COURT

The trial of Joe Mitchell, under indictment for daylight burglary of Stanley Kretzmeier's house, opened this morning in 31st district court with the defendant acting as his own attorney.

At noon, the state had introduced evidence through Sheriff Lon L. Blanscet and Mr. Kretzmeier, and the defendant had called E. R. Turman and Mrs. Marie Mitchell to the stand.

The sheriff testified that he seized merchandise valued at several thousand dollars at the Mitchell home 5 miles south of Pampa last week. Kretzmeier said he identified some of the merchandise, including clothing, canned meats, and other food products, as being the same that was stolen from his house in April.

Jurors in the case were Ben Anderson, A. T. Wilson, Bud Gull, C. C. Sloan, Roy McCracken, W. B. Henry, W. C. Mitchell, W. E. James, C. M. Jones, W. T. Wilkerson, J. W. Spangler, T. N. Holloway.

REPUBLICANS TALK MUCH OF 2-PARTY RULE

Party Management Is Highly Praised Today

MINERAL WELLS, May 24 (P)—A declaration that Texas would become a two-party state was made before the state presidential convention of republicans of Texas here today by U. S. Goen of El Paso, temporary chairman.

Chief business of the convention was selection of 49 delegates to the national convention at Chicago. It was fore-ordained that they would be favorable to president Hoover.

Loud applause greeted R. B. Creager's declaration that republicans would carry Texas for President Hoover this year as they did in 1928.

GRAND JURY'S REPORT CRITICAL

OFFICIALS OF COUNTY GIVEN SUGGESTIONS

POLL TAX PAYMENTS ARE CLAIMED TO BE FAULTY

WAGE SCALE CRITICIZED

FELONY INDICTMENTS NUMBER 47 IN TERM

Sharp criticism of certain practices by county officials was placed in the report of the 31st district grand jury, which concluded its work yesterday.

E. G. Barrett, foreman, submitted to Judge W. R. Ewing the following report: To the Honorable W. R. Ewing, District Judge of the 31st, Judicial District:

We, the Grand Jury, which was duly impaneled at the March term of this District Court, beg to make the following report:

We have been in session thirty-seven days, examined two hundred and sixty witnesses, returned forty-seven indictments of which forty-six were felonies and one misdemeanor.

We have gone into and investigated all law violations that have been brought to our attention and some testimony seemed strong enough to warrant a conviction, an indictment was returned.

We find that there are many people in our county who are violating the laws, some thru ignorance, some thru carelessness and some thru habit or practice which was in early days not considered as a violation, but yet it is. We find others who seem to have a disposition to openly violate and disregard the law.

The various irregularities which we find are most commonly practiced consist of the following items, none of which we consider more important than the others:

We find that the law with regard to the paying of poll taxes and issuing of receipts has been greatly abused and disregarded, both by our citizenship and by our county officials. We recommend that poll tax receipts be issued only in strict accordance with the law so that our ballot boxes may be kept clean and our elections held in all fairness to the people.

The district attorney's office is badly handicapped in the handling of beer cases, due to the fact that

TICKET PRICE WILL ADVANCE ON THURSDAY

COUNTY ATTORNEY WILL TAKE STEPS TO CLOSE "POOL HALLS" —GRAND JURY URGES ACTION

County Attorney Sherman White said this morning he would file injunctions immediately to close all "pool halls" in the county.

NATIONAL GUARDSMEN ASSEMBLE ONLY TO FIND VETERAN "ARMY" PEACEFUL

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., May 24. (P)—Six units of national guard troops arrived here today, prepared to prevent any disorder at Caseyville, Ill., where 300 world war veterans of a "bonus expedition" had held up a Baltimore & Ohio freight train for 12 hours because they were refused a ride to Washington.

However, need for troops apparently had passed, as the veterans at Caseyville, eight miles from here, had released the train and were peacefully camped in a railroad yard.

Sheriff Jerome Manie of St. Clair county ended the "box car blockade" by promising the veterans they would be provided with transportation by automobile and motor truck to Washington, Ind. Once there, leaders of the group hope to obtain free boxcar transportation to the capital, where they will undertake to present to congress their plea for passage of a cash bonus bill.

The "expedition," organized at Portland, Ore., traveled by freight trains to St. Louis, but after it had crossed the Mississippi river it found its progress blocked by determination of Baltimore & Ohio railroad officials to prevent the group's riding on trains of that line. Until last night, the railroad had moved eastward only one freight train since arrival of the veterans Saturday.

HUNDRED AND FIFTY COWBOYS AND COWGIRLS ARE EXPECTED TO ENTER RODEO EVENT HERE

Myrtle Butler's Is First Name On Big List

Cowboy and cowgirl entrants in the big rodeo attraction in connection with the Frontier Days celebration Thursday, Friday and Saturday started registering at noon today in the office of Sheriff Lon L. Blanscet at the courthouse.

Registration will continue until noon Thursday. Mr. Blanscet believes that 150 cowboys and cowgirls will be here to compete in the various events. Several all-around entrants are here and others are enroute. Specialists are also on hand. There are at least 50 entrants here now.

Five unexpected entries arrived yesterday from Pawhuska, Okla. It reported that two more Calgary, Cal., bronc riders arrived this morning, but they had not registered early this afternoon. Other entrants from Pampa and Gray county are expected before closing time.

Barbecued meat to feed 15,000 persons Friday noon will be prepared by Mel B. Davis. The barbecue will be served west of the Harvester football field. Chutes to care for 12 lines of visitors are being erected. It is believed that 15,000 persons will be able to pass through the chutes in less than two hours. Earl Talley will be in charge.

One man will stand at the entrance to each chute and pass out plates. Each chute will have two men in charge of barbecued beef, pickles, onions, and accessories.

Municipal Band Plans Concerts

The Frontier Days celebration will be enlivened with music each day by the municipal band, practice for this contribution having taken place for many weeks under the direction of E. E. "Pop" Frazier.

Dr. E. A. Webb has everything lined up for the big parade. He needs more floats, however. Only decorated floats and cars will be allowed in the parades which start at 10 o'clock Thursday and Saturday mornings.

J. P. Wehrung. "Certain persons are now operating in Gray county what is known as pool halls as that term is defined by the laws of our state," the report stated. "The operation of pool halls is a violation of the law and we earnestly request that you take such steps as are required by law to close the pool halls and that you keep the same closed during your tenure of office."

NEW JERSEY'S HUGE REWARD IS AVAILABLE

STATE HOPES TO GET "LEAD" BY THIS METHOD

JAFSIE HAS MESSAGE

CALLS ON "JOHN" TO ACCEPT REWARD OFFERED

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 24. (P)—The state offered $25,000 reward today in the hope some one with inside knowledge would "sneak" and break the Lindbergh murder mystery wide open.

The reward measure passed the legislature at Trenton overwhelmingly last night and Governor A. Harry Moore signed it and issued a proclamation today.

"No crime has ever tugged at the heartstrings of the world as has the kidnaping and killing of the Lindbergh baby," said Senator Emerson L. Richards of Atlantic county.

"The world is waiting to see what New Jersey is going to do. Under the circumstances we are justified in offering this large reward."

BECKETT, Mass., May 24. (P)—Dr. John F. Jafsie of Condon, Lindbergh ransom negotiator, who came here yesterday with Walter C. Goodwin of the Bronx, N. Y., to the summer shack of the latter, today through a representative of a Springfield newspaper, dictated a message to the mysterious "John" to whom the area leader tossed $50,000 of Colonel Lindbergh's money in a Bronx cemetery.

The message was as follows: Dr. Condon had been informed that the New Jersey legislature had voted to offer a reward of $25,000 for information leading to the identity of the abductors and killers of the Lindbergh baby.

The message was as follows: "John: Money I gave you is useless. You can't get rid of it. Return to Colonel Lindbergh in time. Get your $25,000 reward." (Signed) Jafsie.

MORE OFFICERS IN "CITIZENSHIP ARMY" NAMED

General C. Herbert Walker of the Better Citizenship army has enlisted R. S. "Bob" Brashears as colonel of the Doughboys division of his army, which will consist of two battalions. R. S. McConnell will take over the command of the heavy artillery with one battalion. Olin E. Henkle will be a colonel in command of the Gas troops.

The army will promote better scouting in Pampa. The drive will start sometime next month with a breakfast. The officers have yet to open their enlistment campaign.

Miss Myrtle Ethel Seeds is now connected with the Adobe Walls Council with offices here. In the absence of C. A. Clark, executive, Miss Seeds will be in charge and will issue the necessary papers and forms to Scouts and scoutmasters.

District Attorney Raymond Allred attended federal court in Amarillo this morning.

SAM RAYBURN CHOSEN AFTER BITTER FIGHT

WETS AND DRIES YELL AND HISS DURING SPEECHES

CALM FINALLY REIGNS

ALL UNITED TO BOOST SPEAKER AS NEXT PRESIDENT

HOUSTON, May 24. (P)—Congressman Sam Rayburn of Bonham, close personal friend of Speaker John N. Garner, was elected temporary chairman and keynoter of the Texas democratic convention today.

Charles I. Francis of Wichita Falls, who had been put forward in opposition to Rayburn for the position by an element seeking a declaration on repeal of the 18th amendment, withdrew his name from the convention and conceded Rayburn's election after about one-third of the counties had voted a preference for Rayburn.

Francis said he was leaving the field to Rayburn in the interest of harmony and in order that Texas could put up a solid front for the Texan for president. His suggestion that the convention make the Rayburn choice unanimous was adopted in an ovation.

Francis' suggestion to Rayburn came after a bitter and wet and dry fight projected by a faction urging a declaration on prohibition. Francis is against national prohibition and favorable to local option determination of that issue.

Francis was advocated by a liberal element in the party headed by Senator W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales, an outspoken wet. That faction during pre-convention activities had advanced Hopkins for keynoter.

Four More Men Are Cleared at Conspiracy Case

AMARILLO, May 24. (P)—Testimony in the trial of a group of Gray county men, charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, was concluded in United States district court shortly before noon today and the argument of counsel was opened.

At the conclusion of the testimony, government prosecutors moved for the dismissal of charges against four of the defendants, O. T. Smith and Lee Banks, former deputy sheriffs, and Louie Baker and Scott Vincent, charged with dealing in liquor.

Leslie Saiter, assistant attorney general, said the first three should be dismissed because of the statute of limitation. He said there was insufficient evidence against Vincent.

Attorneys already had agreed on instructed verdicts for C. E. Pipes, former deputy, and Arthur Cornett.

I SAW--

A panoramic photograph of Pampa in 1918 on display in the window of the City Barber shop on Kingsmill. The photograph was taken from the coal chute. A little snow was on the ground in Roads, former streets, led to the homes of Dr. Purviance and L. C. McMurtry, the latter now the Tom Rose home. There was nothing between Gray street and Mr. Hobart's house. The picture showed every building in town, as every one could be counted in five minutes.

Old-time clothes on display in Mitchell's windows. These included Mrs. Claude Ledrick's wedding dress, a Paisley shawl 100 years old, a waist with mutton leg sleeves owned by Mrs. T. D. Hobart. An 1890 dress owned by Mrs. Ledrick. Old time furniture are also on display.

James (The Great) Groom just before he left this morning for Burger where he said he was going to build a wire fence. Jim, Pampa high school's No. 1 wisecracker and rascal, told the sheriff to be sure and put "Twenty-one Years" on the Frontier Days program.

WASHINGTON — The gentlewoman from New Jersey, the first of her sex to become chairman of a major congressional committee, is fast proving to her colleagues that she can tilt with the best of them on the floor.

Mrs. Mary Norton, chairman of the important house committee on the District of Columbia and referred to in the capital as the "mayor" of Washington, is no novice in politics. "On the hill" veterans will tell you that the black-haired, flashing-eyed Mrs. Norton plays at politics just like a man. She neither asks nor gives quarter.

She likes to use the time honored words and phrases of the politician whereas she is addressing a polite society of women or making an old-fashioned stump speech.

Shouted Down
Mrs. Norton's first appearance before the house in the role of a committee chairman was not particularly auspicious. She found herself a victim of parliamentary maneuvering, loud shouting and other things that sat her down in rather harsh fashion.

Whether the gentlewoman just wasn't capable of weathering the rough and tumble situations which a committee chairman trying to jam a bill through must undergo.

Whether the gentlewoman from New Jersey heard these predictions is not a matter of record. But judging from the manner in which she has conducted her subsequent appearances on the floor, something of this nature must have been bought to her attention.

Texas, one of the house's hardest hitters in debate, put himself in her way to oppose some of the bills.

She Tells Blanton
Blanton, an expert at scooting around the rules to get time to talk, succeeded in getting the floor for a whole hour at one time. He proceeded to talk about almost everything but District legislation.

There was nothing Mrs. Norton could do but register impatience and disgust at Blanton's tactics. Her anger increased with each minute. Finally, she arose and shot at him:

"Does the gentleman from Texas think that he is doing an honest day's work?"

Blanton countered with some remark, and she blazed out again:

"Well, you're not fair with our committee!"

NEED FOR LEADERSHIP

Congress has come in for some pretty hard words lately. For the most part, it has deserved them. Its performance in the last few months has not been the sort of thing that can be pointed to with a great deal of pride; the antics it has performed in connection with the matters of budget-balancing and economy are hard to contemplate without a severe pain.

But Congress, after all, has been getting a little bit more censure than it really has coming.

For the chief trouble with Congress has been that it has been faithfully reflecting the conflicting and confused sentiments of the people back home. The blame that we have been giving Congress must, in the last analysis, rest on all of us.

Has Congress approached the taxation problem in the manner of a chicken with its head cut off? So have all the rest of us, from one coast to the other.

Has Congress had a fearful dismal time trying to decide just where money can best be saved in the federal budget? It has simply been trying to respond to the wishes of its constituents, who are as far from unanimity on this problem as they possibly could be.

Congress, in short, has been a perfectly adjusted gauge for the wind of public opinion. That wind, unfortunately, has been blowing from all points of the compass at once, of late; but when that happens it is hardly fair to blame all of the subsequent gyrations on the gauge itself.

The chief trouble, perhaps, is that in the past few decades we have stuck too closely to the notion that a congressman ought to reflect the desires of the voters back home. He should do that, certainly; but he should also think for himself, at times, and be capable of following his own best judgment even when he knows his constituents won't agree with him.

We have representative government, and it may be that it is just a shade too representative. At a time when all of us are as confused as we are now, we don't want someone to take our orders. We want someone to lead us.

Madrigal Club Program Given as Musical Treat

CANYON, May 24 (SP)—A new type of program meriting the attention which it received from music lovers was heard by students and visitors of the West Texas State Teachers college recently when D. A. Clippinger of Chicago was guest conductor for the second annual concert of the Canyon Madrigal club. The club is directed by Mr.

Wallace R. Clark, head of the local college music department.

The Canyon Madrigal club is the outstanding a capella club in the entire southwest, and perhaps the only purely madrigal organization in this section of the United States. It has been in existence for many years but only recently has come to function in its annual concerts. It is noteworthy that his organization has had the privilege of having Mr. Clippinger for its guest conductor. New impetus was added this year when upon the disbanding of the Chicago Madrigal club its library, the largest and most selective in the country was secured by the local club. The progress and development of this organization is due to its local conductor, Mr. Wallace R. Clark, who is an authority on madrigal music. To Mr. Clark rests credit for the entire preparation of the club for the concert and his success is attested by the praise of his hearers.

The program opened with representative early 16th and 17th century madrigals including works of Arcadelt, Lassus, Lefevre, Morley, Palestrina, and Purcell. English and modern compositions made up the last part of the program. Several of the latter were prize winning arrangements of the competition for madrigal writing sponsored by the Chicago Madrigal club during its long period of existence under Mr. Clippinger's direction. The feature of the program was an address by Mr. Clippinger on "Madrigals and Madrigal Singing." Mr. Clippinger has the enviable reputation of being perhaps the foremost American madrigal authority. His citing of the development of the madrigals and the singing of them, and his appeal for a renewed interest in the great type of music was inspiring and enlightening to his listeners. Mr. Clippinger expressed himself as being in sympathy with the teacher, and in commending the efforts of the local society pleaded for greater interest in the performing of music as well as in the listening.

The program reached an unusual perfection of performance for a student group, the personnel being made up of students and other local music lovers. The entire concert was performed with dignity and color, and the interpretation had authority and clarity of true madrigal singing. The tone lines were smoothly woven, the attacks were neat, and the sure intonation reflected that the singers had acquired a familiarity with the complexities of these works and a rather sensitive understanding of the varying themes.

MORE THAN FOUR HUNDRED PRESENT AT SCHOOL PICNIC

Helped Father Kill Coyotes

TEACHERS ARE HONOR GUESTS AT GATHERING

LUNCHES ARE SPREAD; PROGRAM GIVEN LATER

A crowd of more than 400 persons gathered at Woodrow Wilson school for the closing of school picnic last evening. Members of the Parent-Teacher association were hostesses for the occasion, each being given some special duty to perform. The event, held in the auditorium, was a farewell courtesy to teachers of the school, most of whom are leaving soon for vacations or study. Each family brought an elaborate picnic lunch, which was served buffet style with iced tea and Coca Cola as the first feature of the evening. The informality of the serving was conducive to a spirit of good fellowship.

Supt. R. B. Fisher was principal speaker for the occasion. He stressed the importance of cooperation between all groups which have any connection with the school, and commended the Parent-Teacher association for its work during the last year.

Entertainment included a banjo and piano number by Vera Springer and Miss Iva June Willis, two numbers by Woodrow Wilson Rhythm bands, a piano solo by Walden McCallister, and a vocal solo by Wanda Lee Dunlap, accompanied at the piano by Miss June Willis.

'WEAR A POPPY'

"Wear a poppy to honor the World War dead and to aid the war disabled," will be the request heard by millions of Americans from smiling young women of the American Legion Auxiliary on "Poppy Day," Saturday, May 28. Here is one of the auxiliary poppy workers as they will appear when they take the streets throughout the country on "Poppy Day" 100,000 strong. In her hand is a basket of paper poppies made by disabled veterans and on her coat is the official poppy button of the auxiliary, showing that she is working as an unpaid volunteer and that every penny paid her for poppies goes to the welfare of the disabled men and their families.

Mrs. Chastain Favors Group

Yellow and white were emphasized in an attractive party given by Mrs. Ray Chastain recently for members of the No-Trump Bridge club. Miss Gay Fager was favored for high score in the games and Miss Mary Patton for consolation. Dainty refreshments included deviled egg sandwiches, pineapple salad, and iced lemonade.

Those attending were Misses Bonnie Patton, Ruby Brown, Mary K. Martin, Eufalia Barker, Ouida Brandon, Mary Patton, Gay Fager, and Georgia Sanders; Mesdames Charles Ford, T. A. Robinson, Paul Poole (special guest), and the hostess.

The club will meet June 2 with Mrs. Charles Ford.

New Officers Begin Duties

New officers of the city council of Parent-Teacher associations took up their duties at a short business meeting held by the council yesterday afternoon in the school cafeteria. Those attending were Mrs. J. B. Townsend, president (re-elected); Mrs. H. G. Myers, vice-president; Mrs. O. E. Palmer, secretary; Mrs. J. B. Knapp, treasurer; Mrs. W. R. Ferguson, historian.

It was reported that all debts had been paid and that some money remained in the treasury.

RATE WAR STOPPED

ST. LOUIS, May 24 (AP)—A decision to end a rate-cutting war, by returning to regular rates today, was reached at a meeting here yesterday of representatives of bus transportation lines in the southwest. H. H. Morgan of the Western Pickwick lines, who announced the decision, said virtually all bus lines except his had cut rates by one-third in some instances, between St. Louis and Memphis, Dallas, Little Rock, Kansas City and other points.

WHEN A DOG BITES A PERSON, THAT'S NOT NEWS, BUT—

BABY BITES THE DOG!

Mary Ann Ward, year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ward of San Angelo, Texas, heard somewhere that when a man bites a dog his news—so here she is, trying to break into somebody's front page.

AMUSEMENTS OF YEARS AGO ARE RECALLED

MANY BOX SUPPERS AS BENEFIT EVENTS WERE HELD

Coons, wild turkeys, bob cats, coyotes, and a white rabbit with pink eyes—those are some of the earliest recollection of Mrs. H. H. Heiskell, who has lived all her life in this section of the country. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lard and was born in a log cabin on what is now the E. E. Reynolds ranch on the Canadian river.

Mrs. Heiskell remembers the coons because they frightened her by playing on top of the cabin at night.

As for the white rabbit with pink eyes, it was seen one day in the yard of the Long home.

Helped Her Father War was declared on the bob cats, which were a menace to the chickens. So Mrs. Heiskell, then a 6-year-old child, carried a lantern while her father went in search of these cats.

She also helped her father when he hunted and killed coyotes. At that time she was living in a house which is still standing in a grove of chinaberries at the head of the Indian creek in Roberts county.

When a coyote den was found it was the duty of Mrs. Heiskell to stand outside and give a signal in case the father coyote should approach. The young animals were taken to the old hack, where they were killed and skinned. A $1 bounty was offered for each scalp.

PICNIC CONTESTS RESULT IN NEW RECORDS ON SUNDAY

Hailed as a hero by members of the railroad commission, W. E. Hamilton is receiving congratulations quite modestly this week.

It all happened at a picnic held by the commission Sunday afternoon at the Kewanee picnic ground when Mr. Hamilton made 22 home runs, helping Jack Dunn's soft ball team score a victory of 65-2 against Miss La Verne Ballard's team at the end of the third inning, when darkness called a halt to the game. Mrs. Dunn was pitcher and Zeno Ingram was catcher for the Dunn team, while Gene Green was pitcher and Miss Polly Mitchell catcher for the Ballard team.

Charles I. Hughes and Jack Dolan were declared winners in a horse shoe tournament.

Real Chicken Eater Jack Dolan was champion in a chicken eating contest after continuing to devour the fowl for 3 hours and 20 minutes. Jack Dunn was the runner-up with 3 hours and 10 minutes to his credit.

The crowd declared Miss La Verne Ballard consumed 1 1/2 gallons of ice cream and ate 2 dozen green onions at the same time. Hence she was named the world's champion ice cream eater.

Special guests were Miss Kathleen Guinn, Mrs. Christine Smith, Fred Thompson, Miss Marbaugh, Leon Robinson, Tom McGarrity, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Hughes.

Convention Hall Almost Dark as Houston Conserves Electricity

HOUSTON, May 24 (AP)—Former Governor James E. Ferguson and Pat M. Neff were representing the exes in the Democratic state convention today.

Former Governor Dan Moody had not appeared. It was evident he had decided to leave the convention to his own troubles this time although four years ago at Beaumont he was a directing figure.

Former Governor Ferguson was a delegate from Collin county. Former Governor Moody had been sent to the convention as a delegate from Williamson county. His home, after the Travis county group decided that no one should go who did not attend their precinct convention.

Ferguson said he had been put on from ten counties.

Houston is conserving its electricity. The auditorium where the convention met is in semi-darkness. Newspapermen trying to write copy were handicapped. The electrician said he had plugged in all the switches, but still the big hall was almost dark.

Haygood Ashburn of the chamber of commerce was rustling around trying to make everyone comfortable.

T. L. Tyson of Robertson county, district attorney who tested Texas' late cotton acreage reduction law, was one of the delegates.

Dr. E. P. Shelton, member of the Texas house of representatives from Dripping Springs, was competing with Lon A. Smith, member of the Texas legislature, for the big family prize. Dr. Shelton has 13 children. Smith and Dr. Shelton were even.

Miss Mairaine Ford of White Deer visited here during the week end.

HIGH FLYERS TAKE NOTICE

Balloonists will go straight up in the air when they see this, for it there's one thing that makes 'em soar, it's a basketful of beauty like the one pictured here. Shown above are five Omaha girls, selected as sponsors for the National Balloon Races at Omaha, May 27 to May 30. They are, left to right, the Misses Alice Foye, Jane Ellis, Clyde Butler, Jean Redick and Alice McDermott. The racing balloon basket is a souvenir of a national balloon race of more than a decade ago. It's done quite well since it's settled down, don't you think.

SIXTY CHURCH WOMEN ATTEND MEETING HERE

METHODIST W. M. S. IS TO HOLD SUMMER GATHERINGS

The last spring business meeting for the Methodist W. M. S. was attended by about 60 women yesterday afternoon. The group will continue meeting during the summer, but the time was changed from 2:30 to 3:30 o'clock. Devotional was led by Mrs. Joe Shelton and Mrs. Mary Burke led in prayer. Garner Forges To More Importance In National Race

By The Associated Press Speaker John N. Garner steps more forcefully into the race for the democratic presidential nomination today as the Texas state convention formally pledges its 46 convention votes to him.

While this action has long been taken for granted, the neck-and-neck drive of wets and dries for control of the convention drew interest sharply to the southwest.

Selection of this delegate block runs Garner's total to 90 and pushes him from fifth to third place in pre-convention strength. Alfred E. Smith has 94, not counting his unknown strength in New York and Pennsylvania, while Franklin D. Roosevelt holds the dominant total of 468 delegates, excluding 105 claimed by those two eastern states.

Roosevelt's campaign managers are adding Delaware 9 votes to his column today despite the precedents for the state sending unstructured delegations.

The soaring delegate total of President Hoover also has surplus strength coming from Texas today. Naming by the state convention of its 49 votes for the chief executive brings his total to 621, or 53 more than the majority required to nominate.

FLIER SEES WALES LONDON, May 24 (AP)—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam paid a visit to the Prince of Wales at St. James' palace this afternoon at the prince's invitation. It was a signal honor for the slim and serene young flier who landed near Londonderry, Ireland, last Saturday and thus became the first woman ever to conquer the Atlantic by airplane without the help of a man in the pilot seat.

MUCH ABILITY INDICATED BY RECITAL HERE

PUPILS OF MRS. CARR AND MRS. WILSON PRESENTED

Guests were free to come and go throughout an extended program given by about 60 piano pupils of Mrs. May Foreman Carr and Mrs. Ramon Wilson last evening at the Methodist church.

During the observance of national music week, the fact that Pampa ranks far above the average in musical talent was brought to music lovers in concrete form, and the program last evening emphasized the fact that Pampans will not be lacking in musical ability for years to come. Although most of the participants were young people, many of them children, the entire performance progressed smoothly and with considerable merit.

Especially noticeable was the splendid tone quality in the selection to a Wild Rose, played by Harriet Hunkapillar.

The recital was given in two parts, the first featuring primary pupils and the second including the advanced group.

Pampans Flagged Train Years Ago

Railroads may be one of the chief prizes of Pampa today, but Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lard and family can well remember when it was impossible to catch a train here without flagging it. It was that method they used 38 years ago when they drove into Pampa from their ranch home to take a train for Graham.

Mr. Lard and Mrs. Lard (then Miss Annie Newby) came to this section in '81 with their respective families.

FANCY LIQUORS SEIZED TODAY

AUSTIN, May 14 (AP)—Apprehension of a liquor truck driver that he would be arrested, led to the capture early today by state highway patrolmen of a truck loaded with imported fancy liquors inside the city limits of Austin. The driver escaped.

The cargo was valued at between $40,000 and $50,000.

L. G. Phares, chief of the state highway patrol, said he believed the liquor was being sent from Temple to San Antonio. State rangers last week raided a warehouse in Temple in the belief a large liquor ring was operating out of that city.

The truck was placed in charge of Texas rangers and parked on a street running near the capital.

Hooks and Slides

BY WILLIAM BRAUCHER

The Will to Win

Bill Roper is generally credited with saying "the team that won't be beaten can't be beaten." The crack has become as well worn as the one about "when you carry an umbrella, it never rains." But there's more than a grain of truth in it at that.

Some of the most inspiring triumphs in sports have been scored by fair to mediocre teams with the will to win. Those pennant-winning Braves of 18 years ago had such a team. The club was in last place July 4, but it not only won the pennant but licked the great 1914 Athletics four straight. And now look at the Cincinnati Reds!

They're on Fire

The Reds are ablaze with the ambition to win. They have breathed the hot spark of invincibility and there is no telling how far they'll go with it. A pennant? Well, on some days you have to think they'll win it.

It is a team that has begun to believe it shouldn't lose. Every player on the team is convinced the Reds are destined to win. It is hard to beat a team imbued with the idea of its own greatness. Mediocre pitchers become mighty moundmen. Punt hitters acquire the illusion that all pitchers are their cousins. What is only a fair infield on paper becomes a marvelous defensive machine on the field.

Ready to Fight

The Reds are ready to fight. They have shown it, coming into the bases with spikes flying. They are actually sore at teams that take the lead in a game with them. The players are not only willing but anxious to toss their best Sunday punches at their opponents.

The team is taking every advantage it can get. Leo Durocher, castoff Yankee shortstop, came

But it is by such punishments that a team's morale is often measured. Now the

ASKS PROHIBITION

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—In a move to get an early vote on resubmission of the prohibition issue, Senator Bingham (R., Conn.) today introduced a resolution for repeal of the 18th amendment and will seek to bring it up at the first opportunity.

whole team takes the attitude that somebody had better get out of its way, or there's going to be trouble.

Fans Inflamed

The fighting spirit has spread into the stands. It required a riot call to restore order in a recent game with the Giants and, when the blowoff came, with a shower of pop bottles, the Giants were ahead by eight runs.

In the first half of the inning, Hughie Critz, trying to stretch a triple into a home run, spiked Catcher Lombardi's hand. The big Italian was led from the field, his fingers streaming with blood. The stands growled.

Asbjornsen, or "Asby" as he is called, replaced Lombardi. In the Reds' half of the inning, Asby grounded to Critz who raced over and slid into first base, with his spikes well out in front of him. Asby slid into the bag the same way.

Umpire Will Klem called the Reds' catcher out. A bellow of rage broke from the stands, followed by a cascade of pop bottles.

Lindstrom and Ott, Giant outfielders, spoke soothingly to embattled discharges, but the only response their oratory won was the raucous cry "Get McGraw!"

Finally Babe Herman, the new Cincy outfielder, ran out to the petulant pavilion shouting, "Fair play, men, fair play!" and the tempest subsided.

Ball clubs invading Redland this year need expect no tea parties. It's going to be a brawl all the way down the line.

Anderson is provider for hundreds of the feathered creatures, and has erected in his garden, said to be the best in the Midwest, numerous houses and feeders which keep his yard filled with flying visitors. Are you ever
"TALKED INTO BUYING" things you DON'T want?

OVER the counter, you know, extravagant claims are so easily made. But remember this—it takes a lot more than a clerk's promise to put quality into any product! » » Then why should you or any other woman ever listen to a clerk who offers you something "just as good" as the thing you ask for? Surely your knowledge of the dependability of widely-used products is worth more to you than all the claims any clerk can make for products of which you know absolutely nothing! » » Whenever you find any store that continually urges you to buy unfamiliar products instead of the reliable brands you ask for, look out! All too often, that merchant reaps an extra profit, or his clerks a commission, by switching you to the unknown, often inferior merchandise. » » Many of the best stores everywhere forbid this practise. When you buy from them you are always sure of getting exactly what you ask for, with full value in the merchandise you want for every penny you spend. » » But if you are urged to buy something "just as good" as what you ask for, be firm! Insist on products you know by experience, by their brand-names, or by the reputations of their makers. You will often read about such products in the advertising columns of this newspaper. » » Think of this whenever you shop. Then you will always get your money's worth in both merchandise and satisfaction.

You Can't Marry

by Julia Cleft-Addams

SYNOPSIS: "I'm going away for a year," Eddie Townsend tells his wife, George. She insists upon keeping her position, although she must pretend she is not married, and that her cousin Jenny is Mrs. Townsend. Jenny makes friends with Gratton Matching, George's eccentric old employer.

Chapter 32

A SOUND INVESTMENT
BECAUSE— Eddie's voice was gruff as he answered Jenny's question—"she only wants what she wants."
"But I expect she is thinking just that of you," ventured Jenny. "And I'm much the same, Eddie—everybody wants their own kind of happiness, really. Oh, I can't bear you and George to be unhappy!"
She looked up at him, troubled by the trouble in his eyes. To her surprise he stooped and kissed her.
"Good kid!" he said. "You didn't mind my doing that, did you? I sometimes wish—" He checked himself, grinned and for the second time ordered her to run home. "You look like an ornament of a Christmas tree in that silver frock. Pretty enough to make anyone want to kiss you."
She turned obediently away. The car had disappeared but she had only a little way to walk.
"This was the hour she loved, the very edge of the night. Flitting shrugged George. "He would only tell you his side of the business, of course. Not that—"

Jenny went to her and took away the cigarette she was trying to light. "I want you to tell me something," she said. "Not about you or Eddie at all."
"Well?"
"May I tell Garth Aveney that it was you and not I who married Eddie on Saturday?"
Under her detaining hands, she felt George start and quiver.
"Jenny, of course you mayn't! What possesses you? Why, I should leave my job there and then! Haven't you been told at Rochester Gate that the Old Man is putting him in full charge? Whatever Aveney might want to do, he wouldn't have any choice—he'd have to fire me."
"But I think I must tell him," persisted Jenny.
George wrenched herself free. "After all I've done for you? Jenny, you simply—you simply can't take my job away from me, Jenny, when it has kept you from starving, and clothed you, and sheltered you! Why, the very frock you've got on—"
"Oh!" cried Jenny, her hands pressed flat against her ears. "Oh, don't! Don't say it, George, it has such an ugly sound!"

"You can't take my job away from me, Jenny, when it has kept you from starving."

through the heavy shadows between the street-lights, her pale skirts gathered out of the dust and the jade and silver of shawl and shoes gleaming and dulling by turns, she knew that men's heads turned to watch her go. Even old Gratton Matching had said it was a pretty thing all that silver. And in Garth Aveney's eyes she had seen that she was lovely, even though for her loveliness he had nothing but a sneer.
She forgot Eddie and the wonder why he should be going back to Mrs. Bligger's alone and with such gounded eyes. Tomorrow she would think about him again and if he and George would let her, she would go on curing him. She felt absolutely certain that she would cure him, in the end. But tonight she must speak to George and George must answer her—and for once they would be talking about Jenny Revell, a grown and lovely woman, and not George's pretty girl.

For the second time that evening they stared at each other like enemies. There was a bewildered sadness in Jenny's heart and—perhaps—its echo in George's. For presently her face twisted up into a trembling smile.
"Something that isn't me is using my mind and my tongue tonight and it's something I loathe as much as you do," she muttered. "I don't mean anything I say and I'd like to take back everything I do. I suppose for once in my life I'm tired right out."
"Yes, you're tired," agreed Jenny, all eagerness to forgive. "It was silly of me to start a discussion like this tonight. Selfish. Don't let's go out, darling, let's—let's—"
George said it for her.
"Let's have a cosy evening together, as we used to do. I'll brew some hot chocolate and we'll drink it in our pajamas on my bed." Lightly, she caressed Jenny's cheek.
"No, on second thoughts, you'll make the chocolate. You've elected yourself housekeeper. I hear."
"Do you mind? Eddie—that is, I thought—"
"I'm very pleased. I'll pay you the ordinary salary, of course, and you'd better take some lessons and get really good at cooking. It's always a sound investment. And I'll pay for the lessons—"
Jenny slipped into the kitchen, smiling a little wryly. What a lot George cared about the money side of everything! Always it was her first comment. Of course, one had to be practical, but surely it was a mistake to emphasize it. Jenny, busy with the chocolate, had a fleet memory of an old man with so much money that he could never spend it all. Gratton Matching—lonely, suspicious, odd.

She wondered whether she was really expected to go and see him tomorrow. She wanted to go; there was a quality about him that—she could not describe it but it was something she needed. Perhaps it was pure friendship. He liked her and she him; and they were both in need of being liked.

"Are you in love?" George asks Jenny tomorrow, suspiciously. But she must not find out.

Sign of the time, perhaps, is this unusual traffic post at Castine, Me. Economically combining seven signs in one, it points out to motorists two streets, an historic fort, a lighthouse, and a golf club, and warns of a bad corner and a speed limit.

PUBLIC FORUM

Mr. H. C. Colley, Chief Deputy Labor Statistics, Austin, Texas. Dear Mr. Colley:

I have just read your letter to Mr. R. O. McDowell, president of the Gray County Home Labor Union, which was published in the Pampa Daily News. In order to make things a little more clear, I wish to give you a few facts relative to this situation.

In the first place, I wish to state that the Fort Worth & Denver Northern R. R., through their contractors and their own organization, have been eminently fair in handling the situation in Gray county. The chamber of commerce has an employment bureau working in connection with the Welfare association, and through the entire construction period, wherever possible, the Denver road has employed our labor in this construction. It has been necessary, of course, for them to furnish their own skilled men and leaders. I wish also to state that we find, after investigation, that they have not employed Mexican labor.

I have not seen the letter written to you from Pampa, but from the tone of your reply, I judge that a number of accusations have been made which cannot be borne out by the facts of the case.
The fact of the matter is that some men in this city have refused to work on this railroad for one reason and another, generally making accusations of unfair treatment and low wages. Only last week, the Denver R. R., which, by the way, is laying its own steel in order to give work to some of their employes that they have been compelled to drop from their organization, also to employ local labor, requested that our Employment Department furnish ten men, and several men who are charging unfairness on the part of the railroad, refused to accept jobs, charging various things, especially that the wages were too low.

It is true we are having difficulty in finding sufficient labor to take care of the many men who are out of work, on the other hand, there has been no unfairness on the part of the railroad, or most of the contractors, during this year, in giving local men work.

I am writing this letter so that you will understand conditions, and suggest that the situation will bear an investigation you might wish to make in your department.
Very truly yours,
GEO. W. BRIGGS, Manager.

(Editor's Note: The above letter is printed to clear up any misunderstanding of the letter printed Sunday by request of H. C. Colley, chief deputy of the state Bureau of Labor Statistics, concerning a petition signed by a number of local men and submitted to Governor Sterling. It should be known that this petition concerned only the use of Mexican labor in this section, and was not an accusation against any particular railroad or contractor. The letter from Chief Deputy Colley at Austin was in reply to a letter from the Gray County Home Labor officials, and as such cannot be construed as a reply to the petition itself. The state's officials' letter did, however, show the statutory limitations upon local and state officials, and was printed for this reason as a public document. We do not think the state official had any intention to construe the petition of citizens and the letter of the labor organization as one and the same. The subjects and the problems are different. The petition of local public officials and business men concerned Mexican labor, a subject on which we quote from a letter from State Deputy Colley—accompanying the letter published Sunday: "In regard to Mexican labor and the proposition that the governor displace members of that nationality from highway and railroad work, it is pointed out in our letter that the chief executive is without authority to take any such action, and may I add here that should he attempt any such action it might result in international complications. This situation is in sharp contrast to that in Mexico. A Mexican law requires that 90 per cent of workers employed by anyone in the republic must be nationals, and that law is rigidly enforced. There is no such law in Texas or the United States." The state's limitation was probably known by most of those who signed the petition, but some improvement could be had by voluntary action on the part of those who employ Mexican labor—in the absence of a law such as Mexico has. We understand that the Burlington system does not use Mexican labor.)

Drys Calling For More Enthusiasm

CHICAGO, May 24 (AP)—The bottle over prohibition moves into the Chicago sector next month with the greatest concentration of forces since the dry laws were enacted. The national political conventions—Republican June 14, Democrat June 27—will be besieged by the campaigners for and against prohibiting midwest ministers to the rally.

Liberal organization, most of them comparatively young, will attempt to show their strength in mass meetings, parades and demonstrations. "Dry" forces have sent out the call for a big three-day "loyalty convention" just in advance of the republican meeting and they hope to recapture the militant spirit of the days when prohibition was being enacted into law. "Unless we retain our enthusiasm the drys will go to sleep and the west will win," reads a letter inviting midwest ministers to the rally.

"The drys must be as alert in defending prohibition as the wets are in attacking it."

TEXARKANA, Ark., May 24 (AP)—Louis Nowlin of Dallas set a new amateur record of 33-36-69 over the Texarkana country club course to take an early lead in the 18-hole qualifying test in the Texas golf association championship here today. Gus Moreland yesterday shot a 69 on the par 70 layout.

Student Essay in Rotary Contest Denounces Selfishness in Warfare

(Editor's note: The following essay took third place in the Pampa Rotary club's essay contest on international relations. It was written by John Schoolfield, high school student.)

The last great war took its tremendous toll of many thousands of lives, to say nothing of five times as many broken hearts. The post-war depression and unbalancing of finances are a big thorn in the side of citizens of the world. But they are as nothing, compared to the disappointment, and bad feeling brought on by war.

War is used by the few, to help the few, to the detriment of many. While English, French, Belgian, and American soldiers were losing their lives in what they believed to be, and in what should have been, right, American financiers were piling up tremendous fortunes in speculation and fraud. They and their people took no active part in the fighting. They did not risk their safety. Did war benefit the "boys" who came back? Probably a very few. The others came back to a world and a nation they did not know. Their problems were different from those of the country which they had left. Many had to seek new occupations, while thousands had to make new homes. America has been good to her soldiers. They have insurance policies handed to them by the government, and the families of the unfortunates in the army are well cared for. The people who did not go across, but who were willing and tried to go, helped the men who came home. A man in a uniform got a job much more easily than a "dacker" or even a man who is "physically unfit." But the men who returned were, nevertheless, hampered in their relationships.

There are several suggested ways of stopping war. The majority of the people believe in stopping it, but do not know how to go about it. A few fanatics call for a "World Republic" like that of the Soviets in Russia. The peoples of the world are now far apart in customs and problems for such a republic. Without a doubt it would be wonderful, but communism would soon ruin human ambition over the globe. The lawmaking body of this republic could not successfully legislate for savages in Borneo and Englishmen in Great Britain at the same time. A world organization, the League of Nations, is perhaps the first step to better settlement of international problems. It will probably grow into a much more powerful body than it now is, but it is hampered by the absence of the United States.

"Peace is desired at any cost," declare a few. "Let us scrap all our armaments, dismiss our armies, and refuse to fight." It seems like a good idea. It thinks the business men who is hard hit by the depression caused by the war. But let us look at it more closely. Would all the nations do this? Would it make the whole world into a brotherhood, or make an isolated man of every citizen? It would destroy our pride, patriotism, and, to some degree, our self-respect and ambition. Citizens of the United States want to stay that way. They do not wish to put their country at the mercy of a nation smart enough to manufacture secretly a war machine strong enough to crush the rest of the world. Scrapping of the battleships, dismissal of the army and navy, and turning of war aircraft to commercial purposes will be a step toward world peace, but it must be the last, not the first step.

How, then, shall the world's peace and security be effected? That can be answered in two words, International friendship. But here we come to another problem. How shall international friendship be brought about? One may look back to time immemorial. The cave man had practically no pride in his locality. The feudal lords had pride only in their castles and immediate vicinities. They hated their own countrymen who happened to live or fifty miles or so from them. Now we have reached another stage: From barbarism to feudalism is a long step, but from feudalism to nationalism is a longer step, even though it has taken less time. We now live in an age of nationalism, loving our fellow citizens, but ready to jump at the throat of a fellow human being of another race because he offends us in attending to his own business. How was nationalism brought about? By strong leaders, faster transportation, and a better understanding of national problems. Nationalism is far removed from barbarism, but not nearly so far as internationalism is from nationalism. The telegraph, steam locomotive, and strong leaders nationalized many people. The radio, airplane, and a great many strong leaders can bring about the ultimate step, internationalism. As along as Americans, with a wheat surplus of several million bushels, and a depressed market, can sit with hands folded and let Chinese die from want of food, there will never be international friendship or a peaceful world. Americans! What is the matter with you? The richest country in the world, who could bring about peace, are content to stay out of the League of Nations, threaten war on the least provocation, and otherwise waste our leadership that could help a great cause. We have let our grandchildren war debts to pay. Why not leave them a peaceful world in which to live? Let us use the radio, television, and airplane to learn nations, teach them our problems so that they can understand them. Let us teach them the principles of peace that our Savior, Jesus Christ, has taught us, and which have been wasted on many an unlistening ear. Let us instill in their souls the elements of understanding each other's problems, and let the tiny germ spread through their minds until they can see the benefits of international friendship. They are peace, financial security, no depression, no famines, and last, but not least, a love for your fellow man, whether his skin be black, yellow, or brown.

This Game of GOLF

By O.B. KEELER

Golfing history has it that "par" was invented on Scotland the night before the British open championship of 1870.

All handicapping systems since then, so far as I know, have been based on the discrepancy between a player's best rounds on a course, averaged, and either par or "bogey" or that course, a hypothetical figure not quite as good as par; about what a good, substantial golfer is expected to score.

That is, all systems were so based until Mr. Max Behr, a couple or three years ago tried out another idea at the Lakeside club near Los Angeles, in which Bobby Jones became interested last spring. The Atlanta Golf association lately has recommended it to the member clubs, most of which now are trying it out.

The old system, based as it was on the average of completed rounds—or proficiency at medal scoring—always has been unsatisfactory in match competition, which constitutes the majority of play in club membership. It is well known that most golfers play the majority of a round with a fair consistency and run their scores up on two or three or four holes.

The new plan takes cognizance of this, just as, under the old system, a player was allowed only a fraction of his full margin of handicap in a match.

Shows Match Strength As in the old system, a specified number of "best" cards is required of a club player—but where, in the old plan, these "best" total scores were averaged, and the par of the course deducted, the result being his handicap, in the new plan the member's play against par is the factor, or against an arbitrary "bogey."

Either method works out to the same result mathematically. In the par method, a player receives credit of one point for every hole played in par, and two points for every birdie. On a par 72 course, for instance, if he does 12 holes in par, with no birdies, his handicap based on that round would be 12 deducted from 18, which is 6, no matter if he collected a couple of 9s and a 7 or two in the other holes. This handicap represents accurately the player's force in a match. If he does all 18 holes in par he is a scratch competitor. If he does six holes in par, one birdie, and the others all above par, his handicap is 18 minus 8, or 10 strokes.

How Bogey Works In the other method, suggested as suitable for clubs with all kinds of players, bogey is a stroke above par on each hole. The member gets one credit for every hole done in bogey, two credits for a birdie (a stroke under bogey), and the total of credits is deducted from 36. This works out just the same for the good player, who of course turns in a card with a lot of two-point birdies along with his bogey scores.

DISCOVERY OF CANCER HARD

The discovery and recognition of beginning cancer is often very difficult. In some instances the type of cancer is such that it presents no early symptoms. In other cases it may be mistaken by the attending physician for something else. Cancer of the rectum, for example, is often treated for months as hemorrhoids or piles. Again, the cancer may be so deep seated or so obscure as to be diagnosed only by the use of special instruments and special procedures in the hands of specially skilled physicians. As a general rule, the earlier cancer is found, the more difficult it is to recognize. When the diagnosis is easy, the disease is usually advanced. The diagnosis of cancer is often delayed by failure of the patient to consult a physician regarding a condition which is thought to be of little importance. On the other hand, the physician sometimes fails to recognize the real significance of suggestive symptoms and neglects to make a thorough examination. In women, the delay is often due to hesitancy in submitting to a proper examination. Wherever suspicious symptoms are present the advice of a physician should be obtained without delay. Any lump in the breast, for instance, demands a prompt investigation. The real cause of an abnormal discharge from any body orifice should be immediately sought. The sore on the nose or lip or face, which does not heal, should never be neglected. Any of these symptoms may mean beginning cancer; and it is therefore very urgent that their true nature be speedily established. The early diagnosis of cancer is, without exception, the most important single factor in successful combating this disease. The most skillful treatment can not atone for the sin of delay. In early diagnosis lies the only hope for cure.

TWO SCIENTISTS PLUNGE TO THEIR DEATHS

Treachorous ice crevasses of Alaska's Mount McKinley, highest peak on the North American continent, have claimed the lives of two more U. S. scientists, Allen Carpe, 36, New York, and his companion, Theodore Koven, 25, of New Jersey, according to reports from Fairbanks. Both Carpe (inset), who was leader of the expedition, and Koven fell into a crevasse. Koven managed to climb out but died of exposure before he was found. Carpe's body was not located. The larger photo above shows Carpe on a previous expedition pictured peering into a crevasse similar to that in which he perished. The expedition was planned to study cosmic rays.

POLITICS at random

BY BYRON PRICE, Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington

Contrary to all expectations congress is preparing to fold up its tents without having contributed a single major issue to the presidential campaign.

In the whole reconstruction program there is not one effective feature which has drawn a tight party line. There is not one which can be pointed to, without arousing great argument, as a strictly republican or a strictly democratic compromise.

Compromise has been the watchword. Legislation has been put together by a patchwork process, and the resulting pattern accepted finally with comparative unanimity but with no great enthusiasm on both sides of the party aisle.

This means, for one thing, that when the national platforms are drafted, they will disclose a vast overlapping in claims. Both sides will try to take credit for all that seems good, and blame the other fellow for all that seems bad.

Party Lines Don't Hold With a republican president, a democratic house, and a dead-locked senate, it had been predicted universally that each party would advance its own program, and then let the people decide in the ensuing election.

Something of the kind was attempted. Republican leaders rejected all suggestions for a "coalition government." The democrats named a steering committee to draft a definite plan of affirmative action.

But party lines just wouldn't hold. One reason was that on neither side did the leaders stand pat. Another was that both sides began to be disturbed by the temper of the country.

The stock market suffered new sinking spells, and whether that really meant anything or not, it had a powerful influence in Washington. President Hoover began demanding immediate action, whether it was exactly his kind of action or not. Speaker Garner went so far as to declare the worst possible taxes were worse than having no tax bill at all.

Leadership, party lines and everything went into the wash, and amid confusion and confusion the government raced and plunged toward its goal of business-bolstering and budget-balancing.

Tariff Doesn't Excite Congress took Mr. Hoover's Reconstruction Finance corporation, but along with it Mr. Hoover took the Glass-Steagall banking bill, bearing the names of two democrats. The house rewrote the Hoover tax bill, then rewrote its own, and finally turned the job over to the senate where more rewriting has been done with a republican secretary of the treasury sitting at the elbow of the republican and democratic leadership.

The economy bill was worked out at discussions between the democratic house and the democratic senate. It is drafting it. Democratic Leader Robinson asked the senate to help the unemployed, and within 24 hours a Robinson-Hoover compromise plan emerged. It is true the democrats did pass, and the president vetoed, a tariff bill. There was quarrelling about it in both parties. Besides, with things as they are, it will not be easy to get the average voter excited this year about an abstract tariff argument.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY, NEA Service Writer

It's all right to be "green"-eyed when you go marketing in the spring-time. There are at least a dozen kinds of leafy greens row obtainable in all city markets. Almost all are rich in iron, sulphur, phosphorus and vitamin A so essential to bodily growth. All supply "roughage" to keep the system vigorous, cleanse and the blood purified. All may be prepared so appetizingly that they should be enjoyed as a food rather than endured as a spring necessity.

There are three major ways of serving leafy greens, with various variations of each. Many may be used raw and all may be cooked and served with a piquant dressing as a salad. Chicory and escarole are more succulent if they are cooked when they are young and of a pale green color. When fully mature the leaves become yellowish and are more palatable eaten raw with any good salad dressing.

Baked Escarole One bunch or two pounds escarole. Tomorrow's Menu BREAKFAST: Sliced fresh pineapple, broiled cottage ham, potatoes hashed in milk, graham muffins, milk, coffee. LUNCHEON: Creamed asparagus with hard cooked eggs on toast, salad of mixed greens, sugared strawberries, milk, tea. DINNER: Hot veal loaf with mushroom sauce, rice nests with currant jelly, glazed carrots, Julienie, tomato and cucumber salad, rhubarb whip, milk, coffee.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

HARRY SERVICE, A SEVEN YEAR OLD BOY, LIVED IN A BADGER'S DEN FOR TWO WEEKS WITH A WILD BADGER.

AUSTRALIA IS ALMOST AS LARGE AS THE UNITED STATES... YET IT HAS LESS POPULATION THAN NEW YORK CITY.

YOUNG HARRY SERVICE, in the year 1871, wandered away from home and became lost. When a storm arose he sought shelter in a badger hole. Later on the badger came and tried to drive the boy from the den, but was unsuccessful. Eventually, the two became friends, and the badger brought food for the boy. Two weeks later the child was discovered, and he cried bitterly when taken from his strange companion. AUSTRALIA, because of its lack of rainfall, can never be made to support a large population. It is the largest island in the world, having an area of 2,975,000 square miles... yet it is the home of less than seven million people.

one, 4 tablespoons fat or butter, 1 bouillon cube, 1-2 cup boiling water, salt, pepper. Blanch escarole by plunging into boiling water for five minutes. This removes excess bitterness. Drain and put into a buttered baking dish. Dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water, add fat or butter and salt and pepper and pour over escarole. The amount of salt depends on the kind of fat you use. If you use bacon fat, less salt will be necessary than if an unsalted fat is used. Cover baking dish and bake in a moderate oven about 25 minutes, until tender. Serve from baking dish. A very simple way to cook beet-greens is with bacon fat and a thick slice of lemon-rind and all. This gives the greens an excellent flavor without the bother of making a tart sauce.

Beet Greens with Lemon Two pounds beet-greens, 4 tablespoons bacon fat, 1-2 lemon, 1-4 cup boiling water, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-8 teaspoon ginger, few grain white pepper, 1-4 teaspoon salt. Wash and chop greens and put into a sauce pan. Mix and sift sugar, salt, ginger and pepper and sprinkle over greens. Cut lemon in two or three slices and add with fat and water. Cover and cook hard for twenty minutes, stirring frequently to prevent sticking. Let stand over a low fire for fifteen minutes. Remove slices of lemon and serve.

When it rains it pours MORTON'S SALT 200,000 devout Catholics stand in the rain before St. Peter's Cathedral, Rome, Italy, awaiting the blessing of Pope Pius XI. If you're tired of struggling with table salts that refuse to pour in damp weather, change at once to Morton's Iodized Salt. Made with cube-shaped crystals, which tumble off one another instead of sticking together like the flake crystals of inferior salts, it pours every bit as freely on rainy days as it does on dry! What's more, it protects children from simple goiter... that common cause of loss of appetite, lack of vigor and backwardness at school. And it costs but 10c a month!

We ducked the detours in all eight states Mrs. Ernest Schumaker and her family, of Salina, Kansas, took a real vacation trip last summer—6,000 miles, through eight Western States. Road construction was going on in every one of the eight states—but the Schumakers ducked the detours! They knew before they started where the turn-off roads were and how to miss them, thanks to a Conoco Travel Bureau routing map. "We missed several awfully bad detours and lots of minor ones by following the trails you mapped out for us," Mrs. Schumaker wrote us. "We traveled 6,000 miles without any trouble whatsoever." Last year, 68,000 motorists asked the Conoco Travel Bureau to help plan and route motor trips in all parts of the United States, in Canada and Mexico. Many thousands more, seeking road information, stopped at Conoco stations, each of which is a Travel Bureau branch. All found the Conoco men along the way their well-informed friends. If you are planning a trip this year, write the Conoco Travel Bureau, Denver. Tell us where you want to go and when. Or, if more convenient for you, fill in one of our applications for this travel service at any Conoco station, and it will reach us without delay. We'll send you—free of charge and without obligation—an official Conoco Passport, excellent road maps with marked routes, illustrated travel literature and other information: Travel "the Conoco way"... duck the detours.

ST. LOUIS BROWNS WITH NEW STYLE ATTACK MENACING

TWO CLEAN-UP BATTERS ARE USED BY NINE

MILT GASTON TURNS IN NICE WIN OVER INDIANS

BY GALE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Browns, winners of seven of their last eight engagements and a brand new American League menace, are having a jolly time disproving one of baseball's oldest maxims—that a club's batting strength must be concentrated midway of the line-up and let the bottom end take care of itself.

Bill Killefer has upset the best traditions by keeping Jim Levey, the club's only .341 hitter, in eighth position, just one step above the pitcher. As a result, the Browns present a sort of "double-barreled" line-up.

There are two separate and distinct "clean-up" batters, Goose Goslin, the club's second-best hitter, in fourth place and Levey in eighth. The Browns yesterday burst loose with five runs in the seventh to come from behind and down Detroit, 7 to 6. Levey made three hits, knocked in a run and scored twice. Goslin's only hit drove in two more.

The day's other best feature in the American League also was witnessed in the west, where Mill Gaston of the Chicago White Sox beat Cleveland, 4 to 0, on two scattered singles.

Red Ruffing's tight relief pitching in the ninth enabled the Yankees to pull out with a 6 to 5 win over the Athletics. Washington's sliding Senators took a 6 to 2 beating from the Boston Red Sox.

Stubbornly refusing to "crack," the Boston Braves fought 10 innings to shade Brooklyn, 5 to 4, and climbed back to the National League top.

The Giants kept hammering away and finally captured a messy affair from the Phillies, 9 to 7. Three pitchers worked for each side. The Giants collected 19 hits and the Phillies 12.

With only the two games scheduled, Chicago slipped back to second place.

Hunkapillar Is New President of Bellyachers Club

Judge Ivy E. Duncan has been deposed as president of the Belly-achers club by C. T. Hunkapillar, former secretary, but the change of officers will not change the plans for holding the Bellyachers golf tournament. Hunkapillar took over the office because he believed he was entitled to the post after his golf disaster of last week.

"Hunky" turned in an 82, or something like that, to be low man of a foursome yet he failed to win a single hole of the 18 played. C. F. Buckler, Clyde Fathere, and Hamp Brown were the winners in the foursome. Ivy stepped out of office without contest, declaring that "Hunky" certainly deserved some honor.

The Bellyachers golf tournament will start or be played next Sunday over the Country club course. It has not been decided whether the tournament will be played in one day or in flights. The tournament will be open to players with the following requirements: 1—The entrant must be a bellyacher and have cause. 2—He must shoot 85 or more. 3—He must have $1. entry fee.

Entries may be made with Mr. Hunkapillar or Hamp Brown, former treasurer, who has stepped into the secretary's office since it was vacated. A treasurer has not been appointed.

MAGNOLIA PLAYERS LOSE BALL UNDER LAMPS, DROP CONTEST TO AMARILLOANS

Burke Pitches Fine Ball in Meet of Way; Support Weakens Toward Last.

Dirty Waller's Amarillo White Sox took 10 innings to beat the Magnolia "Mags" under the arcs in Amarillo last night by a 9 to 8 score. The Pampa boys became moon-eyed looking into the lights for such a long time and committed five errors in the last two innings to allow the Sox to make six runs and tie the score. A "squeeze" play in the 10th won the game.

Burke pitched great ball for the "Mags" and had the Sox down 6 to 2 going into the eighth inning. Only three hits were collected off his delivery up to that time. Nicklaus went the distance for the White Sox but weakened in the fourth when the Pampa boys got to him for a double and two triples to score three runs. Both pitchers allowed 12 hits.

Weathered did the big hitting or the Magnolias with three safe blows in five trips to the plate. He hit a single, double and home run, to cross the plate three times. Baldwin, Shriver and Marshall got two safe hits each. Shriver hit for a double and triple. Pullian got a triple while Ike Lister hit or the circuit.

Jackson and Casey, with three hits each, led the Amarillo attack. Hayden and Bradford followed with

Frank X. Shields Beats Two Rivals

PHILADELPHIA, May 24 (AP)—With test match victories over Ellsworth Vines and Wilmer Allison on successive days, Frank X. Shields, the towering New York tennis star, loomed today as a likely singles contestant for the United States against the Australian team in the Davis cup matches which open here Friday.

The draw to determine the order of play in the two singles matches scheduled for the opening day will be held Thursday noon at the Racquet club.

Longview Happy Over Ball Team

LONGVIEW, May 24 (AP)—Enthusiasm of baseball fans in this east Texas oil boom town reached a high pitch today as they prepared to turn out for their newly-adopted Texas league club's first home series here.

Prospects were excellent for an opening day crowd numbering upward to 7,000 when the Longview team, recently moved from Wichita Falls, clashes tomorrow afternoon with Fort Worth in the first of a three-game series.

Gus Taylor, president of the east Texas chamber of commerce, will toss in the first ball. J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league, arranged to attend.

A voting campaign is being conducted to determine what the team shall be named. To date "Spudgers" is the name under which it went at Wichita Falls, seems to have the call "Carnibal" and other appellations have been suggested.

BEAUMONT IN PAIR OF WINS AT SANTONE

DALLAS GETS ONE AS CATS FAIL WITH WILLOWS

By The Associated Press

The Beaumont Exporters, leading the Texas League with the enviable percentage of .667, maintained their dizzy pace on foreign soil yesterday, sweeping a double-header with San Antonio, 10-9 and 2-1.

Greenberg contributed two homers to the Shippers' double triumph and his teammates supplied an equal number. The Tribe's five errors in the opener hurt. The night-cap was a neat pitchers' battle until Greenberg connected with one of Kowalik's offerings in the sixth with a runner aboard.

Fort Worth dropped another game to the Dallas Steers, who are closest to the Exporters in the pennant chase, 4 to 1. Young Jimmy Minogue, Steer wrong-harder, held the Cats in submission notwithstanding ragged support. The Herd jumped on the venerable Lil Stoner for nine hits and four runs before retiring in the fifth.

Marager George Sisler decided his Tyler Sports had gone without a home victory long enough and he personally remedied the situation. He drove out a homer for the winning tally as the Sports defeated Longview, 2 to 1. His long fly in the first had accounted for the Sports' four run out.

Houston found Galveston as inhospitable as Beaumont, the Bucs coming from behind to win, 7 to 4.

WYKOFF SAYS VICTORY SURE; BEATEN ONCE

Great California Sprinter Is Loser Once Every Season, He Recalls.

LOS ANGELES, May 24 (AP)—One defeat a season means victory to Frank Wykoff, University of Southern California sprinter.

And having lost once this spring, the applicant for a record of 9.4 seconds in the 100-yard dash, looks forward to success in the Olympic games, assuming he will qualify since he has overcome his jinx.

The Trojan flash lost last Saturday in the California intercollegiate championships to "Bullet" Bob Kiesel of the University of California. In his previous successful seasons of 1930 and 1931 Wykoff lost one race a season—to Dyer in 1930 and Eddie Tolan in 1931.

Dean Cromwell, track coach at the University of Southern California, said today he had begun to train Wykoff for the Olympics, hoping to have him at his peak for the international games here in August.

SEVEN YANKS ARE STILL IN GOLF EVENT

FOUR AMERICANS ARE QUICKLY RUSHED ASIDE

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 24 (AP)—The first day's play in the British amateur golf championship swept four Americans into the discard and left seven in the fight for the crown already relinquished by Eric Martin Smith of Royal St. George's.

Leonard Martin of the Apawamis club, Rye, N. Y., eliminated Smith in the first round yesterday. Accompanying him into the second round were Ross Thompson of Uniontown, Pa., and two Americans who live in England, Douglas Grant of Royal St. George's, and Robert Sweeney, member of the Oxford university team.

Darkness prevented three others from playing their first round matches, these being Dave Martin, California champion from Culver City; Charles Sweeney, brother of Robert and also a member of the Oxford team; and John Crane of Brookline, Mass.

Beaten yesterday in the first round were Paul Abbill, former New Jersey golfer who lives in England; Clive Alford of Greenwich, Conn.; Frank Sweeney, uncle of Charles and Robert Sweeney; and Stuart Scheffel, former boys champion, who also lives in England.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

BECAUSE IT DISAPPEARED SO SUDDENLY, THE CAROLINA RAIL ONCE WAS THOUGHT TO TURN INTO A FROG, WHEN WINTER CAME.

A NEGRO, MATT HENSON, ACCOMPANIED ROBERT REARY ON HIS EXPEDITION TO THE NORTH POLE!

FEATHERS ARE MADE OF A MATERIAL UNLIKE ANYTHING ELSE IN NATURE. IT IS NEITHER BONE NOR FLESH, MEMBRANE NOR TENDON.

THE SORA, or Carolina Rail, disappears so mysteriously when cold weather comes, that old-time naturalists believed they turned into frogs, and spent the winter months in the water. Swallows were thought to bury themselves in the mud and become torpid through the cold weather. As an experiment, John Hunter, the English anatomist, shut several swallows in a room and placed tubs of mud at their disposal. Of course the birds died of starvation. As late as the nineteenth century, hibernation of birds was still believed in by many persons.
