FRESH STRIKE TROUBLE FEARED IN CHICAGO

SPAIN HINTED AS COLONY OF NAZI EMPIRE

HITLER RESOLVES TO ACT INDEPENDENTLY OF EUROPE

By The Associated Press
Hitler's declaration of two German policies in Spain today clouded a new optimism that the Spanish civil war might be isolated from the rest of Europe.

Der Fuehrer told a party rally of 200,000 Nazis that the third reich "would welcome" an insurgent Spanish regime as an aid to solving Germany's acute raw material shortage.

He also declared Germany would act independently henceforth to protect herself against Spanish government attacks at sea.

At Valencia, the Spanish central government reported a merchantman sunk by a submarine and created a special anti-submarine fleet.

In Paris and Moscow it was feared the last repercussions of the joint Italo-German withdrawal from the neutrality fleet had not yet been felt.

The absence of new developments stimulated hope elsewhere, however, that Europe's peace was not endangered.

A stretch of about 30 miles of government coast north of Valencia was shelled from the sea. One report, which was not confirmed, said German ships participated.

Insurgent troops reinforced Generalissimo Franco's Madrid siege lines in the Casa de Campo sector west of the capital and the Jarama sector to the southeast.

New defense troops bolstered those sent but government commanders said they did not expect a new general attack from Franco until insurgent operations on the Santander-Bilbao front were completed.

Berlin, June 28 (AP)—Adolf Hitler applauded today while Nazi Germany, through her highest apostles of economics, made known the international chamber of commerce her demand for a share in the world's raw materials and its trade.

Col. General Hermann Wilhelm Goering, virtual dictator of Germany's 4-year plan for self-sufficiency, and Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, her economic minister, spoke to the 1,500 delegates from 40 countries to seek a German place in the economic sun—and the return of war-lost colonies.

Only last night, at Wurzberg.

GUARDS DISMISSED AT EASTHAM PRISON FARM

HUNTSVILLE, June 28 (AP)—Seven of the nineteen convicts who escaped from Eastham prison farm near here Tuesday were still at large today.

W. R. Hamilton, life-terminer from Austin, was captured yesterday to bring the number to a dozen who are now back in the penitentiary, but the ring-leader, W. H. Bybee, who figured in the Raymond Hamilton break in 1933 was not among them.

Manager O. J. S. Ellington of the prison system said four guards had been dismissed as a result of the investigation of the break, adding that an investigation showed that the guard who was overpowered by Bybee had allowed the convicts to slip up on him while he was rolling a cigarette.

AFL Automobile Wrecked by Bomb

DETROIT, June 28 (AP)—A bomb's explosion wrecked the automobile of an American Federation of Labor organizer early today and hurled sleeping women and children from their beds.

The bomb, which police said contained dynamite, shattered the front of the car of Joseph O'Loughlin, A. F. of L. organizer and business agent of a truck drivers' local.

Authorities began a search for an unidentified man who, a witness said, had driven up to O'Loughlin's car and tinkered with the hood.

Scores of windows were shattered by the blast.

Judy Frowns

If the photographer was asking Judy Frowns to register disapproval for this picture, it's almost a cinch the scene won't have to be made over. Judy is seen in character as a "rain-maker's" girl friend in a new movie, and she seems to think the idea is all well. The film also calls on Judy for a bubbling bathtub scene, but of course she doesn't have to wear the new hat in that.

TEXAS SCOUTS BRINGS 'SWAPS'

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—Boys Scouts scurried to neighboring troops at the National Jamboree today in quest of "swaps."

Their pockets bulging with souvenirs from home, they bargained with Scouts from other parts of the country for unusual trinkets.

From West Texas came a Scout troop equipped with cow branding irons and an offer to "brand anything you like."

Another Texas delegation wanted to trade horned toads or a baby fox for wooden shoes which Scouts brought from the Netherlands.

Thirty nine special trains brought 6,000 Scouts to the camp yesterday.

Radford Riley of Lubbock, Texas, scarcely had reached his troop headquarters when he was stricken with appendicitis. After an emergency operation at Naval hospital, physicians reported his condition excellent.

The cracking of bullwhips signaled the arrival of the vanguard of several thousand Scouts representing Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico at the Boy Scout Jamboree.

The whips were in the hands of 165 boys from Oklahoma highly trained in the art of snapping targets with the flashing ends of the long thongs.

With the group came a patrol of full-blooded Indian boys from Muskogee, Okla. headed by Benjamin Porter, veteran scoutmaster who once took his Indian boys to London for a world Jamboree.

Boys from the three states concentrated on preparation for denoting the history of the far west, the opening of the Cherokee strip to settlers, and the Indian warfare of the past.

They also brought with them costumes for ceremonial Indian dances, and thousands of Indian curios for "swapping" with Scouts from other parts of the world.

"Swapping" material also included horned toads gathered by the big delegation from Texas, expected to number nearly 1,000.

COTTON PRODUCERS ENTITLED TO REFUNDS

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—The United States Court of Appeals held today that 100,000 cotton producers were entitled to more than $3,500,000 in refunds for cotton tax exemption certificates they bought under the repealed Bankhead act.

The court said the cotton farmers were coerced to buy the certificates under threat of a confiscatory tax.

The Bankhead act was repealed after the Supreme Court invalidated its basic principles in holding the agricultural adjustment act unconstitutional.

600 Employees Of Texas Company Enjoy Picnic

More than 600 employees and their families of The Texas Company enjoyed the annual picnic on the Saunders ranch east of LeFors Saturday and a dance at the Southern Club at night.

Present at the outing were J. L. McMahon of Fort Worth, division manager, Kraus Erhart of Tulsa, Okla., safety engineer, and delegations from Wichita Falls, Amarillo and all points in the Panhandle oil field.

LEBOWITZ TO DEFEND IRWIN IN SLAYINGS

TRIPLE KILLER HELD WITHOUT BAIL BY POLICE

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP)—Robert Irwin, debonair one-time divinity student and scotch sipper, was held without bail today in two brief court appearances and hired a well known criminal lawyer to defend him against the triple slaying on Beekman Hill Easter Sunday.

Samuel Liebowitz, who has defended 124 persons in first degree murder trials without a client going to the electric chair, announced the eccentric young man had retained him as counsel and immediately won a postponement of arraignment until June 30.

Irwin, held for the "manual strangulation" of beautiful Veronica Gedeon, artist's model, and her mother and the ice pick slaying of a roomer in the Gedeon home, was before a magistrate in homicide court barely half a minute.

A short while previously, he had appeared in police lineup—outwardly calm appearing—for only a minute.

The law acted swiftly. A minute and a half—in lineup to homicide court—and the 29-year-old artist was rushed to the Tombs to await the next scene in the drama begun when he fell violently in love with the sister of "Bonnie."

Killed For Love.

It was because of this love, which paradoxically engendered hate, Irwin said, that he was forced to kill "accidentally" the two women and the man that Sunday three months ago.

Irwin was quoted as saying he went to the apartment intending to kill the model's sister, Mrs. Ethel Kudner, and no one else. Mrs. Kudner did not show up that night.

In magistrate's court, the man who had wandered unidentified through half a dozen or more states while the whole country searched for him, waived reading of the affidavit charging him with suspicion of homicide.

Yesterday, Liebowitz said Irwin sent him two telegrams from the Radford Hotel in Lubbock, Texas, asking the lawyer to become his counsel.

It was in Chicago that Irwin surrendered to the Herald and Examiner after fleeing Cleveland when a kitchen maid in a hotel where he worked as a butler, recognized him, the maid hunted far and wide for the three slayings.

Going Fast Mentally.

Afterward the doctor said "Irwin is going down fast mentally. He is breaking under the strain."

But to outward appearance, the sculptor gave no indication of this.

FORD ATTORNEY SAYS NLRB CHARGES FALSE

DETROIT, June 28 (AP)—A Ford Motor Company attorney branded as "untrue" today charges on which he said the National Labor Relations Board had based a formal complaint of unfair labor practices.

"We have not violated the National Labor Relations act," Attorney Louis J. Colombo said. "The National Labor Relations Board's charges that we have done so are untrue. Beyond that I have no comment."

Colombo said the next step in routine procedure would be the filing of a formal answer to the charges on the company's behalf. He explained that he had not yet sufficiently investigated the complaint to say definitely what course would be pursued, however.

The complaint was filed in the regional office of the NLRD here Saturday night.

FIRST JAMBOREE CASUALTY

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—Radford Riley of Lubbock, Texas, became the first casualty at the National Boy Scout Jamboree. He was taken to the Naval hospital yesterday for an emergency operation for appendicitis. Physicians said his condition was "excellent."

Killer, Ordered to Die, Faints

Lester Brockelhurst, Jr., who regarded the murders of three men mere incidents in his hitch-hiking crime tour, fainted in his father's arms, as pictured above, when he heard his own death sentence pronounced by a jury in Lonoke, Ark. His girl companion, Bernice Felton, was acquitted, but still faces federal car theft charge.

Law Breaks Up Dance Club In McLean School

DEAD TREATY 18 YEARS OLD

PARIS, June 28 (AP)—The Treaty of Versailles, almost completely a dead letter because of German nullification, was 18 years old today.

The anniversary of the World War document that carved new European political boundaries found all but territorial provisions and clauses creating the League of Nations now in abeyance.

Though steady German blows have hacked away much of the treaty, signed in the Hall of Mirrors at Versailles June 28, 1919, Germany is still separated from 1,303,879 square miles of territory she once ruled and 17,000,000 former subjects.

The treaty's military provisions, designed to treaty enforce forever Hitler's great war machine, inspired Hitler to some of his most dramatic strokes in restoring the Reich to a powerful military position.

Hitler reconstituted the German air force, raised a conscript army, and built a navy.

He remilitarized the Rhineland in defiance of the treaty, resumed control of German waterways, and re-armed positions, such as the North Sea island of Heligoland, which the treaty forbade.

Other dead sections of the treaty include:

War reparations, twice scaled down, were discontinued in 1931 after President Herbert Hoover declared a debt moratorium.

Disarmament never took place; however, that they hold the dances somewhere other than in public buildings into which they had to force an entrance.

Two of the boys turned over to the authorities about 40 keys to McLean automobiles and public places where they could go and gain entrance whenever they desired.

"They are not bad boys and girls," Mr. Gordon stated today. "They just got the wrong idea of what a good time really is. I think they all see the light now."

One of the boys with the keys said he was glad to get rid of them.

Pampa Boys in Group

"They haven't done anything but help me get a bad reputation around town," he said, "and really, we have done nothing so wrong with the keys, other than go into the school and play the radio and dance."

The county attorney said there were two Pampa boys in the group. All of the girls live in McLean. Youngest member of the party was 14 and the oldest, 18 years of age.

CIVIL JURY WEEK OPENS IN COURT HERE

Gray county grand jurors returned to deliberations this forenoon, and another civil jury week opened in district court.

District Attorney Lewis Goodrich stated that grand jurors probably would conclude their investigations today or tomorrow and be ready for adjournment until later in the term.

Several civil cases were set for trial as the docket was sounded again today by Judge W. R. Brang.

11 DEATHS ON TEXAS ROADS IN WEEK-END

VIOLENT DEATHS TAKE EIGHT OTHER PERSONS

(By The Associated Press.)
Death roamed the highways of Texas over the week-end to take a toll of eleven while other violent causes accounted for eight more.

Three persons were shot to death, two drowned, one died from the kick of a mule, another was killed in a fight and one leaped from a three-story building.

William Howard, 20, of Livingston, and J. H. Hood, 24, of Jefferson, died from burns caused when an automobile overturned. Mrs. Vera Schwend, 45, of Dallas, succumbed to injuries suffered Friday night in an automobile-truck collision near Rowlett.

Ed Holly, 17, was killed in an automobile-train collision at Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richardson, 51 and 40 years old respectively, of San Marcos, and Lupe Gonzales, 60, were killed in a truck-automobile crash near San Marcos.

Warren P. Moore, 45, died from injuries in an automobile accident Thursday near Abilene, where he resided. At San Antonio Nathan Jones, 17, of Conroe, was fatally injured in a fall from an automobile runningboard; Elso Schneider, 17, died from injuries in a bicycle-automobile collision, and Thomas Garcia, 60, was fatally injured when struck by a truck.

Nelson Lewis, 14, drowned at Malakoff. Leonard Campbell, 25, drowned near Elderville.

Alex Schuppel, 22, was shot to death at Houston. Antonio Perez, 28, and Faustino Villa, 44, were found shot to death at San Antonio.

Roger Byrne Jeffrey, 4, died at Lockhart from complications caused by the kick of a mule three weeks ago.

Melvin Commack, 23, of Ghoslen, died from injuries received during a fight.

EARHART FACES 'WORST SECTION' OF FLIGHT

"It's been a very interesting flight," said the American flier after setting her silver monoplane down in northern Australia at 11:28 a. m. (8:58 p. m. E. S. T. Sunday) ending a hop from Koepang in the Dutch East Indies.

"But for slight mechanical trouble, which was remedied at Bandung, Java, we have experienced no holdups. We've been sitting down in the front seat of a car near and we'll push on to Lae, New Guinea, tomorrow morning," she explained.

The 1,550-mile hop from Lae will take the American flier across a vast stretch of the southern Pacific out of sight of land except for a few small islands. Her destination is Howland Island, tiny American island just above the Equator. From Howland she plans to fly to Hawaii and thence to Oakland, Calif.

PENNSION BOARD NAMED

AUSTIN, June 28 (AP)—Charles N. Shaver of Huntsville, H. L. Mills of Houston and Miss Quata Woods of Dallas received appointments today to the new board to administer teachers' pensions. Shaver, head of Sam Houston Teachers College, is a former president of the State Teachers Association. Mills is business manager of the Houston public schools and Miss Woods is a widely known teacher in the Dallas schools.

TAXI DRIVER LOSES $13 IN HOLDUP HERE

Two gunmen robbed O. C. Moore, Pampa cab driver, of $13 in cash and stole his taxicab shortly after Saturday midnight. Left him tied up on the highway seven miles south of the city and abandoned the cab after driving it back into the city.

The gunmen hailed the cab at a South Side filling station and told the driver to take them to the Southern club. When they neared the club, Moore was forced to drive on at the point of a gun.

Seven miles out on the Bowers City road, the cab was halted and Moore was forced to turn over his receipts for the night.

Then, Moore said, the bandits tied him up with a small rope, left him at the side of the road and drove away in the cab. The taxi later was found at the side of the road, near the Shadownland club, inside the city limits on the LeFors highway.

Tri-o Eludes Officers

Without knowledge that there had been a hi-jacking, Constable Otis Hendrix and Deputy Constable W. J. Mannion came upon three suspicious men in the front seat of a car near the Five Points. When the trio saw the officers they picked up speed and started driving out of the city on the LeFors road.

Hendrix and Mannion followed. Once outside the city the fleeing car went to full speed and Hendrix, driving the officers' car, opened up in pursuit.

They were unable to overtake the suspects in a mad dash to LeFors. Once inside the LeFors city limits the officers chased the other car around and through city streets until finally the object of the chase disappeared and the officers were unable to locate them.

When they returned to Pampa, Hendrix and Mannion learned that two of the men in the car answered descriptions of the two men who had robbed the Pampa taxi driver.

They also learned from Sheriff Earl Talley that three men answering the same description as those in the car chased to LeFors, had stolen a car in Amarillo earlier in the day.

The constable expressed the opinion that one of the men was waiting in the stolen car while the two accomplices engaged Moore's taxicab, and that after the robbery they drove the cab back to Pampa to join their confederate.

TROOPS ASKED BY MAYOR OF STEEL SUBURB

COMPANIES WILL TRY TO REOPEN MILLS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 28 (AP)—Fresh fears of violence shook the strike front today, this time in Indiana.

Troops were requested at East Chicago. The mayor feared trouble if two steel companies attempted to reopen their long closed mills.

But Governor M. Clifford Townsend, the fourth governor on the seven-state strike front to be faced with a call for soldiers, told the mayor or he would "not place East Chicago under martial law unless unforeseen disturbances occur."

During the 33 days of strike for signed bargaining contracts, National Guardsmen have been used in Michigan and in Ohio; and in Pennsylvania there has been martial law.

Governor Townsend predicted peaceful settlement of the Indiana strike, the heart of the steel's steel in the Calumet area "within 24 hours" while CIO leaders declared they would resist with force any attempt to reopen plants of the Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube companies.

Governor Townsend said he expected to have today a dispute acceptable to all sides in the plan providing for return of steel workers to their jobs under a temporary truce.

Half of Ohio's militia is maintaining order today in the Mahoning Valley, the heart of the steel's steel industry. Gov. Martin L. Davey, in a lengthy statement last night, said he would keep the soldiers here "as long as necessary."

Lewis Lines Reform

John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, which has been a week ago, checked the steel of the state soldiers here because the troops were then under orders to prevent any "back-to-work" movement pending effort of federal mediators, drew up new picket lines in Indiana, Michigan and Ohio.

Claims of both sides were so widely divergent that a true picture of the strike status is still difficult to obtain. This, however, is the general situation:

The Cambria works of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, second largest employer in the state, is in operation following the lifting of martial law at Johnstown, Pa., Saturday.

Plants of Republic Steel Corp., and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., idle nearly a month, are again operating.

Republic's plant at Monroe, Mich. (where troops bivouacked two weeks ago in fear of trouble at a Sunday mass meeting of strikers) is operating.

Claims of Union

But the union said:

1. At Johnstown: "We will stop the operations at the Cambria works."

2. At Warren, O.: "Our strike can't be broken because our men are presenting a solid front against the back-to-work movement."

3. At Youngstown: "Hold the line. The strike is getting stronger."

Governor Davey replied to charges of CIO leaders that by use of troops he was "depriving the strikers of their legal rights" and had "committed political suicide."

Said the governor:

"Neither the state nor local officials have any authority to deprive strikers of their rights, that is, peaceful picketing and persuasion, freedom of speech, or peaceful assembly. We shall see that nothing of this kind happens."

The governor took occasion in his statement to administer reproof to labor, thus:

"Granting that there may have been sins on the part of some employees, this does not excuse the use of force and violence against other workers who do not wish to join this particular union and whose only desire is to work and earn a living."

There was the suggestion today

NEWS Makes Unusual Book Offer To Readers

In a full page advertisement in today's Pampa Daily News readers of the newspaper are being offered an opportunity to get a copy of the 1,500-page "Outline of Great Books" for 98 cents plus one coupon clipped from the paper. In all its history no offer remotely approaching this in value ever has been made to readers.

The "Outline of Great Books" is first of all, well-bound and clearly printed on excellent paper. It comprises more than 1,300 pages. Its contents are exactly what the title proclaims, namely, an outline of great books many of which are known only by name to fairly well-educated people, but all of which belong to immortal literature.

Only in respect to the world's greatest fiction and drama is the "Outline of Great Books" incomplete, the reason being that there are other outlines covering these branches of world literature. But in the fields of History, Travel, Philosophy, Science, Religion, Poetry, Biography, this amazing book contains the best parts of volumes which singly would cost from $2 to $5 each. Many are out of print. It contains, for example, a digest of Comte's "Positive Philosophy," a work which never has been fully translated into English, together with Malibus' "Principles of Population" about which thousands have heard, but few ever have read; Thomas Paine's "Age of Reason" and "Rights of Man," and Kant's "Critique of Pure Reason," compressed into five intelligible pages. Judges were Miss Bernice Westbrook, home demonstration agent from Carson county; Herman Powell, president of the Carson County Recreation association, and Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Estbrook and Mr. Powell talked of club work in their county, and Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, Gray county agent, spoke of the benefits of community work in clubs.

Mrs. Joe Lewis led group singing, with Mrs. Daugherty at the piano as accompanist and to play a piano solo. Refreshments were served to the large audience after the program.

Other Home Demonstration clubs in this county plan similar programs soon.

HOW TO TREAT HEAT SICKNESS DESCRIBED

The time for heat sickness is at hand and the home and farm accident prevention board of the American Red Cross, through its local chairman, Tom Eckerd, has issued a bulletin on a simple prevention for such ailment.

It is the use of salt. Salt used in proper quantities, is generally a satisfactory means of preventing heat prostration or dizziness. People laboring under the sun can keep their energy at a much higher level by taking small doses of salt several times a day, according to the bulletin.

"It is strange how we have for years kept salt available for stock and yet have been reluctant to accept the treatment as beneficial to ourselves," reads the bulletin. "When we perspire freely the salt supply in our blood is depleted and when the supply becomes low we experience heat sickness. Many large industries and the army have been using salt for years to overcome the trouble."

ON EGYPTIAN LINES

PARIS (AP)—In Egyptian style is a garden party frock Princess Therese de Caraman Chimay has ordered from Maggy Rouff. It is fashioned of white crepe printed with large butterflies in dark red and vivid green. The dress, which is very clinging, is bias cut. The Egyptian note is seen in the swathed hip line and front tied sash which has two long ends falling to the ground.

House plants will do better next winter if set out of doors during the summer months.

H. D. CLUBS TO SEND COUNTY DELEGATES TO STATE SHORT COURSE CHOSEN BY COUNCIL

Delegates from Bell Hopkins, McLean, Priscilla Bluebonnet, Texas Elf, and Wayside Home Demonstration clubs will represent Gray county at the annual state short course at College Station on August 16-19. It was decided at a meeting of the County Home Demonstration Council Saturday afternoon.

Three girls from 4-H clubs of the county will also be included in the delegation.

A new ruling to limit the number of delegates from the county is in effect this year, explained Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, county agent. Eight women and three girls complete the quota from each county. Gray county's eighth woman will be chosen from the club which has attained the most goals in this year's work by the end of July.

Each club woman is asked to give her report to the club secretary, who will compile the club report. The secretaries books will be judged by Mrs. W. R. Ewing and Mrs. Ewing Leech to determine the goal rating. A woman from the winning club will receive a free trip to the short course.

The limitation of attendance at the short course, Mrs. Kelley said, is necessary because accommodations for visitors are limited and the ruling assures each county an equal advantage in rotation to the quota. Others may attend the short course if they plan to camp or to stay with relatives or friends at College Station. The quota applies only to those who will stay on the A. & M. college campus.

A three clubs, Bell, Texas Elf and Hopkins, were elected as delegates to the Texas Women's Home Demonstration association, which meets during the short course. Wayside club will be alternate.

Plans were made for the county recreation achievement day July 29, at the Grading ranch near McLean. Each club will present a short play and songs, to be judged by Miss Ruby Mashburn, district agent, and County Superintendent W. B. Weathered. The series of kitchen achievement days during the last half of July was also discussed.

A visitor, Mrs. C. McKnight of Bell club, and 16 council members were present at Mrs. Kelley's office in the courthouse. A brief talk on parliamentary rules was given by Mrs. G. P. Bradbury, council parliamentarian.

HALLIBURTON CEMENTERS AND OILERS WILL PLAY AGAIN HERE TONIGHT

DUNCAN NINE BEATS PAMPA IN 4-2 DUEL

Several thousand baseball fans missed one of the best games of the season yesterday afternoon at Road Runner Park when the Halliburton Cementers, National Semi-Pro champions of 1936 from Duncan, Okla., nosed out the Pampa Oilers 4 to 2. However, the fans who missed seeing yesterday's game, and those who did see it, of course, will have an opportunity to watch the same clubs in action tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Road Runner park. Admission will be 40 cents for men and 25 cents for women.

Dale Mills, slender righthander who joined the Oilers from Portland, limited the Cementers to nine hits including a jittery start when three runs crossed the plate. From the fourth to the last inning, excepting for a home run by Catcher Utt in the ninth, Mills throttled the big bats of the Cementers, especially when murderers row—Sloan, Cliff and Seitz—went to the plate.

While Mills was hurling nice ball, Lute Roy was doing a better job until relieved by Harry White in the seventh after the Oilers had gotten to Roy for a run in the fifth and sixth innings and had two men on base. White set the Oilers back without a hit the rest of the way.

Duncan Scores Early

A single to center and a Texas leaguer over second, coupled with two long flies to center field, gave the Cementers a run in the first inning when Welch scored. After White had fanned, Welch and Lowell singled in the third and advanced on a wild pitch. Sloan fanned but Hassler cracked a single between short and third to score center fielder Halliburton's own run came in the ninth when Utt, 200-pound catcher, smacked one over the fence.

Only 12 Oiler batters faced Lute Roy until the fifth inning when Sealing cracked out a triple and scored on Beason's infield out. Mills opened the sixth with a walk but was forced at second by Brekell who in turn was forced at second by Summers. Sain advanced Summers to second with a single from where he scored on Cox's single through third. McNabb and McLarry singled with one out in the seventh but White came to Roy's rescue and throttled the Oilers.

Utt Hits Far

Utt, with a home run and double, led the Cementer attack. Welch and Lowell bagged singles on their first two trips to the plate but after they were helpless before Mills' curve balls, Big Grover Seitz, former Oiler, failed to get a ball out of the infield, Sloan, who had been hitting .441 for the Cementers, failed to connect in four times up. Cliff, who beat the Oilers with a home run in Duncan a few days ago, also went hitless.

Sealing's triple was the only extra base hit for the Oilers. It was a screaming drive over first which hit the chalk line and then curved deep into foul territory. Despite a crippled leg, Sealing made the three bases.

Only 15 batters faced Mills in five innings during the game as the new-comer became "right." Not used to the altitude and climate, and working hard in the oilfield, Mills has been a long time getting in shape. His exhibition yesterday showed that he has what it takes, however.

Sealing Hits Fields

Pampa's Sam Sealing came up with one hit for the books when he raced back into deep right center to take Welch's long fly in the seventh. Holley opened the game with a great play when he went high in the air to take Brekell's hot liner over second. Beason played a great game at short for the Oilers.

Mike Pruitt, a lefthander with a sweeping curve ball, will be on the mound for Halliburton tonight, opposed more than likely by Harvey Hutton, Oiler fastball pitcher. Sam Dailey will be second choice. It is believed, with Carl Stewart in the hole.

John Austin Routs Jim Richesin For Club Title

The Austin brothers exchanged crowns yesterday when little John Austin, 18, won the 1937 City Golf championship in a 7 to 6 slaughter of the veteran Jimmy Richesin at the Country Club. Grover Austin is the retiring champion. He dropped a second round match to H. C. Foy, who in turn lost to John Austin.

Young Austin turned the first 18 holes three under par and then improved his shot work until at the 30th green he was seven strokes under par. The new champion was deadly with his woods and his short shots were almost perfect. He looked like his older brother on the greens at times.

Mark Heath won consolation in the championship flight with a 2 and 1 victory over Floyd Ward.

Final round of play in the first flight will be played this week with Dr. R. A. Webb meeting Art Swanson. Webb defeated R. G. Allen 5 and 3 to enter the final round of play.

Consolation in the first flight went to Jack Goldston who downed Gene Green 1 up on 19 holes.

Frank Shotwell won the second flight with a 1 up victory over Paul Hawthorne.

Ray Hagan took a 1 up victory from Edwin Vicars in the consolation.

GET IN THE SWIM!

By Jack Pook

There are five "never-nevers" the swimmer, novice and veteran alike, should keep in mind always. They are:

1. Never enter the water immediately after eating. Allow at least two hours for digestion.
2. Never enter the water hurriedly when tired and hot. Lounge around on the shore to rest and cool off.
3. Never swim a great distance from shore.
4. Never swim to the point of exhaustion.
5. Never take unnecessary chances. Play safe at all times.

DALLAS TAKES DOUBLEHEADER FROM PIRATES

Tulsa made it a three-way tie for second place. Tony York of Tulsa broke the consecutive hit record and Fred Marberry managed and pitched Dallas to a double victory as highlights of an eventful Sunday in the Texas league race.

The Oilers rallied to nose out San Antonio 5-4 to gain the tie with Beaumont and Fort Worth for runner-up position to the fast-moving Oklahoma City Indians. Tulsa spotted the Missions three runs in the second inning but came back with a rush for victory.

This game saw York, Oiler shortstop, run his consecutive hit streak to 12, going one ahead of the mark held jointly by Vernon Washington of Fort Worth and C. C. (Tex) McDonald of Wichita Falls. Washington made his record in 1933 and McDonald in 1921.

Marberry, who succeeded Alex Gaston as skipper of the Steers, got off to a bad start Saturday night when the herd lost to Houston 6-0, but Sunday the ex-big leaguer led the Steers to 10-9 and 3-0 victories over Galveston. Marberry pitched the nightcap himself, the Steers bunching his behind him to give him the better of a mound duel with Lefty Barnes.

Oklahoma City spanked the apple for fifteen hits as the Redskins wallowed the skidding Beaumont Exporters 10-5. Ash Hillin won his tenth straight pitching victory to give him fourteen for the season. The Shippers took a 5-4 lead in the sixth but Lou Brower and Joe Bilgere paced the Indians in a battling nightcap that netted two runs in the seventh and four in the eighth.

The Fort Worth Cats climbed with a twin victory over the cellar occupants—the Houston Buffs. The Panthers laid down a home run barrage that carried them to victory 8-6 in the opener and 8-7 in the after-piece. Ed Greer had the help of three homers to hang up his ninth win in the first game. Manager Homer Peel smacked a two-run homer for the big blow of the nightcap. Jackie Reid was badly battered but managed to gain his fourteenth victory of the season on the mound.

Hubbell Beats Dizzy 8 To 1 In Pitching Duel

By SID FEDER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

You couldn't blame major league magnates if they peeked under second base or back of the scoreboard or some such place today in the hope of digging up a rivalry to match the Carl Hubbell-Dizzy Dean duel.

For, win, lose or draw between the Giants southpaw ace and the Cardinals' great popper-offer, any time those two go to the post against each other, they pack 'em in to the rafters.

To the moguls, it didn't matter so much that Hubbell topped Dizzy like a tent yesterday to take an 8-1 decision in the latest renewal of their pitching rivalry. What was more interesting to the front offices was the fact that 38,719 fans made it look like world series day in Sportsman's park for the battle.

"Experting" faces are plenty red these days over the Hubbell progress.

Old Squarepants, after winning 24 straight, bogged down badly recently, dropped four in a row and was belted out six times running.

Immediately the wolves were heard, and when Bill Terry continued sending him back time after time, there were any number of yelps that what Hubbell needed was lots of rest, not more work. But Hubbell, never missing his regular turn, snapped back to form.

Yesterday's win, in which he allowed only six hits, fanned six and did not walk a man, compared to the 10 hits Dean gave up, was his second straight. Achieved with the aid of two homers by Mel Ott, the win sent the Giants and Cards into a virtual tie for second place in the National league race.

They were only half a game back of the league-leading Cubs, who were soundly whipped by Brooklyn pitching in both ends of a double-header. Van Mungo fanned six to take the opener, 8-3, and Rookie Luke Hamlin hurled a three-hitter for a 6-3 nightcap decision.

The Yankees, winding up a highly successful home stand with nine victories against three defeats, trampled the Tigers 9-5 as George Selkirk clouted his sixteenth homer. The defeat dropped the Tigers into the American league third place, since the White Sox won their sixth straight by topping the Senators, 5-3, to return to second.

The Athletics climbed out of the cellar by splitting with Cleveland's hapless Indians, 10-0 and 7-2. Beaten twice by Boston's hot Red Sox, 8-0 and 11-7, the St. Louis Browns nose-dived back into last place.

The Bees turned the tables on the Cincinnati Reds with a twin win, 8-2 and 10-5, and the Pirates nosed out the Phillies, 4-3.

DON SCHUMACHER OF DALLAS IS TRANS-MISS CHAMP AGAIN

DENVER, June 28 (AP)—Don Schumacher, golfing "freshman" from Dallas, who knows how to pick the spots for his hottest shot-making, is Trans-Mississippi champion for 1937.

He won it with one of the gamest finishes the 37-year-old meet ever has seen, beating Eddie Held, 34-year-old St. Louis veteran, 1 up in a 36-hole battle yesterday at Cherry Hills course that grew more exciting the farther it went.

Schumacher, 21-year-old former Texas champion, will take back home with him this week the championship cup John Dawson of Chicago won last year. Dawson lost to Held, twice former champion, in the semi-finals Saturday.

When Held, shooting under-par, went 4 up on the Texas at the end of the morning round yesterday, few in the gallery conceded Schumacher a chance.

TWO GAMES TO BE PLAYED AT PARK TUESDAY

Night softball in Pampa will be given another fling tomorrow night under the lights at Road Runner park when four of the leading clubs in the Industrial league will be matched. Whether night softball will continue will be up to the fans.

The experiment of night softball will end tomorrow night unless a large crowd attends the games. Past performances have not been witnessed by large enough crowds to justify park officials turning on the lights.

First game tomorrow night, at 8:30 o'clock with admission only 10 and 15 cents, will see Cities Service and King clash. The nightcap will pit Danciger against Colteco of LeFors. The clubs in action tomorrow night are standing between one and five positions in the league standing which has only two more weeks to run before the playoff among the first four teams.

Lower Distribution Cost!
These All Combine to Give You Extra Values at No Extra Cost

FROM the day of its introduction, the Firestone Standard Tire has more than lived up to its name by setting a new high standard of tire values. Hundreds of thousands of car owners have already bought it because they saw in it more value for their money.

"How does Firestone do it? How can they build so many extra value features into Firestone Standard Tires and yet sell them at such low prices?" The answer is simple—Firestone controls better-quality rubber and cotton supplies at their source, keeps manufacturing costs low by efficient factory methods and sells in such huge volume that distribution costs are held to a minimum. That is why Firestone has been able to give you such extra value features as Gum-Dipping, two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread and eight extra pounds of rubber to every 100 pounds of cord, at no extra cost to you.

SKELLY SOFTBALLERS DEFEAT AMARILLOANS

The Skelly Oilers, from the Skelly-Schafer plant northwest of Pampa, won two thrill-packed softball games from Roberts-Oliver in Amarillo yesterday. The Oilers won the first game, 3 to 1, and came back to take the nightcap, 3 to 2.

Skelly strated the season late have been steadily getting into old time form. Yesterday's exhibition placed them in the contender list for Pampa championship honors in the playoff series.

Catcher Ray was the hero of the second game when he stepped to the plate in the seventh and hit a home run to score Mayo, who had singled, ahead of him.

Jimmy Walkup of Fort Worth finished second with 290, ten strokes ahead of Keaton Haley of Wichita Falls. Gordon Young of Dallas was fourth with 292. Others finished in the following order: Iverson Martin, Fort Worth, 293; Gray Little, Beaumont, 294; Col. E. D. Iverson, Arlington, 295; Guy Underwood, Wichita Falls, 299.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press.)

Mel Ott and Carl Hubbell, Giants—former hit two homers as Hubbell pitched six-hitter to beat Cardinals 8-1.

George Caster, Athletics, and Willis Hudlin, Indians—Caster's four-hit pitching won doubleheader opener 10-0; Hudlin hurled six-hitter for 7-2 nightcap victory.

George Selkirk, Yankees—hit homer, triple and two singles, driving in four runs in 9-5 win over Tigers.

Van Mungo and Luke Hamlin, Dodgers—former's effective pitching beat Cubs 8-3 in opener; Hamlin allowed three hits in 6-3 nightcap win.

Jack Wilson and Fritz Ostermuller, Red Sox—Wilson blanked Browns 6-0 with six hits in opener; Ostermuller saved nightcap with two-hit four-inning relief pitching.

Al Todd, Pirates—hit homer with mate aboard in 4-3 win over Phils.

Jack Hayes, White Sox—hit homer and two singles, driving in three runs for 5-3 win over Senators.

Danny MacFayden and Ray Mueller, Bees—former's six-hit pitching beat Reds 8-2 in opener; Mueller hit triple and drove in three runs in 10-5 nightcap victory.

Referring to a recent column with regard to Gilbertsville dam of the Tennessee river, Arthur E. Morgan, chairman of the TVA board, wants it made clear he did not initiate the proposal that congress override the budget in authorizing immediate construction of the $112,000,000 dam.

That seems fair enough. He did not. That would have violated administrative orders prohibiting departments from going over the head of the budget director. As a matter of fact, Senator McKellar of Tennessee put the formal authorization before the appropriations committee and then passed the ball to Morgan. Morgan carried it through the line.

This column commented that congress didn't have its eyes fully open to the fact it was beginning a big dam without even TVA knowing exactly where it was to be located. Mr. Morgan says he didn't fool congress about it.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Table loitering has become almost a lost art in New York, although Guthrie McClintic, Dwight Fiske, Christopher Morley and a few others still cling to the practice of passing whole days at one table in a favorite restaurant. The late Ring Lardner, a fastidious diner, once spent 72 hours at his table in a 45th street cafe, explaining that such a stay was not too long for a man who wanted to really savor the choice delicacies on a first class menu.

But today one seizes a waiter by the arm, shouts an order, gulps it down and hurries away. The answer is that leisure, like lavender and old lace, is a word that sounds nice but doesn't mean much in an age when life rushes past like a river in spring flood. It was Ring who really was content to sit by and watch life and the hours slip quietly past—if he were seated in a favorite restaurant nibbling pleasant confections and sipping inexhaustible cups of java. There was a time when a friend took him to lunch and after an hour's chat got up and went away. Several days later the friend came back and Lardner was still there.

"It's like this," Lardner explained. "I know the manager and he's listening. Guthrie McClintic, the producer, is another whose breakfast is a ritual lasting several hours. He will read several plays between cereal and eggs. Charlie MacArthur might also be classed as one who deliberates over his food, although this is not always the case. Charlie is such an omnivorous talker that he really doesn't get a chance to make away with his food. Once in a night club a steak was set before this Irish gadabout, but 40 minutes later Charlie was still talking, and the waiter courteously removed it, supplanting it with a fresh, hot one. MacArthur never knew it until his companion told him the next day.

Another who feels keenly on this subject is Christopher Morley. He is the founder of the Three Hours for Lunch club.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

About 9:30 o'clock the moon came up shining like the headlight of a car, and we walked up White Deer creek, a small group of boys and one man their heads cutting moonlight and tree shadows as they went among tall cottonwoods. The swimming hole washed off the sluggish feeling and left you tingling. The walk back to the camp was shorter because as the moon got higher, birds began flying about. Rabbits were sudden white flashes in the moonlight, and there were fascinating and mysterious animal sounds to listen to. . . Then we were lying under the great trees, looking at a dead limb and Jack said, "I'm going to climb that tree and chop off that limb," and he did. Keaton and Alec and Billy and Cotton started begging for a story, and because heavily-timbered White Deer creek was once the favorite camping grounds of the Indians, you made up a ghost story about a white man who dug up the perfect skeleton of an Indian chief and carried it with him, and thereby came to a grisly end, and the story went from disaster to disaster and finally came to a lame end, and everybody was asleep. . . The next morning the boys found a swimming hole in which they couldn't get bottom; they also found some yellow bird feathers and ripe, wild plums, and they took some green plums home to bury to ripen them, and as we left, you could scarcely hear the car's motor for the singing of birds. . .

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The old show-must-go-on stuff is taking a bit of a beating in Hollywood, and it seems to me it is about time. Many an actor will tell you it is a vital tradition of the stage. So the stories multiply. An actor who merely broke a leg just at curtain-time wouldn't dream of asking for any attention that might interfere with the show. An actress who suddenly ran an Alp-climbing temperature would go thru three acts of feverish gaiety behind her burning make-up, and collapse dramatically in the wings at the final curtain. Come war, come flood, come storm, come death and famine and disease, the show must go on.

Reasons Why Many an actor has told me—dramatically and not without indignation at the question—that the show must go on. And given me reasons. A trouper does not disappoint the audience. He cannot betray his fellow-players. He cannot fail the backstage help. He is the keystone of the theatrical arch, and—the show must go on!

For one performance on the stage this sounds logical, even fine and noble. For completing a motion picture some of the same unselfish reasoning may be in order. But there ought to be a limit. Or a law. When a player is ill, the film company can "shoot around" him for a time at least. When a star is too ill to resume work after all the other scenes have been completed, the company has to halt production. This is expensive. It plays merry hell with the production schedule. Lesser players who counted on checks from the picture must recount their chickens for a future hatching. It is very sad.

But not nearly so sad as a funeral. Not nearly so expensive as the permanent loss of a star. Not nearly so hard on the supporting cast and extras as the loss of all the day and weeks and months of future work that star's pictures would provide.

It Cost Jean Harlow Some of that show-must-go-on spirit doubtless contributed to the death of Jean Harlow, who didn't give up in time. And it has been the indirect cause of other deaths. Renee Adoree, on the verge of consumptive relapse, insisted on finishing her last picture. She died ironically. I can't remember offhand what the picture was, or what it was about.

This, That and Everything

BY WILLIAM HUSLEY CLARK

It seems that J. P. Morgan has succeeded in leaving the impression on folks' minds that he thinks it O. K. to use most any tactics in the economic shuffler so long as one can outwit the law. From recent statements made by Mr. Morgan it would appear that he believes in evading all the law possible through legal technicalities to gain economic advantage over the other fellow. If I have misinterpreted his philosophy, I beg pardon; but that is exactly the way I understand he looks at that thing.

Such economic philosophy as this advocated by Mr. Morgan is just what has caused all the friction between capital and labor. It shows that spirit of selfishness which lies at the root of our chief problems today. When one group of people go about getting wealth without respect to the welfare of other groups, we may expect trouble sooner or later. In sharp contrast to this Morgan philosophy which has caused so much friction is another principle that has been practiced would create a feeling of good will among groups. This latter philosophy teaches us not to be content in doing even all the law requires, but it demands us to go beyond what is legal. It says, "If any man shall sue thee at the law and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. And whosoever shall compel thee to go with him a mile, go with him two." After all is not this a nobler spirit to exercise and one that is more valuable than all the wealth in the world?

BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTON

Michael Foster undertakes to expound the history and the significance of the republic's idealism in his new novel, "American Dream" (Morrow: $3). It's a large order, and now and then it gets away from him; but the net result, nevertheless, is a fine and sensitive book which it is a joy to read.

He begins by presenting a young west coast newspaper reporter who, sickened by the obscene hurly-burly of the daily life he is called on to report, tries to dig back into his ancestral past to see just what America is all about. His researches take him back to an Indian fighter in colonial New England, to a clipper ship captain of pre-Civil war days, to a winner of the west, and to an idealistic Kansas lawyer who puts up a losing fight for civil liberties during the frenzied World War days; and from these lives and their overtones, he draws his conclusions.

The American dream, he concludes, is chiefly an implicit faith in the inherent decency and goodness of the common man and in the perfectibility of human society; a trust that men somehow have the sense and the good will to make the rough places smooth and to reduce injustice and unhappiness to a minimum. He further deduces that this dream right now is in a very bad way, but it survives and ultimately will blossom in the hearts of the myriad plain, undistinguished citizens.

His novel breaks into two parts, somewhat unevenly. Half of it deals with the reporter's ancestors, and is colorfully melodramatic; the rest has to do with the reporter himself and while less exciting, is meatier and more penetrating. I suspect that Mr. Foster is better able to see the defects of modern life than those of the past; for that very reason, perhaps, the latter half of the book is better than the first half, which occasionally is a bit unreal.

All in all, however, "American Dream" is a novel very much worth reading. (Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

'Bigfoot' Blames Alcatraz Jealousy For Stabbing Of Hated Al Capone

Three scenes of rarely photographed Alcatraz. Upper left, a cellblock showing the circular iron stairs for incorrigibles. Upper right, an alert guard on duty. He's an expert with that rifle because he spends many hours a week at target practice. Below, a view of "The Rock" from a boat in the bay, showing the unloading wharf and the main building on the hill.

This is the third of four stories on life "Inside Alcatraz," related by the first convict ever to be paroled from the federal prison for incorrigibles.

By A. W. 'BIGFOOT' DAVIS. (As told to Douglas Hicks.) (Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.) Al Capone stuck out his hand and introduced himself to me when I had been on "The Rock" 10 days. That started a friendship which will last until one of us dies—a long time, I hope. But it may not be long at that.

Al—he called me Big Dave, and I called him Al—is in constant danger on The Rock.

As Al gets "shorter"—he is due out in December, 1938—the thirst for his death among the other inmates will grow worse and worse.

Just about a year ago they tried to get him and didn't miss it far. Jimmy Lucas, a Texas boy doing 30 years for bank robbery, was elected.

Stabs Him In Back. Lucas went down into the basement where Al did the janitor work the grapevine said, for a monthly haircut. In the barber's chair he reached over, grabbed a pair of scissors, ran into the next room where Al was leaning over sorting laundry.

Jimmy stabbed Al in the back several times, the grapevine said. Al turned and hit Jimmy on the head with a banjo. It knocked him about half out. The guards were there by then.

"I knew before you got hurt that there was a rib on 'er to murder you," I told him. "I heard it when I got in, but I didn't hear who was to do it, and, anyway, I couldn't get any word to you."

He said he appreciated it anyway. We met the day I put in a request to see the warden about something. It happened that "Machine Gun" Kelly and Al had each done the same thing, and the three of us met outside the warden's office.

Outsider Couldn't Understand. Machine Gun went in first, and Al and I talked until he came out.

"I hope you won't turn out to be my enemy like the 90 per cent of the others in here have turned out to be," he told me.

And I found out it was true. The Rock swarms with enemies of Capone.

Why? I don't think there is a single reason for it that would make sense to men and women out walking where they want to and breathing free air.

The bitter way those guys hate Al's guts shows the kind of men they are, the pressure The Rock puts on a man, the twisted way he gets to feel with years up to life stretching ahead.

I tell you that the men on The Rock don't want to see other men leave there.

"I can't leave, why should he?" is the way they think.

Hard to believe, but gospel truth. When anybody, just anybody gets short—I felt it myself later—you can almost feel and touch the jealousy and bitter envy when they look at you.

Al Is Getting Shorter. That day in December, 1938, that Al Capone has ringed on the calendar is not too far away now.

Add to that these things which stick in the men's craws: Al has a fortune to return to, a

By OREN ARNOLD Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday the Colters camp on Superstition Mountain and were warned by a strange Indian that it's "bad" business.

Chapter IV
 The highest peak in Superstition Mountain towers slightly more than 5000 feet. This is not a stereotyped mountain with one central point. It is more of a table when viewed from Phoenix. Close up, the table top is saw-toothed in silhouette; between points there is a dangerous jagged line. Hikers there often must crawl through thickets of tunnels that wild animals have made. Over it lurks a constant eerie haze which adds credence to the mystery legends, enhances its primeval beauty.

Carolee Colter loved it from the beginning. Here was Nature in rebellion, a rugged defiance of the petty business of man. She loved its cliffs, theatrically highlighted at dawn. She loved to watch the velvety, purple blankets pulled slowly up over the same cliffs and the canyons at nightfall. At all hours she loved to ride horseback in the wilderness there.

She had named her horse Chieftain. He wasn't a beautiful horse—he was all her dad could afford—but he was presentable. By feeding him aprons full of especially rich grass, by rubbing his coat with Carolee had groomed a good-looking mount. Carolee was adept at making things pretty.

She was pretty herself when she mounted Chieftain and started down a mesa edge 3000 feet up—circling and saw-sawing back and forth to reach a level where she could cut over to the highway that skirts the north side of the mountain. She sang and hummed constantly, so exhilarating was her morning ride today. She was even whistling when she turned one of the hairpin curves in the road and came face to face with two other horsemen. Because of the whistling she was embarrassed. One of the other riders, she saw, was a girl.

"Hello," Carolee called casually, then, "Oh, hello, Mr. Blake! I didn't recognize you at first!"

"Well," he explained, "This is something! Miss Colter! How are you? And where are you now? You dropped out of my sight entirely, and girls don't ordinarily do that, after saying my life!"

The other girl gave a loud and exaggerated cough. Then she said, "Well, good morning every body. I'm just the hostler with this party, but the riddles have got me curious. How are you, my dear? I'm Nina Blake, sister to this dull-witted old who never introduces people. Isn't it a lovely morning, and aren't—"

"Nina!" Stuart interrupted. "I'm sorry! But I was going to introduce you two. I was just so elated to find Miss Colter, and so surprised at finding her here—"

There, there, old thing. I'm not blind. Or as dumb as some of the family. How do you do, Miss Colter? Father mentioned you. And Stuart positively has done nothing but mention you for a week or more. He didn't, however, mention before that you had saved his life. Have I missed something? I ordinarily don't!"

Carolee blushed.

"No! No! Miss Blake. There was a little—trouble; a misunderstanding in a store. Nothing, really."

"Um hum. I get it. You're both secretive about it! But I warn you, young lady. I always learn the details of Steve's love affairs in the end. Always! Go ahead and pretend! I'm going home, anyway." She laughed in a friendly manner and turned her horse.

Stuart was suddenly serious.

"No, Nina!" he commanded. "Stop! We are going riding!"

"I have been riding for an hour, old buckskin. My legs are jittery with soreness. I shan't be able to walk for a week. If you want the cold truth, I was looking for a chance to be rid of you so I could return to my hammock. Miss Colter, you're the victim. Foodies!"

She was gone before anybody could protest again. Stuart laughed aloud and Carolee smiled.

"You mustn't pay any attention to Nina," he begged, "she's really a great kid."

"Yes, I seem to remember."

The girl remained silent at that and her face sobered a little. But Stuart broke her threatened change of mood by more laughter. It was hard to remain angry at Stuart Blake, ever.

"But say!" he jabbed the words at her, "it's great to find you here, no fooling! I've been looking and looking. You don't mind?"

"No, of course I don't. I wanted a chance to thank you for the candy, anyway. Although you should not have given it."

"You were swell! But say, you haven't told me where to find you!"

"Right here—see, on Chieftain. Look, I waved his tail."

"Yes, I know, but where are you living?"

Carolee didn't answer for a moment, and her smile was gone now. She looked far down the trail, and patted her horse, before she spoke.

"I had orders not to tell. But I can't see that it matters, myself. I don't like trying to hide."

"Orders, Miss Colter?"

"Yes—well, yes. From Father. Mr. Blake, you have never lived around our kind of people, have you?"

It was Stuart's turn to be silent now. He was frankly mystified by her reply. He changed his tact.

"Say, listen," he suddenly spoke again. "I'm going to call you by your first name. If you'll tell me what it is."

"It's Carolee."

"Beautiful!" Stuart's admiration was genuine. "But where were you riding? Out looking for the lost mine?"

The girl laughed, then was serious. The girl laughed, then was serious. "No, Father and the boys do that. I'm—I'm like you, I guess. I don't much believe in it. And yet, sometimes I wonder. There seems to be considerable proof."

"Why the mine, 'let,' Carolee? Who lost it?"

"The Dutchman. Old Jacob Walz. Didn't you know? He was an eccentric old prospector. Father says, people tried to track him into the mountain and steal his ore, so one day he concealed the mine shaft and came to Phoenix. He said he would wait until people lost interest in his property. But he died rather suddenly, without revealing the mine's location."

"When I hadn't heard that the Lost Dutchman mine—I see, but weren't there Spaniards, and Indians?"

"Yes. Long before the Dutchman. Come on—let's explore the cliffs here. Look how bronzed the cliffs are!"

She turned Chieftain to the left and the other horse followed. The going wasn't easy but the horses were used to mountain slopes. They had left the trail entirely. The riders didn't stop for a time so engrossed were they in the scenery. Neither revealed a gap through which they could see Skuaw Peak 50 miles away, and unidentified ranges even beyond. Great majesties of distance—distance—a new conception of it impressed both of them as their horses moved up the steeply rising slope.

It was half an hour before they halted, after a rough bit of going through laurel and scrub oak. The boy and the girl turned in their saddles to study the wild panorama. It was, somehow, strange.

"I'm not—just sure where we are," Coralee said.

"Well, now that you mention it, I haven't been sure for several minutes," Stuart laughed a little. "Perhaps we should start back or at least locate the trail again."

"It was a sensible suggestion but it didn't work out so well. I've been of them was accustomed to wilderness riding. They hadn't watched their way. They had looked at distances without noting definite landmarks nearby. And, too, a boy and a girl, riding together, are likely to be in-rospective. It was a coincidence of each other. It must have been well past noon when Carolee confessed definitely, however.

"For the first time in my life," she said, a little nervously. "I'm actually lost. And I'm hungry as a bear."

She laughed, but it wasn't convincing.

Stuart didn't laugh. He was remembering the tragedies that had occurred in superstition, the deaths from thirst, and the people who had just disappeared.

"I'm stretched to the limit that he had called hokum began to swart back now, and settle down in his consciousness like so many cultures.

TRIPLE SLAYER GIVES MOTIVE IN CONFESSION

By The Associated Press NEW YORK, June 28—A path to the electric chair was charted today for moody, eccentric Robert Irwin, long-sought youthful sculptor, as the law pushed to ward a sudden smashing solution of the Easter Sunday triple murders on Beekman Hill.

Although the 29-year-old artist formerly was an inmate of an insane asylum, Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine and District Attorney William C. Dodge announced today they would ask the grand jury for three indictments for first degree murder in the slayings of Veronica Geedon, young artists' model, her mother, and a male roomer.

A defendant must be adjudged sane to be convicted of murder in the first degree which carries the death penalty.

Irwin was arrested in Chicago yesterday, more than 12 hours after he had surrendered in the offices of the Herald and Examiner, Chicago newspaper. He was brought here by airplane last night in the custody of New York detectives after waiving extradition.

The grand jury, Valentine and Dodge said in a joint statement, will be given a detailed statement which Irwin dictated to the Herald and Examiner, confessing all three murders, as well as additional statements they said he made to Chicago and New York police.

Suicide Attempt Watched Irwin was watched in a 24-hour guard by policemen to prevent any suicide attempt.

After issuing their statement, Valentine and Dodge continued to question Irwin through the early morning hours.

Despite a wide distribution of circulars for his apprehension, Irwin had worked unnoticed in a Cleveland hotel from April 8, a few days after the murders on March 27, until last Thursday. A kitchen maid then recognized his picture in a detective magazine, asked him about his identity, and he fled.

He arrived in Chicago at 7:30 a. m. Saturday, roamed the streets, attended a movie, and then, late in the day, apparently walked into the newspaper office. Full details of what happened between then and his arrest Sunday afternoon were not made public.

Irwin, a minister's son and one-time divinity student, as related in the newspaper statements, went to the Geedon apartment to murder Mrs. Kudner.

"I wanted to kill Ethel because she was the dearest object in the world to me. I loved her and hated her. I dreamed of modeling her as if beheaded."

Motive Given The motive, intertwined with Irwin's peculiar philosophy of life, was recorded by the newspaper in this way:

"The one driving impulse of a man's life is sex. I figured that if I could remove sexual impulse and put myself under pressure, that I could solve that problem."

"All the time I knew there was only one way out of it, by murdering somebody."

Irwin was welcomed by Mrs. Geedon, who was in the apartment alone. After they chatted for hours, and he drew sketches of her, she ordered him to leave. He refused, they fought, and eventually he strangled her, the statement said.

WALL STREET BODIES

NEW YORK, June 28 (AP)—A further decline in rails found the stock market vulnerable today and losses of fractions to 2 or more points followed an early rally.

Disappointment in some financial circles over carrier earnings trends paved the way for selling in the market while despite the back-to-work movement at strike-affected steel mills, Wall Street said continued disputes between employers and workers cast a shadow over the industrial profit outlook. Weakness in bonds also discouraged traders, it was said.

The slow pace of trading on the decline, however, was seen by analysts as an indication traders were still in a comparatively calm mood.

Transactions approximated 650,000 shares.

STEEL STRIKE PROBE CLOSES

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)—The Senate post office committee voted 12 to 1 today to end its investigation of the mid-veteran steel strikes without further hearings, or testimony by Postmaster General Farley.

By a vote of 12 to 1 it rejected a plea by Senator Bridges (R., N. H.) that Farley be summoned for questioning about alleged interference with the mails by pickets.

The post office committee recommended that further study of the strike situation be left to the Senate civil liberties committee which will begin an investigation Wednesday of the Memorial day clash between strikers and Chicago police.

The post office committee instructed Chairman McKellar (D., Tenn.) to report that a "sufficient investigation" of interference with the mails already has been made, and that the Senate should not authorize a special inquiry.

TO CONSIDER COURT PLANS

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP) The Senate judiciary committee agreed today to consider on July 12 all pending proposals for constitutional amendments affecting the judiciary.

A score, or more, proposals affecting the courts have been jammed up in committee for many months behind the Roosevelt court bill providing for enlargement of the Supreme Court unless older justices now on the bench retire.

The various proposed constitutional amendments, providing for a variety of alternatives for the Roosevelt bill, all have been referred to subcommittees but not discussed by the full committee because of the pressure of other matters and lack of unanimity on a single proposal.

Senator Burke (D-Neb.), one of the leading foes of the Roosevelt measure, announced that if there continued to be a distinct difference of opinion in the committee he would recommend the creation of a special committee to "study the whole judicial system and report back at the next session of congress."

Senator Hatch (D-NM), author of a much discussed compromise on the court bill, told Burke that if the Roosevelt measure should be recommitted he would then join in the request for a thorough study of the judicial system.

Under Burke's proposal the study would include all questions in connection with the personnel and organization of the judicial system as retirement, size of courts and number of judges, infusion of new blood, and the use of injunctions.

generation ago, such as Motley's "Rise of the Dutch Republic," Karl Marx' "Capital," Darwin's "Voyage of H. M. S. Beagle," the "Diary of Samuel Pepys, the "Confessions" of Rousseau, and even 14 pages of Boswell's "Johnson" are included in this remarkable volume, which needs a 16-page index to list the authors represented.

The editor of this "outline" is Sir J. A. Hammerton, who has introduced no comments of his own, but has limited the book's content to actual quotations, so that it may be used by speakers or writers with authority. The editor has tried to put into one volume the essence of 250 famous books and any reader familiar with world literature who will spend five minutes examining the results of his efforts will agree that he has succeeded to an astonishing degree.

When the content of this book and its low price are compared the supply offered by The Daily NEWS will last but a short time. Out-of-town readers will have to send 26 cents additional for postage, but for readers living in communities where there is no public library this single volume will give more material for reference than can be obtained in some of the public libraries of the larger cities of Texas.

Goering defended Germany's huge rearmament program with its attendant needs for raw materials as a necessity. "When it proved impossible to induce other countries to follow the German example and disarm, Germany, in order to secure full quality of rights, had no other choice than to re-arm," he said.

Hitler had his own say on the reich's shortage of raw materials. Then he declared Germany would welcome an inorganic victory in Spain because, "as it is generally known, we try to buy ores everywhere. Spain is rich in the minerals that Germany needs."

It was Goering who sounded the Nazi colony keynote, with the declaration it was "intolerable" for the reich to be independent economically on other nations.

SIX KILLED IN HEAD-ON CRASH WEST OF ERICK

AMARILLO, June 28 (AP)—Funeral services will be held today and tomorrow for six victims of a head-on automobile crash seven miles west of Erick, Okla., Saturday night.

Those dying in the accident were: Miss Opal Hammons, 20; Miss Lavonne Avant, 19; and Alfred Eugene Harmon, 24, of Erick. Herbert Wayne Copeland Jr., 16, and E. L. Bartlett, 20, of Texola, Okla., Lonnie Wendell Copeland, 18, of near Shamrock, Texas.

Harmon was traveling alone in his car. The other victims were in a car driven by Bartlett. Five died in the crash. Herbert Wayne Copeland died yesterday in a Shamrock hospital.

It was Goering who sounded the Nazi colony keynote, with the declaration it was "intolerable" for the reich to be independent economically on other nations.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 28 (AP)—In a late bid for stamps, wheat prices ran up to the extreme immediate permissible limit, 5 cents a bushel, at most North American markets.

Spring wheat markets led the skyrocketing of values, influenced by spread of black rust northward, and by seasonal curtailment of Canadian crop estimates because of drought damages. Some estimates put the probable size of the Canadian crop as low as 150,000,000 bushels, about 50 per cent of expectations a month ago.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 3 1/2-3 3/4 above Saturday's finish, July 19-23, 1.18-1.20, corn 1 1/2-2, and oats 1/2 to 2 cents advanced.

Budge and Parker in Tourney Semi-Finals

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 28 (AP)—Don Budge, America's red-headed Davis Cup ace, eliminated Vivian McGrath of Australia, 6-3, 6-1, 6-4, in the quarter-finals of the all-England tennis championships today.

Budge's triumph came after Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., the defending title-holder, and Alice Marble of Stamford, Conn., San Francisco, had gained the quarter-finals of the women's division.

Miss Jacobs trounced Miss A. A. Wright of Great Britain, 6-0, 6-3, and Miss Marble won from Rillin Couquerque of Holland, 6-0, 6-2. Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and Heinrich Henkel of Germany in a stunning surprise, 6-3, 7-5, 4-6, 4-6, 6-2.

WEDNESDAY LAST DAY TO PAY SCHOOL TAXES

Wednesday is the last day to pay second and final installment of school taxes without penalty and interest. Roy McMullen, business manager of the Pampa Independent School district, reminds tax payers within the district. His office is in the city hall, second floor.

After June 30, a penalty of 8 per cent will be assessed and interest charged at the rate of 6 per cent. Mr. McMullen urges that early payment to avoid a last minute rush.

The United States imported nearly 400 times as much liquor and wine as it exported last year.

Responsible for the decrease in percentage of oil allowed was the huge increase in the field potential during the month of June when 67 additional wells were reported and new oil amounted to 34,826 barrels. Of that amount 33,556 barrels was prorable.

The giant Panhandle field, according to the new summary, has 2,206 producing wells with a potential of 949,354 barrels. Of that number, 936 are marginal wells. The field has a production of 55,124 barrels of marginal oil, 1,572 barrels of exempt oil and 892,658 barrels prorable oil with an allowable of 77,017 barrels.
