affected areas. It would be worth a special session of the legislature if it could be solved definitely. More evidence is necessary. Remember that there was a special session on limitation of cotton acreage, with the net result a row of goose-eggs. One must know what he is about and the technical staff of the railroad commission is losing a lot of sleep over the problem. A great asset is endangered. Landowners face dissipation of potential wealth.

The Blacksmith, "She"—

Much is being said and written about women's invasion of man's occupations. Probably the husky blacksmiths thought they could laugh at the menace. But alas, that stronghold too has fallen. We quote the Borger HERALD:

Self-Flattered.

In the past, pictures of presidents have not showed any particular masculine beauty—at least not in this century. The thought has been disquieting to many of the would-be he-politicians who consider that they have he-pulchritude. Imagine their pleasure on reading that Franklin D. Roosevelt is so handsome that many wonder how a man so beautiful could be so smart. But if he gets into the White House without many wrinkles, he will come out a different man. Any occupant of those premises who can worry over problems will have many wrinkle-raising hours.

Boasting of Will.

Vernon is boasting about datelines over the nation which resulted from Will Rogers' visit in that vicinity. Now why can't some of our oldtimers rake up acquaintance with the Claremore gum-popper. Will is first aid to chambers of commerce whose publicity has fallen off a bit, and we can't remember that Vernon has had many good murders lately.

Heard: That a Pampa girl, fearful that she might misunderstand the new postal rate, put 6 cents on letters to her boy friend for several days.

Politics will be divorced from the railroad celebration program. We imagine the country will be safe if its ills are not being diagnosed ponderously for a few hours.

Seen: A man who said he had "caught up" on sleep lost listening to the political conventions. Questioned about the planks, he could remember only the one on prohibition.

PUBLIC FORUM

Editor THE NEWS: In the Pampa Daily NEWS under date July 11 and under the heading "About Politics," we note that you, in publishing the list of candidates for associate justice of the supreme court of Texas, said: "Hickman popular. For associate justice of the supreme court we find the names of Cole Spear of Travis county, J. E. Hickman of Eastland county, and William Piersen of Hunt county. Of these, Judge Hickman, the he-man but kindly jurist of Eastland is apt to get the vote of West Texas."

Three Hundred Oil Field Men at Movie Demonstration of Tractor

The construction of the Advance-Rumely and Allis-Chalmers tractors and the many uses in the oil field were demonstrated by motion pictures to members of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum company in the city auditorium last night. More than 300 oil field men attended the presentation.

Brother of Local Man Made Head of Borger Schools

Borger has gained an exceptional superintendent in B. C. Schulkey, brother of Dr. C. H. Schulkey, local dentist, according to a write-up in the Wichita Falls RECORD-NEWS. The new Borger superintendent is somewhat of an athlete and takes pride in sending his school to the top of the list.

His record on the bench both as a trial judge and an appellate judge is a credit to the bench and bar of Texas.

He is a member of the supreme court and was such at the time that court passed upon the constitutionality of what is generally known as the Small riverbed bill. It should be of interest to all West Texans that the supreme court upheld the riverbed bill.

WAR DEBTS—

about scaling down the debts they owe him. In this country the suspicion has been voiced openly that the Wilson principle of "open covenants openly arrived at" has been tossed overboard by the European diplomats who wrote the Lausanne pact.

Critics of the arrangement say there was certainly nothing open about the agreement itself, nor, they declare, was it arrived at under a spotlight. None of the Lausanne negotiators has disclosed its text, some of them explaining it would be unethical to do so until it and the Lausanne treaty itself had been submitted to the parliaments concerned. But the British in response to requests in the House of Commons, have moved to bring about publication.

The French newspapers had no scruples about telling their readers that the gentlemen's agreement was a diplomatic way of putting a settlement up to the United States.

Said Premier Herriot: "A way has been left open by the gentlemen's agreement to return to the status quo if a satisfactory arrangement with the United States is not made." This might be taken to mean that if America does not reduce the amounts due her from the World War allies, the treaty of Lausanne would not be ratified and the United States plan would automatically go into effect again.

If that happened, Germany would begin paying where she left off when President Hoover declared a moratorium on inter-governmental obligations last year.

"Great Day" Says Roosevelt While Munching Steak

WITH GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT, STONINGTON, Conn., July 13.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, bearing an olive branch, got his good ship Myth II ready today for a further cruise into Al Smith waters. His goal today on his week's vacation sail aboard the 40-foot yawl was Wood's Hole, Mass., the state where Smith strength is notable.

MEXICANS NEAR STARVATION

NOGALES, Ariz., July 13.—A pitiful story of hundreds of families facing starvation as the result of the prolonged strike of employees of the Southern Pacific of Mexico railroad spurred efforts here today to restore transportation facilities.

Political Follies of 1932

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—Franklin D. Roosevelt and Herbert Hoover will present a fascinating conflict in personalities to the voters during the 1932 presidential campaign.

There is little comparison between them and if the presidency were to be awarded on the basis of vibrant platform manner, aggressive charm, happy and disarming smiles, sympathetic appeal, splendidly handsome features and crusading fervor, it would be just too bad for Mr. Hoover.

Roosevelt has all those things. He has more "It" than any nominee who has appeared on the scene in at least a couple of decades. He is such a handsome cuss that one of his main tasks in this campaign may be to prove that he is not "beautiful but dumb."

Serious Hoover.

Hoover is colorless. He stirs few warm emotions in the human breast. His smiles are few, fleeting and often a bit sour. His platform manner is heavy and dull. His voice leaves most things to be desired. His methods usually are those of the stodgy conservative. And he does not, to be gracious about it, wear the mantle of Rudolph Valentino.

Unfortunately for Roosevelt, perhaps, and most assuredly to the benefit of Hoover, this is not a campaign in which many voters are going to toss their ballots to a candidate because he happens to be sweet and pretty and ingratiating.

Personal charm probably has slumped in value as sharply as most of the issues on the stock market. Millions of voters are worrying just as fretfully as Hoover is worrying, and Roosevelt will have to show a great deal of stuff along with that charming personality.

The "Wishy-Washy" Charge

The word went around before the Chicago convention that Roosevelt was a weak, vacillating, wishy-washy opportunist. An incredible number of persons—even among the "forgotten man" class, the men in the street, the ordinary men and women you meet every day—have been impressed by that charge against Roosevelt which has been so widely made.

Even many of the delegates who had been elected or instructed to vote for Franklin D. had come to believe it. There was very little enthusiasm for him just before the nomination.

Hardly a delegate remained without a distinct second choice in mind. The attitude of the big cities was very likely demonstrated by the gallery cheers for such picturesque figures as Smith and Ritchie and their boos for Roosevelt. I talked with many such men and women as were in those galleries and their one complaint was that Roosevelt was a "pussy-footer" or a "weak sister."

Hoover's Chance

Then there's Hoover—hardly the super-skipper hero of a terrible storm such as the republican publicists love to describe him, but still the president of the United States who has at least taken stabs at the depression, has had a lot of experience with it, probably has shoved through some measures without which things might have been a lot worse and whom millions of citizens will hesitate to swap for another man unless they can be convinced that the other has something better to offer.

The times are such that the personal characteristics of such a man, unless they are construed as conditioning his service to his country, are not likely to have any adverse effect on his candidacy.

That Happy Plane Dash.

Nevertheless, Roosevelt certainly strengthened himself by his airplane dash to the Chicago convention, his ringing speech of hope to the people and the party, his call to arms directed at a progressive democracy, his confident and joyous aspect as he began the battle. He looked like a much better bet than the pre-convention Roosevelt.

One studied him intently and wondered whether he might not make a far more impressive candidate for election than for nomination.

There were things in his manner, his language and his gestures which reminded you of Al Smith, although Roosevelt is more cultured and suave, more likely to appeal to that large number of middle class men and women who worry about their social security, hold contempt for all accents and establish their superiority in their own minds from the fact that someone else says "raddio," whereas they do not.

Bailey Praises Mrs. Warner And Hears Her Talk

DALLAS, July 13. (SP)—There are so many candidates for the three democratic nominations for congressman-at-large that their paths are bound occasionally to cross.

During his tour of West Texas Joseph Weldon Bailey, Jr., of Dallas, a candidate for place 2, at Hermleigh, Scurry county, met Mrs. Ebebe K. Warner of Claude, an opponent for the same place.

Mr. Bailey had a meeting scheduled for the city. Mrs. Warner was merely passing through. But the gallant Mr. Bailey prevailed upon her to stay over and hear him speak. After his speech he introduced her to his audience, praised her and listened to her address.

A prediction that Mr. Bailey will win the nomination in the first primary was made here by Ed Wilcoxson of Sherman, one of his campaign managers. He was in Bailey headquarters in the Adolphus hotel after returning from Houston.

Vault Is Rifled

FAUNSDALE, Ala., July 13. (AP)—Chiseling out a section of a 30-inch brick wall, robbers early today gained entrance to the vault of the bank of Faunsdale and looted it of cash estimated by bank officials at $60,000 to $75,000.

Killed By Patient

WASHINGTON, July 13. (AP)—Dr. Victor A. Almone, medical officer of the Mount Alto Veterans hospital, was shot and killed today by Frank Castell, former patient in the neurophobic ward.

Libby Holman at Home of Sister

CINCINNATI, O., July 13. (AP)—Libby Holman came home today to seek sanctuary behind what cloak of privacy her family could throw about her.

Scurrying from a train at Clare, O., 12 miles from town, with relatives clustered about her, she sped by auto to the home of a sister in suburban Wyoming, while a small crowd of curious walked vainly at the downtown station.

Blatantly at first, then more heatedly her sister and brother denied knowledge of her whereabouts. Finally it was admitted that the widow of Smith Reynolds, slain to-lacco heir, was at her sister's little home.

Though there was no suggestion as to the plans of the Holman family, the supposition prevailed that Libby would remain in Wyoming a few days, then go elsewhere, perhaps to the mountains.

Nebraska Has Learned To Store

NEIL L. Neb. writes his own meal ticket.

Half-starved last winter in a drought-ridden land where livestock died by the hundreds, farmers and townsfolk have enough food in storage now to guard against another famine.

They've gone in for gardens. Bountiful rainfall has helped and the land which lay fallow one season is producing enormous crops. Dave Loy grubbed 42 potatoes from one hill.

Hundreds of farmers have federal seed loans and for them, planting a garden was a condition of the loan. But nearly everyone in town and country is tending a bigger garden than ever and tending it more faithfully. It's no longer a chore left to the women.

Mulberries, choke-berries, rhubarb, greens and old roosters are being canned for winter use. Corn, cucumbers, melon rind, grapes, plums and meat all will be stored away.

Newton H. Gaines, extension worker from the University of Nebraska Agricultural college, said enough feed for livestock to last the winter is on hand.

There's cheer and optimism in Northern Nebraska. A farmer may be short on cash but he can trade his apples for a side of pork. There's less worry about cash crops and more thought of old fashioned living next to the soil.

Beaumont Man Wounded By Cop

NACOGDOCHES, July 13. (AP)—J. C. Smith of Beaumont was wounded early today when he and two Kirbyville men tried to escape police investigation here. The car in which they tried to flee contained 99 cartons of cigarets. Police fired five shots at the car as it raced through the business district, one of which hit the driver, Smith.

The other two men gave their names as Hugh Seale and Tom Porter, both of Kirbyville. Seale was carrying papers showing he had been paroled from the penitentiary in June. Police were tracing ownership of the cigarets.

E. G. Wilson of Miami was looking after interests in Pampa Tuesday.

HOW'S your HEALTH

VITAMIN D AND TOOTH DECAY
Dental caries, or decay of the teeth, has been with some justification called a disease of civilized races, although it has been known for many thousands of years.

The Egyptians practiced dentistry, even to the point of filling cavities with gold leaf, but it is only in recent years that any promising work has been done to uncover the cause of decay.

Today we know that diet, oral hygiene, general health and age affect the health of the teeth. It is as yet, however, undetermined which of these factors is the most important, though evidence points to diet.

Experimental study of caries, both in the United States and England, has shown clearly that diet has a most profound effect upon the growth and the subsequent resistance to diseases of the teeth.

Recently a number of experiments were conducted to determine the effect of vitamin D on tooth decay.

Since the absence of vitamin D is known to contribute to the development of rickets, two comparable groups of children between the ages of six and ten were studied, one group showing the evidences of rickets, the other being free from this condition.

It was found that in the rachitic group—that afflicted with rickets—the teeth were poorly developed, whereas in the non-rachitic group the teeth were better developed.

On the other hand, when a comparison was made on the prevalence of decay, it was found that both groups were fairly comparable, as much decay affecting the teeth of both groups.

Despite this last evidence, it appears that a diet deficient in vitamin D is a contributing factor to the development of caries.

The tooth, when it is full grown and has a completely formed covering of enamel, without pits or fissures, is known to resist decay much more effectively than the poorly developed tooth.

NOMINEES

Here are the 1932 standard bearers of the National Prohibition party, nominated at the party's convention in Indianapolis. Above, Ex-Congressman William D. Upshaw of Georgia, presidential nominee, who pledged himself to withdraw if Senator William E. Borah or some other outstanding figure agree to lead a third party dry campaign. Below, Frank S. Regan, of Rockford, Ill., the vice presidential nominee.

Pampa Veterans Tell of "March" And Bonus Fight

Pampa ex-service men in Washington are optimistic believing that the bonus will be paid but that it may take a long time. They seem well pleased with conditions and treatment, especially by the chief of police and their commander.

The four Pampa men left nearly a month ago as delegates of Pampa ex-service men. They were instructed to learn about the situation and keep the local men informed.

A letter received yesterday from Sgt. Jim Logan, commander of the Pampa delegation, follows: "There hasn't much happened around here during the past few days. However, Hoover has appropriated $100,000 to send some of the boys home at a cent a mile and 75 cents a day. Of course a few left but they were the weak and yellow. About 500 have left."

Three hundred new men arrived yesterday and 500 more came in today. They are coming in here at the rate of 200 a day. We are going to get that bonus and it won't be long. The chief of police made that remark this morning. He is a prince. He donated $700 the other day to feed us. There are about a thousand ex-service radicals here but they aren't getting any where.

"They are trying to replace Waters with one of their own men. They are organized as the 'rank and file,' but there isn't a chance. They tried to parade Thursday but only 300 lined up and they turned back. The parade is 30,000 here July 5 was written up in Washington papers as 5,000 men. Don't believe anything you see in the papers unless it is a Hearst publication. A lot of women came in the last few days. Also a lot of negro veterans agree to lead a third party dry campaign. Below, Frank S. Regan, of Rockford, Ill., the vice presidential nominee.

"Tell all the veterans down there to get on up here. I say again that we are going to get that bonus. Food is getting scarce but we are all rustling. Red and I moved into 219 Linworth Place with the Dallas boys. We are within 15 blocks of the capitol. We have passes to both house and senate. I was up to the senate a while today. They would like to get rid of us but the only way will be to pay the bonus."

"The Anacosta camp and the one within two blocks of the capitol is a sight to see. Pup tents, goods boxes and dog houses made of scrap lumber and tin are all occupied and more are going up every day. I will mail a B. E. F. paper tomorrow.

SUMMER RANGE CONDITION FINE

AUSTIN, July 13. (AP)—The outlook for summer range feed in Texas is "very good," a report issued today by the Department of Agriculture here stated. Stock water is plentiful through the northwest and west central districts and much of South Texas. Rainfall through the Panhandle was general the latter part of June and most of the Edward's plateau region received heavy rains.

Sleep ranges also were reported to be in very good condition. The condition of the ranges July 1 was the people here are sure fine and are with us to the finish. New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Michigan, and surrounding states are sending us truck loads of food every day. It takes a lot to feed sixty or seventy thousand men.

"Write soon and tell us the news. Send that tent, as we don't know how long we will be in this house. Yours, LOGAN.

85 per cent of normal, three points above the average of last year. Reports indicate the feed crops will be as large as the one harvested last year.

Cattle were reported to be in good condition at 85 per cent of normal. Early calves were making good growth and the crop July 1 was much better than last year, the report stated.

Sheep conditions were reported as 81 per cent of normal. Due to the heavy marketing of lambs, the prospect was that a smaller number of Texas lambs would be available as feeders this fall.

LOSS DETERMINED

CEDARVALE, Kan., July 13. (AP)—Officials of the Cedarvale National bank said today a checkup showed that $2,128.31 was obtained in the robbery of the institution yesterday.

Joe Kurth, star tackle on Notre Dame's 1930 and 1931 football teams and eligible for another season, plans to become a newspaper sports scribe after graduation.

It's the Cigarette that's Milder

and Tastes Better!

That's why more and more Smokers are changing to Chesterfield every day

WHEN you are smoking a lot of cigarettes every day, you naturally want a mild cigarette, and smokers try Chesterfields and find out that they are milder and taste better.

Then smokers tell other smokers—"one smoker telling another"—that they find that although they smoke a great many Chesterfields during the day, they never tire of them; and that they have found out that Chesterfield is a milder cigarette, that it is a cigarette that tastes better, that it is a cigarette with a most pleasing aroma.

Some time ago, in a Chesterfield advertisement, there was a statement, "A $90,000,000 Reason," and this means that the larger part of $90,000,000 is invested in the right kind of ripe, mild Domestic and Turkish tobaccos to make sure that Chesterfields are milder and taste better.

May we ask you to try them?
