TEXAS COMMISSION IS HAMPERED, ADAMS DECLARES

AUSTIN, Sept. 6 (AP)—A move to limit issuance of bonds for winter relief needs to $4,750,000 was defeated in the Texas house today, 79 to 56.

A bill to issue $9,500,000 in relief bonds was before the house. Amendments were pending to limit the issue only to $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

The amendment to issue only $4,750,000 in bonds was proposed by Rep. Jasper Reed of Texarkana. Rep. Albert Walker of Vernon advocated issuance of $6,000,000 while Rep. Harlee Morrison of Kaufman suggested the $5,000,000 issue.

Action on the bill was delayed about an hour while the house worked itself out of a snarl over procedure. A bloc seeking to determine if a change in personnel of the Texas relief commission was desired sought a quick vote on amendments to provide for appointment of a three-member, full-time, salaried board. Others wanted the amount of bonds to be decided before acting on other sections.

The senate pursued its inquiry into relief administration with Earle P. Adams, a relief commissioner, as a witness. Adams criticized federal policies and said they hampered the Texas relief commission.

Walker argued that $6,000,000 if prudently expended, would carry on relief until January when the regular session could issue the additional $3,500,000 in bonds. He asserted the federal government would add if proceeds from the $6,000,000 bond sale were exhausted before that time. Reed made the same argument with reference to his proposal to issue $4,750,000.

Textile Strikers Urged to Fight

A waving, shouting throng of textile mill strikers here cheer W. J. Kendall, southern representative of the International Machineists, as he voices an impassioned plea for them to fight until the victory is won, in the industrial battle in which 600,000 textile workers were ordered to walk out. STATE CLOSES CASE AGAINST SOONER YOUTH

NEAL MYERS MAY NOT BE CALLED TO THE STAND FIRST

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 6 (AP)—The state closed its case against Neal Myers, university of Oklahoma junior at noon today on the testimony of a medical expert that Marian Mills, co-ed beauty queen, died of shock following an attempted illegal operation.

Immediately defense attorneys went into conference to discuss a possible change of strategy that may mean young Myers, on trial on a murder charge will not testify until tomorrow.

They had planned to use him as the first witness.

"It is my opinion that there was an attempted abortion, that this girl died very suddenly and that she died of shock," testified Dr. Hugh Jeter, University of Oklahoma pathologist and chief of the state's corps of medical witnesses.

Virtually the entire morning was consumed by medical testimony and the introduction of gawesome exhibits.

The defense made one sally when it drew from George McKinney, Norman policeman, that one full bottle and several empty bottles of a drug commonly used to avert maternity were found in the Hazel Brown duplex apartment, where Miss Mills died.

Earlier, W. P. Morrison, one of the defense attorneys, declared out.

30 Injured In Gory Fight At Carolina Mill

200 Strikers Attacked by Armed Workers; Officer Shoots Striker 6 Times.

HONEA PATH, S. C., Sept. 6 (AP)—Six picketing strikers were slain and upwards of thirty wounded as death guns blazed in a textile strike clash here today.

The shooting climaxed more than an hour's tension at Honea Path's only textile mill, the Chiquola, after strikers from nearby Belton had come to picket the mill.

As the flying squadron arrived, the plant delayed opening and workers and strikers congregated on the mill grounds. Suddenly, just before 2 a. m. guns began to roar. One striker after another dropped to the ground, dead or wounded.

For several minutes the turmoil continued. No one knew who fired the first shot. Then the strikers retreated—leaving their dead, assisted away some of the injured.

Ambulances took to the scene, and special deputies and regular officers. When they arrived, the situation was quiet.

LONG DECIDES HE MAY OUST 'CITY THUGS'

THREATENS TO THROW OUT ENTIRE CITY GROUP

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 6 (AP)—Huey P. Long threatened to have the state legislature throw out the entire city administration if any more witnesses before his legislative investigating committee were molested.

Before the day's hearing opened Senator Long said that several witnesses who had testified before the committee inquiring into charges of graft and corruption in the city administration had been molested by the police and intimidated.

Senator Long said that under the resolution "creating the committee the governor had the power to call the legislature into a special session and take over the entire city government, kicking out these crooks and thugs."

"It seems," he said, "there is a conspiracy in this town to make the governor put the police under the militia. The committee could ask the governor to strip this city of all power, call the legislature into special session and get these crooks and thugs out of here immediately."

Carson County Sheriff's Race Taken to Court

PANHANDLE, Sept. 6 (Special)—An election contest, alleging fraudulent and illegal voting in the Skellytown and White Deer boxes was filed here today in district court by attorneys for O. R. Beddingfield, defeated candidate for county sheriff.

The action came after W. L. Boyles, county chairman, certified the name of T. B. Harris who received 915 votes, shall be placed on the ticket as the nominee for the office.

The petition also alleged that the counting was incorrect; that there were 22 illegal votes cast at Skellytown and 80 at White Deer.

The petition asked Judge E. J. Pickens to set an early date for the hearing for retabulation of the votes, and if this was not done call a new election. Only the White Deer and Skellytown boxes were concerned in the contest. Attorneys for Beddingfield are N. P. Willis of Pampa and Curtis Douglas of Panhandle.

Advisory Housing Committee Must Find Funds Here

Pampa's advisory housing committee will undertake its formal organization tonight in the knowledge that there is a keen interest in the repair and remodeling loans which it is hoped can be made possible.

Daily inquiries are being made by citizens at the B. C. D. office. The meeting tonight will be held there at 7:30 o'clock.

Since the government does not lend the money involved, the movement must be locally financed. The government will insure the lenders against part of their losses which might be involved. While loans may be made over as much as 3 years, it is expected that many of them will be for shorter periods.

Loans for new buildings are not likely to be made available by the government for 90 days or more.

Green Now in Charge of Local Oil-Gas Office

Gene Green, newly appointed deputy supervisor of the railroad commission with offices here, returned from Austin today to assume full charge. He was formerly assistant deputy supervisor here.

Mr. Green has received scores of telegrams and telephone calls of congratulations on and approval of his appointment. These came mainly from oil company officials, independent operators, and land and royalty owners of this and other fields.

The commission office at Austin also received many messages of the same kind.

The new deputy supervisor joined the railroad commission's oil and gas office here 2 1/2 years ago. Previously he had been at Borger about three years with Gulf Production company. He also was with the Dixon Creek Oil company about a year.

His familiarity with the office was a deciding factor in the appointment. J. M. McDonald, formerly supervisor, resigned to go into business for himself.

TIRES, TUBES STOLEN

City police officers are investigating the theft of three tires, tubes and wheels taken from a 1929 Ford coach parked on East Frederic street last night. The loss was reported by H. C. Rounston this morning.

Police arrested a man last night in connection with the theft of merchandise from a local store. He was turned over to the county this morning.

TWO PRISON FUGITIVES CAPTURED IN GUN BATTLE IN EAST TEXAS

DALLAS, Sept. 6 (AP)—Two of three prisoners who escaped from the Trecumseh, Okla., jail two weeks ago were recaptured in a machine gun battle with officers in a farm near Edgewood, in East Texas, last night.

Millard Bunch, 24, of Edgewood, wounded in a gunfight in Oklahoma several days ago, was the first to surrender and he was brought to a hospital here at once for treatment, along with a deputy sheriff named Burnett, who was injured in the exchange of shots. Benton Davis, sheriff of Grayson county, who led the capture, said Malloy Kuykendall, who escaped with Bunch, also was caught and was placed in the jail at Canton, Tex.

East Texas officers continued the hunt today for Leonard Blair, the third fugitive.

Davis said three men entered Sherman from the north yesterday, overpowered Hardy Thomas, 45, of Sherman, and his son and forced them to drive the three to a farmhouse just south of Edgewood. Upon their arrival, the men left the car and told Thomas not to notify officers.

Thomas and his son returned to Sherman as quickly as possible and told the sheriff of their experiences. Davis immediately assembled his own deputies and sent word for officers of other counties to join him in East Texas.

They converged on the farmhouse just before midnight and demanded that the men surrender. One of them opened fire with a machine gun from a barn loft and the officers answered with a withering fire and Bunch and Kuykendall surrendered.

Sheriff Davis said the men told him they had hitch-hiked into Sherman yesterday, after "leaving" another man alone just across the Red river in Oklahoma.

RUSSIA DENIED SUBMARINES BY UNITED STATES

Department of State Refused to Allow Sales

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—Testimony that the state department refused permission in 1929 for an American concern to sell submarines to Russia was given today to the senate munitions committee.

L. Y. Spear, a vice president of the Electric Boat company of New London, Conn., said earlier, the Soviet Trading corporation in New York had asked about the prospect of buying undersized boats from the American concern.

"We referred the matter to the state department," said Spear, "and were told that we should not sell such equipment to Russia. Naturally, the thing went no further."

The testimony came amid an excursion of the investigators into the ramifications of European armament sales during which it was developed that agents of the Electric Boat company had protested that German shipbuilders had "violated the treaty of Versailles" by organizing companies in Holland to build submarines.

A letter from Paul Koster, Paris agent of the company to Carse, said, "we may then get the allies."

LOCAL PEOPLE TO IMPERSONATE MOVIE STARS TOMORROW NIGHT AT HOLLYWOOD PREMIERE SHOW

Tarzan's Yell To Be Heard as He Does Gymnastics

The wild yell of Tarzan resounded through the La Nora theater last night as the impersonator of fiery Lupe Velez's husband rehearsed his act for the opening of the Hollywood premiere tomorrow night at the La Nora at 7:30 o'clock.

Tarzan will do gymnastics on a swinging vine on the stage, while he emits a yell that is exactly like Tarzan's.

The Tarzan who will perform tomorrow night has a physique that is every bit as attractive as Johnny Westmiller's, the original Tarzan. The impersonator will be clad only in an animal skin.

The street in front of the La Nora between Foster and Kingsmill on Cuyler will be roped off for the premiere. The high school band under the direction of Roy Wallenstein will play. The "stars" will arrive one after another in front of the La Nora in new Fords. They will be introduced by the master of ceremonies and will give a brief act or say a few words. Then they

SARAZEN CLAIMS WIVES OF PRO GOLFERS ARE DESTROYING GAME

CHICAGO, Sept. 6 (AP)—Says Gene Sarazen: The hand that rocks the cradle is rocking a lot of golf's finest professionals into bankruptcy and mediocrity.

Possibly Gene thinks he'll be safe from subsequent feminine wrath now that he's about to hop a boat for Australia for an exhibition tour, but he refused to mince words as he swung a verbal maul at his target during a brief stay-over in Chicago.

"The saddest thing in golf isn't a muffed two-foot putt that loses a big championship," said Gene, a married man himself. "It's those zealous, jealous and gossiping wives of our playing professionals who hunt their husbands and watch them fire every shot in a money tournament or open championship.

"It's time the shackled pros arose in a body and told them to stay home, watch their pro shops or sew buttons on the old man's shirts.

"Those women are the curse of golf today. Take the average one of them, who pursues her husband, a good golfer with a good chance to get somewhere in an important championship. What happens? Every time he goes to make a shot—a shot that may win or lose the title or a thousand dollars—he sees his wife staring at him with those words in her eyes: 'If you miss that shot and let Mrs. Bloke's husband beat you, why—The poor guy may have a fighting heart like Jack Dempsey's but who can blame him for getting the shakes?' He misses the shot and gets a dirty look. 'Thinks his wife can see that smart Mrs. Bloke giving me the high hat now.' No sir. Women like that are so strong psychologically that they beat their husbands and turn golf tournaments into 'hen' sessions. Oh, I know. Many a time, I've heard a wife give one of her victims a piece of her mind."

Sarazen said Mrs. Sarazen is an ideal professional's wife as she never follows him and seldom talks about golf when he comes home. With that he paid tribute to the wife of Paul Ranyan, most successful of the money playing pros last winter.

"She's one woman who minds her own business," Gene said. "After he had won a certain championship, Ranyan telephoned his wife. 'Honey, I just won,' he said. 'Fine,' she shot back, 'when you come home, bring two loaves of bread. We've got company for dinner.'"

LATE NEWS

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 6 (AP)—Picked out of a line of eight prisoners, Henry Methvin, 23, arrested here Wednesday by Sheriff T. R. Hughes, today was "partially identified" as one of the men who on April 18 held up and robbed the bank of Montgomery, La. Partial identification was made by Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Wardlaw, president and cashier of the bank, respectively, who were in the bank when it was held up and robbed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—The general executive board of the International Ladies' Garment Workers union today voted to strike in the cotton garment industry, which is expected to affect 50,000 workers immediately and from 125,000 to 175,000 workers eventually.

Youth Fatally Injured at Oil Well at LeFors

Herbert H. Barge Jr., 20, died in a local hospital at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, less than three hours after he had been injured while at work on a well west of LeFors. The body was to be sent to Freemont, Neb., this afternoon by the G. C. Malone Funeral home.

The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Barge Sr. of Broken Bow, Neb., where Mr. Barge is a well known attorney. He arrived in Pampa this morning and will accompany the body to Freemont where burial will be Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Barge received a badly crushed right side when he was caught beneath the counter balance on the pitman on the pump unit at the Sinclair-Pratt company's No. 8 LeComby in section 36, block 3, I&GN survey. The well was completed last week and was on the pump.

Mr. Barge had been a resident of Pampa for the last year, coming here from Borger, where he was injured three months with the same company. He was a popular young man with the company.

Besides his parents he is survived by a sister, Mary Jane.

Mrs. W. Purviance and Mrs. H. P. Barnhart left this morning to visit friends in Clarendon and Wellington. Mrs. Purviance is to appear on program at a district church program in Clarendon.

Ten Ideals for School Children Are Submitted

These beautiful ideals for children originated in Czechoslovakia. They have been taken up in other countries and are on the bulletin boards of countless schools.

1. Love your schoolmates; they will be your companions for life and work.
2. Love instruction, the food of the spirit. Be thankful to your teachers as to your own parents.
3. Consecrate every day by one good useful deed and kindness.
4. Honor all honest people, esteem men but humble yourself before no man.
5. Suppress all hatred and beware of insulting your neighbor; be not revengeful but protect your own rights and those of others. Love justice and bear pain and misfortune courageously.
6. Observe carefully and reflect well in order to get at truth. Deceive not yourself or others and beware of lying, for lies destroy the heart, the soul, and the character. Suppress passions and radiate love and peace.
7. Consider that animals also have a right to your sympathy and do not harm them or tease.
8. Think that all good is the result of work; he who enjoys without working is stealing from the mouth of the worker.
9. Call no man a patriot who hates or has contempt for other nations, or who wishes and approves wars. War is the remains of barbarism.
10. Love your country and your nation but be co-workers in the high task that shall make all men live together like brothers in peace and happiness.

FALL LUNCHEON GIVEN FOR THE BETHANY CLASS

Program Is Given by Members and Guests

A luncheon table beautifully appointed in autumn colors was the meeting place of First Baptist Bethany class at the church yesterday at noon. A luncheon leaves the color note. Guests and class members each had a part in the program that followed the delicious lunch.

Mrs. T. F. Morton entertained with a reading. Talks were made by Mrs. T. B. Rogers, president, and each of the other class officers. Mrs. Ewing Leech, department superintendent, also spoke briefly.

The chief address was by the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, who discussed, "How Not to Build a Class."

Places were laid for those on program and Misses H. K. Beard, G. D. Stockton, C. S. Marshall, M. E. Davenport, P. O. Anderson, O. C. Williams, L. E. Burden, B. C. Wood, W. E. Towle, L. A. Baxter, A. A. Steel, T. B. Solomon, the teacher, Mrs. J. F. Reynolds, and Jim Frank Reynolds.

Shines Socially

Politics is no handicap to Mrs. Sam Connor, who, in keeping pace with the social whirl of the younger set in Washington, she finds time to play as well as attend to her duties as Democratic national committeewoman from Kentucky. Her home is in Bardonia, when she's in the Blue Grass state.

daughter, all sprinkled with the customary irony.

Funny Book

"Glory Jam," by Caroline Seaford (Minion Balch): an English comedy, neatly done; the Ash money gave out, the Ash house became an inn, people came, and things happened.

"Honor Bound," by Faith Baldwin (Farrar & Rinehart): Miss Baldwin wonders "whether it is possible for two young people not in love to make a success of marriage"; but actually, as you may have guessed already, Hank and Laurie fall in love!

"The Rock," by T. S. Eliot (Harcourt, Brace): a "pageant play" by the unusual Mr. Eliot, full of cockney dialogue and gorgeous choruses (versified) to be declaimed by agitators, black shirts, working men and so on.

QUICK ADVANCE IN REFINERY MARKET SEEN

HOT OIL SITUATION IN EAST TEXAS IS IMPROVING

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 6 (AP)—Oil men saw encouraging signs today in current efforts to get the Texas Railroad commission and other agencies to curb "hot" oil operations in East Texas.

Success of movements now pending was seen as virtually insuring an immediate advance in the refinery market, which has been wavering for several weeks.

In Texas a confusing situation existed through the signing by different district judges in Austin of restraining orders having directly opposite intentions.

The Railroad commission apparently was determined to fight to the end for success of its contention that it can control the movement of gasoline and other products derived from illegally produced crude oil through a recently issued order.

Twenty-two refineries held a restraining order granted by one judge to prevent enforcement of this order, while only yesterday another judge increased to 31 the number of refineries enjoined temporarily from violating the order.

Much of the industry's hope of more settled conditions in East Texas depended on the outcome of this strange situation.

There was some belief in the Texas capital that the more recent restraining order obtained by the commission against the 31 refineries superseded the order for 22 refineries, but others within the industry questioned the theory that a ruling of one district court could supersede a conflicting ruling from a court of similar jurisdiction, on the belief that such a ruling could be handed down only by an appellate court.

The basic contention of the commission under its new order is simply that the legal content of crude oil is not altered by the application of heat in a refinery which breaks up the crude into gasoline and other derivatives. This would prevent permitting control of crude oil would naturally apply to by-products.

In the meantime, the oil administration in Washington was considering the proposition of amending its recent "OES-6" report from interstate shipments of oil and oil products which would force the shipper to aver the crude of derivative was legally produced.

The combined efforts of the state and federal governments would have the effect of controlling adequately all shipments and force compliance under pain of stringent penalties for violation.

While this series of movements was pending another important decision was near in the far northwest. At Seattle, Wash., a federal judge was expected to rule today whether a shipment of allegedly "hot" gasoline by tanker from Texas may be discharged.

The government fought the landing of the cargo of the tanker Papeo on the theory there was a violation of section 9-C of the national industrial recovery act and of the laws of Texas.

A similar case involves the tanker, Republic, due to dock at Vancouver, Wash., today. Upholding of the government in these cases might result in a similar application of the law to tank car shipments interstate, to provide an added check of shipments out of East Texas.

The government in East Texas now are obeying a Railroad commission order forbidding shipments interstate of oil not accompanied by tenders declaring the oil legally produced.

A check of the area disclosed that approximately 700 cars moved out Saturday and 40 Sunday, but that since then none has been waybilled. Observers here took this to indicate shippers had hastened to clear their product already in tank cars before the railroads heeded a citation for contempt issued on the strength of the commission's restraining order against the 31 refineries. The four railroads were included in the restraining order and an interoffice memo instructing station agents August 31 to accept interstate shipments even though not accompanied by the new tender order since has been revoked.

The refinery market was weakened only by the offering of many of these 700 cars at 3 cents a gallon or less by marketers eager to get them off their hands.

Otherwise, third grade gasoline, the East Texas staple, was steady at 3 1/2 to 3 7/8 cents, for refinery.

New Features to Improve Pattern Service of News

Beginning today, our smart Fifth Avenue patterns introduce new features that will be appreciated by the home dressmaker.

New H. D. Agent Meets with Club

SKELLYTOWN, Sept. 6.—Lined and furnishing for a bedroom was the subject of a demonstration given by Miss Dalton Burleson Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Sunshine Home Demonstration Club at the Methodist church here.

After selecting furnishings for your bedroom, always buy those manufactured by a reputable firm. Miss Burleson stated, and give special attention to your mattress as one-third of your life is spent in bed.

The club feels that in Miss Burleson it has a capable successor to Miss Bessie Sikes, who recently resigned as home demonstration agent of Carson county. Regret was expressed at losing Miss Sikes, and she was tendered wishes for the success of her work in Wichita county. Miss Burleson is from Belton and was formerly agent in Jim Wells county.

Members present Tuesday were Mrs. W. S. Boyd, I. Feigenpan, Leslie Hale, Ernest Hatchell, J. C. Kennedy, E. R. Kuehnert, Earl New, J. R. Stancell, J. C. Sims, O. L. Starnfield, E. Stafford, Mrs. Lexie Davis of Dickens was a visitor.

Both the couples were from Shamrock, and will make their homes there.

Smart Swinging-From-the-Shoulder Coolie

One Dress for Juniors and Youthful Women Types

By ELLEN WORTH

Of course, you'll want to make this dress as soon as you see it. And you'll find it as easy as falling off a log to cut it out and put it together.

A gay angora woolen in that smart yellow-green shade is pictured. The collar and cuffs are white starched linen. The bone buttons tone with the brown suede belt.

It's a stunning dress whether you want it for school, college, or office wear.

Dark green or wine crepe silk is also fascinating for it with white bengaline collar and cuffs and with self-fabric belt and buttons.

Style No. 650 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust.

Size 16 requires 4 yards of 39-inch with 1/2 yard 39-inch contrasting.

The Guide to Chic

Back from a glorious vacation and looking your healthiest, most beautiful self but with a very flat pocket-book? Don't let this worry you, for with a little careful planning and this book of new fashions, you can have a very smart wardrobe at little expense of time and effort. This attractive BOOK OF FALL AND WINTER FASHIONS is just brimming with ideas that you can turn into chic wearable clothes. Send for your copy today.

"THE HUNDRED DAYS," by Philip Guedalla; (Putnam).

Year by year since the Battle of Waterloo a crust has been forming over the truths of that occasion, and the weeks that preceded it.

Part of the crust has been romance furnished by countless writers; part has been the result of Napoleon's own writing, which has put the blame for the debacle upon various shoulders at various times; part has been the result of bias in the minds of those who have commented through the years.

Philip Guedalla has tried, in his "The Hundred Days," to chip away the crust and provide a short and exact narrative of Napoleon's bold attempt and his failure. It differs from some of the previous ones particularly in his inference that what really defeated Napoleon was the skill of Wellington and his aids (excepting the Prussians). Historians also will find divergences from the usual in other places somewhat less conspicuous.

Guedalla makes the point (and it is a good one) that historians generally have been too much influenced by the Napoleonic version, and that English historians in particular often have been "moved by an excessive chivalry to dwell longingly on Wellington's alleged mistakes."

Napoleon left Elba intending to reconquer Belgium by capturing its capital, Mr. Guedalla believes but that is a minor concern of the general reader, who will be more excited by the details of the battle than by a minute balancing of fact and motive. The writer does not recall a more dramatic, less forced version of the escape, the landing in Provence, and the journey to Paris through Digne and Gap and Lyons.

The surge of feeling that eventually caught up the emperor, the greeting of the people in Paris, the temper of the nation—the whole story, in fact, is told with such simplicity and freshness that "The Hundred Days" becomes far more exciting than the more exciting "summer readings," and far less hackneyed, too.

"WOMAN ASTRIDE," by Nora Barscher-Wydenbruck; $2.50.

Seventeenth century family records have provided Nora Barscher-Wydenbruck with the main structure of her remarkable novel, Woman Astride, which centers around Judith von Loe—a great-aunt of the author's six generations back. Embroidering church vestments or reading did not appeal to Judith. She was happier when she could escape the century-old traditions of her father's Westphalian castle and roam the forests or career astride Baron von Loe's charger.

Tumultuous Career

The timely arrival of Swedish troops at the castle provided Judith with an excellent chance to escape. For she promptly fell in love with the colonel in charge. And when the colonel, a commoner, killed her father in a duel, she elected to flee from Germany. It was thus that her tumultuous career began, being set against the eventful and blood-soaked period of the Thirty Years' War.

Subsequently events compel Judith to disguise her sex. In man's clothing, she is able to unrein her will, unobtainable apart, fighting in her lover's army, rising through her bravery to the rank of captain, doing valiant service for the Swedes at Lutzen, wounding her own lover

About New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Political intrigue, blackmail, scandal—of such things are the headlines in New York composed. Yet not even these jazz up the news as a celebrity does when he lays one against another celebrity's jaw.

The spiciest incidents I can recall have been outbreathing of the cave-man instinct among the world's well-knowns. There was Hal Sims, the bridge titan, who socked Oswald Jacoby, his erstwhile protégé, at the contract boards over at Asbury Park the other day. There had been bad blood, one hears, between the two for a couple of years. In fact ever since Jacoby split with Lenz during the famous duel with Ely and Jo Culbertson.

Then there was the public clapping of a New York lawyer by Mae Murray. Mae had sued a firm, company and lost. After the verdict of the defense counsel, in jubilant mood, indulged in a statement that annoyed Miss Murray. She slapped him good and hard and told him to shut up. On that very day events had national international importance had occurred, yet along Broadway the actress was the sole topic of conversation.

The Lewis Classic

Previously, of course, the Sinclair Lewis classic had taken place, and it is still considered tops in these parts. At a public dinner the novelist gave Theodore Dreiser the glove by bluntly charging him with plagiarism. Dreiser responded with a laymaker to the jaw. This was page-crowded for days and still crops up the casual conversation.

I think it was only a few months ago that Peter Agno was punched silly. The fight took place in a Hollywood restaurant, the happy hunting grounds for so many of the pugilistically inclined.

It was in a restaurant that Jim Tully, the novelist, flogged John Gilbert after Gilbert had charged and vainly tried to land his Sunday punch. This fight was the climax of a bitter animosity because of uncharitable criticism of the actor by Tully, and it also was the beginning of a genuine friendship. After Tully tried the screen, he apologized for criticizing any actor, saying acting was the hardest work he ever tried. He and Gilbert made a picture together and eventually became warm friends.

The impetuous Gilbert also had an encounter with George Markey. But, as here, difficulties in Hollywood are not unusual. George Ratt being the latest to put up his dukes.

Mae's Black Eye

The spirit of battle seems to flame high in all fields of endeavor. Huey Long reportedly has been on the receiving end of a dozen left hooks. It was only last season he got a black eye at an ultra social function out on Long Island. Baseball, too, is not without some gladiatorial talent. Two members of the Brooklyn and Philadelphia National league clubs swapped clouts after a game several weeks ago.

All of which may or may not prove anything—unless one wishes to refute the statement that the world is growing soft. But one thing is certain—the breakfast dishes of Manhattan have mirrored many a smile because of them.

Drought Areas To Need Relief, Jones Declares

AMARILLO, Sept. 6. (AP)—There is a definite need for continuation of the government's relief program during the winter in the drought areas of Texas, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado, according to Congressman Marvin Jones.

Congressman Jones, who is head of the agriculture committee in congress, has just completed a tour of the drought areas in the four states

Postmaster at Canyon Retires After 27 Years

CANYON, Sept. 6. (AP)—Oscar Hunt, Canyon's postmaster since he was appointed by President Theodore Roosevelt in 1907, has retired.

Hunt served as a postmaster longer than any other man in this section of Texas. His first appointment was made in October, 1907, by President Roosevelt. He was re-appointed in 1908 and subsequently received commissions by President Taft, Warren G. Harding, Calvin Coolidge, and Herbert Hoover. His

Emergency drought conditions were reported in the Texas Panhandle, western Kansas, southeastern Colorado and eastern New Mexico.

"I found extremely bad conditions in several counties in the northern Panhandle, which have experienced a drought over a period of three years," Jones said.

The congressman said his trip was not made for the purpose of making special recommendations for additional drought aid, but was for a comprehensive study for the department of agriculture.

'LITTLE GENERAL' ALLRED ALSO GLAD TO GET OFF DUSTY STREET

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS.

AUSTIN, Sept. 6. (AP)—The "Little General" is overjoyed that he is coming back home.

He is Jimmy Jr., son of James V. Allred, attorney general, and for all practical purposes governor-elect of Texas by virtue of being the nominee of the democratic party.

When returns from the second primary election indicated Allred had won the nomination the attorney general and his wife awakened the "Little General" from a sound sleep and informed him of the turn of events.

"Does that mean you will be governor, Daddy?" Jimmy Jr. inquired with eyes sparkling.

"It looks that way, Sonny Boy," Allred responded.

"Will we go back to Austin now to live pretty soon?"

"I think so," answered the attorney general.

"And will we live in the governor's mansion?" persisted young Jimmy.

"Yep," was the reply.

"Well, I'm sure glad. Now we can get off that dusty street."

Terms extended into the democratic administration of Woodrow Wilson and President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Hunt was the only postmaster in Texas to be confirmed by the senate near the end of William Howard Taft's administration.

Guy Harp is Canyon's new postmaster.

Parenterically Allred's little home on a dusty street in a modest residential section played a part in the campaign.

Allred proved himself adept at this game of politics in his Austin speech.

The night before Allred's appearance his opponent had spoken from the same platform. Reports of the meeting said an effort had been made to quiet the children playing about the speaker's stand.

Allred's first words were an invitation to the children to play around the platform "to their heart's content" with the further invitation to "come and play on the grounds at the executive mansion when I am elected governor."

"It's little things like that which could win a race like this," one of his workers remarked.

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (AP)—Captain William Pollock, pilot of an Ohio river excursion steamer, believes it isn't safe to leave anything lying around.

He reported to police that someone stole his pilot's license, frame and all, from the cabin of his ship. It has no value to anyone but himself.

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think—talk—write—Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I will give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

The following items were published in the Texas Centennial News, official publication of the publicity committee of the Texas Centennial Commission, Comstock, Texas, and furnished to Texas newspapers for republication so that the citizenship of Texas may keep informed of Centennial activities over the state.

ADVISORY BOARD CHIEFS MEET IN AUSTIN

The executive committee of the state advisory board met in Austin on Saturday of this week following call by Mrs. Volney W. Taylor of Brownsville, state chairman.

Sessions were held at the Driskill hotel, and were attended by Lowery Martin of the publicity committee, responding to a special invitation.

The advisory boards over the state have been performing enthusiastic service in behalf of the Centennial, and this meeting was for the purpose of devising further methods of assistance.

TEXAS HISTORIAN'S GRAVE IS AT HUNTSVILLE

Huntsville has something besides the grave of General Sam Houston to offer Texas visitors in 1936—although that in itself would be enough.

HARVESTER COACHES TRYING TO DEVELOP GREEN TEAM INTO FAIR CLUB

BOYS MULLING BUT NOEFULLY INEXPERIENCED

EXPECTED ABILITY IS NOT COMING TO LIGHT

We haven't won the district flag for some time. We are not state champions. Some of our opponents would believe, remarked Coach Fox as he watched their charges stumble through the Harvester field yesterday afternoon.

The Harvester boys know they are not anything but the No. 1 in the district. The coaches have 30 willing youngsters fighting for positions on the team, but they are not ready to start a starting lineup. Although the boys received letters last fall, six of the returning athletes are considered regulars on the basketball championship team. The coaches left the entire team because of the length of the season. Coach Mitchell has encountered a number of field troubles, but they are expected to clear up before long. Coach Mitchell, promising fullback, is out for at least two weeks. Coach Fox is having a hard time selecting a starting forward line. Some of the boys he expected to come through are not showing speed, fight, and form expected unless they show a change in the next few days, they will be their places. Fox is using Bill Miller at center and has shifted plain Monroe Owens back to end. The scrimmage yesterday afternoon brought to light plenty of speed and fight by newcomers to the Green and Gold. Bob Drake, J. Brown, Roy Webb, and Red Manning showed promise and gave the veterans, Lloyd Hamilton, Bill Mayway, and Mays Nash, something to think about. In the line, Noble, Charlie Johnson, all Walker, and Bill Park gave indications to worry the lettermen. Really hard work is necessary for the Harvester boys if they are to be ready for opening game Sept. 21 in Oklahoma City, where they meet Jim Lookabaugh's Indians of Tulsa Hill. They will return the following week to open night football in Pampa.

ALL AMERICAN NET ACES LOOK ALIKE TO PERRY

After He Defeats His Foe He Keeps on Playing

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 6. (AP)—Fred Perry appears to be poised for another year as men's singles tennis champion of America.

"Although the British holder of the title has not yet had an opportunity or occasion to unsheathe the lightning of his strokes, he is easily the cream of the 33 survivors in the third round of the current 53rd national tournament.

Perry cut down his first two opponents without letting himself out, although in each match he gave the gallery a glimpse of his strength.

"I've got to keep my game sharp," he explained today, "that's why I like to continue playing right after a match is finished."

To Perry all of his American challengers look alike, and he has no special fear of Roderich Menzel, the towering Czechoslovakian who is making his first appearance in the American championship.

"Some of the Americans—George Lott, Frankie Parker, Wilmer Allison and Berkeley Bell, for example—have been enjoying good years," he said. "That's very nice and I'm glad to hear it. They're nice fellows."

"But it's not what they've done that counts, it's what they do here. I'm ready for any of 'em."

While Perry drew another breather in Jack Talbot of Buckhill Falls, Pa., several of the American stars found themselves deeply involved in tight matches.

The stellar contest of the third round brought together Gregory S. Mangin, twice former national indoor titleholder, and the giant Menzel.

PADRES BOOST THEIR LEAD 3 GAMES IN WIN

BUCCANEERS DEFEATED BY SAN ANTONIO 7 TO 3

BY BILL PARKER Associated Press Sports Writer

The question of who will be who in the Texas league first division race is slowly being answered. With four playing days remaining, it is apparent San Antonio will win the straight-through flag.

The Missions skipped three full games ahead of the Galveston Buccaneers last night by shellacking the Bucs, 7 to 3. The Missions increased their percentage to 591 and the Bucs lowered theirs to 571.

The Beaumont Exporters are eight games behind San Antonio and five behind Galveston, but they are not worried for they have third place with a two and a half game lead over the fourth place Dallas Steers.

The Exporters eliminated Houston as a first division contender last night by drubbing the Buffaloes, 8 to 6. The trimming dropped Houston three and a half games out of first place.

It doesn't matter that Skipper Fred Brainard's Dallas Steers are ten and a half games behind San Antonio. What ticks the Steers is their two and a half game lead over the Tulsa Oilers for fourth place.

The Steers enjoyed easy picking last night when they blasted Oklahoma City for a 6 to 1 decision. Southpaw Charlie Barnabe just fooled around with the league cellar-dwellers.

Thirteen games behind San Antonio but more worried because of being two and a half games out of fourth place, the Tulsa Oilers suffered when they dropped a 6 to 1 battle to Fort Worth. C. A. Jordan limited the Oilers to four hits. His mates hammered Posedel for eleven wallops.

DETROIT LEAD INCREASED TO 6 FULL GAMES

GIANTS REDUCE CUBS TO STATUS OF 3RD-PLACE CLUB

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

The 1934 pennant races appeared today to have been reduced to matters of time—and not a very long time at that—for the New York Giants and Detroit Tigers.

Starting long stands on their home grounds, the two league leaders recorded a victory apiece yesterday, the Giants bowing over one of their leading rivals, the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 1.

While the Giants were reducing Chicago to the status of a third-place club and maintaining their 7-game margin over the St. Louis Cardinals, the Tigers poked out a 4 to 2 decision over the Athletics and increased their lead over the idle New York Yankees to 6 games.

The Giants made their "crucial" series with Chicago look rather unimportant as Hal Schumacher recovered from a poor start to pitch 6-hit ball for his twenty-first victory of the season. Joe Moore's fourteenth homer topped off the game.

The Cards conquered Brooklyn 2 to 1 on Dizzy Dean's three-hit fling and home runs by Jim Collins and Bill Delancey off Emil Leonard to go into second place. Dean won his twenty-fourth triumph, came back to beat Marcus Rowley, touched for 11 hits, received brilliant support in recording his twenty-first triumph.

The Cleveland Indians opened their third-place duel with Boston with an 11 to 2 triumph as Ralph Winegarner pitched a 9-hit game and Hal Trosky smashed in 6 runs, with his thirty-first homer and a single. The Browns shook the Senators loose from their last mathematical chance at the pennant by winning 6 to 4.

Wrestling Card To Be Presented On Monday Night

With the arrival of fall and cooler weather, wrestling will be resumed in the Pampa-Mor auditorium Monday night, local promoters announced this morning.

ODDS FAVOR BARNEY ROSS IN BOUT WITH McLARNIN TONIGHT

Dublin Dynamiter, Trained To Moment, Is Depending Upon His Right Hand.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6 (AP)—On the right fist of Jimmy McLarnin—a leather swathed five-inch shell that has never before failed him, tonight in succession—rests tonight the fighting future of two great ring men.

For 15 rounds in Madison Square Garden's bowl on Long Island, the Dublin dynamiter will swing that weapon on bright-eyed Barney Ross of Chicago, the youngster who laughed once at the fist and came on to make boxing history by adding Jimmy's welterweight championship to his own lightweight crown.

Others have tossed off McLarnin's right hand blasts the first time, but none dared the lightning a second time and survived. But so keen is the 25-year-old dual champion, so fast and sharp his punching, so neat his footwork and so nimble his experts feel history will be written. The odds in Ross's favor are 6 to 5 but the feeling is so strong for him that he may enter the ring the 2 to 1 favorite of a 35,000 crowd that will pay about $150,000 in gate receipts.

For McLarnin, trained to the moment, heavier than when Ross beat him in May, this can be only a punching fight. Not fast enough at 29, lag end of his career, to cope with the youth that bubbles out of the champion, Jimmy has drilled everlastingly on the right hand that leveled almost everything it has touched in 15 years of campaigning from the flyweight class up through the welterweights.

Sure that McLarnin will make him carry the fight and will lie in wait for him with a cocked right hand, Barney has promised to make that the issue. He intends to swarm over the Irishman from the start, punching so fast and so steadily that Jimmy will never get his sights drawn fine on his heavy artillery.

Victory for McLarnin would bear out two steady ring precedents such as boxing never before has known. Since the Madison Square Garden bowl was built for the second Sharkey-Schmeling match, no champion has defended his title successfully there.

With Ross already resting here, McLarnin planned to drive down from his Orangeburg, N. Y., camp in time for the weighing in at 1 p. m. (EST). The main bout was scheduled to start between 8:30 and 9 p. m. (EST). The show will not be broadcast.

ROAD RUNNERS THREE GAMES FORT WORTH CLUB AND PONCA CITY ARE MATCHED

Pampa will close the 1934 baseball season in a blaze of A-1 competition. The Road Runner management has scheduled games with three of the strongest teams in the southwest and expects to match one other series before the end of the season.

Word came from Fort Worth this morning that the Fort Worth Cats will be in Pampa for a three-game series September 21, 22, and 23. The House of David bearded team will be here September 19 and 20 to open five days of baseball-between-great-teams.

The beginning of the end" will start September 14, 15, and 16, when Ponca City will be here for a three-game series. The Road Runners hope to clash with the winner of the Oklahoma City sandlot tournament this week-end but have not received definite assurance that the winning team would come.

Ponca City has one of the outstanding clubs in Oklahoma. The oil companies of that city have organized the team and have spared no expense in getting the best players available.

The House of David is known to Pampa fans. The team appeared here earlier in the season and gave the Road Runners a drubbing which the locals hope to avenge.

Fort Worth's Cats have been playing great ball in the Texas league but started their spurt too late to get in the money. They will make a tour of the southwest with Pampa one of their stopping places.

THE SPORTS HORN

BY BILL PARKER Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 6 (AP)—Plans for the Texas league's Shaughnessy pennant play-off series will be formulated here probably Sunday or Monday.

President J. Alvin Gardner made the announcement last night along with one that the annual Texas league meeting will be held here October 13 and 14.

A spectator at last night's Oklahoma City and Dallas game, Gardner said he had delayed naming an exact date for the play-off meeting because of the uncertainty of the first division race.

SIX-STATE DROUGHT MEETING WILL BE HELD IN SAN ANGELO

RELIEF TO BE STRENGTHENED RE-ORGANIZED

LAWRENCE WESTBROOK TO PRESIDE ON TUESDAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The federal relief administration disclosed today Assistant Administrator Lawrence Westbrook had called a six-state meeting to be held in San Angelo, Texas, Tuesday with a view to reorganizing and strengthening drought relief in the southwest.

Westbrook will invite state and county officials, representative ranchers and farmers and all others interested to the conference, in an effort to obtain the best opinion as to the immediate and winter needs of the drought area.

States to be represented are Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, Colorado, and New Mexico.

Reports that such a meeting was in prospect were repeatedly denied yesterday both at the relief administration and at the farm administration.

Those attending the meeting will include representatives of the relief administration, the farm administration, and the farm credit administration.

Houston Hart, member of the Texas relief commission and a prominent Texas publisher, will preside over the conference.

Westbrook left today for Texas. He will go first to Houston, to attend a rural rehabilitation conference, and then on to San Angelo.

Allred Reported Opposed to U. S. Control of Oil

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 (AP)—The democratic gubernatorial nominees of Oklahoma, Texas, and California may get together to oppose any renewed attempt at federal control of oil production within the states. Rep. E. W. Marland, the Oklahoma nominee, disclosed last night he would seek an "understanding" with James V. Allred, the Texas nominee, before house committee hearings on oil legislation scheduled in both states in November.

Marland, an opponent of the Thomas-Dixey federal control bill, which failed in the last congress, said he was prepared to fight vigorously any such plan.

He left the impression that Allred felt about as he did. He said he also would approach Upton Sinclair, California nominee, along the same lines.

"This oil situation can be handled by the states themselves," Marland said.

Federal control in individual states, he continued, would amount almost to "nationalization" of oil.

Cattlemen Ask Truck Limit Be Suspended Now

AMARILLO, Sept. 6 (AP)—Panhandle cattlemen today were awaiting a reply from Governor Ferguson to a request made for suspension of truck load limit on feed shipped into the drought area.

The request was made yesterday when reduced rail rates were discontinued. The request was sent by Jay Taylor, president of the Panhandle Livestock association.

It read: "Railroads today discontinued drought rate on feed-stuffs moving into drought area. We are still suffering from the drought in this section and urgently request that the load limit on trucks hauling cotton seed cake and forage be removed until April 1."

The attorney general's department expressed an opinion that the problem was one for the legislature to solve.

Under the truck regulations, the load limit is 8,000 pounds per truck.

IRION SHERIFF ARRESTED SHERWOOD, Sept. 6 (AP)—Sam A. Harkley, who resigned as sheriff of Irion county Tuesday, today was arrested and immediately made bonds of $200 each on two aggravated assault cases, and bonds of $100 in two disturbance of the peace cases. The charges grew out of an alleged attack upon Frank Emerick, one-time Irion sheriff, and two companions the night of the August election.

METHVIN HELD IN LOUISIANA FOR RANGERS

SQUEALER CLAIMS HE IS VICTIM OF A DOUBLE-CROSS

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 6 (AP)—A motor car running along a street in North Sydney towing a baby carriage and a screaming woman pursuing the car on foot caused commotion here recently. There was a jam in traffic. A mother was pushing her baby in a perambulator across the street behind the cars. As the traffic started, a woman driver let her automobile slip back as she shifted her gears. A rear bumper gripped the "pram" and the car jerked the buggy from the hands of the astonished mother and took it along.

The driver was unconscious of the pandemonium that broke out behind her until a wildly excited butcher left his shop door and danced in front of the car. Then the surprised driver jammed on her brakes.

The least disturbed person concerned was the undamaged baby.

Recently pardoned by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson for lending information that led to the killing of Clyde and Bonnie Meyer, hanged in the Caddo parish jail today and charged "frameup" as Texas Rangers prepared to come here to question him about the ruthless killings of two Texas highway patrolmen.

Hughes covered him with a pistol and arrested him.

"I've been double crossed," Methvin said.

Sheriff Hughes searched him and found a pistol strapped to his side. He was placed in jail on a warrant charging Methvin with complicity in the robbery of a Montgomery, La., bank several months ago.

After communicating with Texas and Oklahoma officers, Sheriff Hughes said he was convinced Methvin would be questioned in connection with the slaying of the Texas highway patrolmen near Grapevine, Tex., last Easter Sunday, and possibly for the killing of an Oklahoma officer and the kidnaping of another last spring.

The pardon issued to Methvin, after Methvin's father had tipped officers to the whereabouts of Barrow and Bonnie Parker immediately prior to their deaths, stated he had given "valuable information" which led to the apprehension of the slayers of the patrolmen.

However, officers here said new evidence led them to believe that Methvin and not Barrow or his woman companion killed the patrolmen.

"There is a joker in that pardon," Sheriff Hughes said. "It says previous crimes with which he is charged." Methvin has never been charged with the Grapevine slayings. He can be charged now if the Texas officers see fit.

Capt. D. E. Hamer of the Texas Rangers said at Austin that he would decide immediately whether he would go to Shreveport.

Methvin joined Barrow and Bonnie Parker after he had been freed from the Eastham state prison farm in Texas by a machine gun barrage laid down at dawn last January by Barrow.

Sheriff Hughes said Methvin entered his office and said:

"I'm Henry Methvin and I've come to get some clothes of mine 'cuz you're holding."

"Yes," Sheriff Hughes replied. "Come in and have a seat and I'll get them," he then left the office, obtained a pistol and came back.

Methvin, eyeing a rifle in the corner of the room, asked:

"What's that for?"

Sheriff Hughes replied that he was "going out to do some shooting" and while Methvin peered at the gun, he pulled a pistol and covered Methvin. He raised his hands slowly and said:

"I've been double crossed."

JUVENILE delinquency is more of a problem here and elsewhere than many persons imagine. Delinquency in modern life is often of a nature which does not attract attention until some crime is committed. There are no statistics kept on moral delinquencies. And of those which do attract attention, the courts during their criminal careers, 88 per cent continue to be law violators, according to McCall's magazine. Modern young folk are confronted with newspapers, movies, and adult knowledge much earlier than the young people of several decades ago. Many of them have the mentality of adult criminals yet the responsibility or adolescents. And strangely, 41.6 per cent of the juvenile criminals catalogued were normal or supernormal in aptitudes.

Duncan, shot in the groin, died of complications Tuesday night and Huey, who was free under bonds on charges of freeing Borger and of misappropriating county funds, was re-arrested and charged with Duncan's death.

Harold Rothchild made a business trip to Amarillo this morning.

RELIEF BILL

The charge that field agents of the federal emergency relief administration "very delicately applied thumbscrews" to make Texas relief commission policies ineffectual was made by Adams.

He added the charge that the FERA also was trying to make relief a permanent policy and declared "I have never seen people so cowed as they are about this relief. I am afraid they consider Mr. Hopkins (Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator) is a big bad wolf up there."

Adams declared newspapers jumped on nearly everybody else (in state relief) but I haven't seen them jump on Mr. Hopkins.

"Doesn't every county stand in the same position with Adam Johnson (Texas director) as the state with Hopkins?" asked Senator Will Martin of Hillsboro. "If our counties offend Johnson, aren't they afraid Adam Johnson will close the purse?"

"I don't think so," answered Adams.

Mayor W. L. Blanchard of Orange defended relief administration in Orange county against a petition recently filed by the veterans club of America of Orange. He termed the organization "the red wing of Veterans of Foreign Wars" and asserted relief administration in his county was above average in efficiency.

Blanchard explained the relief burden in Orange county was abnormally heavy because of depletion of timber, the raw material used in many manufacturing plants which were forced to close.

to enforce the treaty of Versailles," in that connection.

The senate munitions committee carried the assurance of President Roosevelt that there will be no interference with its war profit study.

Backed by this guarantee, the committee turned to evidence that American concerns did a big business behind the scenes of the Pan American conference last winter at Montevideo.

The committee had received word that certain government department and munitions manufacturers' representatives wanted to confer with it about keeping evidence from open hearings. The group met in executive session, but the representatives did not appear.

Committee members said that at first some of the government departments had been reluctant to turn over certain files about the activities of munitions manufacturers, but that President Roosevelt had sent word to make the information available.

Chairman Nye (R., N. D.) told reporters he would present evidence that American concerns cooperated with foreign munitions makers in disseminating armament propaganda in Europe.

At least 10 were seriously wounded. Estimates of the total number of strikers and police officers guarding the Dunean mills.

A man said to be a striker died today at Augusta, Ga., of wounds received yesterday when a trapped policeman shot his way out of a crowd of pickets.

A deputy sheriff and a striker were killed yesterday in a gun fight between officers and strikers at the Trion cotton mill at Trion, Ga.

Efforts of strike leaders to shut down mills now operating met resistance from employes intent on working.

At Dighton, Mass., a delegation of more than 200 workers from Fall River, Mass., seeking to picket the plant of the Mt. Hope Finishing company, were turned back by armed guards stationed behind piles of sand on either side of roads entering the town.

The mills of the Riverside and Dan River Cotton company at Danville, Va., center of Virginia's textile industry as yet unaffected by the strike, opened without incident after an all night vigil by more than a hundred armed police and civilian deputies.

Workers in the Biddeford, Me., plant of the Pepperell mills numbering 2,000 went to work today apparently unperturbed by reports that a "flying squadron" was planning a demonstration at the plant.

In Pawtucket, R. I., officials of three factories employing about 2,500 men announced suspension of operations. In each instance they were given protection from pickets.

Only 100 workers remained on the job at Lowell, Mass., where 3,500 were normally employed. Mills not previously closed were shut down today.

Built Like a Fish, It's a Submarine and It Works

It looks like a big metal fish, but it's really a submarine, vest pocket type. Ten feet long and weighing 1000 pounds, it has a speed of six miles an hour and submerges to a depth of 17 feet. The inventor, Barney Connett, 30, of Chicago, is shown as he demonstrated the craft at the Jackson Park Yacht Club in Chicago.

NO LOSS OF COTTON MARKETS SEEN

The South is not about to lose its cotton markets to foreign countries because of the Bankhead Act and the cotton adjustment program, according to reliable facts gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture. Material furnished by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration clearly shows that foreign countries have increased cotton production to the limit for years. A careful study of each of America's cotton growing competitors indicates that the possibility of further increases are very unlikely in the near future.

If American cotton prices were to go to very high levels and remain there for 15 or 20 years foreign cotton production would increase, it is believed. As matters now stand, America has a large available surplus of cotton to more than satisfy all foreign markets. American cotton exports for the two years 1931-32 and 1932-33 exceed all exports for the last 13 years except for one year. The exports for the cotton year recently ended are expected to be nearly as high as those of the years just preceding.

It has been said that every time we reduce foreign countries increase their cotton acreage. Figures do not bear this out. The whole cotton world seems to move more or less together in increasing or decreasing acreage. It is said that last year we plowed up 10 million acres of cotton and foreign countries promptly increased their cotton 4 million acres. The foreign increase was planted before the American plow-up. Cotton planting dates are about the same all over the world. America increased plantings 4 million acres in 1933 and so did the rest of the world.

Foreign cotton production steadily increased from 1890 to 1933. Some people are alarmed about this because they think this increase will continue indefinitely. As a matter of fact, foreign countries have nearly reached their limit of profitable cotton competition. It will take very high prices over a long period of years to bring forth much more competition. The Agricultural Adjustment cotton program merely aims at preventing towering surpluses that bring poverty to the South. It plans always to have plenty of cotton to sell at home and abroad. A reasonable American price is too low to encourage unlimited foreign production.

It should always be kept in mind that the Agricultural Adjustment Administration cotton program does not aim at permanent reduction. It does propose to help farmers to cooperate to adjust the supply of cotton to effective demand. For the first time in history the Southern farmer and business man has the opportunity to work out a long-time plan that will avoid most of the tail spins in cotton price which have periodically depressed the South for 50 years. The plan has not surrendered to foreign markets and is not likely to do so.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

BY ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — No longer do songs "belong" to the singers who make them famous, and by the same token one big song hit punchily "put over" is no longer a guarantee of fame for the singer.

In the old days singers sang hits and were forever afterward associated with those hits. Today Eva Tangany is still remembered as the "I Don't Care" girl; Fritzi Scheff is hallowed in older memories for "Kiss Me Again"; many people know it was Hazel Dawn, and no other, who sang "Beautiful Lady," and Blanche Ring who did "Rings on My Fingers and Bells on My Toes."

The progress of a "hit" in those days was slow. Introduced in New York, months later it might be taken on the road by the original singer. Still later it would reach vaudeville houses, perhaps, and tiny old-fashioned phonographs would be ringing it out as best they could. Sheet music, played on the family piano in the parlor did its part to stave off the public eagerness for the "latest tune."

Song Hits Die Faster
But song hits today, thanks to talkies, radios and improved phono-

BEGINNINGS OF METHODISM ARE TOLD BY TEXAN

Methodist Centennial Is Observed at San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Beginnings of Methodism in Texas with all its drama of hardship and sacrifice were traced in detail today as thousands of visitors to the Texas Methodist Centennial gathered in the municipal auditorium to pay tribute to the pioneers who founded their church in this state while it was still a province of Mexico.

The earliest foundations of the church in Texas were detailed by husky sopranos, and maudlin yodelers—does the rest. "A singer," says Powell, "is just as good as his last song—at least in the movies. It's a good thing, in some ways. It warns us not to let down. I work harder right now than I did in my first picture, and I expect to keep it up."

16-Year-Old Boy Is Charged With Slaying Sisters

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 6. (AP)—Sixteen-year-old Cervino Palma, who authorities said criminally attacked his two young sisters and locked them in an ice box to die of suffocation, faces murder charges today.

The youth confessed, District Attorney Neil McAllister said, shortly after the funerals of the girls, Mary, 7, and Maryann, 6, yesterday. He was quoted by McAllister as saying he locked his sisters in the ice box, knowing they would die, because they did not wash dishes to suit him.

McAllister said two murder and incest complaints, sworn to by Deputy Sheriff Charles Ogle, will be filed with a request the youth be turned over to the juvenile court for punishment.

The little girls, two of the eleven children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Palma, were found dead in the ice box at the parents' ranch at Wilton, near here, Saturday night.

Noel Coward's Yacht Wrecked; Actor Stranded

ILE ROUSSE, Corsica, Sept. 6. (AP)—Noel Coward, actor and playwright, was stranded on this Mediterranean island by the wrecking of the yacht, Mari, which he had chartered for a cruise.

Coward was on the shore when a sudden storm Saturday drove the little vessel against rocks. As the cabins flooded, members of the crew sprang into the swirling water and fought their way to shore.

All of Coward's clothing, his mon-

SYNOPSIS: Captain Wong Bo and Flint, his radio operator, plan to scuttle the "Boldero" for the insurance. But meanwhile the ship has had to put in at the Dutch port of Sinbao because the owner of her cargo of wild animals, Angus McLeod, must have an appendicitis operation. Harvey Bowers, big game hunter, volunteers to accompany the animals on to Singapore for McLeod, and engages Ivy Green, animal trainer from a defunct circus, to help. She annoys and interests him by calling him a coward for shooting animals.

Chapter Eight. IVY'S STORY.

Having snubbed Mr. Bowers and put him in his place, Ivy Green was willing to be friendly. Not warmly friendly, but conveniently so. It was not to be forgotten that he had lifted her, by the offer of employment, out of a state which bordered on despair. Her entire worth in this world had been the live tigers and the monkey Helen, and Helen, in terms of dollars and cents, would hardly in a country overrun with monkeys, have fetched the price of a square meal.

She was going to work for Bowers and she must manage to get along with him. But what a ridiculous situation! She may have been hard on Bowers, but she could have been much kinder to a man or to a woman, even to a child, but in whatever concerned the dumb animals, she was hypersensitive, and there she was engaged to work in close companionship throughout a long voyage with a man who at a cursory examination appeared to be her opposite, a man who delighted in hunting down and slaughtering those things which she herself most loved to protect and cherish.

As a matter of fact, they were more nearly opposites than she suspected. If Bowers was ever unkind to a man or woman or a child, it was by accident. It was an unkindness which he had no power to sustain. From cave-dwelling ancestors, perhaps, he had inherited the instinct to hunt down and kill those animals which must have made the lives of the cave-dwellers a life of horrible nightmare. He killed without compunction or remorse, but he had never killed an elephant or a monkey. He never would. And he was rather foolish about dogs.

His most remote ancestors, perhaps, had lived in trees. Those more recent ones, who had dwelt in caves, had perhaps domesticated the elephant and the dog. He never took the trouble to reason these things out. They were instincts. He could not see a lion or a tiger without an itch to put a bullet through its head. But under the circumstances Bowers found it in his heart to wish that his success as a hunter had not made him so very well known. Ivy Green attracted him more and more. He had perhaps underestimated her good looks. It was a pity that they had so little in common, that their respective interests and hobbies, indeed, made them antagonistic to each other.

On the drive through the clean and colorful streets of Sinbao, she vouchsafed a little information about herself, but not much.

Her father had been a naturalist.

"There had always been lots of pets and things, monkey, mouse-deer, birds and snakes. She could not remember a time when she had not had important daily duties to perform among these."

Her father's parents had died before she was born. He had neither brothers nor sisters nor any relations with whom he cared to correspond. His correspondence was all with scientific men, scientific societies and museums.

He had been distinguished in a way, but not so distinguished as he deserved to be. If she had a smattering of education, it was owing to his efforts. Outside of the scientific books, which were many, there had been other books, but not many. Her father had said that they were good books, and when she had been taught to read and write and figure a little, she had acquired from them such little learning as she had—hence the quotation from Blake which had so greatly surprised Bowers.

Her father had died very hideously of black water fever, and left her stranded. At the time, she was 15 years of age and firmly determined not to starve to death. Bowers got the impression that some kind Dutchman had taken care of her for a year or two. How she immediately had fared she did say positively.

This period had been followed by a short experience with an opera company which gave performances of Gilbert and Sullivan and went on the rocks in California.

Since then, with a number of hiatuses, which she left to the imagination, she had been in the circus business. First, as a snake-charmer; and then, following the demise by tiger-violence of "Goralkin the Animal King," she had volunteered to take over his troupe of dangerous felines and go on with his act.

It was not as if she had had no experience. She had sometimes appeared with Goralkin as his assistant, and she had watched him so much that she knew precisely how to confuse a beast when it became suddenly exasperated, and how to win its confidence between times.

Tigers, she said, were supposed to be the most recalcitrant of the cat family. Most trainers preferred to work with lions; but naturally in India and Malaysia, where these are not indignant, you had to work with tigers and leopards or nothing. Goralkin had been a mixed troupe, tigers and leopards, but the species had not been happy together and she had gradually eliminated the latter. She wished that Bowers could have seen her tigers. She had known how to keep their coats beautiful and their dispositions calm.

One, an old tigress named Maudie, had been a love of a thing, always changing herself down to be liked and petted. Ivy Green had been sure of Maudie's good manners that she had sometimes taken her for a walk through the main street of a native town.

"When the villagers saw us coming," she said, "it was fun to see them disappear." She laughed a little at the recollection, then suddenly frowned. "And then there was this Matassori business."

Bowers asked her about it. It was the usual thing, apparently. Business had not been good and while there had still been a little money in the cash-box, Senator Matassori had thought best to have it all for himself.

Ivy Green was under the impression that she might have shared the money with him as Signora Matassori if she had ever given him any encouragement. But he had been, it seemed, a detestable Italian, fat and greasy. Once, the worse for liquor, he had tried to force his attentions on her. She had wrenched free and managed to open Maudie's cage.

Maudie loved nothing so much as to be invited out for a romp. The moment you started to fiddle with the fastenings of her cage door the anticipation of immediate and delightful pleasures caused her to open her vast mouth as wide as possible, and to roar tremendously.

The effect upon anyone not intimately acquainted with her disposition, was disquieting. As Maudie came roaring out of the cage, Senator Matassori fled howling from the tent.

He had never renewed his molestations. He had leered and ogled and hinted, but he had not dared to touch her. She had told him that if he ever laid his hands on her again, he would have the worst kind of tiger trouble. She would lose them all, all five of them, an sic them on him, just as if they had been five highly trained police dogs. "And he believed you?" asked Bowers.

"No," said Ivy Green, "and again yes. He wasn't sure."

Bowers chuckled. "What was the truth of the matter," he asked.

"The truth? If I'd turned them loose some of them might have run amok, but I wouldn't have been allowed to choose the victims."

She asked him about McLeod's shipment, and of just what it consisted.

"I was only on board a short time," said Bowers. "There are two tigers, beauties. Mr. Flint, the wireless, made a point of showing them to me. Then McLeod sent for me and I had only the impression of a lot of cages and crates and things and glimpses of some of the birds and small fry that you see in these parts. I noticed the head of a big python sticking out of some litter, and a lot of monkeys exactly like Helen. She'll have plenty of company on the voyage."

"Any other big cats?" she asked.

"I think not. There were two little honey-bears, cubs, awfully cute."

"They are cute," said she. "We had one once that wasn't happy unless he was wearing a nicely pipe-clayed helmet, just like a man. If you gave him a package of cigars, he would eat it on the spot."

Tomorrow, Bowers tells McLeod a white lie.

A Washington Daybook

BY KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON—Polks whose memories retain glimpses of Pat Hurley as Hoover war secretary in action before congressional committees, not so long ago, hardly could have been surprised at the verbal lambasting he gave, not to the American Liberty league itself, but to its sponsorship. His is just about the fieriest disposition the racial background of his name implies. He gets "his Irish up" most emphatically now and then.

Another Hurley, nor any other of the last administration inner circle, has forgotten that Jovett Shouse conducted, Johnny Raskob-financed democratic national committee post-1928 publicity campaign. Hurley styles it the "smear-Hoover" campaign, and what Hurley says out loud must be what a lot of other Hurleys, including a distinguished citizen of Palo Alto, California, himself, think.

Whatever that particular group within the G. O. P. ranks may think about the "principles" of the league, its major democratic personalities would forbid their association with the movement. The Hurley statement merely publicizes a situation already well understood.

There is more to it, not so well known. A very distinguished and formerly high-ranking republican whose loyalty during the Hoover administration was always rated as party rather than personal, is just so suspicious. He has said privately of the league that he would "not touch it with a 40-foot pole." His reasons for feeling that way, no doubt, may be different from Hurley's stated objections to the sponsorship, but are just as strong.

From a party point of view, an old guard republican conception of sound strategy at the moment, a good many reasons for aloofness from A. L. L. can be discerned. The blank public silence of Chairman Fletcher of the republican national committee about it is highly significant.

The committee-draft party platform framed at Chicago was definitely for conservative conservation. Fletcher's selection had the same slant. He was supposed to have special contacts in Pennsylvania and elsewhere with groups alarmed by "new deal" goings-on and able to provide financial war munitions.

Now comes A. L. L. to range that same conservative field in search of "saying members." It would not be surprising if Fletcher regarded every dollar thus gathered in by the league for its presently declared non-partisan "educational" purposes as a net loss to his own partisan war-chest.

Millions Back Pay for Teachers

The neat sum of $26,000,000 was starting into circulation as this throng jammed a Chicago street. The crowd is part of the army of 17,000 Chicago school teachers lined up to draw seven months' pay, which the city was unable to give them until the RFC loaned the money to the board of education. A wave of buying boomed business in city stores and credit-ports relieved as millions in debts were paid by the happy instructors.

SCHOOL HEALTH SUPERVISION TO BE VERY THOROUGH, WITH EVERY PUPIL GIVEN ATTENTION

Health supervision in Pampa school district increased in scope and effectiveness this year.

Miss Llewellyn Shelby, graduate of Baylor university and recently registered nurse with Baylor hospital at Dallas, has arrived to take up her duties as health director. She will be assisted by Mrs. J. W. French, health assistant, who also will cooperate with school principals on matters of attendance.

They will have general health supervision in the district, including sanitation and inspections. Every student will be carefully examined and recommendations made. It is the intention of the department to make perfect attendance as nearly possible as conditions permit. Absences connected with illness will be prevented in many cases by preventive work.

Miss Shelby is visiting local physicians and asking their cooperation. She is emphasizing that her department has no desire to ask unreasonable services of the doctors. She is

All Methodist Colleges Placed Under One Head

AUSTIN, Sept. 6. (AP)—The task of der action of a joint commission on Methodist educational work, all Methodist colleges in Texas, excepting Southern Methodist university, today were coordinated under one head.

A constitution for the southwestern system of colleges, by which the new system will be known, was adopted. The commission, appointed at a meeting of the five Texas conferences at a Dallas meeting in April, had plenary powers for formulating a plan for coordination of the colleges.

A joint board of trustees will control the system. The board will be formed of six representatives each from the five participating conferences, half of whom will be clergymen and half laymen. Each college will have the authority to elect a local board of trustees from within the bounds of the conference in which it is located. At least five of the local board members must also be members of the joint board of trustees.

Supervisory control over each college is given the joint board under the new set-up, but it is provided that each college shall be separately incorporated and shall hold the property and all other assets, endowments and funds of the colleges under its jurisdiction. The local boards are prohibited from purchasing additional property, launching building enterprises, inaugurating campaigns for funds or incurring any encumbrances or indebtedness, beyond ordinary budgetary requirements, except by order of the joint board.

REALLOCATION OF LEGISLATIVE DISTRICTS IS BEING ADVOCATED

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 6. (AP)—Un-reallocating Texas' 254 counties in to new senatorial and legislative districts, a constitutional duty disregarded by two legislatures, may be urged upon the current special session.

Representative W. E. Pope of Corpus Christi today sought agreements among legislators renominated for their positions on new districts. He was drafting his bill and planned to introduce it "if the session lasts long enough, and the governor is willing."

Threats during the preceding democratic campaigns to force the legislature to consider the subject

Final Expense Account Filed By Candidates

AUSTIN, Sept. 6. (AP)—All but two of the candidates for state wide office in the August democratic primary have filed final expense accounts. The dead line for placing reports in the mail was last midnight.

James V. Allred, attorney general and nominee for governor, reported expenditure of $4,191.86 and his campaign manager of $4,516.70. The statements were filed separately and covered expenses of both primaries. Tom F. Hunter, defeated candidate, spent $1,364.90 in the runoff primary. Before the first primary, he spent $4,732.20.

William McCraw, successful candidate for attorney general, spent $2,414.44 and his opponent, Walter Woodward $2,286.24.

Walter Woodall reported expenses of $2,290.07 in obtaining the nomination for lieutenant governor. His unsuccessful opponent, Joe Moore, spent $1,483.95.

For railroad commissioner, Lon A. Smith expended $2,383.83 in obtaining nomination. John Pundt, runner-up candidate, spent $2,164.

Statements of John Sharp, nominee for membership on the supreme court, and H. S. Lattimore, unsuccessful candidate for the position, had not been received by the secretary of state.

HOT DOG!

PARIS, France (AP)—The real American hot dog has come to France at last. Although a somewhat similar delicacy, called "saucisse de francfort," had been on sale, the American variety only recently made its appearance at smart hotels and sidewalk cafes. It boomed overnight into fashion.

Real Bar-B-Q Meats and Chicken. Canary Sandwich Shop, 322 W. Foster, Phone 760. (Adv.)

by a supreme court mandamus prompted Pope to undertake the task, he said. The constitution is interpreted to require legislative redistricting immediately after each decennial federal census. Congressional redistricting was effected at the regular session in 1933, a biennium tardy.

Predictions of some in south and southwest Texas that the proposed redistricting bill would attempt to "legislate" Senator Archie Parr of Benavides, defeated for re-election after a score of years' membership, back into office, were denied by Pope. The dean of the senate was defeated by Jim Neal, Webb county ranchman.

"The bill could not affect any nominees," Pope explained. "It would become effective in the elections of legislators for the 45th legislature. The next will be the 44th."

Pope admitted he had encountered difficulty in obtaining agreements "for I find they are jealous of the right to select their own districts, although all members seem anxious to redistrict."

Legislative redistricting bills proposed in the two preceding legislatures failed even to reach the stage of floor consideration.
