There's an End to Life's Rainbow, Believes B. B. Crimm, Who Declares It Is at Foot of Cross of Christ

Rev. B. B. Crimm spoke on "End of the Rainbow" last night, and in spite of counter-attractions, the attendance was more than two thousand.

He took his lesson from the fifth chapter of Isaiah, and his message was based upon the desert scene. He said: "The weary, thirsty caravans after crossing the desert were greeted by water and wine sellers, whose prices were unreasonable. But Isaiah exhorted them to drink of the water of life without money or price. Thank God for the freedom of his grace! All are elected who qualify. Salvation is for the whole world. To quote Isaiah: 'What do you spend for things that do not satisfy? The world today is seeking contentment, the jewel of great price.'

"When I was a boy I tried to reach the end of every rainbow I saw, thinking I would find a pot of gold, but only to find that it could not be reached. Today I know there is an end to the rainbows of life, and it is to be found at the foot of the cross of Christ. The pot of gold is a case of good old-time religion. Money never brings complete satisfaction. Pleasures will not satisfy. We go after them only to discover they are as a mirage. Education will not satisfy. A reporter called on Edison on his birthday and questioned him regarding life. Mr. Edison stated there was no true happiness. But he had not sought the proper place of true happiness, Christ. 'Seek ye Jehovah while he may be found. Call upon him while he is near. There may come a time in your life when he cannot be found. Let the wicked forsake his way. God will not save a man in his sin, regardless of how much men may try to contradict the fact. Church attendance, baptism, and the Lord's supper will not save a man.'

"The sinner, the dancer, the Sunday show-goer, the sabbath desecrator, and any one who has any worldly sin must forsake that sin if he would be saved. He must even forsake sinful thoughts. God is ready to pardon. Call upon him."

The young people's service, directed by H. M. Fowler, last evening at 7 o'clock, was of unusual interest, a missionary playlet being provided by Mesdames Allen Williams, Troy Mahon, H. N. Clay, and A. D. Boyland. Mrs. L. C. Young has been asked to provide the program this evening.

My Beauty Hint

By ANITA-LOUISE

"I have a special bath treatment for my face that I think is a great beauty aid.

While taking a hot bath or lying in some warm spot I cover my face thickly with a preparation containing camphor.

Then I lightly wipe the best of moisture off and with my dirty dozen or some acrobatic stunt work up another coat of perspiration.

When I remove that I find my skin almost pink and white. Then I give it a rapid ice rub. I use this treatment once a week.

Public Building Program Reduced By $10,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Secretary Mills said today that under the ruling of Comptroller General McCarl the $100,000,000 public building program in the Wagner-Wagner act would be reduced to $90,000,000.

The announcement of the program and its various projects is expected by Secretary Mills to be made public at the White House shortly. However the treasury had declined to say whether he had certified to President Hoover that the public finances could not afford to undertake the program at this time, an alternative allowed him by the relief act.

Mills also said that while McCarl had not ruled on the entire $32,000,000 public works section of the relief act, other officials of the treasury said McCarl would make the same ruling under the provisions of the economy act to the public roads, flood control, army housing and other provisions.

Mills expressed the opinion that while the limit of cost on public buildings would be cut ten per cent and that $10,000,000 would be added off the entire amount, the ruling would not interfere with the progress of the public building program.

Miss Derryberry planned the yard last February.

MUCH NEWS IS PRESENTED IN CLUB BULLETIN

CONFERENCE SUCCESS IS PREDICTED BY LEADER

Much commendation on the bulletin of club news has been received by the publicity committee of the Business and Professional Women's club, the most recent letter being from Mary O. Lysterstrom, state president.

A part of the letter follows: "Dear Mrs. Fowler: I certainly want to commend you for the splendid bulletin you are issuing from time to time. From all indications Pampa has a wide awake club, and I feel sure that you are going to put over a wonderful conference. The enthusiasm with which the girls presented their bid for the conference was enough to lead anyone to believe that Pampa was on the map."

"I do not know what suggestions I could make as I think you have covered everything. A little later on, however, I shall be glad to subscribe an article or two."

Copies of the last issue of the bulletin were distributed yesterday by Mrs. Ed Fowler, chairman of the publicity committee, and other members of the committee.

Interest of the Business and Professional Women's club is centered on the style show to be presented at La Nora theater under the club's auspices this month. A group of local members is expected to attend the style show in Amarillo Friday evening. They are making initial plans to have dinner and a get-together meeting before the show.

The club will hold a business meeting and hear a vocational program next Tuesday evening. Roll call will be answered with the member's name, where she is employed, the title of her position, the nature of her business, and her duties. Later she will tell how she happened to take up her work, whether she likes or dislikes it, and whether or not she had rather be in another profession. The question, "When does it pay a woman to own her own business?" will be discussed by Mrs. Geo. Pool, and Miss Ruby Adams will outline the duties of the vocational chairman.

The paid attendance system will be begun this month by the B. & P. W. club.

Students Will Attend College Year for $1

Plan to make college education free

CANYON, Sept. 8.—J. A. Hill, president of the Texas State Teachers' association, believes that it will be a large attendance at colleges this fall.

Dr. Hill states that the slight better outlook shown by prices advances is one reason for his belief that boys and girls must not be idle in school or be idle in another way. He believes every sacrifice will be made to enable them to attend college.

In the Panhandle section of Texas as hundreds of homes have, by canning and drying supplies during the summer in order to enable their children to do lighthousekeeping, bring most of their food from home, and so go to school on a little money.

"Many students," said President Hill, "will go to college during the long session of 1932-33 on a modest outlay of not more than $100. It sounds hard, but it can be done and Texas youth will do it."

300 innocent users of the Texas highways were killed by trucks 1931. This figure represents cost in human lives of transport 386,208 tons of freight.

Today Is Deadline For Filing Actions

Deadline for filing suits in district court

Today was the deadline for obtaining service on writs in connection with suits filed for hearing in the term of 31st district court opening here September 19.

A busy 12-week term of new cases, old suits, and suits transferred from 114th district court is in prospect. New suits filed include that of A. C. Lewis et al vs. Stan. Ind. Oil & Gas company, for debt, and that of G. F. Powell vs. Danziger Oil & Refining company, same cause.

The long term will overlap by one week the 114th district court toward the close of the 31st district's term.

GASOLINE IS LIKE MILK....

the fresher it is—the better it is!

GASOLINE won't "keep." The older it gets—the weaker it gets. And as staleness increases—power decreases.

The "light ends" of gas—important "easy starting" elements—evaporate and a chemical change takes place—so that the longer gas is stored, the less power it gives. Too, stale gas is stickier—more apt to foul valves and carbureter. More apt to knock and thump.

The whole petroleum industry has long known these facts—has searched for a way to halt the deterioration of gasoline.

During the past several years, Gulf has worked on the problem—has finally developed a refining and distributing system that assures the motorist of getting FRESH, full-powered gasoline.

First, by giving you the best gasoline that can be made—by so refining this gas as to take out certain complex elements that cause rapid deterioration. Hence, Gulf gas stays FRESH longer.

Second, by getting this FRESH-MADE, FULL-POWERED gas to you in a hurry.

The whole vast Gulf organization has been geared up to handle gas almost as a dairy handles milk. Gulf has carefully located its huge refineries in many sections of the country, so that a stream of FRESH gas can be easily kept flowing into every one of the 45,000 Gulf filling stations. Gulf tank trucks speed FRESH gas to Gulf pumps every day in the year.

You pay for power. Get it—all of it. Get FRESH-MADE gas—delivered FRESH. Get Gulf. Use it exclusively. Your motor will be cleaner, quieter, faster.

Construction of Museum Starts On Historic Day

CANYON, Sept. 8—September 1st, day on which excavation began at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum, was a day of many anniversaries.

Fifty years ago, on Sept. 1, 1882, the first of the largest cattle land-ups ever held in Randall county. These were the cattle of T-Anchor ranch and L. Gough Amarillo, one of the men who had been 50 years ago, was on hand on the basement excavation here this year.

Twenty-two years ago, on Sept. 1910, the members of the first city of the West Texas State teachers college arrived in Canyon to prepare for opening the first session of the school. Among them was J. A. Hill, now president of the college. R. B. Cousins, who recently died at Kingsville, and L. G. Allen, as Jennie C. Ritchie and Miss Mary E. Hudspeh, who are still members of the faculty.

The old freight road, over which bodies were hauled from Amarillo as far as the north to the museum in the days when there were no railroads, passed across the site where the museum will stand.

The Panhandle Plains Historical Society Museum is being built at a cost of $30,000, half of which was donated by the society and half of which was appropriated by the state. It will be the first state museum in Texas.

Ellsworth Vines, Jr., appeared to have trouble on his hands in his Lester Stiefen of Los Angeles. Yank Manager It Not Worried About The Babe

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Ed Barrow, business manager of the New York Yankees, expressed no great concern today over the condition of Babe Ruth.

"The Babe merely asked permission of Joe McCarthy to come on here and see his personal physician, Dr. Edward King, because he felt he might be threatened with appendicitis. Under the circumstances, he felt he should see his own physician and make sure."

Machine Tool Shipments Show Gains in July

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Several business indicators, not ordinarily included in computations of business forecasts, have shown improvement in recent months, a study of figures in the September U. S. survey of current business indicates.

Shipments of machine tools, for instance, increased in July definitely contrary to the usual trend, according to this survey, issued by the department of commerce. The increase was small, as was the volume. Similarly, foundry shipments increased, as did new and unfilled orders.

A continuous increase in these figures would indicate a greater amount of retooling by industry, either to meet new business demands or to prepare for anticipated demand.

The improvement still leaves the figures far below last year, but on small volume, small changes have a great effect.

Delinquent accounts in the electrical trade were at the lowest point in a year. Goods in warehouse, after increasing for many months, fell in June.

A considerable number of new businesses were incorporated in recent months, with a possible continuous gain indicated. The amount of air mail increased during July and June. Bank suspensions were low, and commercial failures continue the decline in number started last March.

Flotation of capital issues was at a somewhat increasing rate. Stockholders in leading corporations continued to increase. The quantity of agricultural exports increased after a long decline, and were as large as in July last year. Passengers carried in sleeping cars increased for the first time in three months.

Fate of Papen Cabinet May Be Up To Voters

BERLIN, Sept. 8 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's nazis, and the central party of former Chancellor Heineke, are meeting here until Monday to decide whether they will support the cabinet of Chancellor von Papen or go before the voters in what would be the fifth major election this year.

Actually, the decision must be made between noon Saturday and 3 p. m. Monday. If the decision of the coalition parties is not to support the government, the chancellor will invoke the decree, already signed by President von Hindenburg, to dissolve the Reichstag, and another election will be held, probably November 6.

The president yesterday announced he would receive representatives of the proposed Nazi-Centralist coalition at 10:30 a. m. Saturday. Newspaper comment generally held this reception will be merely a formality, after which the president will reject the coalition proposal to oust the von Papen cabinet.

Then, the Nazis and Centralists will have until the Reichstag convenes Monday to decide their course. Most political commentators expressed the belief von Papen would allow a day or two to debate the government's announcements but would promulgate the dissolution decree before an opportunity arose to vote on a question of non-confidence.

The government's willingness to face another election is based on its belief the von Papen ministry is much stronger with the public now than it was at the last election when Hitler's Nazis polled a strong vote.

Hitler continued his attacks on the government in a speech at Munich last night, declaring he looked forward joyfully to the dissolution. He expressed scorn over the offers of a few ministerial seats to him, declaring he cared nothing for "titles or chancellorships" as long as the leadership was in his hands.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Cotton of this year's growth ginned prior to September 1, was reported today by the census bureau to have totaled 865,232 running bales, compared with 565,753 bales a year ago and 1,879,919 bales two years ago. Round bales included numbered 16,179, compared with 10,130 a year ago and 43,391 two years ago. Ginnings by state to September 1 follow:

Alabama 34,970 bales; Arkansas 27,421; Florida 2,969; Georgia 94,612; Louisiana 78,935; Mississippi 58,914; South Carolina 19,819; Texas 531,997; all other states 5,896.

Paraguay Orders Army Mobilization

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Sept. 8 (AP)—The government ordered mobilization of its extraordinary army reserve today, comprising all citizens between the ages of 33 and 40, as a result of recent developments in the dispute with Bolivia over the Chaco territory.

Unofficial reports said a Bolivian force attacked an outpost belonging to Paraguay in the Chaco but was repulsed, fleeing and leaving behind a quantity of arms and ammunition.

The cabinet held an extraordinary session last night with the chiefs of the army and navy. It was announced afterward no important decisions were reached.

Customs house officials confiscated 30 packing cases which they said contained aerial poison gas bombs consigned to a commercial firm at Villazon.

Two Texans Star On Polo Team

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 8 (AP)—A new polo generation which has been rising steadily the past few years has assumed control of the open championship, bringing a final that will be, perhaps, less colorful than last year's international battle but in many ways more interesting.

Greentree against Templeton is the lineup for Saturday's final game and those famous names of polo such as Milburn, Hitchcock and Hopping are nowhere to be found on the two teams.

Templeton, which reached the final Tuesday, lines up with the two Guest brothers, Winston and Raymond, and two other young players, Mike Phipps and Stewart Ingelhart.

John Hay Whitney is the leader of the Greentree quartet, which eliminated the Hoppings and their Eastcott team after a terrific overtime struggle yesterday, but the featured players are two Texans, Cecil Smith and H. W. (Rube) Williams.

Six Mississippi Convicts Escape

PARCHMAN, Miss., Sept. 8 (AP)—Six convicts, including three serving life sentences, overpowered guards and escaped from the state prison farm here early today.

The life termers are Roney Eaton, convicted of slaying a federal officer; Andrew Andrew, slayer of a rival in love affair, and Clifton Smith, convicted of murder.

The others were O. B. Winters, Memphis bank bandit, and Tom Dear, and J. P. Conner, convicted of robbery.

They seized night watchman Rover Warren and an attendant, took Warren's revolver, locked them in a cage, looted the prison hospital of several other guns and fled in a penitentiary automobile.

BEAUTY IN ECLIPSE

While scientists were taking thousands of pictures of the sun's eclipse for their records, this one was taken for beauty alone. The solar rays, interrupted by the moon, created an aura that tinted the clouds. With a lens that enlarged the image, and film sensitized to the sun's rays, the photographer was able to obtain this striking view. The picture was taken in Cincinnati at the moment of maximum eclipse there.

MORE TROOPS WANTED

KILGORE, Sept. 8 (AP)—A call for more troops to prevent theft of oil in this section was made by a group of East Texas landowners here yesterday. They authorized a committee to present a resolution asking for additional troops to the railroad commission Monday. New legislation was advocated to strengthen the powers of the commission if existing laws were found to be inadequate.

COURTHOUSE TOWER BURNS

LLANO, Sept. 8 (AP)—The tower of the courthouse burned early today but firemen prevented the blaze spreading to other parts of the building. Loss was estimated at approximately $4,000. Cause of the fire had not been determined.

READY TO FLY

MEADARYVILLE, Ind., Sept. 8 (AP)—Clarence L. McElroy, the Hoosier pilot who was lost in a Mexican jungle 17 days, is ready to fly again. Although still using crutches because of a broken leg, he is confident he is strong enough to handle a plane and has agreed to give exhibition flights at a community fair opening here today.

Miss Margie Lyon, home demonstration agent of Carson county, and Miss Virginia Pullingim, teacher in the Panhandle schools, visited in Pampa last night and attended the wrestling match.

Mrs. Kenneth C. Wrait of Wichita, Kan., is visiting her mother, Mrs. Fred C. Fischer. She is a former Pampian.

SYNOPSIS: Nan Weare at last has secured Ferdinand Francis as an ally in her struggle to protect her husband, Jerry Weare, from the murderous designs of Robert Leonard. She explains to Francis, who has recognized her as the girl who ten years ago saved Jerry from drowning, that what Francis had thought an accident really was Leonard's first attempt on Jerry's life. Jerry does not believe Leonard desires his life. He has asked Francis to join him and himself at Weare's country place.

Chapter 16
"WE'VE MUFFED IT!"
"Well," said Robert Leonard. "He splashed a small amount of soda into a good deal of whisky with a jerk of the hand, picked up his glass and turned to Rosamund Carew. She was standing by the window of her drawing-room looking out into the cloudy darkness of the August night. Her right hand held back the green and gold curtain, her left hung at her side. There was something in the pose that suggested strain. Without turning, she said:

"It's frightfully late."
Leonard drank half the contents of his tumbler at a gulp. Then he laid down the glass sharply. "Honorable creature aren't you?" "It's too late to be hospitable, Robert. You oughtn't to have come here."
"Rubbish!"
She looked rather wearily over her shoulder.

"I have to be careful when I'm here alone—doubly careful just now. It's been touch and go over this business." She dropped the curtain and turned round. "I've just finished Janet Tetterley."
"She seemed to be all over you."
"I confided in her," she said in a weary, toneless voice. "She was distrustful of course, so I told her that when I found out by accident that Jerry was in love with this girl, I didn't feel that I could stand in their way. She simply laughed if you please."
She came up to one of the big chairs and leaned against it.

"What about Jane Manning Temple?"
"I got off the same piece to her. She said I was a saint."
"Well, that's all right," said Leonard. "I noticed she made a bee line for old James. Mulroy as soon as you left her, and between 'em they'll do all the broadcasting that's necessary."
"All at once he turned to the table and put down the empty glass. "I suppose," he said in a contenting voice. "I suppose you couldn't work off that piece on Jerry, could you?"
"Rosamund stared at him. "Jerry married this girl to save the cash. He wasn't in love with her, and he isn't in love with her."
He blew a cloud of smoke.

"Now you're being high falutin. What's wrong with your making him believe?" He paused, frowning.
"Well? What am I to make him believe?" Her voice mocked him.
"Hold on—I'm settling there. Suppose the girl had told you he was in love with her—that they were in love with each other."
"What are you getting at?"
"It would let you out—noble self-sacrifice, broken heart, and all that. And it would turn him against the girl if he believed he'd been tricked into marrying her."
"Girl?" said Rosamund.
"Girl? He might. These things think and when a man's been let down by one woman he's generally ready to believe the worst about the next one. You think it over. But don't take too long about it. What's wanted at the present moment is a separation has been arranged between her and Mrs. Jerry Weare. We don't want any little Weares, you know. That would put the kibosh on the whole affair."
"Rosamund turned sombre eyes upon him. The blue seemed to have been out of them, leaving them bleak and grey.

"I wish to heaven I'd gone through with it and married him!"
"Do you?" said Robert Leonard.
"Yes, I do," she said. "What's the good of pretending? We've muffed it and we're in the soup. You know it as well as I do."
Robert Leonard came deliberately over to her and put heavy hands on her shoulders.

"It's all for me to say."
"No, it isn't! You'll do what you're told!"
He held one hand behind her head, tilted up her face, and kissed her. She did not cry out, but he felt her stiffen. Her lips were hard and cold against his. He released her and stood back.
"Now listen to me!" he said. "Jerry said this girl hasn't been lying together, but she's going to Weare with him tomorrow—well, by now it's today. I'm going down too. You can stay here if you like."
"The Tetterleys asked me down."
"He seemed to consider that."
"Quite a good plan. We had better not be seen together again for the present."
"Rosamund put her hand to her head. She pushed back the heavy fold of her hair and let her hand drop into her lap again. Then she said without looking at him:

"What are you going to do?"
"Mind my own business."
"She stood up at that."
"I think it's my business too."
She went to the table under the lamp and jerked open a drawer, pulled from it a sheet of paper and "Biff!" she said. "Today's little bit! Would you like to have a look at them?"
"No thanks—I've plenty of my own."
"Exactly. And what are you going to do about it? I've got this house till the end of August. I've been saving the rent in advance on the first of the month. I'm overdrawn at the bank. And the minute the notice of Jerry's marriage is in the papers everyone I've ever dealt with will drop and oppose me in a

Lively Corpse Attends Funeral Atop a Hearse

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (P)—As a corpse, Caesar Mill was lively he rode to his own funeral on a hearse.

Mill, who lives in South Chicago, was in a hospital expected to die by his many friends of the three business circles to which he belonged. So his friends, William Peters, arranged with the directors of the three organizations to take care of the situation at the proper time.

Then somehow the word got about that Mill had passed on to his reward. Les Capper, driver of a hearse, was called to the hospital. There he met Mill, alive and apparently recovered from his recent illness. Capper called one of the directors of one of the burial associations and said:

"This Mill corpse," he began and got no further.

"Yes, yes," said the director, "bring it along. The funeral's waiting. We can't waste time jawing about it."
"But," objected Capper, but the director had hung up the telephone receiver.

In due course, the hearse, with Mill, arrived at the church, where several hundred mourners were gathered to see Mill, climb out of the hearse and die.

"What's this?"
"No one wanted to answer."
"Such popularity," observed Mill, "must be deserved."

The market continued to improve after the start on shorts covering and some trade buying. October trading as high as 9.04 and December at 9.22 or 11 to 13 points above yesterday's close. Later prices eased off 5 to 8 points on some belated pre-bureau liquidation. Near the end of the first hour the market showed a disposition to rally, again helped by opening firmness of stocks.

Another speaker today was the Rev. Clyde A. Long, who stressed the serious side of Lomonia. He placed such work as that for crippled children above every other in which the club members are engaged.

The scheduled Lions outing planned by the board of directors was postponed one week, and will be held next Thursday evening at a site to be selected.

Tunney May Be Named Candidate For Congress

EASTERN POINT, Conn., Sept. 8. (P)—A three-cornered contest for the United States senatorial nomination encircled delegates today as they convened for the second session of the democratic state convention.

Meanwhile, with two party groups remaining firm on their choices for congressman-at-large, the name of Gene Tunney was discussed as a possible compromise candidate. The retired heavyweight champion was not at the convention. He has said he would not be a candidate for office this year.

Leaders of the "new guard" which attempted to bind the state's delegation to the national convention to support Governor Roosevelt for president, remained firm in support of Prof. Harry Morgan Ayres of Westport, a member of the Columbia university faculty, for senator at a conference last night.

Strikers Guard Single Highway

SIoux CITY, Iowa, Sept. 8. (P)—Although every other highway leading to Sioux City was deserted today by farm holiday pickets, the strikers remained on duty near James on Highway No. 75, to halt livestock or grain trucks which might attempt to enter Sioux City over that route.

No disorder was reported at the picket lines. Most truckers who ordinarily traveled to Sioux City on that route made detours to enter the city on other unpicketed highways, it was reported.

The strikers guarding Highway No. 75 reiterated their intentions of remaining on duty until the governors' conference tomorrow and perhaps afterward if the chief executives of the middle-western states failed to agree on some plan to increase the price of farm products.

"Nature in the Raw" is seldom MILD
—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes
They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked
WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
"It's toasted" That package of mild Luckies
"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, he will build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?
