Continuation of Oil Production Shut-Down Is Virtually Certain

CURTAILMENT FOR 60 DAYS IS CONSIDERED

Decline Not As Fast As Expected in Gray

PRORATION NOT PRACTICAL HERE

Stalcup Says Industry Growing More Stable

Continuance of the shut down in drilling wells of the Marland-Finley pool and in the LeForn area for another 60 days was indicated an hour after the opening of a meeting attended by representatives of major oil companies although no vote had been taken on the matter.

At the opening of the meeting H. M. Stalcup, vice-president of the Skelly Oil company, read telegrams from about 50 operators favoring a 60-day shut-down. The substance of most of the messages was that they could see no reason why operators should not forestall drilling of a single well in the county except those that should be drilled in to protect their own property.

Mr. McMan of the McMan Oil and Gas company stated that he wanted the approval of the operators to bring in two wells in the Coombs-Worley area but if this approval was not given he said his company would feel compelled to drill them in anyway. Completion of the two wells would necessitate the bringing in of two wells by Operators oil company and two by Magnolia Oil and Refining company. These six wells are the only ones of the 27 that were affected in the first shut down. They are the only offsets that have not been completed in the central area.

Stalcup said that the probable crude demand estimated by the Mid-Continent oil association is 660,000 barrels and that the production is now down to that figure. He stated that proration is working with a vengeance in Oklahoma fields and in California.

Prediction that the oil shut-down in Gray county, leading county from standpoint of production in the Panhandle, would be continued for another month was made today by H. M. Stalcup of Tulsa, chairman of the meeting to decide the matter.

However, proration was not considered likely, and was declared impracticable in this granite wash area. And while the decrease in daily production during the last month had not been as large as expected, Mr. Stalcup said the several wells drilled in were necessary, and that the program as outlined a month ago had been carried out.

It was declared that no wells should be drilled in unnecessarily now, since pipelines are flowing to near capacity, storage is full, and the supply meets demand.

Mr. Stalcup emphasized, however, that he considered the oil situation in the United States as the healthiest in recent years. He said shut-down programs in this country are holding back 300,000 barrels daily of the oil flood, and potentially much more of fish production.

Mr. Stalcup is vice-president in charge of production of the Skelly Oil company.

WEST TEXAS: Unsettled tonight and Saturday, probably rain or snow in south portion; somewhat colder tonight.

—AND A SMILE

NEW YORK (AP)—A blonde Norwegian girl who immigrated recently and got a job as chamber maid, is in the social register, for a year at least. The latest issue notes that Miss Adelaide Ingebretsen was married to William W. Willock, Jr., at Oyster Bay Nov. 6. Willock, Sr., steel magnate, has forgiven the elopers and presented them a house on his estate. The register omits Mr. and Mrs. James J. Tunney, whose marriage it noted last year. It mentions Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Girls Forced Down Second Time

The second attempt of Miss Elinor Smith and Miss Bobby Trout to set a new record for refueling flights ended in failure today due to lack of fuel. The upper picture shows a refueling in practice maneuvers. In the circle Miss Smith, left, and Miss Trout are examining the refueling funnel. And below is Miss Trout in the cabin of the "Sunbeam", showing how the girls slept on top of the big gas tank.

Bodenhamer Now in Fort Worth As Guest of Texans

FORT WORTH, Nov. 29. (AP)—O. L. Bodenhamer, national commander of the American Legion, was a guest of Fort Worth today, and various events, including a banquet, a sightseeing tour and a public meeting attended by Legionnaires from over North Texas, were arranged in his honor.

Bodenhamer is a native Texan. He was born at Goldthwaite, received a degree at Baylor university and was professor of English, dean, and coach of athletics at South Texas State Teachers college.

He entered the world war in 1917 as a private and was discharged two years later a major. His present home is at Eldorado, Arkansas. He was a national executive committee member for Arkansas when elected commander at the Louisville convention.

Pie Company Is Robbed of $18,000

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Seven men entered the offices of the Case and Martin Pie company Thanksgiving day, broke open the safe and escaped with approximately $18,000.

The bandits rounded up the eight employees in the plant, tied their hands and feet together and placed sacks over their heads. One of the gang apparently had a police record. His mask slipped and one of the employees caught a glimpse of his face.

"Don't take a good look," he said. "If you identify me at the bureau, I'll kill you."

One whaling company in the North Pacific this year captured 225 whales.

BYRD FLYING OVER POLE ON LONG EFFORT

Tri-Motored Plane Is Being Used for Flight

RECORD WILL BE SET IF SUCCESS

Stars and Stripes Will Be Set at Bottom of World

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—The New York Times, with St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the newspapers affiliated with them in publishing reports from Commander Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition today announced that Commander Byrd started from his base Little America in the Antarctic at 3:29 o'clock yesterday afternoon (10:29 p. m., New York time) on a 1,600-mile flight to the south pole and back.

Commander Byrd, who is flying with Bernt Balchen as pilot, with Harold Goe as radio operator and Captain T. McKinley as photographer in the big tri-motored airplane he took to the Antarctic, expects to be in direct communication throughout the flight with the New York Times radio station in New York, as well as with his base, and will report his progress as he goes. If all is well with him, he should return to his base before twenty-four hours have elapsed.

Planning to carry the stars and stripes to the bottom of the world by air as he already has carried them to the top, Commander Richard E. Byrd set out on Thanksgiving day to fly across the south pole just as summer approached the vast Antarctic continent.

The flight recalled his own flight in May, 1926, in the tri-motored Fokker airplane, the Miss Josephine Ford, from King's Bay, 30 Spitzbergen, across the pole and return in 15 hours and 30 minutes. The round trip was 1,600 miles. A trip in Arctic springtime about the same distance as the flight on which he is engaged today over icy wastes and mountains.

He was the first to fly to the north pole and the only one to fly across it in a heavier than air machine. The two dirigibles, the Norge and the Italia, cruised later above the pole, which was discovered April 6, 1909, by Admiral Robert E. Peary, American, in a sledge expedition.

Commander Byrd is the first to attempt the flight above the south pole although both he and Captain Sir George Hubert Wilkins previously last year used airplanes in flights over Antarctica. The south pole was reached first by Ronald Amundsen, Norwegian, Dec. 14, 1911, and a few days later by Captain Robert F. Scott, British, both using overland methods of travel.

Weather Is Due to Be Sub-Zero

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Below zero weather was the prophecy ventured for tonight by the weather man as most of the Middle West shivered to work this morning in the biting cold. Temperatures as low as two degrees above zero were recorded here, and the northwest wind made it seem even colder.

Duluth, Minn., had 14 below as it shivered through day weather, and there were severe snowstorms in Central Illinois, parts of Iowa and South Dakota.

The sub-zero weather claimed its first life in Racine, Wis., today. The frozen body of Nick Smolinski, 45, was found in a field in a sparsely settled section of the city.

GIVEN 35-YEAR TERM

LAREDO, Nov. 29. (AP)—A thirty-five year sentence in the state penitentiary has been assessed against Felipe Zuniga Mexican customs agent, as his penalty for the death of Benito Ramon, killed last Sept. 24 when Zuniga rode his horse across the Rio Grande and fired several shots in Laredo. He was convicted yesterday.

Prohibition Invades 'Wettest City'

Prohibition is now attempting to gain a foothold in Juarez, Mexico, the "wettest city in the world". Thousands of Juarez school children celebrated the anniversary of the Madero revolution the other day with parades and demonstrations against alcohol, as part of President Portes Gil's prohibition campaign throughout the nation. This picture shows Juarez girls with an anti-saloon banner they carried at the head of the procession down 16th of September street, which has more saloons per block than any other street in the world. The saloons closed during the parade.

Bonds Forfeited When Defendants Fail to Appear

Bonds of Bob and Art Wade, charged with the possession of intoxicating liquor for the purpose of sale, were ordered forfeited this morning by Judge W. R. Ewing after their attorney had announced that they would not appear for their trial which was set for today.

Amount of each bond was $1,500. Judge Ewing then ordered that the men be arrested and placed under a $5,000 bond each. Their cases were set this morning by Judge Ewing for the first day of the first criminal case week of the next court term.

Attorney for the Wade brothers explained that Bob Wade was taken to the White hospital in Wichita Falls by Art, and that he is now in that institution and could not possibly appear for trial.

In forfeiting the old bond and ordering a new one, Judge Ewing told the defense attorney that "Wade went to the hospital just a few days before his case came up at the last term of court and it is passing strange that he'd go to the hospital this time."

Visitors Came to See Game Here

Disappointed and irked, Ernest Medick of Dimmitt and J. A. Pirtle of Hedley, both Ford dealers in those two towns, went back to their homes last night. Of course they enjoyed their visits with Bonnie and Tom Rose and the Thanksgiving turkey dinner, but they had come especially to see either Hereford or Pampa win the district championship. They had left their homes before newspapers announcing the cancelled game arrived at their towns.

Ewing Leach attended the Amarillo-Wichita Falls game in Amarillo yesterday.

TWO DEATHS DUE TO COLD ARE REPORTED

Duluth, Minn., Claims Temperature of 26 Below

RECORD COLD FELT IN OHIO

Snow in Kansas and Denver Is Falling Today

CHICAGO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Bleak winter, arrived before his time, waved a cold blue hand over the central states today and signaled a numb world into a huddle about stoves and radiators.

Mercury shrank to zero regions, resting there despite a brilliant November sun, and showed every indication of slipping down to even lower levels tonight.

One man was frozen to death in Wisconsin and another in Toledo, and the death of a baby in Chicago was attributed to heart disease superinduced by the cold.

Duluth, Minn., for the second successive day was the coldest spot on this side of the Canadian border and again White River, Ontario, was the coldest in the government weather map with a minimum of 26 degrees below zero. It was 16 below at Duluth, while Devil's Lake, N. D., reported 12 below; St. Paul six below; Winnipeg 20 below; Moorhead, Minn., 12 below Milwaukee, four below; Chicago 1 above zero; 6 below at Charles City, Ia., and 2 above at Des Moines.

The body of Nick Smolinski, 45, was found frozen in Racine, Wis. He had wandered from his home without an overcoat.

Six-month-old Caroline Samel died in her mother's arms after an automobile ride. Physicians said the zero weather induced the fatal heart attack.

Police stations in Chicago sheltered 700 homeless men. The temperature was expected to drop to 6 below zero

FORCED DOWN HERE

Growing foginess caused a huge tri-motored Western Air Express monoplane to come to earth during the noon hour here today.

After telephoning to the Amarillo airport and learning that there was very low visibility there, the pilots decided to await developments here. Although they offered the five passengers the alternative of going to Amarillo by bus and taking a train to Albuquerque, the air travelers decided to stick by the plane as long as possible in the hope that continuation by air would be possible.

Increasing cold was noted, but little snow was encountered between Wichita, Kans., and Pampa. Delay here was expected to cause failure to make plane connections at Albuquerque, but the pilots and passengers agreed that safety was the best policy. The plane is one of the largest ever landed at the local airport.

here tonight. Thermometer readings of zero to four below were reported from the suburbs.

Thief River Falls, Minn., claimed the unofficial cold record, reporting 38 below zero.

Temperatures were near freezing today in portions of Missouri and Southern Illinois following snowfall of more than six inches yesterday. At Hannibal, Mo., the mercury dropped a bal. Mo., the mercury touched 5 above zero, and in the St. Louis district 9 degrees was recorded the coldest in years for November.

Ohio's coldest November blizzard since 1887 claimed two lives last night and today, one freezing and the other by fire.

Dazed by the cold and storm, Joseph Weich, 53, of Toledo, fell behind a billboard and froze to death, less than 50 feet from the warmth of his sister's home.

Near Xenia, Mrs. Minerva Smith, 75, a semi-invalid, burned to death when fire destroyed her farm home. The (See COLD WAVE, page 6.)

Pitt Panthers Are Unbeaten

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—The mythical eastern football championship has fallen into the hands of Pittsburgh's mighty Panther array with Colgate only a step behind.

The Panthers crunched their way through a strong and battling Penn state line yesterday to wind up their regular season unbeaten and untied in nine games. While the Panthers were coming from behind to trounce the Nittany Lions from State college, a heavy and brainy Colgate eleven was giving Brown a beating, 32 to 9 to end the campaign with only one defeat on its record—by Wisconsin.

These two games stood out in Thanksgiving day of football. In other games Penn surprised Cornell with a 17-7 win. Carnegie Tech ended the New York university jinx with a 20 to 0 victory, and Syracuse posed out Colorado by a single touchdown, 6-0.

Clark Hinkle, Bucknell fullback, supplanted Al Marsters as the sectional scoring leader by tallying 50 points as his team swamped Dickinson, 78-0. West Virginia surprised the experts with a 6-0 triumph over Washington and Jefferson. Western Maryland recorded its tenth successive victory with a 7-0 win over Muhlenberg. Maryland waited until the second half to pile up most of the 39 points it tallied against John Hopkins' six; Davis and Elkins, another unbeaten team, trounced Salem, 37 to 6, and Gettysburg, by virtue of a 23-0 verdict over Franklin and Marshall, won the eastern Pennsylvania intercollegiate conference championship.

TO EXAMINE CHILDREN

CANYON, Nov. 29. (Special)—School children of Randall county will be examined by a Red Cross health nurse, the work to begin February 1, 1930.

A total of $300 has been collected in the annual Red Cross Mail Call which still has a few days to continue. Mrs. Irvy Carruth of Canyon is in charge of the roll call in Randall county.

Missouri has begun plans for a new $2,300,000 road program.

PLATTER SPRINGS SURPRISE TO DEFEAT BONDS HERE WITH VICIOUS ASSAULT IN FOURTH

Whipped to the wall known frazzled in the fourth round, Cyclone Bonds threw his towel into the middle of the ring as the bell rang for the fifth, apparently glad to let Luther Platter win the scheduled 10-round fight at the Pla-Mor last night by a technical knock-out. Bonds' seconds gathered up the Cyclone from the ringside spectators where a torrent of cannon blows to his head and body, climaxed by a smashing lick to the heart, had landed him at the end of the fourth round.

Proceeding his exit through the ropes, early in the same round Bonds was knocked down for a count of eight after Platter had used the Cyclone's button as a punching bag. But before Platter had knocked his man groggy, Bonds had drawn plenty of blood from Platter's nose and mouth. Everybody was feeling sorry for Luther at the end of the second.

Starts With Rush

Bonds made his usual cyclone rush at the beginning of the first round, but Platter was very wary, knowing that Bonds has scored most of his score of knockouts in the first few rounds. Bonds almost chased the big boy around the ring during that first round. A few times he hemmed him into a corner or pushed him against the ropes, planning to administer the same sedative that Elmer Rigdon look, but Platter's defense seemed impenetrable. Cyclone's mule-kick blows slashed Platter's arms but failed to touch his solar plexus.

In the second round, Referee Sam Fenberg felt it necessary to tell Bonds to quit, holding Platter with his glove at the back of his neck when he hit him. Cyclone easily won the first and second rounds. However, Platter seemed to be feeling just as fine as ever, and it was obvious that the Cyclone's rushes had done very little damage to Platter's huge and beautifully-muscled bulk. Platter got in a few terrific blows in the second which he lost by fewer points than the first.

Bonds Looked Bad

At the beginning of the third, it was clear that Bonds was bottled. The Cyclone had calmed down to a whirlwind. His knock-out technique was not functioning at all. Bonds, still planning on a knockout, however started rushing Platter at the beginning of the third. During the first half of this round, it seemed that Platter was done for. But Platter loosed the hardest blow of the evening, leaving Bonds hanging on the ropes.

Bonds was given rounds one and two and Platter three and four. Preceding the battle, Red Matlock challenged the winner of the bout. After the fight, Bonds announced through the referee that attending his sister's funeral at Las Cruces last week broke into his training and that he was not in condition. He also said he injured his right hand at the beginning of the fight. He then challenged Platter for another fight.

Sammy Squires made a good start and followed it up until K. O. Kitchens perceived his calibre and knocked him out in the second round. Early in the second, Kitchens won the fight by a decision when Squires biffed him on the neck, while Kitchens was down. However, K. O. had already sensed that a knockout was in store for Sammy and he insisted on continuing the fight.

Smith Is Absent

The scheduled fight between Kid Buster and Kid Smithy was postponed, due to the absence of Smith. Buster and Johnnie Hillard fought lethargically through six rounds. Hillard winning four and Buster two. Clinches were frequent. It was plain that Hillard was not putting out all he had. No hard licks were hit. Hillard did most of the hitting but he allowed Buster several good blows.

Showing the audience how much he had taught Red Michaels in the last week, Leo Chase squared the lad's shoulders three times on the floor in

MAN IS KILLED WHEN TRUCK LEAVES BRIDGE

BRECKENRIDGE, Nov. 29. (AP)—One man was killed and two seriously injured, when their car, a light truck plunged through the rail of a bridge near here yesterday and fell 20 feet into a rocky ravine.

B. B. Peacock of Lusk, was almost instantly killed. His son, Horace, had both arms broken and suffered other injuries. J. C. Tubbs, Lusk rancher, was probably fatally injured.

Witnesses said Peacock, driving, swerved into the rail when he looked at a party of picnickers.

D. H. Diemart who fell across connections at Wilcox Oil and Gas company's No. 9 and suffered severe injuries in his back is recovering at McKean and Connor hospital.

A 10-minute exhibition match. Doc Denebeim explained that Chase had taken a fancy to the boy and was teaching him wrestling. Chase then addressed the audience, making the same speech. The affair was desultory.

The preliminaries were better than solved five sons of Mr. Wu (Western Union). Vic Wade received a good roughing in three rounds from J. C. Collier. Twin brothers put up an angry, vehement fight, pleasing the audience. The crowd filled all the seats and most of the standing space.

by Anne Austin, author of "The Black Pigeon," "Rival Wives," etc.

THIS HAS HAPPENED Through the influence of his mother, EMMA HOGARTH, O'BRIEN, BONNIE DUNDEE, student of criminology, gets a job as "head" detective under LIEUTENANT JOHN STRAWN of the homicide squad of Hamilton and takes a room in a house at Mrs. RHODES' boarding house to be near a MISS EMMA HOGARTH, who has written the police for protection, declaring her life and money are in danger, and throwing suspicion on EMIL, SEVER, former bander.

white hair, tolled grotesquely to one side, and about the neck, beneath three enormous chins, was tightly tied a black silk scarf, the ends hanging down from the knot in the back.

TO DUNDEE'S HORROR, STRAWN CLUCKED CHEERFULLY TO THE BIRD WHICH COVERED ON ITS PERCH. "HELLO, POLLY! PRETTY POLLY!"

"All right, Payne!" Strawn snapped, and a detective stepped forward. "I want you to go with Mrs. Rhodes to every boarder's room, arouse them if they are sleeping and tell them to remain in their rooms until they're called for. If anyone has any information to give about the actual murder, bring him or her to me immediately. I'll be in Mrs. Hogarth's room. But leave the examination of the boarders to me. . . . Everyone in, Mrs. Rhodes!"

DUNDEE joined his superior, glad to put that horror-stricken dead face out of his sight for a while. "It's hers, all right. I noticed it this evening, thrown across the back of her chair. By George, Strawn! I believe I know what the scarf was used for—before—tonight. As a cover for the parrot's cage, to make it dark for him while the light was still on—"

"SURE it's murder?" Lieutenant Strawn asked brusquely. Gone was the weary, cynical timber of ice cream sodas, and in his place the keen-eyed manhunter.

"Strangled—choked to death with her own scarf," Bonnie Dundee answered grimly. In those eight or 10 minutes after his horrible discovery and while he awaited the arrival of his chief, the inexperienced young detective had got hold of his nerves—to a decent extent at least. He had been guilty of a choked voice and tears of rage when he had broken the news to Mrs. Rhodes, who now stood near him in the front hall of the boarding-house.

"Then," Strawn interrupted, "if the cage had already been covered for the night when the murderer entered, and he snatched it off at the last minute to strangle the old woman with it, it's pretty certain Cap'n was asleep when his mistress' last words were uttered—if any. He stood behind her to tie the knot, as you can see. It may be that she never saw her murderer at all, had no intimation that she was not alone and safe, until the scarf was thrown around her neck."

"You found her, of course? Did you touch anything?" Strawn demanded, motioning for the group of uniformed and plainclothes policemen to come in from the porch.

"I closed and locked the window, without touching the frame, and locked the door," Dundee answered. "I listened to her heart, too, of course. She's—quite dead."

"What?" Strawn ejaculated, incredulous of his young assistant's sanity.

"I know how to keep a secret," she answered slyly. "Will you be staying on here then, Mr. Dundee?"

"Certainly. I like my new boarding-house, in spite of what has happened tonight."

"That's right," Dundee began slowly, "that Cap'n may repeat the last words the poor old lady ever spoke. If he does, they may be a name or a clue to the identity of the murderer. Of course he has been taught the names of most of the boarders—the old-timers, at least, and if it's one of those names he speaks, it won't help us much. Might mean a lot of nothing, but if he speaks a name or a word she hadn't taught him—"

"And keep an eye on the porches and roof," Strawn cautioned, "though whoever did this thing has had ample time to get away, I suppose."

"He turned to Dundee: "The coroner, Dr. Price, is on his way. Ought to be here any minute now. Better give me the key. We'll go and have a look at the room before Price gets here."

"That chance!" Strawn dismissed the idea, his eyes roving about the room. "Robbery or attempted robbery is pretty evident, isn't it? Trunk open and contents scattered over the floor. Desk drawers pulled out and papers scattered. Closet door wide and clothes spilling out. Mattress dragged off the bed. Made a pretty thorough job of it, didn't he? Wonder if he found what he was looking for?"

Mrs. Rhodes dabbed at the tears in her eyes, then answered with a dignity that, in other circumstances might have been comical, because of the fact that her hair was rolled on old-fashioned curl curiers and her body was wrapped in a skimpy kimono.

"Carraway, our fingerprint expert, will be along soon, and we don't want to gum up things for him," Strawn remarked in a low voice, just as the door swung open. It was a fair, large and very comfortable room, except for the

"What's this?" Strawn demanded, returning to the desk and pointing to a thick, green-leather bound book, lying near the edge of the open leaf of the desk.

"Her diary," Dundee answered. "She was just about to write in it this evening when Miss Paige and I came to call on her. She remarked that it had been given her by Cora Barker as a Christmas present—"

There was a knock on the door. Strawn opened it.

"Dr. Price and Mr. Carraway, sir," a uniformed policeman announced.

The coroner and the finger print expert entered the death chamber.

"She took her husband unawares

... and learned a lot!

MRS. KIRK'S husband wasn't expecting her back from Fort Worth until Sunday morning, but she came home on Saturday night.

"I'll surprise them," she told herself, slipping her key into the latch and entering the house quietly.

Savory odors came from the kitchen and she heard voices behind the closed door.

"Yes, sir; your mother's the best cook on earth," she heard her husband saying to her son, "but, my boy, she certainly doesn't make good coffee. She's such a dear, good woman, though, that I have never liked to tell her so."

"Well, it's good that we found out about this White Swan Coffee and laid in a good supply while she was gone, Dad," her boy said. "I think she'll notice the improvement."

Mrs. Kirk was 'a good sport' and a wise woman. She slipped back to the front door again, slammed it and shouted, "Look who's here!"

Mr. Kirk and his son raced to meet her and immediately after the embraces were exchanged, she said, "By the way, I ran across the most wonderful coffee in Fort Worth. It's called White Swan and..."

Yes, indeed—a wise woman!

No matter which member of the family may have introduced White Swan Coffee—or by what means—the enthusiastic praise for its tempting aroma and satisfying flavor is always unanimous.

COLD WAVE

(Continued from Page 1) blaze started from an overheated stove. Nine persons were seriously injured in traffic accidents on slippery streets in St. Louis and two apartment house fires caused by overheated furnaces drove nine families into the streets. Snowfall in St. Louis measured six and one-half inches. Freezing weather was experienced in Kansas, many sections of which received snow. The cold wave extended into the Rocky mountains, the 12th snow storm of the season descending on the Denver district, and temperatures also began to drop in Texas.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing, or reputation of any individual, firm, concern, or corporation that may appear in the columns of the Pampa Daily News will be gladly corrected when called to the attention of the editor.

IT IS WORTHWHILE TO CORRECT, INsofar AS POSSIBLE, ERRONEOUS IDEAS BEING PEDDLED ABOUT THE PANHANDLE.

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce recently wrote to Liberty magazine to protest a reference to the Staked Plains as "dry".

"In your editorial entitled 'Politics 1932', in the issue for the week ending Nov. 9, 1929, you said Texas under the Shepard crowd could be as dry as its Staked Plains....

"But if the foundation or basis of your other statements are as far off as the true facts are in regard to this statement, your comments and conclusions are 'all wet', to use a slang expression.

"We are enclosing herewith two rainfall charts, both made up from government records, as proof that this section is not as dry as you seem to think.

"It is true that many years ago when the eastern part of Texas was the western frontier of the United States, that this section was looked upon as semi-arid, but now it is recognized as being one of the greatest agricultural sections in the Southwest and with potentialities that cannot be visioned.

formation regarding this section. "We could take government and state records and prove every statement we have made above, which summed up, are that this section of West Texas is one of the greatest agricultural sections in the Southwest and it could not be such except sufficient rainfall were had to germinate, grow, and mature the crops planted.

"Out here on the Staked Plains of Texas today you will find cities with all modern conveniences and it is on behalf of them and of the entire section that we write you this letter to protest such statements as made in the above referred to editorial.

"We realize that the growth of this section has been so rapid, so wonderful, and so recent that those who do not visit here regularly cannot comprehend the development that is taking place, but we are enclosing herewith statistical sheets showing the growth of Lubbock just to give you a faint idea of what is taking place.

"Any correction you want to make will be appreciated. If you do not want to make a correction, we are at least glad to give you some facts on this section."

Liberty is hardly a geographical publication, and a correction is not likely to be made. Liberty's "slip" in referring in simile form to the "dry" Staked Plains is indicative of a deep-seated misconception of portions of Texas.

Specific mention alone, with complete information regarding a particular unit of territory is essential in getting direct results.

Every man should wear out a dress suit while he is going to college. Yes, he ought to wear it out so his thrift will not force him to wear it out before some small and not too lenient community to which he might go. Recollections of our own college days are to the effect that most of the friends and frat brothers are quite willing to assist in the wearing out process.

Sad to relate: That a local man saw a blue bank in the north, and thinking it was a carbon black cloud left his overcoat at home. It wasn't carbon black, though.

Deliver us from holiday. What is quieter than a town deserted of all who can get away and populated by those who feel disgruntled because they too could not leave?

The newspaper man's holidays are very limited. This publication observes only two each year—Christmas and July Fourth. Yesterday was no exception, and the only respite this column engineer had was a round of golf after the paper had been "put to bed."

We are still getting more exercise out of our golf than most of the fellows we know—at least we go more places and get in more licks. It just happens that these Panhandle breezes spring up when we hie away to the course, and you should see the curves breaking in the teeth of one of these good old Panhandle "northers".

MUSTANGS ARE SAVING TRICKS FOR SATURDAY

BY GAYLE TALBOT, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP)—After a satisfying turkey day menu followers of Southwestern conference football looked forward today to the season's title bout at Fort Worth Saturday where the S. M. U. Mustangs will do their best to knock the T. C. U. Horned Frogs from the championship seat.

The Fort Worth Christians have a perfect record while only a tie mars the Methodists' season. Although the Methodists are a notch lower in conference standings, the odds, at this distance, appear fairly even and one man's guess is as good as another's on the outcome.

Coach Ray Morrison is concentrating on an overhead game in his open practices. A suspicion of guile creeps in when it is remembered Morrison is notably tricky, and at least one practice was closed to all spectators, including the Mustangs' publicity man.

Morrison also appeared to be pinning a few hopes on the educated toe of young Bruce Kattman, who spent Thursday kicking punts from one end of the field to the other, thoroughly and consistently. Over at Fort Worth, meanwhile, Cy Leland had a very slim drumstick to nourish his under-10-second legs, upon which the hopes of the Frogs are partially pinned.

Rice and Baylor scrap for a consolation prize Saturday, and despite the depth to which they have sunk in the conference cellar, the game may be one of the scrappiest of the season. Baylor will attempt to climb a notch higher on the conference ladder, while Rice, its back against the wall, will desperately strive to mar an otherwise perfect record of no wins, no ties, during the season.

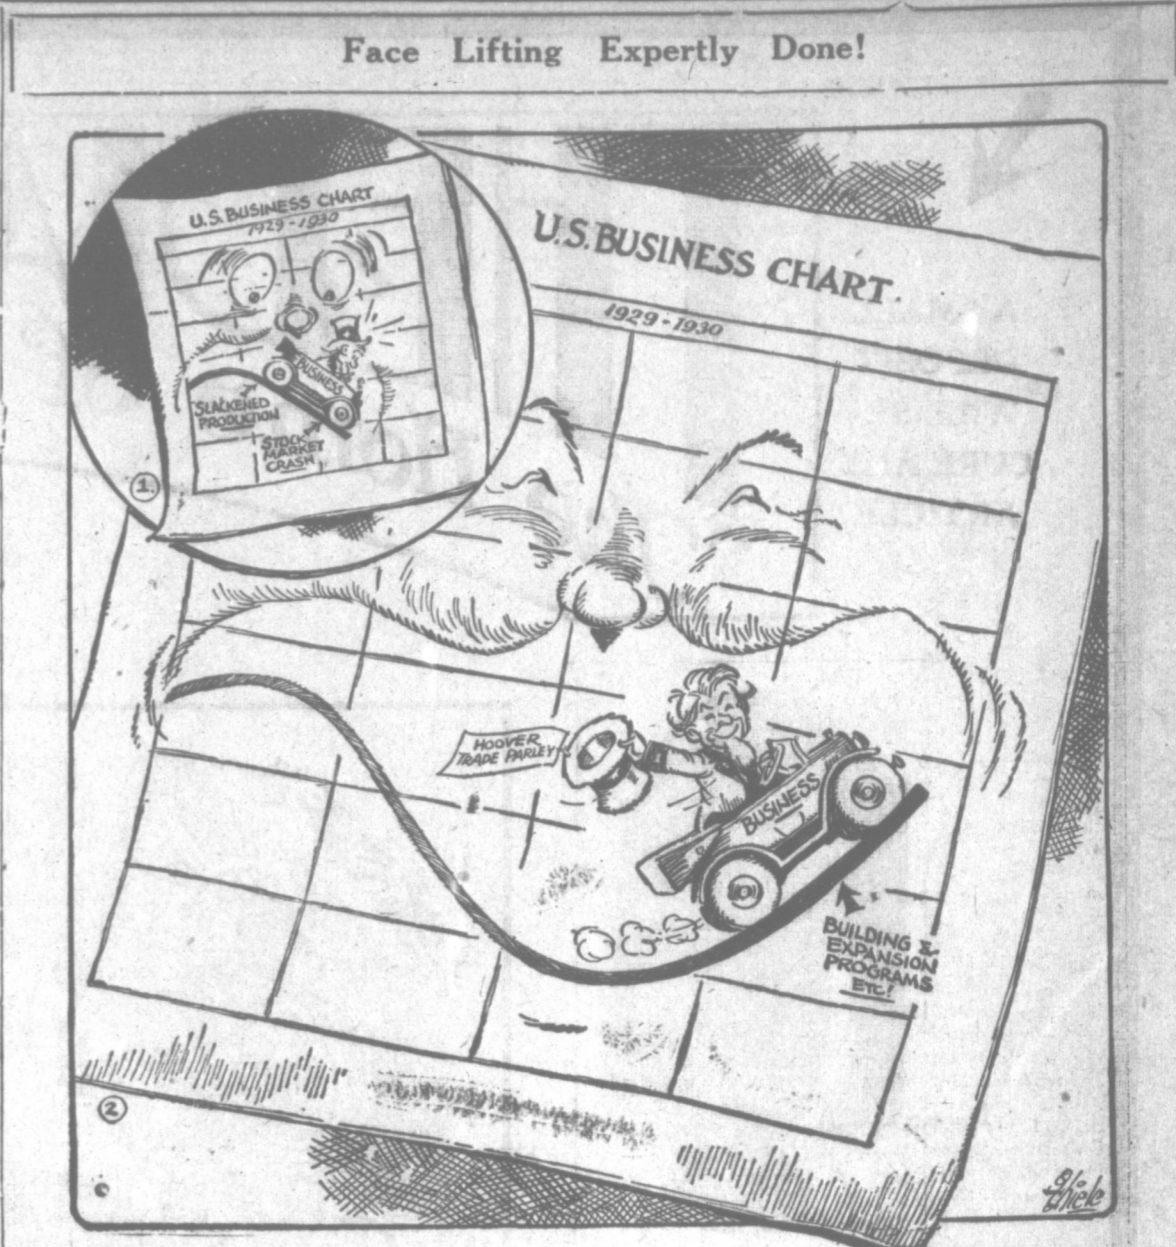

Three teams played in Thanksgiving games without disturbing the conference equilibrium noticeably. The Texas Aggies and the Arkansas Razorbacks added a little to their percentages and materially to retain their prestige by whipping the University of Texas Steers and the Oklahoma Aggies, respectively.

The Aggies' 13-0 victory upset predictions by at least five touchdowns. It had been predicted Texas would win by three touchdowns. The Arkansas team, playing a non-conference foe in a game counted in conference standings, was expected to win, but not by the 32 to 6 score. Their victories stepped the Texas Aggies up to fifth and the Porkers third in the conference race.

Miss Marion Reeves, who is employed in the office of the Wm. T. Fraser Insurance company, returned to the city last night, after spending several days in Dallas, where she was called by the illness of her father.

Mr. and Mrs. David M. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Phillips, and their small children, Jimmie, Jr., and Ruth Courtney, spent Thanksgiving Day in Amarillo at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Meyer, parents of Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Braly and their son, Tom, had as their guest for the holiday Mrs. Braly's mother, Mrs. T. J. Consideine of Amarillo.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic—The Christian Home in a Modern Home.

Scripture Lesson—Luke 2:40-52.

40. And the child grew, and waxed strong, filled with wisdom: and the grace of God was upon Him.

41. And His parents went every year to Jerusalem at the feast of the Passover.

42. And when He was twelve years old, they went up after the custom of the feast;

43. And when they had fulfilled the days, as they were returning, the boy Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem; and His parents knew it not;

44. But supposing Him to be in the company, they went a day's journey; and they sought Him among their kinsfolk and acquaintance:

45. And when they found Him not, they returned to Jerusalem, seeking for Him.

46. And it came to pass, after three days they found Him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers, both hearing them, and asking them questions.

47. And all that heard Him were amazed at His understanding and His answers.

48. And when they saw Him they were astonished; and His mother said unto Him, Son, why hast Thou thus dealt with us? Behold, Thy father and I sought Thee sorrowing.

49. And He said unto them, How is it that ye sought Me? Knew ye not that I must be in My Father's house?

50. And they understood not the saying which He spake unto them.

51. And He went down with them, and came to Nazareth; and He was subject unto them: and His mother kept all these sayings in her heart.

INTRODUCTION

The home is the foundation of the social order, and the character of the homes of a nation determines, more than any other influence, the character of its people. The true glory of any nation is found in its homes; not in their wealth, not in their magnificence, but in the principles that govern them and the ideals that inspire them. The forces of evil have always sought to undermine the home; and wherever they have succeeded, every interest of the kingdom of God has suffered. All the constructive influences available should be employed in making the homes of our people safer and purer and nobler.

What is a Home

Once a London magazine asked its readers to answer the question, "What is home?" It received eight hundred replies, and from these the editor selected as the best the following six:

"A world of strife shut out, a world of love shut in."

"The place where the small are great and the great are small."

"The father's kingdom, the mother's world, and the child's paradise."

"The place where we grumble the most and are treated the best."

"The center of our affection, round which our heart's best wishes twine."

"The only place on earth where the faults and failings of humanity are hidden under the sweet mantle of charity."

This "dearest spot on earth" is the subject of this lesson and we are to think how to make it Christian; for only in proportion as it is truly Christian can these six definitions of home be true.

Teaching on Divorce

"What therefore God hath joined together let no man put asunder." Our Lord was near the close of His life when He was assailed by His enemies, the Pharisees, with this question about divorce. The design was to embroil Him with one or the other of two parties among the Jews, and the party of easy divorce, and the party which allowed divorce only on the ground of adultery.

Christ did not hesitate to give His decision, and against the party of easy divorce. "The permission given by Moses," He declared, "was temporary, a permission fitted to the crude and cruel state of society at the time; but the marriage of one husband to one wife goes back to the first days of creation and is based on the fundamental principle of sex, not abrogated by the law of Moses, but constant through the ages. A man and his wife are no more two but one, joined together by their Creator, and 'what therefore God hath joined together, let no man put asunder.' Only one thing can break that union, namely, adultery; and where that is the condition, the union is already broken, the marriage already ceased to exist.

Guide to Happy Marriage

"The surest way to find the God-designed partners to marriage is:

"(a) To do faithfully the duty of the moment.

"(b) To pray to God to be given by Him the partner of his choice.

"(c) To have a true ideal of the duties and responsibilities of the married life.

"(d) Not on any account to marry for any secondary motive such as a home, or wealth, or social advancement, etc., but primarily and chiefly for love, which is in itself a gift of God; a love that can stand the test of 1 Cor. 13.

"At the close of a meeting of men, an old man came up to the present writer and said, 'That is quite right what you have been saying. I am an old man now, and my wife is well stricken in years. But we are very happy. And what you have just said is quite right. I prayed for three years to be guided aright in the choosing of my wife.'—Bernard M. Hancock.

Sunday School Lesson

child-life of Jesus is the loveliest picture of youth in all the Bible, and is full of instruction for modern families. "And the Child grew, and waxed strong." Physical health is the first gain of the child in a well-ordered home. Before he is old enough to read and study and pray, he is gaining the firm muscles and clear nerves which will help him immeasurably to think soundly and draw close to God. "Filled with wisdom." Christ's mind was trained with His body, and trained with the best of all text-books, the Bible, and in the best of all schools, the home, with a devout father and mother for the teachers. "And the grace of God was upon Him." He was "full of grace and truth" (John 1:14). His spiritual nature grew with His body and His mind, which is as it should be with every child.

Twelve Years Old
"When He was twelve years old, they went up after the custom of the feast." "Up to the age of twelve a Jewish boy was called 'little,' afterwards he was called 'grown-up,' and became a 'son of the Law,' or 'son of the Precepts.' At this age he was presented on the Sabbath called 'the Sabbath of Phylacteries' in the synagogue, and began to wear the phylacteries with which his father presented him.

"His parents went every year to Jerusalem at the feast of the passover." Men were required to do this, but not women; Mary's religious nature was shown by her accompanying Joseph on these annual pilgrimages. The passover was the feast commemorating the great deliverance from Egypt, when the death angel passed over the Hebrews, protected by the blood of the passover lamb on doorposts and lintel, and smote all the first-born of the Egyptians.

The Boy Jesus
"The boy Jesus" carried behind in Jerusalem. Neighbors and relatives, people of the same village, would travel together, and Joseph and Mary probably thought that Jesus was in this large body of people that had come down from Nazareth.

"After three days they found Him in the temple sitting in the midst of the teachers." Henry Van Dyke, in The Lost Boy, beautifully described how Jesus had wandered from one to another of the open-air schools held in Solomon's Porch, listening eagerly to Pharisees, Sadducees, and Zealots as they expounded their diverse creeds. "Both hearing them, and asking them questions." Listening intently, we may be sure, and asking questions modestly. Listening and questioning are the child's path to knowledge and wisdom.

My Father's House
"And He said unto them, How is it that ye sought Me?" Why did you here and there looking for Me, when there was only one place where I could be. "Knew ye not that I must be in My Father's house?" Literally, "in the (things) of my Father." The omitted noun may mean "business" or "place," occupation or abode. Probably both thoughts were in the expression, which was purposely left vague, to include them both. The more significant words are "My Father," Christ's new name for God, a name with which we are so familiar as to lose sight of its beauty, its insight, and its revolutionary character as presenting a new view of the Infinite Power and Majesty disclosed to us in the Old Testament. "Our Father who art in heaven"—Christ came to earth, it may be said, to teach men to say "Father."

Family Worship
"Christian home training calls for training the children in the habit of private prayer. Mother prays for herself before she crosses her eyes in slumber, and she prays for herself, so she teaches her children one by one to clasp their hands, and bend the knee and recite some simple evening prayer. Years may come and go, but the remembrance of that sacred moment when we kneel at mother's knee and spoke softly to the great God in heaven can never fade away.

"The Christian home will be sanctified by the voice of family worship. It will suffice for the family to meet for a simple service at some convenient time. A portion of the Bible may be read, a hymn sung if desired, and the father, or some one for him, should lead in prayer. When time presses in many homes it is the custom to conduct the simple service when the family assemble for the morning meal. Such worship makes a good beginning for the day, and draws the entire household into touch with what is holy and eternal."

The table blessing should never be omitted in a Christian home. It may be only a sentence, or the silent blessing of the Friends may be used, but this simple acknowledgment of the goodness of God is certainly the least that can be made in any family that calls itself Christian.

The Family Pew
"Blessed be the family pew! There all may sing the same hymns, reverently together attend to the reading and exposition of God's Word, unitedly join in the common worship of prayer, and feel their deeper fellowship. In home-building it is of the utmost importance that the whole family shall have and hold the faith of our fathers."—Rev. George N. Lubbock, D. D.

St. Mary's College Has Great Record

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29. (AP)—St. Mary's college, with only 700 students, today had closed a brilliant football season with its goal line crossed only once, eight victories to its credit and one scoreless tie. As a result St. Mary's was mentioned prominently as the west's representative in the Rose bowl game at Pasadena New Year's day.

The Gaels ended their season yesterday with a stunning victory over the powerful University of Oregon team, winning by a score of 31 to 6, and but for the lone touchdown would have made a record of being unscorred on for the season.

In the only other outstanding game on the Pacific Coast yesterday the University of California at Los Angeles won from the Grizzlies of Montana, 14 to 6. It was the Bruins' first conference victory.

Charles Sanger Dies

WACO, Nov. 29. (AP)—Charles M. Sanger, 60, one of the family which established the Sanger chain of department stores in Texas, died here yesterday, at the home of his brother, Asher.

Al though Mr. Sanger had been in ill health for the past year, his condition had not been regarded as serious. After his arrival here Wednesday he became seriously ill.

Among the numerous delightful family gatherings held yesterday in Pampa homes was a luncheon given by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Connor, who had as guests Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Coomer of Tulsa; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fairbank and their children, Marion Ray and Vaughn.

Importance of Home Work Stressed by Supt. Fisher—Interest of Pupils' Parents Essential to Good Progress

A statement concerning the local schools, and pertaining especially to attendance, has been made by Supt. R. B. Fisher. The statement follows:

Patrons of the Pampa school system are kindly asked to give careful attention to suggestions concerning report cards, attendance, tardiness, and home study.

Report cards are carried home by the child for the express purpose of securing a closer cooperation on the part of teacher, pupils, and parents. The card, regardless of the kind of grades, should be studied in conference with the child. Even if the grades are high, these are cases where the teacher and parent can do a better piece of work for the child. If the pupil is not passing, the card may be held at the school until a conference can be had with the parent.

Nothing need be said in favor of attendance, since it is quite evident in this day of rapid transition that anything missed for just a few moments may spell failure to the child.

Habits of promptness are very essential and should be formed at the earliest possible moment of a child's life. Investigation has shown the teachers that tardiness is due to negligence on the part of the parents. Many methods and devices are used by teachers to break up tardiness. To render justice is a great question in some cases.

Now we come to a question that has provoked discussion among educators and parents for many years. Some schools require no home study and even prohibit such a practice in the primary grades, while other schools advise strongly a one-to-two hour program of home study each evening. The latest authorities advise practically no home study for the first and second grades, but beginning somewhere in the primary department it is quite in keeping with good home training to have the child finish or review some of the work wherein he shows a marked degree of slowness. It is not my intention to argue this question, but it shall be our special policy to ask parents to ascertain directly from the teacher or principal the amount of home study necessary. Certainly parents know that an equal amount of home study for all children is ridiculous.

The above discussion is intended to explain some misconceptions and some excuses offered at home by the junior and senior high school pupils. Supervised study is self explanatory. It is the best method known to educators as a means of teaching the pupil how to study. Certainly a school should teach that if it teaches anything at all. Children should finish the study of a lesson either in study hall or at home. It takes a very apt student to do all the work at school. Usually we find our best students making some preparations at home.

Through the papers I shall be glad to explain certain educational policies from time to time. Teachers and principals join with me in thanking the patrons for their hearty cooperation up to date, and we assure the public that we appreciate any suggestions that will be of any material benefit to the school. Our motto is "The Child First."

Respectfully,
R. B. FISHER, Supt.
