Democrats in Precinct Conventions Add to Garner's Popularity

GRAY COUNTY CONFIDENT OF PARTY MOVES

ALL FOR TEXAN WHILE HE HAS CHANCE TO WIN

TO SEND NO DELEGATE

REPUBLICANS STRONG FOR HOOVER IN MEETINGS

By The Associated Press
Texas Democrats in precinct conventions Saturday endorsed John N. Garner, native son, for the democratic nomination for president.

Early reports indicated delegates to the county conventions next Tuesday were instructed almost unanimously to vote for delegates to the state convention at Houston, May 24, who would support the speaker of the national house of representatives.

Similar reports from republican precinct conventions, held on the same date in accordance with state laws, showed preponderant approval of President Herbert Hoover for a second term.

The democrats will have 46 votes in the national convention at Chicago. The republicans are entitled 49 votes in their convention also at Chicago.

Some Are Emphatic
The endorsement of Garner was emphatic in many places, some delegations being instructed to vote for the speaker for president "first and all the time." Their enthusiasm was stimulated by Garner's winning the California delegation last week.

The bitterness that marked the conventions four years ago, when the state was sharply divided over the candidacy of Alfred E. Smith of New York, was lacking noticeably.

In Dallas county, however, Thomas B. Love, former democratic national committeeman for Texas and veteran dry leader, secured adoption in his home precinct of a resolution opposing the nomination of any candidates except those known to be favorable to prohibition.

Love has championed the dry cause for many years and in the last presidential election was a leader of the forces which carried out the state for a republican candidate for president for the first time since the civil war. Love, his wife and his daughter will head the delegates from his precinct to the county convention.

Roosevelt Luckless
Reports indicated supporters of Franklin D. Roosevelt were generally unsuccessful in efforts to have delegates instructed to vote for the governor of New York as second choice to Garner. These leaders recently broadcast an appeal thru-out the state seeking such approval.

Two precincts of Dallas county, reporting early, instructed for Roosevelt as first choice. Several precincts in Bowie county named Roosevelt as second choice. At Mexia, delegates were instructed to support Garner for president, but to work for a state delegation friendly to Roosevelt. Roosevelt also was favored as second choice by the convention at Shiloh.

I HEARD--

Chief J. I. Downs lamenting yesterday morning that his daughter's winning the bathing beauty contest here Friday night wouldn't do her much good because "she can't swim a lick."

Fire Chief Clyde Gold do more talking at one time yesterday afternoon than at any time since he came to Pampa. The chief was raving about the dangers of cleaning clothing in gasoline over a lighted stove. The chief said it was a good way to commit suicide.

One declared that the Oklahoma governor would pull more people to the Frontier Days celebration than the Oklahoma humorist. Both have been flouted but neither will be able to attend. Bill is afraid to leave Oklahoma for fear his lieutenant governor will sell the capitol while he is away, and Will is making a picture.

BONUS FIGHT TO CONTINUE

Vote to Adjourn Considered Vote Against Payment of Certificates Now.

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Determined supporters of the cash bonus plan today began a movement for a summer session to keep the proposal from the legislative death arranged by its opponents.

"The bonus issue is dead this session," Representative Rainey, the democratic leader, told newspapermen today after he filed a report which dug a grave for the $2,000,000,000 payment to veterans.

Signed by 13 members of the ways and means committee, it recommended that the Patman bill for a $2,400,000,000 new money issue to redeem veterans certificates "do not pass."

That made it virtually certain that the bonus will not be taken up at this session if congress quits before the conventions but bonus sponsors replied: "henceforth the slogan will be vote to adjourn is a vote against the bonus."

In voting against the bonus today, members of the ways and means committee reaffirmed an adverse ballot of 15 to 10 on yesterday, thereby taking the most drastic parliamentary course for

There will be 64 men in the crew, 14 officers in addition to Commander Rosendahl, and two naval officers as passengers.

The length of her stay is uncertain but on the Akron's return, Commander Rosendahl will be relieved of his command by Commander Alger H. Dresel and will report for sea duty, a measure necessary for his promotion.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Warren and Miss Audrey Sheldon, all of Waco, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Warren's daughter, Mrs. Bus Baldrige here. Mrs. Baldrige was formerly Miss Roberta Warren.

VICTORIA, May 7 (AP)—Screams heard last night at the home of Mrs. Demetria Resendez Torres caused neighbors to rush there and find her body sprawled on the front porch. Her throat had been cut with a razor.
An hour later Victoriano Conchola, automobile salesman, came to the court house and told Sheriff R. S. Weisger, the 39-year-old woman had committed suicide.
Sheriff Weisger said he questioned Conchola at length and finally obtained a confession. Conchola was held in jail on a charge of murder for the killing.

HOOVER SPURS PARTY LEADERS TO ACTION

COMPROMISE TAX HELD TO BE PROBABLE OUTCOME

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—President Hoover and Secretary Mills at a special conference with republican senatorial leaders tonight discussed further "methods of cooperation to bring about prompt enactment of the revenue bill and economy legislation."

The words are those of the secretary of the treasury, who was delegated spokesman as the group broke up after an hour and a half discussion embracing the legislative situation.

Those with Mr. Hoover and Mr. Mills in the Lincoln study were Vice-President Curtis, and Senators Watson of Indiana, the majority leader, Smoot of Utah, Reed of Pennsylvania, Bingham of Connecticut, Dickinson of Iowa—along with Walter H. Newton, the presidential secretary who deals especially with capitol hill.

One after another the conferees declared on leaving the White House that political matters had not entered into the deliberations.

"Eventually" Secretary Mills, questioned as to the course of the cooperative endeavor.

"It is suicide and people cannot seem to realize the risk they are running," Chief Gold declared yesterday afternoon. "His makes the fourth fire this year that has resulted from gasoline explosions. It is dangerous to clean clothing in gasoline under any circumstances, but it is foolish to take risks cleaning in a building."

Kidnaped Youth Returned To Home

JOLIET, Ill., May 7 (AP)—Gustav Miller, 22, son of a wealthy Joliet family, returned to his home today after a week in the hands of kidnapers.

Miller's parents said no ransom was paid and that as far as they were concerned the incident was a "closed book."

The youth's mother, Mrs. Fannie Miller, and his brother, Martin, found Miller early today at a spot 65 miles from Joliet. They had been directed there by note.

Miller was abducted April 29, as he left the home of Miss Katherine Melrow, his fiancée.

It was reported the kidnapers first asked $50,000 ransom and later reduced their demands to $10,000.

LUBBOCK GIRL TAKES POISON

Dorothy Smith, Senior High School Student, Leaves Political Poetry.

LUBBOCK, May 7 (AP)—Dorothy Smith, red-haired 15-year-old Lubbock high school senior, died of self administered potassium cyanide in her room at her home here late Friday night or early Saturday.

Mrs. C. A. Smith found her daughter's body, fully clothed, when she went to awake her Saturday morning. Justice Peace H. K. Porter was told "Death by suicide" was the inquest verdict.

The mother Saturday said she had reprimanded the girl mildly late Friday, but refused to indicate the nature of events leading to the rebuke. The father, a salesman, was not here when the death occurred.

On the bed also were a note saying she had taken poison, several stanzas of poetry the girl had written, a spoon evidently used in taking the poison, a pencil, and a jar in which two preserved butterflies remained. The poison had been obtained from the jar, in which she and a brother had kept butterflies and insects.

The poem, said County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, decried taxation and Tammany Hall. Both the note and poem indicated "she was thinking of something far beyond her age," Wilson said. The girl was to have been graduated this month.

Mrs. Massie Is Not Available To Court Attaches

HONOLULU, May 7 (AP)—Mrs. Thelma Massie who is reported suffering a nervous breakdown, was sought unsuccessfully today by police who held a subpoena demanding her presence May 25 at the retrial of four Hawaiians charged with assaulting her.

Mrs. Massie had planned to sail tomorrow for the mainland with her husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, who, with her mother, Mrs. Granville Fortescue, and two enlisted men, was convicted of manslaughter for the slaying of Joseph Kahahawai, one of her alleged attackers.

The failure of the police to attempt to locate Mrs. Massie left her contemplated departure in doubt. Two policemen, Dewey Mookini and Arthur Stagbar, took the subpoena to Pearl Harbor after the public prosecutor, John C. Kelley, had been assured naval authorities would permit its service. The navy yard is a government reservation.

But they never saw the woman they sought, although they returned to the city with the assurance of naval authorities that they would be notified as soon as Mrs. Massie could be found.

EQUALITY FOR RACES RAISES OLD PROBLEM

COLOR LINE WILL NOT BE DRAWN AGAIN IN NORTH

SOLUTION NOW REMOTE

NEW NEGRO GROUP IS LIKELY TO BE FORMED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 7 (AP)—Despite warnings that it was sacrificing "forever" the long-sought reunion with the Methodist Church, South, the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church enthusiastically declared for strict racial equality today.

The resolution directed that the quadrennial conference was never to meet in a city where the color line was drawn against delegates in hotels, restaurants, and public places.

Dr. Ernest F. Tittle of Evanston, Ill., noted Methodist liberal brought the resolution to the floor of the conference with a strong appeal that Methodists take its place with the Federal Council of Churches and that the Congregational Christian church in opposing racial discrimination in conference cities.

The same session of the conference called upon the denomination to raise $1,000,000 to save the world service program of the church from threatened financial jeopardy.

Deeds Picket, research worker of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, branded as "absolutely false and cowardly" the charge of Rep. Tinkham that he (Pickett) committed perjury before the senate lobby committee.

The immediate reaction of many of the conference to the equality measure was that it had destroyed all possibility of healing the breach existing between Northern and Southern Methodism since they divided on the slavery question 38 years ago.

Later, however, delegates expressed the opinion the step might lead eventually to the formation of a central conference of negro Methodists in America, distinct from the general conference.

Pre-school clinics are so important that parents who have not availed themselves of the opportunity to have their children examined have overlooked something valuable. Tens of thousands of children start to school having diseased tonsils, adenoids, infected teeth, imperfect hearing, and poor eyesight.

Getting started wrong is tragic. Habits of study are formed early. Dislike for study is the natural result of difficulty and embarrassment. Give the little tots an even break by having them examined before they start to school. Your opinion may be wrong—only accurate tests will disclose many defects. Your child may be "perfect", but most children are not; play safe.

His Honor, James Todd Jr. proposes something which has our entire approval. Listening to the fine Artist Night program of Music week, he conceived the idea of having Sunday afternoon orchestra concerts, with soloists assisting. For the winter months, particularly, such classical, standard popular, and sacred concerts would be exceedingly worthwhile.

Is the Texas state government making any progress in economy? We quote Texas Opinion in a timely statement on this subject: "It reveals, for instance, that every department of state government spent more money from Sept. 30, 1930 to August 31, 1931, than they did in the previous fiscal year."

"We did spend almost six millions less for construction and maintenance of state highways. But since the highway commission gets none of its money from the state's general revenue fund, that lone example of economy will not be reflected in the state's revenue requirements or its tax rate."

THE OTHER SIDE: There is something distinctly refreshing in the fact that the English-speaking world is holding a celebration because a busy man took time to write a fairy tale for a little girl 67 years ago. Mrs. Alice Hargreaves, who is the Alice of Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland," has come to America to take part in Columbia University's celebration of the 100th anniversary of the author's birth.

It seems timely that this event should take place when material depression has dimmed so much of the outward glory of life. There is comfort in the knowledge that the spell of the imaginary hasn't quite lost its hold on grown-up hearts.

We are remembering that the old story was a normal part of childhood. It belonged to that gay, glad period when life was tuned to a piper's song, and nobody had discovered that the melody came out of a box where a hurdy-gurdy played around the corner. Every road went some place then.

ABOUT NEW YORK

By William Gaines: NEW YORK—George Arliss, on the lookout for a suitable stage vehicle for his prospective return to Broadway next season, told me: "I am not very partial to plays of foreign source for American audiences."

He thinks we are apt to find them "old-fashioned and a little dull." I couldn't help thinking out loud about those plays by English authors which found favor here during this season when theatergoers were inclined to hoard their favor.

"Oh, that doesn't apply to English plays," said Arliss, with the twinkle in his eye showing through his monocle. "In England we don't speak of Americans as foreigners."

(Well, I didn't exactly speak of the English authors as foreigners.) Arliss was referring to the plays of the Continentals; yes, even the Germans.

They are not as far advanced in writing plays for modern times as Americans and Englishmen," he said. He finds that the Continentals still write for an antiquated style of acting. Their speeches are too long. They are intended for delivery with much emotional heaving and storming.

There are exceptions," he grants. "I wouldn't shut out men like Molnar." His first starring role was in Molnar's "The Devil." But for the most part, Arliss thinks English-speaking playwrights do the best jobs for English-speaking audiences.

MOVIE GOAL ACHIEVED: I asked him if his pictures that followed "Disraeli" represented the sort of thing he most wants to do in the talkies.

"Yes," he answered, "because I'm using the best material I can find." He prefers the historical story for his movie productions and feel that it's about time for him to do another. "I think one picture of that type out of every three is a fair ratio."

Arliss thinks Shakespeare will be done effectively in the movies, and himself would like to play Shylock and lago before the cameras. Some one, he believes, will bring a great Hamlet to the screen.

It is his opinion that every actor who is accorded distinction on the legitimate stage is under some obligation to the large republic, beyond the stage capitals, to appear in talking pictures—to "put his art in a can so it can be taken to the public."

This far-flung audience should be offered the best, but the best should not be offered to them in the guise of education. "Don't use that word 'education.' That would kill everything."

CONSIDERING PLAYS: One of several plays now under consideration may serve for his next stage bow, unless a better one comes along. In recent years only a casual visitor to New York, stopping en route between Hollywood and England, this gracious gentleman of the theater has been sorely missed from the Broadway scene.

When I talked to him he was anticipating a summer of quiet and rest in France and his homeland, although there was talk of him making a picture in England. That hadn't been definitely decided.

You Can't Marry

by Julia Cleff-Addams: SYNOPSIS: A suspicious doctor threatens George Townsend's plan to marry his cousin Jenny—did not she—has married Eddie Townsend, who has attended Eddie after a nervous breakdown, trying to expunge the superstitions of George's apartment house.

Jenny picked up the kettle, filled it, retrieved the lid and set the water on to boil. She was so afraid of saying an incautious thing that she kept silence. She found her duster and went back to George's room.

Her lips as well as her hands were trembling. Bad news about Ed, George had hinted. Bad news indeed! What could be worse than a complete nervous collapse to a man whose only capital was his courage, his coolness of judgment, his quickness of hand and eye?

Jenny flicked the peacock satin elderdown into place on George's bed and gazed in dismay at the wisps of lovely, fragile lingerie flung over the rail at the end. "Oh, George, what crazy extravagance!" Not for the first time, she was amazed that Miss Revell of Matchless—methodical, balanced, economical of effort—was also this prodigal, clothes-mad, laughter-loving George!

A hesitating step in the hall and Eddie hovered, filling the doorway. "The kettle's boiling, I say, when—when will George be back?" "Any minute," Jenny assured him cheerfully. "Mr. Matching often has some extra work for her on Sunday morning. What were you going to make, tea or coffee?"

"I—well, I thought of a cup of strong coffee." There was a ashamed note in his voice that she found pathetic. "My nerves seem a bit shaky after that bang up yesterday. I suppose it was yesterday?" He leaned against the doorpost and she saw he was shuddering.

"Yesterday, yes. Come and help me make the coffee." He followed her back to the kitchen. "Has that Tallis chap gone yet? He brought me along, y'know. I was half asleep by the time we got here but I remember Gill let us in and after a bit Tallis said he'd go down and find out where—my wife was."

His voice stumbled over the words. "She'll be here any minute," Jenny repeated gently. "Take the old easy-chair, Eddie. You always used to declare it was the only really comfortable one in the apartment."

The doctor cracked and groaned as he dropped into it. She glanced at him anxiously. He was so pale and his handgrip looked so uncomfortable. Perhaps she ought to phone for a doctor before she did anything else? But neither she nor George were ever ill and she did not know where to find one.

"When I've had that coffee, I think I'll dose off again for a bit," he remarked, watching her busy hands. "You won't let anyone in except George, will you?" "No one shall worry you," she promised, distressed by his hunted glance at the door. "Black coffee, you said, didn't you? Sugar?"

She passed him a brimming cup. His fingers were uncertain as they took it from her—and the next second they had loosened their grip altogether and the cup and saucer were in pieces on the floor, lapped by a tide of coffee.

"There's a plane going over," he gasped. "If it crashes—oh, Jen, don't let it crash!" He threw up his hands and clapped them upon his head, covering down into the old chair so that his face was hidden in its cushion. Jenny looked helplessly towards the window. The throbs of engines came to her when she listened intently.

Eddie gave a groaning sigh and slid more deeply into the cushions. At the same moment there was a sound of a latchkey in the door of the apartment. Headless of the split coffee and broken china, Jenny dashed out of the kitchen. She did not know whether Eddie had fainted or not, but it was plain that he had completely broken down. George must come to him at once!

ANN HARDING FREES HUBBY: RENO, Nev., May 7 (AP)—Playing a new and far more dramatic role than she ever portrayed on the stage or screen, Ann Harding, blonde star of the films today freed Harry Bamister from his marriage to her so that he might seek a new career for himself.

Still professing to love him, Miss Harding nevertheless went into divorce court here this morning and had their union dissolved by Judge Thomas Moran after testimony by Bamister that Nevada was his legal residence.

The actress emerged from the hearing with tear-stained face and seemed faint from the trying ordeal. Miss Harding went almost immediately to Boeing airport from where she departed in her own plane for an unannounced destination, but presumably Hollywood.

Bamister, who did not remain in court to hear his wife's testimony, was at the airport to bid her farewell. They parted with a kiss.

THREE-ACT FARCE WILL BE PRESENTED TUESDAY EVENING

"Forty Miles from Nowhere", three act farce comedy to be presented by the Junior class, Tuesday night at the city auditorium, is full of wisecracks from the first to the last scene. Prof. Warren Moore, one of the three teachers sponsoring the play said, Miss Zenobia McFarlin is director.

Miss Arless O'Keefe, dramatics teacher in the high school, predicted the play would be the most amusing presented there this year. She said the high school students portrayed their roles with a finesse that was surprising.

The plot deals with a business man who suddenly acquires an ambition to outdo Shakespeare. He not only writes a play but produces it. He hires a professional director and a gang of amateur actors who giggle wisecracks and gobble ice cream sodas at the corner drug store. One of the most amusing scenes in the play is the night Henry Ryan (Edmond Whittenburg) produces his masterpiece. The play is such a mess that it is good Ryan and his nagging wife quarrel and the critics think their argument is a part of the play. They praise it in the newspapers next morning and the play is "made."

Another Clue to Slaying Is Found

MIAMI, Fla., May 7 (AP)—An autopsy on the body of Haden Clarke in the belief that he was slain in the home of his fiancée, Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, was asked by his mother today as State Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne investigated a reputed leak in evidence against Captain W. N. Lancaster.

Lancaster, flying partner of the Australian aviator for five years, is in jail here on a charge of murdering Clarke in what Hawthorne described as a love triangle. Mrs. Ida Clyde Clarke, professor of journalism at the University of Miami, said a report of her family physician, Dr. Carleton Deeder, led her to believe her son was beaten on the head before he was shot in the temple.

Murray Is "Run-Away Boy Making Good"

William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray was born on a farm on November 21, 1869, near Collinsville, Tex. When he was 12 he and his two brothers ran away from home. Stayed away ten years. His first job was cotton picking. Attended the school only four months a year, finally earned a B. S. degree in a Texas college.

He sought election as state senator for Navarro county, Texas. Was defeated. Started a newspaper. Studied law and was admitted to bar. Moved to Indian territory and practiced law. Married niece of governor of Chickasaw tribe. Quit law and moved to farm. Collected huge library on government. Led Oklahoma's fight for statehood.

Elected and reelected congressman in 1913 and 1915. Lost re-nomination in 1916. Ran for governor but lost. Sold farm to satisfy $47,000 mortgage. Left the United States behind to start an agricultural colony in South America. "Alfalfa Bill" claims to have traveled over a larger area of white man.

In 1924 he began his agrarian colonization experiment in El Gran Chaco, Bolivia. Seventy-two families from the southwest followed him there. Government declared deeds to their land worthless and project failed. Murray stayed with the group until 1929 when he returned to Oklahoma to hitch-hike his way through sensational run to governorship.

STERLING'S IF IS INJECTING MUCH CONJECTURE IN STATE'S POLITICS—SMALL IS READY

By CHARLES E. SIMONS
AUSTIN, May 7. (AP)—The so-called smallest word in the English language, having the greatest weight and the most far reaching effect, is playing an important part in Texas politics at the present time.

For on the word "if" depends, to a large extent, a great number of the scenes in the political picture, the word being packed with dynamite as far as the political aspirations of several are concerned.

For instance: "If" Governor R. S. Sterling announces he will seek reelection, Senator Clint Small of Amarillo will again be a candidate for the state senate. "If" Governor Sterling decides against seeking a second term, Small's hat will be one of the first to fall into the ring. The Panhandle senator has said as much, having been quoted most recently as saying he had completed his plans and "was ready to shoot from the hip" the minute the governor reached a decision.

"I shall become a candidate the minute he announces his decision, regardless of other aspirants 'if' Governor Sterling does not make the race," said Small.

Small ran third in the gubernatorial campaign two years ago, trailing Sterling, who ran second, by 32,000 votes.

KIWANIS CLUB TO PLAY HOST

The "under-privileged child's committee" of the Kiwanis club have made arrangements with the management of the Rex theater for a number of Pampa children to see "YOUNG AMERICA" on Monday afternoon. This picture was selected since it is a picture which all children as well as adults should see, being the story of youth of today, living only for today, heedless of what tomorrow will bring forth. Contrary to the title, it is not a patriotic picture.

All children for whom the committee had done work and a number which were invited through the courtesy of the Salvation Army will be in attendance.

Kiwanis Club To Tell Amarilloans About May Event

At least 25 members of the Kiwanis club, all under the "big tops", are planning on visiting the Amarillo Kiwanis club at their regular Monday meeting and inviting them to Pampa for the Frontier Days. They will be led by A. C. "Pet" Post who has recovered his big hat which was taken from the J. C. C. banquet in place of a smaller size.

The entire membership is being urged to make the trip if possible. Jimmy King and Bert Pritchett sang several songs appropriate for Mother's day at the meeting Friday. Millard Humphrey led a sing-song. David Dallas, Reno Stinson, Dan Grubbs, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Morris, Jimmy King, Bert Pritchett and Millard Humphrey were among the visitors.

Don Conley was introduced as a new member of the Pampa club.

Valley Produce Hard to Ship

EDINBURG, May 7. (AP)—The big problem facing the Lower Rio Grande Valley now is distribution of its produce, and in the case of citrus, there should be no insurmountable obstacles in the way of working this out.

This picture of the situation here was given by C. J. Brister, vice president of the New York Central Lines, and James Guy Robertson, director of the Central Produce Terminal company of Detroit, on their recent trip through the valley.

"In the case of perishables such as celery, tomatoes, lettuce, etc., there are bound to be times when the market will be overloaded," Robertson said. "The shipments in one section will be held up at times by bad weather, and will come onto the market the same time as another."

"But in the case of citrus, there is no excuse for overloading a market and breaking the price."

The railroad and terminal men explained that Florida is doing much to hurt the citrus markets of the country now by moving fruit in bulk. This was done extensively during the last season, but by rail and by truck.

Essay on Economy
Babe Ruth has suffered only three backsets this year. The first was a stiff neck contracted in Florida. The second was a touch of influenza. The third was, and still is, a twisted knee sustained when he slid into third base recently. Otherwise the Babe is O. K.

Superstition?
This year, it has been observed from the press box, the Babe has not been following his ancient superstitious practice of touching second base as he comes in to the bench from the outfield. The guesses are that he thinks more of saving his legs than of the value of the superstition.

Venke Saves Up, Too
Speaking of saving the legs, Gene Venke, who ran a mile in 4.10, will compete in only three track meets before the tryouts for the Olympic team. The boy marvel from Boyertown, Pa., figures that will keep him in tune without bringing him out.

On the Same Subject
Still on the topic of economy, have you noticed how Herb Pennock of the Yankees has been frisking around this year, his 20th in the majors? And Eppa Rixey, likewise a southpaw, of the Reds? Herb and Eppa always have been the kind of pitchers who saved themselves, keeping something back for a pinch.

The Rabbit, Also
Rabbit Maranville, of the Braves, who is having his 21st year in the majors, didn't think of saving anything, least of all his legs, until the year 1927. He got the idea when he woke up and found himself in Rochester. Since then he has saved enough of himself to be good for 10 years more, to be conservative.

About Saving Speech
The National League has followed the American League by a year in passing a rule against athletes bandying words with the specta-

John W. Wilson Dies Near Pampa

Funeral services for John Wesley Wilson, 61, were conducted at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the chapel at the Stephenson Mortuary with the Rev. Jesse F. Wiseman, pastor of the Church of Christ, officiating. Music was furnished by the Stephenson quartet.

Besides his wife, Mr. Wilson is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ira Carter, Pampa, and six sons, Bill of Amarillo, Ira of Blackwell, Arthur and Ray of Blackwell and Dee and Artie of Prague; also three brothers and one sister.

Saving Victories
The charge has been filed officially that Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw and Al Simmons have been saving themselves for next year, but a thorough investigation thus far has led to no substantial findings.

Brooklyn's Parsimony
The Carey Canaries, otherwise the Brooklyn ball club, seem to be economizing on the win column. Baseball writers have been unable to discover a motive.

Golfers Slaying at Home
Most of our golfers, perhaps with a rainy day in mind, will refrain from competing abroad this summer. Mac Smith, Billy Burke and Tommy Armour expect to tee up in British Open, but most of the trans-Atlantic golf traffic will be coming this way. That ought to be a great help to home industries.

Tunney Finally Unhairs
Gene Tunney's unhairing of an expensive word in an interview with the press the other day. The former champion classified Johnny Buckley's prompt action in preventing Jack Sharkey from leaving out of the ring in his battle with Primo Camera as "fortuitous." Spending a word like that now and then should help to bring back prosperity.

Department Of School Is Now On Honor Roll

The Pampa high school department of vocational agriculture is on the state honor roll for the month of April.

"We are indeed grateful for the cooperation which the people of our community gave us in informing our congressmen and chairman of the finance committee of the needs of our state for vocational education," said Mrs. Lester in announcing that the committee had voted 5-1 to continue the vocational funds. The vote of confidence came when section 303 of House bill 11597 was deleted for the economy program.

TRIEBS ORIENTAL GARDEN

AMARILLO, May 7. (AP)—Jim Wing, Chinese restaurant owner, is experimenting with an Oriental garden on a five-acre tract of sandy land near Amarillo. He has put out more than 300 trees and planted Chinese varieties of parsley, grapes, pumpkins, melons, cabbage, and cucumbers. He is equipping the tract with an irrigation system and water pump and plans to make a show place of his garden. Wing's chef, Joe Wong, gave up his work at the cafe to take over the management of the garden.

Shop in Pampa with Mrs. Pampan

Without benefit of magnifying glass—dollars are the biggest I've ever seen them. And that is another joy of shopping these bright spring days.

Prices are lower but the standard of merchandise is the same. Lovely dresses I saw selling for $5.95 this week were retailing for $10 only a few months ago.

Don't you remember WAY BACK WHEN we just longed for a dress and how we said "Oh, if it were a little cheaper." Well now it is cheaper—lower than at any time since civil war days and much more beautiful.

Groceries too are selling for less than I have ever in my life known. I have never seen eggs 2 dozen for 15 cents before.

Prices are not always going to be what they are now. Just as sure as we live they are going up. It's inevitable.

The market is down and half filled purses will do the buying that full ones did only a short time ago.

That's What They All Say!

There is a bright spot in Pampa! And you'll find it at the STANDARD FOOD MARKET.

Everybody busy... people buying... business is picking up! It makes you feel good just to see how things are stirring.

If you have never visited this store, it is time you are getting acquainted with Mr. Brown. He has a complete line of everything good to eat and the prices are so low you will actually be surprised.

Bring your neighbor and make an inspection of this store. You will enjoy the convenience, the splendid values, and the friendly atmosphere.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Mrs. Charles Mascia Remey wore at a luncheon she gave at the National Woman's Country club a beige suit trimmed with fox fur and a brown straw sash trimmed with sharkskin.

Five Cents For A Nickel! I was shopping in LEVINE'S store the other day and I heard Mr. Murray say that Pampa needed a good "five cent" nickel.

That's just it. LEVINE'S store is offering you more for the money than you could ever have thought possible.

I would like for you to see the remarkable values being shown in dresses for both misses and women. There are lovely printed crepes, velvets, organdies and silks in pastels and dark colors.

PARIS (AP)—Angora felt purses to match belts are now wardrobe wrinkle. The purses are flat envelope models, while the belts, designed to wear with sports coats, are finished with a dull silver or gilded buckle.

Washington as Farmer' Subject of Mrs. Leech

The more I am acquainted with farming the more I like it. The statement, made by George Washington, was quoted by Mrs. F. Ewing Leech as she addressed the third year vocational class Thursday.

Mrs. Leech brought out the many characteristics of Washington but the most impressive point was that "if we give to the world the best that is in us, the best will come back to us."

Washington loved the land, she said, throughout his eventful life. His Mt. Vernon farms contained 68,000 acres and the main farm, which he treasured most, contained 8,000 acres.

Washington's farming difficulties were numerous, for in his day there was no U. S. Department of Agriculture, no agricultural colleges, and their campaign agencies, the experiment stations, to furnish him with reliable and inexpensive agricultural information.

Washington believed fully and completely in maintaining as well as restoring the fertility of the soil. He endeavored to rotate his crops that the fertility might not be impaired.

Washington tried hard to improve whatever he undertook. His farming experience benefited by this along with his other life undertakings. He experimented with wheat, tobacco, clover, rye, hops, and alfalfa.

He studied and raised animals along with his crops. He was among the first American to breed and raise mules. Sheep were kept of him as beasts of burden.

Over his whole farm estate he had a general manager. For each farm unit he employed a superintendent. Each superintendent reported once each week to the manager.

The third year class enjoyed the lesson Mrs. Leech brought to them and extended her invitation to visit them again.

CORRECTION OF GOLD STAR MOTHERS GIVEN DEFECTS URGED

Pausing in their expressions of love for their own mothers at this season, many citizens remember with a prayer—and perhaps with outward signs of appreciation—those Gold Star mothers who have made untold sacrifices.

The pre-school children of the Woodrow Wilson district were examined Thursday in the basement of the Christian church.

The goal now is that all remedial defects found as a result of these examinations will be corrected before the child enters school next fall.

Plenty of good "fun" and entertainment will be furnished.

The entertainment will be sponsored by the American Association of University Women, and proceeds will be used for the scholarship fund.

Pupils of Miss Vincent's dancing classes, Pampa high school students, and others will have part in the revue, which will be staged at the city auditorium.

Hollywood Sights

By ROBBINS COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Vilma Banky and Rod LaRoque happen to be at the train meeting friends when Anna Sten, new "Sam Goldwyn discovery" from Russia, arrived to begin her Hollywood career.

Not long ago Vilma, like Anna, stepped from a train knowing as little English, but destined to go far in silent pictures. In fact, her accent worked against her, and she soon returned to the career she selected, too, was a "Goldwyn find," and she, too, was met by studio-employees and newspaper photographers. Many of her best pictures co-starred her with Ronald Colman.

What must Vilma have thought as she witnessed the scene, too, was Anna, who too will play opposite Ronald in her first picture here? Anna, one of the new exotics, goes into "Way of the Lancer," although she first must learn enough English to memorize her lines.

Lloyd Changes Methods
Harold Lloyd, who used to take months to finish a picture, will complete "Movie Crazy" shortly, within a production time of about 12 weeks. It is because, for the talkie, he had perfected his script and dialog before a camera was turned, whereas for silent comedies he used to shoot from the cuff, often ad libbing situations and gags and then when the filming was done, assemble the bits.

In the old two-reeler days, it was not unusual to see him use the "ending" situation as the opening scene, and vice versa.

Those Screen Tests
There are many would-be actors in Hollywood who, having failed in screen tests, live in a world colored by dreams of what might have been. Hasty tests often explain why a player who lost out at one studio is hailed at another as a "great discovery"—as was the case with George Brent.

At radio studios now they plan to give worthy candidates elaborate preparation before they face a test camera. Albert Lovejoy, dramatic coach, gives the youngsters intensive training in diction, reading and poise.

Ern Westmore, head of the make-up department, studies their facial contours to arrive at the best make-up possible, then Lynn Shores, director, and head of the new talent department, takes them in hand for long dramatic training.

After going through this mill, the candidates are ready for a test that should prove something.

KIDNAPED

Embroidered cotton frocks will be popular this summer, particularly since there are many to be had at modest prices.

A cool frock of eyellet embroidered-batiste, such as the one illustrated is quite appropriate for informal summer afternoons. The belt is piped in a contrasting color finishing in a bow that matches the bow on the lapel.

The straw hat with medium width brim is being stressed for summer. The 1st shown above is made of a very new shantung straw, which is rough without being coarse. The crown is creased in a very decided fashion, and the brim has a downward curve over one eye.

That's My Mother

BY the way "Ritz" I hear you're going South, there's some one must see, You'll take time I know, to convey a message to my family; In a little ole house with a squeak in the stairs, There's still one left of an old fashioned pair; You'll find my thumb prints on the ole' kitchen door, The ole lilac tree was planted by one who is no more, The street is a wagon rut, sidewalk is hit and miss It's up one step for this one and down two jumps for this; "Ritz" you'd never call it a picture or a poem, But it's everything to me for I call it home.

I wish I might join you there, where there's nothing of hate, Where the honey suckles have climbed over the garden gate, I'd like to walk among the tall pines this beautiful Spring 'O' just once more to be tied to my mothers apron string. If I could have my way and one wish could be mine, It would be simply this, I'd turn back the wheels of time; I wouldn't plod on in a world of strife, deceit and sin, I'd go clear back to the Land of Beginning Again.

I'd kneel where I've often knelt, by an old armed chair, And look into a face, browned with its faintly powdered hair, I wouldn't be nonchalant, I'd make my pledge to stay, That on Life's voyage, every day should be Mothers' Day. I'll picture this little old woman to you somehow, But I must stop my reminiscence, and if you'll allow, You'll see beneath her soft white hair, her glasses, She's close to God, so she smiles at each one who passes; When you mention me, a gleam of love you'll discover; She'll say "God Bless You Sir," then give her all my love For that's My Mother.

Modes of the Moment

Embroidered batiste fashions this sheer summer frock having a velvet bow at the waist. The medium brim rough straw hat is an excellent summer type.

Embroidered batiste is given prominence this season. Many of the smartest cotton frocks adopt this lacy material. Their lines are simple with a definite tailored feeling but the construction of the fabric is such that it obviates the severely tailored effect and makes them very wearable and attractive enough for summer afternoons in town or country. They are made in white and delectable pastel colors. Some times they are in solid color and again the embroidery is done in color on a white ground.

Accessories seem to be more interesting than ever this year. Ribbons, ribbon and flower trimmed hats, crochet gloves and crocheted bags are smart. Every day it becomes more evident that the medium brim hat is an important trend in summer headwear fashions. The hat illustrated is a medium brim rough shantung straw model with a ribbon rosette adorning the center front.

The summer frock sketched is fashioned of eyellet embroidered lace batiste. It is chic for wear at informal afternoon functions. The natural colored shantung straw hat has a red band.

Special Tests of Kirk's Hard Water Soap Are Planned Here

This is the Kirk Hard Water soap test period in the Pampa area. Local merchants are particularly interested in the success of the new soap in this hard water area. And housewives likewise are expected to make special tests to learn for themselves the unusual results with this Coco Castile soap developed for use with hard water. The manufacturers of Kirk's Hard Water Coco Castile soap are waiting for reports on the adaptability of this product in the various sections. Pampa, because of its central location in the deep water area of the plains, has been selected for a concentrated test.

Mothers of Over 60 to See Movie Without Charge

Hundreds of books, plays and motion pictures have been turned out in recent years dealing with home life in this hectic age. The faults and virtues, the pleasures and pains of domestic existence today have been discussed from every conceivable angle—except one.

That one is the angle of boyhood. How the youngsters of the nation regard our modern scheme of things and our high-pressure mode of living constitutes a compelling theme that writers have touched. Yet it is of vast significance to adults as well as to the youths who in a decade or two will be running the country.

What do these young people think and divine and care today? Of our new educational theories and methods? Of their home surroundings in this age of radios and fast cars and prohibition and mother's clubs and dogmas of other outside interests undreamed of thirty years ago?

Such questions are said to be answered in a vivid and unforgettable manner in a new screen offering that Frank Borzage, the maker of "7th Heaven," "Bad Girl" and "After Tomorrow" recently directed for Fox Films. Presenting a survey of the whole complex situation from the viewpoint of two fourteen-year-old boys Borzage has turned out what is claimed to be the finest picture of his career in "Young America"—a picture that has already aroused the enthusiasm of millions of theater-goers for its clever entertainment, and the admiration of juvenile authorities and educators for its fearless handling of the facts.

With such celebrities as Spencer Tracy, Boris Karloff, Beryl Mercer, Ralph Bellamy and Sarah Padden in the leading adult roles and two juvenile screen "finds," Tommy Condon and Raymond Borzage, as the youthful heroes, this film opens at the Pampa Theater today. William C. Cushman wrote the screen play and dialogue from the original play by John Frederick Ballard.

Mothers over 60 years of age will be admitted free today only, according to the management.

W. J. Johnston of Miami visited briefly in the city yesterday.

Mother's Day Theme To Be Used In La Nora Theater's Program

The management of the La Nora Theater announces a special Mother's Day program today. Every mother attending the La Nora will be given a beautiful gift, and in addition there will be a special stage presentation featuring local singers, and musicians presenting "My Mom."

This is an ideal program for this occasion, and will please everyone attending the La Nora. The picture program for today, Monday, and Tuesday is Claudette Colbert and Edmund Lowe in "The Misleading Lady."

Edmund Lowe, whose love 'em and leave 'em methods with women became famous in "What Price Glory" and "The Cockeyed World," matches his strongarm courtship against the quiet, sly-eyed but highly inflammable wiles of Claudette Colbert in "The Misleading Lady."

This is Paramount's talking adaptation of the famous Dickey and Charles Goddard play, "Misleading Lady," and is directed by Stuart Walker.

The story promises all the elements of surefire entertainment, comprising generous portions of romance, thrills, action, mystery and comedy. It relates how a girl dupes a man into a proposal to prove that her sex appeal is worthy of glorification in a certain play role which she cherishes. She gets the proposal but scorns the proffer. She is kidnapped, chained up in a mountain cabin and tamed. Unknown to either captive or abductor, the place is the hideaway of a dangerous lunatic who has been attracted by guns stored there. Two inebrates with a mystery on their tongue-tips, an irate lover bent on avenging the kidnaping, a determined reporter, and two keepers from a nearby asylum are involved in the developments, which should keep most audiences gasping and gurgling right up to such a time as Lowe and Miss Colbert are permitted as satisfactory concluding "clinch."

Stuart Erwin is "Boney," the madman. Other roles of prominence are taken by George Meeker, Selena Royle, Robert Strange, William Gargan, Nina Walker, Fred Stewart and Harry Ellerbe.

STRONG FOR GARNER T. J. "Tom" Clauson, local automobile man and well known bowler, returned Friday from an extended trip throughout the west. According to information received from an unknown writer, the Pampa man was in Oregon when W. H. "Alfalfa" Bill Murray was there on a speaking tour and he took advantage of the situation to "tell Oregon" all about a Texan by the name of Garner.

The Pampan rolled into California in time to get Garner many votes for the presidential nomination. Nevada, Idaho, and the Dakotas saw the Pampan, as also did Arizona and New Mexico.

Hooks and Slides

BY WILLIAM BRAUCHER
Baseball Intellect

A photographer had an idea. The White Sox were in town with a whole flock of new players acquired by trade. He would take a group picture of Manager Lew Fonseca with the ivory obtained by swap.

Fonseca was willing. Jack Hayes and Sam Jones, who came to the Sox from Washington, agreed. Red Kress, fresh from the Browns, was willing. So was Bob Seeds, outfielder traded to the Sox by the Indians in the deal for Cissell.

But one man refused to pose. That was Johnny Hodapp, second baseman, who also came up to the Sox in the Cissell transaction.

The Old Jinx

"Nope," was Johnny's steadfast reply to the cameraman's urging. "The first day I played with the Sox, they took my picture in Detroit. I made four errors. The next day in Cleveland they took my picture again, and I made two more errors. So there ain't going to be any picture today."

Hodapp told the boys they could have the picture just as soon as he snapped out of the slump. No sales talk by the shutter-snappers could move him. The picture had to go unmade.

There you have it, the baseball intellect. Is it any wonder they refer to ball players as ivory?

Grove Got Over It

Moses Grove used to be that way, too. He often refused to have his picture taken before a ball game in which he was to pitch. But he got over that. Now he is on the best of terms with the photographers in major league cities. Last year, in his most successful season, he had more pictures taken than ever before.

There are quite a few major league managers who will refuse to pose with their teams for a group photograph in the thick of a close pennant fight.

"Wait until we cinch the pennant," is a reply often given to solicitous photographers.

This, rather than being a reflection upon managerial intelligence in the majors, actually is a hall mark of sagacity. They are aware of the superstitions of their players. They know that if such a picture were taken, many of the players would believe themselves "jinxed," and the belief would destroy their confidence.

Babe Never Refuses

Babe Ruth is one player who never has been known to turn down a cameraman's request. Probably more silly pictures have been taken of the Babe than any other man.

The good natured Babe will stand in his head-if you ask him to, not primarily because he values the publicity, but rather from sheer good feeling toward the boys who have to make a living off their lenses.

One old picture of Ruth, with a derby tilted over his nose in bowery fashion, and with a big black cigar, seems to me to be characteristic of the Babe.

In that picture his carefree disposition flashes out like beams from a lighthouse over a dark ocean. Do not get the idea that Ruth is all smiles. He will grumble occasionally but even then there is in his voice a note of understanding.

It's part of the act, this picture taking, and Ruth not only is showman enough to know that, but he is aware of the demands of the fans who follow his every deed.

Dr. de Zita will answer questions at the Pla-Mor auditorium Tuesday and Thursday nights.

SILVER ADVOCATE WILL NOT GET ACTION SOON

WASHINGTON, May 7. (AP)—The much-discussed question and an international silver conference echoed today in the president's office, with a senatorial advocate of silver re-remuneration declaring himself afterward to be "satisfied" with the chief executive's stand.

Senator Jones (R., Wash.), reporting he had discussed the silver problem with Mr. Hoover—said that although the president had not spoken flatly he personally believed a concrete proposal for rehabilitating the metal if brought to the White House, would result in invitations to an international parity.

Mr. Hoover remained silent. State department officials, also, remained publicly cool to the subject.

ESTELLE TO SELL HOME

LOS ANGELES, May 7. (AP)—The $135,000 mansion on Los Feliz Boulevard which Jack Dempsey built for Estelle Taylor in the happy days of their married life is to be sold at auction late this month, the motion picture actress said today.

The home was a point in dispute when a property settlement was being arranged prior to their Reno divorce.

ASK ELECTRIC CHAIR

TYLER, May 7. (AP)—Attorneys tonight argued the case of Barney Blackshear, 23, of Dallas and Arpa on trial for the first iron killing of Mrs. George Brimberry. Testimony was compiled this afternoon.

The young oil field roustabout also was charged with murder of Mrs. Brimberry's husband, thrifty German water well digger. State's attorneys asked the jury to send Blackshear to the electric chair. They contended robbery motivated the double killing.

PIONEER PASSES

LUBBOCK, May 7. (AP)—W. K. Dickinson, Sr., 72, for the past 29 years a resident of this city, died at his home tonight at 11:15. He had been in ill health for the past four weeks but his condition had been reported as improved late Saturday.

HUGHES FIRE WATCHED

NEW YORK, May 7. (AP)—A reduced fire-fighting force tonight kept a cautious eye on the smoldering flames in the ruins of the $2,000,000 Cunard Steamship lines pier here. The fire, which started at 6 a. m. yesterday, was brought under control after a 26-hour battle.

One man was fatally injured by a hose line which broke loose while the flames were at their height.

Though the Netherlands produces about 3,000,000 pairs of wooden shoes annually nearly an equal quantity is imported to meet domestic demand.

THE PACIFIC GOLDEN PLOVER nests along the coast of Alaska, and winters in Hawaii. Twice each year these birds make the hazardous trip between the two points, flying the 2400 miles without a stop . . . for there are no stopping places. How the birds steer their course, from the mainland of Alaska to the tiny islands in mid-Pacific, is a mystery. The golden plover of the Atlantic coast makes a flight equally as long, flying south each fall, from Nova Scotia to South America. In case of bad weather, this plover has a chance to land at the Bermudas.

THE POLAR EXPLORER must melt snow to get water, and this requires fuel. And in the polar regions, fuel is priceless.

FAVORITE HAS OUTBURST OF BAD TEMPER

FORTY THOUSAND SEE BIG CHESTNUT IN VICTORY

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky., May 7. (AP)—Burgok King captured the Kentucky derby today, duplicating the victory of his daddy, Bubbling Over, in 1926.

Burgok King whipped the best the east had to offer in an unswerving field of 20 starters and gave his owner, Colonel Edward Riley Bradley, the master of Idle Hour farm of Lexington, honors that no turfman ever has gained before.

A crowd of 40,000 persons roared its tribute to Colonel Bradley's third victory within a dozen years.

The big chestnut finished five good lengths in front of his nearest eastern rival, Economic, owned by J. H. Loucheim, New York.

Economic saved the place by the margin of a head over Stopenfitchit, main hope of the stable of Mrs. John Hay Whitney, of New York, and ridden by the veteran Buddy Eisner.

A half length behind Stopenfitchit, nees separated the next three horses and Brandon King finished fourth.

Over time the other Whitney entry with Sande in the saddle, fifth and the heavily-played favorite, Mrs. Louis G. Kaufmann's Tick On, sixth.

Tick On went to the barrier the popular choice at odds of 9 to 5, but used up most of its energy in bad behavior at the barrier.

Burgok King's stable mate, Bronner Joe, finished last after Liberty Limited, the hope of the Three D's stable of Fort Worth, Texas, was down in the back stretch, but nobody paid any attention to that oddity as the handsome victor came back to the stands to receive a terrific ovation while Governor Ruffin Lafon presented the trophy to Colonel Bradley.

With the complete entry list of 20 going to the barrier, thereby upsetting expectations of a half dozen scratches, the derby with 20 starters amounted to $52,550. Economic drew $6,000, Stopenfitchit $3,000 and Brandon King $1,000.

Burgok King, going to the post at 1-2 to 1, paid the good price of $13.24 to win, for each $2 ticket $3.08 to place and $4 to show.

RED BEER TOURNEY PRIZES DRAW GOLFERS' INTEREST

PHILS ANNEX SERIES EASILY FROM PIRATES

Silver Cups, Leather Golf Bags, Clubs To Be Given Away Soon.

Many Pampa golfers who had decided not to play any of the "hit 'em and chase 'em" game this year have gotten their club out after seeing the prizes for the Red Deer city amateur tournament displayed in the window at Kees & Thomas Men's store. Qualifying play is under way and will continue until Friday night. Play will start next Sunday morning and will continue through May 22.

Some good qualifying scores have already been turned in and other excellent scores are being made in practice flights. As many as five flights are assured and it is hoped that enough players will enter to make more flights necessary. Prizes for winner and runner-up in each of the five flights have been secured. Additional prizes will be given if more flights are necessary.

The Red Deer course is in the best condition it has been this year. The fairways have been mowed and worked on during the past week. Recent rains have brought out the grass and a drag used has spread the turf so evenly that summer rules could be played.

Besides the prizes for flight winners and runner-up, several individual prizes will be awarded. A driving contest will be held and the prize will be a dozen golf bags.

Prizes for the flights follow:

Flight 1—Silver cup with statue to winner and a leather golf bag to the runner-up.

Flight 2—Silver statue to winner, a driver and brassie to runner-up.

Flight 3—Driver and spoon to winner. The second place prize has not arrived.

Flight 4—Horn brassie to winner and a driver to runner-up.

Flight 5—Pair of golf shoes to winner and golf shirt to runner-up.

VERNON TOPS PLAMOR CARD FRIDAY NIGHT

LOCAL BOY WILL BOX CYCLONE HALL IN MAIN EVENT

There will be 31 rounds of boxing at the Plamor auditorium Friday night when the second boxing exhibition of the season will be held. Matchmaker G. A. Heath of the American Legion has arranged a snappy card for the entertainment of the Panhandle wrestling fraternity.

The card will be headed by a 10-round exhibition between Joe Vernon, local boy, and Cyclone Hall of Denver. Both boys will enter the ring at 162 pounds. Vernon is the boy who made a hit with the fans in the opening card. Hall is well known here, having battled in a Pampa ring two years ago.

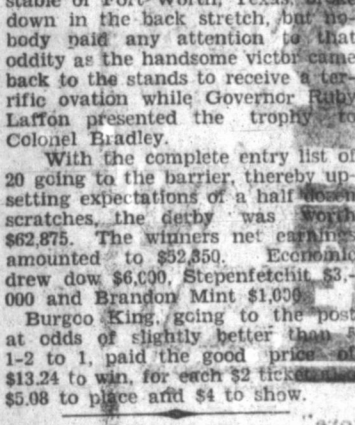

The eight-round semi-final will bring Mickey McGuire, of Muskogee, Okla., and Fritz Stanke, local boy, into the ring at the same time. McGuire is well known to local folks as Buddy Bishop. Stanke is a former bus driver for the Safety First Bus company. He referred several wrestling matches here. He has been quite training in Oklahoma and is in great shape.

Jay Ward, the Berger redhead, has been matched in a six-round bout with Frankie LeGlover of Vernon. Ward was one of the main attractions with the fans here in the opening card. The Vernon boy has a great reputation in other parts but has not appeared in this section of the country.

A four-round and a three-round match will open the card which is set for 8:15 o'clock.

The boys will out every afternoon at the Plamor and local fans are invited to attend.

SECOND, THIRD IN DERBY

MAGS TO PLAY SKELLY TODAY

Pampa baseball fans will see their favorite sport in Skellytown this afternoon when the Magnolia "Mags" play the Skellytown Oilers. It will be the first meeting of the two since this year and should be one of the best games of the season.

Manager Ruffing Cahill has been putting his charges through some tough practice sessions and the boys are all set for the important tilt. Voss or Casey will get the call to do the hurdling for the "Mags" with Bosman behind the bat.

Carroll will likely be in the box for Skellytown with Bryant receiving. Carroll is one of the best hurlers in this section of the Panhandle. He hurled a no hit, no run game last season and a two hit game this season. The home nine will be composed of members of last season's squad. They have been playing since early this season and have been winning practically every game played so far.

The "Mags" have won two and lost two this season. The team is composed of veterans although most of them are youngsters. The team is in need of a good lefthander to round out the squad. Their hitting has been strong so far this season but the fielding has not been up to par. Manager Cahill worked on defensive last week.

Following the game with the Gray County Home Labor team from Pampa, Manager Walker is taking a strong nine over to round out the double header for the Oilers.

FIVE RECORDS FALL AT MEET

Distances, Javelin and Shot Put Marks Are Improved at Austin.

AUSTIN, May 7. (AP)—Five state records fell here today before the 22nd track and field meet of the Texas Interscholastic League. A sixth record was tied.

Records were broken in the 880-yard run; the shot put, javelin throw, mile run and the mile relay. The 400-yard dash record was tied.

Graham Graham of Brownfield added twelve feet and one-half inch to the javelin throw record. He tossed the spear 190 feet, 7 1/2 inches. The old record of 178 feet 7 inches was established by Hodges of Austin in 1928.

Graham yesterday threw the javelin 184 feet and nine inches. His effort today giving him the distinction of having broken the javelin record twice on successive days.

Bush of Sunset Hill, Dallas, clipped 2.5 seconds from the 880-yard run mark. He stepped the half mile in 1:54.8. Becher of San Angelo held the old record at 1:59.5.

In the shot put, Elmer Reynolds of Sherman added one quarter of an inch to the record. He heaved the ball 51 feet, two and three-eighths inches to beat the record held by Edmonds of Spur and C. Johnson of Jefferson Davis of Houston.

Morgan of Alford was clocked in the mile run at 4:33.4, four tenths of a second less than the mark set by Simpson of Denton in 1926.

Ablene knocked one and four-tenths of a second off the mile relay record held by San Angelo. The Abilene quartet negotiated the mile in 3:25.5. The San Angelo record, set in 1929, was 3:30.9.

A. Black of the Masonic Home, Fort Worth, tied the record set by Thomas of Electra in the 440 yard dash in 1923 when he traveled the quarter mile in 50.2 seconds.

Sherman won first place in the meet with 15 points.

Floyd Withrow of Tona, Kaufman county won the rural pentathlon.

DRAWS CONCLUSION

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Charges that the United States Steel corporation carefully timed its announcement of a fifteen per cent cut in wages to fit with President Hoover's message rebuking congress were flung in the house today by Representative La Guardia.

They came as the house still smarted under the lash of criticism in the chief executive's message Thursday urging passage of the revenue bill in the senate and for $700,000,000 in cuts in appropriations.

DRASTIC RAIL LAW CHANGES MAY BE MADE

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Drastic changes in transportation laws were proposed today by the house commerce committee as necessary to help railroads recover from the economic doldrums.

The committee put together and formally reported two bills by its chairman, Representative Rayburn, Texas democrat. One would repeal the law requiring carriers to give to the government half of their earnings above five and three-quarters per cent. This would relieve roads of the possible necessity of paying $360,000,000 to the government.

The other measure—drafted after a special study made on orders from the house—would put holding companies under jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission.

Two minority reports were submitted, however, one opposing each of the two major phases of the bill.

Secretary Mills cited the abrupt adoption of a compromise tax bill by the senate finance committee yesterday as the type of cooperation he saw as the goal.

Asked whether the president was pleased with that bill, he returned jocularly, "well, I haven't lost my job yet."

It was virtually a bill recommended by Mills at an executive session that the finance committee approve without ado after days of work on the house tax bill in which it reversed itself repeatedly.

While declining to give details of any program that may have been agreed upon, Mills hinted the administration expects the senate to do much more in the way of slashing the federal outlays in the course of revamping the emasculated economy bill passed by the house.

He referred questioners to the Hoover message to congress of Thursday and the amount mentioned therein as the goal wanted.

PRECINCTS

Wright Patman of Texarkana, congressman who has led the fight in the national house of representatives for payment of a cash bonus to world war veterans, was endorsed for the vice-presidential nomination on a ticket with Garner by the convention at Blum.

Precinct 3 at Hillsboro instructed for Melvin A. Traylor of Chicago, former Texan and internationally known financier, for the presidential nomination.

Traylor formerly lived at Hillsboro.

Some delegations were uninstructed in any way, although in most cases men favorable to Garner were chosen to go to the county conventions.

The pledge of party fealty, binding participants in the convention to vote for the nominee for president and vice-president, was not mentioned in most reports. In the district of Love, who waged a bitter fight against the pledge in the courts, a resolution opposing the pledge was adopted by a majority vote.

Certain that the Texas Democrats at their convention in May would instruct Texas delegation to vote for John Garner for president as long as he had a chance to be nominated, Gray county democrats did not trouble to hold a county or precinct convention yesterday.

Sheriff Faulkner, county democratic chairman for many years, said local democrats were taking it for granted that the Texas delegation will be instructed for Garner. He said the county is not planning to send a delegate to the state convention.

"What they do at the convention will suit us because we are certain they'll go for Garner," Mr. Faulkner said.

Physicians said she probably would recover.

Means May Be Linked Closely Kidnaping Case

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—The elusive trial of the $100,000 paid Gaston B. Means to bring about the return of the kidnaped Lindbergh boy today led department of justice agents to safety deposit boxes in the nation's capital as a part of a far-flung investigation.

The federal agents also attempted to untangle the many other ramifications of the case, including whether the former department of justice investigator had any associates in his alleged attempt to defraud Mrs. Edward B. McLean of the money.

The estranged wife of the publisher of the Washington POST has charged that she gave Means the huge sum on his representation that he could recover the child. When she became convinced her plan was fruitless, she reported to Department of justice officials that Means refused to return the money.

Meanwhile, the portly ex-convict made plans for his release from the District of Columbia jail on $100,000 bond if the grand jury indicts him next Tuesday for larceny after trust. He has arranged for bail with a professional bondsman.

An ineffectual search was made yesterday of his home at Chevy Chase, just outside of Washington, but no trace of the money was found. It is understood similar investigations are to be made at Concord, N. C.; Alken, S. C., and El Paso, Texas, where Means is supposed to have visited.

Officials expressed interest in word from El Paso that Means stopped at a hotel there in which a man resembling Harry Fleischler, fugitive member of the Detroit "purple gang" was seen. There was no indication, however, as to whether they considered it of any significance.
