AMARILLO, July 26. (AP)—Whether Clyde W. Warwick of Canyon was nominated for reelection as state representative from the 122nd district in Saturday's primary will not be known until an official count of the ballots is made Saturday.

Warwick's name was juggled into first place and out again alternately with the name of his opponent, H. K. Stanfield, Amarillo attorney, throughout the tabulation of ballots, and the final outcome appeared to depend upon the correction of a mixup in Armstrong county.

As the vote stood early today, Warwick had been defeated by eight votes. A rural box in Armstrong county was reported this morning, however, giving the incumbent a 13-vote lead. The Armstrong county chairman said he did not know if the box had been previously reported.

Williams Well Flows Strongly

The Texas company's No. 10 Williams in section 7, block 1, southeast of LeFors was flowing at the rate of 1,000 barrels a day this morning. The new test topped the pay Sunday morning and was estimated good for better than 500 barrels. The flow increased as completion of the well got under way.

Pay was encountered at 2,739 feet with about 7,000,000 feet of gas. Mazda Oil company's No. 1 Combs-Worley in section 35, block 3, where pay was encountered late Saturday night, was flowing better than 1,500 barrels a day yesterday.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The gasoline stations have hung out the "welcome" sign to the old grey mare and her brothers and sisters. Horse drivers are invited to drive in and let their thirsty animals fill up. It is a gesture of hospitality. Besides, horses don't live forever and their owners may be buying automobiles some day.

Idol Worship.

There are many persons in this country who still believe Teddy Roosevelt is living. They always spoke of him by his last name, and they think he and Franklin D. are one and the same. Roosevelt with them is a name, not a living reality. So it is with the Fergusonists to a surprising extent in certain sections of Texas. Ferguson has lost his punch as a campaigner in Texas, but the figure of fancy that he has become in the minds of tens of thousands remains. Fergusonism is a formula, but you cannot operate a state government on a formula which won't work and which has no one to work it. Look up the record.

The Negroes Vote.

Negroes, voting here, attracted little attention. Gray county knows little of the black race. Negroes came to the north part of the county with the oil boom. Their voting strength is not large enough to become a factor. The issue therefore lies easily in the public mind, and is not the goading annoyance that one finds where the complexities are more nearly matched. Conditions alter cases—and politics.

"Ins" and "Outs."

The saddest words in politics, as in life in general—"it might have been." Over-confidence lost many an advantage in campaigns this year. The voters were inclined to act contrary to the usual course. The "ins" lost their traditional advantage. The "outs" enjoyed the feeling of political innocence, which is something rather tangible this year. Yet there were contradictions. Carson county was kind to the "ins". You explain it—we can't. But we do know the potency of the glad hand and the big promise.

MONEY TO PAY CURRENT BILLS TO BE READY

PAMPA-M'LEAN ROAD IS PROJECT TO BE INVOLVED

SMALL FUND CONCERNED

COUNTY PURCHASES ITS OWN BONDS FOR PURPOSE

In order to raise money to pay bills for improving the Pampa-McLean road and for right-of-way on highways 152, 88 and 66, county commissioners yesterday voted to purchase from the Brown-Crummer Investment company between $50,000 and $60,000 of Gray county road bonds maturing between 1937 and 1942, when the company presents them for payment, and to sell to the company bonds in the same amount but maturing between 1933 and 1942.

It was agreed that the company present only the amount of bonds in the 1937-1942 series that it purchases of the 1933-1942 series.

It was agreed between C. M. Smith, a company representative, and the commissioners that the company which has already purchased approximately $300,000 worth of Gray county bonds, deliver for payment $25,000 worth of 1937-1942 bonds immediately and that Judge S. D. Stennis be authorized to place in escrow $25,000 worth of 1933-1942 bonds. According to the order, the county would pay par and accrued interest for the bonds and also receive par and accrued interest for those sold.

The arrangement amounts to the county buying its own bonds. Payment will be made out of the interest and sinking fund.

In a written statement to the court, dated July 5, Auditor R. C. Wilson said that the court has "collected more than sufficient monies" than is required to pay the current interest and maturing bonds; together with the transfer of the sinking funds of the districts whose bonds have been taken up and the transfer of $60,000 balance remaining after the completion of road district 4 program, there is now in the sinking fund of the bond issue approximately $85,000. There will be due October $24,153 in interest and outstanding bonds that have been sold. There is now an accumulated surplus of $70,845 in the sinking fund after deducting the current interest requirements. There are no outstanding bonds of this issue that

SAVED BY DOG

Tired of wrestling around the backyard of his Dayton, O. home, three-year-old Gene Boldman turned his attention to the flower garden. A warning "br-r-r" meant nothing to Gene, but Myra, sleek, big-eyed Doberman Pinscher, Gene's wrestling companion, sprang to the alert, barked, bristled, teeth bared. A three-button, 27-inch rattlesnake struck at the boy, but Myra leaped in time. When Gene screams brought his mother, the rattler was dying and Gene was unharmed. Myra, twice bitten, was given serum and a chance to survive. Boy and dog here are shown above.

BLACK FIRST TRIES TO SLAY BROTHER BUT FAILS

HUGE POSSE IN PURSUIT

VICTIM IS SHOT WHILE HAULING COTTON HULLS

DALLAS, July 26 (AP)—A crazed negro ran amuck in southeast Dallas today, shooting one man to death and firing at several others. He was in flight to near-by creek bottoms. He was armed with a shotgun. The shooting opened with an unsuccessful attempt to kill his brother.

J. N. Alcorn, 63, a white man, was killed by a charge from the negro's shotgun as he drove a wagon loaded with cottonseed hulls down the street where the shooting took place.

The negro, Johnnie Harris, 30, shot Alcorn after he had failed in an attempt to kill his brother, Will Harris, operator of a grocery store. After shooting Alcorn, the negro fired at another white man but missed. As he ran toward the creek bottom he fired several more times.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Alcorn, a nephew of the slain man, joined other officers in pursuit of the negro. A posse of about 200 officers and residents of the neighborhood where the shooting occurred joined in the chase.

Will Harris told police that his brother, who had lived on a farm at Oakwood all of his life, walked into the back of his store carrying a shotgun and said, "I'm going to kill you."

The storekeeper ducked behind a counter as his brother raised the gun and fired. The charge went through the front of the building. John Harris then ran out of the store and his brother called police. He was at the telephone when the shot which killed Alcorn was fired.

NOT FIRST BONUS DRIVE

The world war soldiers who have encamped about Washington may have an idea that they are the only soldiers who took this step to gain what they wanted from the government. Way back in 1786, so history relates, there was what was known as "Shay's rebellion." The revolutionary war had left the soldiers without funds, a depression was on and added to the general hard times, a tax had been levied that was held out of all reason. War veterans of Massachusetts rebelled against conditions and demanded that something be done about it. Alexander Hamilton declared that a dictator was what was needed. George Washington was appealed to, and the country became pretty much stirred up. Washington declined to meddle and he was utterly opposed to the idea of a dictator. Washington saw the government was hard hit by the after effects of the war and the treasury was all but bankrupt. Taxes had to be levied. The new government was sore pressed and some way had to be found out of the difficulty. The soldiers demanded that the government issue a large quantity of paper money, reduce the taxes and give general relief and marched on Springfield with a threat against the supreme court then in session. But Washington did not see his influence to back up the demand. The rebellion was put down, Shays fled, but was afterwards pardoned. Another uprising came after the civil war, but the country was in no shape to grant the wishes of the soldiers and the affair ended in a promise of a speedy pension act. So the bonus marchers are by no means the first to demand relief when hard times follow in the wake of war. Washington, gazing into the future, "as far as the human eye can see," saw the peril of the government his soldiers had fought to bring about, and said: "Influence is not government. Let us have a government by which our lives, liberties and properties will be secure," and that wise decision should be the watch word today. We can make or break our country just as we see fit.—Higgins NEWS.

Life-guard or skilled custodian about. We mean, of course, clean and tested water at all times. We mean having swimming taught so that the young folk of the city will not grow up unable to take care of themselves in the water. These dry plains do not produce swimmers. Proficiency in the water is denied to thousands.

Distinctions. We realize that some persons have objections to public pools. But distinctions must be made in pools. As it is, young folk of Pampa go to other towns to swim out of sight and hand of home observers. The safety factor is unknown to parents in most cases. A municipal pool well managed would be free of most of the objections usually cited.

How Dare We? With congress adjourned and the first primary over-

We think it should be self-sustaining, with a little additional to provide for upkeep of grounds or to pay for any outstanding indebtedness on it. We think it should be well supervised from a behavioristic standpoint, allowing no rough language and conduct. We believe it should be well safe-guarded so that no tragedy will mar a season.

"My present financial condition is due to the effects of Federal Laws, State Laws, By Laws, Brother-in-Laws, Mother-in-Laws, and Outlaws, that have been foisted upon an unsuspecting public. Through these various laws, I have been held down, held up, walked on, sat on, flattened and squeezed until I do not know where I am, what I am or why I am.

County Commissioners Hear Story Of Wife and 8 Children—Deserted

The biggest problem before county commissioners yesterday did not concern roads, bonds, taxes, and members of the court admitted it, but felt that it was not in their power to do anything about it.

The problem was a mother and eight children from one to 14 years old who were deserted several months ago by the husband and father. The man left with another woman who also deserted her eight children. He sent his wife and money in April. Since then she has been doing the best she can. Last week she went to the Welfare Board for the first time.

Now the Board gives a certain amount of groceries to each family each week. The food the mother got was not enough to last her and her eight children a week. That's why she appealed to the county. But the county looked at it this way: Suppose it should give assistance to the mother and children; there are many others in the county like them. The court would be flooded with appeals for aid, and having established a precedent could not refuse them.

What the mother wants most of all is her husband back. She wants him to support his children. Before he left he made good money. She believes he could get a job here. Sheriff Blanscet is trying to locate the husband, and has a warrant out for his arrest. Recently the wife went of Arkansas to hunt him. He had left the week before.

The woman has pride and education. Her children are smart. In their books. The mother and children are clean and neat.

Commissioners said it was pitiable. They promised the children should not go hungry. So did the Welfare Board, even if extra rations are given.

Oklahoma-Texas Outputs Are Up

TULSA, Okla., July 26 (AP)—An abnormal output from Oklahoma fields and continuation of the steady increase in East Texas brought total United States crude oil production up 51,028 barrels from 2,146,731 barrels to 2,197,759 barrels daily last week, the Oil and Gas Journal says.

Oklahoma production climbed from 406,335 to 453,920 barrels, due largely to an increase from 83,210 to 126,115 barrels in the Oklahoma City field.

East Texas production was 345,498 barrels, an increase from 337,388. Output from the entire state was 481,418 barrels, an increase of only 4,149 daily.

California output was down 1,000 barrels at 470,000.

Eastern production was steady at 118,000 barrels. Kansas fields showed a decrease from 97,120 barrels to 96,380. Rocky Mountain production increased from 79,930 to 81,510 barrels.

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE

The "drive-it-yourself" campaign plan adopted by the democrats has exceptionally interesting possibilities—mixed with certain definite hazards.

Governor Roosevelt and his advisers, it is announced, favor a very wide decentralization of campaign management, leaving the problem in each state largely in the hands of local talents with a minimum of advice from higher up.

This program follows closely the outline of the Roosevelt pre-convention campaign. The business of gathering delegates was so much entrusted to local leaders that the central office in New York was not even dignified by the name of "headquarters," but was referred to as a "clearing house." James A. Farley, while actual chief of staff, never had the usual title of "manager."

In most cases the experiment—for it was that—worked well. A surprisingly small number of local managers "ran out" on the candidate.

For one reason or another things didn't go so well in such states as Massachusetts and California, but the candidate was nominated and the Roosevelt men appear to think that was sufficient proof of the pudding.

Upsetting Conventions

Because of its application to present and future Roosevelt strategy, it is worth noting, too, that those who were leading the pre-convention fight out in the states were not referred to by titles, but as "the Governor's friends." There was every disposition to sweep aside the usual forms of party nomenclature.

How close is the link between this circumstance and the Governor's own invitation to dissatisfied Republicans, in his speech of acceptance, to join his followers?

It will be interesting to see to what degree, if any, the national Democratic party organization, as such, may become submerged in the coming campaign, and replaced by an entirely new set-up spreading out over party lines. As that intended to be a part of the "pre-convention-breaking," and of the "new deal," promised by the Governor in his acceptance speech?

Weighing The Risks

No one can deny that any such system, if carried to its extreme conclusion, would involve important risks.

Perhaps John J. Raskob, the retiring party chairman, was thinking of the possibility of a real breaking-up of the old party machinery when he testily reminded the new national committee of its debts to him, and laid down the gavel without a word of greeting either to his successor or the nominee.

Cross-Currents

But the greatest risks involve, not what retiring leaders like Raskob may do, but what may be done by the local state leaders if left too much on their own.

Roosevelt is in an election campaign now, not in a pre-convention campaign. He must consider how cross-currents involving the other party will affect his chances in local situations.

"To put it more bluntly, may not certain state leaders, interested primarily in state control, give their real effort to local fence-strengthening, and think last of all of the national ticket?"

The fact cannot be blinked that politics is not always conducted on the honor system, and swapping votes across party lines has taken place often enough before to the disadvantage of national candidates.

Doubtless the Roosevelt high command has thought of this. Perhaps the decentralization announcement should not be taken too literally.

More than a million pounds of reindeer meat are sent to the United States from Alaska every year.

Farm and Bank Groups To Meet

County and home demonstration agents, bankers, chambers of commerce secretaries, farmers, and crop loan committeemen and agents of the Panhandle have been called to meet in Lubbock at 2 p. m. Governor Davis is national inspector of the crop production loan association and representative of the secretary of agriculture. The meeting at Lubbock has been called by Owen D. Sherrell of Dallas, regional manager of the crop production loan office.

Mr. Geesey believes that Gov. Davis' address will be of great interest and he urges anyone who can get away to make the trip.

BUSINESS WOMEN WILL HAVE FIRST SOFT BALL GAME

Committees of Local C. E. S. Are Appointed for School of Instruction

WILL ENCOUNTER SKELLYTOWN TEAM ON WEDNESDAY EVENING AFTER MUCH RECENT PRACTICE

PAMPA NEWS STORY IS SEEN AND GROUP CHALLENGED

Skill of the soft ball team of the Pampa Business and Professional Women's club will receive its first real test when it encounters a team of Skellytown women tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock in Skellytown.

Immediately after reading the announcement of the local team's organization in the Pampa NEWS, July 17, the Skellytown team challenged the local women to a game and invited them to play on the following Wednesday. As the organization of the team here had not been completed, however, the game was postponed until tomorrow evening. The enthusiasm of the Skellytown women indicated that they were well-prepared, and the locals are anticipating a hard game. Several of the Pampa women had never played before about two weeks ago, but since that time they have been practicing strenuously.

The local team will meet at the Rose building at 6 o'clock and go to Skellytown in a group. A number of other Pampanas are expected to make the trip also. No admission charge will be made but a collection will be taken.

Mabel Gee is manager of the team and others who have practiced are Hazel Kentling, Mildred Overall, Vera Lard, Lillian McNutt, Madeline Tarpley, Mary Lou Downs, Lillie Dalton, Marie Bastin, De Ann Heiskell, Louise Dunn, Helen Turner, Winifred Heiskell, and Clara Lee Shewmaker.

Practice will take place at the club's annual picnic this evening at LeFors. Manager Gee is expecting all of those who have been practicing to take part in the game this evening and she is hoping that a number of others will join them.

Missionaries To Return To China

DALEHART, July 26. (P)—After five years in the U. S. Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Thiessen and family will return this week to China as missionaries for the Mennonite church. They served there six years on a previous assignment. For the past year they have lived near Dalehart, preaching at intervals.

Many exciting adventures are related of the former sojourn in the Orient. One time three thousand bandits swept through a peaceful section, sending word ahead that all missionaries would be made captive, but the threat was not carried out. "I knew many men in those days," Mr. Thiessen said, "who were soldiers by day and ruthless bandits by night."

Varied Interests Are Needed, Says Teacher In Canyon

CANYON, July 26.—Dr. H. M. Cook, of the education department of the West Texas State Teachers college is trying to keep teachers who come into his classes from the evils of over-specialization by acquainting them with the cultural and recreational value of fields other than those they teach in.

A series of lectures, dealing with the cultural value of literature, languages, travel, history, drama, music, art, nature study, science and research have been heard, each given by an expert in the field.

Dr. Cook is an advocate of a rich and varied background for every teacher who works with young men and women. He believes that only such teachers can meet the interests of young people.

No One Able To See Greta Garbo

NEW YORK, July 26 (P)—Perhaps the big town frightened her, perhaps she feared the attentions of her public. Anyway—Greta Garbo is in hiding.

Not since she arrived yesterday from Hollywood and immediately fled into seclusion has even the most zealous film fan been able to catch a glimpse of the talkie heroine.

Dark glasses hid her eyes and the collar of a long coat screened her face as she streaked in a taxicab from the railroad station to a Bronxville hotel. She wasn't seen again.

A delegation of railroad officials waited in Grand Central in vain to greet her for she got off the train at an uptown station.

She is expected to sail Saturday for her home in Sweden, perhaps to abandon film work for good. But she may change her mind.

Swimming Party Will Be Tonight

Meeting at the First Methodist church this evening at 7 o'clock, members of the business women's class of that church will go on a swimming party to Miami. Mrs. C. A. Long is the class teacher.

Reports Given By Methodists

Officers' reports were given at a regular meeting of the First Methodist W. M. S. yesterday afternoon at the church. Mrs. A. B. Goldston, vice-president, presided at the gathering in the absence of the president, Mrs. Joe Shelton. She also gave the scripture reading, Matt. 7:13-27.

The group joined in singing "Help Somebody Today," and Mrs. H. B. Carson led in prayer.

It was decided to hold meetings as usual on the first and second Mondays in August but whether or not the group will meet during the revival will be decided by the executive committee.

Announcement was made of a picnic to be attended by the entire Sunday school Thursday evening. Twenty-three persons attended.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

What homemaker among us does not happily welcome any suggestion that saves time in the preparation and serving of meals? A little careful planning makes it possible to assure most women of many leisure hours.

Meat loaves and cold cuts can be prepared to do duty for two or more meals and they are available in pleasing variety. Corned beef, beef and calves' tongue, cottage ham, Canadian bacon, California ham, "regular" ham as well as baked and jellied meat loaves and cold sliced roasts make delicious meats for summer days.

The care of meats after cooking is of prime importance if they are to remain attractive to the last morsel. In the first place they must be kept very cold in order to preserve them perfectly. Then they must be kept well covered to prevent drying and loss of flavor. These two simple precautions insure against food spoilage and waste.

Small families will find cottage ham, Canadian bacon, corned beef, calves' tongues and small meat loaves well fitted to their needs. Large families will make use of large hams and beef tongue. These cooked and salted meats can be prepared well in advance of the time of their serving and can be used down to the last bite.

Corned beef has an appetizing tang for summer menus and can be purchased in as many portions as wanted. It should be freshened for several hours or over night. Put on to cook in cold water and bring slowly to the boiling point and remove scum as it rises. Simmer until tender. Cool in the water in which it was cooked. Remove to a large plate or platter, cover with a second plate and weight. Press until cold and firm. Cut in slices to serve.

Beef and calves' tongue can be bought salted or fresh. The salted or "pickled" tongue is always freshened before cooking. Let beef tongue stand in water over night to freshen; four or five hours should be enough for calves'. Cover the fresh or freshened tongue with cold water and cook slowly until tender. Salt is added to fresh tongue. 3-4 teaspoon to a pound of meat, after the tongue has cooled about one hour. Let cool in water in which it was cooked and remove skin and roots. Serve sliced cold or in a hot cream sauce with broiled tomatoes.

THEY FALL FOR BOY'S LINE

He was just a Montana cowboy down at the beach for his vacation, but he knew the lass for his lasso. A party of rangers whooped it up at Virginia Beach, Va., and this picture shows how they picked their dancing partners from among the beach beauties. A cowboy dance is an annual feature at the resort.

Virginia-Born Nancy Astor Helps Prince Meet British Law-Makers

LONDON (P)—When the Prince of Wales wanted to meet the lesser known members of the British parliament he went to an American born woman for help.

Lady Astor, M. P. for Plymouth and native of Virginia, was acquainted with the royal desire, and forthwith gave a party to which were asked those M. P.'s who also served although they only stand and wait.

The prince, of course, was asked, too, to the town house of the Astors in St. James's Square; he came and circulated freely among M. P. guests, who were drawn from all parties.

The constant efforts which the Prince of Wales makes to keep in touch with the governing elements of the country over which he some day will sit as king-emperor recall to many a prophecy in George Bernard Shaw's "Apple Cart."

Some day, Shaw said, a prince of Wales is going to kick over the traces and stand for parliament, become prime minister, and eventually rule the country in fact as well as in myth.

WHEN TO BID HIGH OR NOT AT ALL

By TOM O'NEIL

Original bids of two under most systems are made on hands of great strength. Such an offering on one suit of exceptional length and nothing much else is deceiving.

With such a hand it would be far better to preempt with a bid of four in a major or five in a minor than to bid two. A preemptive bid often will shut out opponents when they have possibilities of game or a part score.

On the other hand, an original bid of one and a game-demand bid of two will certainly cause partner to count on high-card strength that the hand of the original bidder lacks and trouble will ensue.

Here is a hand from a game in which M. E. Coleman, White Plains, N. Y., took part:

AUNT ADDIE GETS HER MAN!

Here's Mrs. Eliza Adeline Tucker, 77-year-old "Aunt" to the folks down in the Ozark hills of Barry county, Missouri, who was just "plum put out" when three men entered her home and took $7,000 belonging to her brother. She donned her sunbonnet, jumped into an automobile with the sheriff and drove 900 miles to Denver to identify one of the suspected robbers. It was Aunt Addie's first man-hunt and she got her man. She and the sheriff took him back to Missouri for trial.

My Beauty Hint

By LEILA HYAMS

Real beauty is so deeply-rooted that one can store up a supply of it that will last from one season to the next.

The best possible means of acquiring this more lasting beauty is by walking.

Indoor boudoir beauty treatments pale in insignificance when balanced beside this morning outdoor exercise.

There is a drawback to walking to one's place of work in the morning because of one's costume. Therefore a before-breakfast habit is more beneficial.

As a defensive measure the result to north and south as actually played, or if four spades had been bid originally, was worth while, since east and west could have made a part score in diamonds at the worst. Indeed they could have made game in no trump provided east were the declarer, which would prevent hearts being led.

NEW YORK YANKEES TO FACE NEED OF MUCH REVAMPING

OLD GANG NOT AS LIVELY AS IT ONCE WAS

MURDERERS' ROW HAS BEEN TAMED BY TIME

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Even if they consent on through to the American league title, it is doubtful the Yankees will stay up there longer than one term.

The Ruppert rifles are not the same type of club they were back in the halcyon days of Waite Hoyt, the "Schoolboy wonder," and the old "murderer's row."

True, many of that famous crowd are still around and they are doing yeoman work in the Yankees' current drive but they no longer make up a team that is young and full of fire and just reaching its peak.

Fellows like Ruth, Combs, Lazzeri and Little Joe Sewell can not be expected to star much longer and Manager Joe McCarthy probably will have to do plenty of revamping next season.

With the Philadelphia Athletics getting no better fast, the Cleveland Indians, a young, courageous outfit that just are realizing their strength, look like the best bet at the moment, with Detroit a possibility.

In the National league, where the Pittsburgh Pirates threaten to run away from the field, there is an entirely different situation. If George Gibson does drive his youngsters under the wire first, there is no good reason why they should not stay up there a couple more years.

One of the veterans of the Athletics' championship machine, George (Mule) Haas, came back to grasp the headlines in the only game played yesterday in either league. His home run in the last of the ninth off Lefty Gomez with only one man on the Athletics an 8 to 7 victory over the Yankees.

Pioneers To Celebrate Aug. 12-13

FLOYDADA, July 26.—West Texas Pioneer association will hold its seventh annual meeting Aug. 12-13 at the old rock house near here, which was the home of Uncle Hank Smith, in whose memory the meeting is held each year. Plans are being laid to entertain the thousands who will attend from West Texas and New Mexico. The rodeo will not be held this year at the usual time, but daily baseball games, old time music, a square dance, and political speeches are being planned, according to M. C. Potter of Silvertown, president of the association. Attendance at these reunions has increased from a few hundred at the first meeting in 1926 to over 12,000 at the reunion in 1931.

Borger Team Is Tourney Surprise

The Borger-Alamo-66 ball club has turned out to be the surprise team in the Denver Post baseball tournament. After losing the second game of the tournament and coming through with a close call in the third encounter, the Borgerites came from behind to eliminate the House of David team Sunday, 5-4.

Lefty Freshour, one of the hurlers on the Pampa-Lefors-66 club in the recent Amarillo tournament pitched the game. Last night Borger rallied to defeat McVitt's Cafe team, defending champions, 5 to 4.

Big Haddock went the route for the Borgerites and pitched masterful ball.

Borger is in the big money after the win last night and should be one of the favorite teams for first money tomorrow. The crowd is pulling for the Texans according to word from Denver.

The Borger Daily HERALD will sponsor a baseball tournament starting Aug. 21.

Stine Sees Work Of Street Machines

City Manager C. L. Stine returned last night from Dallas, where he spent the week-end inspecting street maintenance equipment at the Allis-Chalmers factory and seeing it in operation. The city is asking for bids on a caterpillar tractor and blade machine for use on city streets.

He also studied the water situation in Dallas and watched laying of pipelines and other construction work. City Manager Edy was out of the city for a few days and Mr. Stine did not wait for an appointment.

The Dallas city manager has several papers of great interest on city operations and Mr. Stine was anxious to get copies. They will be mailed to him soon.

Tony Kubek home town boy, is one of the leading outfielders in the American association for the Milwaukee Brewers. He is expected to get a trial with the St. Louis Browns.

Herman Bell, former St. Louis Cardinal hurler, has won four games and lost one with the New York Giants this season.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Jimmy Comes Along

Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs in 1927 to set a major league record for four-base hits in one season.

Hack Wilson rode the lively National league ball of 1930 so well that he drove in 190 runs, setting a major league record in runs-batted-in for a season.

And now comes Master James Emory Foxx, veteran at the tender age of 24, wallowing his way merrily down through the American league season. What will Jimmy do to those world records set by the Babe and the Hack?

Unless I'm suddenly cuckoo, he'll break 'em. He'll smash 'em to pieces and post grand new ones.

Ahead of Babe, Hack

Yes sir, James is on this year. You hadn't already noticed it. With three-fifths of a campaign behind him, he is several steps ahead of the pace Babe and Hack followed in 1927 and 1930.

Only July 20, the Mack Mauler had taken a toll of 39 home runs from American League pitching. Let's see now, where was Babe Ruth on July 20, 1927? Thirty homers! Ruth made his 30th home run July 12 in Cleveland and didn't get his 31st until July 24 at Chicago.

Not until the get back in Cleveland again on Aug. 20 did he belt his 39th round tripper.

Without talking too much into consideration, Foxx may easily break Ruth's mark of 60. By continuing to the end of the campaign at his pace in the first three-fifths, he'll wind up with 65 home runs.

As I see it, Jimmy ought to take Hack Wilson's record without much trouble. He had supplied the punch for 117 runs on July 20. A whole season at that rate would bring him 195 runs batted in. And with Simmons and Cochrane coming back into their customary batting strides, there will be more base runners to send home. He may surpass even the 200-mark.

Pennant and Bat Title

Both of these records are minor ambitions with the young A's slugger. He has two other and more important aims.

The first is to help the Athletics overhaul those high-flying Yankees, to make possible a fourth straight world series in Philadelphia this fall. The second is to put his name on the column with those of Cobb, Heilmann, Simmons and others who have won the American League batting championship.

Aside from last season, Foxx has usually figured in the annual race for the league batting championship. He came closest in 1929 when he compiled an average of .354, his best in six seasons with the Athletics. However, Lew Fonseca topped the ranks that year with a .369 average. Jimmy hit .335 in 1930, but Al Simmons, his teammate, finished far ahead with .381.

The year he was first American League to pass the 100 mark. On July 20 he had 135, a pace, if continued, that will bring him about 225 bingles for the season.

Foxx floundered badly during the 1931 season. He blames his flop on friends who advised him to hit only the fast balls thrown by pitchers.

"That was a mistake," says Jimmy. "I'm hitting anything that comes over the plate this year, fast ball or curve. It works, doesn't it?"

Right, Mr. Foxx! It's working fine. Stay right in there and hit the ball.

Garner Willing To Talk Farming

UVALDE, July 26.—Speaker John N. Garner is both able and willing to explain farm relief to A. J. Livingston of Spencer, Iowa, whom Vice-President Curtis considered "too damned dumb" to understand the subject.

Mrs. Garner, who acts as secretary to the democratic vice-presidential nominee, so notified Livingston in a letter written yesterday. She answered for the speaker, she said, because he was resting out in the woods.

Arrangements for Garner to speak at Spencer depend, however, on the wishes of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and the national campaign committee. Mrs. Garner said the speaker would let them make out his schedule.

Schaaf Reveals Small Talent

NEW YORK, July 26.—(P)—Ernie Schaaf, the man who would like to fight his part-owner and chief second, Jack Sharkey, for the heavyweight title, had taken one short, faltering step today in that direction.

By belting out a 15-round decision over Paulino Uzcudun in Madison Square Garden's big bowl last night, the Boston blonde, survived the first round of the Garden's heraldic elimination tournament.

But it was a subject of debate with the crowd of 6,000 whether Schaaf had proved anything except, possibly, that he is not a worse fighter than Paulino.

Schaaf weighted 210, Paulino 198.

STEERS LEAVE FOR IMPORTANT ROAD JOURNEY

DALLAS HAS WON 13 OF HER LAST 14 CONTESTS

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Victorious in 11 of their 12 home games and winner in 13 of their last 14 games, the Dallas Steers left last night for Galveston on a 12-day road trip that is expected to have an important bearing on the second half pennant. Manager Morse's players have a five-game lead over Beaumont in second place.

The Steers closed their long home stay here last night by beating San Antonio, 11 to 1. Ray Morehart, shortstop, and Zeke Bonura, first baseman, led Dallas' attack with four hits each.

Schoolboy Rowe, Beaumont's young model sensation turned in his 13th victory of the season by beating Fort Worth, 6 to 1. Manager Dick McCabe opposed Rowe for 7 innings and was a beautiful duel between an old master and a youthful star, but McCabe retired for a pinch hitter in the 7th and Rowe pitched on holding his foes to 5 hits. After McCabe retired, Beaumont hopped on Howard Tyler, his successor, for 4 runs in the ninth.

Playing 11 innings to reach a decision, Tyler beat Houston, 3 to 2. Ryan seemingly won the game for Houston in the first half of the 11-inning with a home run, but Tyler came back with consecutive singles by Cunningham and Washington and Fritz's triple to win the game after two men were out.

Longview and Galveston did not play yesterday, having played a doubleheader Sunday.

JOE MEDWICK THINKS HARD ABOUT SLUMP IN LONGVIEW

Houston Outfielder Just Can't Remove Jinx—Does Not Like Santone Either.

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Because of night baseball J. J. Medwick, hard-hitting Hoytton outfielder, does a lot of baseball meditating during hot afternoons.

During those spells, Medwick believes he would be hitting Texas League pitching for a 400 or better if it weren't for the Longview park.

"The Longview park," he said, "is my jinx. I do well to get a half foul when playing there.

"I like the Tyler park for home runs. I hope to hit a few over the wall the next time we are there. I'll need them to keep pace with Henry Greenberg and Paul Eastering.

"San Antonio is another town I don't like to play in. Playing there is like trying to play in a Turkish bath. It is the hottest city in the league, day or night.

"Good—But Funny"

Our club—sure, we've got a good one but a funny one. It seems like when one of us hits, the entire team goes to a hitting spree, but when one slumps, the whole team falls at the plate. If we could all start hitting together, and keep at it, we could give somebody trouble for the second half. However, that doesn't go for me when we are playing in the Longview park."

In Middle of Things

At a recent Dallas-Houston series, Houston was taking batting practice. Homer Peel, outfielder, walked to the plate and parked one outside the lot. Bernie James, Dallas second baseman, turned to Zeke Bonura, first baseman, and said:

"That guy is always in the middle of things for Houston. When Houston is rallying and I find time to look up, Homer is either crossing the plate with a run or getting a hit to drive one in."

The hero of the dugout conversation is hitting around .356 and is one of the league leaders in doubles, yet the Houston Buffaloes recently asked waivers on him and not a single club claimed the man whom James and Bonura fear so much in a rally, and who is hitting well over .300.

A New Twist

Catcher Mill Dickey doesn't always practice what he preaches. Recently the New York Yankee catcher was suspended and heavily fined because he swung on and broke Carl Reynolds jaw when he didn't like the way Reynolds slid into home plate.

The incident recalled to Al Parker, Wichita Falls sports writer, the time Dickey was at Wichita Falls with the Yankees to play an exhibition game. Several of the big leaguers were guests at a luncheon of the Rotarians. Dickey made an after-luncheon talk. He dealt along with the foundation of fair play and sportsmanship.

Today he is working off a 30-day suspension and paying out a $1,000 fine. He should have remembered his Wichita Falls speech before taking a punch at Reynolds.

Tom Jenkins, who graduated from Wichita Falls to the St. Louis Browns in 1928 because he was one of the hardest hitters of all time

AMERICANS TO HAVE TROUBLE FOR JUMPERS

JAPAN AND HAITI ARE BRINGING GREAT STARS

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES, July 26.—In the Olympic field sports calling for more agility than sheer brawn, the United States still has a decided edge, although it is a curious development that now finds Japan and the little island of Haiti contributing two of the world's foremost long-jumpers to the international athletic party.

American coaches regard the pole vault and the running high jump as "cinches" for Uncle Sam's entries. Japan figures to capture the hop, step and jump again, with probably three star contenders. Southern California's Dick Barber alone seems to have much chance to stop either or both of the men who have exceeded 26 feet in the broad jump—Sylvio Cator of Haiti and Chubei Nambu of Japan.

The Olympic pole vault seems merely a vehicle for the renewal of the California rivalry between Bill Graber of U. S. C. and Bill Miller of Stanford. Miller broke the world record once and Garber twice in the final U. S. trials before hoisting himself over the bar at 14 feet, 4 3/4 inches.

All three of the American high jumpers bettered the Olympic record of 6 feet, 6 inches in the final trials. The favorite is New York's George Spitz, holder of the world indoor record of 6 feet, 8 3/4 inches.

There is not a single foreign entry of note or consequence prowess in either the high jump or pole vault.

Two Louisiana boys, Sidney (Snakey) Bowman and Roland Romero, youngest athlete on the American track and field team, have a good chance to score in the hop, step and jump. Bowman is an experienced competitor, capable of bettering 49 feet, but the Japanese have an edge if they are up to form.

Roger Cramer Is Out For Season

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—(AP)—Roger (Doc) Cramer's only chance of getting back in a regular baseball game this season is for Connie Mack's Athletics to win the American league pennant, it appeared today.

Cramer broke his left shoulder bone yesterday when he fell heavily while trying to catch a Texas leaguer from the bat of Joey Sewell, New York third baseman.

Specialists explained that the crippled "Doc," second to Jimmy Foxx in Athletic batting averages, will be able to leave the hospital in about three days for his home at Manahawick, N. J., but his arm will not be removed from a sling until about Sept. 1.

Several more weeks after that will be required before the injured arm will be in shape to play again and by that time the regular playing season will be nearly ended.

Childress Opens County Schools

CHILDRESS, July 26.—County Superintendent C. W. Crosslin has announced that five schools in this county will open at an early date in addition to the Olympic school, which has been carrying on its regular school work for the past week. The school which will enroll students during the first week in August are Carey school, Tell, Arlie, and Garden Valley. These schools will operate for about two and a half months before closing for cotton picking.

A trip to the Olympics without actually journeying to Los Angeles—above photographs give graphic impression of the multitudinous activities and nationalities which will be seen in the international carni-

Oklahoma Voters Go To Polls In Run-Off Today

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 26 (AP)—Run-off primary contests in Oklahoma's 1932 political derby were settled in the voting booths today. The winning candidates will make up the party tickets for congressional, state and county offices in the November election.

Personalities focused interest on two races, with J. C. (Jack) Walton, deposed governor, and Will Rogers, a country school teacher whose household name carried him to fame in the first primary three weeks ago, as two of the contenders.

Walton, attempting a political comeback for the fourth time since he was removed as governor in 1923, is opposing A. S. J. Shaw, former state auditor and treasurer, for democratic nomination to the corporation commission.

Rogers, whose vote in the first primary was not even counted by unofficial tabulators until some one discovered he had an amazing total, is pitted against Mrs. Mabel Bassett, state commissioner of charities, for democratic nomination for congressman-at-large.

Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma's senior United States senator, is opposed by Gomer Smith, Oklahoma City lawyer, in his bid for democratic renomination.

Wirt Franklin, Ardmore oil man and leader of the oil tariff campaign, and James A. (Big Jim) Harris, republican leader of a few years ago, are rivals for the republican senatorial nomination.

Democratic congressional contests find W. W. Hastings, veteran second district representative, opposed by Alex Johnson, Okmulgee oil man and lawyer; Tom D. McKeown, incumbent meeting Bai Aldridge in the fourth district, and P. B. Swank, incumbent, competing with O. B. Motherhead, former state bank commissioner in the fifth district.

BLAMES ENGINEERS CLEVELAND, July 26 (AP)—David B. Robertson, president of the brotherhood of locomotive firemen and engineers, today charged engineers in many cases were working overtime at the expense of the firemen and called for a congressional investigation.

STATE TAX RATE IS FIXED AT 69 CENTS—OR 5-CENT SLASH

AUSTIN, July 26 (AP)—The state automatic tax board announced today it had set the state tax rate at 69 cents per $100 valuation for 1932. That is a decrease of five cents under the rate collected on 1931 valuations.

The legislature last summer enacted a statute fixing the maximum tax rate for state purposes at 69 cents per $100 valuation. Normally the automatic tax board figures up the amount that will be needed and fixes the rate to meet the anticipated demands, within the constitutional limit of 77 cents.

It was estimated by the tax board the school fund would require $34,563,637, this figure including a scholastic apportionment of $17.50 per student. School fund receipts from sources other than ad valorem taxes were estimated at $16,468,417, leaving the amount to be raised by the tax levy at $21,714,264.

It was estimated the 35 cent tax would yield revenues of $13,720,900. It was believed likely, however, the per capita apportionment would be set at $16. In calculating the needs of the school fund the board figured in $690,229 set aside for the purchase of textbooks during the present fiscal year although that amount may not be needed, tax board officials said they had been advised.

The per capita apportionment of 17.50 would require $27,405,000, based on an enrollment of 1,566,000 students. The allotment for textbooks for the next fiscal year was set at $1,643,000 while the obligations of the school fund on August 31, 1932, were estimated at $5,515,637.

The 27 cent tax rate for general fund purposes was estimated to yield $9,846,031. Appropriations made by the 43rd legislature, plus $500,000 estimated as needed to defray the expenses of the 43rd legislature and $3,914,734 listed as obligations of the general revenue fund that would be outstanding Aug. 31, 1932, brought the total needed for this fund to $27,418,676.

Debts To America Causing Concern

OTTAWA, July 26 (AP)—Huge debts to the United States which must be paid in gold by Great Britain and Canada demanded consideration today by the Imperial economic conference meeting here as unofficial discussion of monetary readjustment began.

Appointment of H. H. Stevens, Canadian minister of trade and commerce, as chairman of the committee on monetary and financial affairs, means, some of the delegates believe, that the question of silver will be brought up.

Stevens is an authority on the silver issue as it affects a large part of the world, particularly India, China and some South American countries. The committee will meet Thursday.

ENDS MARTIAL LAW

BERLIN, July 26 (AP)—Chancellor Franz von Papen, securely installed as federal commissioner for Prussia, today ended the state of martial law established in Berlin and the province of Brandenburg six days ago.

Franz Bracht, former mayor of Essen, remains as the chancellor's deputy, however, with the authority of a dictator. The Prussian coalition ministry has been ousted and most observers agreed that the Reichstag election next Sunday is not likely to put them back in office.

J. M. McDonald is on a business trip to Austin this week.

On the basis of figures prepared by the comptroller's office would leave the general revenue fund short by $6,596,615.

The 35 cent school tax will fall by $7,993,364 to meet the estimated needs of the school fund, the figures showed.

The tax board in estimating the total to be raised from the school and general revenue tax, figured in the statutory twenty per cent allowed for costs of collection, delinquencies and other contingencies.

Lattimore Will Be Named Later

FORT WORTH, July 26 (AP)—Governor Sterling, here today to begin plans for his run-off campaign against Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, announced he will defer an appointment to fill the vacancy on the second court of civil appeals until the court reconvenes Sept. 12 after the summer recess.

With returns from Saturday's primary apparently conclusive of victory for Judge Hal S. Lattimore, the governor said he will name Lattimore to the post when the court resumes its sitting. The appointment, delayed until after the election, will be deferred further as a matter of economy, Governor Sterling said.

In declining to make the appointment while the court is inactive, Sterling followed the suggestion of Judge Lattimore, who pointed out the delay will save $683 a month.

At the time the vacancy on the appellate court is filled, Governor Sterling said he also will appoint Marvin H. Brown to succeed Lattimore on the bench on the ninety-sixth district court. Brown's election to that post seemed assured on the basis of the ballots already counted.

Governor Sterling pointed out that postponement of the two appointments will save approximately $1,200 of the taxpayers' money between now and Sept. 12.

After conferring with his state campaign manager, Ernest Alexander, Governor Sterling declined to reveal his plans for the run-off until after he visits his state headquarters in Dallas this afternoon. He said he will issue a statement tomorrow in which he will announce the date and place for opening the second campaign.

Sterling expressed complete confidence in the outcome of the second primary, saying it would be a repetition of the race two years ago. "We beat them out two years ago, and we can do the same thing again," he said.

He said he had received no reply from either Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls or M. H. Wolfe of Dallas, runners up in the governor's race. He requested the support of the two defeated candidates in messages sent to their homes yesterday.

BIG BUSINESS FAILS

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—The acting federal prohibition director believes big-business bootleggers are losing ground to small-scale competitors.

That's the way Howard Jones, acting chief in the absence of Ames W. Woodcock, summarizes information obtained personally and from his men in every prohibition district.

Texas Longhorn Given Reprieve

NEW ORLEANS, July 26 (AP)—With only one day left from a seven-day reprieve from the butcher's pen, Barker, huge Texas longhorn steer carrying his owner from the Longhorn State to New York, today gained a new lease on life after a rude interruption in the overland journey by tick control officials here.

Properly dipped, Barker and his owner, "Tex" McDaniel, will be allowed to continue eastward, as a result of intervention by the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Barker, with McDaniel astride his back, arrived here a week ago and was received with considerable fanfare at city hall where Mayor Walmsley, McDaniel and Barker posed for photographs.

Shortly afterwards, however, federal tick inspection officers made an inquiry and detained Barker in the government pen because of alleged movement from tick-infested to tick-free areas. It looked for a time as if Barker would go to the butcher in spite of McDaniel's

The Faithful Cheat BY RUBY M. AVRES

SYNOPSIS: When Mark Merriman sailed to the Congo, shortly after his secret marriage with Sondra Kent, Sondra thought she could not be happy, but now she realizes that she has learned to do without Mark. Her marriage was unpremeditated, for she had determined not to marry any more, and she begins to find that her hasty action does not bring her contentment. One factor in her dissatisfaction is the changed attitude of John Anderson, who she begins to believe must suspect something has happened. Anderson has advised Sondra and helped her financially, somewhat as a guardian, but underneath she has believed that he cared for her. He can not tell her about this, since he is married, living apart from his wife. He tells Sondra one evening that he is going abroad. She lives now with her married sister, Flora, who herself married for money.

Chapter 14 NEWS OF JOHN

SOMETIMES Sondra took out her wedding ring and looked at it, wondering if it really belonged to her—it seemed such an eternity since that hurried ceremony—that brief honeymoon. Mark had written from the only port the ship had touched—a long passionate letter which she knew almost by heart, and yet there again she had the unreal feeling that it was merely something beautiful and quite apart from herself—this love of which he wrote so eloquently. Of course if the door opened and he suddenly came in everything would be just as it was when they parted—she would recapture the old joy and happiness. Sondra closed her eyes for a moment and tried to visualize his face, but somehow even that seemed to evade her. She sighed and turned restlessly away. Flora was out—when was she ever at home?—and for once in her life Sondra had an empty afternoon. It was too wet to go out, and there was nowhere that she wanted to go.

"John gets in at six forty," Cass said. "John!" Sondra said. She had turned slightly pale.

John Anderson was still abroad; she had heard from him once or twice—from Paris, Vienna—Berlin—short, friendly letters which told her little or nothing, except that he was moving about and could give no fixed address except his bankers. It was strange that she should miss him more than she missed Mark. It worried her, too, because it seemed all wrong that the man whom she loved and whose wife she seemed to have faded into a far horizon, while the other, for whom she cared nothing, was always in her thoughts. "It's because I'm so used to him," was the explanation she found. "There was always John to turn to—it's unkind of him to have stayed away so long."

She lit a cigarette and took up a rotogravure section, listlessly turning the pages. The same old photographs of society people—opening bazaars, smiling into the camera with babies on their laps, dressed up in fancy costumes for charity performances, vying with each other for the most publicity. Sondra yawned; if only something new and exciting would happen! She flicked over another page and found herself looking at John Anderson. "Mr. John Anderson, the well-known financier, and Miss Nathalie Symons—at Biarritz."

Stranger-In-Town Declares That Beaten Candidates Good Sportsmen

BY FELIX PHILLIPS

From incomplete returns, it appears that Gray county has voted strongly for re-submission of the prohibition question. But will all who vote for re-submission vote for an outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment? We have always heard that gasoline and whiskey won't mix, and it's likely to be dangerous to be on the highway if prohibition is repealed outright and the saloons return. In our humble opinion, if the saloon returns as in the old days, we'd have a good chance to learn whether human blood and "hube" oil will mix, too, for there will be lots of each of them spilled on our highways.

Don't fail to see Jean Harlow in "Red Headed Woman" if you want to see a real, up-to-now ten-timing gal. If you're the sort of a person who likes this sort of a thing, then this show is the sort of a thing you'll like. We liked it A-1. Harry, down here at the office, is our chief adding machine man during election times, and he's worn to a frazzle. He said the third time he wore and broke on his index finger hurt awfully bad. He said that he held up pretty good at the adding machine until Murray Freundlich insisted on sitting on his shoulder Sunday night, so he could get the results first hand, and Harlow I can get a little sleep."

YES, MA'AM, WE DO TRY TO BE HELPFUL

Women who patronize Conoco Service Stations are delighted with the courtesy and helpfulness of Conoco salesmen. There is nothing forward or obtrusive about their service, but it has the little touches of respect and thoroughness that make it pleasing. Conoco men always see that your windshield is polished clean, that your tires are checked accurately and that the radiator is filled... without splashing. They are glad to furnish battery water, if you desire. Women are especially pleased with the spotless, plainly marked Conoco rest-rooms which are available for them. Women who are traveling by car find Conoco service invaluable. At any Conoco station they can learn the condition of near-by roads, receive accurate mileage and route information, obtain dependable road maps and authentic details about local hotels, camps, sports and sources of supplies. The Conoco man will check packages and arrange to handle mail and telegrams. All of these services are free, of course; not only free, but rendered with a spirit that leaves no doubt that the Conoco man is eager to be helpful.
