CONTEST TRIAL MAY BE AVOIDED

Flood Greater Than Recent One Forecast For Lower Valley

Improving business: Richmond—the re-drying plant of the Export Leaf Tobacco company, idle for more than a year, has resumed operations with its normal employment of 400 men.

Mr. Garner, after many years in congress, is suddenly learning from the republicans that he is a radical. That will be news to the constituents who thought he was just a hard-working Texan who could be depended upon to get the job done with a minimum of red tape.

The farmers give us lots of worry with their problems, but at least they don't claim to be jobless.

The dignity of the "ins" is not hard to understand this year. And Mr. Hoover won't make many speeches before a heckling electorate, either. Somebody might want to coax him away from his manuscript long enough to ask him a few pertinent questions.

The oil business is unusually in trouble, but every town near a wildcat well is simply aching for oil troubles.

Night football is probably one of the things we can do without, but it's a cinch that Harvester park should be lighted for night sports as soon as possible.

Many students have taken cows to college to support them financially. That is going back to the more natural way of living. Straying far from the fields, congregating in cities to live on artificialities, no wonder we have developed miscalculations which threaten our form of government.

I. A. Freeman submits the following "True Sayings": A smile makes work easier. A smile will help to oil life's bearings.

The truth never hurts, but lies are painful. Before criticizing others, think of your own faults.

Do you very best today and don't worry about tomorrow.

It doesn't cost anything to laugh once in a while; it makes the going easier.

Don't feel discouraged too easily, the goal worth reaching isn't reached easily.

After all there is no substitute for results.

If you think your troubles are greater than the next fellow's, first find out if the next fellow's troubles aren't greater than yours.

There is no law that can make prosperity. It takes bulldog determination and untiring efforts with a few brains and brawn mixed in.

When every thing seems to have gone wrong and you think every thing is against you and you feel blue and to the point of despair, get off to yourself, gaze into the heavens, and offer up a little prayer. See if your troubles do not diminish to a great extent.

Laughter is balm to the soul. Laugh and every one about you will laugh. A grouch never attains much.

Train yourself to be popular at home. The man who is loved by his wife, his children, the cat, the dog, and his neighbors is greater than the man who has had his name in Who's Who.

INDIAN PLAN WELCOME

PAWUSKA, Okla., Sept. 30 (P)—Oklahoma Indians will don tribal paint and feathers and salute a distinguished kinsman—Vice President Charles Curtis here tomorrow. The Kaw tribe, of which Mr. Curtis is a member, will be joined by the Osages and Pawnees in welcoming the vice-president when he arrives for a campaign speech.

A parade, barbecue and stampede are on the program.

TO HIT AREA SOUTH OF RIO GRANDE CITY

WARNING IS SENT OUT BY WEATHER BUREAU

RIVER IS RISING RAPIDLY

CREST TO REACH CITY IN FOUR OR FIVE DAYS

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 30. (P)—

The Brownsville weather bureau issued a flood warning which said "water in sight in the Rio Grande at Rio Grande City this morning will cause a flood from there on down during the next one to four days about equal to, if not greater, in area and height of stages to the flood earlier this month, with levees and floodways functioning similarly."

"Caution is advised to safeguard lives and property in areas where levees are known to be weak and might give way. There will also be considerable rise in the Rio Grande at and below Laredo during the next 24 to 48 hours."

River stages announced by the bureau gave the Hidalgo gauge at 17 feet, a rise of 2.8 foot during the night. The stage at Rio Grande City was announced at 29.7 feet, a rise of 5.6 feet during the night. At Mercedes the river stood at 21.6 feet and at Brownsville, 18.3 feet, no rise having been registered at either point.

Water already was reported flowing from the Rio Grande into the south floodway near McAllen and was inundating sections of the first flat lands in that section as it crept through the 100-foot levee break

Father of Mrs. Brunow Dies in Local Hospital

Lemuel Newman Smithers, 73, West Texas pioneer, and father of Mrs. V. E. von Brunow of Pampa, died at 9 o'clock this morning in a local hospital. He underwent a dangerous operation Sunday. Direct causes of his death were shock and a hemorrhage suffered in the early part of the week.

Funeral services will be held at the First Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock under the direction of G. C. Malone funeral home with the Rev. C. E. Lancaster in charge. Burial will follow in Pampa cemetery.

Mr. Smithers for several years has lived with his wife at Farmington, N. M. He sought to renew his health at Hot Springs, N. M., and two weeks ago came to Pampa for an operation.

Death has visited the family of Mrs. Brunow twice in the last two weeks. A brother, Arthur, died at Amarillo, September 14.

Mr. Smithers is survived by his widow, two sisters, Mrs. Gus Goethardt of San Antonio and Mrs. Henry Waldrop of Los Angeles, California; four children, Glenn and Roy Smithers of Phoenix, Ariz., Claude Smithers of Amarillo and Mrs. von Brunow of Pampa.

Mr. Smithers was born at Seguin, Texas, when a young man he and Miss Laura Sowell, niece of Andrew Jackson Sowell, Alamo survivor and famed historian of early days in Texas, were married. He was one of the first white ranchers of Kent and Garza county. He and his family lived near Pampa for many years.

I HEARD--

George Limerick, manager of the La Nora theater, declare that Back Street had the biggest run of any picture shown here during the last several months. "The large crowds were due entirely to Pampa NEWS advertising and stories, not a bill being distributed," George declared.

Hoover Was Greatest Spender in Peace Times, Is Claim

BOARD ROOSEVELT SPECIAL
EN ROUTE TO MILWAUKEE,
Sept. 30. (P)—Governor Roosevelt yesterday crossed Iowa, the birthplace of President Hoover, his rival for the presidency, whose administration is accused in a Sioux City speech of being the greatest spending administration in peace times in all of our history."

The special train of the democratic candidate, on the last lap of its 8,900-mile journey through the middle and far west, was scheduled to reach Milwaukee at 10 p. m.

Roosevelt, speaking at the stockyards baseball park last night in Sioux City, discussed taxes, the tariff and mortgages and their relationship to farmer relief.

"We are not getting an adequate return for the money we are spending in Washington," the nominee told the crowd.

The administration, he adds, "has piled bureau on bureau commission on commission and has failed to anticipate the dire needs or reduced earning power of the people. Bureaus and bureaucrats have been retained at the expense of the taxpayer."

HARVESTERS WIN GAME 26-0

Despite a soggy, muddy field, Clevis, N. M., Wildcats were easy victims of a horde of fighting Harvesters this afternoon. The final score was 26 to 0.

Coach Mitchell shot his entire squad into the fray and it was clear that he has two good teams. Capt. Jim Pool carried the brunt of the attack, and crashed thru for two of the Harvesters' touch-downs.

The Harvesters made 22 first downs to 4 for Clevis.

VENUES DRAWN

Special venues were being drawn today for two trials to be held during the current 12-week term of 31st district court. There will be 60 men in each venue.

Light Installed At Rail Crossing

A big flood-light, located on a stop-sign on Ripley street at the railroad crossing in West Pampa, has been installed to warn motorists of the sharp turn.

The sign has been washed and is easily visible for 3,000 feet west on the Amarillo highway. The spot has been the scene of a number of accidents. It is no longer necessary for a motorist to have good lights to see the sign.

BELIEVE MISSING OKLAHOMA BANKER WHO THURSDAY CAME HOME WAS AMNESIA VICTIM

DOHERTY UNDER BOND, TOO ILL TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

BURLINGTON, Okla., Sept. 30. (P)—Home after a mysterious two weeks disappearance, Henry C. Doherty, Burlington banker, today was under $2,500 bond on embezzlement charges.

A warrant was served last night on the banker, ill at his home, and the bond immediately approved by County Judge H. W. Wright, who accompanied Sheriff W. A. Carlisle here from Cherokee, the county seat.

Doherty's physician said the banker was "unable to answer questions."

His brother, J. M. Doherty, of Wichita, Kan., said "he came home late Wednesday night" and that he could not tell where he had been.

Embezzlement charges were filed Tuesday against Doherty, who vanished Sept. 16 on a trip to Dumas, Tex., with the announced purpose of attempting to collect on notes due the bank. The institution was forced to close Sept. 20 for lack of cash.

State Bank Examiner W. H. Ingram filed the charges alleging embezzlement of two notes for $2,800 and $225. The notes were against Joseph Zehr, Dumas, Tex., farmer.

Fears for Doherty's safety previously were aroused by discovery of his abandoned car in Cleveland county and a cryptic note to the owner of Doherty's automobile license tag number mailed to the state highway department.

Arraigned late yesterday while in bad, Doherty pleaded not guilty to the charge, mumbling "there's nothing to it."

The special train of the democratic candidate, on the last lap of its 8,900-mile journey through the middle and far west, was scheduled to reach Milwaukee at 10 p. m.

Physicians have merged their efforts to combat diphtheria which has taken the life of one child and threatened that of another.

Inoculation of those exposed to the disease is expected to hold it in check. The premises of the two homes affected have been fumigated and the houses quarantined.

The families have not traveled any lately, and the only possible source of contagion yet discovered was that of a sick cat, which died. Cats have been known to carry the disease, physicians say.

Dr. T. J. Worrell, assistant city health officer, advises citizens to avoid visits with sick neighbors until physicians have made diagnoses. The condition of the citizen's health generally is very good, excepting for colds. Instances of typhoid fever and scarlet fever have been eradicated.

J. W. CARTER DIES

J. W. Carter, 65, died in a local hospital last night following an illness of less than a week.

Mr. Carter suffered a paralytic stroke last Sunday from which he failed to recover. He had been a resident of Pampa for the past seven years. He was a well known figure around the courthouse and city hall.

The body is at the G. C. Malone Funeral home. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

COUNTY-STATE TAX RATE IS REDUCED 15 CENTS—VALUATIONS ARE 23½ MILLIONS

Most School Districts Will Have Maximum Levy
Few Exceptions Noted

The county and state tax rate for Gray county was set at $1.79 yesterday afternoon by the commissioners court when tentative totals of assessed valuations were made available. This is a 15-cent reduction from last year.

Of this $1.79 total, the general property tax was fixed at 95 cents, the special levy for road districts at 15 cents, and the state had previously announced its rate as 69 cents. The reduction includes 5 cents off the state rate and 10 cents off the county rate, the latter based largely on good conditions of paving bond interest and sinking funds.

In ignoring any relief which may be available from the state through assumption of payments of funds spent to help build designated roads, the commissioners avoided possible later embarrassment should the statute recently passed be declared unconstitutional or for some reason fail to become operative next year. The relief bill leaves the county responsible for all payments not taken over by the state, and the bonds will be a charge against the county in any year that the Sterling plan is not carried out. It also is uncertain whether the one-cent diverted from the gasoline tax would be able to care for all the eligible relief of counties. The relief bill would, if carried out, save

Gray county hundreds of thousands of dollars in the future, rather than at present.

Oil valuations have been estimated at $18,291,000 and the total county assessment at $23,500,000. Last year the total valuation was $27,885,000.

Common school districts generally have the maximum dollar valuation, as also do the independent districts. However, the Hopkinton district has a 15-cent levy because of a surplus in that oil area. County Line No. 4 has a 75-cent rate, and the Webb common school district has a 75-cent levy.

Tax Assessor Ewing Leech will spend some time checking the entries of the board of equalization before making up his rolls for the tax collector.

PRINTERS' INK OR RADIO?

No matter how wide a campaign tour a presidential candidate may make, it is a physical impossibility for him to speak in person to more than a small percentage of the electorate. The vast majority of voters must get his speeches through the newspapers, and must assay the man and his platform through the medium of the printed word.

That, of course, is the way it has been ever since republic was founded. Recently, though, we have been told that the radio has changed all of this; that the electorate can sit at home and hear the speeches as well as if it flocked to all the campaign meetings; that the word-of-mouth appeal will, henceforth, reach everyone.

This charming theory, however, now and then stubs its toe.

The other night a speech of Governor Roosevelt was being broadcast. Just as the candidate approached the climax of his speech, the voice coming over the loud-speaker faded; then an announcer explained that due to commercial contracts it would be impossible to go any further with the campaign speech, and a moment later the rigmarole of home advertisers was on the air, followed immediately by the noise of a jazz band.

The handicaps under which a voter must labor if he tries to follow the campaign by the radio could not be illustrated more strikingly.

Suppose that you picked up your newspaper and started to read a front-page story of deep importance and surpassing interest, and just when you got to the crux of the thing you encountered a little blackface note saying, "We shall be able to print no more about this, because we have an advertisement that has to be printed right here."

Would you continue to rely on your newspaper to keep you posted on the news of the day?

That never happens, of course. A newspaper that did things that way would not last a month.

Try to follow a campaign speech in your newspaper and you get all of it, presented so that you can take it in at your own convenience. Try to follow it by the radio and you are apt to find it interrupted by a discussion of the merits of so-and-so's bed ticking.

WHAT ADVERTISING DID

Quoting the National News Service here is what happened to fifty typical business men in the retail trade:

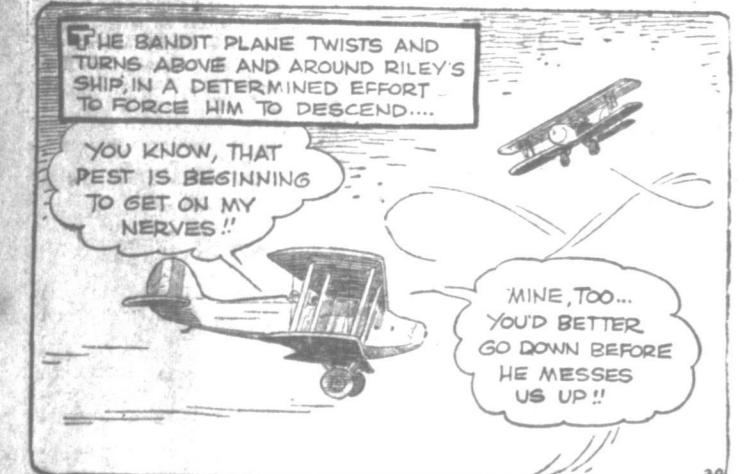

Because "times were dull" twenty-five of these certain business men cut out their newspaper advertising, and like the ostrich that buried its head in the sand, they stood still.

The other twenty-five kept up their advertising, and increased their usual business "gait." Their sales stepped up from twenty to thirty-eight per cent. Printer's ink kept the "red ink" off their books.

The classical character described as a "chief's among ye takin' notes" investigated the up-and-downs of the business men, and discovered that the twenty-five who advertised had concluded that inasmuch as the National Government was backing the whole Nation with its billions of dollars in resources that it was up to them to back their own communities and institutions. So, they kept on going, as usual.

The St. Louis STAR is authority for the statement that the two outstanding "depression beaters" last year were the two greatest users of newspaper space, the American Tobacco Company and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Company. The American Tobacco Company not only did a greater business last year than ever before in its history, but its net profits exceeded those of any year, even those at least two years to try one two issues involved in the governor's charges of illegal voting, that of residence and citizenship. Nickels stated the case would become moot before it fairly got under way since the general election is November 8 and it would be useless to try the case after that date.

If the supreme court should refuse to mandamus Mrs. McCallum to certify Mrs. Ferguson to the county clerks as the democratic nominee, the democratic party would enter the general election without a candidate for governor and a "write in" campaign undoubtedly would ensue.

Should the party be split widely between Mrs. Ferguson and Sterling in such a campaign, some observers saw the possibility of the election of Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls, republican candidate as governor but certification of either Mrs. Ferguson or Governor Sterling in time to have the name printed on the ballot probably would assure a democratic victory, unless there was an organized bolt of major proportions, some believed.

Pending action of the supreme court, Mrs. McCallum has been advised to withhold certification of any of the nominees. She has been specifically reprimanded by Judge Robertson from certifying Mrs. Ferguson as candidate of the democratic party until after the governor's suit has been decided.

Sperer counseled the court to delay action on the suggested procedure, stating that it was conceivable that when the supreme court had spoken on the mandamus, the necessity for trial of the case might be obviated.

A dutch lunch for visitors will precede an athletic program late in the evening and a dance will close the day's program. Largent-Perrin's dance orchestra will play. Two floors of a down-town building will be used for the dance, accommodations being available for 500 couples.

Pursuant to said hearing or hearings the railroad commission of Texas will enter such rules, regulations and orders, with reference to what is commonly known as the common carrier, storage, utility, and common purchased laws, shall remain in full force and effect or be amended, modified or revoked or whether any further or additional rules, regulations or orders shall be adopted for the enforcement of or pertaining to said laws.

Didrikson Succumbs

Dispatches from Dallas the other day disclosed that Babe (Whattagall) Didrikson had been ordered to bed to avoid a nervous breakdown and possible development of an athletic heart.

Thus, the world's greatest woman athlete is revealed as not some wonderful robust at all but a little girl, and very human.

The lean-jawed, firm-lipped young person whose face has been pictured looking out at the world very much lately above an athletic sweat shirt really has those old jumpy things called nerves. The machine that sent the life blood racing through her veins as she struggled to amazing Olympic victories is only a little girl's heart, after all.

Water High at Juarez

Washouts caused by the Santa Catarina and San Juan rivers have disrupted railroad travel between Matamoros and Monterrey, Mexico. Monterrey reported train service probably would not be resumed for more than a week.

Concurrently with the Legion convention the Legion auxiliary will hold its convention. A reception and bridge party will be held on the first afternoon and a supper will be served at Plainview's new municipal shelter house. "The House of Friendship", in one of the city parks. Sunday afternoon the business session will be held immediately after the public meeting. Mrs. James Trent of Clarendon will preside.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, recently appointed president of Texas Technological College of Lubbock, will address the Legion members and the public at 1:30 p. m. as part of a patriotic program of variety. An hour and a half later the convention will go into executive session. Reports from the national convention at Portland, Oregon, will be given and the business of the convention transacted under the leadership of G. Ward Moody, of Perryton, district commander.

EL PASO, Sept. 30. (AP)—Traffic between Juarez and Mexico City was paralyzed today by one of the most disastrous floods in the history of north Mexico.

The Chuviscaar river in central Chihuahua was a raging torrent that swept low lying villages and farm crops before it, according to reports reaching here. Inhabitants were reported fleeing to higher ground.

A $200,000 railway bridge over the San Pedro River at Ortiz, 30 miles south of Chihuahua city, was washed away, J. G. Hernandez, El Paso representative of the National Railways of Mexico was informed. Telegraph wire was reported down.

The democrats, in the majority in the present house, have made a breakthrough-point of the fact that they already have picked up two seats in normally republican areas. But the republicans are continuing bombing.

This all means that a congressional campaign of more than ordinary intensity is in the making and soon will be sweeping every democratic precinct.

Rich (if almost unbelievable at times) is "Who's Who," a collection of soft places in the utterances of the famous by George Novack and Arthur Zipper; there are fewer laughs and more sniggers in Hilaire Belloc's satire on politics, finance and society called "The Postmaster General" and illustrated hilariously by G. K. Chesterton.

Bill Dickey of the Yankees is being called by experts the successor of Mickey Cochrane of the A's as the best catcher in the American League.

By JOHN SELBY

NEW YORK—There is that about "Death in the Afternoon" by expatriate Ernest Hemingway, which presents a snarl of controversy. "Death in the Afternoon" is meat for Hemophobes and Hemiphiles. It is about bull fights, events that many Americans consider rather contemptible sadistic exhibitions. It is neither novel, history, nor satire, but a serious textbook on the subject of assault, gore, in vast detail. All its jaded terms, the jargon of the rings, the location of the same, the best times for visiting them, and abominable description of the possible joys and horrors. There is even a series of half-tones showing the death of horses, bulls and people.

Hemingway, since cub reporter days, has had a predilection for the macabre. "Death in the Afternoon" is a release for such emotions as cannot find outlet in fiction, although the thoughtful public that has followed his course so far will find two remarkable things in the book. One is the fact that Hemingway apparently has done no pruning at all and for the first time written often involved and usually unpunctuated sentences. The other is that there is no description of a bullfight worth the name.

Sensitivity
Probably Donald Joseph's "Four Blind Mice" falls into the dubious class of "sensitive" novels, and so will be condemned by lovers of best, iron and wine. But it is a good deal more than merely quivering and eager. There is a bitter authenticity in the book that heartier writers often lack, and that compensates for the sometimes finely drawn emotional values inherent in the story of a young man's struggle between regard for his best friend and love for his wife.

Just the opposite is the goal of John Herrmann in "Summer is Ended," most appropriately titled, incidentally. Herrmann believes in the bare-bones style, and from his easy-going tale of the life and loves of a group of very ripe persons he has zealously pruned all colorful blossoms and spicy fruit. The effect achieved is a little witherish for the end of summer, but

PRINTERS' INK OR RADIO?

No matter how wide a campaign tour a presidential candidate may make, it is a physical impossibility for him to speak in person to more than a small percentage of the electorate. The vast majority of voters must get his speeches through the newspapers, and must assay the man and his platform through the medium of the printed word.

That, of course, is the way it has been ever since republic was founded. Recently, though, we have been told that the radio has changed all of this; that the electorate can sit at home and hear the speeches as well as if it flocked to all the campaign meetings; that the word-of-mouth appeal will, henceforth, reach everyone.

This charming theory, however, now and then stubs its toe.

The other night a speech of Governor Roosevelt was being broadcast. Just as the candidate approached the climax of his speech, the voice coming over the loud-speaker faded; then an announcer explained that due to commercial contracts it would be impossible to go any further with the campaign speech, and a moment later the rigamarole of home advertisers was on the air, followed immediately by the noise of a jazz band.

The handicaps under which a voter must labor if he tries to follow the campaign by the radio could not be illustrated more strikingly.

Suppose that you picked up your newspaper and started to read a front-page story of deep importance and surpassing interest, and just when you got to the crux of the thing you encountered a little blackface note saying, "We shall be able to print no more about this, because we have an advertisement that has to be printed right here."

Would you continue to rely on your newspaper to keep you posted on the news of the day?

That never happens, of course. A newspaper that did things that way would not last a month.

Try to follow a campaign speech in your newspaper and you get all of it, presented so that you can take it in at your own convenience. Try to follow it by the radio and you are apt to find it interrupted by a discussion of the merits of so-and-so's bed ticking.

WHAT ADVERTISING DID

Quoting the National News Service here is what happened to fifty typical business men in the retail trade:

Because "times were dull" twenty-five of these certain business men cut out their newspaper advertising, and like the ostrich that buried its head in the sand, they stood still.

The other twenty-five kept up their advertising, and increased their usual business "gait." Their sales stepped from twenty to thirty-eight per cent. Printer's ink kept the "red ink" off their books.

The classical character described as a "chiel's amang ye takin' notes" investigated the up-and-downs of the business men, and discovered that the twenty-five who advertised had concluded that inasmuch as the National Government was backing the whole Nation with its billions of dollars in resources that it was up to them to back their own communities and institutions. So, they kept on going, as usual.

The St. Louis STAR is authority for the statement that the two outstanding "depression beaters" last year were the two greatest users of newspaper space, the American Tobacco Company and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Company. The American Tobacco Company not only did a greater business last year than ever before in its history, but its net profits exceeded those of any year, even those simplify the federal bureaucracy. Four long years ago, in the campaign of 1928, he as a candidate proposed to do this. Today, once more a candidate, he is still proposing. I lead you to draw your own inference."

Taking up the farm mortgage situation, Mr. Roosevelt asserted: "Today I read in the papers that for the first time the administration of President Hoover has discovered the fact that there is such a thing as a farm mortgage."

"With you, I deplore the inexorable and reprehensible delay in Washington not for months alone but for years. All I can promise you is that I will continue to preach the plight of the farmer who is losing his home and that when the authority of administration and recommendation is placed in my hands, I will do everything in my power to bring the relief which is so long overdue."

Roosevelt closed with this pledge, his right hand upraised, his voice vibrating: "I shall not wait until the end of a campaign, or until I have spent four years in the White House."

The result of his farm speech delivered at Topeka, two weeks ago, at the beginning of his long trip, the governor said, had been assurances of co-operation "from all parts of the country and particularly farm leaders."

These, he continued, "mean a great deal to the program which I submitted, because to get practical results we who have the farm problem at heart, can not afford to let the stand pat republicans and certain narrow minded industrialists and bankers use dissension and discord among farmers as an excuse for denying to us the legislation and the results we seek."

Exposing Washington
Clothed in the once-enticing veil of anonymity, two books approach. One is well written, a Washington expose entitled "High Low Washington," signed "30-32." The other is a tepid symposium on Europe, pleasant, not racy, called "Not to be Repeated."

McLean Grants Gas Franchise to Humphreys—10 Days for Acceptance

M'CLEAN, Sept. 30.—The McLean city council has granted a new gas franchise in an all-page, 26-section document made to D. W. Humphreys, on his assigns.

Under its provisions, the domestic rate will not exceed 30 cents per thousand cubic feet, the manufacturing rate will not exceed 10 cents, and the city, school, and church rate will not exceed 12 cents. There will be a $1.50 minimum, $7.50 meter deposit, and 10 per cent penalty for overdue accounts. These rates apply for 5 years unless there is reason for a raise in the customary price at the wells.

The franchise will run for 25 years, with an annual fee to the city of $50. The city reserved the option to purchase after 5 years at a price to be mutually agreeable to the city and the company, and also the prior right to purchase should the company wish to sell in less than 5 years. Humphreys has 10 days in which to accept or reject the franchise. Gas must be in the mains within 30 days after acceptance.

ROBBERY ATTEMPT FAILED
LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 30 (AP)—Three men traveling in a car with a Texas license were frustrated in an attempt to rob the First National bank at Elton, La., early today when explosions set off to break the safe aroused chief of police Albert Duplencion. The bandits fled after an exchange of shots with officers.

Bill Dickey of the Yankees is being called by experts the successor of Mickey Cochrane in the American League.

Washington Picture In Post Office

Postmaster D. E. Cecil has one of the most impressive George Washington bi-centennial pictures framed and hanging in his office that has been received in Pampa this year. The picture was received from the bi-centennial committee in Washington. Mr. Cecil has had it framed.

The picture portrays George Washington as a bronze statue standing with great coat over his arm looking into the distance. Uncle Sam in his striped trousers and beard is standing looking at the statue with his hand on the shoulder of a youth about 12 years old who is also gazing with rapt attention at the statue.

The picture is about two feet by one and one-half feet.

WED CHAPLIN? NO, SHE SAYS

She may have been seen with Charlie Chaplin in public numerous times and he did kiss her when she left the coast for New York, but Paulette Goddard says they're not engaged. The two are shown here as they appeared together at a Hollywood premiere.

NEW YORK (P)—Paulette Goddard, young platinum blonde of the films, is a bit weary, and why not? It's all because of the hullabaloo that surrounded her when she reached New York from the coast with a kiss of Charlie Chaplin still fresh on her lips.

So now she says she plans to go to Tahiti where perhaps she thinks no reporters will bother her asking if it's true she's engaged to the film comedian.

Miss Goddard denies reports of the betrothal and says she's rather tired of being cross-examined with all the intensity of a defendant on the witness stand. First she refused to confirm the engagement report. When the inquisitors persisted, "Will you deny it, then?" she weakened and said "Yes."

Chaplin had kissed her goodby at a west coast airport when she left for New York, home and mother.

"There's nothing to a Hollywood kiss," Miss Goddard said upon her arrival here. However, she kept the guess going for a couple of days with the coy retort, "One simply doesn't discuss such things." Meaning engagements.

In Tahiti Miss Goddard plans to let her hair grow out of its bob and let the platinum wave away from her naturally chestnut locks. She also will study English diction during her two or three months there.

Thus changed and tutored, she will return to Hollywood, where she is under contract to continue her picture work for Samuel Goldwyn.

Motorists' Driving Endangers Pupils

Parents of school children coming to Pampa schools by bus have been coming to Sheriff Lon L Blanset asking him to do something with motorists who persist in driving by stopped buses unloading pupils. Several near accidents have been reported on highways during the past week, when cars and trucks driving at a high rate of speed, dash past the parked trucks.

Sheriff Blanset says that his hands are tied by a state law which says that only traffic officer, wearing a uniform and star at least three inches square, and riding a motorcycle, has the authority to make arrests on state highways.

Drivers of school buses have started walking across the highways with children who live on the opposite side of the road to where the bus stop. The highway between Pampa and Kingsmill is a death trap.

The Kiwanis club and its safety committee and Junior police are working on the problem.

Inside Water Tank Is Being Cleaned

Taking advantage of the cool weather, Dick Rhoades and helpers are scraping the rust off the inside of the elevated water tank near the city hall.

Several days of scraping and steel-brushing will be necessary, then two coats of a steel preserving paint, Inertol, will be applied. The task is somewhat hazardous, but the contract relieves the city of liability and also specifies strict sanitation on the part of workmen.

The tank holds 75,000 gallons. A leak near the stand-pipe will be repaired while the tank is empty. The water supply was shut off for one minute yesterday morning, but only one complaint was heard. It was an inquiry from the Fort Worth & Denver station.

The pigeon race is a new feature of the pigeon show held each year under the auspices of the Texas pigeon association. More than 2,000 birds are expected to be entered. According to estimates made recently by officials of the pigeon association.

FACULTY WINS CLOSE GAME FROM SANTA FE TEAM, 5-4

PHILLIPS CLUB BEATS ROSE IN 26-1 DEBACLE

FACULTY AND DANCINGER KEEP UP WINNING RECORD

The Faculty team continued to carry its lucky horse shoe in the City Playground ball league yesterday afternoon when they nosed out the Santa Fe 5 to 4. The NEWS dubbed the fast stepping Jayeys 4 to 0. Dancinger shutout the Kiwanis club 9 to 0 while Phillips was swamping the Rose Building 26 to 1 in the South field.

First Errorless Game

The newsboys scored their four runs in the second inning on five singles and a double. Surgeon, NEWS catcher, hit a double to belt the only extra base blow of the game. Merton and Robinson with two hits each managed to be the only batters to get more than one safe single. Warren was the only newsmen to go hitless.

Harry Drain, pitching his last game for THE NEWS, coasted along, allowing the Jayeys only two hits, one going to Manager Ivy Berry and the other to Olsen. Drain goes to Dancinger where he is employed at the refinery. He struck out only two batters.

Neither team made an error in the field. With the exception of the fatal second when the newsmen got to Berry, the game was the best played this season.

Drain, former Tulsa boy, has pitched five league games for THE NEWS and has struck out 46 opposing batters. He uses a fast ball with a nice curve.

Dancinger Wins Again

The Dancinger boys scored their nine runs on six hits and a bunch of Kiwanis errors. The clubmen got only three hits off Geppelt who was going good. The Kiwanians got one man as far as third, and two to second.

Dancinger opened their scoring in the first inning with four counters, but none of them were earned. There were two walks, one hit and three errors. Two more were added in the second under similar circumstances. Cannon got two singles for Dorcas. The other hits were scattered.

Green and Miller of Dancinger each hit doubles. The clubmen's three hits were singles. Dancinger will have Drain, former NEWS hurler, with them Tuesday for their next scheduled game.

The Big Shuster

The Rose building couldn't get Phillips out until dark and by that time 20 runs had been counted. Phillips hit their former teammate, Crites, almost at will and coupled with errors, ran up the large score. They made 26 hits. Carter was in the box for Phillips with Herring pitching.

Crites scored the Rose boys run. Dick Hughes smacked two of the Rose nine hits. Jimmie Marshall played a great game on first. Malow of Phillips scored five runs on five trips to the plate. Weatherford got five hits, two of them going for home runs.

Faculty Lucks Out

Patrick of the Faculty and Poe of the Santa Fe mixed in a second pitchers' battle this season with Patrick again coming out on top. The railroaders tried hard to pull the game out of the fire in the last half of the seventh with the score 5 to 2. Shriver hit a triple to score two men ahead of him but died on third when the next three batters to face Patrick popped up to the infield.

Sensational base running by both teams was outstanding. The Santa Fe boys excelled, however, in that department. Almost errors ball was played during the game. The Faculty got 10 hits to seven for the railroad boys.

Hits and runs were well scattered but Santa Fe made the errors that counted most against them.

Gorillas Play Miami Tomorrow

Coach Warren Moore is scheduled to take his Gorillas to Miami tomorrow afternoon to play a practice game with the Miami Warriors. The coach has little idea what he has in the way of team material but will do considerable experimenting against the fast Class B team.

The Gorillas have scrimmaged only once this season and then against the big Harvester. The Gorilla eleven will be small and green, but willing. Coach Moore has been working with 37 boys and expecting more from the Harvester but Coach Mitchell has decided to keep 34 boys on the Harvester squad this year so Coach Moore will have to be satisfied with his present material.

There are three really big fellows on the Gorilla squad but they have had little or no football experience. The rest of the boys are light but apparently fast and willing. He had not selected his starting lineup yesterday afternoon.

Miami has a team composed of four lettermen and the rest new-comers under Coach Ellis Locke. The Warriors scrimmaged the Harvesters here Wednesday afternoon and looked good. The team is built around Curly Owen, big full-back letterman. The game is scheduled for 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

YANKEES REALIZE CUBS WILL BE HARD TO BEAT AT CHICAGO

Stalls Elected Captain Tulsa Freshman Team

Teams Enroute to Wrigley Field For Third Game Tomorrow.

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO WITH YANKEE SPECIAL Sept. 30. (P)—Rolling along the shores of Lake Erie today, manifesting no more concern than though it was an early season swing into the west, the Yankees spun a tune of confidence in their ability to make four straight over the Cubs and a world record of twelve straight victories in three baseball championships.

"We're up and two to go," remarked the eminent golfer, Babe Ruth, who figures he has shaken off most of the effects of his recent illness and is about due to increase his world series output of home runs.

The big Yankee party, accompanied by Baseball Commissioner Landis, numbered only one outstanding fellow who did not seem so confident the American league champions would continue to have things their own way, through their own efforts or the generosity of the Cubs. He was "Marse Joe" McCarthy, the manager, who admits he takes his baseball seriously and likes it that way.

"This hasn't been so one-sided as a lot of you fellows think," demurred McCarthy. "One long hit for the Cubs in the early stages of the game might have changed the whole complexion of things. They are good ball club."

"We've looked good because Ruffing and Gomez gave us the pitching and we hit in the pinches. That's a tough combination to beat."

McCarthy figures the Cubs will be forced to beat in Wrigley Field. If so they will have to get steadier pitching than their two ace right-handers, Guy Bush and Lon Warneke, have shown so far. The Yankee manager will start George Prager, veteran right-hander, in the third game Saturday.

As they played cards, sang and otherwise passed away the traveling time today the Yankees kidded each other about their new record of making ten hits—all singles—off Warneke.

Lou Gehrig said he could not recall a game when anything so strange had happened in this slugging troupe's output of base hits.

Abilene Eagles Determined to Win Title Again

Coach Predicts Texas Tech Will Beat Mustangs

By BILL PARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

DALLAS, Sept. 30 (P)—Tomorrow will be another "test day" for southwest conference football aggregations, which failed to impress followers with their last week non-conference games. The championship race starts next week, and whether the seven conference members are ready for it will be seen in this week-end games.

Predicting defeat for his team, Coach Ray Morrison and his Southern Methodist Mustangs embarked for Lubbock to play Texas Tech tomorrow night. Morrison's boys were held to a scoreless tie last week by the North Texas Teachers. Morrison is far from satisfied with his 1931 conference champions.

Twenty-eight Texas A. and M. Aggies left yesterday for New Orleans to battle Tulane. Tulane whopped the Aggies last year, 7 to 0. Charlie Malone, brilliant wing, and George Lord, star lineman, were left behind because of injuries.

Coach Bill Jones and his Louisiana state Tigers were expected to arrive today at Houston for a battle tomorrow against Rice. Louisiana held Texas Christian to a 3-all tie last week at Baton Rouge. Coach Meagher of the Owls scrimmaged his boys yesterday against the Rice freshmen, making the "Fish" use the double and single wing-back formations employed by Louisiana. The freshmen scored a touchdown.

Coach Littlefield at the University of Texas has his team ready for a stiff battle against Centenary college at Austin. The Longhorns smothered Daniel Baker last week with Koy and Harrison scoring.

The Eagles had a great team in 1927 but lost to Waco in the finals. The following year they again became state champions with the defeat of Port Arthur. Breckenridge won the district in '29 and met Port Arthur in the finals, resulting in a tie and a co-championship. It must be noted that the oil belt champion failed to get beyond the district was in 1930, when Amarillo beat Breckenridge in the semi-finals.

Nothing Venture

by Patricia Wentworth

SYNOPSIS: Distraught because of dawning love for his young wife Nan, disturbed by her terrible dream that he is dead, Jervis Weare is awakened in the dead of night by a noise in his room. A pebble is tossed in. Beneath his window stands Rosamund Carew, the girl who lured him in an unsuccessful attempt to secure his great fortune, and asks Jervis to come down.

CHAPTER 35

JERVIS TO THE RESCUE

"What do you want?" Jervis demanded of Rosamund, who stood below his window looking up at him, the moonlight grey upon her face.

"I'll tell you if you come down. Don't wake anyone."

He hesitated, frowning furiously. What was this all about? He turned his wrist and looked at the luminous dial of his watch. It was two o'clock. What on earth was Rosamund playing at?

"Jervis, I'm in a perfectly damnable hole."

He said, "All right—wait a minute," and turned back into the room.

He got into some clothes—a tennis shirt, flannel trousers, blazer, socks, and shoes. Then he went down to the study, opened the window, and got out.

"What's the matter?" he said.

"My car broke down."

"Where?"

"About three miles away, on the main road."

"Well, I'll wake up Mrs. Mellish. She'll have a room got ready for you."

"No—no—I don't want to do that." She came quite close and put a hand on his arm. "I want to get back. Janet Tetterley doesn't know I'm out."

"What have you been up to?" said Jervis.

"That's not your business."

"What do you want me to do?" said Jervis angrily.

"Make less noise to start with, and then lend a hand with the car."

"What's the trouble?"

"I've ditched her. We could get her out together, but I can't budge her alone, and there isn't likely to be anyone passing for the next four hours or so."

Jervis did not know what prompted him to say,

"You're alone?"

"Well, I would come and dig you out in the middle of the night if I wasn't so damn tired three miles in evening shoes for fun."

"All right I'll get the car out and run you back."

Rosamund's hand closed on his arm—strong hand for all its whiteness.

"No, you can't do that—it'll give the whole show away."

"What is there to give away?" said Jervis.

"Well, to be quite frank," said Rosamund. "I can't afford another scandal on the top of turning you down. It isn't all jam as it is. Jæther's under Bashir's thumb, though you wouldn't think it. Bashir's a prude of the first water when it comes to his own womenfolk. If he knew I'd been out all night, he'd never have me in the house again."

"And it's not my business where you've been?"

"Well—is it?"

"How can you get back without someone finding out?"

"It's as easy as mud. The second chauffeur sleeps over the garage. You couldn't wake him if you drove a truck through the room. I've got a key, and I can take her in the same way I took her out, without anyone being the wiser."

So she couldn't have gone out much before midnight. Queer business this.

"Well, we'd better be getting along," he said.

Rosamund moved, let go of his arm, and stepped out of the shadow. The moonlight touched her uncovered head and took all the gold out of her hair. It looked grey with threads of silver in it. Her face, her hands, and the column of her throat were like ivory seen through water. She was wrapped in a black Chinese shawl whose embroidered flowers were like faint ghosts whose color and sweetness have died and been forgotten.

She moved beside him, walking quickly and in silence. She could keep pace with him without effort. She produced, as always, an effect of graceful ease which was in sharp contrast to the habitual bluntness of her speech. She did not speak now until they were past the gates. Then she said in a mocking voice,

"Don't you want to know where I've been?"

"Not particularly."

"No wonder I jilted you! You don't care whom I've been meeting."

"Why should I?"

"Do you?"

"No, I don't."

"No healthy curiosity?"

"I'd like to know what you're driving at."

"I'd like to know myself," said Rosamund, her voice harsh on the words.

They walked on without speaking for a couple of hundred yards. Jervis couldn't help a feeling of extreme nervousness; perhaps it was the fact that his rest had been disturbed in a curious manner.

Nan had dreamed that he was dead. It wasn't an omen, of course, because he was an intelligent citizen of the twentieth century who hadn't the faintest belief in omens and tabus. Yet he could not put it out of his mind.

Nan was very nervous due to his strange errand. Nan would never have demanded such a thing at such an hour. Nan would not have come out on a shady venture; if she had been caught with a ditched car at 2 o'clock in the morning, she would not have made unreasonable requests of the neighbors. Not even of her husband.

Yes. The more he thought the less strange this early morning visit was. Rosamund was a demanding person. She was never a considerate person. Probably it had seemed

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: THE CHRISTIAN'S DEVOTIONAL LIFE.

Scripture Lesson: Matt. 6:15-17; 2 Tim. 3:14-17.

Matt. 6:5. And when ye pray, ye shall not be as the hypocrites: for they love to stand and pray in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have received their reward.

6. But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thine inner chamber, and having shut thy door, pray to thy Father who is in secret, and thy Father who seeth in secret shall recompense thee.

7. And in praying use not vain repetitions, as the Gentiles do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.

8. Be not therefore like unto them: for your father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.

9. After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father who art in Heaven, Hallowed be thy name.

10. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth.

11. Give us this day our daily bread.

12. And forgive us our debts, as we also have forgiven our debtors.

13. And bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one.

14. For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

15. But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

Golden Text: Grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.—2 Pet. 3:18.

Introduction

We have for this quarter one of our topical series of lessons, in which we range over the entire Bible, studying the most important passages on the most important themes. Surely there could be no subject more important than the Christian Standards of Life, and we begin with the most important of all these standards, the Christian communion with his Father in heaven, which is the basis of all his joy and peace and power.

In this lesson we are to study what it means to be a man of prayer, taking some of the leading passages on the subject in both the Old and New Testaments. We begin with the first Psalm, which emphasizes the delight in prayer which a Christian feels; for we shall not know the real meaning of prayer if we go to it merely from a sense of duty, merely in a formal and perfunctory way. "His delight is in the law of the Lord."—Ps. 1:2. This first Psalm is picture of the godly life with its happiness as against the ungodly life with its discontent. The first is fruitful, the second a failure. Especially is the first life that is rooted in God, like tree planted by the rivers of water, while the second is like the empty chaff driven away by the wind.—Ps. 1:3, 4.

THOUGHTFUL COMMUNION WITH GOD

Ps. 119:8-16

"With my whole heart have I sought thee."—Ps. 119:10. The one hundred and nineteenth Psalm is an alphabetical Psalm. The acrostic structure is perfect throughout.

Instead of having one verse to each letter, or two or even three, as is the case in Lamentations 3, this long composition has eight consecutive verses beginning with each Hebrew letter; and, what is more remarkable, each verse, except two, in whose text there may have been changes, contains some allusion to the law of God.—Rev. William E. Barton, D. D.

The passage from this, the longest chapter in the Bible, which the Lesson Committee has chosen for us, is the second division, Beth, the Hebrew letter Beth (B) with which each verse begins. The psalmist has sought God with his whole heart, v. 10. There is no other way to make prayer fruitful and happy. Any admixture of worldliness in this blessed communion ruins it. The element of delight is here also, as in the first psalm, and the element of meditation, without which there can be no genuine communion. v. 15, 16. We must "take time to be holy, speak oft with thy Lord." If we expect to find God and commune blessedly with him in the few minutes between undressing and plunging into a sleepy bed, we are trying to gain the chief of blessings on cheap terms whose absurdity would be recognized at once in any other pursuit.

REGULAR COMMUNION WITH GOD

Dan. 6:10

"Now when Daniel knew that the writing was signed, he went into his house; and his windows being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, he kneeled upon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and gave thanks before his God, as he did aforetime." This is the inspiring episode in Daniel's life when he defied the command of King Darius forbidding any one for thirty days to present a petition to God or man, save only his royal self. The result was that the culprit was to be cast into a den of lions; but in spite of that imminent death the prophet Daniel did not depart from his regular customs of prayer to Jehovah, but three times a day, at morning, noon, and night, he repaired to his chamber, the windows open to the entire city and especially to his spying enemies, and turning his face westward toward the holy city of Jerusalem, he addressed to his God his praise and supplication. It was one of the most heroic acts of all times.

"Daniel had stated hours for spiritual exercise—he did it 'three times a day.' He knelt upon his knees, his very posture deepening his sense of what he was doing."—Rev. Charles R. Brown, D. D.

THE MODERN PRAYER

Matt. 6:9-15

"After this manner therefore pray ye. Not necessarily in these words, but with this simplicity and directness and in this spirit. 'Our Father who art in heaven.' 'This indicates the attitude of mind we are to have in prayer; that is, a childlike

It is not merely to use the word, "Our Father," but it is to have the trust and confidence of a child."—Rev. James Freeman Clarke, D. D. "Hallowed be thy name."

"Thou would mean much if before we take upon our lips the name of God, we should stop an instant, and try to think what we are about to say. With each mention of it we should summon our whole nature to do him honor."—Bishop Charles L. Slattery. "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain."

"The Jews were not even allowed to speak God's name aloud when they read the sacred book. Their scribes could not write it, except with a pen which had not been used before."—Rev. Henry Wilder Foote. "Profanity has been called "the great American sin."

"THY KINGDOM COME"

Verse 10

For hundreds of years "the kingdom" had been the great social and religious hope of the Jewish people. Jesus read into it new social and religious values. He thought of it as the reign of God in human lives.

"Do the little, everyday duties now, and daily, and strenuously, and faithfully; so you will promote that kingdom most effectually, and the great duties will come to you if God wills it."—F. W. Farrar. "They will be done, as in heaven, so on earth."

"Some would cut off the half of this present. That will be done on earth" is the motto of many who want great changes on earth, but who do not care much about heaven. We wish to take the whole prayer as it came from the lips of our Lord. He wishes the earth to be like heaven, and man like God."—Rev. James Wells, D. D.

PRAYER FOR DAILY NEED

Verse 11

"Give us this day our daily bread." v. 11. Margin, "our bread for the coming day" or "our needful bread."

"This petition teaches the following lessons: (1) The lesson of dependence and thankfulness, acknowledging God as the giver of all good, and our selves as the receivers: 'give.' (2) The lesson of charity-care for others as well as ourselves: 'us'. (3) The lesson of daily trust in God: 'this day.' (4) The lesson of prayer for all common mercies: 'bread.' (5) The lesson of diligence, honesty, and contentment: 'our bread.' (6) The lesson of moderation in our desires: 'our daily bread'."—Rev. J. H. Wilson. We are not taught to ask for cake, or even for a year's supply of bread.

"FORGIVE US AS WE FORGIVE"

Verse 12

"And forgive us our debts, as we have forgiven our debtors." v. 12.

"This first clause occasions no surprise. The normal man would have wondered if it had been omitted. It is the conclusion of the sentence that gives us pause. 'As we forgive our debtors? Those two things, God's forgiveness of you and your forgiveness of your brother—God joined together and none can put them asunder.'"—Rev. James Francis, D. D.

"A ROUGH COMMUNION WITH GOD

Ps. 119:8-16

"With my whole heart have I sought thee."—Ps. 119:10. The one hundred and nineteenth Psalm is an alphabetical Psalm.

"The acrostic structure is perfect throughout.

EVERY WOMAN faces this question

"How do I look to other people?" If you have a lovely skin, attractive eyes, and plenty of enthusiasm, you need not worry.

So many women, though, risk their beauty by neglect of constipation. It often causes loss of pep, sallow skins, dull eyes, pimples.

Yet constipation can be overcome by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. This cereal provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B which tones the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Special cooking processes make it finer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming.

Surely this is safer than abusing the system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Two tablespoonsfuls daily will correct most types of constipation.

If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

All grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

called by her partner with one no trump. The adversaries never bid. In response to the no trump Mrs. Zontlein offered two spades.

Miss Pitch, having bid as a denial of support in diamonds and as an indication that she lacked a biddable suit, was glad to show her preference between diamonds and spades by assisting the spades to three. Mrs. Zontlein, regarding her spade suit as anaemic, took the contract to three no trump.

A club opening by west would have beaten the hand, but the heart opening, the fourth best from six, seemed better to west, when actually it was better for the declarer. Miss Pitch won the trick with hearts and then finessed the queen of diamonds. When it succeeded she played the ace and ten of diamonds and then the four spot, which east took with the eight.

East then led a club. Dummy won with the ace, and played her last diamond, then the ace of spades conceding the last three tricks (two spades and one club) to the adversaries.

LUCKY WOMAN

BORGAR, Sept. 30. (P)—If you want to find goods that have been stolen from you, go look for them, advises Mrs. R. F. Beckham of Borgar. Mrs. Beckham went to look at a vacant house that was advertised for rent, and there found quilts, dishes, fancy work and other articles which were stolen from her residence almost a year ago.

The declarer then took stock.

There were nine spades in the combined contracting hands and seven diamonds. Possibly three tricks in spades might be taken by giving the first two leads of that suit to the adversaries. But such a line of play might be dangerous because the south hand lacked re-entries, which were necessary for leads up to the diamond tenace.

Miss Pitch decided diamonds offered better possibilities than spades.

She took the first three tricks with hearts and then finessed the queen of diamonds. When it succeeded she played the ace and ten of diamonds and then the four spot, which east took with the eight.

East then led a club. Dummy won with the ace, and played her last diamond, then the ace of spades conceding the last three tricks (two spades and one club) to the adversaries.

SCIENTISTS GUARD SECRECY OF LOCATION OF RECENTLY-FOUND PRIMITIVE KIVA IN PANHANDLE

ANILINE, Sept. 30 (P)—A hint of the romantic interest behind the sweat and toil of the archaeologist's field pursuits is given in the bulletin-year-book of the Texas archeological and paleontological society, just issued here under the editorial direction of Dr. Cyrus N. Ray, president of the society.

Dr. W. C. Holden of the history staff of Texas Technological college, in a paper printed in the news bulletin of the society, gives an account made at Teocote (Panhandle) the not too intimately revealed fact that the archaeologists can complete their work, and recounts the story of the finding of an underground kiva. (Kiva for sacred chamber), a religious house or men's dormitory used by primitives. Herbert West, a member of the Texas Tech field force which spent five days at the site, was strolling along the river bank when he discovered the edge of a potsherd sticking out of the bank. That was right down his alley, and he began to dig in hope of finding other pieces of the same pot. The casual digging lengthened into two days of intensive effort and yielded, among other things, a hearth so unusual that the students called it "The Bath Tub," the remnants of a Kiva Wall with three different coats of gypsum plaster on it, two burials, and a varied assortment of oven awls, arrow points, scrapers,

Angora Goats in Texas Are Traced Back To Turkey

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 30 (P)—The flocks of Angoras which roam the rocky, brush-covered hills of southwest Texas have been traced back to a few choice goats which a Turkish sultan presented to Dr. James B. Davis of South Carolina in 1839.

Dr. Davis raised his small herd until 1854, when they were sold to Richard Peters of Atlanta, Ga. When William M. Landrum, also of Atlanta, joined the gold rush to California, he took along two of the Angora goats from Peters' herd, in California he experimented with the goats, crossing them with the native short-haired variety.

The experiment proved successful. Landrum returned to Georgia and purchased the entire flock which he moved to California. In 1858, Landrum moved his herd to Uvalde county and established a ranch on the Nueces river.

Frank O. Landrum, son of William Landrum, still operates the ranch in Uvalde county.

Although the market is depressed at present, the mohair from the Angora goat country of Texas long has brought a premium from eastern mills. It is used chiefly for automobile upholstering overstuffed furniture, and has been called the queen of animal fibers.

Ben Chapman, Yankee leftfielder, was shifted from the infield by Manager Joe McCarthy. The fastest man in the majors, his only weakness is handling ground balls.

Scene of 1845 School Marked

NEW BRAUNFELS, Sept. 30 (P)—To commemorate the scene of the first school, as well as the first religious service held in New Braunfels, a bronze tablet was recently placed at the foot by an old elm tree in the center of the city by Mrs. John Faust, Mrs. George Elband and Harry Seely, in memory of their father, the late Herman Seely.

Seely was the first German schoolteacher west of the Colorado river and held the scholastic and religious instructions under the tree in 1845. He came to the United States as a youth and died in 1902. He was active in education and a proponent of a free school system in Texas supported by public taxation.

Carbon Black Used For Wheat Worms

BORGER, Sept. 30 (P)—Carbon black, of which the Panhandle leads the world in production, may come to be an aid to another of this territory's greatest industries—wheat growing.

E. A. Williams, a wheat farmer near Stinnett, Hutchinson county, is experimenting with the black to learn if it will discourage the activities of wheat worms.

Williams moistens the grain before it is planted, then rolls the kernels in the black. He expresses the belief that it might work in one of two ways: Disguise the grain so the worms will not recognize it, or impart to it a flavor the worms will not like.

Shelby Quarrel
Centers Around
Stock Dipping

CENTER TEXAS, Sept. 30 (AP)—A stock dipping controversy in the commissioners' court of Shelby county which started early last spring has taken its first serious turn with the announcement by County Judge Clarence Samford and Commissioners Lee Swanzey and H. E. Campbell, who made a strong fight against stock dipping, that in future there would be no funds available for support of the county poor farm, for feeding county prisoners, for payments to persons on the pauper list, or salary to the court house janitor.

Perhaps the toughest part of the situation to the officers, however, is that their salaries will be stopped also.

The trouble started several months ago when County Judge Samford and Swanzey and Campbell refused to co-operate with systematic tick eradication in Shelby county. Dipping was started, however, by the live stock sanitary commission and a number of Texas Rangers were sent to Shelby county to see that it was enforced. During the time the argument was in progress, however, more than a dozen dipping vats were dynamited by stockmen opposed to dipping.

At that time the commissioners' court was again called on to co-operate with the dipping and again refused. Those favoring dipping employed an attorney, and filed a writ of mandamus to force the court to give it's co-operation. This failed.

The lawyer kept busy on the case and discovered the county had been using the permanent building fund to pay salaries and other accounts after other revenues had been exhausted. Those favoring stock dipping then asked for an injunction against the court to prevent them from using the building fund, declaring it was unlawful. This was granted September 17 by District Judge T. O. Davis.

Dipping enthusiasts declared they have won a victory. County prisoners were deeply concerned over whether they would be given their liberty or kept in jail without food. County officers stated the matter was serious. And stock dipping, which has caused so much trouble, went on as usual.

Woman Gains
Fame as Poet
From 2 Books

SANTA ANNA, Sept. 30 (AP)—Literary success has come with whirlwind rapidity to Leola Christie Barnes of Santa Anna. Until two years ago, after her four children were in school, Mrs. Barnes had kept her desire to write subdued, because of home duties.

Although she has written short stories, it was her poetry that brought her international recognition.

Two volumes of verses, "Crimson Dawnings" and "Purple Petals," were written in 1932, and she now is engaged on a new one—"Spurs and Siestas," which will be filled with early Texas subjects.

Some of the first poems received recognition in London last summer when they were chosen for reading before a prominent literary club. A letter congratulating Texas was forwarded to the house of representatives at Austin.

Her poem, "A Cotton Picker," was voted unanimously by the senate to be included in its journal.

Among her verse receiving prizes and honorable mention, are "Reflection" and "Unlaureled Glory," which have been widely published in England and France.

The West Texas woman's name and poems are included in such European publications as "Who's Who Abroad," "Some Personalities of Today," "Poets and Poetry," and "Books and Periodicals."

Mrs. Barnes was reared in West Texas, her early youth being spent in Glasscock county.

Grass Cattle Are Moved to Markets

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 30 (AP)—West Texans who had cattle on grass in Oklahoma and Kansas in April and May have moved about 75 per cent of them to markets. And for the first time in three years those cattle are reported to have brought a profit.

Large numbers of Texas calves are being contracted for feeders at 4 and 1-2 to 5 cents a pound.

Several thousand hereford calves are moving out from Mason county now to feed lots. One lot of about 1,000 will go to McCulloch county on ranches of Louis Brooks and son. S. A. Boerster has contracted about 8 thousand calves for Kansas feeders while A. M. Harkey, Mason buyer, has sent about 1,500 to northern feeders.

Jack Mansfield has purchased about 2,000 head of feeder calves from James Brooks in Llano county.

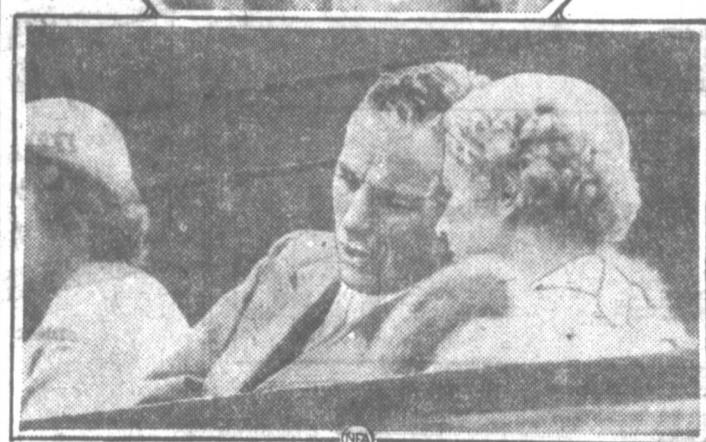

NOT PRIZE HORSE

BETHANY, W. Va. (AP)—Says President Goodnight of Bethany college: "No admission prices will be charged hereafter to any athletic contests at Bethany college. We want our friends to see our team on the field because they are made up of bona fide college students, and we shall not continue to parade them like prize horses at the country fair."

The Yanks last year shipped Johnny Allen, sensational rookie hurler, to Toronto to cure a tendency to lose his temper at "bad breaks." He cured it.

Johnny Moore, Cub centerfielder, was developed on the team's Los Angeles "farm."

—AND HE KISSED HER

Charlie Chaplin gave her a fond goodbye kiss and platinum blond Paulette Goddard, above, ended a gay stay in Hollywood that set its gossip to speculating if the comedian is contemplating a third marriage. Chaplin and the girl who divorced a Charlotte, N. C., lumber magnate to break into the movies were seen often in public. The camera caught them, below, in earnest conversation at a Hollywood tennis match.

What In The World
Is Wrong with Davey

SAN MARCOS, Sept. 30 (AP)—The case of David Armstrong, 13, is proving somewhat of a puzzle to specialists.

VICTIMS NUMBER 200
ATHENS, Sept. 30 (AP)—The count of victims of the week's earthquakes which interfered with his breathing. He had no fever but his mother knew he was sick boy.

Specialists came, diagnosing his case as being a malignant growth in his chest.

Now because the presence of strange persons annoys him, makes him nervous, a "no visitors" card flutters at his door.

The malady is more perplexing because the youth was never sick.
