Not All Cowboys
Moderns should not assume that all the pioneers of this section wore ten-gallon hats, chaps, and spurs.

Why Not?
Since most everyone seems to be planning to be a cow puncher, the Pampan is thinking of being something different.

Help Us Out
We appeal to the old timers to help us in this important matter. And who has any of the trappings they will lend us for the three days?

How About This?
We think it would be unfortunate if there were not a few gunmen present for the Frontier Days.

About Audits
There is a movement in Texas for independent audits of all public accounts. It matters not whether this movement is abetted by professional auditors.

New Ford Dashes Into City Court

For making an "L" turn around a street corner in the city late Sunday evening at 60 miles an hour, an employe of the Miller-Lybrand Company, Inc., driving a new V-8 Standard Ford coupe, was fined $5 in court yesterday afternoon by Judge J. H. Blythe.

At first the judge was skeptical about Officer H. L. Kenner's claims regarding the 60-mile-around-a-corner speed, but L. R. Back Miller and J. M. Lybrand explained that the wheels would "lay down" in making a corner, he assessed the fine.

The judge remitted a fine for making a "U" turn at 40 miles per hour when the Ford dealers begged off on the plea that the car was in second and they had no idea it was making such speed.

VETERAN OF SCHOOL ROOM KNOWS WORK

STERLING PASSES PLEA TO NAME MRS. MARRS

WAS IN 2 LEGISLATURES

DEVOTED HIS TIME TO ALL EDUCATIONAL INTERESTS

AUSTIN, April 26 (AP)—C. N. Shaver of Huntsville today was Texas state superintendent of public instruction by appointment of Governor R. S. Sterling who named him to fill the unexpired term of the late S. M. N. Marrs.

Shaver, formerly superintendent of schools at Huntsville and a member of the 40th and 41st legislatures, was expected to become a candidate in the July democratic primaries for nomination to the office.

The governor had been urged by the vacancy to name Mrs. Marrs to the office ten years.

Mr. Marrs died last week after a brief illness. He had held the office ten years.

Charles Shaver has given the 47 years of his life to Texas educational systems. He started out when 18 to teach young America, as it were, taking a country school in his native county of Williamson.

Ever since he has been teaching, directing courses for education of the youth or legislating for Texas educational systems.

He came to the Texas legislature primarily for the purpose of giving needs of Texas a "life." The two terms he spent in the state house of representatives he devoted almost wholly to Texas educational institutions' interests.

As a member of the house appropriations committee he studied the needs of Texas educational institutions, high and low. He sponsored helpful legislation and sought to block the way of proposed laws he felt were inimical to the schools' best interests.

Shaver was born in Williamson county, Texas, near Jarrell. He obtained his teacher's certificate at Sam Houston State normal in Huntsville in 1908. He was superintendent of the Bellville schools for two years and also headed the Granger schools. He had been head of the Huntsville school system for nine years when called by Governor Sterling to take the reins of Texas' extensive school system.

HINES OPPOSES BONUS PAYMENT

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—The administration today sent its second opposition witness, veterans administrator Frank T. Hines before the house ways and means committee to oppose full cash payment of the soldiers' bonus.

Like Charles G. Dawes, head of the reconstruction finance corporation and first official opponent of the $2,000,000,000 new money plan to come before the committee, Hines saw service during the world war.

"I want to start by saying that we are all sympathetic with the veteran and want to do what we can to help him," Hines said.

"I need only point, in this connection, to the fact that veterans bureau expenditures in the month of February were $70,000,000."

Proud of Pampa

SURVIVORS OF HISTORIC STORM

Mrs. Theresa Clearwater, left, and Miss Grace Clark, of Brownsville, who are the only living survivors of the storm which destroyed the first city of Clarksville in Texas. This town was an important port in the Lower Rio Grande valley, and was named after the father of these two women, Wm. H. Clark. During the Civil War Confederates jumped much cotton to England from Clarksville. Barren wastes of sand mark the spot where the town once stood. The storm occurred in 1874, when Clark's daughters were small children.

AMARILLO TAXPAYERS LEAGUE SUGGESTS DRASTIC ECONOMY PROGRAM FOR CITY SCHOOLS

Saving of $185,000 Is Being Outlined To Board

AMARILLO, April 26 (AP)—The Amarillo Taxpayers League today recommended that the city's schools adopt economy measures that would bring about a saving of $185,000 a year in school expenditures.

Chief among the "economy measures" was a 30 per cent reduction in salaries of teachers and other employees, and the dismissal of 25 "surplus" teachers, at a total saving of $120,000 a year.

The report recommended combining the offices of tax assessor, collector and business manager, dispensing with the work of supervisors, reduction in the number of athletic coaches, elimination of the R. O. T. C. at a saving of $4,000 a year, the closing of smaller schools and a reduction in the maintenance of others.

Man Kills Wife Through Mistake

WICHITA, April 26 (AP)—James R. Lyles, 42, shot and killed his wife, 39, at their home here early today. He said he mistook her for a burglar.

Lyles' account of the tragedy to police was that he awoke about 2 o'clock and hearing someone moving in the kitchen, grabbed a shotgun and approached the form of a person standing near a window in the dark room.

"Don't move or I'll shoot," Lyles said he ordered twice but without answer.

Then, he said, he took aim and fired. As the form slumped to the floor, Lyles said, his wife cried "James, you've killed me."

Miss Sarah Meyer, teacher in Sam Houston school, spent the week-end in Conway.

BROKERAGE POOLS IN NEW YORK USE WRITERS

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—The United States steel corporation today omitted a quarterly dividend on its common stock for the first time since 1915.

Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred stock.

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—The use of publicity to misrepresent stocks in drives by brokerage pools to inflate their values was charged before the senate banking committee today by Representative LaGuardia of New York.

The fiery little republican produced from two trunks numerous checks he said had been paid to some writers of financial topics for New York and other newspapers to "ballyhoo" certain stocks. He also rough literature he said had been circulated forecasting bull markets.

LaGuardia said Richard Whitney, president of the Stock Exchange, knew of market irregularities. In referring to one stock—Kreuger—which he said was handled by Lee Higginson and company, LaGuardia said:

"Why senators, if Whitney had been president of a grocery exchange and Higginson was selling canned beans and conspired to misrepresent as they have in their present occupation, both would be under indictment at this time."

Chamber's Drive New Under Way

The chamber of commerce membership drive got under way this morning with 10 men at work. The committee in charge is composed of Travis Lively, Carl B. Stone, and Frank Keim. The drive will continue throughout the week.

Memberships for 1932 have been reduced from $24 to $18. The committee has set its goal at $2,000 in memberships. The chamber of commerce and Board of City Development has done much work in Pampa during the last year. The amount to be received from city taxation this year has been reduced from 15 cents to 12 cents on the $100 taxable valuation.

Expenses for 1932 have been cut to the lowest possible figures. Salaries have been slashed and operating expenses lowered. A merchant would have to have an assessed valuation of $10,000 to give the B. C. D. $12 through taxes. Ordinarily a business man would be assessed much more without the tax plan.

Frontier Days Session Changed

The joint meeting of directors of the junior chamber of commerce and Board of City Development and chairmen of committees on Pampa's First Annual Frontier Days celebration May 26, 27, and 28 will be at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the city commission rooms instead of Thursday night as formerly announced. The change in date was necessitated because members will be absent from the city Tuesday.

Board of City Development directors have been asked to meet at 7:30 o'clock in the board rooms for a brief business session. They will join the general meeting following the session.

Sheriff Lon L. Blansett will outline tentative plans for the celebration and a discussion will follow. Final plans and arrangements will be made at the meeting. Committee chairman will make reports on the progress being made in the various parts of the celebration.

Brick Structure To Be Bigger Than Planned

Plans and specifications for the Port Worth and Denver railway station here will be completed the last of this week, according to word received here this morning. Bids for the construction of the station will be asked soon, members of the local right-of-way committee believe. The building will be of brick and from information available will be larger than expected.

The station will be erected in the Tenacre addition in South Pampa. The lots secured for the site are two blocks south of the Santa Fe tracks and between Frost and Somerville streets. Grade to within one block of the depot has been completed.

Workmen are pouring concrete for the overhead bridge across South Barnes street. Grade has been completed on both sides of the street. A new street will be opened to replace the street closed by the overhead.

ening of the sense of public duty and responsibility on the part of office holders. Extravagance by public and officials is self-corrective when the bills incurred fall due. But when value for the tax dollar is not received by the taxpayers because of corruption in office, the situation is beyond the scope of the regularly chosen representatives and an outside corrective force must be applied.

Alarming Corruption of American government is not less alarming than corruption of individual citizens. Indeed, it should be considered at least equally menacing. Good government is the responsibility of fairness and honesty. Public officials by virtue of their prominence are leaders. Their influence, corrupted, cannot do otherwise than weaken public morale everywhere.

Sin vs. Crime We think not enough attention is paid by the church and other institutions emphasizing ethics and morality to the mounting corruption of the government. There has always been some corruption in public affairs, for men are mortal, but racketeering, political graft and greed, and selling out to vested interests are so rampant that the moral responsibility of the church, the schools, and the home to purify public affairs can no longer be minimized.

About Stealing THOU SHALT NOT STEAL! This injunction cannot be dismissed by passing repetition. There are many ways to steal. Indirect theft is as soul-searing as bank robbery. Withholding fees knowingly is as bad, morally, as exacting tribute through racketeering or kidnaping. Pocketing public funds is as serious as spending a family's grocery money for liquor. Isn't it about time to emphasize more uniformly the crimes which break God's laws and man's? Isn't it time to teach temperance, instead of law enforcement, and to teach THOU SHALT NOT STEAL more effectively instead of increasing police forces? The home, the church, the schools cannot escape their responsibilities by securing more laws, more policemen, more courts. The remedy lies more fundamentally nearer true religion and exemplified Christianity than that. Christianity is not compulsory. Morality cannot be legislated. Laws will always be broken. But the rightly instilled impulses of the heart form the bulwark of the honest public official, the basis of good business, the hope for self-government.

against Mr. Bowers. In 1930 when the commissioners court again assessed the property to Mr. Buttram, the latter filed suit in U. S. district court of Amarillo to enjoin county officials from assessing the property to him, and later joined J. B. Bowers, and the children of Mrs. Eowers, Aundra, John and Joe as defendants, and asked that the court order county officials to assess property in the future to the Bowers interests. Upon motion the court held over a year ago that the Federal court had no jurisdiction to try a controversy between the county and the Bowers interests and dismissed them from the case.

Cure for Dope Believed Found

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—A treatment which its discoverers believe will cure any drug addict who has no complicating illness, and who wants to be cured was reported today to the National Academy of Sciences.

It consists essentially of treating the drug addict with chemicals which counteract the effects of the drug on his system. The announcement was the first public indication that the treatment, already used successfully in experiments, could be applied to addicts in general. It was made before the academy's annual meeting by Dr. Wilder D. Bancroft, Dr. R. S. Gutsell and J. E. Rutzler Jr., of Cornell University.

CHAMBER---

Club Members Presented County Agent Ralph Thomas introduced Jim and Betty Farley, champions 4-H club members, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Farley. Piano music was provided by Miss Jackie Jones, with group singing led by George Briggs, De-Lea Vickers, John Sturgeon, and R. B. Fisher.

The budget for this year has been slashed to $8,500. Of this total, an estimated $6,500 will be derived from taxation and $2,000 from chamber of commerce memberships. The junior chamber will be given $300 from this budget.

Democratic vice-presidential booms are blossoming all around the senatorial meadows as the rising sun of the Roosevelt movement beams on Capitol Hill.

EXPENSES ARE CUT

DALLAS, April 26 (AP)—A decrease of $7,534,342 in operating revenues of the Texas & Pacific railroad for 1931 as compared with 1929 was shown in the annual report released by J. L. Lancaster, president.

What About Donovan? William J. Donovan of New York is the latest anti-prohibition republican to be talked about for vice-president "to balance the ticket."

HELPS DEAF TO HEAR

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—A new device to help the deaf to hear, in which sound waves are directed at the ear, was shown for the first time today before the National Academy of Sciences.

It changes sound waves into vibrations which in normal persons are produced by three small bones of the middle ear. These vibrations, of changing length and power, act on the fluid of the inner ear, which in turn actuates the nerves of hearing.

WHERE'S THAT DUTCH BOB?

Married life seems to have made Colleen Moore's famous Dutch bob curl up at the edges. Or maybe hubby didn't like the straight-line effect. Here's the latest picture of the former movie star who has just become the bride of Albert P. Scott, New York broker, at Fort Pierce, Fla. It shows Colleen with her new hair cut.

OUT-OF-TOWN CONTESTANTS TO ENTER BEAUTY PAGEANT

Panhandle, Carson County, Claude Armstrong, Hutchinson county, Miami, LeFors, and Phillips camp will be represented in the forthcoming annual beach fashion show and beauty pageant which will be staged at the La Nora theater May 4 and 5, according to David Dallas, managing director of the revue.

The out-of-town contestants will compete in the local revue on the second night of the contest with local girls who are being sponsored by Pampa merchants. Fourteen local merchants have agreed to sponsor girls. Mr. Dallas said. Five out-of-town judges will select the winner, who will receive a free trip to Roswell, N. M., where "Queen of the West" will be selected. The latter will receive a free trip to the Olympic games in Los Angeles.

In addition to the "Miss North Plains" revue a juvenile revue will be staged—and the winner will be selected by popular applause. They will model in pajamas or bathing suits. Those who have entered are: Kiki Lazarus, age 4, Sylvia Frountlich, age 6, Vivian Rodgers, age 6, Neva Lou Woodhouse, age 7, Lela Pearl Baldwin, age 7, and Susan Elliott, age 2.

SEVERAL LITTLE GIRLS HAVE ANNOUNCED FOR REVUE

The world's like that—ever since some inspired publicist or Greta herself, decided on mystery as the best publicity gag ever," was the answer.

He didn't quite understand, although I tried to explain about the Swedish lady and her hare-like retreats before newshounds and fans. He left, finally, a little disillusioned and beginning to suspect he was the victim of a non-toe-funny joke. But his parting words were: "I'm going to find her, and I'm going to get a story."

That's The Spirit

That's the old spirit, I cheered. A lot of newspapermen has assailed the Garbo reticence with the same determination, without success. Maybe this youngster will be the one to turn the trick. Who knows? And maybe I should be joining him instead of sitting here complacently recording one of those little human tragic-comedies that pass by a Hollywood newspaper desk.

The lavish new cinema palace downtown which opened a year ago with the world premiere of "City Lights" at a $5 top, then flopped into receivership, now plays a 15-cent, any seat, any time police—and there was something touching about its playing "An American Tragedy" the other night. Alan Mowbray's play which he wrote and stars in is called "Dinner is Served!" The title waves on a huge banner over the playhouse, but even so perhaps we'd better pass the story about the tramp who parked there thinking it advertised a new bread-line.

Tips on CONTRACT

THE ONLY WAY TO WIN
By Tom O'Neil

It would seem almost impossible to fulfill a contract at four hearts doubled when one opponent held four trumps to the king-queen and a total of more than three honor tricks.

Yet success at such a task is among the tournament accomplishments of Bill Huske of New York.

He stretched the bidding a bit because it was in a duplicate game and played the hand in the only way possible to make it. An end play by which the doubler was forced to lead to him was the culminating step. Here was the hand:

NORTH		EAST

To High School Students About Grade Cards

"What we most need in life is some one to make us do the best we can."—Emerson. By SUPT. R. B. FISHER. Every soft often since you started to school you have been getting a grade card or report card that in a general way is intended to indicate to those interested what sort of student you are, what sort of progress you are making. Unless you differ from most students, you have sometimes felt that your teacher has graded you too low and, if you are honest with yourself, you have sometimes known that he has graded you too high. It is quite likely that your teacher placed a proper estimate on the ability you showed at the time. It is not possible, however, to use your present school record as a sure basis for predicting your record in life.

Organized Crime Menacing Nation

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—The United States was described by Dr. John Greer Hibben, president of Princeton university, tonight, as being in the toils of highly organized crime syndicates, financed by the bootleg traffic and protected by corrupt political alliances. Dr. Hibben, close personal friend of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, declared kidnapping, hitherto the work of an individual or small gang, now has become the "nefarious business of the large crime corporations." "We claim with pride that we are a free people," he said, "but our freedom is menaced as never before in the history of our nation. Crime in former years was largely confined to attacks upon property. Now it has turned to threats of violence and often murder, and even attack upon children. The home is menaced."

City's Employes to Sue for Wages

PORT ARTHUR, April 26 (AP)—The city commission, which recently made many slashes in personnel after taking office following a change of charter, may be forced into court because of those reductions. A number of discharged employes have banded together and put their case in the hands of an attorney and have served notice on commission that their pay total $3,000 for half a month, must be paid to avoid a court suit. The discharged workers were paid for the first half of March and contend that as they were working on a monthly basis they should be paid for the whole month. The commission has said that it has no money with which to meet this claim. Mrs. W. J. Wade of Groom, proprietor of the Groom News, was attending to business affairs here Monday.

You Can't Marry

by Julia Cleft-Addams

"No," she said heavily, "it wouldn't make the faintest difference to me." Old Garton Matching looked up his bedside telephone, gave the number of his general manager, shook the instrument viciously when no voice immediately answered him and, holding the earpiece in position re-absorbed himself in his model dynamo. "Who's that?" he muttered absently when at last the voice of Harold H. Croze came to him. "No, I didn't ring you up. Yes, I did." His voice climbed to its nerve-racking squeak. "Yes, I did. I wanted you to know that my nephew, a complete stranger to my secretary, this evening offered her $25,000 down, $2,500 a year, half her salary—to repeat the estimate that have gone by plane tonight. And she refused and reported the bribe to me. . . . Naturally he was acting on my instructions—who else? . . . You didn't know her salary was so high? Let me tell you that unless she's fool enough to get married, it'll be half as high again before she's done." His squeak became almost a scream. "Only person who can hear what I say. . . ."

Chapter 8 DEAD SECRET

"I SPOSE so, I'm glad you feel ashamed of yourself, though," George was saying to Aveney. "I don't know that I feel ashamed exactly. After all, you agree that I wasn't given any choice. But you're being magnificent. He ought to thank his stars for you," Jenny heard Aveney answer. "He won't. Takes me for granted. Goodnight." Jenny burrowed down into her pillows. "He," she had no doubt, was Eddie. And Garth Aveney was quite right. Eddie ought to thank his stars for his splendid George. He probably did. Jenny really couldn't agree that he took George one scrap for granted. And now Garth Aveney, dismissed, empty-handed, was driving alone through the gleaming streets. He would not carry even the shadow of laughter, now. The cool linen comforted Jenny's aching eyes. It was not that she was crying—oh, no, not that; only it was bitter: hard to care so much for someone who, whether she wanted him or not, was George's "Jenny". George had flicked on the light and stood amazed in the doorway. Jenny struggled up. "I had a headache, George, and I felt I couldn't face the Crescendo, so I came straight home. Mr. Vale didn't mind a bit; some friends of his, stage-people, were going on there and he joined them. Anyway, it was no fun for him once you and Mr. Aveney couldn't stay." "Aveney?" George laughed. She sounded pleased, discomfited, amused all in one. She came and sat on the edge of the bed. "Garth Aveney brought me back from Rochester Georgia—I didn't feel like the Crescendo, either." "Mr. Aveney is awfully interested in you, isn't he?" It was what Jenny had determined not to say; and she had said it. "Oh—Aveney?" repeated George. "He's—a queer fish. But he's a good sport. I'll tell you all about him one day." With that she brushed him out of the conversation. "I've something far more thrilling to talk about now. Ed and I are getting married, Jen, tomorrow. At mid-day Ed's flying tonight, but he seems to think he can be back in time. The ceremony is to be kept a dead secret just you must come." "Oh, George! Oh, I am so glad you're marrying Ed, after all!" "But, you dear little fool, whom else did I ever think of marrying?" "As long as no one actually spies on me during the next week, the risk isn't too terrible," George continued, and lit a cigarette. "After that, with Ed away, I can always spin some yarn—any yarn. Even—I she giggled suddenly—"that if you should suddenly and set starting at her cousin. "Infant, that's rather an ideal. The Old Man knows we share the same names. At a pinch I could tell him—but, of course, the pinch is not remotely likely to come. Only if it did, well—Eddie would never know it, out there in Mexico. And you wouldn't mind, would you? It wouldn't make the faintest difference to you? Would it? . . . Well, would it?" "No," stammered Jenny. "No, I suppose I shouldn't mind." She was taken aback, tingling with that sense of affront that George could so suddenly rouse in her. How—how dared George—course-grained, reckless, successful—how dared she? Then, on to the dark screen of her anger and the outline of a tall man walking away from her with out farewell; threading his path eagerly round a crowded room to pass out at a door through which George had gone. . . . HIS PICTURE HERE TOMORROW

George Arliss, First Gentleman of the Screen, gives his finest characterization in "The Man Who Played God," at the LaNora Theater tomorrow and Thursday.

Prominent Citizens Praise Film "The Man Who Played God", After Seeing Classic in Preview Here

George Arliss in "The Man Who Played God" will open at the LaNora theater tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. This picture on account of the magnitude of it will be presented only twice daily on Wednesday and Thursday, at 2:30 and 8:30 p. m. The doors will open at 1:45, and 7:45 p. m.

Listed below are comments from various Pampa citizens after viewing "The Man Who Played God" at a special preview last Wednesday morning.

"George Arliss in 'The Man Who Played God' is a superb picture, rich in human kindness, and every inch a great picture. I would sincerely recommend this portrayal of a genius to all who enjoy pictures of finer quality. I enjoyed every second of it.—Mrs. Don M. Conley.

"A marvelous picture, and George Arliss gives a magnificent and convincing performance in a very difficult role, it is wonderfully done and a beautiful lesson for everyone.—Mrs. D. H. Hawk.

"The Man Who Played God," is a great picture. I saw a part of the preview and I hope to see it through this week. No one should miss seeing this picture.—Mrs. T. Jamison.

"Believing that the best way to eliminate objectionable films from the screen is by the production and showing of high class, worthwhile pictures, above criticism, I commend the picture, 'The Man Who Played God,' as being distinctly in this class. Full houses throughout the country to see this picture should convince producers that pictures of real merit, clean, and wholesome, will be patronized generously, and fully justify their production. Let it be clearly understood that I as vigorously condemn debasing, crime-freeing pictures. I wish earnestly that the screen could be cleaned up and made an ally of the schools and churches in building character and citizenship.—F. W. O'Malley—Christian minister.

"I wish to thank you for the kind invitation to view the picture, 'The Man Who Played God'. I feel safe in saying it is the very best I have ever seen. The settings are beautiful, the acting good, and the atmosphere strictly clean and wholesome. It is a vivid portrayal of the religious truth that the laudits of men are naught as compared to the joy of a life of service to the individual who is submissive to God's divine plan. It is with pleasure that I recommend this production as educational and soul inspiring to the youth of our city.—Mrs. V. E. Fatheree.

"I have had many inquiries about the picture 'The Man Who Played God'. Since seeing this picture last Wednesday. These inquiries come from church members, club members, and teachers. I tell them all that it is one of the best pictures I have ever seen on the screen, and as a club member, church member, and mother, I am glad to recommend this picture. I wish we could have many more of the same sort of pictures.—Mrs. T. B. Solomon.

Jim Ferguson to Take Stump Soon

AUSTIN, April 26. (AP)—Former Governor James E. Ferguson is watching for rain clouds these days. He remembers vividly, he said, the drought of 1887, because he made his first political speech that year. "It had not rained since the latter part of January, but a big rain fell on the first day of May and everyone thought we would make a good crop after that, but we didn't" he reminisced. "That was one of the leanest years Texas ever has experienced. This year, so far, has been exactly like that one and if it does not rain before May 1 am looking for lean times, much leaner than those we have been through."

Getting ready to take the stump in the interest of his wife's candidacy for governor, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, also former governor, she having announced she would be in the race some weeks ago, James E. is wary about political conditions should the drought continue.

"It is possible the people will be so keenly worried over the condition of the country that they will not take an interest in politics," he said. "You know when a person is worried about hunger and financial difficulties surrounding string-tight times he is sorter dazed and doesn't think rationally."

"On the other hand it is possible adverse crop conditions would have the other sort of influence this time, fire the voters to new activity and stir them to 'do something' about their state government."

CARE FOR CHILDREN

SAN ANTONIO, April 26. (AP)—Six children, ranging in age from three months to 13 years, are being cared for by the San Antonio Child Protective and Humane Society while their mother, Mrs. Celia C. Gonzales, is serving a 75-day sentence for theft.

Big Hats Will Arrive Thursday

The big hats will be here Thursday morning, H. L. Polley at Murfee's Inc. announced this morning following receipt of a wire from St. Louis. The big hats are for Pampa's first annual Frontier Days Celebration May 26-28. Sale of the "big fellows" will be in charge of a committee with Julian Barrett as chairman.

H. D. Keys of J. C. Penney store also has some big hats on order but this morning he had not received word as to when they would be here.

The hat sale is being sponsored by the junior chamber of commerce and Board of City Development in connection with the celebration. Pampans are urged to purchase big hats immediately as only a limited number can be secured. Pampans are also urged to wear the big head-gear so that a local interest will be created in the celebration.

Out-of-town folks are taking the celebration more than Pampans, visitors to the city report. Hat bands will be available in a few days. The hats will be of the Tom Mix style and will be available for $3.50. The Jaysees will have a "Big Hat Banquet" in the Schneider hotel dining room Monday night and every member and his guests are ordered to wear big hits.

PIONEER VISITOR GETS SURPRISE

Dr. Eben F. True of Amarillo, one of the men who pioneered the Panhandle, was a visitor here this morning. He accompanied United States Marshall Jim Gamble, who came to Pampa on business.

Dr. True arrived in this section of the Panhandle in 1878 and it has been his home since that time. Dr. True punched cattle where Pampa is now located. He pointed out old landmarks while driving here this morning, Mr. Gamble said. It has been some years since Dr. True visited Pampa and he was more than surprised at the wonderful growth the city has experienced.

"Sure, I will be in Pampa for the Frontier Days celebration May 26-28," Dr. True exclaimed. "Do you think I would miss a chance to visit with some of my old friends of

"TALKED INTO BUYING"
things you DON'T want?

OVER the counter, you know, extravagant claims are so easily made. But remember this—it takes a lot more than a clerk's promise to put quality into any product! » Then why should you or any other woman ever listen to a clerk who offers you something "just as good" as the thing you ask for? Surely your knowledge of the dependability of widely-used products is worth more to you than all the claims any clerk can make for products of which you know absolutely nothing! » Whenever you find any store that continually urges you to buy unfamiliar products instead of the reliable brands you ask for, look out! All too often, that merchant reaps an extra profit, or his clerks a commission, by switching you to the unknown, often inferior merchandise. » Many of the best stores everywhere forbid this practise. When you buy from them you are always sure of getting exactly what you ask for, with full value in the merchandise you want for every penny you spend. » But if you are urged to buy something "just as good" as what you ask for, be firm! Insist on products you know by experience, by their brand-names, or by the reputations of their makers. You will often read about such products in the advertising columns of this newspaper. » Think of this whenever you shop. Then you will always get your money's worth in both merchandise and satisfaction.
