AUSTIN, March 19 (AP)—Texas' presidential campaign already has reached the court room stage. The presidential primaries are just two months off. Activities on the stump on the part of aspirants to state offices are due to start soon after spring is officially opened. Governor R. S. Sterling's formal announcement for re-election is expected next week.

Litigation over right of the democratic party managers to force candidates for the three congressional-at-large places to group themselves on the ballots in places 1, 2 and 3 in order to obtain majority vote nominations, was instituted in the supreme court this week.

Court action over the same managers' action in prescribing a pledge for all participants in the precinct presidential primaries to be held May 7 was expected momentarily. It was indicated those opposed to what termed the "drastic test" requiring precinct convention participants to pledge themselves "to support the nominees of the democratic party for president and vice-president by voting for the democratic electors of the state of Texas" probably would seek relief from the supreme court if the party executive committee did not reconvene and reconsider.

Kiwanis Easter Egg Hunt Will Thrill Children

The second annual Kiwanis club Easter egg hunt will be held next Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the old golf course north of Sam Houston school.

All children under 5 years of age will be assembled on the west side of Frost street. Children from 6 to 12 years old will be on the east side of the street. All children in Gray county not more than 12 years old are invited to join in the hunt and participate in the prizes.

More than 11,000 eggs will be hidden and between 600 and 700 prizes will be awarded to the children. All the prizes are being offered by Pampa merchants.

Last year when the first hunt was held, it attracted the interest of practically all the children in the community. This year the Kiwanis club has made preparations to make the Easter egg hunt enjoyable for every child in Gray county.

FOUR PERSONS DIE IN PLANE

American Airways Ship Hit - Power Line in Fog at Calimesa, California.

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 19 (AP)—Fog brought death to four passengers in a Los Angeles-bound airplane 22 miles east of here tonight when the pilot, apparently confused, rocketed his ship into a high tension power line.

Four persons were killed instantly. A fifth, in a critical condition, is in a Redlands hospital.

The little community of Calimesa, where the crash occurred, was plunged into darkness when the power line was severed by the impact.

The machine fell in flames. Dr. A. C. Brennan of Eden Hot Springs, one of the first persons to reach the flaming wreckage, said that the gasoline tank of the ship evidently exploded, and the plane with its human cargo was a pyre it struck the ground.

En route from Phoenix, Ariz., to Glendale, a suburb of Los Angeles, the ship had cleared the San Bernardino mountains and was roaring down San Bernico pass, which widens, fan like, eastward from the range. Confusion was that the pilot misjudged his altitude.

DALLAS, March 19 (AP)—American Airways officials here said that Harold J. Kelsey was the pilot in charge of the ship that crashed near San Bernardino, Calif., tonight and that H. H. Campbell, formerly of Dallas, was the co-pilot.

I SAW--

Ben Tucker for the first time in a week yesterday. Ben, who plays most games well, wondered why somebody doesn't persuade the city to build clay tennis courts in the city park. "What's a park without a tennis court? Without a playground?" he asked. Ben pointed out that there are no public courts in the city, that high school students monopolize the school courts. He favors a platform that stands for tennis courts in the park.

GRAY COUNTY YOUTH MAKES PERFECT
SCORE

BOARD IS HOST TO BOYS

NINETY ENTRANTS ARE PLEASED WITH EVENT

With eight schools and 90 boys competing, McLean won first place in poultry and first place in livestock while Panhandle took first in the dairy contest at the third annual vocational judging contest, sponsored by the Pampa Board of City Development, here yesterday. It made the second consecutive year that teams from the McLean high school had won the poultry judging contest.

Each winning team was presented a cup. The school winning the same cup three times becomes permanent owner. Tulsa took the dairy judging cup last year, but had to be satisfied with third place this year, one point behind Claude Wellington had possession of the livestock cup last year.

Close scores marked each contest. The sensational judging of the day went to J. Billingslea of McLean, who made a perfect score in the poultry judging division. The McLean youth scored 300 points out of a possible 300.

NEFF ACCEPTS BAYLOR WORK

Will Resign State Post To Head Alma Mater On June 1st or After.

WACO, March 19 (AP)—Former Governor Pat M. Neff today accepted the presidency of Baylor University. The post was offered him by the board of trustees Feb. 23.

He will assume his office sometime after June 1. Dr. W. S. Allen, acting president, will continue in charge until then.

Neff taught school in Arkansas for a time after he was graduated from Baylor. In 29 years service as president of the Baylor board of trustees, he has gained extensive knowledge of the school's policies and operations.

His long acquaintance with Texas Baptists was expected to aid also in his administration. He acted as president of the Baptist general convention for three years. He has served on the state executive board of the church and has acted as moderator of the Waco Baptist association for many years.

Neff's acceptance was in the form of a letter to Judge W. H. Jenkins, for 50 years secretary of the board of trustees.

AUSTIN, March 19 (AP)—Acceptance by former Governor Pat M. Neff of the presidency of Baylor University will give to Governor R. S. Sterling appointment of Neff's successor on the railroad commission.

Consensus was the governor had either W. R. Ely of Abilene, chairman of the Texas high commission, or Ernest O. Thompson, mayor of Amarillo, in mind for the place. The governor was not expected to make the appointment until Neff's formal resignation had been received.

T. D. Hobart and Clinton Henry returned Friday from El Paso where they attended the Texas and Southwestern Cattleman's convention last week.

Mrs. Frank Hill and young son were taken to their home from Pampa hospital yesterday.

NEW KIDNAPING ATTEMPT WILL BE FOLLOWED

SIMILARITY TO FAMOUS
LINDBERGH CASE
IS NOTED

EACH CLUE IS FRUITLESS

AUTO THEFT RING TO GET ATTENTION OF SLEUTHS

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 19 (AP)—An attempted kidnaping similar in many respects to that of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., and the mysterious questioning of a man who once had been a suspect in the Lindbergh case, injected new interest today in the 18-day hunt for the famous flier's son.

But by night state police announced there was no significance to the re-examination of Henry (Red) Johnson, seaman-suitor of the Lindbergh baby's nursemaid, and that there was no possible connection between the attempted kidnaping and the Lindbergh case.

Meanwhile the investigation concerning the aviator's hilltop home took a new turn when authorities sought for a possible link between the activities of an alleged stock automobile ring at Hopewell, and the kidnaping.

Inspectors of the motor vehicle department arrested one man and reported to state police that two of his friends had been seen near the Lindbergh estate the day before the child was stolen.

The attempted kidnaping occurred on the estate of J. Seward Johnson, wealthy surgical dressings manufacturer, in Highland Park, 20 miles from here.

The intruder was frightened away as he climbed a ladder to the window of a nursery in which Johnson's 2-month-old daughter, Diana, was sleeping.

A nursemaid asleep in the room heard the screen being cut and telephoned a watchman stationed on the estate since a recent robbery. The watchman fired a shot at the man on the ladder. The intruder leaped 15 feet to the ground, fired a shot at the watchman, then fled to a parked automobile and escaped.

Two hours later George Malden, who said he lived in New York City was arrested in a restaurant at South Plainfield.

Rifle Club Will Have Open Shoot

The Pampa Rifle club will hold an open shoot for 22 caliber guns in the basement of the Brunow building at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. An indoor range has been erected in the quarters of the Pampa volunteer fire department.

First prize will be a Remington hunting knife and case donated by the Pampa Hardware company. Second prize will be a cash award. A small charge will be made and ammunition and gun supplied by the club. The public is urged to attend the match as several five-man teams are going to be organized.

Weekly matches will be held and prizes given high and second high shots. Shooting will be from prone, sitting, kneeling and standing positions.

BONDS ARE APPROVED

SAN ANGELO, March 19 (AP)—Trion county today voted 432 to 117 for a $50,000 bond issue, insuring the paving of state highway No. 99 across the county and completing the last link in a paved highway from San Angelo to Fort Stockton. The state will furnish the remainder of the money for an $800,000 project.

Postal Building Drawing Viewed

Federal Structure Is To Be Beautiful As Well As Suited to Needs.

A picture of the new postoffice was received from the architect at Washington by Postmaster David E. Cecil Friday, and since then has been admired by many local citizens. The drawing is a front view of the building.

Accompanying the sketch were architect's drawings of the basement floor plan, the first floor, side view of the building, and a longitudinal section.

According to the sketches, the new post office will face Foster avenue. It will occupy a space 130 feet wide and 119 feet long on the southwest corner lot at the intersection of Ballard and Foster. Total height of the structure from the ground to the top of the roof will be about 40 feet. The outside wall will be about 39 feet high. A flag pole surmounted by a metal American eagle will rise from a limestone base at the entrance of the building.

At the left of the entrance are the offices of the postmaster and postoffice inspector. At the right are the money order and registry departments. Of the left side of the lobby is the office of the assistant postmaster. Back of the lobby are parcel post, stamp and general delivery windows. The work room at the back has a floor space of 200 square feet. At the rear of the building is the mailing vestibule.

The Ballard street view of the postoffice shows six windows in the vestibule, four in the work room and three big and three small windows in the lobby. The front view shows two windows near each end of the building and five huge arched openings. Four of these are windows and one the vestibule door. Each arch extends from the ground three-fourth of the way to the eaves.

ROAD FUND TO BE TOO SMALL

Prices of Land Hiked to Boom Figures; Pledges Must Be Collected.

Should every dollar pledged for purchase of right-of-way for the Fort Worth and Denver railway through Gray county be collected, the amount necessary would still be $6,000 short, Mel B. Davis, chairman of the committee, announced yesterday following a meeting of guarantors.

The cause of the huge deficit is largely due to the exorbitant price of land inside the city limits. Members of the committee declared that landowners were asking more than boom day prices for lots through which the road must pass. Some land outside the city limits also was much higher than anticipated.

The committee is having considerable difficulty collecting pledges, and will have to take other steps immediately. Several condemnation suits will be necessary.

"We wish persons who pledged money would send us checks immediately and not cause us to take steps to collect," Mel B. Davis, chairman of the committee, said yesterday.

WILD SCENES DEVELOP WITH CLIMAX NEAR

BILLION DOLLAR BILL IS MENACED BY SALES TAX FOES

MUST BALANCE BUDGET

FINANCIAL STABILITY OF NATION IS
GOAL

BY CECIL B. DICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—Resorting to the only drastic means they could to save the billion dollar tax bill, democratic leaders today summarily adjourned a fiery-tempered house amid the wildest scenes of late years.

The move, an effort to save the bill from complete destruction, came after opponents of a sales tax (as trimmed anew in propositions approved by the leadership of both parties).

The spectacular situation was led to a climax, when the sponsor of the bill, Representative Clegg of Georgia, took the floor in the middle of the afternoon after the third defeat and said while many members stood applauding—that the house was not "in a proper frame of mind to legislate." He suggested a cool off until consideration is resumed Tuesday and moved adjournment.

Speaker Garner hurried into the chamber and resumed his gavel as members stood, some shouting and others holding to a quiet tension.

Need Real Money

Seizing the opportunity, Major Leader Rainey turned on his colleagues, pleaded for the bill and said:

"This is a crucial hour in the history of this republic and there are many of you who do not seem to realize it. We must balance the budget and we must balance it with real taxes and real money. This house, I realize, at the present time is a runaway house. You are adopting measures here without proper consideration.

"You are opposed to communism and so am I. I want to maintain this government as it is, but let me tell you—during this congress, and you have put the capshod on all of it at the present time, we have a longer step in the direction of communism than any other country in the world ever made except Russia."

It was after three hours of bitter debate that the bi-partisan foe of

GREGORY MANGIN UPSETS SHIELDS TO WIN U. S. TITLE

DAVIS CUPPER IS BEATEN OUT IN FOUR SETS

NO. 11 WAS PREVIOUSLY NOT CONSIDERED CONTENDER

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—Gregory S. Mangin, Newark, who, according to his own admission "never was anything before," crowded into the front rank of America's tennis juniors today by scoring a smashing four-set victory over Big Francis X. Shields, New York, in the finals of the national indoor tournament.

Mangin, 24 years old and late of Georgetown University, gave a dazzling exhibition in humbling the Davis cup star, 10-3, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, before 4,000 cheering fans. The triumph of the country's eleventh ranking player over the tall internationalist, ranked No. 3, was a popular one.

Following the final match, Mangin received the big championship cup from Jean Borotra of France, four-time winner and defending champion, who was eliminated in the quarter-finals by Berkeley Bell.

The Davis cup doubles pair, George Lott, Jr., Chicago, and Johnny Van Ryn, Philadelphia, had little difficulty subduing Mangin and Berkeley Bell in the finals for the tandem title by scores of 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. Mangin, who had only a few minutes to rest after beating Shields, played listlessly.

Lott and Van Ryn succeeded the French pair, Boussus and Borotra, as doubles champions.

NEW YORK, March 19 (AP)—As a result of his spectacular victory over Frank Shields in the finals of the national indoor tennis tournament today, Gregory Mangin of Newark will lead the American team against France in the international matches starting Monday night.

The United States lawn tennis association announced Mangin and Shields will represent this country in singles, with George Lott, Jr., and John Van Ryn, new indoor doubles champions, again playing the doubles.

Athletics Are Better Than the Rival Cardinals

By ALAN GOULD

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Slightly more than three weeks in advance of the gateway for the major league baseball pennant races, the prospects are that the Philadelphia Athletics will be better situated to win again than their world series conquerors, the St. Louis Cardinals.

In each case the New York clubs, the Yankees and Giants, appear likely to be the strongest challengers, although the word has filtered back from the West coast to "watch the Chicago Cubs."

Both championship clubs have been performing in Florida under some handicap, minus outstanding regulars.

This is especially true of the Cardinals. Not only have the world champions missed their two holdouts, Gelbert and Hafey, but the best of the regulars have conditioned themselves slowly and the rookie pitchers, with the exception of "Tex" Carleton, have not made the experts forget that Burling Grimes is no longer a mainstay.

The chances of the Yankees to stop the A's hinges almost entirely on their pitching. Joe McCarthy's outfit has the whallop to average around seven or eight runs per game all season but they won't get anywhere when the opposition tallies nine or ten.

Connie Mack admits he will be "much afraid" of the Yanks, if, as he is told, his rivals are strong enough to start a youngster like Otto Saltszger at second base instead of Lazzeri.

Spudgers Looking Rather Promising

WICHITA FALLS, March 19 (AP)—The first intra-squad practice game since the arrival early this week of the Spudder regulars will be played tomorrow. Manager Hank announced today, at the conclusion of a routine drill that lasted through three hours of batting, pitching, and fielding practice.

After six consecutive days of perfect weather, Severid declared today he was well pleased with the general condition of his men, and the work has developed a flock of real prospects from among the first year men in camp.

To newcomers who give early signs of living up to expectations on the Spudgers' pennant scheme are Harry Green, big first baseman, and Furman Owens, catcher. Green is from the Pacific Coast league and Owens from the Piedmont loop.

DODGERS, PHILLIES TIE

WINTERHAVEN, Fla., March 19 (AP)—A five-run rally in the eighth gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 5-5 tie with the Phillies today. The game was called at the end of the tenth with consent of both managers.

MACK TO STAND PAT ON 1931 LINE-UP TO BATTLE FOR FOURTH TITLE IN ROW

BY ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor

FORT MYERS, March 19 (AP)—The Athletics face a hard struggle this year in their fight to shatter American league precedent with a fourth successive pennant victory, declares Connie Mack.

The 69-year-old pilot feels the club will be extremely fortunate to win again, but he places great confidence, nevertheless, in the ability of the players who have topped the league for three straight years and won the world's series twice. He stands pat on his 1931 lineup.

"If my three old reliables, Grover, Earnshaw and Waaberg, can do near as well as they did last year when they won close to 70 games for us, we should do pretty well again," he told me.

"Even if they do not we have some younger men who may come through when needed. Mahaffey is young and very promising. He pitched good ball last year.

"Krause has the form and everything required to make a good pitcher, except experience and some more weight. It is just a question when he will come through. Bowman is doing very well and so is Cain. Ed Rommel is a reliable man. Altogether I plan to keep about nine pitchers.

"You know we have to rely on the pitching and hitting, as every club does. We have not changed our methods of playing baseball. You will find next year that the slugging will have just as important a part as ever.

"Jimmies' to Start

"I do not figure to make any changes in the other regular positions. Roetger has looked very good indeed in the work at first base but I think when we open the season you will find the two Jimmies on the job—Fox at first and Dukes at third. Bishop will be on second and Williams at short, although you know I still have Joe Boley.

"The outfield will be Simmons, Haas and Miller again but I regard very highly the work of Roger Cramer. He is a much improved player. Ed Coleman also looks promising and I will keep him.

"Mickey Cochrane should have a great year. He had a lot to trouble him last season, but he is in very good condition this spring. He is always hustling. It was because of this that he ran a risk going after a foul ball in the third exhibition game with the Cardinals, stumbling and slightly spraining his wrist. Having an 'Madjeski, the latter a very good looking boy, will be the reserve catchers."

CAMBRIDGE WINS

PUTNEY - ON - THAMES, Mar. 19 (AP)—The eight-oared crew of Cambridge University, rowing strongly and smoothly, today swept to victory over Oxford on the Thames by five full lengths to make it nine straight victors and 43 for the light blues in the century-old series. Cambridge rowed the shortened four mile course from Putney bridge to Mortlake brewery in 19 minutes, 11 seconds.

HOUSTON IS BEATEN

HOUSTON, March 19 (AP)—Gettins to George Washington Payne and Mike Cventros in the early innings, the Rochester Red Wings here today broke Houston's winning streak in the spring round robin series by turning back the Buffs, 12-8.

It was the first start of the season for the veteran Buff hurlers, and the Red Wings gave them a merry welcome.

BROWNS BEAT BUFFALO

WEST PALM BEACH, March 19 (AP)—Playing their first exhibition game of the season, the St. Louis Browns defeated Buffalo of the International league here this afternoon 4-1. Sam Gray and Wallace Hebert held the Bisons to six hits.

RALPH WINEGARNER, ONCE WITH PAMPANS, LOOKS GOOD

Other Former Greys Making Names for Themselves in Big Leagues Now.

Pampa baseball fans will be interested to know that one of the most promising newcomers to the camp of the Cleveland Indians this year is Ralph Winegarner, a former member of the famous Pampa Greys baseball team of 1929. Winegarner was a shortstop of no mean ability when with the Pampa aggregation.

The following year he went to Shreveport in the Texas league where he starred at third base. He is in the camp of the Indians as a pitcher. He may be farmed out this season, but dispatches from the Indians' training camp says that a close watch will be kept on the rookie if he is farmed.

Winegarner learned plenty of baseball from Emmer "Red" Gober while he was with the Greys.

Other members of the Greys' squad who are being closely watched in the baseball world are Tank Horton, catcher with Topeka in the Western league, Grover Seitz, outfielder with the Rochester Redbirds in the International league, and Os Eckhardt, outfielder with the Boston Braves.

TRACK SQUAD HAS INTENSIVE WORK AHEAD

NEWCOMERS NOT GIVEN BENEFIT OF DOPE IN MEETS

Coach Mitchell will start training his track and field charges hard long tomorrow afternoon as the county meet is less than two weeks away. The meet will be the first for the Harvester squad this season and the coach is anxious to make a good showing despite a team of newcomers.

The boys are still being worked at different positions, but the coach expects to have them divided early this week. He has some promising material, but it will take time to develop it and that is what the coach lacks. His field men are his greatest worry.

The four lettermen back are apt to come through this season. They are Joe Kahl and Leon Robinson in the dashes, Wayne Kelly in the mile, and Robert Woodward at the pole vault. Bill Finley is the distance star back from last season. He was not "uncovered" until late in the season and failed to letter.

The coach announced yesterday that he would have his entry list available sometime this week and would forward it to LeFors where the meet will be held this year.

SPORTS MARK TIME

SHREVEPORT, March 19 (AP)—Manager George Sisler and his Sports marked time today, with the first exhibition game of the season scheduled tomorrow. The Sislermen will meet the Louisiana Oil nine of Shreveport. There were no new arrivals in camp today and only one workout was held. The morning practice was cancelled because of wet grounds.

THREE TIE IN GOLF TOURNEY ON SATURDAY

SARAZEN, RUNYAN AND MANGUM LEAD PACK

MIAMI Biltmore Golf Course, Coral Gables, Fla., March 19 (AP)—A three-way tie by sharpshooting professionals who counted 143 strokes for their 36 holes play over the difficult Miami Biltmore course marked the halfway distance today in the $10,000 Coral Gables Miami Biltmore open golf tournament.

Geno Sarazen, former national open champion, divided 36-hole honors with Paul Runyan, New York, and Ray Mangum, New York.

With more than 100 of the nation's best professional and amateur golfers seeking a place among the low 60 professionals and low 10 amateurs and ties who were listed tonight as qualifiers, Harry Cooper, Chicago, stole individual honors for the day with a sterling 32-36-68 to tie the course record, held jointly by Walter Hagen, Detroit, and Henry Clui, New York.

Ralph Redmon, St. Petersburg, Fla., with a 147 for his two day's play, was low amateur, with Gus Novotny, Chicago, scoring a 150 to stand second.

Among the professionals, Johnny Farrell, another former national open champion, was in second place, with two 72's for a 144. One stroke behind him were Archie Hambrick, Zansville, Ohio, Harry Cooper and Walter Hagen.

In the 146 class were Herman Barron, Port Chester, N. Y., Denny Shute, Hudson, Ohio, and Bill Melhorn, New York, while the 147 division was divided among Mike Turnesa, New York, Ralph Guldahl, St. Louis, Clayton Afridge, Tampa, Fla., Willie McFarlane New York, and Redmond, the leading amateur.

Other scores included: Joe Ezar, Waco, Texas, 80-76-157.

BLUES BEAT EXPORTERS

BEAUMONT, March 19 (AP)—In a closely played game the Kansas City Blues defeated the Exporters here this afternoon, 8-2. A total of 11 errors was made. Boken for the visitors got the only extra base hit, a triple. The teams play again tomorrow.

FERRILL SIGNS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 19 (AP)—Rick Ferrill, holdout catcher of St. Louis Browns, signed a contract late today after a conference with Business Manager Bill Fris. Terms of the contract were not disclosed but the document was for one year only.

MEXICAN GRAPPLER TO BE FOE OF WELCH ON THURSDAY

Red Michael Scheduled To Be Seen With Japanese in Another Feature.

The first wrestling match of the season for Pampa will be held Wednesday night in the Pla-Mor auditorium. The big match of the night will bring together Pancho Vitela, Mexican flash, and Roy Welch of Berger, one of the most promising boys in his class. A second main event will see Red Michael and Togo Soto, Japanese sensation. An effort is being made to have the two boys wear the jackets.

The semi-final and opening bouts have not been arranged. Sailor Otis Cligman, local favorite, is scheduled to appear here in the near future, as are Joe Kopecky, Jack Rose, Tex Watkins, and a few other top notchers.

Vitela needs no introduction to a Pampa wrestling audience. His last appearance will be remembered by everyone who saw him defeat Gorilla Cossu in one of the most thrilling matches seen here in many months. Vitela is one of the fastest men in the game and hard to beat.

Welch has been rolling everything

Football Game Will Be Delayed

The big football game scheduled for Friday afternoon has been postponed until after the county track and field meet April 1 and 2 because coaches want to use several track and field men when the Harvesters tangle with the ex-Harvesters. However, fans will see a game at Harvester park Friday afternoon, when the squads will be divided.

If fans thought they saw players in new positions last Tuesday when the Mitchell-Fox game was played, they will get a surprise Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock if information leaking out is true. It is rumored that one backfield will be composed of Hoot Fullingim, Jim Pool, Rufus Walker, and Wayne Kelly. The coaches are looking for a couple of new backfield men and they are going to try several old linemen in backfield positions.

Another combination will be Sam Turner, Claude Sullins, H. L. Ledrick and Loyd Hamilton. Other combinations will also be used.

Although the boys have been out for spring football for more than a month they show no signs of letting up yet. There are so many boys determined to make places on the team that there has been rivalry from the start.

ANNOUNCING A MORE EFFICIENT Distributing System for Lubricating Oil

On Monday, March 21st, a new lubricating oil station will be opened at the corner of Ballard and Kingsmill streets. (Just north of the Rose Motor Company.) You will find no elaborate ten or fifteen thousand dollar investment. The equipment is limited to the necessities for the prompt servicing of the lubricating oil needs of your car—either by the quart or crankcase full.

A barrel of crude oil (42 Gallons), at average Mid-Continent prices, is worth about eighty cents, or a little under two cents per gallon. The same size barrel of lubricating oil at thirty cents per quart costs $50.40.

$1.18 per gallon or $49.30 per barrel seems to be a pretty high price for refining and distributing lubricating oil, doesn't it?

Premium Oils are from selected Paraffin base crudes. They are de-waxed, filtered and carefully and scientifically blended. The specifications are the highest suggested by the Society of Automotive Engineers. Only our direct and more efficient system of selling enables the price to be—

Dimmitt Girls Again Champs of Texas Courts

CELESTE, March 19 (AP)—Dimmitt's brilliant passing attack bewildered the Celeste Blue Devils here tonight and the Panhandle bases annex their second Texas A. A. U. high school basketball championship in a row, winning 42-33.

It was a close game during the first period, but the Celeste girls, showing fatigue from their hard semi-final with Bailey, weakened before the intermission, at which time Dimmitt lead 20-13. The Devils staged a brief comeback on the third period and came close to tying the score, but again weakened and allowed the champions to increase their lead.

Bailey took third place by beating Howard 44-18.

AMARILLO KIWANIS ATTEND BANQUET HERE; LOCAL CLUB IS PRAISED FOR MANY ACTIVITIES

More than 140 attended the Kiwanis club Easter review and Ladies night banquet at the Schnelder hotel Friday night. Guests included 25 members of the Amarillo Kiwanis club. Judge H. C. Randolph of Amarillo made the chief talk of the evening on "Benefits of Kiwanis and other clubs."

Judge Randolph outlined the activities of the various civic clubs of the Panhandle and the good they were doing at this critical time. They are working unselfishly for others, he said. The judge declared that the Pampa Kiwanis club was one of the liveliest in the state. Other guests were members of the Pampa junior traffic police sponsored by the club. The boys told of their work and aims. Pampa Boy Scouts and Girl Guides also attended. Short talks were made by the Rev. A. A. Hyde, president of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout council, C. A. Clark, Scout executive, and J. D. Sackett, scoutmaster. The boys gave a demonstration of club work.

The address of welcome was made by A. G. "Pete" Post, president of the club. Judge Newton P. Willis was toastmaster. Other numbers on the program included dances by Leslie Nurrie and members of his

Navy Fires Its Big Guns

Simple Methods of Obtaining Proper Sight - Mechanism Helps the Gunners Shoot At Hidden Targets.

WHEN a hunter shoots at a rabbit he demands that he should be able to see the creature at which he aims. Otherwise he has slight hope that his shot will reach the mark.

In this respect everyday marksmanship has nothing in common with the target practice of the fighting fleet. Naval gunnery is akin to the effort of a hunter to shoot over the top of a hill and hit a target somewhere down the far slope beyond the crest—a target well beyond the range of his vision.

The big guns of a modern dreadnought are designed for shooting at objects which can not be seen—objects that are as effectively hidden as if concealed on the down slope beyond the top of a hill. The rabbit thus hidden would be comparatively safe, but the invisible target of the long-range gun is in the same danger that would attach to the game animal so unfortunate as to be within plain sight of his pursuer.

To the layman the use of big guns on the up-to-date battleship is filled with mystery. The average citizen finds something uncanny in the ability of the naval gunner to shoot at a hidden object and score a clean hit oftener than he scores failure. Such skill is difficult of understanding by the man on shore.

Mysterious Skill

The marksman on a battleship must contend with the curvature of the earth. At a height of forty feet above the water, the traveler has a range of vision of practically eight miles. Beyond that limit the surface of the sea is cut off by the horizon. If this limitation marked the stopping point of effective marksmanship the big guns of the world's navies would never have come into existence. The value of the powerful armament begins after the range of vision has been exceeded.

In naval warfare the American fighting fleet can hit an object at a distance of twenty miles.

The location of an enemy ship is determined by scout cruisers or by aircraft and the exact position given the battleship by radio. From the fighting tops of the dreadnoughts the lookouts can discern the masts of the enemy craft at 35,000 yards, in clear weather.

With the distance determined, there is ingenious use of triangulation and higher mathematics involving the angle of approach and the relative speeds of the two vessels. The calculations serve as a basis for establishing the range of fire—the precise spot above the horizon at which the long-distance guns are to be aimed if they would hit the enemy. The actual firing is controlled by a director's scope, which is a marvel of mechanical ingenuity.

Single Trigger Used

The director's scope is a large round instrument with a telescope at the top and a trigger at the bottom. The telescope is to be sighted as if it were one of the guns of attack. Sighted with the guns, the instrument points in the precise direction towards which the weapons are pointed. The telescope lens contains a set of fine cross-hairs, to enable the sighting officer to know when the pointing bears directly on the target. When the target is exactly across the meeting point of the hairs, the officer knows that each gun is aimed at the object against which the telescope is directed.

At this juncture the instrument proves its further worth. The device controls the trigger of every big gun on the ship. The discharge of all of them is effected by a pull at the trigger of the director's scope at the exact moment at which the correct aim is established by the telescope.

One of the things that strike

THE BIG GUNS SPEAK - U.S.S. OKLAHOMA

the layman with peculiar force is that the sighting of the guns is attuned to the rolling of the ship, and that the correct angle of elevation actually is provided by this motion. The heavy guns can not be moved up and down with the same fine precision possible with the hunter's rifle. For this reason the accuracy of the pointing level depends on the roll. By means of the director's scope the sighting officer is able to determine the precise point in the rolling motion at which all the guns bear directly on the target. This is the moment at which he pulls the master trigger.

Training The Marksmen

The United States Navy maintains a division of Fleet Training, to which is allotted the responsibility for keeping the ships on their toes as to effectiveness of marksmanship. The branch of the service keeps tab on every phase of training activity. One of its important functions is to study and analyze the record of each shot that is fired, each mine that is launched, each torpedo that is discharged, and each bomb that is dropped from aircraft. The purpose of the study is to draw conclusions concerning the gunnery performance of each ship and determine wherein it may be improved.

Dress Rehearsal

The first step in firing practice is a dress rehearsal before a board of observers, or umpires. Not a shot is fired in the preliminaries. The one aim of the observers is to determine to what extent the officers and crews have been trained along uniform and correct lines, and to see that the ship and its equipment are ready for action. This rehearsal makes it possible to standardize the best methods of training, and serves the further purpose of preventing a waste of ammunition by a ship not ready in every detail.

Dress rehearsal is followed by firing at short range. The first practice shots are at distances of less than one mile with each ship firing singly. The advancing year sees the distances increased in accordance with the size of guns carried by the individual ships, until each gun fires at the maximum of its range. In the case of battleships the practice usually averages ten miles, with some firing at 15 miles or more.

"It may seem difficult to believe," remarked a seasoned naval officer, "that a fourteen-inch projectile weighing about 1400 pounds, can be hurled through the air at more than 2400 feet a second and hit a target 140 feet long and 40 feet high at a distance of ten to fifteen miles. This, however, is one of the things we have as steady diet in gunnery practice. I do not claim that all of the projectiles hit the target, but the percentage is such that, in combat, it would let the other fellow know that we meant business, and that we knew our job."

The year's gun practice moves by progressive stages until it reaches the point at which the firing is conducted with the ships in battle formation. All available battleships are assembled in arrangement identical with that which would be required if the fleet were going into combat. The handling of the vessels is along the same lines called for by actual warfare. During this phase of practice there is constant launching of soft-nose torpedoes against the battleship column, and the big vessels are required to dodge these missiles as if they had been directed by the craft of an enemy. Along with target invasion—each plane towing a target for the anti-aircraft batteries aboard the battleships. The picture is that of complete warfare, and there is a mighty thrill in viewing the great dreadnoughts belch forth the smoke of their mighty ordnance while dodging torpedoes and firing at aircraft.

Much Powder Burned

The spectacular practice thus conducted utilizes vast quantities of ammunition, but this is regarded as one of the essential elements of naval expense. Gunnery experts have figured that the 13 battleships of the treaty navy, properly trained in gunnery, and firing simultaneously, are able to have 500,000 pounds of projectiles in the air at the same instant.

In naval practice gunnery includes the discharge of torpedoes, the dropping of bombs and depth charges, and the laying of mines. While the gun practice is under way there is constant training with torpedoes as well. The principal work along this line is conducted by the destroyers, submarines and airplanes. During the first part of the year the problems are simple, and intended for the training of new personnel and the testing of materials. Towards the end of the season the program becomes more ambitious. This stage of training sees destroyers in formation of nineteen, steaming at 25 knots an hour, sometimes making a smoke screen, engaged in the gentle art of firing torpedoes at the sides of battleships. In this formation the individual destroyer is within 125 yards of its nearest neighbors.

There is an amazing quality in the torpedo practice of the submarines. When they are once submerged, the tin fish, as these craft are known to the men of the fleet, have no way of seeing one another. There is no way of dodging. Each craft must depend on the thorough training of its own organization and on the skill of the personnel aboard the others. A single false move, or misinterpretation of orders, may result in tragedy for the craft beneath the surface.

There is brisk competition between vessels for superior achievements in marksmanship, stimulated by cash awards for scores that meet or surpass established standards. In some cases the money prize amounts to twenty dollars for each man of the gun crew.

Twenty-five years ago the Navy was firing its large turret guns at distances of about four miles, as compared with the 15-mile practice of today. In view of this change, naval authorities take pride in citing that the effectiveness of gun fire up to 10 miles is as high as that which formerly prevailed at four. This showing is their argument in favor of standard training.

Curtis Praises President Hoover

CROWN POINT, Ind., March 19 (AP)—Vice-President Charles Curtis told a county republican rally here tonight that better times are returning—and cannot fail to arrive because the citizens of America are working, planning and cooperating to well.

The vice-president's message was a tribute to the executive ability of President Hoover, a plea for continued confidence in America, and an admonition that the United States has gone through more serious times of depression than the present and always came out stronger than before.

"That great administrator, that internationally known engineer, that careful organizer and great student of the needs of the country"—thus the vice-president referred to Herbert Hoover. Speaking of returning good times, Mr. Curtis said "in this country there is a loyalty in the common good among all our people which will go forth to rout the economic peril."

Improvements in the credit and banking situations were listed by Vice-President Curtis as "signs which indicate conditions are changing for the better."

Tax Reduction by Citizens and Not Societies Sought

STAMFORD, March 19. (AP)—Coordination on a statewide basis of cost-of-government studies by taxpayer group—object: reduced public expenditures—will be undertaken by the three regional chambers of commerce in Texas.

A conference to that end has been called for Tuesday morning, in the Texas hotel at Fort Worth, it was announced today by D. A. Bandeen, manager of the West Texas chamber; and the plan of coordination will be set on foot by Bandeen; Hubert M. Harrison, manager of the East Texas chamber of commerce; and Ray Leeman, manager of the South Texas chamber. The three are inviting a fourth group to "throw in" with them. That is the Texas Industrial Commercial and Agricultural conference, Dallas, C. A. Jay, executive vice-president.

"We want to further protect our own federation, giving it the benefit of state-wide hookup," said Bandeen. "It also is our purpose, aided by the other regional chambers of commerce and, we hope, the Dallas organization, to render unnecessary the various tax rackets which have sprung up lately, attempting to organize local taxpayer units and collecting assessments from them. The movement to study governmental costs, with the end of effecting wholesome economies, deserves to go forward on a united front, with waste and duplication eliminated."

Beer Measure Is Passed Favorably

WASHINGTON, Mar. 19. (AP)—A bill to permit four per cent beer was reported favorably by a senate sub-committee today with a majority contending it would "promote temperance and decrease crime" while a minority held it would "add to enforcement difficulties."

The action laid the issue before the full manufacturers committee, which is expected soon to decide whether to report it to the senate. The measure, sponsored by Senator Bingham (R., Conn.), would amend the Volstead act to legalize the manufacture of beer containing not more than four per cent of alcohol by volume. It provides for sale only by brewers and dealers in the original package or case, except that the beer might be served in bottles by "legitimate hotels and restaurants."

A majority report favoring the bill was signed by two of the three members of the sub-committee which conducted extensive hearings. They were Senators Hatfield (R., W. Va.) chairman, and Bulkley (D., Ohio), Senator Hatfield (R., W. Va.), dissenting.

TAXES--

(Continued from page 1) the sales tax that forms the big part of the bill had struck out, by 139 to 103. A provision to allow American taxpayers credit for income levies paid to foreign governments.

Led by Representatives La Guardia (A. N. Y.), independent chairman, and Doughton (D. N. C.), the anti-sales tax group yesterday, forced the war-time surtax rates into the bill with an increase to 7 per cent on incomes of more than $8,000 in a drive to replace the 2.25 per cent manufacturers levy that is expected to yield $600,000,000. A vote on the sales tax will be reached next week.

Garner For Sales Tax. Democratic and republican leaders decided to go on the line on tax bill to enable the government to balance the budget. As the surest and most effective means to vital end, the sales tax plan was adopted after prolonged and exhaustive deliberation.

Laying aside his personal objections to sales tax, the Texas democrat added he was ready "to yield temporarily every economic opinion I have ever held to reach that goal—the financial salvation of my country."

HAPPY "MAYOR"

Several Los Angeles families, ousted from their homes, banded together several months ago and moved into shacks they built on vacant land near the outskirts of the city. New the colony, named "Hoover Town," has a population of over 700 persons and E. A. Hanna, shown above, is recognized as "mayor." Everybody's happy in Hoover Town, inasmuch as rent is free and welfare organizations feed the entire community.

Rotarians Take Program Friday to Panhandle Club

Twenty-three members of the Pampa Rotary club attended an inter-city meeting Friday noon with the Panhandle club. President C. P. Buckler presided over the program part of the meeting.

Travis Lively spoke on fellowship and H. H. Durston, executive general agent of the Fort Worth & Denver Northern railway, told of construction of the life from Childress to Pampa.

A feature was an operation by three Pampa members on Frank A. Paul, past president of the Panhandle club. F. M. Gwin as Dr. Lorenz, Philip R. Pond as Dr. Brinkley and F. M. Foster as Dr. Mayo performed an operation that eliminated all things that were supposed to keep Mr. Paul from being a good Rotarian and a good citizen.

Those attending from Pampa were: Dr. W. C. Mitchell, Odus Mitchell, G. C. Malone, Bob Bra-shiers, Jack Cunningham, Bugs Fincher, Tom E. Rose, C. P. Buckler, Dr. A. Cole, Tom Perkins, F. M. Foster, A. B. Zahn, Lynn Boyd, F. M. Gwin, L. N. McCullough, C. T. Hunkapillar, Dr. A. R. Sawyer, M. K. Brown, Travis Lively, C. S. Goston, Philip R. Pond, Marshall Oden, and P. O. Sanders.

M. K. Brown was guest song leader for the meeting at the request of J. L. Graham of the Panhandle club.

Shanghai Pact Believed Nearer

SHANGHAI Sunday, March 20. (AP)—Participants in the peace negotiations which have been going on here for several days wound up a long conference late last night without having achieved any definite results. But they appeared optimistic and announced the parley would be resumed on Monday.

Both Japanese and Chinese authorities were present at the meeting in the British consulate and word came from Nanking that officials there were hopeful of establishing a definite armistice within a few days. Nelson T. Johnson the American minister, said there had been progress on the path to peace.

Quio Tai-Chi, China's vice-minister for foreign affairs; Mamoru Shigenishi, Japan's minister to China, and the ministers of the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy, participated in the conference here.

Japanese troops continued on the way out of China, by transport and headquarters announced 20,000 of the 55,000 men sent here from Japan would be withdrawn.

Mrs. W. B. Hamilton is ill at her home here.

SUES RUDY

One million dollars is the sum that Roberta Hudson McKay, above, thinks Rudy Vallee should pay her for alleged piracy of her song, "Vagabond Lover." In a suit filed at Cleveland, Ohio, she charged he transformed the song into the popular "I'm Just a Vagabond Lover."

California produces practically all this country's lemons (no pun intended!).

CRAMER CLUE FOUND AT SEA

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands, Mar. 19. (AP)—A Dutch trawler pounding along through the North Atlantic stopped long enough to fish a package out of the sea and today when it was turned over to the American consulate it was found to contain papers belonging to Parker D. Cramer, American flier lost last August in an attempt to fly across the ocean.

Cramer's flying license was among them, a permit for his flight across the Atlantic, a description of his ship and a letter from his mother. The trawler picked them up just east of the Orkney islands. Cramer was trying to map a route north of the great circle between the United States and Europe.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 19 (AP)—One man was killed and seven persons were injured late today when an explosion leveled a two-story saloon and boarding house in south Milwaukee, a suburb.

Parker Rules on Opening of Wells

AUSTIN, March 19 (AP)—R. D. Parker, chief oil and gas supervisor of the Texas railroad commission, said today that wells in the East Texas oil field flowing more than their allowable amount of "flow tests" would be required to remain closed until the excess had been made up.

He promulgated the ruling when Col. Louis Davidson, in command of the Texas national guard backing up enforcement of commission orders—reported to Governor R. S. Sterling that one of the Constan-tin wells had been opened yesterday to produce 1,500 barrels.

Parker also ruled that where flow tests are demanded they will be held to 15 minutes duration. He said W. F. Knode, commission petroleum engineer in East Texas had advised that 15 minutes was sufficient time for flow tests.

John Puryear, candidate for state representative, was in Pampa yesterday. His home is in Wellington.

"Homesickness" may bring Virginia Dawes home soon. Shown above in Paris the daughter of General Charles G. Dawes is reported to have told friends that she will sail for the United States.

Wheat Marketing Plan Condemned

WASHINGTON, March 19. (AP)—"Irrubled developed today on Capitol Hill over administration suggestions to use reconstruction finance corporation funds to finance foreign sales of the farm board's surplus wheat and cotton."

Senator Smith (D., S. C.), author of the resolution making $200,000,000 immediately available for crop loans, declared against diverting half of this for financing export credit.

He said it can have nothing but a "disastrous effect upon the market at this time."

Meanwhile, Secretary Hyde and Chairman Stone of the Farm Board gave assurance there was no intention of "dumping" these surplus stores or disrupting orderly marketing plans previously announced.

"The process of exporting the surplus now and getting it out of the country will increase the price of next year's crop," the secretary said in a statement tonight.

Good Farming Better

This is something new, something better, built by a company that built the first tractor. That was a success in 1909. They were leaders then and are leaders now.

The new improved Oliver Hart-Parr engine has: BETTER COOLING—A new method of circulation.

BETTER LUBRICATION—Oil to every bearing through drilled leads.

BETTER COMBUSTION—Burns all the fuel.

PRACTICALLY NO CRANKCASE DILUTION—Better cooling, better lubrication, better combustion combine to practically eliminate that enemy of long engine life and satisfactory service—crankcase dilution.

Before you buy a Tractor don't fail to see the new Oliver Hart-Parr, the greatest Tractor ever built. Sold by—

CATTLE TRADE SLOW

KANSAS CITY, March 19. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade this week got off to a slow start with packers taking advantage of a fairly liberal run on Monday to enforce a sharp price decline on fed steers and the better grades of heifers and mixed yearlings. At midweek, however, there was a reaction on fed steers with early losses partly, and at some markets more than recovered. Good to choice heifers and yearlings failed to rally and are 25-50 lower than a week ago. Chicago had the week's top of 8.75 on long yearlings and secured 8.70 for best heavy steers. Bulk of stocker and feeder steers ranged at 4.25 to 6.25 and finishers paid up to 6.85 for lightly bred fleshy feeders. Aggregate receipts at eleven markets were around 136,000 against 131,722 last week.

Fat lambs opened the week with sharply higher prices but subsequently declined left value unevenly steady to 25 higher with last week's close. On the high spot Chicago scored 8.35 for choice fed lambs and had a late top of 7.50. Initial shipments of Arizona springers sold up to 9.25. The supply of approximately 318,400 was about the same as a week ago. Hog prices are unevenly steady to 50 lower as compared with last week's close, the lighter weights generally showing more loss. St. Louis had a late top of 4.75. Total offerings at eleven markets 401,000 against 428,599 last week.

COTTON DECLINES

NEW ORLEANS, March 19. (AP)—Considerable activity featured in cotton's short week end session in the cotton market. The market opened weak on poor cables and during the report that the farm loan board was contemplating liquidation of its cotton holdings. Before the resulting liquidation was absorbed prices had declined 15-16 points from the close of yesterday. In the second hour most of this early loss was recovered owing to a denial from Washington that the farm loan board was preparing to liquidate holdings. Values recovered 11-13 points from the low and closed at or near the top, very steady and showing a net decline for the day of 2-5 points. Port receipts 23,715 for season 8,891,478, last season 8,387,267. Exports 13,869 for season 6,454,925, last season 5,274,575. Port stock 4,535,416, last year 4,933,008. Combined shipboard stocks at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 166,128, last year 82,102. Spot sales at southern markets 19,384, last year 6,234.

STOCKS TIGHTEN

NEW YORK, March 19. (AP)—The decline in stocks lost momentum today, though it was not entirely checked. Prices hardened after a dip at the opening, making virtually complete recovery of moderate losses, but eased again toward the close when week-end covering orders proved insufficient to take up offerings. In a few prominent issues did net losses amount to a point, the average decline being just half that amount. The temporary firmness coincided with heavy sales of Krueger & Toll American certificates, which the stock exchange has been asked to suspend from trading. What action would follow this request from Stockholm was not disclosed by the governors, but traders actively took advantage of the open market to let holdings go, the quotation dropped to 1, working back to 1 1/2 when pressure slackened. Turnover in this one issue accounted for virtually half the day's total volume, 826,330 shares.

WHEAT DROPS

CHICAGO, March 19. (AP)—Overwhelmed by tremendous selling rushes, wheat underwent a low break in prices today, capping the climax of $50,000,000 estimated losses to farmers this week. In the final dealings, however, grain values developed notable rallying power which made itself felt after announcements from Washington apparently showing that a proposed big selling campaign aboard to dispose of part of vast government financed holdings of United States wheat would be confined to non-competitive fields heretofore unreached. Meanwhile, wheat had temporarily fallen 3 1/2 cents a bushel today, to the lowest point since Dec. 10, and corn and oats had outdone the season's previous bottom quotations.

Wheat closed nervous, 1 1/2-1 3/4 cents under yesterday's finish, corn 1/2-3/4 down, oats 1/4-1/2 off, and provisions showing 2 cents to 30 cents decline.

Corn crashed down with wheat, and as a result it was figured that Illinois farmers would only receive 18-20 cents a bushel for their corn at interior stations. Oats gave way to the banish influence of corn.

Provisions sagged owing to weakness of cereals and of hog values. Closing indemnities: Wheat 22 1/2-23 1/2; Sept. 54 1/2-55 1/2; July 54 1/2-55 1/2; Sept. 56 1/2-57 1/2; Corn—May 36 3/4-37 1/2; July 38 1/2-39 1/2; Sept. 40 1/2-41 1/2.

In the community by Irvin Cole. Prof. T. M. Moore of Canyon was in charge of the poultry division. Dairy Cattle was judged at the farm of W. E. Minatree north of Pampa. E. R. Duke of Channing was in charge of that division. The livestock division was divided into three classes. Horses were from the stables of the Gray County Creamery, hogs from the R. R. Mitchell farm, and beef cattle from the H. A. Talley ranch, James Jackson was in charge. Ralph R. Thomas, county agent, was superintendent of the show. George W. Briggs, assisted by senior boys from Prof. J. L. Lester's vocational agricultural class, acted as secretary and clerks.

Guests of Board

The boys and their coaches were guests of the Board of City Development at lunch served at th high school cafeteria.

Although Pampa boys competed in several events they did not judge for prizes. Some of the Pampa boys made fine showings.

Judge Pearson was born and reared in Stewart county, Ga., graduating from Mercer university at Macon, Ga., with an A. B. degree in 1898. After teaching school one year, he attended the law school of George Washington university at Washington for three years, receiving an LL.B. degree in 1902. He worked and earned his way through law school. He practiced law in Atlanta, Ga., for nine years and moved to Amarillo in 1911.

He has been active in civic affairs and in all matters pertaining to the judiciary having served as president of the Amarillo Bar association. His candidacy is subject to the democratic primary. He observes in this connection, "I believe that all judicial decisions should be wholly non-partisan."

He was admitted to the bar in 1903 and has been engaged in the active practice of law in both State and Federal Courts for 29 years.

Houston Man Held in Killing

TEXARKANA, Ark., March 19. (AP)—Leo Posey, 35, of Houston was charged with murder in connection with the slaying at Boston, Texas, early today of Bud Wallington, 33, of Texarkana. Preliminary hearing was set for Monday.

Joe Beasley, in whose store the shooting occurred, and his estranged wife were exonerated after questioning.

An argument over his nine-year old daughter led to the shooting, Posey told officers. Beasley's wife is the former wife of Posey, and Wallington was Beasley's brother-in-law.

Posey said Wallington had interfered with his seeing his child and had threatened him. He said Wallington came to Beasley's store, where he was spending the night, and struck him.

Mrs. Jane Walker returned Monday from Denver where she attended the National Beauty operators convention.

These windows and the door are heavily grided. The architecture of the building is southwestern Spanish. A ledge surmounting the outside walls, just below the eaves is decorated with scrollery. At the front of the building this ledge, of limestone, has the caption, "United States Post Office" carved across it. Between "United States" and "Post Office" is an American eagle carved out of limestone. Iron balconies are at the base of the two front windows near the end of the structure. The roof will be constructed of red tile.

The basement will contain the boiler, fuel, storage space. The entire edifice will be built of limestone from Bedford, Ind., quarries. Construction is expected to start in May or June. It is expected the contract will be let in April.

Mrs. W. H. and Mrs. J. B. Logan of Lubbock visited in Pampa during the week-end.

J. N. Duncan was seriously ill yesterday at his residence here.

Local Officers Are Praised for Tracing Thefts

Ed Gormley, chief investigator for the national auto theft association, was in Pampa yesterday in connection with the recent recovery of 19 automobiles stolen by a ring operating in Texas and Colorado.

Mr. Gormley left no doubt in the minds of hearers concerning the men who furnished clues that the syndicate was operating extensively.

Mr. Gormley said that Sheriff Lon L. Blancett and his deputies uncovered evidence here that led to the eventual arrest of four men and the recovery of the machines. Officers of the Gray county sheriff's department discovered that numbers from wrecked automobiles were being transferred to stolen machines.

Mr. Gormley also declared that a deputy sheriff at Plainview had given him valuable clues. Arrests were made by state highway patrolmen of the Panhandle.

court for permission to file a petition in mandamus against W. O. Huggins of Houston, chairman of the state committee and the 31 committee-men, to compel acceptance of her application for a place on the July primary election ballot without her designating a place. She contends that the committee had no legal right to prescribe the plan of having the at-large candidates run for places. Her position is that all candidates should be grouped together, the three receiving the highest number of votes to get the party nominations.

Runoff Denied
The committee's position is that the three congressmen-at-large nominees should receive a majority of the votes cast for those seeking the seats. It provided that in event a candidate did not receive a majority of the votes cast under his place grouping, the two receiving the highest number would enter the August run-off, usually required of all state-office candidates where a majority does not obtain in the first primary.

RAIL HEARING COMPLETED

DEL RIO, March 19. (AP)—Oral testimony was concluded today at the hearing to determine whether the proposed Del Rio and Northern railroad shall be granted a permit to construct 132 miles of line linking Sonora, Del Rio and Quemado. Federal examiner H. E. Davis allowed attorney H. E. Davis to prepare and file briefs concerning T. N. Pionet, president of the proposed line, and J. H. Tallichet, attorney for the Texas and New Orleans railway, which is opposed to granting the permit.

Hunter to Speak
Meanwhile the big race for state offices is about to get to the hustling. Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls oil man and lawyer, candidate for governor, has announced his first campaign address for Mincola next Saturday.

Governor Sterling was in conference today with William Straus of Houston, his campaign manager two years ago and Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman, the governor's chief assistant on the stump, over plans the race. The governor was feeling especially encouraged after a trip of West Texas as far as El Paso, where he attended the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association convention. He said the receptions given him "all along the way" made him believe his "efforts down here" had been appreciated.

The Bridge Party Shopping Column

By MRS. PAMPAN

Since the announcements of Easter bridge parties the city seems to be thinking, talking, dreaming and practicing nothing but bridge. Therefore, in wandering about through the shops, I've had my eyes open for anything that might go to make your bridge party the least bit more delightful. I've happened on some real "finds," and bargains, too. And I want to pass the information on to you.

The gracious hostess always is on the look-out for things that are distinctive, even in such small matters as the bridge cards, and she will probably have some unexpected surprise, such as candy or punch to be served during the games. Her linens also will command admiration, revealing her good taste. Her frock and those of her guests will be either new or spotlessly clean.

BRIDGE and CANDY

In bridge entertainments, as in most private affairs, there is always something special which adds to the delightfulness of the occasion.

Often this added attraction is candy, and when it is, you may serve Whitman's with confidence that the guests will be delighted. What is more delicious than Whitman's assorted chocolates between or during a hard game?

And when you want Whitman's remember that you can find a large assortment of these boxes of chocolates at FATHERE D R U G STORES, No. 1 at 103 South Cuyler and No. 4 at 110 West Kingsmill. The price is so reasonable it will surprise you—only $1.50. Try a box at your next party and note the applause.

BRIDGE LINENS

At MURFEE'S you will find rubberized card table covers in pastel shades for $1 each. These will give an added spring-time touch to your party besides helping to stress a definite color scheme and protecting your table.

It will be a hostess with very good taste who, at refreshment time, spreads over a foursome table the cover of natural color, featuring Chinese embroidery, shown with napkins at Murfee's for $7.95. Beautiful also is the applied and drawn work luncheon set in natural or white linen for $2.95. Exquisite Madeira linen sets are shown at $2.95 and $5.95. Italian cut work covers in colors, priced at $5.95, will delight you.

EXCLUSIVE

It's loads more fun playing bridge when you know you're smartly dressed. And, if you have a party on the calendar, you can insure your chic with one of the VIOLET SHOPPE'S exclusive spring frocks.

Navy, lighter blues, black, gray, and beige—those are the predominating colors in those attractive bridge dresses that can be had from the Violet Shoppe for $19.75.

For the more informal party, you will love the Caljer sport dresses. They are shown in red, black, and all-white, and are priced at $13.75 and $19.75.

UNUSUAL CARDS

There's one thing at a bridge party that the guests never fail to see, and that's the cards. This year, the time of the Washington bi-centennial celebration, you and your guests will be highly pleased with the George and Martha cards, in red, white and blue design. These can be had from J. C. PENNEY company in dainty packages containing two decks at 98 cents a package. Penney's also is carrying Congress cards at 69 cents a deck.

Bridge dresses—they're always another problem. You hate to be seen in the same frock time after time. But you won't have to if you shop at Penney's, for there you can buy charming garments in plain or print materials for only $9.90.

FOR SAKE OF YOUR PARTNER

wear something fresh and attractive. Your partner has to sit across from you and take in all the details of your dress. If that dress has on it a spot caused by the bit of ice cream at the last party, your partner without fail will notice it. If the dress has been poorly cleaned, that also will be noticed.

Avoid all possibilities of mistake by sending your bridge dresses to PRIDE DRY CLEANERS. Pride's customers are satisfied customers. It will pay you to join their ranks.

For expert service, telephone 600 or leave your garments at 117 N. Ballard.

A FAVORITE ICE CREAM

of mine and of most of the folks I know is that from TAYLOR FARM DAIRY. It has a smoothness and a flavor that are heavenly.

Here are the popular flavors: Lemon custard, peach, banana nut, cherry nut, strawberry, chocolate, and vanilla.

You can be sure of one thing when you serve ice cream. It's something every guest will like. They never tire of this most popular of all American desserts.

For quantities large or small, call at 314 E. Francis or telephone 788. Any flavor may be had for 60 cents a quart.

Does Pampa Have Team To Defeat These Players?

LUBBOCK, March 19.—Mrs. Gordon Inman and Mrs. Harry Meyers are the intercity contract bridge champions by 4,505 points, completing their match with Mrs. Ross McWhorter and Mrs. Eunice Gondurant, here Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. McWhorter and Mrs. Bondurant won 51 rubbers out of the result was determined by points. Mrs. Inman was very tired and showed the effects of the "twin" "I will never again engage in another 100-rubber match unless we have at least a week to play it in," she said.

Mrs. McWhorter and Mrs. Bondurant, also were completely exhausted but Mrs. Meyers was quite gay. "I wouldn't mind starting in on another match right now," she said.

The contest began Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and except for a few hours for sleep each morning, was played straight through. Those who sat in on the games said that both teams played brilliant bridge with a minimum of errors.

Mrs. Inman and Mrs. Meyers took the lead at the outset and at one time had attained a commanding lead of more than 10,000 points only to have it swept away by Mrs. McWhorter and Mrs. Bondurant who piled up an advantage of more than 5,000 points late Thursday night. But the Amarillo players were undismayed and quickly jumped into the lead in the afternoon on a succession of spectacular hands sensationally played.

Mrs. McWhorter and Mrs. Bondurant won the intercity championship last week against Mrs. Inman and Mrs. Meyers in Amarillo and these are the only two matches these teams have played. It is understood that a third and deciding match for the 1932 championship for this year will be played in Amarillo within two weeks.

Charity Ball to be Given by Business Women Thursday

GUESTS ASKED TO BRING BAG OF GROCERIES

WELFARE BOARD IS TO BE BENEFITED BY FUNCTION

Philanthropic Pampans are invited by the Pampa Business and Professional Women's club to attend a ball Thursday evening from 9 to 12:30 o'clock in the Ritz ballroom. The business women assisted by other civic clubs, are sponsoring the event. Fifty cents in money and about 25 cents worth of staple groceries will admit each couple. All groceries and all proceeds above expense will be entrusted to the welfare board for use among Pampa's needy persons. Tickets may be had from Miss W. M. Singleton, Mrs. Lillian McWhorter, the society department of The Pampa NEWS, and numerous other members of the Business and Professional Women's club.

The Southerners, 9-piece orchestra, will furnish the music, and an intermission program is being arranged.

Four hundred fifty tickets have been printed for the occasion.

Farewell Party Held on Friday

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hutchins, who with their children, Jerald and Darrell, are leaving today to make their home in Hutchinson, Kan., were surprised with a farewell bridge party Friday evening. The party was given by Mrs. B. C. Fahy and Mrs. C. E. Hutchins in the home of the latter, where the guests of honor also had dinner. Refreshments were served at the close of the games to Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Curry, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Young, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Patton, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Fahy, Mrs. Alta Stander, Mrs. D. C. Houk, Mrs. F. H. Meskimen, B. Meskimen, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hutchins, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hutchins, and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Fahy.

An attractive parting gift was presented the honorees.

Mrs. Shackelford Hostess at Party For Club Members

Members of the Strict-Nine Bridge club were entertained with an attractive St. Patrick Bridge party given Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. James Shackelford. The awards were given to Mrs. James Smoot for high score and to Mrs. Ralph Lennon for low.

Green was featured in the game appointments and in refreshments served at the close of the afternoon to Mesdames James Smoot, Jess Stalls, Ralph Lennon, E. B. Woods, C. M. Barrier, Roy Abbott, W. R. Chafin, and one guest, Mrs. A. J. McAlister.

EVERYBODY IS MISTAKEN IN AMARILLO AUTO RACE

AMARILLO, March 19 (AP)—It was a case where everybody was mistaken. Joe Tong Lee, Chinese consul at New Orleans, was mistaken by Amarillo police for a bootlegger. The consul, son of Chinese aristocracy, mistook police for robbers.

They engaged in a race on the highway that led within the city limits. Police won. Identifications were made. And the misunderstanding ended in American apologies and Chinese chuckles.

THURSDAY
Silver Spade Bridge club will meet with Mrs. J. E. Weeks.

Central Baptist W. M. S. will have a business session at 2 o'clock.

Dorcas class, First Baptist, will have a business session at 2 o'clock at the church.

Tree planting and open house will be held by Horace Mann Parent-Teacher association from 2 to 4 o'clock and from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

Child Study club will meet at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Robert Gilchrist.

FEDERATION OF CLUBS NOW URGING SALE OF MAGAZINE

MORE PLANS FORMED FOR CONVENTION IN APRIL

BY MRS. T. V. REEVES

The General Federation of Women's clubs, of which all federated clubs are a part, is carrying on an intensive campaign to secure subscriptions for its official organ, The Club Woman. The magazine carries timely articles, such as those at present giving a study of a wise spending program. This hopes to teach women to spend wisely during the present economic distress rather than hoard such money as they have. It also expects to create water-saving practices which will mean a better standard of living at all times.

The Club Woman outlines the policy of the General Federation, the largest and most powerful organization of women in the world.

Meeting in Washington
The bi-ennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs takes place this year with Seattle, Wash., as the hostess city. Texas and the seventh district will be represented at this meeting.

Mrs. W. R. Potter of Bowie, former state president, and Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner of Claude are both members of the General Federation of official family.

County Clubs Federate
The home demonstration clubs of Armstrong county have identified themselves with the Texas Federation, and they were visited by the district president last week. Mrs. Hill states that each club in Armstrong county has chosen one of the departments of work under which the Texas Federation organizes its activities, and features that of the state are reached in the county. At intervals the clubs making up the County Federation have joint meetings at which all departments have representation. At a recent meeting a play was given by members and addresses by Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner and Claude and Mrs. J. A. Hill were features.

Miss Edna Bryant, prominent club woman of Memphis, will preside at an international relations committee luncheon at the district meeting at Canadian in April. Mrs. I. D. Cole of Amarillo will be in charge of the memorial service at the Canadian meeting.

"Singing Convention"
The coming district convention to be held at Canadian April 26, 27, and 28 is going to be a "singing convention" according to the plans of the program chairman, Mrs. Tom Rose of Pampa, and the district president, Mrs. J. A. Hill, who are working with musicians throughout the district to have the hard routine business of the convention well interspersed with good old fashioned singing in which all can participate. Like laborers at hard physical tasks, the women will find relaxation and strength by singing together.

A new prize has been announced this week by Mrs. F. C. Sadler, of Littlefield, chairman of the American Home department. Five dollars in gold will be given to the club woman of the seventh district who writes the best essay on "Living the Spirit of Beauty in the Home." Essays are not limited in length. They must reach Mrs. Sadler by April 15. The winning essay will be read at Canadian and the prize awarded there.

The beautification prize, an oil painting of the Palo Duro Canyon scene, the Silver loving cup to the best chorus, the five dollar prizes for the clubs reporting the best measures for the relief of their local unemployment situation, and to the club reporting the greatest variety of uses for cotton will all be awarded during the convention.

Men Will Cook; Can Women Eat These Dishes?

Presbyterian men have volunteered to cook and serve a dinner—and brave Presbyterian women have promised to eat this meal at a gathering Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church.

Murder was not their intention nor did they intend to benefit the medical profession when the men announced the following menu:

Rabbit Food—Mixed by Rev. Hyde.
Bull Neck—Guaranteed to be tough by Claude Ledrick.
Oil—Good for the system, says Leech.

Spuds—Herbert Walker is to blame.
Shot—Frank Foster fired 'em.
Gun Wadding—Dilly did it.
Dope—Peddled by Dever.

Sand—All men have it.
Cow—Tom Clayton milked it.
Cush—B. E. Finley is behind this.

Bridge Party Is Given for Group

Mrs. Glen McDonald and Mrs. W. S. Fleetwood joined in entertaining a group of friends last evening at La Nora confectionette.

Games of bridge were enjoyed, with awards going to Miss Leora Kinard for high score among the women, J. T. Morrow for high score among the men, and Harry Hoare for low.

Cocoa and angel food cake were served after the games to Messrs. and Mesdames W. F. Creney, J. T. Morrow, Barry, Ben F. Reno, Harry E. Hoare, W. S. Fleetwood, and Glen McDonald and Miss Leora Kinard and Jimmie Drake.

Regular Meeting Held By O. E. S.

About twenty persons attended a regular meeting of the Order of the Eastern Star last evening.

Four visitors, Mrs. Hank Harris, Mrs. M. L. Sellers, Dr. W. A. Seydler, and O. M. Anderson, were present.

While we were sweating, a cold wave gripped Europe and the canal of Venice were frozen as tight as some of our debtor nations.

ALLEYS WILL BE BEAUTIFIED THROUGH ART CLUB EFFORTS

To make the alleys of Pampa neat and attractive is the object of Pampa Art club members as they prepare for the alley contest to be given early next fall. Plans for the sponsoring of this contest were continued at a meeting Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. H. C. Wilson.

Following the business session, a program on Rembrandt was led by Mrs. I. Baum, who gave an account of the painter's life. Pictures were discussed as follows: "Presentation

Irish Stew Is Game at Class Party in City

Not bridge, not dominoes, but "eringobrough" and Irish stew were games played by the Dorcas Sunday school class, First Baptist church, at a unique St. Patrick party Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Felix J. Stalls. Shamrocks were used as decorations.

At refreshment time, all lights were extinguished except tall green tapers which illuminated the tables. Angel food cake and iced green was served with ice cream, and green cubes were used to ice the water.

Hostesses were Mrs. P. B. Rogers, Mrs. Robert Lee Banks, and Mrs. Felix J. Stalls, all of whom have had Lighthouse in March. Others attending were Miss Rena Walker and Mesdames A. G. Post, S. O. Garner, Ova White, Tom E. Rose, John Wolfe, E. L. Anderson, Ira Lynch, George Nix, J. Powell Wehrung, V. L. Dickinson, B. Barrett, E. Mitchell O. C. Williams, Dan McIntosh, Dee Campbell, E. B. Mrs. Hubbard Is Hostess to Club

A springtime theme was emphasized throughout the bridge party given by Mrs. Elbert Hubbard Thursday afternoon as a courtesy to Club Mayfair.

At the close of the games Mrs. Ed Damon was favored for high score and Mrs. LeRoy Miller for low, and dainty refreshments were passed to Mesdames Arthur Swanson, Clyde Fatheree, Ed Damon, Virginia Duerr, W. J. Smith, T. R. Martin, Lynn Boyd, Julian Barrett, Miss Virginia Faulkner, Miss Margaret Buckler, and three special guests, Mrs. John Sturgeon, Mrs. LeRoy Miller, and Mrs. Bill Lovine.

Miss Mitchell will be hostess at the next meeting.

Kongenial Kard Klub Is Favored

Games of bridge were enjoyed by the Kongenial Kard Klub Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. F. Naylor, and the awards drove to Wichita Falls after the baby and her two sisters, Mrs. Myers intends to adopt the four-year-old girl, and will keep the seven-year-old girl until she finds a home with some family. All three children are smart and attractive, it was said.

Their mother left seven children when she died. At the time of her death, the children's father was in East Texas, and they lived with families in this community until their father sent for them. He decided recently that he was financially able to care for the boys in a proper manner.

Children Enjoy Buster and Tige

More than 1,200 children crowded into the Rex theater Saturday morning to see Buster Brown and Tige in their annual visit to Pampa under the auspices of the Brown-bill Shoe store.

The store, of which Joe Lazarus is proprietor, distributed novelties during the program. The children enjoyed the antics of Buster and Tige and also saw an "Our Gang" comedy.

Hockey on roller skates has been the most popular winter sport at Decatur, Ill.

Mrs. J. L. Nance, accompanied by her niece, Miss Moselle Carlton, have returned after a trip to Hobart and Grandfield, Okla.

"People certainly read the Pampa Daily NEWS," said Mrs. "Baker Henry yesterday. "I found that out when I offered in the newspaper a load of wood free to any one who would haul it from my house."

PROGRAM PRESENTED IN "GYM" AFTER OPEN HOUSE

Pampa high school teachers and students and members of the high school Parent-Teacher association entertained more than three hundred persons last evening when they held open house in all departments, followed by a lively school program in the gymnasium. Father's night was the occasion observed.

With characteristic enthusiasm, members of the pep squad, all in costume, greeted guests as they arrived at the main building and ushered them through all departments, where the exhibits were provided, representing the work done by every pupil in the school. All teachers remained in their departments to talk with the parents and other visitors regarding school activities.

During the open house period, refreshments were sold, proceeds to be used in aiding underprivileged children. Pie was furnished by the Parent-Teacher association, and coffee was furnished by the Oil Bell grocery.

The high school orchestra under the direction of R. E. "Pop" Frazer program in the school gymnasium following the open house period. Principal L. L. Sone introduced Mrs. Frank McNeill, president of the Parent-Teacher association, and Tom E. Rose, chairman of the program committee. Mrs. Rose, in turn, announced the numbers on the program. Each number was representative, in some way, of the school work done by the pupils. There was a pageant, a play, and numerous skits and songs.

Blanscets Are Adopting Child

Three persons at the courthouse were joyous yesterday afternoon. They were Sheriff and Mrs. Lon L. Blanscet and a 19-months-old girl that the Blanscets kept for several weeks before Christmas just after their child's mother died. The sheriff and Mrs. Blanscet intend to adopt the girl.

When the baby arrived from Wichita Falls where she has been living with her father, she fairly ran to give the sheriff and his wife embrace after embrace. The child has unusually large blue eyes and hair the color of yellow gold. The father sent word to the Blanscets last week that they could have the baby and her two sisters, Mrs. Myers intends to adopt the four-year-old girl, and will keep the seven-year-old girl until she finds a home with some family. All three children are smart and attractive, it was said.

Their mother left seven children when she died. At the time of her death, the children's father was in East Texas, and they lived with families in this community until their father sent for them. He decided recently that he was financially able to care for the boys in a proper manner.

International Sunday School Lesson

General Topic: Jesus Dies on the Cross. Scripture Lesson: John 19:17-22, 25-30.

John 19:17. They took Jesus therefore; and he went out, bearing the cross for himself, unto the place called The Place of a skull, which is called in Hebrew Golgotha.

18. Where they crucified him, and with him two other, on either side one, and Jesus in the midst.

19. And Pilate wrote a title also, and put it on the cross. And there was written, JESUS OF NAZARETH, THE KING OF THE JEWS.

20. This title therefore read many of the Jews, for the place where Jesus was crucified was nigh to the city; and it was written in Hebrew, and in Latin, and in Greek.

21. The chief priests of the Jews therefore said to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Jews; but, that he said, I am King of the Jews.

22. Pilate answered, What I have written I have written.

23. These things therefore the soldiers did. But there were standing by the cross of Jesus His mother, and His mother's sister, Mary the wife of Cleopas, and Mary Magdalene.

24. When Jesus therefore saw His mother, and the disciples standing by whom he loved, He saith unto His mother: Woman, behold, thy son!

25. Then saith He to the disciple, Behold, thy mother! And from that scripture might be accomplished, saith, I thirst.

26. There was set there a vessel full of vinegar; so they put a sponge full of vinegar upon hyssop, and brought it to His mouth.

27. When Jesus therefore had received the vinegar, He said, It is finished; and He bowed His head, and gave up His spirit.

28. Golden Text: Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures.—1 Cor. 15:3.

Place: Friday, April 7, 10 A. D. Place: Calvary, just outside the city of Jerusalem, beside the main road which extends north.

Historical Setting In the preceding lesson Jesus was in the upper room in Jerusalem with his disciples. He there celebrated the passover with His disciples the last time. Near the close of the passover supper, Jesus departed the company and went to the rulers of the Jews to complete the arrangements for the betrayal of Jesus. "He then having received the sop, went immediately out"—John 13:30.

Jesus then instituted the Lord's Supper. John does not record the institution of this memorial supper. All biblical scholars agree in placing the Lord's Supper between verses 30 and 31 of John 13. The account of the institution of the Lord's Supper is found in Matt. 26:26-29; Mark 14:22-25; Luke 22:17-20; 1 Cor. 11:23-26.

At the close of the events recorded in chapter 14, Jesus went out of the upper room (John 14:31), and across the brook Kidron into the garden of Gethsemane. Entering the garden, he asked eight of the disciples to abide near the garden gate and pray (Mark 14:32), while he went into the garden a little further to pray. (Matt. 26:36). He too with Him Peter, James and John (Mark 14:33). Here in an agony of prayer He talked to His heavenly Father about the events of the next day.

Judas Betrays With a Kiss Some time after midnight, Judas came leading a band of Roman soldiers and Jews. Jesus offered Himself to the soldiers, who fell backward awed by the very majesty of the Master. Judas betrayed His with a kiss. Peter cut off the ear of Malchus. The soldiers arrested Jesus and led Him away to Annas, the former high priest.

"THE HIGH HEART" CAST LOSES TO MIAMI AT PLAY TOURNEY

"The High Heart," Pampa high school's one-act play entry in the interscholastic league tournament at Canyon, was eliminated Friday morning by Miami's play, "Vengeance Heigh't." Critical observers believed Miami's entry would easily win the tournament.

Miss Arless O'Keefe said the Pampa players did better than they ever had before. "Vengeance Heigh't" exploits the mother-love theme, whereas "The High Heart" love interest deals with that emotion from the lover's point of view. Judges there is always more impressive than the "sweatheart" motif.

In "Vengeance Heigh't" the mother rejoices when her son murders a man who has killed her husband and older sons. Extreme brutality, diabolic cruelty, lust for revenge and mother love are portrayed. One scene shows the mother making a rope with which to hang herself if was a rich man (Matt. 27-27), a righteous man (Luke 23:51), who was "looking for the kingdom of God" (Mark 15:32). He threw off the secrecy of his discipleship, obtained from Pilate the body of Jesus, and with Nicodemus to aid in a hasty embalming, buried the body in his own new tomb, hewn from the solid rock, in a garden near Calvary.

"O sacred Head, now wounded, With grief and shame bowed down, Now sorrowfully surrounded With thorns, thine only crown; O sacred Head, what glory, What bliss, till now was thine! Let, though! dispised and gory, I joy to call thee mine."

Political Expose Showing at Rex

A sensational expose of the "inside" of politics and its relation to the underworld of a big city and an intimate glimpse into the lives of the police form the dramatic plot of "The Beast of the City," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's saga of city life, which will open today at the Rex theater.

The picture bares conditions that exist in the average American city; most of its thrills are based on actual happenings taken from police records and newspapers; and its thrilling story brings to life facts that have heretofore been considered too "close to home" to be shown.

It does for the police what "The Big Parade" did for the American doughboy.

Walker Huston, of "Criminal Code" fame, has the principal role as the fighting police chief pitted against politics. Jean Harlow, the famous "blond bombshell," Wallace Ford who scored with Joan Crawford in "Possessed," and the well known character actor, Jean Harlow, have prominent roles, and the supporting cast also includes Dorothy Peterson, Tully Marshall, John Miljan, Emmett Corrigan, Warner Richmond, Sandy Roth, and J. Carroll Nash. The picture was directed by Charles Brabin who last scored with "Sporting Blood."

BARRYMORES AT LA NORA

The first appearance together of the screen's first-actor, John Barrymore, and his equally illustrious brother, Lionel, in "Arsene Lupin," which opens today at the LaNora theater is a cause for jubilee for those filmgoers who have been looking for something different and above the average in the way of screen fare.

Here we have two of the cinema's most expert proponents of the art of dramatic acting, brilliant characterization and sophisticated comedy, and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer may be congratulated on providing the two stars with a vehicle in every way worthy of their talents. For "Arsene Lupin," the engrossing, often intensely dramatic, but always extremely amusing story of the suave and debonair thief who poses as a French nobleman and leads an infuriated and bewildered detective in a merry chase about the haunts of Paris, has just those elements of rapid-action plot movement, romantic love interest and smart humor which the two celebrated Barrymore brothers are so well equipped to handle.

Flesh and Blood Reality
The principal characters of the thief, Arsene Lupin, and the detective, Guerehard, are already familiar to readers of Maurice LeBlanc's mystery stories, but in the portrayals of the Barrymores they receive an added flesh and blood reality and contrive to be as intriguing and entertaining representatives of the hide-and-seek school of mystery drama as has been seen in the talking films in several seasons.

Steers Win to Open Exhibition

DALLAS, March 19. (AP)—The Dallas Steers of the Texas league opened their exhibition schedule here today with a 12-3 victory over the St. Paul Saints of the American association. Although aided by Saint errors and 11 bases on balls, the Steers gathered eight solid base hits and showed they could connect in the pinches. Trow, Van Atta and Munns worked for the Saints, while Nicholas, Whitehead and Moody pitched for the Steers. St. Paul made four hits.

RYES WIN AGAIN
GALVESTON, March 19. (AP)—Hank Thormahlen walked in the winning run in a ten inning 1-0 intra-camp game between the Pratts and the Ryes here today to give the Ryes their fourth victory in the 11-game series. Beau Bell, outfielder and Bill McGhee, first base, hit triples but effective pitching by Darrow left both of them stranded.

So the People May Know

WE THE UNDERSIGNED candidates for the offices of City Commission of Pampa, having studied intensively the needs of our City, have agreed in conference to pledge ourselves definitely to the following principles:

1. To operate all departments of the City Government on a sensible and economical business basis.
2. To adjust all salaries and wages paid to City employes to conform with general conditions.
3. To make no large expenditures for improvements without referring them to the vote of the people.
4. To make a careful investigation of all gas, electric and telephone rates with a view of securing reductions.
5. To effect economies in the operation of the Water Department which will make it possible to reduce the minimum rate now charged.
6. To make every effort to equalize tax assessments and to adjust them to Pampa's changing conditions.
7. To cooperate to the fullest extent to provide employment for local citizens, and to employ only competent help.
8. To give this City an honest administration, flexibly responsive to its citizens, dedicated to the welfare of all Pampa, and bound by absolutely no promises to any individual, firm, corporation, league, or division.

We are glad to submit these principles for consideration of the voters of Pampa on April 5th.

WASHINGTON—Things are breaking right "on the hill" these days for that veteran wheelhorse of politics in the senate—George Norris of Nebraska.

He has been fighting long and hard, and some of the time almost single-handedly, for various kinds of reform in government. And now at the age of 71, with almost three decades of congressional service behind him, he is reaping some of the benefits of those years of fighting.

"Old George," as he is affectionately known, may yet point to this session of the 72nd congress as his most successful one. And he has been in every one since the 58th.

Two bills, which lie very close to the Norris heart and are among the most far-reaching pieces of legislation ever enacted by congress, have been approved this session.

Wins Long Fight The first was the famous "lame duck" bill—the constitutional amendment which will be submitted to the states calling for a change in the inauguration date for Presidents and sessions of congress.

Years of battling and disappointments for Norris came to an end with the passage of this bill. Repeatedly he had gotten a favorable vote for the measure in the senate only to have it die in the house. A few weeks ago, however, the house, too, swung into line.

His second major victory was with the anti-injunction bill. Norris has been fighting for this measure for the past eight years. At times chances of victory looked almost hopeless, but he continued his fight until victory was his.

One other victory for Norris this session—passage of his bill for government operation of Muscle Shoals—would enable him to see written into law perhaps three as important measures ever to pass congress.

Whether his luck holds up that far must yet be determined.

NEW YORK—We hate to play the mean old cynic, but, beckoned by a cheering sign, we ventured into a mash shop.

The sign read: "Don't hoard... buy masks and have fun... Help bring back prosperity."

And it went on to mention something about this establishment opening up a new branch shop to give more people employment, and ended up with an emphatic denunciation of the "depression."

Well, we decided to stop in and see what they had to offer by way of bringing us cheer—permanent smiles and such.

Sadly we report that 90 per cent of the masks were gruesome, ferocious or at least frowning. Hardly one out of ten of the false faces was designed to bring anything but a fright into our lives.

More Cheering Notes No kidding: Inspired by the achievement of one company in putting the groundhog on the air, another radio outfit seriously considered the suggestion that the first robin of spring be given a chirp through the microphone.

Those who paid poll taxes will soon have ample opportunity to use them. The school trustee election of April 2 will be soon followed by the city election of April 5. There is a national movement to get people to the polls on each election this year.

There are some cities which do not worry about city taxes. For instance, there is Ponca City, Okla. It is possible to do away with taxes by using profits of municipally-owned utilities to pay city costs.

Speaking of city managers, there is an understanding in the profession of the fact that it is not wise for a manager to stay in one place too long. Differences of opinion are inevitable, and no matter how efficient an executive may be, his usefulness is impaired by controversy based upon himself.

What is your debt to Pampa? Following an idea used recently by the Taylor PRESS, we are answering with this:

The City of Pampa owes me nothing. If all accounts were balanced, I would be the debtor. I have lived within its limits and shared all of its benefits.

What shall I give in return? Not simply the taxes which cover so small a part of what I have received. I want to give more; I want, of my own free will, to give enough so that I can respectfully say, "This is my city!"

I can do this by becoming a part of the city... By giving to it generously of myself. Only in this way can I, even in a small way, pay the great debt I owe to Pampa. I will join other Pampa citizens in this pledge: "I hereby pledge my best efforts to bring honor and credit to my city; to uphold and not tear down its ideals, traditions, reputation, and institutions; to try, in word and deed, to inspire others to have faith in it; to strive to quicken in others their sense of civic duty; and to work for the unification of efforts of all citizens, so that I may help to leave to my children, and my children's children, a better city than I found upon entering it."

The Right Hon. Pat Neff, than whom there is none more gifted in eloquent sarcasm (unless it be Jim Ferguson), has certainly exposed the skeletons of the other two members of the railroad commission in heartless fashion of late. Indeed, the feud has become so bitter that many hope Neff will resign and take over the reins of dear old Baylor.

A disposition on the part of some property owners to ask unreasonable prices for land required to enable the Fort Worth & Denver Northern to enter Pampa is certainly nothing short of deplorable. The fact that the land must be had, by condemnation if necessary, does not add to its real value, and should not cause owners to take advantage of this imperative need.

SYNOPSIS: The future looks empty and terrifying to Kitty Frew, when she runs away from her husband, Gar, and asks his half-brother, David, to help her decide what to do.

"I call this bliss—now let the world go by." And Dorcas stretched her small, slumped feet toward the blaze. "It's been a stupid day, David." But she said it easily, as if it stung her only at this moment of ease the more pleasant.

Chapter 15 SYMPATHY AND A TOOTBRUSH "HURRY—I have tangles left!" It was a throaty, low, level voice.

In her shrinking Kitty had imagined herself baring the unhappy details of her story to a masterful woman, calloused by social service, and here in the lighted doorway stood a girl no larger than herself, no older at first glance, in a man's straight-lined flannel dressing robe and soft-leathered leather slippers on bare feet.

David saw the distress in Kitty's face.

anyone in tonight," she was saying when she saw Kitty. "It's Mrs. Garfield," David explained.

Dorcas caught Kitty's elbow and drew her into the room. "I'm glad to know you." Her tone made Kitty feel that she was glad. "You'll eat with me, won't you? You've had dinner? Well, some coffee, anyway. David can tell you that my coffee is just a little better than the best ever made. David—chairs and things."

It was a long room of soft light and color and inviting comfort. The meal of tamales was spread at one corner of an old refectory table set in an alcove. Close to it was a chest of the same fine old polished wood; from shelves hanging over it David was taking down cups as Dorcas "re-acted. And into the cups, delicate old Spode cups over which at any other time Kitty might have wondered, Dorcas poured coffee from a squat silver coffee pot so like Grandmother Brandon's coffee pot at home that Kitty had an irresistible desire to put out her hand and caress it.

A great relief had lightened the error which had gripped her below stairs. She wished she could sit David some sign to tell him that she liked Dorcas. It was just that, at once. Wondering that this could be so she appraised Dorcas, a little shyly. From all claims of pretentious Dorcas fell short, for her nose was too broad, her mouth too wide, her body was curvaceous and flat like a boy's; her shoulders square and lean. But Kitty did not single out any such features; she was trying to put into definition the unaffectedness of the other, the forthrightness that was smooth-edged and friendly, the directness of speech and manner that won instant liking.

Dorcas had made no apologies for her dress, and the flannel robe seen in a fuller light was faded from much washing and ragged about the cuffs. And she had shown no curiosity over the unusualness of Kitty's coming, with David, at this hour. When they finished their coffee she told David to build up a fire. "We'll clear these dishes out of the way," And Kitty was heartened by the sharing of that task, working elbow to elbow with Dorcas in the limited space before the tiny sink. His fire kindled, David had drawn home town—she's going to open a beauty parlor there." There was evidently much funny about Mrs. Drinkwater's venture. David and Dorcas talked it over and laughed over it. And Kitty, not knowing what they were talking about, yielded to the cheer of the fire, to the apartment of this room. Now she was more aware of the room itself, of the fine lines of the old secretary against the further wall, the joints hanging on each side of it, the old silver candlesticks on the narrow mantel over the fireplace. A curious home for this girl in the old flannel robe and yet she seemed not incongruous in it.

A doctor of spous—David had called Dorcas Taber that. This Emil Schelling, Mrs. Drinkwater—had she doctored them? David's Dorcas seemed different now, younger—there was a more vital look about him. Himself—Her wanderer thoughts came sharply up against the fact that she had been brought here for doctoring. David saw the distress in her face interpreted the involuntary movement of her hand toward him. He stopped abruptly half-way in a care less return to something Dorcas had said. "I suppose you've guessed, Dorcas, that we've come to you for advice. Kitty's declared an ultimatum. It needs some thinking out." Dorcas merely inclined her head. But when David started to speak she stopped him. "Suppose you run along home, David. Kitty and I can get things straighter if you leave us alone." To Kitty: "You'll stay with me tonight? I've everything you'll want—even to a toothbrush."

David glanced questioningly at Kitty and Kitty confirmed his dismissal with a little smile, intended to show him that she was not afraid now. It was easier to tell Dorcas than it had been to tell David—there was in her listening a quality of understanding that helped Kitty over the things she could not say. And when she had finished Dorcas did not answer for a few moments, as if she were weighing what Kitty had said.

SYNOPSIS: A sudden proposal hurried wedding, and brief honeymoon leave Kitty Frew bewilderedly leaving her husband's parents, trying to learn sophistication overnight. Her husband, Garfield, returns to work. His mother regrets Kitty's lack of social placement, and Kitty runs away to Gar's half-brother and his friend Dorcas.

Chapter 16 WHILE KITTY WAITS YOU have to hang on to your self-respect or you're nowhere," Dorcas said finally, concisely.

"Now it's up to you to see it through. But you don't have to plan anything tonight. Tomorrow'll be time enough. Let's get to bed. I'll fix you on the couch here." She sprang up and vigorously fell to work transforming the couch into a bed, folding covers, spreading sheets and blankets.

She tucked the covers about Kitty's shoulders and the touch of her hand was warming and reassuring. Like a weary child Kitty snuggled further down under the soft blankets. The embers of the fire made fingers of light across the larkened room. Through the half-open door of Dorcas' bedroom Kitty could see her moving back and forth. A blessed drowsiness enveloped her.

It was closing time at Stratton's department store, three weeks later. The last-minute shoppers had hurried off. The salesclerks were putting away the stock, working furiously against precious time. No. 12 in the sportswear department was hanging tweed ensembles in a case. Her unaccustomed fingers made slow work of it and the other girls, folding sweaters and blouses, watched her and smiled slyly at one another. No. 12 was new and it was game to leave to a new one the job of hanging the suits away. It took longer.

A bright-eyed, blonde girl passing No. 12, hesitated. "Gee, don't bother so much. Lee's gone." She caught up an armful of the garments and swung them on to the bar of the case. "Rotten day, wasn't it?" No. 12 knew Josie Price was trying to be friendly. Her tried face flushed gratefully. She agreed that it had been a rotten day.

"Bet you're dead," Josie went on. "My feet used to hurt as if they had nails on 'em. But you get used to it, ' guess you get used to most anything unless it's Lee's tongue, after he ad bunch've taken her for a ride. Anyway, you don't have to mind that, do you? Didn't she take you into her office?" Miss Lee, the head of the department, had taken No. 12 into her office while she checked over new stock. But just then No. 12 was too tired to wonder why Josie put the question, to read into it the jealousy with which each salesclerk observed any distinction paid to any one of them. No. 12 had not been at Stratton's long enough to lift her eyes toward the glamorous position of assistant buyer.

"Why, yes, she did," she answered freely. "Oh, well, she's taken us all in, one time or another." They took their wraps from their lockers. Josie jammed a tight little red hat down over her head, arranged crescents of blonde hair to each temple, applied powder to her nose and a dab of scarlet to her lips. She drew her coat tightly about her thin hips, holding it there with crossed arms. "Taking the street car home?" Her eyes were pointed with curiosity. "No. I walk home."

"Well, by my, Miss Brandon. See you tomorrow." "Good night, Miss Price." "Oh, make it Josie!" the friendly Josie called over a hunched shoulder. Stratton's knew No. 12 as Katherine Brandon. As she walked out into the chilled dusk, Kitty felt a little cheered by Josie's advances. Until today the girls in her department had left her alone. Her own fault, of course—she'd wanted to be friendly, but in her awkwardness she'd felt shy, and probably they'd taken that for standoffishness.

Josie was a leading spirit in the sportswear department. She was good-natured, sympathetic and ready with a joke, mimicked her customers when they departed, bantered with the floormen. Every morning she regaled her associates with her experiences of the evening before. Dates and boy-friends made the substance of her easy chatter. She was alert in her work, approaching shoppers with an attention ness that held them and more often than not sold something to them. This and the fact that she had been in Stratton's for four years, beginning at the bundle desk gave her an unofficial seniority over the others. Kitty had recognized that seniority. Thinking of Josie, she walked swiftly, liking the touch of the cool air against her tired face. Josie and the hundreds of other who had left Stratton's before her, she felt a sense of lightness with the day behind her. At this hour even the pain in her heart lifted a little.

Most of all she walked swiftly because she was going back to Ketchum Street and Ketchum Street meant to Dorcas' room with its lamp and its fire—Dorcas herself. It had been three weeks since that night David had taken her to Dorcas, infinitely longer when she measured it in heartache. Gar had not tried to find her. He must know where she was—Pound knew and must have told him. Dorcas had taken her to Stratton's. Dorcas knew the head of the personnel there. The wages Stratton's paid her gave her a measure of independence. She was living in a small room on the same floor as Dorcas' apartment.

Kitty knew now that Dorcas owned the old house on Ketchum Street. She knew that Mrs. Gentile to whom she paid her week's rent only acted as Dorcas' agent. Dorcas had old her about Mrs. Gentile. One day Dorcas had found her, destitute, enlisted with her two children from a basement apartment in the block and had taken her in. "She can get on if someone just gives her a hand," David had quoted Dorcas as saying. And Mrs. Gentile, installed in the big kitchen of the old house, sleeping in what once had been the dining room, had gotten on, just as Emil Schelling was getting on, Kitty herself. Kitty had met others in Dorcas' apartment, to whom she knew Dorcas had given a hand. Young Mark Quinn who worked in a garage and went to art classes at night, Leah Moore, a lawyer, thirty, cynical, brilliant of intellect, decrying sentiment, sneering at any ideal and yet somehow softening to her manness after an evening around Dorcas' fire; Max Adler, a sensitive faced, dark-browed Jew, shouting communism yet arrogant himself. He was a violinist. It was Dorcas who had secured for him a place in the Palace Theater orchestra. Perhaps Dorcas had helped them all, in one way or another, to regain their self-respect. In the ups and downs of everything each of them was doing, Dorcas showed a deep interest. But she would not tolerate whining. "Oh, stand up!" she'd cry impatiently at such times.

Kitty had heard her berate David. "You haven't done a bit of work today. I can tell by the hang of your head. Are you going to be content all your life with a column of dribble for the Times? Well, if you are, go on home." And David had gone, his face angry, slamming the door behind him. Kitty had come to know, with some excitement, that David's work was the writing of a novel. But neither he nor Dorcas talked about it except now and then, to exchange some pertinent comment concerning it, or a question and a brief answer, or often, on Dorcas' part, a sharp rebuke. It seemed to be something between the two of them and Kitty sensed that Dorcas cared a great deal about it; she'd seen the look in her eyes when David went out, slamming the door behind him, a sorry, treacherous look. Kitty, even in her most intimate moments with Dorcas never touched on her own discouragement. She could tell David how frightfully tired she got. And with David she could talk of Gar. David hadn't said anything about self-respect. David's sympathy was different from Dorcas'. Four blocks from Stratton's was the Times building. As Kitty reached it David stepped from the wide entrance way and joined her, just as he met her nearly every evening, making the encounter seem to happen without any planning. And always, on the instant of seeing him, tall and lanky, a little shabby, his hat pulled down over his eyes, Kitty felt a little rush of gladness. "Well, how did it go today?" "Oh, better." Her eyes clung to David's face. She slipped her hand through his arm. "David, did you see him today? Hear anything?" (Copyright, Jane Abbott) "Where is Gar? In the next installment, on Monday, time is turned back to the day after Kitty's flight, and Pound breaks the news to Mrs. Price."
