Only one of the alleged participants in the riot was convicted. He was J. B. McCasland, who received two-year sentences in each of two cases. A jury convicted him in one case, tried at Austin, and he pleaded guilty in another.

Last of Sherman Riot Cases Closed

GAINESVILLE, June 3. (AP)—The state has written final to the famous Sherman riot cases with dismissal here of charges against Jeff "Slim" Jones, Webb Purdon, and Jess Roper.

Judge Ben W. Boyd said the remaining charges were dismissed yesterday with the consent of the Grayson county district attorney because of insufficient evidence.

Charges originally were filed against 14 men as an aftermath of rioting at Sherman May 9, 1930. A mob, frustrated in its effort to lynch the negro attacker of a white woman, burned the courthouse. The negro died in the burning building.

Only one of the alleged participants in the riot was convicted. He was J. B. McCasland, who received two-year sentences in each of two cases. A jury convicted him in one case, tried at Austin, and he pleaded guilty in another.

Regents To Ignore An Open Letter

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP)—The board of regents of the University of Texas, the governing body of the state's largest educational institution, has chosen to ignore an "open letter" addressed to it condemning wage scales paid workmen on certain of the buildings now under construction on the university campus.

E. L. Batts, chairman of the board, stated the members were not interested in open letters intended to excite controversies.

Judge Batts said the letter came to him without signature and that apparently it contained the same matter that appeared in the campus newspaper several days ago.

"I assume when I saw it in the Texan it was intended to provoke a controversy or was in pursuance of a policy of the Texan to occasionally attack the regents," he said.

"Any citizen of Texas who addresses a letter to the board of regents will receive a courteous reply. We are not, however, interested in open letters intended to excite controversies."

Protest was made to the regents by the League for Industrial Democracy against the wage scales paid by certain contractors at the university. A petition was circulated among the student body.

Criticism was levied at the regents for their inactivity in enforcing or making provision in the building contracts for the state which requiring that labor on public works be paid the current wage scale in the locality of the project.

This law has been rendered inoperative—at least for a time—by an injunction granted in federal court restraining Robert B. Granger, state labor commissioner, from instituting court proceedings to compel the university contractors to abide by its provisions.

The complaining contractors attacked the statute, as unconstitutional, stating it denied them of their property without due process of the law and that its terms were so vague and indefinite that it precluded a man of average intelligence from arriving at a reasonable understanding of its intent. They sought to have the federal court hold the law unconstitutional and to make the temporary injunction permanent.

Experience often proved a "dear" teacher and good results were attained only after a long period of trial and error with its consequent waste of materials.

There are three factors which must be measured accurately every time a meal is prepared or a cake is baked. Time, temperature and ingredients, measured exactly, all determine the goodness of the finished product.

Use Standard Measurements Then you will need standard cups and spoons to measure the ingredients.

It is time-saving to have two measuring cups, one of two-cup size and one of one-cup size. One cup can be used for dry ingredients and the other for liquids.

sugar should be rolled before measuring.

To use a measuring spoon, fill it full and level it with a spatula. Cupfuls are leveled in the same way. The material is piled above the top of the spoon or cup and then a spatula or the blunt, straight edge of a case knife is drawn across the top.

To measure one-half spoonful, divide the whole spoon lengthwise. The sets of spoons which consist of tablespoon, teaspoon, 1-2 teaspoon and 1-4 teaspoon are very convenient and make for accuracy.

If you are baking you must be sure that the oven is heated to the correct temperature. If your oven is not equipped with a thermostatic heat-control, get a portable oven thermometer to guide you.

The time element is more difficult to settle arbitrarily because many things, such as atmosphere, condition of ingredients and materials used in the cooking utensils enter into this phase of cookery.

However, most recipes give the time within a few minutes and with this the cook must use her own judgment.

It's amazing how soon accuracy becomes a habit. Once this habit is established, it's very easy to have perfect results every time.

Joe Jenkins' long discus toss at the Southern conference track meet gave the University of Florida its first conference track record.

The institute, arranged by the West Texas chamber of commerce at the suggestion of its president, Wilbur C. Hawk, will be a school to study the problem of reducing public expenditures, one of the chief aims of the organization this year, Mr. Hawk said today.

"Public expenditure committees already have been formed in 82 of the 117 towns affiliated with the organization, and while the institute will be held primarily for the benefit of these committees, every chamber of commerce president and secretary and the public in general are invited to attend," Mr. Hawk said.

"The institute was announced here yesterday after a conference of the president and D. A. Bandeen of Stamford, general manager of the organization, and his assistant, Maury Hopkins.

The school will be held at Texas Technological college.

Training in making city, school and county budgets in accordance with a definite form will be the only subject of the institute.

It is the hope of the West Texas chamber, as expressed by President Hawk, to have the city, school and county budgets adopted by the properly constituted authorities after a thorough review and public hearings before taxpayers.

Mules Drown In Wilberger Sand

VERNON, June 1.—"Believe It or Not" tale of a mule drowning on a sandy farm has been related here by Grady Price, Wilberger county deputy sheriff and brother of Claude Price on whose farm the incident occurred recently.

Claude Price was farming about 17 miles southwest of this city at the time of the occurrence.

He was planting cotton with six miles to a two-row lister when the mules started bogging in a stretch of sand. The plot had just been plowed and Price was circling the mules over the place when five of the mules sank in the supposedly dry sand.

The water is still standing on the place where only dry sand was in evidence before the mules bogged.

Enters Politics

AUSTIN, June 3.—Ernest C. Ozro Cox of Austin has tendered his resignation as National Executive Committeeman and chairman of the legislative committee of the American Legion and has announced his candidacy for Congressman-at-large, Place No. 1, subject to the action of the democratic primaries, according to a statement issued here today.

Mr. Cox was born on a farm at Ozro, Ellis county, Texas, where he received his public school education. Later he attended Cleburne college and the University of Texas from which latter institution he went into the military service and served as an enlisted man in the 89th Division until the close of the World war.

He has served successively as superintendent of the municipal and U. S. Employment Service, manager of boys at the State Orphan Home, Corsicana, six years as a member of the state legislature from Navarro county, resigning from that body to serve as State Commander of the American Legion in Texas in 1929-30.

During his legislative career he was the author of numerous measures in the fields of education, child welfare, agriculture and industrial development, and service to disabled war veterans and their dependents.

He is affiliated with the Christian church, Masonic bodies, Shrine, Texas National Guard, American Legion, and other civic and benevolent bodies.

Mr. Cox will open his campaign for Congressman-at-large at Ozro on Tuesday afternoon, June 7, at which time, speaking from the steps of the country school house where he received his early education, he will announce his platform which he states will be "a simple pledge of earnest endeavor in economy and service." His friends throughout the state are making plans to be on hand at Ozro for this formal opening of Mr. Cox's campaign.

MEMBERS FIRST TRAIN

LE CENTER, June 3. (AP)—Louthan, well known farmer and president of the Plains State Agricultural College, was on the first agricultural train ever to be operated in United States.

It was at Iowa State Agricultural college, Ames, when Tama Jim Louthan, who was secretary of agriculture under three presidents, was invited to become a member of Mr. McKinley's cabinet and took his place on the train, Mr. Louthan recalled. "It was back in 1897."

"The Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad was operating its first agricultural train. The college was asked to cooperate and Dean Wilson was on the train. I was employed on the faculty and when the dean received a message from President McKinley asking him to come to Washington, he wired me to join the train and take his place. I did, and finished the trip for him."

Mr. Wilson influenced young Louthan to attend the state college and while he was a student there, took a personal interest in him. After graduation, young Louthan was offered a place with the school and accepted. He became head buttermaker for the dairy department and later went into private agricultural work. Mr. Louthan received the degree of M. A. in agriculture at Ames and was engaged in extension work in Iowa for about years.

About 15 years ago Mr. Louthan came to Texas and settled in Hale county, near here. He farmed and has had a large dairy herd ever since.

CLAIM BIGGER PROFITS

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—The claim that co-operative selling by some 30,000 farmers of their 1931 wool clip netted $252,215 more than individual sales of similar amounts of wool by other growers was made today in reports to the farm board.

They came from the National Wool Marketing corporation and its stockholder members.

It states will be "a simple pledge of earnest endeavor in economy and service." His friends throughout the state are making plans to be on hand at Ozro for this formal opening of Mr. Cox's campaign.

DISLIKE NEW NAME

WELLINGTON, June 3. (AP)—protesting the new name of "Bamnorwood," 133 citizens of the Plymouth community in Collingsworth county have signed and submitted a petition to government officials demanding that the old name of Plymouth be maintained for the new trading point on the Fort Worth & Denver Northern railway line in that community.

Another petition bearing almost 1,000 names of persons in the county will be submitted to the officials, according to Plymouth residents.

The protest is based upon the fact that the name "Plymouth" held significant historic importance to the county and community, having been adopted 30 years ago.

TO STAY NIGHT MAIL

ABILENE, June 3. (AP)—Plans have been launched here for formal reception of the first night airmail between Dallas and Los Angeles, in commemoration of which has been announced for June 15.

The first trimotored plane of the American Airways, Inc., on the night run, westbound, is to land here at 9:42 p. m. and depart seven minutes later, but aviation enthusiasts here plan to make the seven minutes a memorable event. Efforts also will be made for a stop by the eastbound plane, not provided for in preliminary plans for the extension of service.

EDDIE MOORE RELEASED BY CAT MANAGER

OTHERS CAST OFF BUT FORT WORTH WINS GAME

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Unconditional releases, sales and the playing of regular scheduled games gave the Texas league a busy day and night yesterday. Before their game against Longview, the Fort Worth Cats announced the unconditional release of Eddie Moore, veteran outfielder, and leaving of Ulmster Baker, the sale of Lil Stoner behind when the Cats departed for a three-day trip to Tyler.

After all this, Fort Worth went out and beat Longview, 5 to 2. Tom Nash, cast off by Dallas this morning, joined Fort Worth and started with three hits to drive in a pair of runs. Byron Lackey, a new catcher, also appeared in the Fort Worth lineup. He went hitless. George Grant hurled five-hit ball against Longview to out-pitch Wilkie and Taylor.

Two players were added to the San Antonio roster yesterday. Outfielder George Harper, formerly with Detroit who has been playing with Tyler, joined the Indians. Ulmster Baker was the other. Harper got into the game as a pinch hitter but his failure was one reason Houston beat San Antonio, 6 to 5. Houston scored in the first and third to take a four-run lead. The Indians went on the war-path and tied the score with four runs in the fourth. They leaped to the front, 5 to 4, with another run in the fifth but lost out when Houston tallied in the seventh and ninth to win. After the game, San Antonio officials announced that Catcher Morgan Snyder will be returned to Kansas City now that Art Bradbury, injured several weeks ago, is ready to go behind the bat.

At Dallas, George Murray, ace Dallas right-hander, beat Tyler 3 to 0 to win his ninth game this season. He established Murray as the league's leading pitcher with nine victories, one more than Cevengros of Houston. The Steers bunched five of their six hits off Milt Steengrate to win the game. Murray kept the invaders 7 hits scattered. Mixing 14 hits with frequent showers that stopped the game several times. Beaumont, league leader, returned to form with a 11 to 6 verdict over Galveston. Wednesday night Galveston broke Beaumont's consecutive winning streak of 15 games. Last night the Exporters got sweet revenge by clotting Seydler and Tubbs hard.

Baton Rouge In 3-Contest Lead

By The Associated Press
Baton Rouge defeated Jackson, 10 to 4 yesterday to take a three-game lead in the Cotton State League over Pine Bluff which lost to Monroe.

The day's most extraordinary game was played at Port Arthur. The Texans losing to El Dorado, 16 to 10, as 11 home runs were scored, seven of them by the winners. The teams split 30 hits even but an 8-run rally in the eighth was the margin of victory.

Baton Rouge overwhelmed Jackson, the hard hitting Long batting in 3 of the winner's runs. Jackson used three hurlers but could not halt the hitting barrage. Monroe barged Betts from the mound early to win from Pine Bluff, 10 to 3. Betts was chased in the second when five runs were added to three scored in the first frame.

MORELAND ON BENCH AFTER GREAT UPSET

Surprising Play of Arlington Bandmaster Eliminates Him, 3 And 2.

FORT WORTH, June 3.—Gus Moreland of Dallas, twice state champion, was out of the annual River Crest invitation golf tournament today as play reached the quarter-finals. Moreland was eliminated in the second round yesterday by Earl D. Irons, 40-year-old music master at North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington. Irons won, 3 and 2.

Superiority with his short irons and putter gave "Colonel" Irons, wearing the colors of the Meadow Country club here, the victory. The upset was the most startling in tournament has seen in many years. The cool bandmaster played consistently good golf. Three-putting contributed to Moreland's

Bobby Brown and Huck Betts of the Boston Braves, a youngster of 20 and a veteran of 33, are putting on the greatest pitching acts seen in the National or any other league in recent years.

A club which can pick up one winning rookie this day of keen competition is doing pretty well, but here Manager Bill McKechnie has found a pair who look like world beaters. Each has contributed five victories to the Braves' pennant fight and neither has met defeat.
Brown has been particularly consistent to Brooklyn, beating the Dodgers four times. Twice he has lim-

TODAY'S BRIDES MORE MODEST; PREFER THROWING BOUQUETS TO DROPPING GARTERS AS OF OLD

Perhaps the world is "going to the dogs," but at least brides have become more modest. They prefer to throw a bouquet instead of dropping a garter.

In the fourteenth century in France every bride who approached the altar prayed that her garter wouldn't slip until the proper time. She had to have one dancing under her petticoats so the guests could claim it—and she wasn't timid about it either.

Stokings Tried Later the brides started to throw a stocking instead, but this was rather inconvenient. A bouquet is simpler. And the guest who receives that lovely trophy is scheduled to marry next.

Orange blossoms were originally selected as bridal flowers because they represent good luck and happiness. It is said that an orange was the golden apple which Jupiter, king of the Roman gods, gave to Juno on their wedding day.

Sentiment Important Sentiment is the first ingredient that should go into the make-up of a bride's bouquet.

Whatever the flowers, whatever the arrangement, that bouquet should mean something other than the fact that the noted Mr. So-and-So arranged it.

Typical of Christ's The speaker then asserted that none of that took away sins but that it only rolled them forward a year at a time and there was always a consciousness of sin.

Gambler's Throw

SYNOPSIS: Racing along in an airplane Jerry Colton and his friend, Emory Bates, search for the kidnapers of Nancy Westworth and two well-known millionaires.

Emory Bates, the man who has been so widely advertised in the newspapers, is a rooster moored ten miles southwest of the Montauk point lighthouse. No boats may remain within eight miles of the rooster. But Jerry and Emory hope to trick the gang by using an airplane for surveillance.

Gambler's Throw

by Eustace L. Adams.

In New York. The affair had appeared to his imagination and he had read the article with interest. Mid-way to the bottom of the first column he had come upon Jerry's name. Forty-five minutes later his roadster was roaring toward the scene of action.

The friendship between these two men who had fished, fought and played together as too deep for speech. It was something that each took as much for granted as the rising and setting of the sun.

JERRY'S AFTER THE MONEY

JERRY'S eyes followed the line of Emory's pointing arm. There, perhaps eight miles from shore, were three child-size destroyers, steaming eastward in a fan-shaped formation.

The man leaped from the lower wing of the plane into the rowboat.

TEXAS CLUBS TRIMMED AND BOLSTERED MUCH RECENTLY

OTHERS CAST OFF BUT FORT WORTH WINS GAME

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unconditional releases, sales and the playing of regular scheduled games gave the Texas league a busy day and night yesterday. Before their game against Longview, the Fort Worth Cats announced the unconditional release of Eddie Moore, veteran outfielder, sale of Elmont Baker, and the leaving of Lil Stoner behind when the Cats departed for a three-day trip to Tyler.

After all this, Fort Worth went out and beat Longview, 5 to 2. Tom Nash, cast off by Dallas this spring, joined Fort Worth and starred with three hits to drive in a pair of runs. Byron Lackey, a new catcher, also appeared in the Fort Worth lineup. He went hitless. George Grant hurled five-hit ball against Longview to out-pitch Whitse and Taylor.

Two players were added to the San Antonio roster yesterday. Outfielder George Harper, formerly with Detroit who has been playing with Tyler, joined the Indians. Elmont Baker was the other. Harper got into the game as a pinch hitter but his failure was one reason Houston beat San Antonio, 6 to 5.

Houston scored in the first and third to take a four-run lead. The Indians went on the war-path and tied the score with four runs in the fourth. They leaped to the front, 5 to 4, with another run in the fifth but lost out when Houston rallied in the seventh and ninth to win. After the game, San Antonio officials announced that Catcher Morgan Snyder will be returned to Kansas City now that Art Bradbury, injured several weeks ago, is ready to go behind the bat.

At Dallas, George Murray, ace Dallas right-hander, beat Tyler 3 to 0 to win his ninth game this season. It established Murray as the league's leading pitcher with nine victories, one more than Cvenegros of Houston. The Steers bunched five of their six hits off Mill Steen-grafe to win the game. Murray kept the invaders 7 hits scattered. Mixing 14 hits with frequent showers that stopped the game several times, Beaumont, league leader, returned to form with a 11 to 6 verdict over Galveston. Wednesday night Galveston broke Beaumont's consecutive winning streak of 15 games. Last night the Exporters got sweet revenge by clouting Seydler and Tubbs hard.

Baton Rouge In 3-Contest Lead

By The Associated Press

Baton Rouge defeated Jackson, 10 to 4 yesterday to take a three-game lead in the Cotton State League over Pine Bluff which lost to Monroe.

The day's most extraordinary game was played at Fort Arthur. The Texans losing to El Dorado, 16 to 10, as 11 home runs were scored, seven of them by the winners. The teams split 30 hits ever but an 3-run rally in the eighth was the margin of victory.

Baton Rouge overwhelmed Jackson, the hard hitting Long batting in 3 of the winner's runs. Jackson used three hurlers but could not halt the hitting barrage.

Monroe barged Betts from the mound early to win from Pine Bluff, 10 to 3. Betts was chased in the second when five runs were added to three scored in the first frame.

MORELAND ON BENCH AFTER GREAT UPSET

Surprising Play of Arlington Bandmaster Eliminates Him, 3 And 2.

FORT WORTH, June 3. (AP)—Gus Moreland of Dallas, twice state champion, was out of the annual River Crest invitation golf tournament today as play reached the quarter-finals. Moreland was eliminated in the second round yesterday by Earl D. Irons, 40-year-old music master at North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington. Irons won, 3 and 2.

Superiority with his short irons and putter gave "Colonel" Irons, wearing the colors of the Meadow Country club here, the victory. The upset was the most startling in the tournament has seen in many years. The cool bandmaster played consistently good golf. Three-putting contributed to Moreland's downfall.

Moreland's defeat left Byron Nelson of Fort Worth the favorite. He was matched in the quarter-finals against Joe Clark of Mineral Wells. Louis Nowlin, brilliant Dallas youngster, was pitted against M. L. "Hap" Massingill, Fort Worth veteran. The other matches placed Colonel Irons against Matty Reed of Fort Worth, and Pat Kelly of Texon against L. T. "Bobby" Burris of Wichita Falls.

ROOKIE DUET OF BRAVES ON WAY TO FAME

BOBBY BROWN, HUCK BETTS WIN FIVE TILTS EACH

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Brown and Huck Betts of the Boston Braves, a youngster of 20 and a veteran of 33, are putting on the greatest pitching acts seen in the National or any other league in recent years.

A club which can pick up one winning rookie this day of keen competition is doing pretty well, but here Manager Bill McKechnie has found a pair who look like world beaters. Each has contributed five victories to the Braves' pennant fight and neither has met defeat.

Brown has been particularly conspicuous to Brooklyn, beating the Dodgers four times. Twice he has limited Max Carey's pupils to four hits. His second four-hitter was achieved yesterday, when he clipped the Dodgers, 5 to 1, in the second game of a doubleheader after Brooklyn had won, 6 to 1, in the first.

The Braves, however, lost ground to the leading Chicago Cubs, who beat Pittsburgh, 9 to 5.

Lefty Gomez rang up his ninth victory against one defeat as the Yankees trimmed the Athletics, 5 to 1. The castilian beat the A's for the fourth straight time, kept eight hits widely spaced and struck out 10 batters.

Washington strengthened its hold on second place in the American with a double win over the floundering Boston Red Sox, 6 to 4 and 8 to 1.

The St. Louis Browns bunched two doubles and three singles with a base on balls in the third inning to score four runs off Al Thomas and beat the Chicago-White Sox, 4 to 2.

Last evening Evangelist C. Ellis McGaughey of Elk City spoke on "Power in the Blood" at the Church of Christ.

By way of introductory remarks, Mr. McGaughey said that blood has always had an important place in religion. He next called attention to the fact that God in the early morning of time required a bloody sacrifice at the hand of Cain and Abel, and Noah shed the blood of animals shortly after the flood. "The covenant of circumcision," he said, "was a contract sealed with blood. People were forbidden to eat blood and are also forbidden to eat blood today. The blood of a lamb was to be sprinkled on the doorposts and lintels of the houses, that the death angel might spare the first born of those homes. Even the books, the altars, and the people were sprinkled with blood."

TODAY'S BRIDES MORE MODEST; PREFER THROWING BOUQUETS TO DROPPING GARTERS AS OF OLD

Perhaps the world is "going to the dogs," but at least brides have become more modest. They prefer to throw a bouquet instead of dropping a garter!

In the fourteenth century in France every bride who approached the altar prayed that her garter wouldn't slip until the proper time. She had to have one dangling under her petticoats so the guests could claim it—and she wasn't timid about it either.

Stockings Tried
Later the brides started to throw a stocking instead but this was rather inconvenient. A bouquet is simpler. And the guest who receives that lovely trophy is scheduled to marry next.

Orange blossoms were originally selected as bridal flowers because they represent good luck and happiness. It is said that an orange was the golden apple which Jupiter, king of the Roman gods, gave to Juno on their wedding day.

Sentiment Important
Sentiment is the first ingredient that should go into the make-up of a bridal bouquet!

Whatever the flowers, whatever the arrangement, that bouquet should mean something other than the fact that the noted Mr. So-and-so arranged it. The famous Col. Charles A. Lindbergh stepped into the garden and picked Annie's bridal bouquet with his own loving hands.

First, the arm bouquet, which consists usually of a sheaf of white Calla lilies or sprays of yucca blossoms, white peach blossoms, or other sprays. Second, the shower bouquet, which is a loosely arranged group of any blossoms you desire to carry in your hands, with ribbons trailing from it, each ribbon holding other blooms of the same kind.

Third, the old-fashioned nosegay, usually built up in a conventional design with color among the white flowers to give a bit of pattern, always backed by lace paper or tulle. Fourth, the corsage or shoulder bouquet, which a bride wears when she prefers to carry her prayer book.

Typical of Christ's
The speaker then asserted that one of that took away sins but that it only rolled them forward a year at a time and there was always a consciousness of sin. "This blood was only typical of the blood that was shed by Christ," he said. Mr. McGaughey forcefully described the arrest, the persecution, and the crucifixion of Christ. "To be saved today," said the evangelist, "we must come in contact with the shed blood of Christ, and this is done only by obedience to the gospel."
The subject tonight is the conversion of Saul.

You can select your own flowers for your bridal bouquet. It is foolish not to do so. If you have a sentimental attachment for syringas, carry them; if for sweet peas, have a shower bouquet of them. Right now the vogue is to have a bit of color in the bridal bouquet.

Gambler's Throw

by Eustace L. Adams.

SYNOPSIS: Racing along in an airplane Jerry Gilmore and his friend, Emory Bottles, search for the kidnapers of Nancy Westworth and two well-known millionaires. In letters demanding ransom the kidnapers have given instructions to leave the money in a rowboat moored ten miles southeast of the Missouri coast lighthouse. No boats may remain within eight miles of the rowboat. But Jerry and Emory hope to trick the gang by using an airplane for pursuit. Jerry is particularly concerned with catching the men, because he was with Nancy when she was abducted, and although he was hurt in an attempt to help her he feels responsible for her capture. That the captors are of superior intelligence is plainly seen from the letters. No promise has been made as to the return of the prisoners, but there are veiled threats about the results if instructions are not carried out.

"THEY'RE AFTER THE MONEY"
JERRY'S eyes followed the line of Emory's pointing arm. There, perhaps eight miles from shore, were three child-size destroyers, steaming eastward in a fan-shaped formation. Four or five minutes later, off Southampton, another could be seen, idling along a mile or two off the beach. Between East Hampton and Amagansett they flew over a half-dozen coast guard boats. The plane was flying at its ceiling, sixteen thousand feet, when its crew saw the lighthouse at Montauk point slide beneath their lower wings. They gazed down in astonishment. Hidden on the Gardiner's bay side of the point were four more picket boats and another destroyer. Between the point and Block Island could be seen several of the larger run-chasing patrol craft, which were drifting about, apparently in designated position, awaiting the call to action.

Jerry turned sharply over the lighthouse and headed on a southeasterly course bearing straight out to sea. As he had anticipated, he soon saw an almost invisible white speck on the water which represented, presumably, the rowboat in which a fortune in hundred dollar bills awaited the kidnapers.

From their lofty seats Jerry and Emory could see that the authorities, acting in cooperation with the coast guard, had drawn a network of ships about the boat from which it would be almost impossible to escape. Yet each of the guard ships was so far away from the rowboat as to be invisible at sea level. Jerry understood the strategy that was so evident from above. The kidnapers' speedboat would undoubtedly be permitted to approach the rowboat unhindered. Having grabbed the satchel containing the money, the criminals would turn to race for safety. But the chances of successfully eluding the cordon of vigilant ships seemed, from the air, to be slight indeed.

Jerry hoped that he was flying sufficiently high to be unobserved. Emory studied the outlying ring of ships, rejoicing in the tense excitement of the moment. What a binge this might turn out to be! He was content with life again for the first time in months. Surfeited with the hothouse atmosphere of New York night club life, he had turned the key on his Gramercy park apartment. For a while, he had enjoyed the quiet calm of the mid-Victorian house on Beacon street, Boston. But as usual, six weeks of peace had whetted his appetite for adventure.

He had picked up a two-day-old newspaper with the vague idea of reading the advertisements of round-the-world cruises when his eyes had fallen upon the first-page story of the spectacular kidnappings.

At last Emory would notice the plane which was spying upon him. At last Emory's practiced eyes discerned the curious hook-nosed underbody of an amphibian, a type of ship equally at home on or over land and sea.

Jerry, obeying an instinct acquired during the war, worked the biplane into a position between the sun and the lower amphibian. While he was able to keep that strategic place he would be almost invisible to the flyers below.

The strange pilot betrayed no uncertainty of purpose. Straight as a bullet he flew toward the little rowboat anchored within the far-flung circle of waiting vessels. The amphibian suddenly nosed and began a steep dive toward the surface. Jerry closed his throttle and put the biplane in a thin glide.

"They're after the money!" he roared above the popping of the motor and the whistle of the wind through wires and struts.

Emory nodded briefly, his blue eyes glittering with excitement. He focussed his glasses again upon the amphibian, which was now leveling out for a landing not thirty feet from the tossing boat.

WHEAT YIELD TO BE LOWER THIS SEASON

Texas' Prospects Are For Yield Above 5-Year Average.

Wheat prospects have faded in the last three weeks. Government authorities, not optimistic on the subject at any time this spring, are reducing their estimate of yield whenever they have an opportunity to do so. Their latest estimate is 440,800,000 bushels for the country as a whole, compared with the 5-year average of 518,600,000 bushels. Many private estimates have been higher; none has been lower. But the consensus of opinion is that the crop has slipped.

Of the eleven winter wheat states served by the Santa Fe railway only one—Texas—has a prospective yield substantially above the 5-year average. Kansas, the premier wheat state, has lost more heavily than any of its neighbors. Its estimate now is 87,000,000 bushels. However, with favorable weather from now until harvest the yield might go to the estimate of 97,000,000 bushels, or even higher, as there still are large areas of good wheat in the central part of the state. Indications are that about 8,000,000 acres will come to harvest, compared with 12,800,000 acres planted for the 1931 crop.

Wheat harvest will start the first week in June in Oklahoma where the government expects a yield of from 35,000,000 to 38,000,000 bushels. Oklahoma's five year average is 52,000,000.

Harvesting wheat in Kansas should be in progress along the southern border between the 10th and 15th of June. Many of the large growers, finding their acreage reduced, will, after putting their own grain out of the way, do contract work for the smaller growers. One farmer in the southwest having lost several thousand acres by dry weather will move into central Kansas with a fleet of 8 combines and operate wherever his machines are needed. The cost of harvesting will be considerably lower than usual, thus enabling farmers to harvest low yielding grain.

Texas should have close to 35,000,000 bushels of wheat, as conditions there have been satisfactory until the last two or three weeks. Moisture now is needed. The latest official estimate is 31,000,000 bushels compared with the 5-year average of 23,000,000 bushels.

Officials estimate of wheat yields in other States (first figures) compared with the 5-year average (second figures): Nebraska, 28,000,000—32,000,000; Illinois, 23,000,000—33,000,000; Colorado, 5,000,000—15,000,000; Missouri, 10,000,000—31,000,000; Iowa, 4,500,000—7,500,000; California, 10,000,000—11,000,000; New Mexico, 1,700,000—1,500,000; Arizona, 500,000—500,000.

Lockney Sheep Show Profit

LOCKNEY, Texas, June 3—More and more the farmers of Lockney's trade territory are coming into the handling of a small flock of sheep each year, grazing the animals on wheat pasture in the winter and selling the lambs.

There are several farmers who have 500 head of ewes or more and a number of others with from 150 to 250 head. Several score throughout the territory report smaller flocks, 50 to 100 animals.

C. F. Merritt, who had over 300 ewes, sold his milk fed lambs on the Kansas City market for the top price the day he had his shipment there. They went as milk fed lambs for the Easter trade. Walter Woods and Bill and Henry Harper have 500 or more sheep each. B. P. Coe has 600 head. D. H. Davis also has between 500 and 600 head. Sid Brown reports between 150 and 200 head; B. E. Seifert 250, and C. H. Rose, 150 head.

The spring shearing has been almost completed. None of the wool has been sold.

Records Show Climatic Changes Only Temporary

Unusually hot, dry weather for a few years in any one section does not mean that cold days and rainfall are fading into the limbo of lost things. High and low records have been made and broken from the days of the first weather observers, only to be ironed out with the passage of time and the accumulation of statistics over a wide area.

Swings from dry to wet weather, and back again to dry, stand out clearly in the charts showing the rainfall over the entire North American continent from 1881 to 1931 recently completed by Dr. O. L. Fassig of the Weather Bureau, United States Department of Agriculture. These charts show, for example, that Oregon had decidedly more than normal rainfall during the first 25 years of this period, followed by a steady decrease during the last 25 years. Utah and Alabama, however, had just the reverse, the first 25-year period being dry and the second wet. Conditions in Arkansas were still different. There two 5-year periods (1881 to 1885 and 1925 to 1930) of heavy rainfall were separated by 40 years when the rainfall was much below normal. Throughout the section of the country including Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania there has been a remarkable dry period during the past 20 years, preceded by a long period of rainy weather.

Unfortunately, there seems to be no rhyme or reason in the swings from wet to dry weather and from hot to cold, so that meteorologists can trace no important correlations between them. Fifty years in meteorology, however, is a very brief period. The charts made at the end of the next half century, Dr. Fassig says, may bring out definite trends which the weatherman can use as a basis for long-time forecasts.

J. EVETTS HALEY, HUNTING FOR HISTORIC LORE, SEEN IN MORE ATTICS THAN PARLORS

AUSTIN, June 3. (P)—J. Evetts Haley sees more of people's attics and basements than he does of their parlors, would rather go through their woodsheds and backyard "catch" all that "inspirt" (sic) trampled lawns and hedges and converse more with junk dealers than with persons of wealth.

Because it is in these places and through these contacts that he finds that which he seeks—direct and authentic information on early Texas history.

What formerly was a hobby with Haley now has become his vocation. As a research worker in the historical folklore of Texas, Haley has uncovered and deposited with the archives of the University of Texas numerous valuable documents throwing light on conditions and events in the early days before Texas separated from Mexico and became an independent nation.

He also has gathered important data and many exhibits during and after the time of the Texas Republic.

For the past three years he has been carrying on research through a grant from the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Foundation. For three years preceding his work for the Rockefeller Foundation, he did research for the Panhandle Plains Historical Society.

Haley recently was a defendant in a libel suit for $2,000,000, brought as the result of his publication of a book, "The XIX Ranch," written for the Capitol Reservation Lands of Chicago. Plaintiffs in the case alleged statements in the book cast reflections on pioneer Texas families.

Several valuable collections of early Texas families of prominence have been made available for use of state historians by Haley, among them being the collection of papers of Dr. James H. Starr which Haley obtained after three years of negotiations. The collection consists of an unbroken file of papers and letters concerning east Texas from 1830 to 1890.

The Governor Henry Smith papers, extending through three generations, from the late 1820s to 1903 were obtained by Haley. Smith was the first provisional governor of Texas.

Other important papers procured and saved include those of Henry W. Smith, pioneer Texas surveyor and a signer of the Texas Declaration of Independence; Philip Nolan, an early Texas historical character; Captain B. B. Paddock, founder of the first daily newspaper in Fort Worth; W. P. Guinness, early Texas geologist and C. U. Connelley, among the first of the west Texas surveyors and a member of the house of representatives.

Haley stated it was a "tragedy" that the research work and data gathering was not started 50 years ago because of the large amount of material that would have been available then but which since has been destroyed. Many documents and papers of great historical value have been destroyed because persons having possession did not recognize their worth. Every day valuable material is being destroyed because of lack of room, Haley said.

The historical collector recommended that the Texas legislature enact a law preventing county officials from destroying old papers and files until first examined by a competent historian. When storage rooms become crowded and overflowing, county officials in many instances have ordered the old records burned.

A portion of the records of Bell and San Augustine counties have been destroyed because of a lack of storage space, Haley said.

Most of the old records of Matagorda county were saved by Haley after they had been hauled away and stored in a barn and later given to a junk dealer. After tracking down the junk dealer, Haley learned that a cartload of the paper and documents had been shipped to Houston. Much of it was recovered.

LEAGUE WILL MEET
VERNON, June 3 (P)—The state convention of the Waltham League will be held here July 17-19. Preparations for the event were discussed at a recent meeting of the "Radiance Zone" of the Waltham League at Clara, Tex., where 200 Leaguers from Vernon, Nichita Falls, Olney, and Grandfield, Okla., gathered for the 14th semi-annual rally.

A. A. King of Vernon, zone president, presided. Following elimination contests, it was decided Miss Sylvia Kaiser of Clara would represent the "Radiance Zone" in the oratorical contests of the state convention in July.

PAINTING OF SAM HOUSTON MAY SOON HANG IN MEXICO CAPITAL

BROWNSVILLE, June 3—A huge painting showing Santa Anna standing, a defeated man before his conqueror, hangs in the Capital at Austin, but there may soon hang in the presidential palace at Mexico City a painting of that conqueror standing proudly erect, reflecting the ability, intellect and force which wrested Texas from Mexico.

Such an apparent paradoxical situation was explained here by a high Mexican official who came through Brownsville recently, and who requested that his name be withheld from publication for the present.

"I was in the United States on business," he said, "and took the opportunity of viewing while I was in Houston, the portrait of Sam Houston recently completed by Julian Muench, Houston artist.

"A fascination I have always felt in the life of this remarkable man prompted me to view this portrait, of which I had recently read in the newspapers, and when I saw it, the idea of hanging such a portrait in one of Mexico's federal buildings occurred to me."

The official said he would talk to other government officials in Mexico about it.

He mentioned also the possibility of buying the portrait, or some other one, and presenting it to the state of Texas on the occasion of the Texas Centennial, to show the kindly feeling between the two peoples.

"While such an idea might seem strange to many, it would not bring the least objection from a patriotic Mexican who would view the matter intelligently," he continued.

"Santa Anna was as much of a despot and oppressor to the people living in Mexico as he was to the Mexican and the Americans living in Texas.

"We Mexicans feel that General

Houston and his little band were not fighting Mexico, but were fighting against oppression just as we have had to do it many times since then against other despots in Mexico. In fact, we feel there is a bond of friendship between us and Texas because of our struggles for liberty."

The portrait of Sam Houston by the Houston artist was completed recently. Mr. Muench worked on it for a year. It was painted from a daguerreotype loaned to the artist by Colonel A. J. Houston, son of Sam Houston, and is considered by Col. Houston and the artist as the best likeness of Houston in the prime of life, expressive of the fullness of the man.

The artist, in speaking of his work, says, "there are a number of things about my portrait of Sam Houston that call for an explanation. After a few years many of the other portraits will need explanation."

"Like the daguerreotype from which I worked, the painting will first appear unusual, mixing the strange with the familiar apperceptions of Sam Houston. The daguerreotype came to me as a discovery and produced the amazement and exhilaration that well may accompany a discovery."

He explains that the daguerreotype, made at Tyler, evidently in the early '40's, has never been reproduced. "The head expresses the vigor and resolution of a man at the height of his powers. It is lighted from its right, the left side of the face in shadow, illuminated by a soft light on the cheek bone.

"The eyes face straight ahead, clear, hard, and self-assured, but with the slightest trace of humor in them. The mouth is wide, compressed, yet easy, having a suggestion of disillusionment mixed with the tolerance and humor that may come with breadth of experience of understanding."

The new portrait has created much discussion, both among historians and artists, because of the difference between the Sam Houston portrayed in it, and the generally accepted notion of Houston. Mr. Muench contends that the daguerreotype from which he painted the portrait is the only likeness which reflects the complex character of Houston, too often pictured as a simple frontiersman.

PANHANDLE IS STILL RICH IN OIL AND GAS

Texas Has Produced One-Sixth of Oil Produced in U. S. Since 1885.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 3—Future utilization of the petroleum and natural gas industries of Texas, key resources of the State, must take on a widened and more complex phase of operation, declared Elmer H. Johnson, industrial geographer of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Mr. Johnson has just completed a survey of the oil industry, the results of which will be incorporated in a publication on the natural region of Texas and their resources, to be issued by the bureau in a few months. The economic significance of oil and gas developments in the future will be vastly more important than any phase of economic progress of these industries in the past, Mr. Johnson believes. This is a challenge Texas citizenry cannot ignore, he asserted.

"With oil and natural gas, assuming such large shares in the fuels furnished in the national energy budget, it certainly behooves the people of Texas to know more concerning the vast oil and natural gas reserves of the state," Mr. Johnson said. "It is important, also, to realize just how much these fuels are cutting into older and well established markets outside of Texas. For instance, the amount of natural gas delivered annually under normal conditions from the Panhandle gas fields to Chicago through the recently completed long-distance pipe-line is said to be equivalent in energy value to that of 2,000,000 tons of bituminous coal. Also, it has been estimated that the 1,500,000 million cubic feet of natural gas consumed in 1928 possessed a fuel value equivalent to that of 65,000,000 tons of bituminous coal; and since 1928 the consumption of natural gas has increased considerably—to 1,943,000 million cubic feet in 1930 from which it decreased to 1,700,000 million cubic feet in 1931."

Discussing the petroleum reserves of Texas, Mr. Johnson said: "Economic aspects of any industry concerned with reserves of any natural resource cannot be measured in terms of physical quantity of natural resource alone; measurements in terms of physical quantity are, however, of the greatest importance in interpreting economic aspects of reserves.

"At the end of 1931 Texas had produced 2,736,176,000 barrels of crude oil which is more than one-sixth the total production of the United States—and the United States has been producing oil since 1859; Texas only since around 1900—long afterward the rise of the Standard Oil company. Moreover, Texas was not an important producer until after 1912. Ten years ago Oklahoma and California each were producing 25 per cent of the nation's crude oil; and Texas 24 per cent; in 1931 Texas produced 39 per cent of the crude oil of the country; California 22 per cent; and Oklahoma 21 per cent. Production of crude oil in the country as a whole has been declining or just a little more than maintaining itself if a somewhat longer time be taken; the increase in the percentage of Texas production is therefore of more than just relative or local significance.

"According to data assembled by Wallace E. Pratt, geologist, the Texas Gulf Coast fields have furnished 768,505,000 barrels, or 28.01 per cent of the total production of Texas to the close of 1931; the East Texas fields (East Texas and East Central Texas), 384,455,000 barrels, or 14.06 per cent; North Texas, 434,145,000 barrels, or 15.37 per cent; North-Central Texas, 289,234,000 barrels, or 10.94 per cent; Panhandle, 178,765,000 barrels, or 6.53 per cent; West Texas, 517,505,000 barrels, or 18.01 per cent; Southwestern Texas, 124,335,000 barrels; and the Laredo district, 1,229,000 barrels, or 1.15 per cent.

TULSA, Okla., June 2 (AP)—Richard S. Graves, pioneer Oklahoma newspaperman, died today at his home here of acute indigestion. He was 76 years old.

BOTH WETS AND DRY CLAIM TO HAVE WON BATTLE FOUGHT AT DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

AUSTIN, June 3 (AP)—Wet or dry? Behavior of the Texas State Democratic convention in Houston last week will be the subject of discussion around the capitol for at least four years, or until that meeting's expressions are succeeded in 1936 by declarations from the quadrennial get-together of that date.

The wets claim they were victorious at Houston and the drys assert they routed whatever anti-prohibition sentiment there was in the conclave.

If one had a way of measuring the boos, cat-calls and hisses that were emitted as the various speakers—of wet and dry leanings—appeared on the stage in advocacy of some man or measure, it probably would be almost an even balance.

Everyone agreed that it was the out-booming, out-cat-calling and out-hissing political meeting ever held in Texas. The meeting was in confusion from start to end, the disorder gathering momentum as the session aged. It finally wound up in bedlam around midnight when Texas Democrats voted to urge submission of the question of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to a vote of the States.

Whether that was a wet gesture or not, just the same, ardent prohibitionists protested the action and when a viva voce vote had been declared favorable to that expression they started out to force a roll call with their fists. That was not necessary, however, since Chairman Clinton G. Brown of San Antonio showed a disposition to submit the proposition to a roll call if the convention wanted one.

To the long-time political observers it was plain the faction of the party favorable to anti-prohibition were hopeless divided among themselves on the three main issues up for disposal.

Who should be favored for temporary chairman. Who should be supported for Texas National committee. How strong should an expression on prohibition be.

The large Dallas county delegation, for instance, was liberal in its views with reference to a prohibition expression, but it voted against the liberals in favoring Congressman Sam Rayburn for temporary chairman and favored re-election of Jed C. Adams of Dallas to the National committee position.

The large Bexar county delegation, exceedingly liberal on the prohibition question, voted for Rayburn, because it felt his defeat as keynoter might not reflect the proper undivided support of John N. Garner for the presidency. It voted for former Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin, outspoken "wet," for national committeeman.

The large Harris county delegation went down the line for C. I. Francis of Wichita Falls, compromise candidate of the liberal element, for temporary chairman, for Wirtz and for "no-pussyfooting" on prohibition.

The last-minute switch of the liberals from Senator W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales, repeatist, to Francis, after many warm caucuses when that group refused to discuss any kind of a compromise, apparently did not help the campaign of those in that group. Suddenness of the swapple, of Hopkins for Francis had a tendency to disorganize and scatter the "non-pussyfooters."

Francis had spoken at a caucus of the liberals cautioning against an uncompromising stand for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and advocating a policy of permitting the States to decide the issue. Francis had been one of the leading young Democrats in the fight of four years ago against the movement within the party to reject Smith on account of his prohibition stand. He had fought down the line against the revolvers within the party and had a big conservative following. The manner in which his name was brought into the keynoter picture, however, detracted from his strength, may be believed.

There appear ahead many stiff fights within the Democratic party in Texas over prohibition. For instance, should Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York by the party's nominee there is almost certain to spring up a movement sponsored by dry Democrats to carry Texas for the Republicans. The dry consider Roosevelt wet, and they have given notice that they will not vote for an anti-prohibitionist member of the party for president.

Even though the Republicans should put a wet plank in their platform it is probable the Texas Democrats opposed to repeal or modification of the Eighteenth Amendment would vote for President Hoover on a theory that he would be dryer than the Democrats' choice.

The prohibitionists are expected to rally their forces and lay plans to capture the State convention next September when a platform for the party's gubernatorial nominee to stand on is written. They are expected to scrutinize carefully the wet leanings of any candidates prohibitionists are sent to the House and Senate. The same careful observation is certain to be made of candidates for Congress.

Wet or Dry? is a question apparently to be foisted around for months to come, with probably some kind of a clear-cut ballot box showdown settling it.

Many of the caucuses petitioned the State Democratic executive committee to place on the primary ballots next month the question of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. It was not likely, however, that the ballots would carry any such proposition, although the State convention proper favored submission of the question to the various states. Some possibly will argue that the State committee should accept that expression as a mandate from Texas Democracy to submit the proposition in Texas immediately, it being not necessary to await Congressional action in the matter insofar as finding out Texas sentiment is concerned.

Others will counter that that action would serve only one purpose: Stir prohibition agitation in Texas. They would point out that the matter would have to be resubmitted in the State should Congress ever act to submit it in compliance with the State convention's resolution. But, those wanting a Texas expression, could argue that there isn't any likelihood of Congress submitting the question for months to come and that Texas voters should be permitted to notify their representatives in Congress how they stand for guidance in acting on prohibition proposals coming up there.

PECAN CROP SMALLER
SAN ANGELO, June 3 (AP)—A shorter crop of pecans is anticipated this year by E. W. Bilising of A. & M. college, who was here continuing his studies and experiments in pecan case bearer control. There are some trees in San Angelo where the nuts have set exceptionally well, but for the most part the timbered areas of the Concho rivers do not appear to have the prospects of last year, Br. Bilising said.

Collies Credited In Saving Woman

BIGWOOD, Ont., June 3 (AP)—Two collie dogs received adulation due heroes today. They were credited with having the life of Miss Loretta Page, 22-year-old school teacher, after three of her pupils had perished in a fire yesterday.

Unable to save the children, daughters of Ernest Gauthier, at whose home she lived, Miss Page jumped from an upper window, her clothing in flames.

As she lay on the ground with wrenched ankles, the collies rolled her about, scratching out the flames with their paws.

CHILLICOTHE, June 3 (AP)—Threshing in Hardeman county will start about June 5 and by June 10 will be in full blast throughout the county, according to wheat growers here. The present crop is expected to yield heavily, with an average of 25 bushels per acre predicted.

HEN STARTS EARLY
ABILENE, June 3 (AP)—The rather striking feat is recorded here of a White Leghorn proudly bringing five of her own chicks into the lot at five months of age. The chicks, very small, are owned by Mrs. M. Alice Floyd. She said the hen laid her first egg in April, less than four months after she was hatched.

Huge Damage Is Done By Hail In Delta County

CUMBY, June 3. (AP)—The heavy hail and rain storm over Delta county, twenty miles north of here, late last week, did thousands of dollars damage to property and growing crops. Howland, Atlas, Lake Creek, Enloe, Cooper, Vasco and Charleston were affected to a large extent. It is reported that hail stones as large as baseballs fell in some of the areas, damaging buildings. Near Lake Creek several barns were struck by lightning and burned. At Howland several barns and outhouses were struck by lightning and consumed, together with tons of feedstuffs and implements. Cotton, corn and gardens were badly damaged and in many instances beaten to the ground. All rivers and creeks in the vicinity overflowed and were a raging torrent of water. It was the worst storm and flood of the year in the Delta country and the loss was so great that it can not be estimated at this time.

Old Town Will Feel New Boom

LAREDO, June 3. (AP)—The old settlement of Rosita, in the northwestern part of Duval county about 25 miles from the Texas-Mexican railroad tracks, and with a population of less than 100 persons, is preparing to become a "magic city of the plains" as a result of oil development work in that portion of Duval county.

The "boom" followed the production of 2,100 barrels of oil daily in the Capps & Smith wells in the Government Wells field, about 3 miles from Rosita, and the finding of big oil production in the Suttle well only one mile southwest of Rosita.

Both major and independent concerns that have acquired acreage in the vicinity of Rosita and the Suttle well believe that the greatest oil producing field in Southwest Texas is at hand.

NURSES' CLUB FORMED

QUANAH, June 3. (AP)—A Nurses' club has been organized here and plans made for semi-monthly meetings. Officers elected: President, Mrs. T. A. Majors; vice president, Mrs. Walter Newman; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Frances Hanna.

Charter members of the club: Mrs. Mitchell Ledbetter of Chillicothe; Mrs. Luther Baker, Miss Nell Brummett, Mrs. Boswell McGaughey, Miss Frances Hanna, Mrs. T. A. Majors, Mrs. Fred Hahn, Mrs. Walter Newman, and Mrs. Tony Finley.

Buying At Home To Be Promoted

AMARILLO, June 3. (AP)—Advancement of the program for the reduction of the expenditures and the promotion of the five-year beautification plan, and the promotion of "buy at home shows" in all member cities will be the three main objectives in the administration program of Wilbur C. Hawk of Amarillo, new president of the West Texas chamber of commerce.

"The Sweetwater convention adopted many constructive resolutions, and I shall regard these as the working program and platform of my administration," Hawk said. "One of our first tasks will be to formulate this definite working program, with an organization for carrying it out."

"Chief among these resolutions were those to memorialize our public officials to reduce expenditures, to organize budget-making proceedings in all forms of local government, to require proper auditing of county claims, to compel tax collections, to provide less costly county, state, and judiciary administrations, and to lessen public school affiliation requirements."

"The leadership of the West Texas chamber of commerce in the fight for lower public expenditures and taxes is generally recognized and firmly established. I believe we have in the regional organization and the local chambers, with their taxation committees, the kind of organization that can most effectively accomplish the ends desired. I want every county in West Texas to have a taxpayers committee."

"One of the common complaints of visitors to West Texas is of its barrenness. This condition can be eliminated through the work of the more than 80 local beautification committees in as many towns. The plan already is in operation. During this year we expect to stage a big inter-city beautification contest whereby communities will vie with one another in planting trees, shrubbery, and flowers. Contest plans will be announced soon."

"I have in mind the staging of 'buy-at-home shows' in all of our 117 affiliated cities, with the purpose of getting women interested in the promotion of this activity. These shows may be held at one time all over West Texas. I believe this idea can be made a great factor in promoting Texas industrially. While I expect to major on these three projects, it shall by my purpose also to carry on through the organization the other projects outlined at the Sweetwater convention, and to continue the chamber's effort of ever fostering and strengthening the spirit of loyalty, progressiveness and determination so thoroughly characterized by our West Texas citizenship."

Irrigation To Be Hardeman County Salvation, Belief

QUANAH, June 3. (AP)—That truck farming and irrigation would be the salvation of Hardeman county, is the opinion of J. O. Stovall, Federal Loan supervisor for this district, who has been here for several days on an inspection trip over the county.

Mr. Stovall said from the Gulf to New Mexico he had seen no country that looked as barren as the soil around Acme, four miles west of Quanah, where the large cement plaster mills of the Certainite Products company are located. These mills pump millions of gallons annually from the gyp mines supplying their mills, and this water is being extensively used, and has been for years, for irrigation purposes. The gardens he found at Acme were as abundant in production as any he had seen in the state, Mr. Stovall stated.

In his opinion irrigation could best be handled by the tile system. At Acme, Ransom Davis has used the cement blocks to tile his half acre garden, and Mr. Stovall said he would value the garden today at several hundred dollars.

In Acme there are gardens that have been irrigated with gyp water for 29 years, and the soil is still productive. The use of the gyp water has not caked nor hardened the soil, as is the popular belief. There are other garden plots in the county that have been irrigated and worked for nearly forty years and still produce. One of these is on the Sam Miller farm in the northwest part of the county. Where surface irrigation is used there is being produced celery, lettuce, cauliflower, and asparagus, along with the usual vegetables, onions, beets, carrots, squash, potatoes, peas, beans, etc. Much of this produce has been considered impossible to raise in the county, but is being proven will do well on barren soil and watered with gyp water.

Mr. Stovall said he would like to see what could be done by employing the same method on more fertile soil, and with tile system. There are a few small tracts irrigated with the tile system, and it is expected a much wider use of this method will be adopted by farmers and residents in town who have wells or private water supplies.

Pipeline Receipts Larger In April

AMARILLO, June 3. (AP)—Oil pipeline receipts, crude storage and storage of gasoline all gained in the Panhandle during the month of April compared with March, according to figures recently released.

At the same time, pipeline shipments of oil, the consignment of oil to local refineries, and gasoline production and deliveries showed losses.

Oil pipeline receipts gained 114,460 barrels for the month, while pipeline shipments decreased 100,820 barrels. Oil in storage gained 3,875 barrels. Oil consigned to refineries in the field was 39,640 bar-

SINGING IS POPULAR
VERNON, June 3. (AP)—Approximately 1,000 people from Wilbarger, Wichita, and Hardeman counties attended the recent semi-annual convention of the Wilbarger County Singing association at Odell in north Wilbarger county. Jackson Springs, near Odell, was awarded the next semi-annual meet, to be held September 24, and J. M. Collins of Jackson Springs was re-elected president of the association. J. O. Rouse of Vernon and A. M. Dauley of Odell were principal speakers at the convention.

Fifty-three gasoline plants operating during the month produced 19,705,188 gallons, with Gray county leading. The production was slightly less than the preceding month, with five plants not operating.

CHEERING MILLIONS
SAN ANGELO, June 3. (AP)—The month of June should bring much cheer to West Texas—or as much as a million dollars will provide. While there are not as many lambs as last year, an estimated 300,000 will be going to Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, and Kansas City, including raw money to flow into West Texas. Texas expects to supply the nation with fat lambs this season as it did last. Good rains came timely to refresh the grass. Stockmen look for conditions to right themselves by reason of the narrower supply, giving chance for demand to catch up with production. Death losses this season are said to have been higher than last year.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: JOSEPH THE WORKER.

Scripture Lesson: Gen. 41:46-57, Gen. 41:46. And Joseph was thirty years old when he stood before Pharaoh king of Egypt. And Joseph went out from the presence of Pharaoh and went throughout all the land of Egypt.

47. And in the seven plentiful years the earth brought forth by handfuls.

48. And he gathered up all the food of the seven years which were in the land of Egypt, and laid up the food in the cities: the food of the field, which was round about every city, laid he up in the same.

49. And Joseph laid up grain as the sand of the sea, very much, until he left off numbering; for it was without number.

50. And unto Joseph were born two sons before the years of famine came, whom Asenath, the daughter of Potiphara priest of On, bare unto him.

51. And Joseph called the name of the firstborn Manasseh: For, said he, God hath made me forget all my toil, and all my father's house.

52. And the name of the second called he Ephraim: For God hath made me fruitful in the land of my affliction.

53. And the seven years of plenty, that was in the land of Egypt, came to an end.

54. And the seven years of famine began to come, according as Joseph had said: and there was famine in all lands; but in all the land of Egypt there was bread.

55. And when all the land of Egypt was famished, the people cried to Pharaoh for bread: and Pharaoh said unto all the Egyptians, Go unto Joseph; what he saith to you, do.

56. And the famine was over all the face of the earth: and Joseph opened all the storehouses, and sold unto the Egyptians; and the famine was sore in the land of Egypt.

57. And all countries came into Egypt to Joseph to buy again, because the famine was sore in all the earth.

Golden Text: Seekest thou a man diligent in his business? he shall stand before kings.—Prov. 22:29.

Time: Joseph in Potiphara's house, B. C. 1735. Joseph in prison, B. C. 1725. Joseph exalted, B. C. 1723. The seventh year of plenty, B. C. 1717. The seventh year of famine, B. C. 1710.

Place: Zoan, the capital of Egypt, on the eastern part of the Nile delta.

Introduction The proverb which is our Golden Text is wonderfully illustrated in the experience of Joseph. "Seekest thou a man diligent in his business? he shall stand before kings." And the principle of reward for faithfulness is as operative today as it was in Joseph's day. It is a law of the kingdom of God, expressed by our Lord in the parable of the Talents: "Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Do not fail to read the story of Joseph's experiences between our last lesson and this. However familiar we may be with it, it contains a fresh blessing, as it so beautifully tells the story of a pure soul, in whom the energy and strength of youth are combined with deep religious faith. The dreamer shows that he can match vision with enterprise; that he does not conceive of greatness apart from work, that he can work with equal faithfulness in the dim light of a prison and in the glow and glitter of the royal palace, in the humility of a slave and the honor of a prime minister.

The Dreamer, The Teller Joseph was not a mere dreamer. He believed in his dreams, doubting not that God gave them and that one day they should be fulfilled. But his eyes were not so full of the future that he could not see the demands of the present. He did not think that the promise in the dream freed him from the responsibility of living a true and dutiful life on the way thither. We have known of sons of the rich, sure of a large inheritance, who felt no urge to be men on their own account, and so made shipwreck of character and destroyed the worth of their promised wealth. But in the case of Joseph, the dream, far from making him credulous and passive, or reckless, seemed to challenge and strengthen him for noble living under all conditions.

Joseph A Slave in Egypt It was a terrific experience for the seven-year-old boy, who dreamed of authority and enjoyed the best love of his father, to find himself a slave in a foreign land. For many that would have been condemnation worse than death, enslaving their souls as well as their bodies. Not so with Joseph. He did not sulk or shrink, or in any way compromise the honesty and genuineness of his young soul. Made a house-servant of Potiphara, the Egyptian courtier who bought him, he so fulfilled his tasks that he drew the favorable attention of his master. It is said that "his master saw that the Lord was with him, and that the Lord made all that he did to prosper in his hand." He did not work like a slave, grudgingly and in sullen manner. Reward came in consequence in Potiphara's choice of Joseph to be his personal servant and finally the overseer of the house, trusted with all its affairs. "The Lord blessed the Egyptian's house for Joseph's sake."

Joseph in Prison Even in prison that happened to him which had happened in Potiphara's house, he was so trusted as to become assistant warden of the prison, in charge of all the work or prison superintendence; and all that he did, "Jehovah made it to prosper." By a strange turn, among those committed to the prison after Joseph's promotion were Pharaoh's chief butler and chief baker, who had offended that monarch, and one night each of them had a dream so vivid and evidently meaningful that they were greatly disturbed. In the kindness of his heart, Joseph interpreted the two dreams for them, telling the chief baker that in three days he would be hanged, and the chief butler that in three days he would be restored to his important office. In each case this came about. Joseph begged the chief butler to hold him in remembrance when he went back to his post, but the butler ungratefully forgot his promise, and dropped Joseph from his mind for two long years.

Joseph Interprets Pharaoh's Dream Once more a dream played a conspicuous part in Joseph's life, and this time it was a dream of Pharaoh's. In his dream Pharaoh saw seven fat kine coming up out of the Nile, and after them seven lean kine which ate up the seven fat kine. This was followed by another dream quite similar. He saw seven ears full of grain, and seven thin ears sprang up beside them and ate up the seven full ears. These dreams Pharaoh, greatly troubled, told to all his wise men, but none of them had any idea what they portended. So Pharaoh sent for Joseph to interpret his dreams. Both dreams, he declared, had the same significance. Both foretold seven years of plenty in Egypt, to be followed by seven years of scarcity and famine. The doubling of the dream was, by way of confirmation.

Joseph, Prime Minister in Egypt Joseph went about his new duties with energy and thoroughness. He "went throughout all the land of Egypt," and "gathered corn as the sand of the sea." "No grass grew under his feet." He was ubiquitous, personally overseeing everything for seven long years. Wasteful consumption of the abundant crops had to be restrained, storehouses to be built, careful records of the contents to be made, after Egyptian fashion. "The people who could not look so far as seven years ahead, and wanted to enjoy, or make money out of, the good harvests, had to be looked after, and an army of officials to be kept in order. Dignity meant work for him." (MacLaren).

And so efficiently did he work that when the famine came Egypt was prepared, not only to feed Egyptians, but the peoples of other lands also. "The task of distribution was not easy. It required quite as much energy and a great deal more wisdom and will power. But Joseph was equal to the requirements. See Genesis 47:13-26. Besides saving the lives of the people, he did two things for Egypt. He extended its influence among the surrounding peoples, and gave to it an economic organization that worked happily for the welfare of all. So he showed himself to be a true statesman in making "a temporary distress the occasion for permanent benefit."

Chiropractic is a Philosophy, a science and art of things natural; a system of adjusting by hand the many articulations of the human body for the elimination of the cause of disease.

Dis-ease is an effect; every effect must have a cause. The cause of disease is a lack of nerve stimulus, transmitted from the brain through the nerve system, applying its self upon the material elements of the body.

I will be glad to explain how Chiropractic is related to you, and prove by a practical demonstration the working of the science as practiced according to the latest methods.

Joseph Stores Food for the Famine "And he gathered up all the food of the seven years which were in the land of Egypt." That is, all the grain not needed for the immediate sustenance of the people. "And laid up the food in the cities."

The Egyptian monuments preserve many pictures of the granaries, of the reception and storing of the grain, and of its registration by the scribes or clerks. The "superintendent of the granaries" was one of the most important members of an Egyptian government; far more so than a modern Secretary of Agriculture, because the government kept great stocks in their granaries. This is probably the most conspicuous and forcible lesson in history teaching the importance and value of saving. It was often brought before the American public in connection with the conservation of resources during the world war. Adversity is a blessing in Disguise. Hindrances are helps. If one of Joseph's misfortunes had been omitted, his good fortune would never have come. If his brethren had not hated him, if he had not been sold, if he had not been imprisoned, he would never have ruled Egypt. Not one thread in the tapestry could have been withdrawn without spoiling the pattern. We cannot afford to lose one of our sorrows or trials." (MacLaren). Of course it was not adversity alone that led to power, but adversity plus the use Joseph made of it; and the use he made of it was due to the faith of his heart.

The Dignity and Reward of Work Joseph did not believe that idleness was the mark of nobility. In his home, although he was best loved and possessed the insignia of rank, he still was taught to work. Hard work, whether manual or mental, or both, which requires self-discipline, patience, and industry, is the way up. And many of the world's greatest have had their training in that school. "David rose from the sheepcote to be the greatest king of his time, Elisha from the plough to be the greatest prophet of his time, Peter from the fishing boat to be the greatest apostle of his time, Livingstone from the weaver's loom to be the greatest missionary of this time, Lincoln from the tanner's yard to be the greatest statesman of his time."

OIL OPERATOR HERE

ALBANY, Tex., June 3. (P)—Tom James, pioneer operator in the Shackelford county oil field, and his partner, Warren Klinger, were burned critically early today in a fire at the well they were drilling northwest of Albany.

Homer Barksdale, driller, suffered less serious burns. The blaze destroyed the drilling machine and well house.
