

DEBATE ON OIL TARIFF STARTS

Dr. Snook, Who Is To Be Electrocuted Tonight, Holds Up Well

HE WILL DINE WITH WIFE IN FINAL DINNER

State Will Take Life of Theora Hix Slayer

EXECUTION IS DUE ABOUT 8 P. M.

Former Professor Will Probably Don His Tuxedo

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28. (AP)—Dr. James Howard Snook, 50-year-old former Ohio State university professor, who is to die tonight in the electric chair for the murder last June 13 of Miss Theora Hix, a student, will eat his last meal with Mrs. Snook, Warden F. E. Thomas announced today.

Warden Thomas granted the request after a conference with Mrs. Snook, Rev. Isaac E. Miller, pastor of the King Avenue M. E. church, and Mrs. Thomas, the warden's wife.

Dr. and Mrs. Snook will eat a chicken dinner between 5 and 6 o'clock today and within two hours the former professor of veterinary medicine will be led into the death chamber.

It is probable that Dr. Snook will eat his last meal in a tuxedo, Warden Thomas said. The warden told newspapermen Mrs. Snook had asked permission to bring the garments to the prison when she arrives for the dinner.

Only close relatives were permitted to see Dr. Snook today. Warden Thomas explained that Mrs. Snook had requested that none be permitted in death row because "Dr. Snook is bearing up so well."

Mrs. Snook arrived at the prison shortly after 9 a. m. She found the former professor still sleeping, but he was immediately aroused and talked more than an hour with her.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 28. (AP)—Today was the last on earth for Dr. James Howard Snook, 50-year-old former professor of veterinary surgery at Ohio State university, condemned to die in the electric chair because he killed his co-ed mistress, Theora Hix. He spent 11 months in the state penitentiary preparing for death.

Snook's attorney, who fought for his life through four courts and into Governor Cooper's office, only to lose their last battle there, were merely waiting. So was Mrs. Helen Marple Snook, wife of the condemned man, who snook the governor with a powerful plea for clemency.

Dr. Snook, who earned an international reputation as a pistol marksman in addition to national recognition as a writer on hunting and veterinary surgery, played cards with his death-cell mates until "lights out" time last night. He was cheerful during the card game, but as the night drifted into the fatal day, he became nervous, and prison guards feared he might "break."

Only a week ago Snook told newspapermen he "felt" he would get a chance to tell "the true story" of his relations with Miss Hix in another court. However, the federal supreme court Tuesday refused to review his case, and Governor Cooper yesterday declined to grant him a fourth reprieve or to commute his sentence to life imprisonment.

Warden P. E. Thomas, who has discretionary power in setting the hour for executions, said he would hold it "after the evening dinner hour tonight," which would set it at the usual time, about 7:30 p. m.

ANYHOW, SPRING ALWAYS GETS HERE

(BY A. F.)
"Spring" is drawing closer, not merely because postal cards from Florida and California with palm trees and orange trees are slowing up, but chiefly because the prices on heavy underwear are cut in half" the red-headed prophet of Albert Square said this morning.

"Anybody should have known that spring is not far away when the news came that Babe Ruth is going to quit baseball and that Dempsey hinted he would start training for another comeback. You can always count on those two things every spring," the sorrel-topped cynic said.

"Then did you see the woman airing out her white poodle on Albert Square yesterday? Besides all this, a bum, returning from the Rio Grande valley where he wintered, slept in the kiddie's playhouse on the Square last night—in spite of the dead skunk at the northwest corner. Didn't expect me to move that skunk, did you? I didn't put it there," the bundle stuffer said. "I predict that within two weeks somebody publishes a song about lilac time and then you will know it's spring."

Youth Confesses to Robberies of Recent Date Here

Tearfully pleading guilty to seven charges of petty theft, Russell Burton, 13-year-old boy, was placed in the city jail this morning.

"I told Mr. Collier everything this morning," the boy said at noon.

Sitting on the edge of the cell-bunk with his chin cupped in his hands, the sturdy little figure of the boy slightly quivered as he enumerated the articles he has stolen in the last two months since he moved from Borger to Pampa—a watch, a hat, 14 cartons of cigars, etc.

At the mention of the reform school, he vainly tried to repress the tears that ran down his slightly freckled cheeks. Calmly and in a matter-of-fact voice he said that he had been in jail 10 times. "Most of the times was up here three or four times asking me questions. I didn't tell him everything. I've taken until this morning."

"Well, sonny, I'm going to get you something to eat; people in jail must eat same as anywhere else," T. F. Collier city detective said.

"I don't want anything to eat; don't have much appetite when I'm in jail," the boy answered in a reflective tone.

Russell said that he belonged to the notorious "Dirty Dozen Gang" in Borger until the "laws broke it up and sent five boys to the reformatory. Then I didn't take a thing for two months."

Detective Collier has been working on a score of petty theft cases for two weeks. The confession of Russell is the first result of his labors, he said.

"When I found up this gang of boys, it'll be worth $500 a month to the citizens," Collier declared, "because they have stolen that much in the last month."

Russell admitted he took a watch and hat from the Rose building. In his confession, he told Collier the names of the men to whom he sold his merchandise. The articles were recovered.

"Juvenile delinquency is growing chronic here," Mr. Collier said. "One bad boy can ruin a dozen good ones."

Russell goes to school part of the time. Mr. Collier said the lad does not like to go. He lives with his own father and mother. He has four brothers and three sisters.

"I have one little baby brother, and they go from him on up," he said.

Taft Grows Weaker Physician Asserts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—The condition of William Howard Taft was reported as "slightly weaker," in a bulletin issued by his physicians at 11:40 a. m. today.

"The former chief justice is slightly weaker," the announcement said. "He is able to take very little nourishment. There is no decided change in his condition since yesterday."

DALLAS MAN IS KILLED BY CLUB MANAGER

Jack Daugherty Slain in Gambling Room of Hotel

SAM CORRENTI ADMITS FIRING

Long Enmity and One Previous Attack Are Cited

DALLAS, Feb. 28. (AP)—Sprawled among tables, playing cards, poker chips, and other gambling paraphernalia in an upstairs room of a one-time hotel, Jack Daugherty, 28, was found dead by police just before midnight last night with nine bullet wounds in his back.

Police had gone to the room on receiving a phone call saying there had been a shooting at the address. While they were there, Sam Correnti, operator of a recreation club, visited the county jail.

"I've killed Jack Daugherty," he told the jailer. "Shot him ten times."

That was all he would tell regarding the shooting at that time. He said he had known Daugherty for some time, and that "Daugherty" came here from Oklahoma.

After the shooting, he said, he went home, gave his gun to a friend, then came to the jail to surrender. He was locked in a cell.

Officers said bullets removed from Daugherty's body were of .32 and .38 calibre, indicating he was killed with two guns. Police were unable to locate any other person who might have been present at the time of the shooting. An overcoat and watch found in the room were identified as those of Daugherty.

Daugherty was survived by his widow, who said they had been married six years. She told officers her husband had had trouble before with Correnti and Correnti had shot at him twice near his club rooms.

A charge of murder was filed against Correnti.

WALKER WORKS FOR STATE PARK BILL IN AUSTIN

C. Herbert Walker returned this morning from Austin, where, as a member of the legislature committee of Palo Duro Park association, he spent several days this week with representatives of three other park associations, working in the interests of a system of state parks.

The immediate efforts of the group were centered on a bill pending in the house of representatives that provided for an automobile drivers' license of 50 cents, revenues from which, as provided in the bill, would go to the general highway fund.

The group of members from the Palo Duro, Guadalupe Mountain, Davis mountain, and Caddo Lake associations was successful in securing an amendment to the last provision of the bill, when, at a meeting of the house committee on highways and automobile transportation Tuesday night, the bill was revised to provide 25 cents of the 50 cent tax for administrative purposes and the other 25 cents for a park development fund.

It was estimated, Mr. Walker said, that the initial payment from the tax source would amount to $800,000 for the park fund, which would be a substantial start toward the establishment of state parks.

The revised bill was passed favorably by the committee, and was expected to have the second reading in the house today.

More Indictments Found
SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 28. (AP)—Additional indictments against Kenneth Wimer, president of the Wimer-Richardson company, brokerage house, today had brought the total against him to sixteen, and the total amount named in the sixteen was $156,613. Wimer, whose firm was placed in a receiver's hands, was charged with theft by bailie and swindling the sum.

New Wonders Are Seen by Explorer Who Plans to Learn Secrets Held in Mammoth Passages of Carlsbad Cavern

Frank Ernest Nicholson Starts Expedition Financed by New York Times—Great Unexplored Room Probably Seen First Time by Civilized Man.

CARLSBAD, N. M., Feb. 28. (AP)—Frank Ernest Nicholson, explorer, has seen a new underground world.

Surrounded by fantastic creations of cave marble and flowstone perhaps unseen by man previously during the million or more years of their formation, and perhaps never before touched by light, Nicholson penetrated a previously unexplored room of the Carlsbad cavern.

"It was the first bit of exploring of unknown places of the underground labyrinth to be done by this New York explorer, financed by the New York Times, who with his party of eleven assistants, hopes to find the end of the cavern."

"It seems that every step brings a new revelation," Nicholson said here today, "and man feels himself to be an infinitesimal being in these gaping underground voids of blackness."

Two parties previously had reached the entrance of this new room, but Nicholson was the first to penetrate to its interior.

The room is something over two miles underground from the entrance. A tunnel branches off to the right from the main corridor shortly before the "Big Room" is reached. This tunnel leads to the gorgeously arrayed King's palace, from which branches to the right the "Green Room" and to the left the "Queen's Room."

He has visited most of the 23 miles of known parts of the cavern, which includes the "Big Room," in which a 15-story office building could be built without touching the ceiling, to familiarize himself with the work done by previous exploring parties.

The party as an expedition, however, has not started concentrated work. Air currents are a major consideration with Nicholson in mapping out a program for directing his party. He will enter no tunnels whose ends are known, but will confine himself to unexplored places with distinct air currents and follow those rooms and tunnels if possible, to their ends.

Natural Gas Tax, If Passed, Is Expected to Be Very Small—Mel Davis of Pampa Testifies Today

AUSTIN, Feb. 28. (AP)—Probability that there would be tax placed on natural gas production by the present legislature was seen today after adjournment of the house committee on revenue and taxation subject to the call of the chairman.

Producers who had been present at committee hearings this week were excommunicated with the assurance that no such tax would be placed upon them without an opportunity to present further testimony, and no date as to when that testimony would be requested was set.

Representative Phil Sanders of Nacogdoches, author of the bill to tax producers on a graduated scale, announced that while he still thought it possible a small tax can be placed on natural gas, possibly on the producer, he was convinced the rates in his present bill were too high.

Representative T. N. Mauritz, co-author with Representative Leonard Tillotson of Sealy of the bill to tax at one-fourth of a cent per thousand cubic feet, was not present today, but Tillotson was inclined to agree with Sanders that rates in the present bills are too high, and to doubt that the producer was the proper person to tax.

The three authors will endeavor to confer on the situation Monday.

It was suggested by Rep. W. H. Hopkins of Gonzales that because of the study necessary before an adequate bill could be drawn, there was not enough time to prepare it for the present session and all action be deferred until the regular session next January. Other members suggested it would be well to appoint a sub-committee to study the situation between this and the regular sessions. None of these suggestions was acted on for lack of a quorum but individual members agreed with them.

ROAD MEN WILL MEET SOON IN DALHART

A meeting of county commissioners, county judges, and chamber of commerce officials of the northwestern counties of the Panhandle will be held at Dalhart, March 12, at 11 o'clock to discuss a unified road-building program for the Panhandle.

This announcement was received this morning by F. P. Reid from A. T. Holcomb of Dalhart.

The meeting will precede a visit of Gibbs Gilchrist, state highway engineer and Judge W. R. Ely, highway commissioner, to Dalhart, April 1. At the preliminary meeting, the various delegates hope to agree on a tentative road building program which will be presented by the same delegates to Ely and Gilchrist when they go to Dalhart April 1.

Designation of Highway 41, of the Oilfield highway, will be placed squarely before the highway officials at the meeting, according to the plans.

A delegation of Pampa citizens is planning to attend both meetings.

Franklin Tells of Tariff Fight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—Wirt Franklin, president of the American Independent Petroleum association, testified today before the senate lobby committee that his organization had raised $50,000 to advocate a duty on petroleum in the pending tariff bill.

Franklin said it had been suggested to him that the oil and sugar interests combine forces to get what they wanted in the tariff bill. He added other suggestions had mentioned lumber, interests.

Franklin testified he was in the oil business as a producer, refiner and marketer and he had been in Washington since February 3, in the interest of a duty on oil.

He had discussed the proposed oil tariff with a number of senators both Republicans and Democrats, he said, asserting no one had been employed and no "influence hired" to represent the association.

Activities of independent producers in attempting to gain support for the oil tariff were shown in letters and telegrams read before the committee.

One telegram, dated February 21, and sent by Earl Calloway of Amarillo, Tex., to John Sherwin of Dallas, said: "Connally weakening some. Get about half a dozen to call him over long distance and give him the devil."

Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, asked Franklin if he had "found out all about the business interests of senators."

The first newspaper published south of the Potomac river, the Virginia Gazette, has been revived in Williamsburg, Va.

The trouble with the oil industry of America was not over production, but over importation, Thomas contended.

"If the American market was given to the American producer," he continued, "there would be no surplus."

Cites Contrasting Prices
The Oklahoma senator listed domestic production at 900,000,000 barrels a year and imports at 109,000,000, and said Venezuelan oil could be sold down in Atlantic seaboard cities at 75 cents a barrel while the domestic oil sold for $1.07.

He declared the Shell interests could produce gasoline from its Venezuelan oil at three cents a gallon.

Thomas asserted the Standard, Gulf and Shell groups "fixed the price of oil" and added "the independents cannot live in competition with 75 cent oil and three-cent gasoline."

Telegrams from American Legion posts in Oklahoma urging a duty on oil to help relieve unemployment were read by Thomas.

This brought a statement by Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, that he could find plenty of ex-service men in his state opposed to the oil tariff. He expressed surprise that the Legion had entered into this "political question."

OKLAHOMA IS FIRST TO ASK DESIRED LEVY

Over Importation Said to Be Problem of Industry

PRICE FIXING IS HIT TODAY

Senator Tydings Says Legion Should Be Silent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—The senate began debate today on a proposal of Senator Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, for a duty of one dollar a barrel on crude oil and fifty per cent on petroleum products.

Oil, now on the free list, had been mentioned in reports that a new coalition had been formed to put through rates on this product and lumber and a higher tariff rate on sugar. The Jones lumber tariff amendment was defeated by five votes last night. Sugar will not come up before next week.

Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, announced today he would seek another vote later on his lumber duty proposal.

Opening debate, Senator Thomas said the oil industry was in "extreme distress" with price cuts occurring frequently and plans being made for further curtailment of production.

Issue Is Defined
The issue, he argued, was between the independents and a "handful of powerful producers including the Standard group, the Gulf and the Royal Dutch Shell."

Thomas said Chairman Smoot of the finance committee, might as well have called W. C. Teagle of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, John D. Rockefeller and Secretary Mellon instead of appointing Senators Reed, Pennsylvania, and Edge, New Jersey, Republican, and King, Democrat, Utah, as a sub-committee to hear evidence on an oil tariff.

He understood, he added, that Edge, now ambassador to Paris, was a brother-in-law of Teagle and that Reed was a former counsel for the Mellon Gulf interests.

Senator Smoot interrupted at this point to say "there was no trickery or underhanded work" in appointing the sub-committee.

The trouble with the oil industry of America was not over production, but over importation, Thomas contended.

"If the American market was given to the American producer," he continued, "there would be no surplus."

THE AMERICAN PLAN

Pampa News: The city commission is arguing over whether it should lower water rates or leave the matter for the next administration. If there is no action now, the question will be a campaign issue, and there is no doubt about it. Hundreds of families want cheaper water to enable them to have lawns and flowers, and they are voters, too.

Perhaps State Press should not dip an ear into Pampa's water, but it can't help saying that if he were a member of the Pampa city commission he would pass the buck to the next administration. It might make for some temporary popularity for the present administration to lower the price of city water, but if the lowered price should result in such an increase of demand as to threaten the supply the commissioners who made such a condition possible would be roundly abused. There is hardly anything that the people of an American municipality enjoy as much as heeding their municipal servants. As soon as an old set is voted out, with jeers, and the new set comes in, with cheers, the campaign bouquets wither and the brickbats begin to fly. These observations are not aimed at Pampa, but at all towns, big and little, where the right of free speech is presumed to grant the right of personal censure. It is difficult to understand why any man of average reasoning ability, and able to make a plain living, would submit to the indignity of election to a municipal office. There is no surer way to achieve unpopularity, accumulate ill-wishes, invite libels. It is traditionally believed that public business is not carried on with the celerity and adequacy with which private business is transacted. But how could it be so, with every man who is competent to vote feeling competent to criticize the constituted authorities, or head deputations of busybodies to march upon the city hall and clutter up the stairways?—State Press in Dallas News.

Editor's Note: We won't argue with our friend State Press, even if he does reside in the town with the "Hot Dog" mayor. However, when we think of water rates, we think of figures and facts and what the consumers of H2O deserve in the matter. Popularity has nothing to do with the present Pampa situation. The commission has intended all along to lower the water rates. The economies admittedly accomplished in the last two years should make possible a rate revision. Pampans need to use more water in city beautification. Any business man knows that to lower the price of a thing tends to create a larger demand. City Manager Gwin has submitted a rate revision he thinks possible. The commissioners are studying his scale before putting their approval upon it. In a way, they feel that they should let the next commission lower the rate. On the other hand, the present body knows more about the situation than a new commission could know in several months. If the new commissioners should postpone lowering of the rate until they understood all phases of the matter, it would be too late to be of much value in the coming growing season. Of one thing the present commissioners can be sure—if they lower the rate it will be carrying out plans which have been taking form ever since the remodeling of the water department began. As State Press suggests, it would be easier to pass the buck. But would the recipients of the buck be any better qualified to take the action long planned? We seriously doubt it.

As to mention of personal abuse to be expected in any public office—that is an old, old story. Many good officials are wrongfully and maliciously treated. The business man such as any city needs at its reins resents unmerited abuse, while the professional politician, who is not needed, thrives upon it. A public office is a public trust, and the people have the right to make suggestions and criticisms. But if all the suggestions made by "the people" were accepted and acted upon in this country, we would have the worst government in the world. Office holders are partly to blame, particularly in state and national instances, because they devise platforms which cannot possibly be carried out. It is very easy to make a platform, and it is easy to elect a man pledged to remedy some particular evil. Sometimes voters seem to think that, having delegated a public servant to do something, they have solved the problem. Not so. The same thing applies even to minor clubs and committees. Petty office reaps abuse when they fail to produce the results admittedly desirable.

On the other hand, the public tendency to suspect public officials has been encouraged in recent years by national and state scandals, and even scandals in the church headquarters organizations. The tendency to investigate is not in itself bad, but the public official should be granted the right of every other citizen—to be considered innocent until he is proved guilty. Upon no other basis can there exist a state of affairs which will encourage able business men to serve their state and municipalities. There is no such thing as a pure democracy. We must depend upon experts and upon persons we elect to carry on our public affairs. It is advisable, therefore, to surround public officials with an atmosphere of opinion which will attract men of the proper calibre. Cities cannot, and should not, have to hire all of their directing heads. The best directing talent is not available on a strict salary basis, and it is not wise to reduce city government to a matter of dollars and cents. The science of city government is so largely a business question that politics should be the least consideration.

TWINKLES

Maybe these political folk are running for offices in the new Gray county courthouse. It's too bad we do not have the new city hall finished.

Speaking of the new courthouse—we are inclined to believe April 1 would be about the proper time to formally open it. We have done some of the gentle art of moving, and we believe the county officials ought to have time to "get settled". Moreover, there is a lot of flooring and finishing yet to be completed.

Cal Coolidge, late pictures show, is getting fat. Maybe the White House will turn out to be a regular health resort if they can get this farm relief question out of the way.

A Boston plumber claims never to have forgotten his tools. If he can prove it, he ought to have national recognition of some sort.

As we understand it, our field is producing some salt water, but not enough to encourage utilization. A little of a thing is often dangerous.

Old Press Is Given to Society

CANYON, Feb. 28. (Special)—The Panhandle-Plains Historical society has received for its museum here what is thought to be the oldest George Washington press in the region.

The old press began its career in Canyon in 1893 as a part of the equipment of The Slayer. It was used constantly until last week when Clyde W. Warwick, editor of the Canyon News, presented it to the historical society.

Mr. Warwick states that he thinks this is the only press of the kind left in the Panhandle. It is of a style no longer manufactured.

This old press was brought to the Plains in the early 80's. It was used to print weekly newspapers in a number of towns before its arrival in Canyon.

During recent years the press has been retained for use as a proof press.

Members of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society hope that by this time next year the old press will be resting in a new museum building, along with hundreds of other objects no longer used in this region.

Wheat Still Strong

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. (AP)—Wheat values took a fresh upward slant today owing a good deal to comparative lack of selling pressure. In the main, offerings of wheat future deliveries appeared to be restricted to traders who were in a position to realize profits, with the pit as a whole watching for new developments regarding the Federal Farm Board and about the export situation.

Openings unchanged to 1-3-8c higher; wheat afterward scored additional gains. Corn and oats were also firmer, with corn starting 3-8 to 3-4 up and subsequently rising further. Provisions held steady.

Tulsa Woman and Baby Drown at Bartlett, Texas

BARTLETT, Feb. 28. (AP)—Mrs. Edward Friedman of Tulsa, Okla., and her baby girl, about one year old, were drowned today near Holland, when a truck in which they were riding turned over in a ditch filled with water. Two other women, a man and several children escaped, but they were unable to rescue Mrs. Friedman and her baby. They were pinned beneath the heavy vehicle.

The bodies were brought here. The party was en route to San Antonio, where Friedman was employed with a Western Union construction force.

The driver of the truck claimed he was crowded off the road by glaring headlights of an approaching automobile. The other car did not stop.

Tuck Reeder, engineer of a locomotive that passed the scene of the accident, could tell that the party was in trouble and when his train reached Smithville, he telephoned to Thos. Wilkerson, constable at Holland, who went to the party's assistance.

Secretary Hyde to Study Wheat in Visit to Chicago

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Secretary Hyde announced today after attending a cabinet meeting that he would accompany Chairman Leage of the Federal Reserve board and Earl R. McKelvey, wheat merchant representing wheat, to Chicago this afternoon, where they will meet with the wheat industry commodity committee.

When he returns to Washington, the secretary said, he expects to reply to the House resolution adopted by the Senate calling upon him to recommend whatever measures he saw fit in the present wheat and cotton situation, even to the extent of temporarily closing the wheat and cotton exchanges. He indicated he would not recommend that they be closed.

The operations in wheat of the grain stabilization corporation have been criticized by private traders who complained that the corporation was handling only wheat owned by cooperatives. Chairman Leage has asserted, however, that no change in policy was contemplated.

Jones Law Upheld in Appeals Court

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 28. (AP)—Validity of the Jones law, prohibition measure providing heavy penalties, was upheld by the United States circuit court of appeals here yesterday in an opinion which held that an assignment attacking the constitutionality of the act was without merit. The opinion was written in the appeal of Neal and William Brady, convicted in Des Moines and given fines and jail sentences. The constitutionality of the act was attacked under the eighth amendment prohibiting excessive fines and cruel and unusual punishment.

Pilot Says His Plane Damaged by Cattle Rustlers

WALSBERG, Colo., Feb. 28. (AP)—The theory of a pilot that his plane was crippled by shots fired at it by cattle rustlers caused an investigation today into an airplane crash that brought death to a high school girl and serious injuries to another on isolated Mesa Pass yesterday.

Miss Elsie Noble, 16, high school student at Pueblo, was killed and Miss Abra Tallow, 16, also a student at the school, was seriously injured. Harry Miller, pilot, "suffered slight injuries."

Miller told authorities he felt two shots hit the plane after which an aileron refused to function.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

No. 2324. M. K. Kromer vs. Beulah Kromer. In the District Court, Gray County, Texas. The State of Texas to the Sheriff or any Constable of Gray County—GREETINGS. YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED, that by making publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Gray once each week for four (4) consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, you summon Beulah Kromer whose residence is alleged by plaintiff to be unknown to be and appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Gray County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in the City of Pampa, Texas, on the Second Monday in March, A. D. 1930, the same being the 10th day of March A. D. 1930, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 7th day of February A. D. 1930, in a suit, numbered on the Docket of said Court, No. 2324, wherein M. K. Kromer is plaintiff, and Beulah Kromer is defendant; the nature of plaintiff's demand being substantially, as follows, to-wit: That plaintiff and defendant are husband and wife; that they were married in the year 1912 and that there was born to them as issue of such marriage two (2) children, to-wit: Henry Kromer, a boy of 16 years of age and Murle Kromer, a boy of 7 years of age; that defendant in July, 1925, without any provocation or cause, voluntarily left and abandoned the bed and board of plaintiff with the intention of finally separating and living apart from him and has continued so to do up to the filing of this petition. Plaintiff sues for divorce and the care, custody and education of said minor children. HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have you before said Court on the said first day of next term thereof this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and seal of said Court at office in the City of Pampa, Texas, this 27th day of February A. D. 1930. WITNESS CHARLES THUT, Clerk of District Court in and for Gray County, Texas. By LOUISE MILLER, Deputy.

"Garden" Loses $50,000 in Fights Last Evening

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26. (AP)—Official figures announced today placed the paid attendance at the Scott-Sharkey fight last night at 180,000; the gross receipts at $190,000 and the net "take" at only $161,000 after deduction of tax.

Loss to the Madison Square Garden corporation was estimated at $50,000, but may run as high as $75,000. Sharkey received 25 per cent, or $40,000, for his share, as compared with $100,000 he received for his victory over Young Stribling a year ago. Scott, getting 20 per cent, drew $32,000. The guarantees to preliminary boxers totaled $52,000, with $10,000 each going to the semi-finalists Johnny Risko and Victorio Campolo.

Schmeling Fails To Hear Battle

BERLIN, Feb. 28. (AP)—Max Schmeling, who probably will meet Jack Sharkey in next summer's big heavy-weight fight, missed the radio news of the Boston sailor's triumph over Phil Scott at Miami, Fla.

While most of Berlin's fight fans were listening to a broadcast relayed to Berlin via Vienna, Max was on the train, coming from Garmish in the Bavarian alps. He had intended to come to Berlin in time to listen in, but missed his train.

The fight results, first broadcast in English, then translated into German, came clearly through the first and third rounds, but reception was blurred during the second.

Boy Scouts Are More Numerous

The number of registered Boy Scouts in Pampa has increased from 35 to more than one hundred, the Rev. T. W. Brabham told members of the Lions club yesterday.

Rev. Brabham said that the Methodist troop had many more applications than it is able to accommodate. The chief demand is for adult leaders, and it is hoped that the training course now being held will fill this need.

Visitors yesterday at the weekly luncheon were B. W. Rose of Pampa, C. A. Clark, the area executive, and Fred O. Clark of Austin.

Peonage Charges Filed

WACO, Feb. 28. (AP)—Federal peonage indictments today were lodged against five citizens of Normangee, Leon county, alleged to have conspired to force a negro to work out a debt claimed to be due C. F. Cobb, tenant farmer for whom the negro had been working.

Named in the indictments were Cobb, M. A. Shepherd, justice of the peace; Ed Parker, farmer-constable; W. S. Jameson, town marshal; and Luther E. Taylor, deputy sheriff and candidate for sheriff of Leon county.

MADRID, Feb. 28. (AP)—Metropolitan Spain today was swept by a tide of Republicanism and anti-monarchical demonstrations after the public pronouncement by Jose Antonio Sanchez Guerra, former premier and bitter enemy of the late dictatorship, in which he said: "I will never again serve the present king."

Thousands gathered in the streets of Madrid and fought with police who attempted to bring down their red lanterns and hush their shouts of "Down with the King" and "Death to the King". Ten civilians were arrested, and one man was injured seriously in a clash outside the theatre in which the former premier's speech was delivered.

General Damasco Berenguer, new Spanish premier, announced that henceforth all public political speeches would be prohibited. Many of the most prominent leaders of all parties have been making preparations for public pronouncements, but the decision apparently ended their plans.

To the staunchest of the Republican adherents Guerra's speech was a disappointment. The former premier did not say he hoped for a republic in Spain was stronger than ever; and the country soon might adopt that form of government.

He demanded that parliament be restored and fix responsibility for the recent dictatorship, and determine the form of Spain's future government—all without violence or rebellion.

Babe Herman Is Real Hold-Out

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 28. (AP)—It begins to appear as though Babe Herman, slugging outfielder of the Brooklyn Robins, is one of the few real hold-outs in the major leagues.

Herman, well up among the National league batsmen all last season, is standing pat on his demand for $25,000 for the 1930 season. According to those who are supposed to know, the Dodgers offered Babe $15,000 but Herman came back with the reply that the next move was up to the club.

A. J. BUTLER
"I was rundown and nervous and my whole system was out of gear. My appetite was poor, my nerves were so upset I couldn't sleep, and I'd get tired out before the day was half over. Cold weather seemed to go right through me and I took colds easily. Sargon brought back my appetite and this nourished and strengthened me. I sleep good, go through the day without tiring in the least and I haven't had a cold since I started the medicine. SNOOK—

Last meals for condemned men from a menu selected by themselves, will prepare Dr. Snook's last meal. Rev. Isaac Miller, pastor of the King Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, who has been attending both Mr. and Mrs. Snook received permission to eat the meal with Dr. Snook.

Mrs. Snook has not decided where her husband's body will be buried. His mother and sister, who reside in Lebanon, have not visited him since his conviction last August in common pleas court here and have specified that he shall not be buried in the family grave yard there.

The crime for which Dr. Snook will pay was committed the night of last June 13 and Miss Hix's body was found by two boys at noon the next day. Dr. Snook was arrested two days later and confessed June 20. He was convicted August 14 and sentenced on August 20.

"Secret Six" Will Clean Up Chicago

CHICAGO, Feb. 26. (AP)—"Crimeless Chicago in six months" was the slogan today of the secret committee of six.

Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce, who organized the "Secret Six" and who is the only known member, promised the association that the anti-crime drive would be unremitting and said the six-month estimate has been based upon the least length of time in which gangland facts could be obtained, indictments returned, and convictions obtained.

The head of the secret committee said $1,000,000 might be necessary to insure success of the crime war and a drive to secure this amount will begin at once.

"We have already received assurances that make the collection of ample funds certain. One man has agreed to subscribe ten per cent of any fund raised up to a million dollars. Public participation in the underwriting will be decided upon later. The fund is looked upon as an investment which will pay quick dividends in stopping extortion, removing the element of fear, and permitting business to function normally," Col. Randolph said.

Filmland Honors Mabel Normand

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26. (AP)—Film-land folk assembled today to pay their final tribute to Mabel Normand, comedienne, whose screen impersonations endeared her to the hearts of motion picture fans throughout the world.

Low Cody, husband of Miss Normand, announced that honorary pallbearers, many of them prominent in the film industry, would include Sid Grauman, D. W. Griffith, Mack Sennett, Charles Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks, Ford Sterling, Eugene Pallett, Samuel Goldwyn, Arthur Goebel, Paul Bern, and Federal Judge William P. Jaznes.

M. K. Brown, Clyde Fatheree, J. M. McDonald, Judge Ivy E. Duncan, C. C. Cook, L. N. McCullough, and Lynn Boyd returned today from Dallas, where they discussed with railroad officials plans for furthering the interests of the Pampa-Childress line.

Teachers College Plans "Play Day"

CANYON, Feb. 26. (Special)—The department of physical education for women of the West Texas state Teachers college is sponsoring a play day for high school girls of the Panhandle.

The date set for this meet is March 29. The meet will be conducted by the Women's Athletic association of the college, under the general direction of Miss Ruth Cross and Miss Rubie Harkdale.

Miss Cross explained that this not an athletic meet. It is a play day for high school girls of every size and degree of athletic development. The competition will not be between schools but between groups made up of girls from all the schools participating.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (AP)—The recall of the American delegation from the London naval arms conference was proposed in the senate today by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tenn., who asserted there was no opportunity for naval reductions.

The Tennessee senator insisted that "in the present state of mind of the conferees representing the other four powers, it is clear there is no possibility of disarmament or a reduction of armaments, or even a limitation of armaments."

McKellar's suggestions started the first debate in the senate on the London conference since it convened early in January.

Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, replied to the Tennessean, saying: "I sympathize with a great many things the senator from Tennessee has said, but I believe he has given a premature American pronouncement based upon inadequate and insufficient information. Such contributions of advice to our delegates abroad do far more harm than good."

Tom Doswell went to Amarillo on business this afternoon.

Mrs. Clifford Braly returned home from Austin yesterday, after accompanying Mr. Braly there on business. District Attorney Braly returned to court at Wheeler.

SHARKEY WINS TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT IN THIRD, BUT QUESTION OF FOUL ARISES

New Cooperative to Take Cotton Is Being Formed

DALLAS, Feb. 28. (P)—The Texas cotton cooperative, hope of the Texas cotton farmer, was nearing reality today.

Formalities only remained before the machinery for the cooperative to function with the federal farm board could be set up. All details were agreed upon at a conference between leaders in the cotton industry which ended here yesterday.

T. O. Walton, president of Texas A. & M., as chairman of the special committee named by Governor Moody to work out a feasible plan for Texas farmers to obtain aid from the federal government, presided. In conference, besides members of the committee, were representatives of the farm board, the American Cotton Cooperative, and the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association.

The cooperative, to be known as the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, will be built around the farm bureau, with the consent of its members. The state will be divided into six districts, each district operating through the state body, with the federal farm board or its subsidiary, the American cotton cooperative.

When any district delivers a minimum of 100,000 bales, it may break away from the parent organization and deal directly with federal agencies. C. O. Moser, executive vice-president of the National Cotton Cooperative, will be in charge of getting the cooperative functioning, and it was said that the Texas organization would probably be ready to buy the 1930 cotton crop.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Stark returned home last evening after being out of the city since Monday. Mr. Stark went to Wichita, Kans., to transact business, and Mrs. Stark visited relatives in Sand and Tonka, Okla.

A special grading, Connecticut Native Honey, has been established by the state department of agriculture for future approval by inspectors.

BY ALAN GOULD

(Associated Press Sports Editor)
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 28. (P)—The cry of "fair or foul" was raised again today amidst the chaos of the heavy-weight fistic realm, wafted out upon the balmy southern breezes, as a result of Jack Sharkey's technical knockout victory over Phil Scott in the third round of the weirdest contest any tropical moon has shone upon.

In a finish as balmy as the weather, Sharkey was declared the winner by Referee Lou Magnolia last night after the lanky British champion had claimed a foul, taken a complete minute's rest to recuperate as the claim was disallowed and, then, refused altogether to continue as he swayed against the ropes from the effects of a terrific left hook to the pit of the stomach.

The spectacle of the third round, probably has no precedent in the history of American heavyweight boxing—with Sharkey first warned for hitting low, Scott sinking with a cry of foul, police and handlers in the ring as the referee helped drag Scott to his corner for an examination and a minute's rest, Sharkey raging around the ring with tears streaming down his face, Scott limping out to continue the bout, and, the abrupt ending with Scott erect, but virtually helpless, on the ropes, protesting his inability to continue from the effects of body blows or an alleged foul or both.

Sharkey won the decision and, as a result, the right to battle Max Schmeling, German champion, for a bout billed for the world's championship pin June at the Yankee stadium, New York. The Boston sailor, however, fought an unsatisfactory fight, jeopardized his chances of winning from an opponent he obviously outclassed and added nothing to his prestige as the leading American title contender.

Scott, eliminated from any further consideration in the heavyweight circus, left a sorrowful impression as a fighter.

Referee Magnolia, veteran New York right arborer and the sole ruling official of the bout, declared he saw no low punches, but, after the fight, examination of Scott showed a lump on the right leg, several inches below the waist-line. A physician described the injury as traumatic sciatica, producing a partial paralysis. Magnolia explained his extraordinary action in stopping the fight for a minute was prompted by a desire to avoid any possible charge of unfair dealing.

The third round lasted three minutes and 34 seconds, including the minute devoted to debate and rest. All told, Scott was on the floor three times for a count, once in the second round after being rushed to his corner and flipped by a left to the head. He took a count of six and lasted out the round without much trouble. Another wild rush by Sharkey, early in the third round, put Scott down for a "bale" of six before the blow that aroused the big controversy.

The result of the semi-final between Johnny Risko of Cleveland and Victorio Campolo of the Argentine, declared a draw by Referee Kid McPhartland of New York, also was unsatisfactory to the majority of spectators and experts who considered Risko held a winning edge. Campolo finished spectacularly, staggering Risko in the tenth round with solid smashes. This, in the referee's opinion, entitled the South American giant to a draw, but most critics scored at least six rounds in Risko's favor.

Paid attendance was estimated at only 25,000, half the arena's capacity, and the receipts at $200,000 or less. On this basis, the Madison Square Garden corporation faced a possible loss of $50,000. Last year's show drew a "bale" of $407,000 with Sharkey and Young Stribling in the main event. In the three others on the card,

Jimmy Maloney of Boston outpointed Moise Bouquillon of France, Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia gained the referee's decision over Pierre Charles of Belgium and Raul Bianchi, Argentine, knocked out Billy Darling of Palm Beach, in the first round.

Editors to Be Heard at Meeting of Press Congress

PORT WORTH, Feb. 28. (Special)—"Know Your World" will be the subject of an address by Dr. James Q. Dealey, editor of the editorial page of the Dallas News, before the annual session of the Southwestern Journalism Congress at Texas Christian University, April 4 and 5.

"The Newspaper of Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" will be discussed by Marcellus E. Foster, editor of the Houston Press and nationally known as a writer under the pen name of "Memo."

Sam P. Harben, secretary of the Texas Press association, will speak before the congress on "Opportunities in the Country Field." Fred Dye, head of the Texas Bureau of the Associated Press, will talk on "The Associated Press."

"Negotiations are under way for other speakers, who will be announced in the near future," says Prof. J. Willard Higgins of T. C. U., president of the congress.

"For instance, we are arranging for each member school of the congress, nine in number, to apply one speaker for the program."

Baptist Men Are Asked to Assemble

A mass meeting of the men of the First Baptist church will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight, for the purpose of discussing definite future plans and training church policies for the coming month.

The church board, in a recent session, planned the mass meeting in view of the magnitude of the business, not wishing to delegate it to a small group or a committee. The Rev. John Lee Harar, speaking for the board, requested the attendance of all men who are members of the church.

Five Buffaloes Will Play Last Contest Tonight

CANYON, Feb. 28. (Special)—Five West Texas Buffaloes will make their final appearance on the hardwood floor tonight, when the Buffaloes meet the first stepping Cadets of the New Mexico Military Institute of the Buffalo court. The 1929 season has been outstanding in many respects for the Buffs. It marks another championship year, bringing the total of four championships in the eight years the college had been in the T. I. A. A. and three championships in the past four years. Three of the Buffs: Ward, Keith, and Newman have helped to bring three championships to West Texas. Gerald has been on two championship teams, while the 1930 champ team is the first for Jones. Many fans throughout West Texas have followed the Thundering Herd throughout the past seasons, and no doubt great numbers will flock to Canyon Friday night to see these Buffs in their final appearance, and to make their final game one long to be remembered. The Cadets have always given the Buffaloes strong competition and reports from the New Mexico school, this year indicates that they have the strongest team they have had in many years. It will be a great game and Coach Burton's point a minute team will no doubt be pressed to the limit, to win their final game.

FOOTBALL MEN HAVING SPRING TRAINING NOW

With the curtain already rung down on basketball, the Central high school lads are giving their attention to track and spring football practices. Fifty boys are studying football with the intention of making the Class A team of next fall, and of getting a chance at Lubbock, the Amarillo Sandies, and the other big teams which will be played early in the season. Interest in track this season is heightened by the fact that McLean high school is expected to enter a strong team in the coming interscholastic League county meet. There also will be invitation meets and the big district event at Canyon.

More than anything else right now the Harvester football and track squad wish good weather, with the latter of being no objection to high temperatures.

Deberry Takes Prison Fight to Voters by Radio

FORT WORTH, Feb. 28. (AP)—Fighting the governor with his own weapons, the radio campaign of the legislators opposed to Governor Dan Moody's plan for prison reform last night had the opening guns fired by Senator Tom Deberry of Bogota. Speaking from station WBAP here last night, Deberry told his radio audience that members of the legislature had just as much right as the governor to carry their views to the people over the radio. The prison system needed rehabilitation, and differed with Governor Moody only upon his plan, and principally upon his project of centralizing the system near Austin. "If no prison legislation is gained this year," Deberry said, "the responsibility does not rest with those of us who want to improve present conditions. The responsibility rests only on those who have adopted an Austin or nothing stand on relocations."

Hollywood Sights

BY ROBBINS COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Stanley Fields is acting again, simply because he's "just the type."

Fields is a new movie "threat" who seems to have been endowed with all the cinematic good fortune withheld from those who knock at studio gates in vain. Maybe it was that way because he was not looking for a chance to get in the movies.

He used to be in vaudeville with Frank Fay, and whose forte was laughter, comes to pictures as a "heavy," to inspire distrust, even hate, in an audience which at times cannot refrain from liking him for his humor.

SEEKING NO FAME
He came to Hollywood, not in quest of movie honors, but simply because he liked the climate. He had foreseen he says, what would happen to vaudeville once talkies were perfected, and he wanted to establish himself in business before it was too late.

He opened a brokerage office here, and was prospering at it, with a little thought of his old days on the stage. The movies held no appeal for him, because he disliked the idea of going around from one studio to another begging for parts.

Then one day he met a director on a movie lot where he was talking on old actor friends.

"What ho!" said the director immediately, "you're just the type! Will you take this part?"

ONE THING TO ANOTHER
Thus Fields became a gunman in Norma Talmadge's first talkie, finished the role and went back to his office.

Again, some time later, he called, this time to see Frank Fay, his old team mate. Michael Curtiz, director, strolled up. Fay introduced him.

"What ho!" said Curtiz, perhaps in other words, "you're just the type! Will you take this part?"

So Fields became a tramp in Al Jolson's "Mammy." By this time the ball seemed to be rolling and it looked as though Fields were in the movies for good.

A test for the William Powell vehicle "Street of Chance" led to his signature on a five-year contract.

"So what was the use," asks Fields, "in turning down a proposition, like that?"

He is, needless to say, no longer in the brokerage business.

Fields' broken nose, which helps to make him "just the type", was received early in his career from Benny Leonard, the retired lightweight champion, when both were fighting preliminary bouts.

Younger Shires Reports to Giants
SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 28. (AP)—Len Shire, younger brother of "The Great" Shires, Chicago White Sox first baseman, has reported to the New York Giants for trial.

Len is a second baseman and is not so glib as his elder brother. He was recommended to John McGraw by the white Sox shires. He has played with 471-pre teams in Waco, Muskogee, Springfield and other towns.

Chapel Will be Held Daily Next Week at Central Chapel programs will be held each morning next week from 11:15 to 12 o'clock at Central high school.

Principal L. L. Stone said today that students are getting ready for the try-outs for the interscholastic League which will be given opportunities to appear publicly.

Prof. Stone also said that arrangements were being made to give each local winner a $5 gold piece in connection with the try-outs.

TAYLOR LOSES TO CLINGMAN BUT PLEASES FANS WITH HIS SNOWMANSHIP AND CLEVERNESS

A highly entertaining showman and a clean wrestler, Tiger Taylor lost the first two falls to Otis Clingman last night at the Pla-Mor. Tiger, apparently a victim of the talking mania, a malady common to so many wrestlers, explained to the crowd after it was all over that he had not worked out in three weeks and wanted another chance at Clingman.

This alibi was not so impressive when the audience remembered that Tiger wrestled Rob Roy at Amarillo last week, and that it was Clingman who did most of the "blowing" and hard breathing last night. The tiger's fine condition was the most noticeable thing about him. At no time did he appear winded.

Clingman won the first fall in sixteen minutes with a "flying Dutchman" hold. The ex-sailor grabbed his opponent by the legs, whirled him around several times and when the Arkansas Tiger hit the mat it was comparatively easy for Clingman to put his shoulders to the mat. Clingman was well on his way to throw the Tiger by this method several times, but Taylor succeeded in holding to the ropes.

The hardest hold to get, and the most deadly hold after one gets it—the step-over-toe-hold—was used by Clingman to win the second fall in 16 minutes. Otis executed this hold very quickly and cleverly after he had flailed the mat with Taylor in a half dozen body slams.

Taylor had the Pampa boy in several dangerous positions but in not one that Otis could not and did not break. The Tiger began crawling off the mat in the first five minutes and he kept it up until the last five. Another thing whenever the Tiger did get Otis clamped in a bone crushing hold he did not fail to let the audience know about it, in fact he called their attention to it, naming the kind of hold it was.

The way Taylor came out of it after painful holds or body slams was highly pleasing to the audience. His puffing out of his hirsute chest was almost as impressive as his wrestling. The sailor has his first time to crawl off the mat in the Pla-Mor.

Last night's was Clingman's 26th match since he wrestled here last fall, and it was his 22nd win. He lost his Chicago match by one fall. His opponent, an Indian chief from the Canadian Rockies, won the first fall with a toe hold in 37 minutes, the second Clingman won with a toe hold in 57 minutes, and the third the Indian won with a flying toe-hold in eight minutes.

The semi-final event last night was a school-boy wrestling affair and was so rotten it was almost good. Bill Knight of Skellytown and Kansas City proved to be so gentle toward Kid Williams that the latter was in no danger at any time during the 20-minute match. Knight, one of "these here" bare-footed wrestlers, weighed 206 and Williams 170. Knight executed the few holds he used slowly and awkwardly and Williams had no trouble in breaking them. The Kid content to wallow around with Knight, attempted no serious holds.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
 WASHINGTON—In a fine old mansion in Georgetown, Washington's oldest and quietest residential section, lives the daughter-in-law of General Ulysses Simpson Grant.

Quite beautiful in her declining years and queenly in her bearing is Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant. She lives with her son, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant III, director of public buildings and public parks in the national capital.

There is a room in the Grant mansion filled with mementos of her noted father-in-law, many of them secured on his round-the-world trip, and gifts of foreign nations.

Especially interesting are documents which have to do with Abraham Lincoln. There is one in particular—the papers passed between the two when Grant was made commander-in-chief of the northern forces.

Behind the Scenes
 But the story back of these documents, told by Mrs. Grant, is even more interesting.

Grant came to Washington to receive his commission, a total stranger to the president. He had a short conference with Lincoln. Just as the conference was about to end, Lincoln said:

"General Grant, I shall have the honor and pleasure tomorrow of presenting you with your commission. It will be an occasion of importance, historical importance. I know you to be a man of deeds rather than words. I shall be brief."

"I have written out exactly what I shall say to you, and I have made a copy of it which I am now handing to you. You may wish to look it over. I shall say precisely that."

The two originals—Lincoln's remarks to Grant and the general's response—are in their own handwritings. The striking thing is the similarity of length and paraphrasing.

Both Laconic
 Both are short. What Lincoln read to Grant consists of 84 words. What Grant read to Lincoln consists of 82 words, and the two fitted together with dove-tailed accuracy.

These two addresses can be found in any standard life of Lincoln, but not what happened before.

Grant was averse to public speaking even while president, but that fact was generally unknown at that time.

There is no accounting for this scene other than Lincoln's rare gift of precision.

Early Dinners

Washington's most famous breakfast companions are John Q. Tilson, Republican leader of the house, and Rep. Florence P. Kahn of California. Hardly a morning passes while congress is in session that these two are not seen in the house restaurant at the capitol. They are the first to be served when the restaurant opens.

Tilson has been a friend of the Kahn family for years. The late Julius Kahn, husband of Mrs. Kahn, former member of congress, and Tilson were the greatest of friends.

"MILLIONAIRE SHERIFF" FACES FEDERAL TRIAL

HOUSTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—Indicted along with seven others, for violations of the national election laws by conspiracy, A. Y. Baker, "millionaire sheriff" of Hidalgo county, faced today the most material threat ever made against his long political leadership in the lower Rio Grande valley.

Baker, a former Texas ranger, heard last night without comment that a federal grand jury, which began Monday an investigation of the conduct of the 1928 general election in Hidalgo county, had brought bills charging him with the seven with "conspiracy to injure persons in the exercise of political rights."

It was the first clear cut victory for the "Independent Republicans" of the county, who long had been alleging that the Weslaco box illegally was thrown out in order to save the Baker regime from defeat.

A previous grand jury at Brownsville had investigated without making a formal report, and Fred Horowitz of Los Angeles, special United States attorney general, had sought and obtained the transfer of the matter to Houston.

All those indicted and around 20 other persons went before the grand jury in its four-day inquiry.

The Democratic chieftain kept to his hotel last night while the report was being made, and the eight planned to make bond of $1,000 each today.

Ed Williams, Harlingen newspaperman, election clerk at the Weslaco polls, another of those indicted, said immediately afterward: "Just a bunch of politics."

"This is just the beginning," Horowitz remarked.

Mrs. Esther Smith, proprietor of Esther's Beauty Salon, will leave Sunday for Dallas, where she will spend several days attending a beauty culture school and a series of trade demonstrations. She will be accompanied by Miss Anne Swearingen, who will visit friends there.

Prison Reform Much in Doubt

AUSTIN, Feb. 28. (AP)—Both houses of the legislature were resting today with penitentiary centralization and reformation legislation hanging in mid-air.

As the case in the fourth special session, the house went on record for improving existing properties without moving, and the senate voted for the plan to centralize in an industrial plant to be built near Austin.

Both houses were in recess over the week-end, and there was considerable speculation as to whether either would be able to maintain a quorum with any degree of regularity hereafter.

Representative Coke (Evenson of Junction yesterday placed on the table subject to call a resolution bearing the signatures of 82 members proposing sine die adjournment Saturday, and Rep. Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo offered an amendment to set final quitting time of the special session for Saturday, March 5.

The house voted, 67 to 30, to pass the bill by Rep. Harry N. Graves of Georgetown, appropriating $400,000 for the current biennium to be used in enlarging and improving central penitentiary headquarters at Huntsville and farms and properties in the system. During the fourth session the same bill was passed, except that it carried an appropriation of $550,000 then.

The senate adopted the bill by Senator J. W. E. H. Beck of DeKalb to centralize around an industrial plant within 25 miles of Austin. However, it carried an amendment by Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin that it could be placed within 25 miles of any city having a population of 18,000 people or more.

The house committee on revenue and taxation continued its hearing on tax measures. The hearing on the proposal to tax production of natural gas was to be continued. The tobacco tax bill was killed by committee action last night, and a hearing on the bill to tax picture theaters and shows of all kinds was set for tonight.

The senate state affairs committee set for hearing Monday night the Sanders house bill to levy a tax of $1-per long ton on sulphur.

Boston ranks next to New York in the percentage of increase in manufacturers for the 1925-27 period.

Dallas Quintet

May Take Title

DALLAS, Feb. 28. (AP)—Four teams were in the running for semi-finals, in the Southern A. A. U. open tourney for men's basketball teams today, with Spargo of Shreveport, La., and the Dallas Athletic club quintets promising the feature game on tonight's card. Both teams took their elimination games hardly last night, and were paired to take up the fight to get to the last stanza. Schepps of Fort Worth will meet Morris Men's Wear in the other feature go, and several consolation matches will be played.

GERMAN TENNIS STAR MUST FACE INQUIRY

BERLIN, Feb. 28. (AP)—Daniel Prenn, German tennis champion, has been summoned to appear before the rules committee of the German Lawn Tennis association to answer charges of violating the amateur rules.

He is alleged to have demanded 3,000 marks and 35 tennis racquets as payment for advertising the equipment made by a German company.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

International Sunday School Lesson for March 2, 1930.

General Topic: Jesus Teaching About Himself.

Scripture Lesson: Matt. 11:2-9, 25-30.

Matt. 11:2. Now when John heard in the prison the works of the Christ, he sent by his disciples:

3. And said unto Him, Art thou He that comest, or look we for another?

4. And Jesus answered and said unto them, Go and tell John the things which ye hear and see:

5. The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, and the dead are raised up, and the poor have good tidings preached to them.

6. And blessed is he, whosoever shall find no occasion of stumbling in me.

25. At that season Jesus answered and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that thou didst not hide these things from the wise and understanding, and didst reveal them unto babes:

26. Yes, Father, for so it was well-pleasing in Thy sight.

27. All things have been delivered unto Me of My Father; and no one knoweth the Son, save the Father; neither doth any know the Father, save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son willeth to reveal Him.

28. Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.

29. Take My yoke upon you, and learn of Me; for I am meek and lowly in heart: and ye shall find rest unto your souls.

30. For My yoke is easy, and My burden is light.

Golden Text: Come unto Me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.—Matt. 11:28.

Theme: Midsummer of A. D. 28, the second year of Christ's ministry. Place: Somewhere in Galilee.

Introduction
John the Baptist had incurred the enmity of Herodias by his bold declaration to Herod that it was not lawful for him to have his brother's wife. Herod himself had also resented the rebuke, and he had shut up John in prison in the fortress of Machaerus, about seven miles northeast of the Dead Sea. There the prophet had been confined for something like a year. He had, however, the privilege of seeing his disciples, and they told him of the works of Jesus, which were quite different from what John had expected him to do. Finally he sent to inquire of Jesus whether he was really the Messiah or not.

John in Doubt
John the Baptist was suffering from doubt. Things were not turning out as he had expected. For months now he had been languishing in the dungeon of Machaerus. "He was a Bedouin of the desert taken from the open air and put in prison. His muscles relaxed and his lungs lost their power, and the trouble of the body reached the soul." His work had apparently been a failure. "His life was ending in his very prime, after only two years of labor for his Lord." And Jesus was not the Messiah that he had expected. He was raising no armies, destroying no enemies, promoting no revolution. Moreover, He appeared to take no notice of John's imprisonment. How natural, therefore, that John should wonder if, after all, he had been mistaken in thinking that Jesus was the Messiah.

Reply of Jesus to John
To the troubled inquiry of His cousin Jesus made no direct reply. He did not explain His own conduct, but merely commanded the messengers to tell John what they had seen. His actions were the credentials of His Messiahship. They showed His sympathy for the suffering, His desire to deliver the diseased and comfort the bereaved. Next, there was His message. It was good news for the poor. This was something new for neither heathen philosophers nor Jewish rabbis showed much concern for the poor. The poor were often referred to in contemptuous fashion. But never by Jesus. He made no distinction between rich and poor. It is one of the chief glories of the religion. He established that it offers its best blessings to the poor on the same terms told of woes to come upon them, declared that His own Capernaum, which had become His home town, should be brought down to hell.

"Who but a divine King could venture to pronounce such penalties upon these cities? Can we imagine any other man than He solemnly stating that if men did not believe in Him and accept Him as a Lord and Saviour, they should suffer the doom of hell? Who must it be Who makes such claims for Himself? It is well to note here that Jesus pronounces His woes not merely upon the wicked, the immoral, the depraved, but upon those who are indifferent to His claims. Again it should be noted that Jesus insists that the larger the opportunity for belief, the greater is the condemnation of those who reject Him. His miracles were his credentials. Whatever view may be taken by modern men of these wonderful works, Jesus declares that they bore definite testimony to His claim."—Prof. Charles E. Erdman.

Son Reveals the Father
"And no one knoweth the Son, save the Father." Thus Christ did not expect to be understood by men; and when some flash of insight into His divine nature came to a disciple, as when Peter made his great confession, our Lord was delighted. But it was enough for Him that His Father understood Him. "Neither doth any know the Father, save the Son." Christ alone had come from heaven after an eternity of union with the Father. He in the Father and the Father in Him; He alone could reveal the Father to men. "And He to whomsoever the Son willeth to reveal Him." This revelation of the Father was the object of Christ's incarnation. He was not obliged to reveal His Father to all men, irrespective of their desire to know Him, and their capacity to receive Him. Christ made choice of the fit of those who would value the revelation as the greatest thing in life, and would therefore make a good use of it.

Rebuke to Unbelief
Our Lord passed from this valuation of John to a valuation of the generation in which both He and John lived. They were not pleased either with John's asceticism or with Christ's freedom from austerity. "They were like the children who would not play 'follow the leader,' Jesus neither in the dance nor in the funeral wails. Christ had done mighty works in their dust, such as of the nearby Chorazin, Bethsaida, and Capernaum, and the cities were still unrepentant. Our Lord condemned them sternly, fore-for rest. He says, "Take My yoke upon you, and learn of Me." Become My disciple, and you shall find rest. Vainly do men seek rest anywhere else. Not in any other religion, not in any system of philosophy, not in any discovery of science, not in any program of morality, is there to be found relief from the burden of sin that every honest and thoughtful man bears on his heart. Jesus alone gives rest, rest from the load of guilt, rest from the strain of anxiety, rest in the glad service of God, rest in the harmony of life with the benevolent plan of our Father."

"The kindest word, ever spoken is the word 'Come.' Its significance lies in the fact that it falls from the gracious lips of God."—David James Burrell.

"Rest is Christ's gift. First, directly, and second, as a result of experience. 'I will give you rest when you come to me. Ye shall find rest, in taking My yoke and in bearing My Burden.'"—Marvin R. Vincent.

"The world's way of giving rest is by removing a man's yoke. 'Not as His way. The restful life is not the useful life—life without burdens of yokes. The gift of Jesus is a gift of rest while wearing the yoke, rest while carrying the cross, rest in the very midst of mystery, temptations, and strife.'"—J. J. Fowler.

Girlhood

The trying time in a young girl's life is reached when Nature leads her uncertain steps across the line which divides girlhood and womanhood. Neglect at this critical period is largely responsible for much of the misery of women. Often there is need of some safe, strengthening tonic to overcome the languor, nervousness and distress girls commonly experience at this time. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription soothes the nerves, encourages the appetite and helps the entire womanly organism. It is purely herbal—contains no narcotic, nor any harmful ingredient. Druggists, Tablets or liquid. Send Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 10c if you desire a trial pkg. of tablets.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JUDITH CAMERON, New York typist, marries ARTHUR KNIGHT, executive of the publishing house in which she is employed. Knight is a widower with a daughter, TONY, 18, in Paris, and a son, JUNIOR, 16, at school. When Tony returns home she denounces Judith as a gold digger.

Andy Craig, whom Knight has helped through college, takes a position with the publishing firm. He has been in love with Tony for a long while. In a fit of anger Tony tries to convince her father that Andy and Judith are carrying on an affair. Knight denies this but Tony tricks the pair into a compromising situation.

Now go on with the story
CHAPTER XXXIV
With an effort which cost him much, Arthur Knight raised himself on one elbow. His dark eyes looked bright and too intense. They bespoke the weakened condition in which weeks of illness had left him.

"You do this too often, Judith," he said. "I don't want you giving up all your pleasures just because I've got to stay here in bed. You're not going to sacrifice."

"Why, Arthur! How ridiculous! Here you wouldn't try to sit up like that. It isn't good for you. Dr. Shephard would be perfectly furious to hear of such a thing. Please! Lie down again and let me read to you, won't you?"

"No, I don't want you sending the others away and giving up all your time to take care of me as though I were a child."

"But, Darling, I WANT to be with you! I thought we'd both enjoy a little while together."

"Go ahead and finish it," he said. "There was such lack of interest in his tone, however, that the girl was disturbed. She was glad when the climax of the tale had been reached and the last paragraph finished."

"I think you'd better rest now a while," she told Knight. "I'll read to myself. Is there anything I can get for you?"

"I guess there's nothing else now, is there? You're going to have a new nurse this evening?"

"Yes, Mrs. Knight is going to stay with you. She said I might go into the city. Will you want anything else before I go?"

"Good evening, M. Knight. I hope you like your new nurse?"

"You're married to an old man, Judith. Put back on the shelf!"

"Why—no!"

"What are you going to read?" she asked.

"Don't know. Some book he's got around that he says he's interested in. Horrible, I suppose. I think it's something about Henry VIII or one of those old boys."

"I think you'd better rest now a while," she told Knight. "I'll read to myself. Is there anything I can get for you?"
