LEGISLATURE DEFILES GOVERNOR

John Garner Hurrying to Bedside of His Aged Mother Dying in Texas

DOCTOR SAYS NO HOPE FOR HER RECOVERY

PIONEER WOMAN MIGHT LINGER ON FEW MORE DAYS

ILL OF TOXIC POISON SPEAKER ENROUTE TO LITTLE TOWN IN TEXAS

DETROIT, Tex., Sept. 17. (AP)—Mrs. Sarah Jane Garner, gravely ill at her home here, rallied briefly tonight and declared she expected to live to see her son, Speaker John Nance Garner, elected vice-president.

"I am not ready to go yet," the 81-year-old pioneer woman said. "I intend to live until my son John is elected vice-president."

Almost immediately afterward she lapsed again into a state of coma and physicians said she was sinking slowly.

The speaker's wife and his son, Tully Garner, arrived this afternoon from Dvalde, their home. They planned to spend the night at Paris, a few miles distance.

By P. D. ELDRID Associated Press Staff Writer DETROIT, Tex., Sept. 17. (AP)—The condition of Mrs. Sarah Jane Garner remained extremely critical tonight at her pioneer home in this quiet little settlement as her son, Speaker John Nance Garner, cast aside his activities in a heated political campaign to hurry to her bedside.

Garner, who as democratic vice-presidential nominee was on the verge of starting a speaking tour, entrained this morning at Washington for Detroit. He was born in a log cabin a few miles from the little town. The speaker abandoned a tentative plan to make part of the trip by plane.

At a consultation of attending physicians late today, it was announced that the 81-year-old mother was semi-conscious and gradually growing weaker. Her temperature was 103.4 degrees at 4 p. m. Her pulse was 116 but at 6 p. m. it had increased to 128.

Mrs. Garner was born May 20, 1851, in a log cabin on Blossom Prairie, just six miles from his present home.

Boy Will Make Parachute Jump This Afternoon

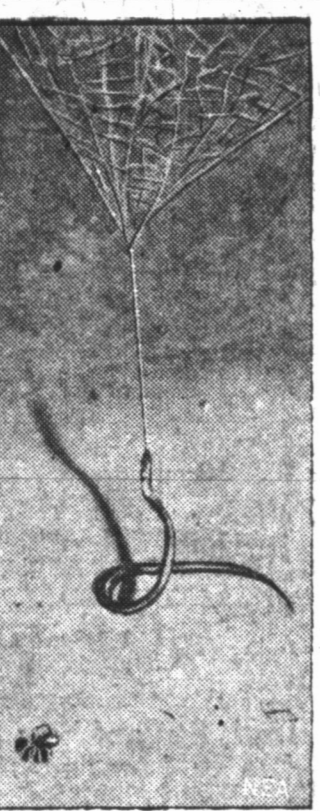

At the Pampa airport this afternoon, Eddie Winfield will give another of his parachute jumping and wingwalking exhibitions. He will make one jump at 6:30, weather permitting, and will give two wingwalking and landing gear exhibitions.

The first stunt will be executed promptly at 3:30 when Eddie will give a demonstration of landing gear acrobatics. He will climb out of the ship on one side, crawl around and underneath it and back into the ship on the opposite side. This will be followed by some wingwalking after which Art Pavey will pilot his Swallow through stunts.

During the jump this evening, he will free-fall about 700 feet before opening his chute then close it up again and open it before he reaches the ground. Winfield will jump far enough away from the field that he will land as near the crowd as possible.

OKLAHOMA—Partly cloudy Sunday; Monday partly cloudy, cooler in west portion.

SPIDER WINS

The spider stood by, ever alert. The snake, weakening slowly, twisted and flinched. And citizens of St. Charles, Ill., avidly watched this drama until public officials awarded the spider the contest and liberated the snake. Whenever the snake appeared to be nearly free, the spider threw additional loops around his head.

BEAUMONT WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

DALLAS LOSES THIRD TILT OF LEAGUE SERIES

SOUTHERN CHAMPS TO PLAY IN TEXAS NEXT WEEK

LUKE HAMLIN IS HERO

EXPORTERS TAKE ALL THREE GAMES OF PLAYOFF

By BILL PARKER Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 17. (AP)—The powerful right arm of Luke Hamlin pitched the Beaumont Exporters into the Texas League championship and the Dixie series tonight. Hamlin checked the Dallas Steers with five hits to beat them, 4-2. Beaumont swept the play-off with three consecutive wins, and will represent the Texas league in the Dixie series starting Tuesday at Beaumont against Chattanooga, Southern league champions.

After Herring had tamed the Steers 5 to 3 in the first game, and Goldstein had branded the Herd 9 to 8 in the second game at Beaumont, the action moved to Dallas under the arc lights and they were 2 to 1 favorites to win tonight but they never had a look-in against the fine curve ball pitching of Hamlin. Luke won twenty games during the regular Texas league campaign.

Oscar Fuhr, veteran southpaw who won twenty-one games for Dallas, opposed Hamlin until the seventh inning when Ray Morehart batted for him. George Murray finished the game for Dallas.

Beaumont drew first blood. In the fourth, Tauby singled to left. Hank Greenberg, the league's most valuable player, walked. Paul Easterling flied out to Bonura at first. Ray Fritz singled to left, and when Langford failed to field the ball cleanly, Tauby raced home.

The Steers forged to the front in their half of the fourth. After Brower had flied out and Langford had sent a lazy fly to the outfield, Radcliff singled for Dallas' first hit of the game. Radcliff raced to second on a wild pitch. Bonura Walkers, McLean; Byrd Cull, McLean; A. G. McKay, Pampa; H. B. Lively, Pampa; J. L. Stroppe, Pampa; Siler Faulkner, Pampa; W. E. James, Alanreed; P. B. Farley, Groom; Jack Stephens, Groom.

Beaumont made it 3-2 in the first of the fifth. Hamlin hit a short single over third. Holley fouled out a single to center, scoring Hamlin.

With Murray pitching in the eighth, Beaumont made the final run when Paul Easterling singled one over the centerfield fence.

A crowd of 8,359 saw the Exporters win their Texas league championship. Manager Del Baker was not forced to change pitchers once during the series. The Exporters will embark tomorrow for Beaumont where they will prepare to battle Chattanooga Tuesday in the opening game of the Dixie classic.

Score by innings: R H E Beaumont 000 111 010-4 8 2 Dallas 000 200 000-2 5 0 Hamlin and Reiber; Fuhr, Murray and McMullen.

WITH ROOSEVELT IN WEST

B'BOIS' WIFE HEARD HIM DIG GRAVE WHERE SHE WAS FOUND AFTER SHE WAS SHOT TO DEATH

Revealing Letter In PAMPA DAY Is Answer to Real Public Demand

QUINCY, Mass., Sept. 17. (AP)—Charles E. DuBois in a letter left by him just before he committed suicide, and made public tonight by his attorney, said his wife secreted her body because he was convinced "people would not believe my story."

QUINCY, Mass., Sept. 17. (AP)—A letter which was penned by Charles E. DuBois two hours before he committed suicide and which he slipped into the desk of his lawyer, was in the possession of Attorney Jeremiah J. MacAnary today. If MacAnary decides the contents of the letter can be divulged "without harming anyone" he will make the missive public Monday morning. The lawyer did, however, dissolve that DuBois, a Tuckahoe, N. Y., jeweler, had made a will earlier in the week, leaving all his property to his mother, Mrs. Cecile DuBois of New York City.

The writing of the letter and the making of the will combined to cause police to believe DuBois planned to take his life if arrest was near.

In the temporary absence of MacAnary from his office yesterday, DuBois, who had been in conference with his counsel, wrote two pages of a letter, put it into the lawyer's hands and left.

Raymond Allred Continues His Contest Action

Contrary to general belief following his resignation and the appointment of John Sturgeon as district attorney by Governor Ross Sterling, Raymond Allred has not abandoned his contest of the democratic nomination. On request of Mr. Allred's attorneys, Judge W. R. Ewing of 31st district court yesterday filed his statement of findings in the contest, in which the nomination of Lewis M. Goodrich of Shamrock was sustained. Goodrich defeated Mr. Allred by 24 votes, but Allred claimed that there were 30 illegal votes in the South Pampa box. Mr. Goodrich's attorneys, Reynolds & Hoare of Shamrock, expressed confidence that the appeal of the contest would not be successful.

DEMOCRAT HAS SOLUTION FOR RAIL PROBLEM

ROOSEVELT SAYS LINES SHOULD BE BACKED BY GOVERNMENT

SPEAKS AT SALT LAKE

RAILROAD WELFARE IS NECESSARY FOR PROSPERITY

By W. B. RAGSDALE Associated Press Staff Writer

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 17.—A proposal that the government stand behind the railroads for a specified period if they would agree to accept a national transportation policy was made tonight by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It was one of seven suggestions the democratic presidential nominee made for dealing with the troubles of the railroads during the course of the second speech of his swing across the continent. He spoke before an audience that gathered in the famous Mormon tabernacle.

The crowd cheered frequently and as the democratic presidential candidate outlined a seven fold program which he said comprised the transportation policy of the democratic party. His well modulated voice reached to the far corners of the huge egg-shaped building that Brigham Young visualized for the followers of his faith.

"Avoid financial excesses, adjust plant to traffic; coordinate all carrier service; above all serve the public reasonably, swiftly and well." A part of the difficulties, he attributed to less regulated motor competition and a part to what he termed unreasonable competition among the railroads, themselves.

"It is necessary that each rail service should fit into and be coordinated with other rail services and with other forms of transportation," he said. On the same spot from which the New York governor spoke, his distant relative, the late president, had stood, as had Presidents Wilson, Harding and Taft.

As he finished his discussion and was leaving the grounds, the mammoth pipe organ thundered out "Happy days are here again," the (See ROOSEVELT, Page 2)

Increase In This Field 1,567 Barrels In Check

The Panhandle daily oil production went up 2,024 barrels last week from the lowest production of the year. The daily output was 49,376 barrels. Gray county led the way with an increase of 1,567 barrels.

Moore and Wheeler counties showed the only decreases from the previous week. Gray county had one completion, the Sun Oil company's No. 3 Combs Worley which came in for an initial production of nearly 1,000 barrels. The test has been shut in because of no pipeline connections.

Maggie Jones of Columbia Network To Sing in Pampa

Maggie Jones, Columbia record negro blues singer and Columbia Broadcasting company artist, will be presented here Tuesday evening at 9 p. m. at the Pla-Mor in a combination dance and floor program. The singer has a national reputation, having fulfilled contracts with the Roxy theater in New York and most of the other large playhouses of the nation. Between Columbia contracts she appears in vaudeville. There will be several other entertainers in her company. Music will be furnished for the dance by Little Rod and His Negro Music Masters' orchestra. Maggie Jones has a program of proven appeal but is generous in signing request numbers of the old plantation type popular everywhere. She appears in a number of costumes.

A poster which announced that "Lena Rivers," by Mary J. Holmes, will be shown at the Rex theater soon. Research work done several years ago for a college theme on first names, revealed to the writer that 85 per cent of males whose first name is "Dwight" or "Dorwood" were named for the hero of "Lena Rivers" by more or less romantic parents. The sentimental novel is still a favorite among subscribers to the "Semi-Weekly Farm News" and "The Comfort."

BOND LAW TO SAVE COUNTY HUGE AMOUNT

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL PLACING MEASURE IN EFFECT

TAX SLASH IS DUE HERE

LEGISLATORS REFUSE TO OBEY REQUEST TO ADJOURN

By R. W. BARRY Associated Press Staff Writer AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 17. (AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling attempted to shake the legislature loose from its special session today, but the lawmakers hung on with a sine die adjournment date still uncertain.

The governor signed a bill providing for both houses lifting from the various counties obligations assumed when bonds were issued for construction of highways now on the state system. It was the principal piece of legislation the governor proposed in asking the legislature to assemble in extraordinary session to consider tax relief laws.

The law, which became immediately effective when the chief executive affixed his signature, would take from the taxpayers levies necessary to meet interest and principal on obligations estimated to aggregate as much as $100,000,000.

"I am assuming that you will complete your duties today, and I wish to thank you kindly for your spirit of cooperation and your splendid work for the state of Texas," the governor told the legislature in a message sent to both houses.

Adjournment Delayed At that time the house had not disposed of a senate concurrent sine die resolution fixing adjournment for 6 p. m. today. Later it refused to agree to ringing down the curtain at this time, and asked for appointment of a free conference committee to discuss final adjournment. Subsequently the senate put thru a new sine die proposal setting adjournment for 6 p. m. Monday. The house amended it to set adjournment for 6 p. m. next Wednesday.

The governor estimated when he convened the legislature it should be able to transact the business cut for it and adjourn within a week. This was the nineteenth day of the session. The constitution limits a special session to the maximum of 30 days and the governor has no power to chop one off short of that time.

The two houses were at odds over details of a bill proposing remission of penalties and interest on delinquent taxes provided they were paid by December 31, 1933. The house of representatives wanted to make it apply to municipalities as well as state, county and district subdivisions. The senate wanted to leave the matter of remission interest and penalties on municipal taxes optional with the cities concerned. A conference committee of the two houses still were unable to agree.

LEGISLATURE—

OUT OUR WAY By WILLIAMS

House Is Rebellious
The legislature previously had passed a bill remitting delinquent tax penalties and interest but after it had become law with the governor's signature, it was discovered it affected some classes of taxes it was not intended to include.

Law Benefits County
An intricate audit of Gray county paving bond issues will probably be started by Auditor R. C. Wilson soon to enable County Judge S. D. Sterbis to supply information regarding the provisions of the highway bill sponsored by Governor Ross Sterling and passed by the current session of the legislature.

himself in congress, crowning his achievement by becoming speaker of the house, his mother watched her expectations come true. "It was no more than I expected of my son," she told friends several months ago. Last Saturday her physicians found her health to have declined dangerously.

Much as Gray county would gain from taking over of bonds already sold, it would receive more benefit from the policy of not requiring county participation in state or state-federal projects. The Sterling plan is subject to repeal by any future legislature, unless embodied in a constitutional amendment, and therefore the attitude of a Ferguson administration would be measured in terms of hundreds of thousands of dollars by this county.

Regulation by the interstate commerce commission of competing motor carriers; railroads to be allowed to supplement their transportation facilities with motor service where it will promote the public interest. Relieve the interstate commerce commission of requiring competition where traffic is insufficient to support competing lines; encourage the elimination of non-paying mileage.

Advices Tax Reductions
Immediate relief is likely under the new measure, Senator Clint C. Small has telegraphed county commissioners in his district to reduce tax levies in keeping with the relief to be afforded. It may be possible to lower the Gray county rate by 15 cents or more, although a margin of safety is recommended by Senator Small.

Good Wage Advocated
And it is clear to me that all the men who are employed on our great transportation systems are entitled to the highest possible wages that the industry can afford to pay," was the way he concluded the outline of his seventh point.

GARNER—

There is considerable speculation as to the possible effect on the repeal plan of Jim Ferguson's bitter controversy with the state highway commission.

ROOSEVELT—

Mr. Roosevelt said the policy should be developed "with the aid of legislative and administrative officials and representatives of all interests most deeply concerned with the welfare and service of the railroads, including investors, labor, shippers and passengers."

Murray Defies Supreme Court With Military

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 17 (AP)—With caustic words for an attempt to open oil wells charged with overproduction under a supreme court bond, Governor cut short a western Oklahoma speaking tour today to assume personal direction of military control of the Oklahoma City oil field. The governor said that to permit opening of wells under $5,000 bond by an oil company charged with overproducing hundreds of thousands of barrels was "a monstrosity in justice."

CANADIAN FIRST WINNER OF GOLF CROWN IN 21 YEARS

SOMERVILLE IS CONQUEROR OF MOHICAN

GOODMAN DEFEATED IN SPECTACULAR SCORING

FIVE FARMS COURSE, Baltimore Country Club, Sept. 17 (AP)—The amateur golf championship of the United States passed into Canadian hands today as Ross (Sandy) Somerville, slender, 29-year-old shotmaker, outlasted 22-year-old Johnny Goodman of Omaha, Neb.

Somerville conquered the sensational young American 2 and 1 in a championship match that was featured by spectacular flights of scoring, punctuated with brilliant putting and packed with enough thrilling moments to keep a gallery of 4,000 fans roaring.

It was easily the most tense and exciting final since George Von Elm turned back the great Bob Jones by exactly the same margin in 1926 at Baltimore.

The silent Canadian Scot is the first invader to win the American crown since Harold H. Hilton, British star, was the victor in 1911.

Oddly enough Somerville does not even hold the Canadian amateur championship this year, although he has held this title four times and is generally rated the best amateur in the Dominion. He lifted the United States championship today in the fourth tournament in which he had been able to qualify, coming through after a week of remarkably consistent play. His score included a record-smashing 68 for a new course record, in his third round match with Bill Blaney of Boston.

Somerville, after wading through all opposition easily in the tournament, had his hardest battle of the week against Goodman. The latter whipped two young Walker cup stars and then dethroned the defending champion, Francis Ouimet, in the semi-finals.

The youth from the middle west, ignored in this year's Walker cup elections, put up a gallant scrap against his more experienced rival.

Schmeling-Walker Bout Postponed Until Sept. 26

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—A second postponement of the Mickey Walker-Max Schmeling heavyweight bout until Monday, Sept. 26, was announced tonight by Madison Square Garden.

The postponement was decided upon after an examination of a wound on Walker's forearm revealed it had not yet healed. Dr. Vincent Nardiello, representing the New York state athletic commission, recommended that the former welterweight and middleweight champion be given a few more days in which to reach prime physical condition.

Originally the bout was to have been held tomorrow night, but a boil developed on Walker's forearm during training and had to be lanced. Mickey then asked a postponement until Sept. 23 and this was granted.

The wound, however, failed to heal as quickly as had been expected, the garden's announcement said, and a second postponement was decided upon.

Babe Weak But Able To Field A Few Grounders

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Babe Ruth's baseball's great man, tottered forth today on wobbly legs, took his cut, fielded a few grounders, and then retired to a seat in the sun at the edge of the Yankee dugout, perspiring and trembling from weakness.

"It's like starting the season all over again," he groaned. "I can see them all right, but I can't hit a ball hard enough to break a pane of glass."

It was the return of Ruth. A drama the Babe has revived often since age and ailments in the past few years have kept his baseball obituary constantly in the composing room.

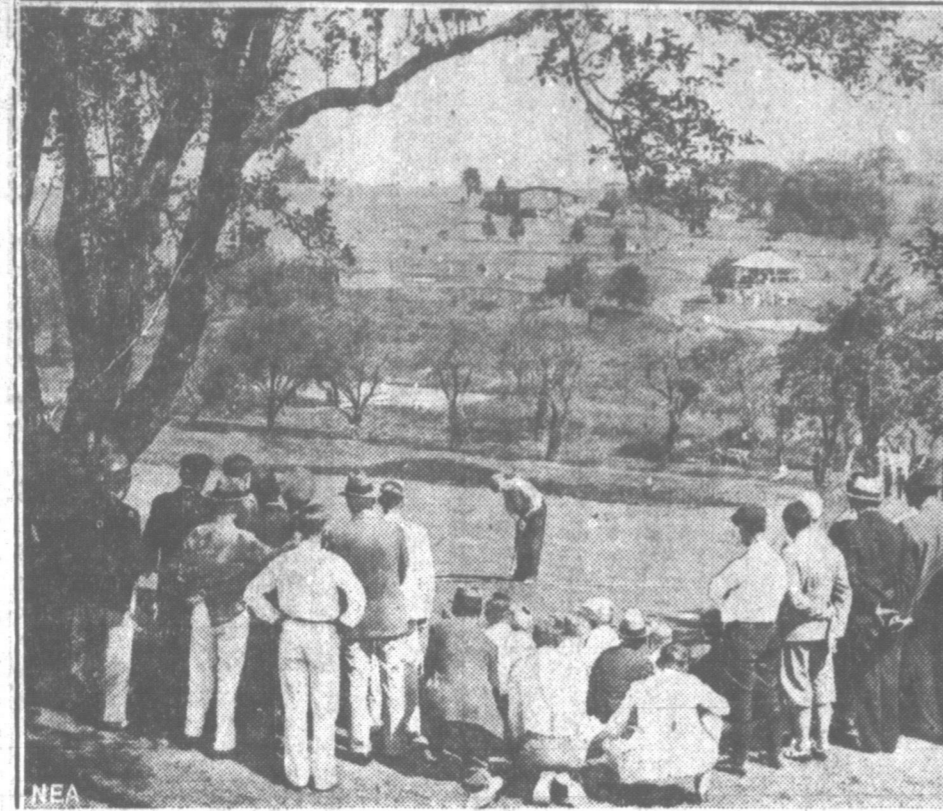

The sharp pains that shot through his side and sent him racing home to his family physician from Detroit ten days ago have died away. But the fever that accompanied the inflammation, a week in bed on a diet of soup, sapped the Babe's strength. He has regained most of the eight pounds he lost, but his home run swing must await later workouts.

"I'll be fine for the world series though," he said as he mopped his brow in the dugout. "A few days of this and then I'll get back to the Yankees in Philadelphia Wednesday and finish out the season. I've got plenty of time by Sept. 28 to get back in shape."

Scientists have found that some plants suffer from fevers, due to bacteria, that at times increase their temperature as much as three degrees.

OUIMET DEFENDS HIS AMATEUR CROWN

The 6622-yard layout of the Five Farms course at Baltimore, Md., proved difficult going for many of the stellar links artists who competed in the 36th annual U. S. amateur championship. Francis Ouimet, the defending champion, seen here on the ninth green, got off to a bad start with a 78 in the first qualifying round. The picture affords a general view of the course.

Tech Matadors Vanquish Aggies By 44-0 Score

LUBBOCK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Coach Pete Cawthon sent in every member of his 52-man squad this afternoon and the Texas Tech Matadors steam-rollered the Panhandle Aggie from Goodwell, Okla., 44 to 0 in the first football game of the season here.

Long runs by a dozen fleet half backs, quick punches through the line by heavy fullbacks—all behind four sets of linemen—carried the Matadors to the bruising victory.

CUBS SPLIT PAIR

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Phillies stopped the Chicago Cubs' winning streak, 9-2, in the first game of their doubleheader today, but they couldn't touch Pat Malone in the nightcap and the Cubs won, 5-1.

By splitting the twin bill while the Pittsburgh Pirates lost, Chicago boosted its lead in the pennant race.

Benge was driven to the showers in the fourth, and the Cubs, just to make sure the game was safe, cuffed his successor, John Berly, for a pair or runs in the fifth. After that Babe Adams, recalled Phillie rookie, held the Bruins for a while as the Shottonmen finally managed to send home one run.

Malone held the Phils to seven hits.

The opening game was a personal victory for Phil Rhee, who scored his fourteenth victory of the season in stifling the National league leaders.

Buff Eleven Is Powerful Outfit —Face Simmons

CANYON, Sept. 17 (SP)—Football practice at West Texas Teachers college is progressing rapidly. With the opening game with Simmons university only a little more than a week away, the Buff coaches are leading the men through two stiff work outs each day.

Practically all eligible men are back, and the Buffs are showing a determination and willingness that is making fans feel good. More than 1,000 Harvester backers witnessed the scrimmage and applauded loudly when good plays were made. They have not yet determined the Harvester prospect for the season but like the way the boys are going about their work.

"Every boy is doing his best and it is a good sign," remarked several fans. Thirty boys were in new sweaters of gold with "Harvesters" across the front and a number on the back. The sweaters will probably be used only in practice games.

The exes showed flashes of old time speed but their wind was not the best. Salsbury, Chastain, Benben and Ayres started in the backfield with Ayres, Barnard, Mason, Setz, Poe, Gochler and Camp in the line. Substitutes included Buckingham, Kieth, Enloe, Bus Benton and others.

Four important games in the Pampa Playground ball league are on schedule for Tuesday afternoon. The encounter between the Faculty and the Phillips Petroleum company and the Phillips Petroleum company at Magnolia park will be one of the headlines. The Danciger and Santa Fe battle at Danciger park will be another important fixture as both have won and lost the same number of games.

In the other fixture THE NEWS will meet the Rose building on the Santa Fe diamond and the Kiwanians will take on the Jaysees on their home diamond.

All games are scheduled for 5:30 o'clock. The games will be the last of the first business of the season of play should see the best games of the season as the weaker teams have been strengthening their lineups.

HARVESTER LINE LOOKS STRONG AND BACKS ENERGETIC WHILE HOLDING EYES TO 6 TO 6 TIE

EXES' COUNTER MADE ON INTERCEPTED PASS

The ex-Harvesters, boasting Friday morning that they would defeat the 1932 Harvesters by 20 points in a scrimmage Friday afternoon, were held to a 6-6 tie by the green and gold who showed flashes of speed and ability.

It took the aerial route to gain ground for the exes who completed 14 forward passes out of 22 attempted. Don Salsbury appeared to be the only former star who could gain ground through the Harvester line which looked fairly strong.

Dick Sullins, Harvester flash, scored the first touchdown of the scrimmage when he broke through the line and raced up the field 20 yards across the goal line. The line opened wide for him and his speed and side-stepping ability carried him through the secondary defense safely. The point after touchdown missed the upright by inches.

The touchdown was made possible by a concentrated drive from mid-field with Captain Jim Pool, Sullins and Lloyd Hamilton carrying the ball for three firsts; downs and Jess Patton taking a nice pass over the line for 10 yards.

Dick Benton intercepted a pass from Marbaugh, intended for Kelley, and raced 70 yards for the exes' touchdown. The kick for extra points was blocked. Benton's passing to Kieth, Enloe, the Ayres brothers, and Chastain was the sparkling part of the ex-Harvesters offense. They completed passes over the Harvester backfield with regular abandon in midfield but when near the goal line the march would be stopped by Ledrick, Tuke Salsbury and Sullins who intercepted passes during the scrimmage and broke up others.

The Harvesters lined up with Patton and Kelley at ends, Marbaugh and Walker tackles, Schmidt and Pcell guards, and Green at center, with Ledrick, Sullins, Salsbury and Pool in the backfield. The ends looked particularly strong and coaches' worries on those jobs should be light. Walker, Powell and Schmidt played good football most of the time they were in the game.

Marbaugh, new at tackle, showed a willingness to make the position. Green passed more accurately yesterday but his speed continued to be too great for the backfield.

Additional linemen also showed up well but they as well as the starters, may make it today in charging and blocking. Combs, Eldridge, Nelson, Smith, Owens, Faulkner, Sarting, Fullingim were all sent in during the affair and stopped the exes charges several times. Backfield men who saw service were Hamilton, who made several nice gains on the spinner job, Preston Owens, who also gained a number of yards through the line, Robinson, Marbaugh and even Sam Turner who has a broken hand.

The boys need practice and plenty of it before they are ready to take the field against conference teams. However, the boys are showing a determination and willingness that is making fans feel good. More than 1,000 Harvester backers witnessed the scrimmage and applauded loudly when good plays were made. They have not yet determined the Harvester prospect for the season but like the way the boys are going about their work.

KIKI CUYLER IS HERO MANY CUB VICTORIES

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler sat on the bench while the Pittsburgh Pirates absorbed four successive beatings but it's a safe bet the fleet outfielder will see plenty of service in the world series this year, assuming the Chicago Cubs win the National league pennant.

As the Cubs drive toward the flag, Cuyler sensational fielding and timely hitting have been the determining factor in many games.

Particularly has he been "poisonous" to the New York Giants. Almost singlehanded he beat them in two games of a recent series at Chicago, 2 to 1, victory over the same club at the Polo grounds.

Pittsburgh recovered from a brief slump to trim the Boston Braves, 3 to 2, but failed to gain an inch. They still were 5½ games behind the Cubs today, with the schedule growing short. They would have to win all their remaining 11 games while the Cubs were losing six out of 10 to take the pennant.

St. Louis turned up with another brilliant pitching prospect in Ray Starr, young right-hander from Rochester, who held Brooklyn to two widely spaced singles and won handily, 3 to 0. The Phillies downed Cincinnati, 7 to 4, to make a sweep of the three-game series.

The Yankees suffered their first defeat since clinching the American League flag when th Chicago White Sox beat them, 8 to 5. Lefty Gomez was the victim, breaking a seven-game winning streak for the Castilian. Walter Stewart of the St. Louis Browns won in a tight mound duel with George Earnshaw of the Athletics, 3 to 2.

Cleveland pounded two Boston pitchers for 12 hits, including home runs by Kamm and Clesell, to win their 16th game of the year from the Red Sox, 7 to 5. Lefty Gomez, Tigers nosed out Washington 5 to 7, in 10 innings.

For the last four or five years about 20,000,000 pairs of shoes have been manufactured annually in Belgium, about two and a half pairs per capita.

The United States Patent office last year passed on 29,128 more applications than were received and at the end of the year had 90,274 awaiting action.

Sterling Says Ferguson Has Threatened Him

AUSTIN, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Governor Ross S. Sterling, in a statement issued tonight said he has been told of a whispering campaign among Ferguson followers in the legislature of a movement to bring charges against his administration, unless his election contest is dropped.

He termed it "a second effort at intimidation with threats of investigation" and said the move "even more clearly than the first reveals that the Ferguson crowd are trembling with fear of a contest and a court recount of the ballots. He reiterated the amended petition of his suit will be filed early in the week, and that he will be declared the nominee for governor.

Governor Sterling's statement said: "It has been brought to my attention that Ferguson henchmen in the legislature have been whispering it about, for publicity purposes, that a movement is under way to investigate irregularities in the recent primary election and to bring sort of charges against my administration unless my contest of that election is dropped.

"The second effort at intimidation with threats of investigation reveals even more clearly than the first one did, that the Ferguson crowd are trembling with fear of a contest and of a court recount of the ballots."

Babe Didrikson Is Mustang 'Star'

DALLAS, Sept. 17.—(AP)—The Southern Methodist Mustangs turned their daily practice session into a football aerial circus today. The Mustangs went through several of their famous plays in fast motion, and then through slow motion with Mildred Babe Didrikson, superwoman athlete. In the role of the star, Rowland Wolfe, Olympic and world's champion tumbler, gave an exhibition between halves of the thirty minute football game between the reds and the blues. Ray Morrison was on the "mike" throughout the aerial circus.

Frogs Lag While Beating Teachers

FORT WORTH, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Texas Christian university failed to show the form expected here this afternoon but managed to defeat North Texas State Teachers college, 14-9 in the first football game of the Texas season between major college teams. Ragged and inconsistent the Frogs found that neither their pounding nor the sweltering heat could break down the stout and stubborn defense of the team from Denton.

The Teachers took the lead in the first few minutes of play and held it until the second quarter when T. C. U. counted both her touchdowns. A 55-yard punt which rolled out of bounds on the T. C. U. four yard line paved the way for the safety. Kitchens fumbled the pass back and although he recovered, Maggard downed him in the end zone for two points.

Summer ran 34 yards to the five yard line early in the second period and Oliver smashed tackle for the first touchdown. Summer kicked goal.

After three losing possible scores through penalties, the Frogs got a break a few minutes later. Interference on a pass gave the ball on the Eagles' 10 yard line and it took two plays to gain the distance. A crowd estimated at 4,000 saw the game.

Lame Ducks Form Club at Austin

By CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Sept. 17.—(AP)—There are so many lame ducks in the third special session of the 42nd legislature that they have organized a "lame duck" club, apparently with no object in view except to console one another and relish the cause of their respective defeats.

Eugene Giles of Austin was made chairman. The reasons for defeat of many of the members ran from a misunderstanding on the part of the electorate to lies and huge slush funds dumped into the campaign by the so-called corporate interests. The whys and wherefores were varied and numerous. Although defeated for re-election many of the lame ducks regarded the setback as temporary and were making plans for another rally into legislative circles. Several wasted no time about saying they would be that they would spend the interval in the race two years hence and educating the voters of their districts to their worth and the value of having them sit in the councils of state.

Death Recalls 'Turpitude' Case

PAU, France, Sept. 17 (AP)—The Earl of Craven, who hurriedly left American soil in 1926 when immigration agents sought to question him concerning an affair with the Countess of Cathcart, who was in process of being barred from the United States, died here yesterday. He was 35 years old.

The Earl succeeded to the title of his father in 1921. He was educated at Eton and was married in October 1916, to Mary Williamson George of Invergordon. He served with a Hampshire regiment for four years during the World War and was voted war honors by the government in 1926. At one time he was mentioned as possible successor to Lord Byng as Governor General of Canada.

The Earl's wife sued him for divorce after his elopement to the United States with Vera, Countess of Cathcart. The Countess was refused entrance to the United States on the ground she was guilty of moral turpitude. She demanded, through her counsel, that the Earl be deported if she were. The next day a writ was procured but he fled to Canada before it was served.

Mining Pickets Escorted Home

BRAIDWOOD, Ill., Sept. 16 (AP)—The invasion by union pickets of the northern Illinois mine fields in protest against the few five dollar a day basic scale became a rout today after three miners had been wounded.

Shortly after dawn Chief Walter L. Moody of the state police confronted the encampment of striking pickets from the Peoria and Springfield districts and announced that they were going home under escort.

A few minutes later the procession that had sought to stop digging in Braidwood, coal city and Wilmington strip mines yesterday was homeward bound. There were 78 cars in the parade, led by Chief Moody and with police cars sprinkled through the line. There was no resistance and none of the pickets was armed.

Reinforced by 100 deputy sheriffs of Will and Grundy counties, the officers determined to disperse the pickets and prevent a recurrence of the violence of yesterday in which one worker, trying to run a gauntlet of pickets, was cut when his windshield was smashed and two pickets were shot. Neither was seriously wounded.

Northern Illinois coal corporation officials said the mines would reopen tomorrow.

Long Claims He Has Stepped Aside

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17 (AP)—United States Senator Huey P. Long has discarded his role of "King Fish" of Louisiana democracy to take the stump in the national campaign.

At a farewell dinner last night the senator announced his retirement from active direction of the state committee to accept speaking engagements in the west in the interest of the national ticket.

Fresh from victory over political enemies in the recent state primary in which his candidate emerged successful, the "King Fish" told his leaders he "was glad to step aside" in state politics which had kept him so busy, he said, he "had not had time to read the rules of the United States senate but had to pick them up by ear."

"I wouldn't retire," he added, "until we had put every one of our dag-dum maligners out of office."

Robert S. Maestri was chosen chairman of the state committee and will handle city affairs while Governor O. K. Allen was bequeathed direction of state affairs.

Application blanks for University of Illinois football tickets are mailed on a staggered schedule so that persons in different parts of the country get an even break in getting in their replies.

LUBBOCK, Sept. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Mattie May Warren, 52, of O'Donnell, died of heart attack just as she reached a doctor's office here this morning.

Overed to go to bed for a complete rest two weeks ago, Mrs. Warren instead canned vegetables all this week, her husband said.

Saturday morning she and Mr. Warren drove 50 miles to Lubbock. As Mrs. Warren entered the office and started to shake hands with Dr. Sam G. Dunn at West Texas hospital she collapsed, instantly dying. Adrenalin was injected into her heart, but to no avail. Death was attributed to angina pectoris.

Cliff Braly On Longhorn Team

AUSTIN, Sept. 17 (AP)—The University of Texas football squad staged its first scrimmage session of the current practice season here this afternoon before several hundred spectators.

The first eleven, composed of leading candidates for starting honors, met in stubborn resistance from an eleven of second stringers, who formed the defensive team.

The session featured the new shift formation, which will be inaugurated by Coach Clyde Littlefield for the first time this fall. Both teams stationed a couple of feet back of the line, shifted forward to the line, while the backfield shifts simultaneously. This new formation is expected to add deception to the new Longhorn plays.

Ernest Koy, giant fullback from Sealy, Texas, picking up where he dropped off last year, led the offensive team's line for gain after gain. He appeared in mid-season form.

Ox Blanton, Herschel Moody, Arthur Nelburr and Raymond Seals worked alternately at tackles; "Cock" Cliff Braly and Tommie Birdwell at guards; Charles Coates and Bill Smith at center and Bibby Daus, "Oochie" Earle, Bennie Rundell and Ed Price worked at ends.

Actual Cowboys To Stage Rodeo

Many well known cowboys will be in Pampa this afternoon for the rodeo performance to be staged on the Blansett ranch one mile southeast of Bowers City. The cowboys will be en route to Amarillo from Woodward, Okla., where they have been attending a celebration held last week.

Gene Ross of Sayre, favorite contender for national all-around-cowboy title, will probably be on hand to give some exhibitions. Other names well known in the rodeo world are Earl West, Van Vector, Hugh Birdley, Shorty McCrory, Shorty Creed and others. They will all be here.

Local and Gray county boys will also take part in the performance. Siler Hopkins and Herbert Blansett will be in charge. Stock from the Pampa Frontier Days celebration will be used.

Markers will be placed from this side of Bowers City to the rodeo ground. The first event is scheduled for 2 o'clock. Admission will be 15 and 25 cents.

K. P. Lodge To Hold Rally In Pampa Today

The regular meeting of the local Knights of Pythias lodge Tuesday night in the north room on the second floor of the city hall will take the form of a district rally with members coming from Lubbock, Plainview, Amarillo, Wellington, Perryton, and Berger. Past Grand Chancellor Lee Freeman of Fort Worth has been in the city during the last week making arrangements for the meeting.

Dr. G. H. Ater of Lubbock, D. D. G. C. will preside. He will be assisted by James Bowen of Amarillo, P. G. C. The meeting will be one of a series to be held in the larger cities of that district. Degree work in the first and second ranks will be conferred.

C. E. "Dan" McGrew of Kingsmill is chancellor commander of the Pampa lodge. Ray Wilson is vice-chancellor commander. Finis Jordan is prelate, and Ernest Gee, secretary.

All members and former members are urged to attend the meeting.

China Implores U. S. To Halt Jap Aggression

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—China appealed to the United States today to halt Japanese "aggression" in Manchuria and prevent the nine power treaty from being ignored as "a mere scrap of paper."

A note prepared by the Chinese ministry of foreign affairs in Nanking today was presented to the secretary of state by the Chinese legation with an announcement that the same had been delivered to all the other signatories of the nine power treaty which guarantees China's sovereignty, independence, territorial and administrative integrity.

The note reviews Japan's activities in Manchuria since seizure of Mukden, September 18, 1931, and says: "Japan has attempted to deceive the world by advancing the ridiculous arguments that the so-called Manchukuo was brought into existence by Chinese citizens who desired to secede from the republic of China. Undeniable facts show that the bogus government in Manchuria is the product and tool of Japanese military aggression pure and simple."

Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, has turned down more than 30 matches since his defeat of Mickey Walker and Tuffy Griffin.

SCOUT NEWS

The first Boy Scout court of honor for the fall season will be held in the district courtroom of the courthouse at 8 o'clock Sept. 30. A board of review will be conducted in the basement of the First Methodist church at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Scouts eligible for a raise in rank or for merit badges will be examined by leaders and if they pass their tests they will be advanced or given badges at the Court of Honor. The Rev. James Todd, Jr., is chairman of the court.

The court will be the first since before the Scouts went to summer camp in New Mexico. A court of honor was held the night before camp closed and many boys were advanced on their camp work. Others needed additional work that could only be gotten in a city. They will appear before the board of review.

Troop 3, First Baptist Church. Several members of the troop, accompanied by Scoutmaster Harold Holmes, drove seven miles of LeFors yesterday, when swimming tests were passed by some of the boys. They will be eligible for merit badges at the next Court of Honor.

T. D. C. Turner and Edward Wood passed first class swimming and merit badge tests. Revista Harvey and Floyd Organ passed merit badge work in swimming. Rex Rose passed a cooking test.

Other boys making the trip were Edward Wood, L. C. Covington, John Williams, Melvin Lancaster, and LeRoy Johnson.

The Tom Rose Buick company furnished the transportation.

Coach Billy Laval of South Carolina says he will discard all trick plays and depend on power for building a winning football team.

The coaching staff at Notre Dame university is one of the youngest in the country, three of them having been graduated just last year.

An all-Scott backfield is in prospect for North Carolina State's football this year. Five candidates are "Me's."

New York Stock Exchange Sued For $21,000,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 17 (AP)—The New York Stock exchange, with more than 40 of its officials, was sued for $21,000,000 today by a non-member brokerage house which charged the exchange with "boycotting" its unit plan of stock sales.

Finlie, Simons & Co., brokers, are the plaintiffs. They named as defendants Richard Whitney, president of the stock exchange, Warren D. Nash, its treasurer, members of the government committee, and the exchange.

The resolution "was intended to and did prohibit," the complaint said, any stock exchange member from selling stock to the plaintiff. It was charged this violated the "package."

The complaint alleged the exchange instituted what amounted to "boycott and blacklist" of portfolio, "package" plan of stock sales, in which several shares of stock, each in a different company, were sold as a unit.

The exchange passed a resolution on June 22, 1932, it was charged, forbidding its members to associate with unit plan, except such as the committee on "risk" would sanction. A condition of sanction was that at least five shares of each stock must be included in each "package."

recent bullishness, however, has been based on improvement in electric power production, freight traffic and merchandise sales; heavier lines, it has been pointed out, would probably be slower in getting under way.

Weather news brought active selling into the cotton market toward the close and futures closed $1.90 to $1.75 a bale lower, December is now more than $14 under its August high.

COTTON ACTIVE
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17. (AP)—The cotton market was extremely active in today's short session, and prices developed a sharp downturn to new low levels for the present movement. Heavy liquidation, poor cables, fair weather in the belt coupled with a forecast for good weather for the coming week and weakness in stocks were the main causes of the heavy liquidation, to which was added hedge selling. Prices moved downward practically from start to finish and closed easy at the bottom, showing net declines for the day of 32 to 38 points, equivalent to $1.60 to $1.90 a bale.

Manchester cabled the prospects were brighter for the settlement of the mill strike, but buyers were cautious. During the second or final hour heavy liquidation and hedge selling came on the market and the long distance weather forecast for the coming week was favorable. The stock market also was weak. Prices made the lows of the day right at the end with October at 6.62 and December at 6.74. These were also the closing prices, showing a net loss for the day of 37 points on October and a net loss of 38 points on December.

Court Vacates Injunction To Prohibit Humble

AUSTIN, Sept. 17. (AP)—The supreme court today temporarily prohibited the state from forcing the Humble Oil and Refining company and the Humble Pipeline company to take as much oil as formerly from certain fields. The writ of prohibition would be effective pending a hearing on the merits of the case.

James V. Alfred, attorney general, had obtained an injunction from District Judge W. F. Robertson of Austin restraining the Humble company from reducing their crude oil takings from the East Texas, North Texas and Panhandle fields. The supreme court action vacated that injunction temporarily. The injunction also would require the companies to purchase oil ratably from all wells in the fields and from their own wells more oil than would be taken from other leases. The pipeline company would be enjoined from disconnecting any wells at present connected to pipelines.

Before the attorney general obtained the injunction the Humble had announced the intention of reducing its takings in the East Texas field 50 per cent.

Dry Curtis Invades Wet Stronghold

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 17. (AP)—Vice-President Curtis today opened the republican campaign in Pennsylvania by outlining for a large assemblage of party workers gathered at Fogelsville, near here, his plan for a national co-operative system of farm markets.

Two hours before Curtis arrived, the republican state committee adopted a platform advocating "immediate repeal of the Volstead Act" and "return to the states of the power to deal with the liquor question the Philadelphia city committee and tion."

As James M. Hazlett, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Republican Party, read the platform, the delegates burst into cheers. The plank declared that "conditions resulting from the 18th amendment and enforcement laws are intolerable."

Curtis declared "the general revival of business throughout the country is the best evidence that confidence is being gradually restored." Curtis confined himself to a prepared address on agriculture and the tariff.

Hoover Is Real Socialist, Says Fiery Jim Reed

CLAREMORE, Okla., Sept. 17. (AP)—Former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri charged in a speech here today that President Hoover has inaugurated "capitalistic socialism" in the United States "for the benefit of the great banks and trust companies."

Reed prefaced his declaration with the statement that the republicans have accused Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, the democratic presidential nominee, of "being tainted with socialism."

"I affirm that Hoover has established socialism in the United States," Reed told the league of wet liquor plank, the committee delegates burst into cheers. The plank declared that "conditions resulting from the 18th amendment and enforcement laws are intolerable."

Curtis declared "the general revival of business throughout the country is the best evidence that confidence is being gradually restored." Curtis confined himself to a prepared address on agriculture and the tariff.

to employ the resources of the government. It was intended that the benefits should come to the great, and not to the small. "If any part of the money shall really reach the ordinary citizen of the country, you may credit it to the Garner amendment."

WHEAT GAINS A LITTLE

CHICAGO, Sept. 17. (AP)—Despite downturns at times in sympathy with weakness on stocks and cotton, the wheat market today scored a little net gain.

Suggestions that Europe would be a good buyer of wheat next week if prices showed stability were somewhat responsive, reports that the Canadian pool had transferred its big holdings from October contracts to May had no apparent market effect.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to quarter, higher; corn 1/4-1/2 down; oats a shade to 1/2 off and provisions unchanged to 5 cents decline. Friends of higher prices for wheat professed to be specially encouraged by today's action of the market in the face of New York stock and cotton downturns as well as a decline in wheat prices at Liverpool.

Another handicap was an official report that domestic use of wheat during the 1932-33 season promised to be about 660,000,000 bushels compared with 723,000,000 in 1931-32. North American wheat export business today amounted to only 500,000 bushels all of it Canadian.

In the absence of any fresh export business in corn, a sagging tendency was shown both by corn and oats. Closing indemnities: Wheat: Dec. 52-52 1/2, 54-54 1/2; May 57 1/2-58, 59 1/2-59 1/2; corn—Dec. 29 1/2, 29 1/2; May 34-34 1/2.

LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 17. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Trade in cattle this week has shown a fairly active outlet for most fed steers and yearlings at generally strong to higher prices. Better grade steers of medium and heavy weight received the center of attraction and sold at unevenly 25-50 higher prices as compared with a week ago.

Chicago recorded the highest price since January when consignments of heavy bullocks sold up to 10.35. Several loads of better grade kinds at various markets cleared at 9.50-10.25. Most replacement steers sell at 7.75-8.00 with occasional loads of flashy feeders up to 7.00 or above. Receipts for the week at eleven markets totaled 221,110 as compared with 180,759 last week and 220,643 the same period a year ago.

St. Louis had a closing hog top of 4.45. Receipts for the week totaled 331,000 as compared with 342,998 last week and 348,796 a year ago. Lambs were considered unevenly steady to 50 lower with some instances of native lambs showing the full decline. Mature classes were generally steady while feeding lambs carried a rating of steady to 25 higher. Receipts totaled 428,700 for the week as compared with 412,410 last week and 615,297 the corresponding period a year ago.

STOCK MARKET CAUTIOUS
NEW YORK, Sept. 17. (AP)—Stocks lickered through a rather routine week-end session today. Net changes favored the downside but losses were small and it was apparent that caution was still the watchword in speculative quarters. Efforts to prod the general list into an advance through a flurry of buying in rails again failed to get very far, for industrials, as was the case yesterday, proved sluggish. Carriers moved up about 1 to 3 points during the first hour and into the second, but were unable to hold their gains and several finished lower. Sales totaled 724,520 shares, less business than had been done in the first half hour in some recent sessions. Carrier bonds continued fairly firm.

The freight loadings statement, covering the Labor day week, showed a drop of 37,903 cars from the previous week and a decline of approximately 25 per cent from a year ago. It was the sixth successive week in which the movement had registered a smaller percentage loss from 1931; at this time last year traffic was falling rapidly.

Steel buying continues small and some forecasters say they would not be surprised if the industry had to undergo some mild irregularity over the next fortnight unless the widely heralded "gains in sentiment" are translated into more sizeable buying orders. Much of Wall Street's

PROGRAM FOR PAMPA DAY PLANNED

A radio program by Pampa musicians on Friday evening will be among the features of Pampa day. Supt. R. B. Fisher will sing Longing (MacFadden) and A Tumbled Down Place (Thorpe), and Miss Eleanor Frey, violinist, will play The Serenade (Toselli) and To Spring (Grieg). Mrs. May Foreman Carr will accompany them, and will give a piano solo, Caprice Espagnol (Mowkowsky).

VIOLINIST TELLS OF TRIP

Miss Eleanor Frey, above, will make her first public appearance after her travels abroad Wednesday evening at the style revue to be staged at LaNora theater. Miss Frey, popular violinist, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Frey. She spent 15 months abroad, studying most of the time in the University at Goettingen and the conservatory at Kassel.

Pampa Girl Finds Folk In Germany Mannerly and Conservative; Spent Fifteen Months In Foreign Travel

Where persons are conservative, yet have political fervor, where men are mannerly and have good morals, yet are possessed with ease and grace, where the unemployed receive doles, yet the depression is one of the chief topics of conversation—that is Germany in the eyes of Miss Eleanor Frey, who has just returned after spending 15 months abroad, chiefly in Germany.

Miss Frey, a Pampa girl and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Frey, was accompanied to Germany by her parents, who returned to this country. Mrs. Frey went again to Germany this summer to make the return trip with her daughter.

One lives to learn, and Miss Frey had to live in Germany for some time before learning enough about the country and people to feel entirely at ease.

In the first place, there was the difficulty of language. To learn to "speak German" was not enough. Miss Frey had to become accustomed to the different accents existing in the various parts of the country. There is as much difference in the accent of those people, she said, as there is in the accents of New Yorkers and Southerners, and for one who is not well-versed in the German language, that naturally brings difficulty. But Miss Frey could understand some German, and most of the German people could understand a smattering of English, so to say the least, the Pampa girl "got along."

Boys "Very Nice" As for the boys, Miss Frey would not say whether or not she preferred them to the American boys, but she did declare that many of them were "very nice."

"The boys are moral, mannerly, and very polite—and they expect the girls to be the same," she said. Makes an Error Miss Frey confessed to one error made in Germany. It so happened that a German man with whom from the customs in America. An was quite silent, so she started a conversation. The man appeared insulted until he learned that in America it was perfectly all right for the conversation to be begun by the young lady—in Germany that wasn't done.

"The custom of the man opening the conversation during dancing is only one of the many which differ from the customs in America. "Another is that a lady, if she meets on the street a man with whom she is acquainted, must always have her right hand free so that she may shake hands with him. Even though she does not shake hands, she must have the right hand free. Books or other objects are transferred to her left hand if the lady sees the man approaching."

Instructors Strict Miss Frey found the professors very strict and their standards high during the time she studied violin at the university in Goettingen and the conservatory in Kassel. She found the people as a whole to be very quiet.

Depression was one of the chief topics of conversation, although the unemployed received small doles from the government. Politics also

Study Club Is To Gather For Lunch Thursday

A 1 o'clock luncheon in the home of Mrs. A. H. Doucette next Thursday will open this year's activities for the Child Study club. The club this year is headed by Mrs. W. J. Johns as president. The program will be on miscellaneous subjects, but included in each program will be topic on child training.

Organized in 1926, the Child Study club was federated the same year. Sweet pea is the official flower, and pastel shades, the colors.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar was president of the club during its first year, and all programs during that year were based on child training, with this motto: "If we plant the seed of truth we may leave the rest with God, for in due time the flower will unfold and the blossoms give place to fruit. All it needs is the sunning of olive and the dewdrops of patience and tenderness."

The second year, when Mrs. T. H. Barnard was president, the club studied the value of books to children "by enlarging a child's observation and desire for knowledge and feeling sympathy."

A study of physical culture and training held interest during the third year, when Mrs. S. A. Hurst was president. This was the motto: "It is not the knowledge we have but what we use that makes us useful."

Great American men, with consideration of their character and ideals, formed the basis for the fourth year's study. Mrs. Joe Smith being president. The basic thought of the year was in the statement that "the small things we understand day by day become great if we comprehend them year by year."

Mrs. A. H. Doucette was president during the fifth year, when a study was made of the fine arts, including drama, literature, sculpture, and music. "The sense of fitness which makes the fine arts fine makes everyday life finer every day it is used," the group pointed out.

"Put God First" Urges B. B. Crimm Friday Evening

"The Highway to Heaven," has been announced as B. B. Crimm's subject for this afternoon's sermon and "Why be a Christian or prepare to meet God?" is this evening's subject.

The evangelist, who is conducting a tabernacle revival on W. Kingsmill, spoke Friday evening on "Putting God First." He declared that God, in wanting people to put him first did not mean to discourage economy, industry, and thrift.

"Attention must be paid to some things of life, but life is so brief it is essential to put God first," he declared, and continued:

"I would rather have a full life than a long life. Political fame avails nothing, riches do not pay. Today one is rich, tomorrow broke. The sensible thing to do is to put God first and let the things of the world take care of themselves with his aid. The only worthwhile thing is the religion of Jesus Christ. The tracks one makes in the business and professional world soon spoil-ed out by time, but those things we accumulate from God's standpoint are eternal. Life is doing something for God and others."

Money Is Given To Aid Veterans

The money will be used to expand the activities of the Legion's national rehabilitation committee in Washington, D. NOTICE—It is not the intention of this newspaper to cast reflection upon the character of anyone knowingly and if through error it should, the management will appreciate having attention called to same, and will gladly and fully correct any erroneous statement made.

FOOTBALL IN PAMPA is a subject well nigh as important as a new railroad, if we are to judge by the intensity and universality of the interest. The Harvester record in Class A football is something to arouse pride. This year will probably be no exception.

It is true that the Harvesters have few backfield regulars and that the precision which goes with experience may be lacking in early games. But the other schools of Texas football fear Mitchell-coached teams. Pampa has a fight and dash that makes the "dope" of relatively little value. By mid-season many of the old stars will be forgotten and new names will be on the tongues of the fans.

The boys are making progress in their training. They are learning things they never before knew, taking steps, blocking, tackling, kicking with opportunities never before theirs. They need time, patience, and the confidence of the fans. In saying they will make good, we do so mindful of the fact that Class A District 1 football is as hard as the state affords. Other teams likewise are snapping into form.

Amarillo is rather widely ranked at the top in Texas on the basis of past performances and a wealth of experienced material. Lubbock, like Pampa, is still well up in the list but among the doubtful until a few games are played. We would not be surprised to see the Sandies drop a game to either Pampa or Lubbock. We would not be surprised to see Pampa defeat Amarillo, at Amarillo. That game isn't won on paper. The Harvesters will play the Sandies, and that means a whole of a battle. We believe the present Harvesters will fight just as hard as their predecessors. And Pampa always backs the Harvesters to the limit.

There have been the usual bear raids on Harvester stock. The drought of graduation made coaches and fans alike feel blue. On paper, there is still a bearish element. No Pampa coach will feel overconfident in any Class A game. No player should feel that anything but his "level best" will suffice. But the boys are training hard under a clever coach. They are Pampa fighters. Bulls are in the Harvester fold, the stock is GOING UP. Beat Lubbock. WHIP AMARILLO!

Penniless Children. While we are thinking of the young folk, let us not forget the penniless children who need food, clothing, and school supplies. Think what penniless means. In this land of plenty, where destruction of a third of some crops is advocated to appease the lesser gods of marketing, it is pathetic that thousands of children do not have the pennies with which to buy pencils—penny pencils.

We record here the gift of a dollar to the school supply fund by Mrs. D. A. Finkelstein. More donations will be in order throughout the school term. Those who can give even a little to the needy, and especially the needy children, should be happy in doing so.

The Primary System. Dissatisfaction with the expense of the Texas primary system and with the admitted illegal voting has revived the demand for a return to the convention system of nominating state candidates. It is claimed that if every county would send capable delegates to nominating conventions their choices would be superior to the mass vote, which is often moved by misinformation and prejudice.

There is no doubt that in states which have the two-party competition the convention plan is likely to put the best candidates in the field. The old charge that the "interests" controlled conventions would be raised, although it might be said in rebuttal that only a wealthy candidate can adequately cover Texas in a campaign. The NEWS would welcome letters from readers relative to the respective merits of the convention and the primary systems of nominating state candidates.

We may add, facetiously, that another way to nominate would be to have the newspaper take straw polls a la Literary Digest.

The Poll Tax Again. The Literary Digest ascertains, from reading newspapers, that the jobless of ten states will be deprived of their voting privilege through sheer poverty, being unable to pay the required poll tax. The assumption of many of the disenfranchised may be that they are deprived of the opportunity of doing anything about their economic condition.

On the other hand, those who fear the vote of the jobless will continue to insist on high poll taxes. The irony of it all is that the jobless persons of this period represent no stratum of society, but rather almost every classification of human activity. There is nothing in the constitution, moreover, which indicates the desirability of limiting the franchise to those with property qualifications or even the $1.75 such as Texas charges for the privilege. There should be some way of limiting voting to persons well informed enough to know the issues involved and the worth, if any, of promises made.

Safe and Sound. Jobless men, harassed merchants, thoughtful professional men are not in agreement with Cal Coolidge, white-wash expert, that Herbert Hoover is "safe and sound." We agree with the former president that Mr. Hoover is the best man to lead the republican party. Where we differ is on the proposition that the republican party is the one to lead the nation in the future.

Mr. Hoover represents security for big business, as big business understands security. Experience of the last ten years should have taught, however, that security

POLITICS IS LIKE THAT!

LAY SERMON FOR PARENTS, TEACHERS PUPILS AND COMMUNITY

School has taken up again. Our humble advice is for pupils to leave off every weight and hindrance and study as hard as they can and make good use of their time. School is not a play time. It is a time that should be devoted to study. Nothing should be allowed to interfere with school duties. Intensive work should be done. The things that distract the attention from lessons are a detriment, not a help.

Time is valuable. If little folks and middle sized folks and big folks were made to feel the importance of school time, it might be the means of turning out a better product at the end of the school year. Just getting by is not a good record. Creating an ambition to go ahead is a part that every teacher should seriously consider—and this phase of teaching is not found in books. If a pupil is a drone and not a worker, sting him and either wake him up or give him some other work that will make him respond.

School days are the foundation laying days of life. Parrotting ideas is not what school is for. School is for mind training. As all minds do not have the same trend, it is worse than useless to try to apply all rules to all pupils. Each individual needs a rule that is personal and not general. But with so many children penned up in the school room, there is no time for truly individual tutoring. Therefore, it often happens that some pupils start off wrong in the first lessons at the beginning of school and are never able to quite grasp what it is all about—and lose interest and become troublesome before the year is over.

One rotten apple may spoil a whole box of apples. Home surroundings have much to do with the success or failure of children in their school work. Noise, confusion, parties, late hours, and irregular meals are not calculated to help children who are in school. Mothers and fathers are directly responsible for the home life into which the children enter. Food and sleep are the two things that are absolutely essential.

A cream cone is not enough for any child's lunch. And being up beyond the hour for natural health-giving sleep is not calculated to fit any child for school duties.

Regular meals and early to bed should be the rule in every home where there are school children. If there is an exception to the early to bed rule, it should be Saturday night.

Nothing during the week should take the pupils from their school duties.

And if there is occasion for a few pupils to go to other places, parents should go with the pupils and look after them and their well being.

Running about hither and yon is certainly not good for the mental, moral or spiritual growth of a child—whether that child is ten or teens.

Parents should talk things over with the teacher, not the child because the child is not a good judge. If the teacher is fit to hold the important trust in the school, then give the teacher a chance.

Children reflect home training. Honesty, truthfulness and good morals are just as essential at home as in school.

A clean tongue at home will help to create a clean tongue at school.

Little thefts at home are sure to result in little thefts—and bigger ones—in school.

Therefore, home is the first place to begin to teach character building.

Take an interest in your child and his school problems. But do not do the child's problems for him.

As he meets his school problems, so he will meet life later on after school days are over.

Start the children out right by having a doctor go over them with a thorough examination. A child can not do good work in school that is handicapped by physical defects that may be remedied by a little thoughtfulness on the part of parents.

And last, but by no means least, start the children off to school in a good humor. Remember that your little frets and scolding and nagging or criticism at home are that much toward making your child a failure in school.—HIGGINS NEWS.

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE

The public can have its choice of a confusing variety of opinions as to the full meaning of the democratic gains in the Maine election, but on one point everybody agrees in substantial agreement.

It is that the returns give viable testimony that a compact, determined and hopeful democratic organization has been at work in Maine and means to continue at work everywhere between now and November.

It is not easy, in a state which has been going for one party regularly and overwhelmingly, to get the voters of the opposition party really interested. The republicans know that from long experience in the south.

The democratic effort in Maine demonstrated that democratic leaders do not intend to let anything go by default as they have done, to all intents and purposes, in some past campaigns.

Room For Dispute

Since only local officials were voted for, the politicians have room for dispute as to how far the Maine figures can be considered a valid poll of strength between Hoover and Roosevelt. Beyond this is a disagreement as to how much polls taken this far in advance amount to, anyway.

To a noticeable degree the present democratic optimism appears to be based on what is taken in widely-scattered sections. Governor Roosevelt himself recently remarked publicly that these polls indicated democratic victory in November.

Of course there are elements involved in poll taking which frequently discount the value of the results. Sometimes it matters greatly who is taking the poll. Sometimes sentiment changes rapidly after the poll is completed. So the democrats will continue to work at top speed, no matter how encouraged they may be by early nose-counting.

In some instances this year poll-takers have found a marked reluctance by voters to express any preference at all. In one case only a small fraction of those circled responded. Whatever this may mean, it gives no joy to political planners.

Business Rally Cited

On the republican side the recent upturn of morale appears to center largely around the business rally, reflected politically by an improvement in campaign contributions.

One republican stalwart who said six months ago he did not know where to turn to raise campaign money now has reported that he hopes to raise $200,000 in his section. That is only a small part of what he collected in the same territory four years ago, but the interesting thing is the basis of his expectations.

He reported that certain small merchants and manufacturers, encouraged by business conditions, now were willing to make moderate contributions. He expects this attitude of mind to induce these same business men to embark on expansion, increasing employment, and that the men given jobs will vote for Hoover.

That line of reasoning, too, may be open to question. Even if it is correct, a prominent democratic publisher recently has pointed out that as many as a million can be given work and still leave several times that number unemployed.

Will Fight To End

Thus each side is able to dispute the basis on which the other side is resting its optimism at the present stage.

The one unescapable conclusion from the Maine returns and all of the other factors is that both sides are preparing to put everything they have into the fight, right up to the last minute that the last voting booth remains open on November 8.

ABOUT THE NEW ARTIST—MABEL PUGH.

Miss Mabel Pugh, illustrator of Julia Davis Adams' "REMEMBER AND FORGET", a romance for older girls, says that she began her study of art at Peace Institute in Raleigh, N. C., under Ruth Huntington Moore, then went on to New York to study with the Art Student's League. Later she attended the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts at Philadelphia where she won the Cresson traveling scholarship.

rests not in tariffs and governmental subsidies, but in the purchasing power of the nation and of the world. The south and west have interests so far from those of the east and portions of the north that only a liberal government can suffice. If any major party can satisfy this need, it is the democratic party. Frankly, no party can live on the policies which have dominated national activities of the last decade. A democratic victory may mean a lease of life for both parties; a republican victory would probably mean the junking of the party; a republican victory would probably mean the junking of the party system as we now know it.

displayed in all material that pertains to the Southwest, we are reviewing this "old" book both because time has not worn its value, and because of frequent requests concerning questions on this publication which we have had.

More than four hundred years ago, we are told, the Great Southwest was the seat of one "quixotic" after another that vainly chased his dream, ever hoping to find the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow, the Seven Cities of Cibola, or perhaps the home of the Gilded King, El Dorado.

Coronado was lured across the seas by the faint echoes of these tales, and set out party after party in search of the yellow wealth. No one had ever actually seen this golden realm, but there were stories—maps—above all, hopes! So men suffered untold privations, endured one hardship after another, spent the lives of hundreds of men, and squandered vast coffers of money in vain quest.

Coronado died, but these tales survived, and his spirit appeared in his descendants as they continued just such a pursuit, a glorious delusion.

So engrossed were these seekers down through the generations that they were quite oblivious of the four centuries that slipped softly by. Now today, Coronado's children, ever faithful to the purpose, are just as certain of eventual success as were their fore-fathers—and just as enthusiastic over the stories that have been handed down to them.

J. Frank Dobie's book, "CORONADO'S CHILDREN," is a collection of these tales of buried treasure, lakes of gold, lost mines, and bewitched cities, that according to tradition are scattered over the southwestern part of the United States; mainly in Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona. The author, who at present holds a professorship at the University of Texas, was born and raised in the heart of this mystic region, and has lived with "Coronado's children." He is widely known for the degree of success with which he has heretofore handled the gathering and publishing of these legends and traditions of the Southwest.

To be sure, the book is written about a rather removed portion of this nation of ours, by one of its native sons, but it is in no sense local or provincial. Its theme has just as universal an appeal as would any novel or biography in which the scene was laid in some particular spot. Moreover, the body of these tales is clothed in direct, interesting, forestal style that makes the reading of them valuable as well as enjoyable.

"CORONADO'S CHILDREN" is a notable book, regardless of the field of comparison, but within its own class of literature, that deals with adventure, "historical myths," and illusion, it is a treasure itself.

It is possible that more people know less about radio than any other great activity which touches their lives so often and so intimately," says J. P. McEvoy. His new novel, "Are You Listening?" (Houghton Mifflin Company), takes the radio listener into the studio; it shows him how broadcasts are written, cast, rehearsed and played; the machinery of creation and promotion; how the advertiser's support is enlisted; down to the last detail of the making of sound effects. In addition, there is a wide variety of typical programs in the book, satirized to be sure, but basically correct to the smallest detail. In the latter part of the book, the police methods of radio equipped squad cars, of short wave broadcasting, etc., will give many readers their first inside glimpse of the current modern methods of crime detection and criminal pursuit now used in the principal cities of the United States.

STANLEY BABB, literary editor of the Galveston NEWS, writes that he is enthusiastic about Will Levitt's "COMFORTS—THE PILOT COMES ABOARD." He says: "This really is a very fine novel, easily comparable to the novels of William McFee, and by long odds one of the finest sea novels published by any American novelist in years! It is the nearest thing to a modern Moby Dick that I know of, even though there is no White Whale and no

Captain Ahab in its pages. Having made a number of voyages on merchant ships, having the captain of a West Indian freighter as my best friend, and being quite familiar with the literature of the sea, I know what I am talking about when I say that Comfort has written a really excellent novel!"

MARY AUSTIN, in commenting on the same novel, has the following to say: "I am immensely pleased with the copy of Mr. Comfort's last book, 'THE PILOT COMES ABOARD.' It is not only an interesting story, but is a vast relief in its direct realism from the sort of thing that has been passing as realism in America. I am gratified to see Mr. Comfort making good headway."

As a revelation that a king of finance can have an interest aside from money bags, this little story is rather illuminating. We ordinarily assume that a man like Rothschild must be a monkish gentleman whose veins run ice water and who can interest himself in nothing that does not bear the sign of the dollar or the pound sterling.

This scientific study of South American fleas, then, comes as a shock. An odd hobby for a rich man to have? Perhaps, but a useful one, just the same, and one that betokens an active, cultured mind.

It sometimes seems as if you can tell more about a man by his hobby than by his profession. A man can slip into a job more or less by accident, and through force of circumstance can stay in it all his life when there are other things he would rather do. But his hobby—that is his own choice, and he can change it any time he pleases.

And this story about one of the world's richest men makes one wonder: if things had happened just a little differently, might England not have one less financier and one more scientist?

A feminine columnist advocates that married men wear rings on their thumbs—just as if they hadn't been wearing 'em in their noses all the time.

HOBBIES AND OURSELVES

The name of Rothschild is one of those names that mean important money. Like Rockefeller, Mellon and Morgan, it stands for finance and the power of finance. So when Lord Rothschild was listed as a speaker at a recent meeting of a British scientific association, everybody stood by for a heavy speech about the world depression and what not.

But Lord Rothschild, without cracking a smile, got up and made a speech which began as follows:

"The queerest looking fleas yet discovered originated in South America. They are found only there and in a modified form in Australia. The only explanation that is at all satisfactory is the assumption that at one time there was a bridge between South America and Australia."

And he went on to deliver a scholarly scientific speech that did not have the faintest relation to finance, trade or industry.

Unusual Statue of Lincoln Is Unveiled

FORT WAYNE, IND., Sept. 17. (AP)—A new, different statue of Abraham Lincoln was unveiled here today, a likeness of Lincoln at 21, a stalwart Indiana frontiersman unburdened by his country's problems.

The figure leans against an oak stump, axe at side, oak in hand and a hound dog yelping nearby.

Twenty-two feet tall, the statue in bronze fills a vacancy that had existed in artists' and sculptors' likenesses of the emancipator.

It is the work of Paul Marquise, New York sculptor and was cast at Brussels, Belgium.

Arkansas Mob Lynchers Negro

CROSSETT, Ark., Sept. 17 (AP)—A negro accused of stealing a $10 bill was taken from jail, lynched and his body left dangling from a pole in the business section here Thursday a few minutes after he slashed the throat of a guard in an attempt to escape.

The negro, Frank Tucker, 24, arrested on a charge of trying to steal from a bank teller's window, was under guard by Deputy Sheriff Henry Reed, 39, in the city hall awaiting hearing when he whipped out a razor and demanded the guard's run.

Reed tried to draw his weapon but the negro slashed at his throat, inflicting a long cut, and ran out of the building. He was captured by bystanders and placed in jail. Reed was taken to a hospital where only slight hope for his recovery was held.

An angry crowd quickly gathered about the jail, overpowered the keeper, took the keys from him and dragged Tucker from his cell. The negro was hanged directly in front of the jail.

Nothing Venture

by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS: The tragedy of Nan's first kiss from Jervis is that she feels it was given lightly. Everything is wrong; Jervis demands proof that her father is Nigel Forsyth, famous explorer, and believes she has mercenary motives in accusing Robert Leonard of murderous designs upon Jervis. Nan sends proof to her cruel husband, the letters wet with her tears.

CHAPTER 24 FIRST OVERTURES

Jervis sorted out the letters Nan had sent him, and read them through. They were the rather stiff letters which a man writes to children with whom he has no other than a formal relation.

I hope you and Cynthia are doing well at school. There's nothing like a good grounding. Your aunt says Cynthia is very backward and does not try to learn. I am very sorry to hear this. You will both have to earn your living some day, as I have nothing to leave you. Life out here is precarious.

Jervis had a tenderness for children. He frowned at the letter as he read it. It was dated July, 1919. Nan would have been eleven. Good Lord! What an exhilarating letter for a kid of eleven to get from a father on the other side of the world! It must have been about the last letter he wrote her too.

He turned to another: My Dear Nan: I have had your letter, and the snapshots of you and Cynthia. In answer to your questions — you are not at all like your mother. I am afraid you take after my side of the family. Your mother was very lovely, and everyone loved her. She took love and admiration as a right. Cynthia has a look of her.

And the letters were signed in the same way: Your affectionate father, NIGEL FORSYTH. Somehow Jervis found them pathetic. Outside of the signature there was not much affection in them. He got a picture of the man, worried and without an idea of what to do with two little girls in America.

And he had a picture of the child who had hoarded these letters—a child who wanted to be like her beautiful mother, and wasn't; who had to shoulder the responsibility which Nigel Forsyth was laying down. It was Nan, obviously who had to placate "your aunt," to manage Cynthia, and to bear in mind that she had got to earn her own living. He was prepared to bet that she had to earn Cynthia's living too.

He stood listening at the door between his room and Nan's, and then knocked upon it. There was no answer. And yet he was quite sure she was not asleep; he had a feeling that the whole room was waiting to hear him knock again. Instead, he tried the handle, and found, as he expected, that the bolt was fastened on the other side.

As the handle moved with a faint creaking sound, he heard the soft padding of feet and the merest ghost of a growl. Next instant Bran was snuffing at the crack.

He knocked again, a good deal louder, and became aware of a movement that was not made by Bran. It was a very soft, inaudible movement. It suggested to him that Nan was sitting up in bed—putting back the bed-clothes—slowly allowing Bran pushed against the panel and snuffed the key-hole.

With lips against the crack, Jervis said, "Nan—are you awake?" She said "Yes," in a whisper. It was an uneven whisper, and it told him for certain that she had been crying.

"I didn't mean to wake you." "There was no answer to this." "I've brought your letters." Again no answer.

He knew that she was leaning against the door. He heard her hand slip on the panel, but she did not speak. He wondered why her hand had moved. It was not to open the door.

An impatience of her silence gave him a touch of bravado. "I've come to ratify the apology. Aren't you going to open the door?" She said "No,"—or he thought that she said "No." Afterwards he wondered whether her silence had said it for him.

"Won't you open the door and take the letters?" Nan had wept until she could weep no more. Those scalding tears seemed to have washed everything away, like a flood that obliterated all landmarks and leaves behind it an even desolation. There had been a moment when she could have killed Jervis for that light kiss. The hot rage was gone. There had been a moment when she could have flung herself into his arms; and that too, was gone. There remained a grey, desolate loneliness, and she was very tired.

She was not sure whether she had spoken when Jervis asked her to open the door. Bran pressed close to her in the dark, and when his warmth touched her she knew that she was cold.

Her silence and the darkness touched Jervis with a vague apprehension. He had come into his room without switching on the light. The windows stood wide, and uncurtained, and there came from them a faint, dusky half light in which the accustomed furnishings of the room took on a strange aspect. The sky beyond the windows was pale with the rising moon.

LEGION VOTE INTERPRETED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (AP)—Jouett Shouse, president of the association against the prohibition amendment in a statement today said the American Legion's adoption of a resolution favoring repeal of the 18th amendment "is striking evidence of the remarkable recent progress of the repeal cause."

DROUGHT NEAR FLOOD

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 17 (AP)—It may be just a joke to some people but it's a real tragedy to those who care—the recent Rio Grande flood is causing a drought in Matamoros, across the river from here.

waked up and did not quite know where he was. He said, in a changed voice, "Are you all right?" And this time he heard her say, "Yes," and he heard Bran push against the door.

Nan straightened herself a little. They could not stand here like this. It would be better to open the door and take her letters—only she couldn't do it. If she opened the door, he would know that she had been crying. No—he had no light in his room; there was not the faintest thread of light at the foot of the door.

Why were they standing like this in the dark with the door between them? She had no strength to go away. She leaned against the cold panel, and very faintly her lonely desolation felt the stir of a desire that he should speak, that he should go on speaking; because when she heard his voice she did not feel quite so dreadfully alone.

His voice came to her through the panel. "What is the matter?" She drew a breath that returned in a sigh. "Nothing." "Nothing."

"Then won't you open the door?" A little warmth crept up in her. She had cried for such a long time. It would be nice to make friends. She was very tired. She put up her hand and slipped back the bolt, and at once she was afraid.

The door opened into Jervis's room. As he turned the handle, Bran threw all his weight against it and plunged joyfully through the opening, mouthing Jervis and butting him with his head. Nan could see him, huge and black against the three pale windows on the far side of the room. She could see Jervis too, tall and black. Bran ran back to her, whining.

She stood quite still where she was, and Jervis took a step forward as far as the threshold and stretched out his hand with the letters in it. He did not cross the threshold, and when she had taken the letters he stepped back. Then he said in a constrained tone, "I've read them. I'm sorry for what I said. I'd no business to say it."

Nan put the hand with the letters to her breast. Her hand was cold, and the letters were cold. She did not speak. All at once Jervis said, "Good-night." He stepped back and shut the door.

Nan finds, Monday, a good friend and a potent ally.

VON PAPEN'S U. S. RECORD IS ATTACKED

Construction of New Battleship Is Ordered

BERLIN, Sept. 17 (AP)—The admiralty today ordered the keel to be laid October 1 for Germany's third "pocket battleship," to be known for the present as "Armored Ship C."

The order followed closely the dispatch of a letter Thursday to Arthur Henderson, president of the world disarmament conference at Geneva, which was unofficially reported to contain notice that Germany would set in the disarmament deliberations no longer unless her claims for arms equality were recognized.

The new battleship was budgeted during the regime of former Chancellor Heinrich Brüning as part of the government's program "for replacing obsolesces."

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung said Friday, referring to the order to begin construction of the new ship, that "since Geneva produced no practical results, the government ordered the work to begin."

The record of Chancellor Franz von Papen in the United States during the world war when his recall was requested by the American government for his activities while military attaché of the German embassy was cast into the political broil here today by Joseph Goebbels, lieutenant of Adolf Hitler, Nazi leader.

The recall of von Papen and Capt. Karl Boy-Ed was requested by secretary Lansing in 1915 in connection with what were called improper activities regarding military and naval matters and also on the charge they were connected with certain persons who had been under suspicion.

Goebbels, in a speech at a meeting at the Sportpalast Thursday, attacked the chancellor for these activities and also for his alleged recent efforts to conclude a Franco-German military alliance.

"When the chancellor was in the United States he had a book containing the names of those who served Germany's cause," Goebbels said. "He lost it, with the result that many Germans went to penitentiaries for many years."

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

By ROBBINS COONS
HOLLYWOOD—As if Hollywood hadn't rumors and gossip enough of its own, the outside world daily sends in a bumper crop of hearsay which usually amuses but often alarms the stars it concerns.

So many times such stories can be traced, but not often. They arise from unknown sources, and come to light only when some fan writes in to ascertain their verity, or when, in the case of more serious affairs, newspapermen are asked to check their authenticity.

Stories range from reports of the death of some star to another—Wallace Beery, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Greta Garbo have been among those named in such erroneous rumors—to trivial inaccuracies about the personal lives and affairs of the screen's pets.

No Wig For Ann

"Is it true that your blond hair isn't real, and that you wear a wig?" Ann Harding was amazed to read one day in a fan letter, "and was a childish fright of flood the reason you now live on a high hill in Hollywood?"

Warner Baxter rarely sings in films, but when he is supposed to vocalize, it's his own voice you hear, not a double's. Yet the story of a singing double bobs up now and then, out of nowhere.

Ricardo Cortez is a capable horseman, but one fan relayed the gossip that all photographs of Cortez on a horse were really double exposures because he couldn't ride at all.

Engagement Rumors

Hollywood recurrently is having Lovetts young engaged to every man with whom she is seen in public, but Hollywood isn't the only gossip-creator. Stories of her engagement to this or that actor come in from fans, too—in many cases her fiancé being someone she never has met.

Joel McCrea, whose physique is a screen asset, not only is endowed with mythical loves but is accused of having fake muscles applied by make-up men whenever he steps before the camera.

Queries like that come into Hollywood with every mail.

PRODUCTION GAINS

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 17 (AP)—The Tulsa World says Oklahoma crude oil production increased this week from 394,650 barrels daily to 397,350 barrels, and that Kansas production likewise showed a small increase from 96,850 barrels to 97,464 barrels daily.

Jack Burnett, University of Mississippi track star, will play in the backfield of the football team.

Comedian Kings Star In LaNora Picture Today

Buster Keaton will be seen at the La Nora theater starting today in "Speak Easily," a riotous story of a college professor who inherits close to a million dollars and becomes a theatrical producer. An all-comedy cast supports the star, including the inimitable Jimmy "Schnozle" Durante, Ruth Selwyn, Thelma Todd, Hedda Hopper, William Pawley, Sidney Toler, Lawrence Grant, Henry Armetta and Edward Brophy.

"Speak Easily," which is based on the Clarence Buddington Kelland story, "Footlights," was selected as Keaton's newest vehicle because of its unlimited opportunity for humorous gags, amusing dialogue and rapid-fire comedy action. The fun begins when Keaton with his newly acquired fortune forsakes the uneventful routine of academic life and starts out to see the world, meeting on the way a theatrical troupe which is stranded in a country town and is on the verge of "folding up."

The professor is so charmed by one of the show's dancers that he ventures to back this dubious theatrical enterprise, and moreover is so confident of its success that he brings it to New York, where the show opens with not a single person in the audience. It is not until Keaton becomes embroiled in a series of amazing adventures in which crooks, blackmailers and a fortune-hunting actress have a prominent part, that the show ultimately receives the publicity which makes it a sensational hit.

Many of the laughs in "Speak Easily" occur when Keaton unwittingly finds himself in the center of the stage and almost blunders the entire show into ruin. Needless to say, "Schnozle" Durante, as a piano player, also has a great deal to do with the hilarity of the proceedings and even introduces some new songs, including "The Greeks Got Two Words for It" and "I Can Do Without Broadway, but Can Broadway Do Without Me." The picture was directed by Edward Sedgwick, who has been associated with most of Keaton's previous pictures, including "The Passionate Plumber," "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath" and "Doughboys."
