE RIOT ACT—The plain-talking Iowa legislator caustically points out that Rumsfeld's memorandum gives no indication of the extent of the revising, who is doing it and when it will be completed.

"OEO Director Donald Rumsfeld has missed another opportunity to begin asserting his authority over that badly mismanaged agency," says Scherle. "He could have performed a distinct service to the American people and to the image of his agency by promptly recalling all copies of this outrageous manual and publicly disavowing it for any purpose whatsoever.

"Instead, for the second time in recent weeks, he has chosen to retreat from the issue and abdicate his authority to those farther down the chain of command. His failure to take forthright action does not lend much support to claims of new strength and leadership at OEO. It does, however, increase the contention of congressional OEO critics that the only way to weed out the misguided activists left over from the previous administration is to abolish this scandal-wracked agency completely.

"Hopefully, the administration will be able to provide Mr. Rumsfeld with the backbone he needs to be able to control the programs and policies of the agency over which he is nominally the director."

After the existence of the radical-angled manual was uncovered, Rumsfeld revealed that he not only knew nothing about it, but he had not even seen a copy of it.

Also, to this day, he has never explained who prepared it and why, on whose authority it was distributed, and how much it has cost. The document went out under the signature of D.C. Drohat, chief, Program Management Division, Community Action Program.

Drohat has said nothing about the manual. If he has given an account of it to Rumsfeld, that is known only to them.

Scherle has ascertained that 40 copies of the voluminous manual were sent to every OEO regional office in the country. Numerous other copies were mailed to national organizations of various kinds, both official and unofficial. As Scherle irately notes, no move has been made by Rumsfeld to recall these copies.

When Scherle began assailing the violence-preaching nature of the manual, he was told by OEO officials that it was "only in draft form." They contended the distributed copies were stamped "draft."

"Even if that is true," says Scherle, "then why was the manual distributed so widely? With the outright revolutionary material it contains, it is bound to disseminate radical and extremist ideas and concepts, and to so a government document. The stamp 'Draft' doesn't help onebit. The plain fact remains that this manual bears the official label of the OEO, and was put out over the signature of the head of an OEO division. If that doesn't make it a government document, I don't know what does."

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION:—Your Question Box recently said that it is asking too much of frail human nature to expect that one man can rule another better than that other can rule himself. I know lots of people who make pretty sad messes of running their lives. Aren't heedless and imprudent people better off having others make some decisions for them—like social security making them provide for their old age, and community sanitation laws to make them keep their homes in fairly decent shape?

ask our questioner what is to keep the man who rules another from making equally serious mistakes about his own life and about the life he undertakes to rule?

Mankind does not yet know everything there is to know. And no one man can know everything. But man can go on expanding his knowledge. Therefore it is the height of arrogance for a man to assume such superior knowledge that he can direct the lives of others and thereby cut off their means of acquiring more knowledge.

When a man makes a mistake and suffers the consequences, he quickly knows he has done something wrong, and this will teach him to try a different way, to try to do better next time so that he will not suffer again. He will learn from his mistakes.

But when one man rules another, if he makes a mistake; he doesn't suffer for it. He may not even be aware it was a mistake and he will go on doing the same mistaken thing. But the man being ruled will suffer for the mistake and he will not know what it was that caused him to suffer nor how to correct it.

No, we do not think it is better for some people to be ruled. It keeps them from learning and developing and no man is infallible. We would improving ourselves.

ANSWER:—Our questioner makes some pretty broad assumptions in this question. He assumes that social security will provide for people's old age and that it is community sanitation laws that lead to people keeping their homes in good shape.

But the basic question here is whether some imprudent people would be better off being ruled by others. We have said that no man can rule another better than that man can rule himself.

That does not mean that a man will not sometimes make mistakes in ruling his own life. He will probably make many mistakes and some will be serious mistakes. We keep pointing out that no man is perfect and no man is infallible. We would improving ourselves.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many stocks which have been in downtrends since last December's peak have now passed their lines of downward resistance and are turning bullish again, says TPO Inc. This has increased the odds "in favor of a reasonably good intermediate rally which could last at least several months." The firm adds, "A growing number of selective issues appear attractive for intermediate and long term gains, although many depressed issues probably will remain bogged down as tax selling takes its toll, the firm observes."

There seems to be an undercurrent of speculative enthusiasm in the market, possibly engendered by an excessive amount of funds available for stock market investment "sitting impatiently on the sidelines," Abraham & Co. says. The firm advises investors seeking capital gains rather than trading profits to avoid the high-multiple glamour issues and look for secondary issues with strong growth potentials, deflated prices and low multiples.

The prudent investor has an opportunity, unique in the postwar period, to purchase fixed-income securities with the certainty of receiving high current income and the probability of benefiting from higher bond prices as disinflation proceeds, Dean Witter & Co. observes. This is so because market is now beginning a high level.

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Dean Acheson should be astonished.

He is now called a "76-year-old statesman" by the same Republican party that viewed him 19 years ago as a scoundrel unfit for the job he then held as secretary of state under President Harry S. Truman.

Acheson was given the statesman label in last week's issue of "Monday," a weekly publication which goes out from the Republican National Headquarters full of favorable comments about the Nixon administration.

For good Republican reasons, the GOP quoted, with approval, from an Acheson interview criticizing what he called efforts to "destroy Nixon." It also liked his comment that the country was going to have "a major constitutional crisis if we make a habit of destroying presidents."

The GOP is showing increased sensitivity to the rising volume of criticism about President Nixon's handling of the effort to achieve peace in Vietnam. Its national headquarters broadcast copies last week of comments by two columnists who scolded his critics and said they were undermining his position.

But the compliment for Acheson was more startling. It was Dec. 15, 1950, when Republican members of both the House and the Senate adopted a resolution of no confidence in Acheson.

When they were not shooting at Truman himself, Acheson was a favorite GOP target. They blamed him for policies putting China in the Communist world and inviting the war in Korea. And they had benefitted in the 1950 elections from the assault led by Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, who regarded the State Department as a shelter for Communists in government.

Allstate Offers Best Insurance

Buying a new or used car is sometimes necessary. But even more necessary is getting the best financing available.

For this reason, Allstate Insurance Company urges everyone who is planning to buy a car to check all avenues for financing it.

Compare the cost of coverage offered by local auto dealers, banks, reputable insurance agents and firms in the area.

And be sure to look into Allstate's Econo-Rate Finance. There are four simple steps to financing a car through Allstate Econo-Rate Finance.

First, establish credit through an Allstate agent in any Sears store or neighborhood office. (It doesn't matter whether your present car is insured with Allstate Insurance Co. or not.)

Once credit is established, a membership card will be issued, and the buyer will have Econo-Rate auto financing, without further credit reference for six months.

When the customer is ready to buy he finds out the exact price of the car—exclusive of insurance or financing.

Third, he visits the Allstate agent whose name appears on the back of the membership card. He will handle all paper work and show the client how much he will save.

Fourth, the prospective car owner picks up his money, pays the dealer and drives away in the new car.

Allstate Econo-Rate Finance is only one of the many Allstate policies to help people use their money most effectively.

The newest Allstate policy, for instance, is the Allstate "Money Back" Plan.

The plan guarantees two things; return of all annual premiums at age 65 and life insurance protection to age 65.

REACH AGREEMENT
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The International Association of Machinists and United Air Lines have reached tentative agreement on a new contract in a dispute that threatened the line with a strike Oct. 24. The union membership will vote this week on whether to accept the pact covering 18,000 mechanics and related workers. The strike date was canceled.

GREATER FOOD SUPPLIES
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Greater supplies of meat and eggs moving onto the market in the next few weeks will help bring down food prices, according to Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin. In an interview in U.S. News and World Report Hardin blamed the recent meat price increases on reduced production coupled with increased consumer demand.
