HELP US FIND HER

Who is the young lady who made the best "kick" at the Pampa-Amarillo football game? We hereby appoint everybody to represent us in the search. We wish to make proper acknowledgment of her valor. When you find her, telephone the Pampan at once. Help us find the heroine. Read the boxed classic on this page.

It's all over but the voting! Democratic government will unseat tomorrow a man who has had the power of a king. . . You'll learn about it at the Pampa Daily NEWS election party at the city auditorium. Be here—get the returns to the accompaniment of Sid Merton's TEXANS orchestra. You'll like the music and the fast service on the returns—all free.

History will be made tomorrow. About forty million Americans will go to the polls to unseat a party whose policies have dried up foreign trade and contributed materially to the domestic difficulties. Twelve years is enough for any party. The proper functioning of party government entails the necessity of preventing any favorite interests to monopolize special benefits. What is best for the republic can "pet" is not necessarily best for the nation! The nation's decision was made months ago; we record tomorrow.

Voters have the right to decide whether they are republicans or democrats. A million Texas democrats went to the polls twice in primaries. Over the protest of this column and the judgment of nearly half a million other Texans, the majority vote was for Mrs. Ferguson. The majority has spoken, the vote is too heavy to call the decision merely "a mistake." We accept the majority vote, just as we accepted earlier as the least of two evils. The Texas people evidently are pretty evenly matched on the question of "evils." The people must bear the blame, not the party managers. Some of those alarmed now speak too late.

Locally, we can see no reason why those who voted in the primaries should not support the nominees chosen by majority vote. It is not fair to expect a candidate to make three races in one year for one office. The law limits expenditures. The nominees, unless democrats unless democrats support them, were chosen by entering primaries at all. Those who are uncertain of their party affiliations should make up their minds before the primaries, not afterward.

We have not changed in regard to the Centennial amendment. We think the legislature should be given the authority to set the time, the place, the program in 1938 and the decide how the great event should be financed. The amendment would appropriate no funds. The amendment is necessary to make the centennial official. We think it should be official or not at all. We believe the visitors who would pay gasoline taxes while attending the Centennial would more than reimburse the state. Vote for this amendment.

The amendment to exempt $3,000 of homestead assessments is questionable, but probably will be voted. It is too high, exempting those who, in the smaller towns are considered well to do. The state taxes which would be done away with would mean very little to taxpayers who have heavier city, school, and federal taxes to pay every year. But the sum which the state would lose in the aggregate in 254 counties would be huge enough to force reorganization of the whole taxation system. The schools would be badly crippled for a year or two. Do the people wish to experiment with taxation? If they do, they should vote for the amendment.

Another amendment would provide for a speedy sale of land on which delinquent taxes are due, with a method of redemption within two years. The experts fear there is danger in this amendment, though many are for it. One amendment would permit the University of Texas to use its permanent funds to purchase a wider range of Texas bonds. Held within reason and actually applied, the authority proposed to be broadened would be helpful. One amendment would authorize coast waters and the like. This is probably advisable, as also is the amendment to permit reserve officers and similarly inactive military officials to vote.

The amendment which would combine the office of tax collector and assessor is merely an indication of the county re-organization which is going to be carried out within a few years. County governments have been called the "dark continent" of American public methods. The opinion prevails that in the average county court house there are about three times as many officials as are really necessary. The amendment does not go far enough.

HITLER LOSES THIRTY-FIVE REICH VOTES

COMMUNISTS TAKE 11 MORE SEATS IN ELECTIONS

NATIONALISTS GAIN 14

TWO EXTREME PARTIES SUPPORTED BY ELECTORATE

By TOM WILHELM.
BERLIN, Nov. 7. (A)—German voters threw Adolf Hitler and his Fascists for a decisive loss in Sunday's general election, but at the same time their ballots failed to lift the huge political question mark that has hung over five such elections this year.

Just how effectively was turned aside the rush of the brown shirted Nazi is told most adequately by the final figures of the tabulators.

Whereas Hitler commanded 230 seats in the reichstag chosen on July 31, he failed to muster more than 195 yesterday, a drop of 35, his percentage of the popular vote suffered accordingly, going down from 37.7 to 33.

What little drift there was went to the extreme left or to the extreme right, the communists winning 109 seats against their previous 89, and the nationalist taking 51 against their former 37.

But the Junker chancellor, Franz von Papen remained at the helm, with the support of the veteran president, 1/3 Hindenburg. The nationalist gains were as nothing toward controlling the reichstag, but left him the hope that he might bargain for a reichstag-tolerated government.

The following table shows the complexion of the next reichstag and the power of parties which polled more than five per cent of the vote:

	New	Old
Reichstag
Nationalist Socialists	195	230
Socialists	121	133
Communists	109	89
Christians	70	75
Nationalists	51	37
Bavarians	18	22
Populists	11	7
Christian Socialists	5	4
State Party	2	1
Scattered	9	7

Almost 35,500,000 of Germany's 44,500,000 qualified voters went to the polls, but the total was measurably under the vote mustered on July 31. Yesterday only enough voters to make a reichstag of 582 seats came out, while in July the electorate set up 608 seats on the basis under German law of one seat to each 60,000 voters.

NEW BILL TO FIX PRICES OF GAS SUBMITTED

Another Would Place Tax on Production of Crude Oil

AUSTIN, Nov. 7. (A)—Bills to declare the sale of gasoline and lubricating oil a public utility and to place a graduated tax on the production of crude petroleum were introduced at the special oil session of the Texas legislature today.

Representative J. R. Donnell of Hillsboro offered the bill to declare operating of filling stations a public utility. The bill would place the marketing end of the oil industry under supervision of the Texas railroad commission, present administrators of oil and gas conservation laws.

The retail price of gasoline also would be fixed under the bill at not to exceed two and one-fifths cents for each 20 cents or fraction thereof of the price paid for a barrel of oil by companies producing and processing crude petroleum.

Donnell stated the bill was necessary to prevent the consuming public from being forced to pay exorbitant prices for petroleum products in comparison with crude oil prices. The bill to levy a graduated tax on crude petroleum production was sponsored by Representative Milton West of Brownsville. The tax would be graduated, one cent being levied in the first five barrels of daily production, with the tax increasing to $1 per barrel on production in excess of 1,000 barrels in any one day.

Under the existing law, the tax on crude petroleum is levied on its value rather than on the amount produced. West expressed belief his bill, if passed, would be effective in controlling the production of oil and would at the same time, insure the state a steady income from oil production regardless of price fluctuations.

Market Low Attached.
Both branches of the legislature continued their hearings today on a bill to insert a market demand provision in the Texas conservation statutes. The senate, sitting as a

Amarillo Football Fan Describes "Best Kick" of Recent Game—Urges Award of Medal

With customary zeal, football fans of the Panhandle are re-playing the Harvester-Sandie game. A prominent Amarillo fan, in a letter to M. K. Brown, has contributed a classic comment which Mr. Brown quite appropriately has labeled "The Fifth Quarter." The letter follows:

Dear M. K.:
The best "kick" of the Amarillo-Pampa game was not made by a Pampa player. Now don't get your back up, snarl and show your teeth. Neither was it made by an Amarillo player.

Chivalry is a manly attribute, virtue and gentleness womanly ones; but heroism is a noble attribute shown often and again by human being regardless of sex. For instance Joan d'Arc. The spirit of one, such as she, is imposed in none other than one of the Pampa pep squad girls. Being an ardent admirer of heroic character, I cannot refrain from expressing my utmost praise of her, at the same time being deeply apologetic as a citizen of Amarillo for the rude and unmanly act of an Amarillo youth which led up to the best "kick" mentioned above.

Joan d'Pampa and another like her walked with the huge crowd leaving the stadium after the game. A "trophy hunter," elegant name for a roughneck bully, sneaked up behind Joan and grabbed her cap and ran. Did Joan wait for some chivalrous male to rescue her cap? Like a Panhandle whirlwind, though some twenty paces behind, she took up the chase. Enochs made some good runs that day; Turner made some better ones, but neither of them made a run like her's. Ten yards, twenty yards, thirty yards, forty yards onwards they ran. Can she catch him? I'll say she can; sixty yards, she had him—in, about, over, and under the crowd. She grabbed him with her left by the back of the neck. With her right she grabbed her cap, with both she gave him a shove and with her right (not hand)—believe me, for I saw it with my own eyes—she gave him a kick that was a kick—a place-kick in the right place, that landed him some ten feet ahead. If he had been a football he would have topped the elevator tower of the Great West mill. Some kick? You tell the world it was.

Seek her out, you people of Pampa. Cast a bronze tablet in her honor. Engrave upon it her name and her deed. If not that, at least let her name be heralded to the four corners of Pampa for having done the right thing at the right time and in a heroic way. It was the best kick of the game. Yours for more games of the same kind.

'FIDDLE' AND SONG RECITAL PLEASURES MANY

Treble Clef Club Is Making Musical History

(By A. F.)
In the Treble Clef club, Pampa has a musical organization of which musical lovers of this city are proud.

This was enthusiastically demonstrated Friday night at the joint recital of the club and Duncan Stewart, violinist. Both the club and Mr. Stewart were given genuinely merited and sincere applause.

Mr. Duncan played as a pupil of Leopold Auer would be expected to play—with amazing technique and understanding. He gave five groups of compositions and encores after each group, including Brahms' Cradle Song and Kreisler's Leberlein-freud both of which he played twice according to the hand-clapping demands of the audience.

The young violinist was brought to Pampa by the Treble Clef club. Under the skillful wielding of Mrs. W. A. Bratton's baton, the club sang "Hills of Home" by Oscar J. Fox, Texas composer; "Alah's Holiday" (Rudolph Prim), and "Greetings to Spring" (John Strauss). Mrs. May F. Carr accompanied both Mr. Stewart and the club at the piano.

The club was organized over a year ago. Mrs. C. S. Wortman was first director. Mrs. Bratton has been director for almost a year. The roster of the club includes the best singers in the city. As a joint recital, the music Friday night was entirely satisfactory. The three club numbers were turned out with a loveliness that only good voices (well-trained voices), a splendid director, and a knowledge of music can produce. All three are difficult to sing, but are among those few compositions for glee clubs and singing organizations that the average audience will appreciate to the "last note." "Greetings of Spring" and "Alah's Holiday" were especially enjoyed by the audience. Because of the quantity and blending of the voices and the understanding direction of Mrs. Bratton, the beautiful songs drew enjoyment comparable to that which Mr. Stewart's "fiddling," as he calls it, evoked.

Members of the club follow: Mrs. A. N. Dilley, Mrs. Jno. V. Andrews, Mrs. Harry Lyman, Mrs. Alex Schneider, Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. J. W. Garman, Miss Lois Stalling, Mrs. Carl Sturgeon, Mrs. E. J. Gilling, Mrs. C. C. Malone, Mrs. Joe Foster, Mrs. H. C. Price, Mrs. Phillip Wolfe, Mrs. C. C. Dodd, Mrs. J. J. Long, Mrs. Raymond Harrah, Mrs. Sam Irwin, Miss Jimma Searcy, Miss Helen Martin, Mrs. M. W. Jones, Mrs. A. W. Mann, Mrs. Grace Brown, Mrs. L. O. Wirsching, Mrs. Chas. Thut.

AMERICA WILL GO TO POLLS ON TOMORROW

GRAY COUNTY VOTING PLACES TO OPEN AT 8 A. M.

SHOUTING DIES DOWN

NEWS WILL SPONSOR PARTY AND PUT OUT EXTRA

Polls of the eleven voting precincts of Gray county will open at 8 a. m. tomorrow for the general election, and will close at 7 p. m. Election officials here request that persons wishing to know the vote by precincts be to the city hall where The NEWS will post the returns as quickly as they are available. It also requested that citizens go to the election party in the auditorium instead of to The NEWS building, and that returns not be asked by telephone. The fastest, most complete returns available will be at the election party. Radio reports will be fragmentary newspaper handouts.

Voters will be required to show poll tax receipts or exemption certificates, or make affidavit that these were had but lost. Voters must vote in the precinct of their residence. The huge ballots contain lists of electors of six parties. The names of the presidential candidates do not appear. In Texas, the voter "scratches" or marks through the man or amendment or the party line-up not favored.

The Pampa Daily NEWS election party will start at the city auditorium at 7:30 p. m., when Sid Merton's Texans orchestra will open its concert as part of the evening's entertainment. Not only the Texas election results, but those of every state will be brought to The NEWS by two leased wires and will be given promptly to the public. An "extra" will be issued about 10 p. m. or when the returns have indicated definite trends. Everyone is urged to attend the free party at the auditorium.

The following precinct election officers were appointed by the commission court for the general election:
No. 1—George Thut, presiding judge, E. Bacchus, W. R. Combs, Hank Breining.
No. 2—Tom Cook, presiding judge, Ed Holey, Jim King, W. H. Lang.
No. 3—Joe Looper, presiding.

Will Rogers Is Forced to Land in West Texas

ABILENE, Nov. 8. (A)—Twenty miles west of Abilene the department of commerce maintains an intermediate landing field for aircraft, fully lighted. It was used Saturday night, for the first time, by a tri-motored transport plane of American Airways bearing Will Rogers and five other passengers.

The plane, westbound, left Abilene on time, 9:48 p. m., with Howard Woodall at the controls. It was not known when the ship reached Abilene, that Rogers was aboard. Over Merkel the middle motor went out. Woodall could have flown on to Big Spring with two motors, or he could have returned to Abilene, or even Fort Worth—but he had Will Rogers aboard. The pilot was taking no chance. He landed on the commodious field southwest of Merkel and radioed to Dallas to send him another plane.

The relief ship, Paul Vance piloting, landed beside Woodall's plane at 12:40 a. m. Sunday. Rogers and the other passengers meanwhile had strolled about the field or sat before a roaring fire in the small but snug shelter house the department had built at the edge of the field. Planes were exchanged, Woodall and passengers resuming their westward flight at 12:50 a. m.

A spare motor was sent out Sunday from Dallas, by truck, and was soon installed. Vance ferried the plane home Monday morning.

U. S. SUPREME COURT REVERSES DEATH SENTENCES OF 7 SCOTTSBORO NEGROES

High Tribunal Says Men Did Not Have Fair Trial in Alabama.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (A)—The supreme court today set aside the death sentence imposed on seven negroes of Scottsboro, Alabama. The ruling by the court means that the cases will go back to Alabama courts for a new trial. The highest court upheld the contention of counsel for the negroes, convicted of assaulting two white girls, that they had not had a fair trial. The decision by Justice Sutherland reviewed in detail the charges and the grounds on which Waving a bright red handkerchief, Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, is shown as he exhorted 20,000 cheering supporters who packed Madison Square Garden, New York, to "vote your hopes, not your fears." In his speech, climaxing the socialist campaign, Thomas assailed both old parties as futile. Red flags, red bunting and red handkerchiefs gave the interior of the Garden a distinctive socialist color.

BULLINGTON ASKS ELECTION TO "RESTORE HONESTY AND RESPONSIBILITY" TO STATE

Republican Talks to Big Crowd in City Hall

Declaring that party affiliations were not material in the state gubernatorial campaign, Orville Bullington this morning told a large city auditorium audience that he should be elected to restore responsible government. He was introduced by Charles C. Ojak.

"Let's get back on the high road to honesty and efficiency in state government," he urged. "All over the nation voters are being urged to put country above party. Isn't it a fact, you democrats, that you are in a tight place and have to vote for me or nothing?"

The speaker asserted that the democratic party pledges was binding on the party to furnish honest money, not on the party members to support unworthy ones. Turning to issues of the campaign, he said that if elected governor he would seek to have the state income tax abolished. He said he would increase the taxes of the "interests" which pay Jim Ferguson to represent them, notably the sulphur

Every man in Pampa and from the surrounding country interested in boys is asked to be in the chamber of commerce rooms at 7:30 o'clock tonight to attend the regular monthly scoutmasters round-table conference when plans for the annual Leadership Training school will be made. Merit badge counselors have been asked to attend.

There are many Pampa residents who were active in boy leadership in other cities who are urged to attend the organization meeting. Officers will be selected and the opening date of the school set. The Boy Scout movement is gaining rapidly in Pampa and nearby communities, and adult leadership is needed to keep up with the rapid enrollment.

The session tonight will be brief. A. Clark, executive of the Adobe Walls council, will briefly outline the work to be undertaken in the training school this year. The Scout leaders will hold their business meeting later.

Roy Tinsley Is To Teach Violin

Roy W. Tinsley, teacher of violin, has opened a studio in the Presbyterian church annex.

Mr. Tinsley was violin instructor at Bethany college for two years. He also was band conductor at Excelsior Springs for two years. He studied at the Wichita College of Music and at Bethany college under Forrest Schulz before starting as an instructor. He also has studied under Carl Veneth, Emil Uhe of Brussels conservatory, Max Donner of Los Angeles, Ward Morse of Kansas City. Last year he attended the State Teachers college in San Jose, Calif., specializing in the theory work and the latest methods of teaching approved by Columbia university.

Three members of the Prairie Oil & Refining company staff went hunting for ducks on McLeellan creek yesterday morning but came home with one of the biggest eagles seen here in some time. The bird was brought to the Pampa Hardware company to be stuffed. It measured six feet 10 inches from tip to tip.

NEW EVIDENCE BRINGS ACTION REPORT SAYS

SHIPBUILDER TO GET HIS IMMEDIATE FREEDOM

ASSESSED 1-YEAR-TERM

CURTIS CONVICTED OF OBSTRUCTING JUSTICE

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Nov. 7. (A)—John Hughes Curtis, who was convicted of obstructing justice in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, was freed today, Judge Adam O. Kobblin suspending operation of his one-year sentence.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Nov. 7. (A)—It was learned from a reliable source today that the one-year sentence imposed on John Hughes Curtis, who was convicted of obstructing justice in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, will be commuted this afternoon to permit his immediate freedom.

Curtis was sentenced to a year in prison and was fined $1,000. It learned to that when the sentence, from which Curtis took an appeal which is now pending, is commuted he will pay the fine and drop the appeal effort.

Curtis, a Virginia shipbuilder, played a prominent part in the kidnaping case, announcing that he was in touch with the kidnapers and negotiating with them for return of the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

He directed Col. Lindbergh and police on numerous efforts to make contact with the kidnapers and Col. Lindbergh was on one such errand when word came that the child had been found dead.

It could not be definitely learned on what grounds the Curtis prison sentence would be commuted but there was one report that this action would be taken because of valuable information given the authorities by Curtis since his trial.

Ed Wright Is Improved Today—Has Fracture

The condition of Ed Wright, who was taken to Pampa hospital in a serious condition Saturday night, was slightly improved today, although he was unconscious part of the time.

Mr. Wright sustained a skull fracture in an altercation which followed the collision of his automobile with a car driven by Bill Hughes in West Pampa. Hughes was charged with assault with intent to kill Saturday night, and was released on $1,000 bond. He waived preliminary hearing in Justice James Todd Jr.'s court this morning, and District Attorney John Sturgeon said the case would be referred to the grand jury next Monday.

Mr. Wright was struck with a board in the right temple, and his skull was fractured. The collision was near Ward Packing company's plant.

Hunt Ducks and Bring Home One Gigantic Eagle

Eight charges from shotguns were fired into the big bird at about 60 yards before it was brought to the ground. The hunters were John Wollen, V. A. Tasher, and John Brannon. They killed the bird on McLeellan creek yesterday morning. The first intimation that something was amiss was when a few decoy ducks set out by the hunters started to beat the water. The hunters looked out of their blind to see the big eagle swooping on one of the decoys. Brannon fired over its head in order not to hit any of the ducks. The eagle missed its intended victim and swerved for another dive when the rest of the hunters opened fire on it.

RUSSIA SHOWS THE WAY

The best-nourished children in all Europe, according to a survey made by a group of physicians, are those found in Soviet Russia.

Dr. John Sundwall of the University of Michigan, summarizing the physicians' findings before a recent meeting of the American Public Health association, declares that this is due to the health-promoting activities undertaken by the Soviet government.

A lot of news stories have come out of Russia in the past decade. Some of them have been startling, some of them have been of a type to make gods and men weep; but none of them, surely, has been quite as significant as this one about the children.

Nor has any of them had a more direct appeal to this country than that one. For we pride ourselves on being a great humanitarian nation. From the winning of our independence onward, we have always kept in mind the kind of world that we would be handing on to our children. The highest dreams of our nation have always centered about that fervent hope that they would have things just a little bit better than we had them.

But while we have had this hope, we have been careless about the details. We have let our children go into factories and slave themselves into ill health. We have let them subsist pitifully on starvation rations in mining towns; we have huddled them into dreadful city tenements, where the rules of sanitation and privacy are completely ignored; we have let them bear the brunt of industrial disputes.

If there is one thing the mass of people in America are thoroughly agreed upon, it is that Communism has no place in our mind. But that is no reason why we cannot borrow an idea from a communistic government, if it happens to be a good one; and this notion of Russia's—that it is the duty of the state to provide every child with a decent chance at health—is about as good an idea as any government could get.

It is not that an idea which a great capitalist nation can adopt? If it isn't, capitalism has some explaining to do.

Prisoners Under 5-Year Penalty Freed in Italy

ROME, Nov. 7.—Five thousand or more prisoners in Italy's jails—political and criminal—have been awarded the "tenth anniversary" amnesty promised them by Premier Mussolini five years ago.

Described as the most liberal of all amnesties, the document as signed by King Victor Emanuel during the week-end, gives freedom to all prisoners of the state who are serving terms of less than five years, but with certain restrictions.

Likewise "the political" prisoners, who are not mentioned as such, were somewhat disappointed, since none serving more than a five-year term is freed. Most of the principal political prisoners in recent years have received longer terms than five years.

However, three years are deducted from sentences of from five to ten years, and five years from sentences of more than ten years.

The premier, in sending the decree to the king after the council had approved it, declared that "Italy initiator of a new civilization."

The premier took occasion to repeat his devotion to the king: "Victorious Italy gathers on foot around you, sire, in a single powerful will, a single impulse to action, waiting to resume the march."

"The decennial of Fascism now being celebrated," the premier said, "indicates not only a memorable event but a period of high spiritual fervor for economic reconstruction and political re-birth."

CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Adam and Fallen Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, November 6.

Included with other passages read from the Bible was the following from Luke: 13, "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her; and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God."

The Lesson-Sermon also included citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy; among these was the following: "When speaking of God's children, not the children of men, Jesus said, 'The kingdom of God is within you; that is, Truth and Love reign in the real man, showing that man in God's image is unfallen and eternal. Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Savior saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick. Thus Jesus taught that the kingdom of God is intact, universal, and that man is pure and holy" (p. 476).

"My ambition has been to succeed in relieving Texas from its wilderness state by means of the plow alone, in spreading over it North American population, enterprise and intelligence."—(Letter from Stephen F. Austin to William H. Warren, April 24, 1829.)

"The Province of Texas will be the richest State in our Union without exception." This prophecy was made by the author of the American Declaration of Independence (Thomas Jefferson) before Americans had begun to colonize Texas. It was found in a letter dated May 14th, 1820, which Jefferson had written to President Monroe.

The year Jefferson wrote that letter to Monroe, Stephen F. Austin began the colonization of Texas. "My object is to build up for the present as well as for future generations," wrote Austin. "I think I derived more satisfaction from the view of flourishing farms springing up in this wilderness than military or political chieftains do from the retrospect of their victorious campaigns."

Texas was founded by builders. Under Austin's leadership they laid the foundations in the wilderness, and under the leadership of Sam Houston they won their independence, in order that they might build in freedom.

One hundred years of freedom will be completed in 1936. A century of building has made the Texas of today. But Jefferson's prediction has not yet been fulfilled. We have inherited this great undertaking from our forefathers. Let us rededicate ourselves to the task of carrying it forward by observing the Centennial of Texas independence in a manner worthy of our traditions.

Pampa Garden Club Places Emphasis Upon Bulb Culture; Suggestions Made

"Truly a rainbow doth linger in the heart of a bulb." Much emphasis is placed by the Pampa Garden club this season on bulb culture, and last week the club was able, as the result of selling subscriptions to Better Homes and Gardens, to sponsor a lecture and slides based on the care of bulbs. Suggestions given in this article are extracts from the lecture.

Bulbs are appreciated not only because of their grace and beauty but also because they start the floral season, and because they are easy to grow. Drainage and moisture are the paramount considerations. The proper depth for a bulb is four times its diameter, and no air space should be left below. The base of lily bulb scales is sensitive to water, and a layer of sand is necessary for proper drainage. In forcing bulbs, place as many as possible in each pot, so that only the tips protrude. They should be potted in October or November and placed in a cold cellar or similar spot for 10 weeks, at the end of which time the pot will be filled with roots. A splendid method for covering the bulbs is to invert another pot over each pot containing the bulbs. Ashes make a good covering for the bulbs while they are producing roots.

Place the flat side of the bulbs toward the edge of the bowl, for it is from the flat side that the leaf arises.

Blooms During Snow
The earliest and hardest of bulbs is the winter aconite, a relative of the buttercup, which blooms during February snows, surviving freezing weather without apparent injury. It produces a deep golden flower.

The crocus is the harbinger of spring. It should be planted in the sunshine as soon as purchased and then transplanted every three years. The scilla is the first to greet the spring. This dainty blue flower should be planted in clumps of five or six bulbs. It needs plenty of sunshine.

The Chionodoxa has a white center and the tips of the petals are light blue. Appropriate for rock gardens and the base of evergreens is the striped squill, which has a blue stripe in the center of each petal.

In Old-Fashioned Garden
The crown imperial is associated with old-fashioned gardens. It starts to grow in the early spring and attains a height of 2 or 3 feet in a short time. Each scarlet petal has a pit at its base filled with a sticky fluid. The bulb takes sometimes four years to produce flowers. In old-fashioned gardens some of the bulbs are found to be 75 years old. Hyacinths, popular for indoor culture, grow easily either in water or in soil. Miniature hyacinths are inexpensive and good for general landscaping.

Those who enjoy shy, retiring plants will like the guineah flower, which is bell shaped and is a dull purple hue. Very Adaptable
The grape hyacinth is very adaptable, congenial to a spreaded profusely. The "heavenly blue" flower is greatly admired, but there is a white grape hyacinth with a dainty stem which is also popular.

There is another bulb which those who prefer white blossoms will like—the snowflake, which has a touch of deep yellow on each petal. It grows one foot high and is adapted to culture in semi-wild places. Much can be said about the lovely narcissus, bulbous plants which can be transplanted in June and July. Some of the flowers are known as daffodils because of their long trumpets.

Don't Pick These
Among the most common bulbs are the pure white trilliums. Each bulb has one flower of three leaves. Thoughtlessly, people pick these flowers and leaves with the result that there are no blossoms the next year.

Texas Teachers And Parents to Gather Nov. 15

By MRS. J. M. CRAIN, Claude Mrs. Charles E. Roe, Washington, D. C., national field secretary for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, is to be a national representative to the twenty-fourth annual convention of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers which convenes in Galveston, November 15-18. She is scheduled to appear before the convention as follows: To hold a conference Tuesday morning, with the state extension committee; to conduct an open forum both Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons; to address the publicity class, Thursday morning, on the all-important subject of relationships of Local, Council, and District; Publicity to the State.

Seasoned in service and polished in the art of leadership, Mrs. Roe has been active in parent-teacher work for 18 years. She has served in local as well as national representative, secretary, and president; in county councils as membership chairman and auditor; in state congress as executive and field secretary, organizing locals, making addresses and holding conferences in county institutes; in the national congress as national organizer and national field secretary.

Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith of Austin, national chairman of citizenship for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, believes that patriotic parents and teachers must exercise their right to vote in elections this year. Urging Parent-Teacher association members to "safeguard children" through "casting intelligent votes in city, state, and national elections" this fall, Mrs. Smith says: "Members of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers put upon themselves a heavy burden of responsibility as citizens of this nation when they adopted the resolutions at the thirty-sixth annual convention in Minneapolis, May 15-20, 1932. If the delegates adopting those resolutions, spoke for the individual members of the congress, then a million and a half voters of the nation are faced with the responsibility of casting intelligent votes in city, state, and national elections this year, since in no other way can the members of the congress actually safeguard childhood as they have resolved to do in many of those resolutions."

LOCAL TEAM HAS MUCH SIDELINE SUPPORT ON SATURDAY

Auxiliary Will Enrol Many for Civic Program

Enrolment of a large membership to carry forward the civic, patriotic and welfare work of the American Legion auxiliary in Pampa during the coming year will be the objective of the Pampa Unit in a concentrated membership effort to begin immediately. All eligible women will be invited to become members of the unit and take part in the activities outlined for 1933. Mrs. W. C. de Cordova has been appointed to direct the enrolment and will be assisted by a large committee of unit members.

"The activities of the American Legion auxiliary are a continuation of the patriotic work carried out by women during the World war," said Mrs. T. B. Rogers, unit president, in announcing the opening of the membership effort. "There is a special need for such work at this time when the country is facing many problems similar to those of war. Relief work for the victims of the economic crisis, Americanism endeavors to check radical trends developing from the current unrest, and welfare activities for the war disabled, widows and orphans will be part of the auxiliary's program."

"The auxiliary is open to the wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of American Legion members and of men killed in the war or who have died since the conflict. Women who were enlisted in the army or navy during the war, such as army nurses and army aviators' wives, are also eligible. To these women the auxiliary offers many interesting activities and social contacts. Most of all, it offers them an opportunity to go forward with their service to the community, state and nation."

Dorcas Class Has Meeting on Friday

A committee of Dorcas class members, Central Baptist church, met with Mrs. K. Hardcastle Friday to continue plans for a banquet to be given for a young men's class on Tuesday of next week.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames G. L. Moore, G. L. Moore, T. M. Gilliland, W. W. Hughes, Lewis Tarpley, and L. W. Hardcastle.

A business meeting has been called for tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock at the church. All members of the class are asked to attend.

CAMPAIGN FOR DEMOCRATS IS LED BY WOMAN

MARY T. NORTON ONLY WOMAN HEADING STATE WORK

Representative Mary T. Norton of Jersey City, has the distinction of being the only woman in charge of a state's activities in the present residential campaign. Mrs. Norton has just been elevated to the chairmanship of the New Jersey Democratic State Committee where she will direct the work for the state and national tickets in her state. She was the vice-chairman under Harry Heber of Trenton, but when Mr. Heber resigned recently to accept an appointment for the State Supreme Court it was decided to advance Mrs. Norton to his post instead of electing a man as is customary.

Mrs. Norton is used to being a "first" and "only" woman. In 1928 she was the first woman elected to Congress from the Democratic Party and has been serving continuously from the Twelfth District, Hudson county, ever since. She was also honored by being named the first woman chairman of a congressional committee, the important committee on the District of Columbia.

Fidelis Matrons To Have Meeting

Many Visitors Attend Canyon Museum Event

CANYON, Nov. 7. (Special)—Hundreds of visitors were in Canyon Saturday for the joint celebration of the laying of the cornerstone of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society museum building, and the annual fall homecoming of the ex-students of the West Texas State Teachers college.

Cloudless skies greeted the visitors on the campus of the Canyon college Saturday, and by 10:30 a giant assembly had convened in the auditorium, with Superintendent Irbay Carruth of Canyon, president of the Ex-Student association, presiding. The festivities were characterized by a mingling of the superintendents, teachers, principals, and business men and women who are ex-students of the college, with the old-timers and pioneers of the Panhandle in whose honor the museum building is being raised.

At 11:30 Saturday morning the ex-students joined hundreds of old-timers gathered for the laying of the cornerstone of the $30,000 museum building. Ceremonies were under the auspices of the Grand Masonic Lodge of Texas, with T. D. Hobart of Pampa, president of the historical society, W. H. Patrick of Clarendon, Col. R. F. Smyth of Plainview, Sam Isaac of Canadian, George Stapleton of Amarillo and Oscar Gano of Canyon, officiating. The principal address of the morning was delivered by the Hon. J. O. Guilke of Amarillo, and President J. A. Hill of the college made a short talk.

Following the laying of the cornerstone, the visitors were guests at a barbecue made possible by the faculty of the college and Canyon business men.

The rest of the day's program included a football game on Buffalo field between the Sul Ross Lobos and the Canyon Buffaloes, and the evening entertainment and informal reception.

Scanning New Books

By JOHN SELBY

NEW YORK—Perhaps Lewis Browne's most valuable asset, when he sat down to write "Blessed Spinoza," proved to be his knowledge of Jewry and Jewish history—a knowledge to be pre-supposed in a writer whose adult career began as a rabbi.

Certainly Spinoza's modern biographer could scarcely have provided a better background for his subject than Browne's glowing story of the perils and pilgrimages of the Spanish and Portuguese Jews, their eventual settlement in Holland and the development of their community there.

The introduction is long; one has read through a good many pages before the child Spinoza appears. But when he does there is no resisting him. Theoretically a "good life" is rather dull pickings for a biographer; if so, "Blessed Spinoza" is an important exception. In those boundings, in the communication, Mr. Browne finds material quite as appealing as lies in the conventional adventures of a more usual biographical subject.

Two Novels

In "Invitation to the Waltz," Rosamond Lehmann, now a poised and sure craftsman, takes an even slighter subject than she treated in her earlier books and makes a great deal more of it.

In this story of a dance and the events leading up to it Miss Lehmann strikes the same quivering emotional chords she found in "Dusty Answer," but now she strikes them from knowledge rather than "by ear."

A good deal like the Lehmann book in its emotional aliveness is Elisabeth Thomas' "The Story of Elias Woodward." But this is the story of a young man, a girl, and the young man's mother in a Rhode Island setting, a curious, sometimes tortured story not comparable to the record of Olivia's first dance.

Few writers have Miss Thomas's gift of fixing deftly upon the precise word to express sensory excitement. Nor is her understanding of nature and its effect upon human beings a common one. "Elias Woodward" contains also three differing persons entangled in a curious plot.

Boleslaski

With the help of Helen Woodward, Richard Boleslaski has a spirit and the letter of some exciting days in the bloody Russian October of 1917. But there have been innumerable descriptions of such scenes, and very few intimate recitals of doings among the Moscow Art Theater members. Wherefore the pages dealing with that institution are particularly valuable.

So, too, are the innumerable friendships and acquaintanceships of Hamlin Garland, as described in the third volume of his reminiscences, "My Friendly Contemporaries," covering the period from 1913 to 1923.

A BEAR STORY

QUESNEL, B. C.—"Three bears," casually recalled 16-year-old Jackie Romo of Kersley, when his mother asked him if he had any luck on his first day's hunt.

But his mother regarded the boy's answer as "just another of those hunters' jokes," and it was not until he returned three or four hours later dragging the hides of three bears that the family believed this bear story.

He had shot all three within a short distance of the homestead.

Vengeful Maniac Terrorizes Nuns And Shoots Man

HIGHLANDS, N. Y. 7. (AP)—A former employe, turned maniac, came back to the Jesus and Mary convent today to settle a grudge. He killed one nun, terrorized girl students and nuns for four hours and was finally killed himself by state troopers.

The man, Anthony Chiaccarelli, 43, came to the convent at 7 a. m. Since leaving his job there he had been an inmate at the state insane asylum at Middletown, but he remembered the arguments he had had with the convent janitor.

Going directly to the basement, he killed the janitor and then barricaded himself with a rifle and ammunition.

About 20 girl students and half a dozen nuns were in the convent. The nuns tried to reach a telephone but the man kept them away by firing up through the floor.

Word finally reached the state troopers and a detail from the Monroe, N. Y., post was led by Lieut. Edward Haggerman. Tear gas bombs were used in a vain effort to force him from his retreat.

Troopers Brennan and Harold Quinn crawled through a tunnel and charged his hiding place. The maniac fired two shots which did not take effect. Quinn killed him with one shot at close range.

Candidates Waiting WASHINGTON, Nov. 7. (AP)—America's voting millions relaxed from a bedlam of political debate today to await the writing of the final chapter of a precedent-shattering campaign—tomorrow's choice at the ballot box of the nation's next president.

Both sides were expressing confidence in the outcome as the pre-election spotlight played on the leading figures. They were campaigning to the very last, President Hoover will en route to his home state of California to vote and Franklin D. Roosevelt in New York state just prior to his final appeal for national support from Poughkeepsie.

Whatever the outcome of tomorrow's great march to the polls here are some of the leaders' forecasts or statements: President Hoover: "I have fixed my faith upon the logical conclusions of a thoughtful people."

Speaker Garner: "The people of the country long since made up their minds for a change in administration. The present incumbent and his followers are defeated."

Hoover Blames Demos MORMON TABERNACLE, SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 7. (AP)—Launching his semi final campaign appeal, President Hoover today asserted that the election holiday tone of the country was "somewhere on the river" and that "he's coming back here tomorrow afternoon, so as to be ready to vote in the election."

Solution Tomorrow AUSTIN, Nov. 7. (AP)—A great, "silent" held the verdict to one of Texas' most tangled political cases today, as arguments for the prosecution and the defense were in course of being concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. James Manatt are the parents of a daughter born at Worley hospital yesterday morning. She has been named Norma Jeanne. Mr. Manatt is with the Standard Food Market.

California Is Ready to Greet U. S. President

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 7. (AP)—California will welcome Herbert Hoover home tomorrow as president, not as a republican candidate for re-election.

A honor guard of American Legionnaires will escort President and Mrs. Hoover through the Stanford campus to their home on San Juan Hill, overlooking the university buildings and grounds.

Garner Shoots Doves at Home

UVALDE, Nov. 7. (AP)—Speaker John N. Garner was adding an autumn postscript to his annual summer fishing excursion today, content this to await the fate of his democratic candidacy for vice-president at the polls in tomorrow's election.

He slipped into Uvalde Saturday night, unbeknownst to the rest of the country and even to Uvalde citizens, excepting a few intimate friends and his family. Yesterday he spent dove shooting with a friend, Ross Brumfield.

The candidate's son, Tully Garner, Uvalde banker, reluctantly admitted last night that his father had arrived from Washington. Although published reports had said he would not leave Washington until Saturday night, customarily, he comes home to vote.

The younger Garner said he didn't "know exactly" last night where the vice-presidential nominee was, but added he was "somewhere on the river" and that "he's coming back here tomorrow afternoon, so as to be ready to vote in the election."

BULLINGTON--

Mr. Bullington also proposed county home rule, under which many offices could be abolished in the interest of economy. He denied that he would turn the state over to the republicans, pointing out that his appointments would have to be approved by a democratic senate.

Some of the epithets applied to "Jim" were four-flusher, front-porch farmer, and drugstore cowboy. Bullington forecast his election, but denied that it would be a party victory.

Bullington's good fortune that has brought him favorable weather conditions through most of his whirlwind campaign deserted him today and he ran into a brisk Panhandle "norther" which whipped his street audiences with dust and threatened to menace his voice before his appearance at a big home town rally at Wichita Falls tonight.
