

YOUTH WHO TOOK ALABAMA CO-ED ON FATAL RIDE HELD FOR MURDER

Twinkles
Water is fundamental in the chemistry of human life. Oil is wonderful, but not fundamental. Children folk are rejoicing because a 650-gallon-per-minute water well has been brought in.

Politicians think of nearly everything these days. We predict that it won't be long before one of them fakes a kidnaping to work up sympathy.

Strange are the ways of men. Amarillo is proud to point to a possible house shortage. Pampa struggles with a shortage more than two years old.

Skippy, the family pup, has that lay-up-for-the-rainy-day instinct, but burying a bone cannot be compared in efficiency with the tin-can process of humans.

But if all humans were as energetic as the ants we have under a back yard walk, there would be no famine anywhere in the world.

Brevitorials

Musings of the moment: The world is full of problems. Uncle Sam has plenty. So has Texas. So has Gray county. So has Pampa. So have we all. Perhaps it was intended to be thus. Nature is full of problems. Every living thing has its particular enemies and its methods of defense. Death, even violent death, is a sort of governor in the scheme of things. Without such control, mankind would not long continue to dominate the earth.

HOUSING is Pampa's No. 1 problem right now. Much work has been done to make Pampa a city in which it is good to live. We have such a city. But we have not enough houses to accommodate the persons who wish to live here. No group knows better than the employes of The NEWS how keen is the housing shortage. Almost constantly someone is standing at the front counter asking if the day's classified ads include a house, room, or apartment for rent.

THE Board of City Development is trying to focus attention on the housing problem and interest those who have the means to take remedial action. A meeting will be called soon to discuss means for financing construction. Money has not been available. Wages have been so low that they merely provided the bare necessities of life. Uncle Sam has passed much legislation intended to make private financing possible. Whether the latest effort is as important as the home loan act will soon be known.

It would be erroneous to assume that Pampa alone has such a problem. For several years, construction of homes has been seriously retarded. Even in boom years the building was predominantly that of business structures. The nation of relatively good living standards should also be a nation of homes, but it isn't. We are nomadic, albeit agricultural people. We do not pass good homes from one generation to the next. Children prefer not to continue married life in the old home place. They take an apartment and shortly move to a better one if such can be found. This habit in part explains the tendency to rent rather than buy, although the deeper reason is that residence property bears an unfair tax burden.

IN 49 of 268 cities surveyed by the National Association of Real Estate Boards there is an acute shortage of single-family residences. Only the larger cities seem to have enough houses. Over-building of apartment houses probably explains this phenomenon. But there are hundreds of thousands of obsolete apartment houses in this country which are tolerated only because they serve cheaply those unfortunate who are in the lower salary brackets.

MARRIAGES, retarded in number by the depression, are beginning to take up the slack in the statistical tables. Marriage should mean new homes—new houses, new jobs for the long-suffering carpenters, masons, plumbers, painters, and architects. The supply of workers is ample. There is nothing unusual in the demand. Our American civilization is expanding and we must have more houses to contain the population.

THE plight of young Pampa couples attempting to establish homes is easily imagined. These couples are in competition with hundreds of families here by reason of oil development. With better roads, Pampa is the ideal residence center of this oil field area. Pampa cannot reach her destiny of development without more houses. Instances arise every day to illustrate this fact.

PAMPA has builded well. Gray county has done likewise. But this building brought necessary debts. The roads, streets, and public buildings must be paid for over a long period of years. Taxes will be low in proportion to the stability of or ongoing population. Pampa can safely face only one direction—forward. She has facilities—except houses—for many people. The streets, the courthouse, the city hall, the sewer and water systems can stand much heavier use with but

'PERCHMOUTH' IS CAPTURED

Inch Of Rain Falls In Pampa Area

LONG DROUGHT IS BROKEN ON NORTH PLAINS

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR 'TEN-DAY RAINY SPELL'

Farmers throughout the Pampa area snuggly reported "an inch" of rain had fallen on their sun-baked lands. The precipitation in Pampa was 1.25 inches, according to official federal rain gauge measurements taken by a member of The NEWS staff, who is federal cooperative observer.

Clyde Carruth, dairy farmer in the Laketon community, told The NEWS that the rainfall was much heavier here than at his place. The rain fell in torrents at times, accompanied by much lightning. Roads, slippery last night, were easily passable today.

Added to the 15 of an inch of rain which fell night before last and early Wednesday, last night's downpour increased the total for the year to date to approximately the entire precipitation of 1933. Plowing will go forward now where it has been delayed and many farmers will plant late forage crops.

By The Associated Press.

Rain came to the drought-stricken Panhandle again last night, bringing renewed hope to farmers and ranchers.

It was generally considered in most localities that the drought was broken on the north plains. H. T. Colman, United States weather observer in Amarillo, said there were prospects for a 10-day "rainy spell."

The feed problem, which livestock men have faced with despair in recent weeks, while they prayed for changed prospects over night. Ranchers said if the wet spell brought them a reasonably good season and frost came late, winter grazing would be good and their cattle would be wintered at home.

Cattle now on the ranges, due largely to the government's buying.

VULCAN BRINGS IN 15,810,000-FOOT GAS WELL

Ohio Fuel Locates Two Wells on D'Spain

BY GEORGE L. GUTHRIE,
Consulting Geologist, Combs-Warley Bldg.

The Vulcan Oil & Gas company No. 1 Massey in section 41, block 25, H&GN, Gray county, was tested for a 15,810,000 cubic foot gasser.

The Dixon Creek Oil & Refining company's No. 5 Horner in section 139, block 3, I&GN, averaged 393 barrels daily on test.

The Ohio Fuel company located two wells on its D'Spain lease. No. 3 is 330 feet from the south line and 990 feet from the east line of the southeast quarter of section 52, block 24, H&GN. No. 4 is 330 feet from the south line 990 feet from the west line of the southeast quarter of section 52, block 24, H&GN.

The Lion Oil company brought in a new well in Live Oak county three miles west of the Houston Oil company's Lucas gas field. The well is known as McNeill No. 1 and came in flowing an estimated 400 barrels of pipe line oil daily. The pay in the well was from 4,370-76. The Phillips Petroleum company, Darby Petroleum company, Humble, and Magnolia Petroleum company have acreage in the vicinity. Recently the Humble company paid $25,000 for a 1-16 royalty in the McNeill 1,000 acres.

Bishop Argues For 'Teeth' In NIRA Section

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The international wheat conference adjourned today in London after approving a recommendation of the governments concerned that new systems for quarterly export quotas be adopted this year. The conference failed to reach an agreement on the amount of the quotas for each country which are to be decided at the next meeting if the governments have approved the plans.

National Crude Allowable Cut

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The national allowable crude oil production for September was set today by Secretary Ickes at 2,341,700 barrels, a decrease of 107,690 barrels from the August quota of 2,449,390 daily.

The allowable was reduced chiefly because of the usual seasonal decline in gasoline consumption and unexpected drop in gasoline demand due to the drought. Another contributing factor was a desire to lower gasoline inventories, which were described as still considerably above a sound economic level.

The cut in the quota was distributed among all producing states except Colorado, Louisiana, and Montana, whose allowances were not changed.

Texas, California, and Oklahoma, the leading producers, were cut 32,900, 33,200 and 19,100 barrels to respective daily averages of 968,400, 457,000, and 466,100.

Believes Government Must Compel Employers to Recognize Clause in Law.

In the next seven months the Roosevelt administration must put teeth into Section 7-A of the National Industry Recovery Act, and must make employers recognize the collective bargaining provision, or the depression will continue, and the country will gradually drift into chaos, Bishop Robert E. Lucey of Amarillo told a large crowd at the First Baptist church last night in a speech directed to labor.

The head of the Catholic church in the Amarillo diocese which includes all of the Panhandle said that his corporations are fighting to the last ditch and will spend their last dollar to prevent the organization of labor. "We have now the strange paradox of capital fighting the only organization that can bring back prosperity—the American Federation of Labor," he declared. "If the administration will support labor and put teeth into Section 7-A, prosperity will return, but there can be none until it does."

Gives Strike Causes

Bishop Lucey declared that the rash of strikes now tormenting the nation is a result of the large corporations' determination to prevent collective bargaining which was guaranteed labor in NIRA. He pointed out that the Wagner labor bill which died in the last congress would have put teeth into Section 7-A and would have enabled the government to punish employers who prevented collective bargaining. He said a showdown on the issue was imminent and that the government will have to make a decision within seven months.

"If the government will support labor, we will not back to pro-union," he declared. "When labor is insecure, property values are insecure. Prosperity itself is based upon honest wages and honest prices."

The bishop, who was a well-known labor and church leader, in California before he was appointed to the Amarillo bishopric last spring, defended labor unions and

Work on Shelter Belt Suspended

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The forest service said today it had suspended work on the proposed 1,000-mile tree shelter belt pending allocation of part of the $75,000,000 authorized by President Roosevelt to plant the trees.

Fred Morrell, forester in charge of the shelter belt, which will extend through the drought area from North Dakota to Texas, has returned to Washington pending renewal of work.

Forestry officials have halted surveys in the region until additional money is made available.

HAVANA, Aug. 23 (AP)—Two high ranking Cuban army officers were sentenced to death by a court martial today for participation in a revolutionary plot against Col. Fulgencio Batista, commander-in-chief of the army.

MAN MET GIRL FIRST TIME ON DAY OF DEATH

CONTINUES TO ASSERT HIS INNOCENCE TO POLICE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 23 (AP)—Harold Taylor, who took 19-year-old Faye New on an automobile ride from which she never returned, is held today for her murder.

Taylor was one of two men subjected to steady questioning after the Howard college co-ed's body was found in a ditch yesterday. The other man was A. B. Cain. Faye's sister, who had said he followed her to the city limit as her ride with Taylor started Monday night. The girl had met Taylor for the first time only a short time before she went riding with him.

As Taylor was led away to jail, Cain was released. Police are convinced his story was true.

Miss New's body was found face up in a ditch into which Coroner Evans said she had been thrown after fighting for her life.

Two deep gashes in her throat, both mortal wounds, ended a struggle during which she was choked, scratched and beaten, an autopsy report said. The spot where she was found was more than a mile from where Taylor said she left his automobile after an argument. Taylor, viewing the body, denied any part in the girl's death. "She was unhurt when she ran into the woods from my car," he said.

Cain collapsed when he looked at the dead girl's shoes fit perfectly tracks found leading from the ditch where the body was found.

Suddenly, at 11:30 p. m. last night, Chief Hollums announced Taylor was en route to county jail, charged with murder.

Detectives checked both men's stories. Taylor continued to assert his innocence. Detective McCoy Helton said Taylor's shoes fit perfectly tracks found leading from the ditch where the body was found.

Suddenly, at 11:30 p. m. last night, Chief Hollums announced Taylor was en route to county jail, charged with murder.

RARE 'DINNY'S' SKULL LOCATED IN ARIZONA PIT

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—From the dinosaur "valley of death" in Wyoming has been taken the skull of a rare reptile that waddled through the swamps 140,000,000 years ago. Announcement of the find came today from F. Truhee Davison, president of the American museum of natural history.

The skull is that of a barosaurus, a huge and little-known dinosaur of which there is no complete fossil in existence.

With this discovery, reported to the museum by Dr. Barnum Brown, leader of an expedition which is penetrating the sensational dinosaur graveyard in the Big Horn mountain region of Wyoming, scientists establish the corpus delicti of barosaurus.

Barosaurus was a semi-aquatic

ALLRED SCORED IN ADDRESS BY HUNTER TALKER

LOCKHART, Aug. 23 (AP)—James V. Allred, candidate for the democratic nomination for governor, said today the platform of his opponent, Tom F. Hunter, collapsed when Allred "smoked him out on the sales tax."

Allred said Hunter had become desperate and was resorting to unfair tactics to recoup the ground he had lost. He said Hunter and his supporters were circulating "last minute campaign yarns" to discredit Allred's candidacy.

"Hunter is tottering on his last political legs," Allred said.

Allred promised to take relief out of politics.

"Relief has been shamefully submerged in the slime of politics," he asserted.

Comparisons between the tax relief platforms of the candidates were drawn by Allred. He said Hunter's ad valorem tax repeal, if adopted, would provide no relief for small home owners but would relieve big corporations in millions of taxes which necessarily would be made up through increased taxes on persons least able to bear them.

Allred urged adoption of a constitutional amendment at the November election to permit the legislature to classify property for taxation. Under the existing constitution, all taxes must be equal and uniform and millions in taxable values are escaping taxation, Allred said.

STANTON AND NELSON TAKEN NEAR RESORT

CONDEMNED MAN AND JAIL FUGITIVE ARE HELD

RATON, N. M., Aug. 23 (AP)—Ed (Perchmouth) Stanton and Andrew Nelson, who escaped from the jail at Lubbock, Texas, June 24, were captured early today by Sheriff G. R. Fletcher of Colfax county near Thermo, N. M., 100 miles southwest of here, and were brought here to await the arrival of Texas officials.

Stanton, convicted of the murder of a West Texas sheriff, was awaiting the setting of a date for his execution when he and four other prisoners saved their way out of the Lubbock jail, seized a bank official and justice of the peace as hostages and fled.

Stanton was sought a week ago in the vicinity of Mora, N. M., where he and Willie Doupe, also a Lubbock jail fugitive, were said to have been camping. They eluded officers at that time. Doupe was not with Stanton and Nelson when officers came upon them today.

Nelson had been serving a robbery sentence in Lubbock.

In July, 1933, Stanton was arrested by New Mexico officers in Lincoln county, New Mexico, following a gun battle in which a deputy sheriff and Glenn Hunsaker, Stanton's companion were slain. He was returned to Texas then and convicted of the murder of a Swisher county, Texas, sheriff.

The two fugitives will be held here for Lubbock and Tulla, Texas, officers who are reported en route here.

The two men surrendered without a struggle at Thermo but en route to the jail here put up two fights in the car with Sheriff G. R. Fletcher

TAX EXPERIMENTING DANGEROUS

In nothing must lawmakers make haste more slowly than in changing tax systems. Many states are trying the general sales tax with varying success. Where most residents are farmers with property, and where a large majority of city dwellers own their homes, the sales tax appears as an easier way to support the state government.

Texas has exempted homesteads up to $3,000 from state taxation. This gives relief where it was vitally needed. There are few of the "poor, plain people" who now would profit much from abolition of the state ad valorem tax. The county, school, and city ad valorem taxes—which now constitute the major burdens, would remain.

Tom Hunter's tax plan would, in this regard, fail to help the "plain people" but it would be a boon to the big corporations. It may be argued that Hunter's tax on net earnings would more than make up for this loss. In theory this is true, but the big corporations would go into the courts with the best attorneys in the country and with manipulated records to prove they came within or near the exempted $50,000 as proposed.

Whenever the land is made tax-free, it will be further from the reach of many a poor man than it is now, for desirable soil will be go'bled up by those with capital and the poor man will be expected to farm it well enough to return a profit to the capitalist. Actually, of course, land will not be free from taxation when and if the state ad valorem tax is abolished.

Mrs. Coo Will Take Stand in Defending Self

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 21. (AP)—Eva Coo's trial for the slaying of her handy man, Harry Wright, was enhanced today by the prospect that she would take the witness stand.
Her chief defense counsel, James J. Byard, indicated he would call the middle aged blonde, roadside proprietor to the stand, but only to testify about the statement she made to authorities after Wright's body was found on Crumhorn mountain. Byard has insisted thru-out the trial that Mrs. Coo was "tortured" into making the statement.
Supreme Court Justice Riley H. Heath ruled yesterday that the district attorney must confine his cross-examination of her to that point alone.
Mrs. Gladys Shumway, who once lived at Mrs. Coo's roadside, testified yesterday that Mrs. Coo "hated" Wright, and one time knocked him down with her fist after she found he had been drinking. Mrs. Shumway also testified that "Little

Evans had once remarked "how easy it would go up behind him and knock him down with a car."
The prosecution charges Mrs. Coo and Mrs. Martha Giff killed Wright by running an automobile over his unconscious form. Mrs. Giff has turned state's witness. The motive, the state contends, was Mrs. Coo's desire to collect $10,000 insurance on Wright.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
If you feel sour and unwell and the world looks dark, don't swallow a lot of salt, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.
For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.
If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just stays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.
If you take those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, acting when it comes to making the bile flow freely.
But don't take for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Request a substitute 25-cent drug store. © 1931 C. M. Co.

MANY PROPERTY OWNERS WILL BE ASKED TO JUDGE NEW DEAL

LEAGUE WILL SEEK BELIEFS OF THOUSANDS

PRESIDENT ENDORSES LIBERTY GROUP'S PURPOSES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The American Liberty League began today a campaign across the continent to recruit 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 property owners to judge the new deal.

Avowedly non-partisan and "not anti-Roosevelt," it set out to command all possible influence in the coming debate over whether the administration is "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

At the head stand leaders in both major parties popularly identified as "conservatives," Alfred E. Smith and John W. Davis, democrats, who lost the presidency to Hoover and Coolidge; James W. Wadsworth and Nathan L. Miller, republican strongmen in New York.

Already there are rumblings of "betrayal" arrangement of the move. The league's Shouse announced last night as one to combat "radicalism." It was he who described the league as "not anti-Roosevelt," but rather intended to serve as a forum and a force before congress for those who want to guard their personal and property rights.

A week ago he told President Roosevelt about it, in words like these: "The league will become a real factor in assisting toward recovery and the restoration of prosperous conditions for all our people."

"That the president hardly would take exception to the announced goal is accepted. It also is certain he is aware of the political possibilities."

The league's purposes are two-fold under the heading: "To defend and protect the constitution of the United States." Data will be disseminated to:

1. "The necessity of respect for the rights of persons and property as fundamental to every successful form of government;" and 2—"The duty of government to encourage and protect individual and group initiative and enterprise, to foster the right to work, earn, save, and acquire prosperity, and to preserve the ownership and lawful use of property when acquired."

Shouse, who is to be elected president when the executive committee has been raised to about 18, disclosed that seven divisions will be set up for a membership drive in every state. The only other man known to be a member besides Shouse Smith, Davis, Wadsworth, and Miller is Irene du Pont, a political independent who supported Smith and Roosevelt.

The divisions will comprise home owners, farmers, labor, savings depositors, life insurance holders, bond holders, and stock holders. Members will be in two classes, those who believe in the principles but cannot afford financial support, and those who will say it with their pockets.

Answering reporters' questions, Shouse said a prime aim is to curb tendencies toward extreme radicalism existing in sections which he would not name.

As to the new dealings, he expects some to be approved and others disapproved.

The league, Shouse said, will not participate in the present congressional campaigns.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission:
"I will think—talk—write—do my best for the Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement, I may give free play to my patriotic love of Texas, but I will give confidence in its glories that are to be."

(The following items were published in the Texas Centennial News, official publication of the publicity committee of the Texas Centennial Commission, Corsicana, Texas, and furnished to Texas newspapers for republication so that the citizenship of Texas may keep abreast of Centennial activities over the state.)

VISION MIRRORED BY AUSTIN CENTRAL THEME FOR GREAT TEXAS CENTENNIAL

Although he had a vision of an empire in Texas, Stephen F. Austin, the great colonizer, could not mirror the Texas that is today.

Although his compatriots of the same era of the early 1830's, Green De Witt, Edwards, and others predicted great things for the undeveloped empire they were founding, they could not foresee the mighty commonwealth of a century later.

With dogged perseverance Stephen F. Austin, "Father of Texas," stood by his purpose, including time in prisons, long sojourns among a strange people in a strange country, distinguished service in civil life, finally to fall a victim of pneumonia just a short time after he had been made secretary of state in the Texas republic by Sam Houston.

For three days he had labored in the quaint capital building at Columbia on the Brazos river. The weather was cold, there was no heat and the fatal disease took hold. His last act was for Texas. His last hours were spent in framing documents for presentation to the United States government which eventually was to result in the annexation of the Republic of Texas.

He lay in state at the capital for two days and was buried on the estate of a sister near Tellico. It is a far cry from the Texas of the days of Stephen F. Austin and the Texas of today.

It is this century of progress that the state will celebrate with its great Centennial exposition in 1936.

That century of advancement is one of the outstanding events of all history. Then schools were few, the buildings were of log. The children tracked an unmarked wilderness in some cases for miles to reach the little building where one teacher for a period of three and four months taught the rudiments of an education to a mixed assembly of children and of grades.

Then most of the settlers were along the rivers, because there was no method of transportation, save by water, ox wagon, or on foot. Then no oil fields, no gas fields, no coal mines, no mighty manufacturing plants dotted the landscape over the broad expanse of the state.

One of Austin's colonists, in a letter which has been preserved, even writes that a Bible could not be found in the settlement.

From the oppression of a despotic government the colonists rebelled. They were commanded by the former Governor of Tennessee, the late friend of Andrew Jackson, General Sam Houston. On the field of San Jacinto the few hundreds of men under General Houston won the sixteenth decisive battle of world history, this on April 21, of 1836.

But prior to that on March 2 at old Washington—on the Brazos—a band of Texans had solemnly declared that state to be a free and independent republic. They realized in the making of that declaration they were inviting and most certainly would endure a sanguinary conflict with the enemy.

In the conflict intervening bloody battles were fought.

As a result Texas has its sacred shrine of the Alamo. It has its Lexington-Gonzales. It has its Goliad. It has its ancient mission and fortress of Refugio. It has the thrilling events centering around Nacogdoches.

HUNTER DENIES WET STAND IN MISSION CITY CLAIMS HE DID NOT PROMISE TO WORK FOR REPEAL

DALLAS, Aug. 23 (AP)—Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls attorney and oil man, candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, favored submission to the people of Texas the question of repeal of state prohibition and its effect on the Dean law, in his speech in San Antonio Monday night, August 20, and he did not announce himself as personally favoring repeal, as was reported, he stated in a telegram to the Associated Press from Maco last night.

"In my address there (San Antonio) I committed for the submission to the people of Texas the question of repeal of state prohibition and for its effect on the Dean law, saying that I would in my message to the legislature insist that submission be had for an edict of the people and that I would use my influence that the people have an opportunity to vote on this issue; that it would be as wrong not to do so as it would have been when there was a demand for its adoption."

In the report of his San Antonio speech Mr. Hunter was reported to have "committed himself to active support for repeal of statutory prohibition and submission of an amendment to remove constitutional prohibition in Texas."

"My position on the prohibition question is stated in my platform," Mr. Hunter said in his telegram last night.

Witt Flays Allred.

WACO, Aug. 23 (AP)—Reinforced by a verbal barrage from Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt, defeated candidate for the Texas governorship in the first primary, Tom F. Hunter, runoff opponent of James V. Allred, lashed out against his foe in a rousing campaign rally here last night.

Witt, who led McLennan county by an overwhelming majority, told the crowd that "after my elimination in the first primary, I had no difficulty in determining my choice between the two candidates remaining in the run-off."

Witt charged that Allred, who had accused Hunter of making a "trade" with Witt, C. C. McDonald, another eliminated candidate, and James E. Ferguson, had Ferguson to thank when he was elected attorney general.

"Since the booger man of Fergusonism has been raised, I will take this opportunity to say: Why should Allred be afraid of Hunter being subservient to Ferguson, when without Jim Ferguson's support General Allred would still be the little lawyer in Wichita Falls he was when he first ran for attorney general. Allred could not have been elected attorney general without the aid of Ferguson."

Witt said that Hunter was responsible more than any other man for the elimination of McDonald, the Ferguson candidate, in the first primary.

Hunter charged that some of Allred's brothers were on the state payroll, discussed his program for tax relief and expressed gratification that his home precinct and county had given him a lead over Allred in the first primary.

"Jim Allred has been talking about a conference I had yesterday with Governor Ferguson and making insinuations about what was said at that conference. There was nothing about this meeting I am afraid to discuss and I went to the conference but I reached afterward and said that I not only had the conference but also the purpose of it, which was to urge the governor to take up certain matters I advocated in a program of relief."

In the invitation, there is every reason to believe that he will accept. The importance of this visit is emphasized by the Dallas News as follows:

"If President Roosevelt comes to the great southwest, at the time of the Centennial in Texas, he will have a still better opportunity to call attention to another region destined for future greatness.

"If Texas celebrates its Centennial worthily, it will attract attention throughout the United States as a land of boundless possibilities. The southwest must make sure of the president's attendance at the Centennial of Arkansas and Texas in 1936. Especially must he come to Texas.

President Roosevelt promised Texas as a visit when the Texas special was in Washington the latter part of April. This is expected to be an opportune time for him to return the visit.

DALLAS JUNIOR CHAMBER IS BEHIND CENTENNIAL
Whole-hearted cooperation of the Dallas Junior chamber of commerce in the Texas Centennial of 1936 has been assured by the passage of a resolution, mailed Centennial News by J. Frank Parker Jr., president of the organization. It reads:

"That the Dallas Junior chamber of commerce express its enthusiastic approval of the general plans for a Centennial celebrating the birthday of Texas during 1936, and pledging its whole-hearted cooperation in any projects incident to the Centennial in which its participation may be invited and the invitation accepted by its board of directors.

SMITHSONIAN HONORS MAN WHO ALMOST MADE FIRST AIRPLANE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—The memory of a man who hid in a tree and wrested the secret of flight from the birds was honored yesterday on the 100th anniversary of his birth.

He was Prof. Samuel Pierpont Langley, third secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and pioneer in aviation, who was born Aug. 22, 1834, at Roxbury, Mass. But for a heart-breaking mischance he might have won the honor, now held by Wilbur and Orville Wright, of making the first flight in a heavier-than-air machine.

Though the idea that humans might ever fly was thought crack-brained, Langley began a scientific study of the problem at the Allegheny Observatory, near Pittsburgh. After coming to the Smithsonian in 1887 he continued his research, watching birds from a platform in a tree in what is now Rock Creek park.

He experimented with the lift and resistance of rapidly moving surfaces carried through the air on a whirling arm. As early as 1891 he stated: "Mechanical flight is possible with engines we now possess."

Five years later, May 6, 1896, he successfully catapulted from a house boat in the Potomac a 13-foot steam powered model airplane which flew half a mile and landed gently on the water.

The war department granted him $50,000 to build a man-carrying machine. In the fall of 1903 the machine was launched from a houseboat. It failed, but without a fair trial, for it never got into the air.

The rear part caught on the launching gear. A second attempt also failed in the process of launching.

His funds exhausted, Langley had to stop his experiments, though convinced his machine would have flown. Only a few months later, December 17, 1903, the Wright brothers made their first flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C. in a machine they had designed after independent experimentation; Langley's airplane is now housed in the Smithsonian Institution.

In honor of the Langley centenary a special volume of selections from his writings in the field of aeronautics and in astronomy, astrophysics and physics has been prepared by Dr. Charles G. Abbott, secretary of the Smithsonian. An exhibit of Langley's inventions also is on display.

Candidacy of John Pundt, above, candidate for state railroad commissioner, was boosted here yesterday in a visit by his campaign managers in this area. They were Joe A. Gerrety, state manager, of Dallas; R. C. Woodridge of Lubbock, West Texas campaign manager; and R. B. Rosson of Floydada, a relative of Mr. Pundt.

Pundt Manager Points to Way to Control Hot Oil

Campaign planks of John Pundt, candidate for railroad commissioner, were explained here yesterday by Joe A. Gerrety of Dallas, Pundt's campaign manager.

Gerrety charged that favoritism in oil regulation had caused much of the trouble in East Texas and he said that Mr. Pundt would be an impartial commissioner with respect to small and large producers. He said that lax enforcement of the oil laws is depriving the school systems of hundreds of thousands of dollars. He said Mr. Pundt had offered the following 3-point program of correction:

1. Honest and impartial enforcement of oil laws.
2. Revaluation of railroads with lower freight rates.
3. Increase of truck load limits for lower rates.

Analyzing point No. 1 of his program, Mr. Gerrety declared that honest and impartial enforcement of all oil laws would immediately end chaos of the oil industry and end the hot oil racket. He said:

ARTISTS OF PANHANDLE WORK IN PALO DURO COLONY, WITH PLAN TO MAKE IT PERMANENT

PAINTER - STUDENTS IN-CLUDE PAMPA WOMAN

With landscape artists in one part of the colony working under the able direction of Jesse Palmer and portrait and still life painters in another part being exhibited by Adele-Laure Brunet, the Palo Duro art colony, held this year for the first time, begins its second week.

The Palo Duro art colony was promoted this year by Mrs. Floyd Adams of Wayside, Texas. Much credit must also be given to Mrs. Ann Lynn of Wellington, who is chairman of the art department of the Women's Federated Clubs of this district. Plans are now being formulated to make this colony an annual affair. Some of the work done at this colony will be held at the old settlers picnic to be held at Wayside on August 31. Sessions have been held this year at the Baptist encampment in the beautiful Oeta canyon.

The two instructors at the colony are among the most noted artists in the United States. Adele-Laure Brunet, a descendant of an old and distinguished French family, was born in Austin, Texas, where her sister, Mrs. S. M. Burt still resides.

Miss Brunet's first chance to gain recognition as an artist began in Austin in 1914, when she was given the commission to complete a mural project for a chapel near the Newman club hall. For this work she received $600, part of the $1,000 that she was to receive. She and her sister, Josephine, started for Europe, but the boat upon which she had sailed was stopped because of the outbreak of the World war, and Miss Brunet and her sister landed at New York. Here the $600 ran out, and the remaining $400 was not forthcoming.

Necessity helped Miss Brunet to formulate her philosophy, which she states is her guiding principle today: "One can usually accomplish what he wishes to accomplish if he will give enough energy and determination to the effort." She began her art work in earnest. Miss Brunet is primarily an artist, maintaining a studio in Dallas. Occasionally she takes time off for a sort of vacation and teaches in various art colonies. She taught in the Texas Artists' colony at San Angelo before coming to Palo Duro.

Miss Brunet has exhibited in the Spring Salon in Paris, the invitation of the Society of French Artists. She is affiliated with the National Association of Women Painters and Sculptors, the Boston Art club, which is the oldest society of its kind in America, the Southern Art League and the Texas Fine Arts association.

Miss Brunet has exhibited her work all over this country, showing in the National Academy of Design in New York with the National Association of Women Painters and Sculptors, in the Santa Fe museum of Santa Fe, N. M., with the Texas and Santa Fe artists, in the Del Rio Gardo museum in the Southern States Art League and with the Fine Arts association circuit exhibit. In Dallas she has shown her work in solo exhibits as well as with collections in the Highland Park Society of Arts, the Dallas Art museum, and at the state fair.

"One must carve his place for himself," states Miss Brunet. "Everything I have, I have secured by my own efforts." This kind of philosophy pervades the first gathering in the Palo Duro of the artists of this part of the country, and this determination, so the members state will make this venture a success.

Jessie Palmer (Mrs. C. E. Palmer) of Dallas was recently a resident of Amarillo. She is the instructor in landscape painting at the colony. Mrs. Palmer was until recently very actively engaged in all the art activities of Amarillo and vicinity, being at one time director of the Amarillo Art association and chairman of the art department of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and superintendent of the art department of the Tri-State fair.

While living in Amarillo Mrs. Palmer decided that this part of the country had many inducements for artists for other parts of the state, among which were the cool climate, the scenic beauties of the canyons, the great sweep of the Plains, and a sky that is different from that most artists are surrounded with. Since leaving Amarillo, Mrs. Palmer has planned with Mrs. Floyd Adams and Mrs. Ann Lynn to make the Palo Duro colony a reality.

Mrs. Palmer is vice-president of the Texas Fine Arts Association, a member of the Southern States Art League, and president of the Dallas Women's Art Guild, having exhibited with all these organizations and with the Densending galleries of New York City. Because of the attention her landscapes attracted in Birmingham, Alabama, the life of Mrs. Palmer and her works were written up in the La Revue Moderne, an art magazine of Paris, France.

Mrs. Palmer's work is remembered here as she had a number of solo shows in these parts a few years ago, and also by her landscape in Colorado that she recently offered as a prize to the woman's club making the best art report at the spring convention in Amarillo, which was won by the Beaux Art club in Clarendon. Her pictures have won prizes and recognition in a number of exhibits, and her portrait of little Nell Killough won the popularity prize at Hereford and was the most popular picture at the art convention in Austin last fall.

Mrs. Palmer has painted the Catskill mountains of N. Y. and in the mountains of Colorado, but she thinks that the canyons around these parts are as colorful and interesting as those. She is very enthusiastic for the Palo Duro venture to become an annual affair.

One recently visited the different cabins in the encampment to see that the canyon is being studied from all parts. Portraits are plentiful, those of Judge Small of Wellington, Judge H. G. Hendricks of Amarillo and others being displayed by Mrs. Lynn. The only requisite for a portrait sketch in the canyon at this time is patience to sit still while the painters do their work. Many people have sat as subjects, and yet the artist are calling for more each day as people of different characteristics are studied.

The following people are students at the colony: Mesdames H. G. Hendricks, Geo. H. Turnley, Herbert Tutt, R. F. Rogers, and Miss Edith Bandy of Amarillo; Mrs. Bessie Lane and Mrs. Floyd Adams of Wayside; Mrs. Leo Gardener and Miss Bertha Gardner of Vigo Park; Mrs. Ann Lynn and Katherine of Wellington; Mrs. Fred H. Porter of Fort Worth; Mrs. M. L. H. Baze of Pampa; Mrs. John Fry, Mrs. T. M. Moore, Miss Osce McCrerey, and Miss Pearl Black of Canyon.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 23 (AP)—Cotton ruled very quiet all morning, but prices gradually improved on some trade buying and covering by shorts and there was also an impression that Texas had received insufficient rains thus far. October advanced to 13.17 and December to 13.33, up 6 to 7 points from the early lows and 4 to 5 points above yesterday's close.

At mid-session the market was quiet, but at the highs.

The census bureau reported total ginnings to August 16 of 353,888 bales as compared with 459,528 bales to the corresponding date last year. The figure was apparently about as expected.

Picnic Sunday Is To Honor Class

All members of J. Y. P. class of First Christian church are urged to be present Sunday. Immediately after the church hour there will be cars to take them all to the Mel Davis' ranch for a picnic dinner at which they will be honor guests.

The picnic, in which the entire church will participate, follows an attendance contest between Sunday school classes, recently won by the J. Y. P. group.

The class had the largest attendance of its history Sunday, with 34 present and six new members enrolled. It includes young people above high school age.

CHEVROLET MASTER SIX SEDAN

MANY people find it a good plan, when buying a car, to consider first what it does to make motoring more enjoyable; next, what it costs to operate; and last, its price. Proceeding thus, you find that Chevrolet alone combines Kneec-Action, Body by Fisher, a valve-in-head engine, and cable-controlled brakes—definite additions to motoring pleasure. Further investigation reveals that owners say a Chevrolet saves on gas, oil, and upkeep. If you now consider price you discover that the Chevrolet is priced extremely low. VIOLENCE UNLIKELY IN ARIZONA FARMERS' JAPANESE DRIVE

VIOLATORS OF LAND LAW TO FACE COURTS

JAP POPULATION HAS INCREASED TO THOUSAND

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 23. (AP)—A threat of violence in the Salt river valley, where anti-alien farmers seek to oust Japanese agriculturists, was answered today by the group leader with a declaration there would be no disorder if he could help it.

Backing this statement, made by Fred Kruse, was Governor B. B. McCreary's assurance to the state department at Washington that he believes Arizona can handle the problem without involving the United States and Japan in controversy. "There will be no violence at any time if I can help it," said Kruse. "I feel sure that the common sense of Arizona's citizens will prevent any violence." Governor McCreary telegraphed Acting Secretary of State William Phillips.

With state and county officials seeking to convince irate white farmers that violations of the state alien-land law should be handled in court and not by extra-legal forces, the farmers called a meeting for Saturday night to hear an official report on progress against alleged violators of the law.

This law prohibits ownership and leasing of land by aliens.

Saturday night previously had been set as the "deadline" for the Japanese farmers to leave.

The ouster order was directed against Japanese in the Fowler district of the Salt river valley who, farmers said, had been increased to

Al Capone Will Work Plenty in Frisco Prison

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23. (AP)—Prison labor—48 hours a week of it—were in store today for Al "Scarface" Capone and 52 other convicts transferred yesterday from other prisons to the new escape-proof federal penitentiary on Alcatraz island.

An 8-hour work period for each day except Sunday has been ordered. The convicts, who increased the prison population to an even 100, will labor in the prison laundry, the clothing shop, shoe shop, kitchens, and at maintenance occupations.

In their leisure and recreational hours, they may study the San Francisco skyline, so close that details are clearly visible when not obscured by fog; watch ocean liners and freighters pass in and out of the Golden Gate, or keep track of the progress on the two great bridge projects stretching out across the surging water.

The transfer of Capone to the new prison, which Attorney General Homer S. Cummings said was for convicts who attempted to maintain outside contacts at other penitentiaries and were potential jail breakers, brought a protest from his attorney at Atlanta, Frank A. Doughman.

Capone himself protested when he was shaken from a sound sleep in Atlanta and hustled aboard the Alcatraz-bound train against such treatment for "a model prisoner," Doughman declared.

BISHOP

excoriated company unions. "The laboring men who don't belong to unions are parasites of labor," he said. "If the laboring classes ever hope for future prosperity it will be on the basis of organization. The other crowd, that is capital, is highly organized. Why not you?"

Hits Company Unions Bishop Lucey said that Los Angeles, Calif., was the worst town for labor in the United States, and that California metropolitan was filled with company unions. "Can you picture a man belonging to a company union talking turkey to the boss, asking better conditions of labor, fair hours and wages?" he asked. During his discussion of company unions he was vigorously applauded several times.

"The difference between a company union and a voluntary union is that men who belong to the former are abject slaves and those who belong to the latter are free men living under the stars and stripes, demanding their own rights. You men here tonight are getting better wages because of the American Federation of Labor. You oil field workers who do not belong to any union are getting as high wages as you are getting because of the American Federation of Labor."

The present epidemic of strikes, the speaker said, are a result of large employers' opposition to the collective bargaining clause and to the fact that the employers wrote their own codes without the advice and help of labor and the consumer, although the NIRA stipulated that labor and the consumer were to help write the codes. Ninety per cent of the codes, he said, were written by the industrial owners without help of labor or the consumer. The industrial owners wrote the codes of their own advantage, and labor knowing many of them are unfair and are being violated, and that section 7-A of NIRA is being ignored are doing the only thing it can do—strike, he said.

Discusses Frisco Strike He averred that the codes did not end the conflict between capital and labor but accentuated it. How, he said, the codes and NIRA did give labor respectability, and gave the worker classes strength because of Section 7-A of NIRA.

The bishop scored certain newspapers for picturing workers in the San Francisco strike as reds, "men who should be thrown into the gutter, while employers were painted as angels ready to wing their way to heaven."

The churchman devoted the first part of his speech to depicting labor conditions as they existed before the Roosevelt recovery legislation, and declared labor had benefited as a result of the new laws. He pointed out that business relations "were shot through with economic immorality."

Bishop Lucey was introduced by Fred Phillips, vice president of the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery workers, who said that a constant stream of men had come to his hotel room yesterday reporting conditions in the oil industry here.

The Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor of the First Baptist church presided and delivered the invocation. Father Wonderly of Holy Souls church delivered the benediction.

LeFors School Receipts High

The budget of the LeFors independent school district, filed with County Clerk Charlie Thut, shows receipts of $88,019.59 last year and estimated receipts of $90,233.02 for the ensuing year. Disbursements last year were $62,987.33, compared with an estimate of $63,789 this year. Interest on bonded indebtedness last year was $9,410.80 while the requirement this year is estimated at $9,325. Local taxes received were $67,829 compared with 1934 estimate of $55,000. Transportation and bus upkeep last year amounted to $5,526.84, but $6,550 will be needed this term.

collar, said that Allred did everything in his power to invalidate the Small land bill. He also claimed that Allred tried to make 300 land owners of Gray county pay the court costs after the "Aus-in-land grabbers" lost the suit. He said that common decency forced Allred to later ask that the suit be dismissed.

"I do not know how many of the Allred boys there are," he said, "but if I ever pass a public feed trough I propose to stop and count them."

Are the voters of Texas going to turn the state over to an ambitious Caesar to be run by him and his brothers?"

He declared that he was going to speak in Pahnade, an Allred hotbed, tonight and at Plainview, Thursday and Friday.

Regarding copies of a circular distributed at the rally which contained a purported affidavit that Eugene Worley of Shamrock, candidate for representative from this district, said in a speech at Dodsonville that he refused financial backing of a lobbyist, but that he accepted a lobbyist's loan to make the race with the intention of paying it back later, Mr. Worley said: "I don't have the funds to reply in circulations to that untruth, but it is a last desperate effort to discredit my integrity. The signer of the purported affidavit, I find, is a tenant farmer of my opponent's brother-in-law. Had such statement been made—and of course I did not make it—I would not have carried the Dodsonville box, 18 miles from which my opponent has lived for many years."

SPITE MARRIAGE

SYNOPSIS: Turn about a girl brought to the verge of divorce by her husband's infidelity. She then, in a fit of pique, marries a man who is not the man she thought he was.

Chapter 1. INSULT. MARSHA'S face quivered. "You were mistaken," he said, "in thinking that she kept anything that would be of value to you in that box."

Her eyes flashed, through his hands on her arms he felt her awaying cease and her angry tension follow. Still she made no sound.

"You are a beautiful little cheat," he went on, "and I was again softened most amazingly to you. I have been dreaming of taking you back with me. But now I'm cured of you."

"It is amusing?" he questioned, teeth set, chin hardening. "I think it is rather amusing," she agreed. He had dreamed of taking her back with him!

He circled her shoulders with his arm and roughly kissed her once and then forgetting everything but his hunger for her which survived hate and scorn—he kissed her again and again.

HER room was dark when he reached his, carrying the painted box beneath his arm. And after he had set the box upon the table that was by his bed, he found on his bureau a note written in Marsha's hand, and near it a small casket that had, one day, held French bonbons, but that now held bills.

"I took the money," she had written, "because I thought you were made more comfortable by my doing so. I always intended to return your money to you when I could without hurting you. After you wrote me of your worry made by my not cashing the checks, I did cash them, but you will find it all here."

Color flooded his face; he read the note again, glanced dully at the box that had one day held French bonbons, but that now held bills. He dropped to the edge of a deep chair as a sensation of acute self scorn swept him. No matter what she was, or was not, he had no right to speak to her as he had, nor to kiss her as he had. He had lost grip as he had never dreamed he could.

With hands that trembled, he lit a cigarette to puff deeply and to stare, frowning, through the light smoke at an echo of Marsha's face. "To the end of time," he thought, "I'll hate you and need you!"

REVIEWS and NEWS OF CURRENT BOOKS

Editor's Note: This section of THE NEWS is dedicated to the betterment and furthering of literary efforts in Pampa and the North Plains. All bits of poetry, contemporary comment on books, and their authors, and reviews may be submitted for publication, and will be appreciated.

"Pungent" is probably the stock word which best describes Mary Kidder Rak's, "A Cowman's Wife" (Houghton Mifflin). Whatever it is, the book is of no use whatever to anybody not interested in the West.

The place is called Old Fort Rucker Ranch, because Old Fort Rucker was once on a part of it. As a matter of fact, the Rak home was the adobe fort itself until it was ruined by fire. Then they moved into a little wooden cottage which is so small that Mr. Rak declared one couldn't "cuss the cat."

For a good many the most satisfactory book of the week will be Alec Waugh's "The Balliols," in spite of the fact that the same thing has been done before by innumerable persons among them John Galsworthy and Hugh Walpole.

"GOING ABROAD," by Rose Macaulay; (Harpers). Rose Macaulay's genius for choosing effective situations grows ample. "Going Abroad" is her latest example.

It is not odd that the Oxford groups have been avoided so far by the rack of novelists, because publishers are notoriously chary of religious subjects, particularly when they are satirized. Hence writers avoid them too.

works out, this money and more will come back as increased income for American farmers and industry. TEXAS PRO TEAM CHISELED OUT OF TROPHY IN COLORADO

El Ranchito Team Wins cup And Then Is Told It Was Not Eligible to Win It.

BY BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer. DALLAS, Aug. 23 (AP)—The El Ranchito polo team of Arlington Downs may return to Texas from Colorado Springs without participating in the colorful six-goal tournament at Broadmoor. It is claimed the Texans were irked because Spencer Penrose, Colorado sportsman, pulled a rifty one on them. At Colorado Springs, El Ranchito poloists defeated the pick of malleters from the Rocky mountain polo sector, and last Sunday the Texans walloped the Denver All-Stars, 15 to 2, to win what they thought was the Colorado championship, and the Spencer Penrose gold cup. The Arlington Downs boys figured the Penrose trophy would make a grand companion for the twelve goal trophy which they had won in the championship trophy now adorning the El Ranchito trophy shelf at Arlington. The Texans had their illusions shattered when Penrose refused to present the gold trophy at the conclusion of Sunday's match. Penrose gave as his reason on the ground that he originally donated the trophy to the Broadmoor Polo club for competition among Colorado teams only, and as El Ranchito was a Texas delegation, the red, white, and blue striped mallet wielders were not entitled to the massive trophy, although it was understood and advertised that the tournament was for the championship and the Spencer Penrose trophy.

SKULL

(Continued from Page 1) reptile, museum officials said. Its chief peculiarity was the extreme elongation of the neck vertebrae. They look like sections of a stovewipe. The skull Dr. Brown's operatives excavated was comparatively small. Like all dinosaurs, barosaurus was not very bright. Davison, just returned from the scene of the digging, expressed amazement—"a layman's amazement," he emphasized—at Dr. Brown's theory of how the barosaurus died, together with the dozen or so other giant reptiles whose remains have been found in the bones deposited there. "They perished over a comparatively short period of time," he said, "in a summer perhaps."

Continuing with the reconstruction of the tragedy, Davison said that there might have been a great drought, like the one this summer, which dried the pools and marshes covering Wyoming. "The dinosaurs sought refuge in a fast-dwindling pool," Davison went on. "They became bogged, sank deeper and deeper and died slowly. Some of them, however, met violent death. Carnivorous dinosaurs attacked the helpless creatures, cheating the death trap. Dr. Brown has found the fossil of a flesh-eating reptile in the deposit."

The expedition has had to do a little revising of earlier estimates. Davison said, for one thing, it has set the geological clock back several million years—only a few minutes in the history of the earth. It was first thought that the reptiles had died about 125,000,000 years ago, in early cretaceous times; now, they place the period at about 15,000,000 years earlier, in the upper Jurassic age.

MISSIONS ADD ANOTHER GAME TO THEIR LEAD

CATS WALLOP DALLAS 1 TO 0 BEFORE 9,663 FANS

By BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer. Texas league baseball at its supreme was played last night without any change in the official standing. San Antonio, Galveston, Tulsa and Dallas are still the clubs headed for the Shaughnessy pennant plan play-off. Exactly 9,663 cash customers clicked the turnstiles to see Fort Worth invade Steer stadium and stop Dallas' winning streak at five games with a 1 to 0 decision. Veteran Dick Whitworth let the Steers down with four hits. The Cats, under the management of Art Shipes, looked better than any other time this season. Successive doubles by Bindjer and Broskie in the seventh scored the only run off southpaw Charlie Barnabe. At Oklahoma City, the San Antonio Missions added another game to their first place percentage by taking the Indians, 1 to 0. "Bid" Purdy's wallop in the eighth inning drove pitcher George Mills across the plate with the only run. The Beaumont Exporters returned to their own stadium and bumped into George Payne, ancient and canny Houston right-hander who stopped them, 8 to 0. Payne limited Beaumont to six singles in six different innings while his mates hammered Dick Shultz and Steve Larkin for nine timely wallops. Crville Jorgens, a Galveston maverick, had 4 to 1, by holding the Oilers to six hits. The Buccaneers got ten bingles off Jacobs who was away to an errand start.

GOMEZ CHALKS UP HIS 21ST WIN OF YEAR

YANKEES GAIN A HALF GAME ON DETROIT TIGERS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer. Although the American league is known as a "batters' league," the pitchers seem to be deciding a lot of important things, too. Today the fans had before them such notable examples as the Yankee southpaw, Vernon (Goofy) Gomez, with his twenty-first victory of the year, won with a two-hit shutout, Wes Ferrell of Boston with his twelfth triumph in fourteen trials and a couple of others who did first-class jobs of flinging yesterday. Gomez, leading hurler of the junior loop, brought the Yanks to a 9 to 0 victory over Cleveland in the first half of a doubleheader but the second contest was different as the Indians smashed three of New York's "second division" pitchers, Jimmy DeShong, Johnny Murphy and Johnny Broaca, for 14 hits, and won 4 to 4. The split was enough to give the Yanks a half-game gain on the Tigers in the pennant race as Earl Whitehill led the Senators to a 7 to 5 victory over Detroit. Ferrell, whose hitting ability is second only to his pitching, not only limited the White Sox to 7 hits but produced a 3 to 2 10-inning victory with his bat. He clouted two home runs. Bill Dietrich of the Athletics turned in another of the day's fine flinging performances when he shut out the Browns with 8 hits to win 2 to 0. The National league schedule was a blank for the day.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—The stock market flattened out today under moderate profit taking pressure. Proponents for the advance, while still reasonably bullish, were less enthusiastic in view of a subsidence of inflationary psychology to which the recent advance was partly attributed. The close was irregular. Transfers approximated 780,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN. CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (AP)—Wheat prices dropped lower today in sympathy with action of European markets and buying that followed reports of frost in Canada, although rallying quotations at times failed to overcome the effect of accompanying profit-taking sales. Closing wave of selling pushed values down about a cent. Fear late crops might be damaged by frost which was forecast for the greater part of the Canadian north-west, North Dakota and parts of Minnesota tonight became a bullish influence. Corn held fairly firm until the finish. Wheat closer 1/4 to 1/2 cents below yesterday's finish, December new at $1.04 1/2-1/4, and corn was unchanged to 1/4 down, December at 77 1/2-1/4. On and rye showed fractional losses and barley was down 2 to 3/4 cents. Lard was slightly lower but bellies were steady.

Road Runners to Play Sooner '9' Saturday Night

Baseball of high caliber will be presented here Saturday night and Sunday afternoon by the Road Runners and the Baker-Hannah-Blake nine of Oklahoma City. Saturday's game will begin at 8:30 p. m. and that of Sunday at 3 p. m. The Baker-Hannah-Blake team was beaten out by El Reno in a district elimination for the Oklahoma City tournament, but it is one of the strongest outfits in Oklahoma. The Road Runners may be without the services of Don Benn, catcher, but if so Eddie Bain will do the receiving. The great hurling corps is intact. Frightened by two cars that came up, the men drove across town and out on the Elizabethtown highway about a quarter of a mile where they parked. Fletcher, Hopkins, and Griggs followed while Bernard remained in town. Two trucks were sent out to block the highway. Meanwhile, Stanton left the machine and walked back to town, leaving Nelson in the car. As Stanton entered the dance hall, Bernard and others covered him with guns and he surrendered. Fletcher drove his car along side the Stanton car and arrested Nelson.

STANTON (Continued from Page 1) and Deputy Frank Griggs, during which Stanton succeeded in choking Sheriff Fletcher before his grip could be released. At Cimmaron, Sheriff Fletcher picked up Deputy Sheriff Fred Lambert and there was no further trouble. Deputy Sheriffs C. A. Bernard and B. Hopkins were left at Therna to direct a search for Willie Doupe, also facing a robbery charge in Texas who was believed to have been with Stanton and Nelson, shortly before their capture. The arrests came after Sheriff

Fletcher received a telephone call from Ute Park, near Therna, and learned Stanton had been seen at Therna during the afternoon. While Sheriff Fletcher was looking in a Therna dance hall for the men, a car, answering the description of Stanton's drove through town. Three or four times the car drove back and forth along the block long main street of the town finally stopping in front of a cafe. The fugitives sat in the car for some time, apparently undecided what they should do.

ALLRED CALLS HUNTER 'DREAMER LUSTING FOR POWER'

AUSTIN, Aug. 23 (AP)—His first act as governor would be the shelving of all other legislation for enactment of measures designed to aid the jobless needy of Texas, James V. Allred, attorney general and candidate for governor, told a crowd here last night. "Texas already has lagged too far behind the national government and other states in carrying out a recovery program. We must cooperate with the federal government in plans for increased housing facilities and other progressive measures," Allred said.

Shifting to an attack on his foe Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls, Allred pictured Hunter's platform as "the unworkable scheme of a dreamer lusting for power."

Again Allred defended himself against charges by Hunter that he had republican leanings, asserting that he had stumped the state for both President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner. He characterized his opponent's charges as an attempt to "ride into the governor's office on the coat tails of the president."

Allred admitted that he had made mistakes during his two terms as attorney general, but said "they were mistakes of the head and not of the heart."

He then directed criticism at the state's pardon and parole system, saying it was outmoded and should be revised so that the governor could not issue clemencies except on the recommendation of the board of pardons and paroles, which would be binding.

Allred attacked the alignment of James E. Ferguson, former governor,

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23 (AP)—New signs of a possible reconciliation between Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks appeared today at Pickfair where they lived until estranged by the actresses' divorce suit 14 months ago.

Fairbanks, back in Hollywood after more than a year abroad, has met Miss Pickford four times, twice Tuesday and twice yesterday. He accompanied her on several automobile drives and dined each night with her at Pickfair.

The actor gave way to boyish zeal yesterday as he rushed about Hollywood with the exuberance so familiar to him in the days when he and Miss Pickford ruled Hollywood as the screen's most successful couple.

A happy smile, too, warmed the soft features of Miss Pickford after two days with her estranged husband.

Those signs, plus one remark by Miss Pickford today to mean that all must be going well at Pickfair—that reconciliation lay around the corner. The actress prophesied that the future lay "in the lap of the Gods" drew no further elaboration from here, however.

After the dinner at Pickfair last night, reports grew out of hints dropped by Miss Pickford and Fairbanks that the couple will soon make a joint statement concerning their marital intentions. Until that time, they indicated they would have nothing to say about their private life.

Fairbanks, who went to Europe after his separation from Miss Pickford, expects to spend some time in Hollywood. He has a number of business matters pending, some of them joint affairs affecting both his wife and himself.

AUTO CODE TO BE REOPENED FOR REVISION

A. F. L. SEEKS BETTER WAGE AND HOUR SETUP

By The Associated Press

Uncle Sam generously spread his recovery salses over the nation's strike-pocked labor situation today and prepared further applications. Reactions varied.

Soon after the administration ordered hours reduced in the cotton garment industry yesterday, the NRA labor board agreed to insist on reopening the automobile manufacturers' code. The American Federation of Labor seeks wage and hour revisions in the motor car factories.

George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton-Textile institute, said at New York that "imperial government economists" have determined the impending nation-wide strike of cotton textile workers to be unjustified. He asserted no field had increased its workers' benefits under the NRA as much as had the cotton textile industry.

Uncle Sam's bureau of labor statistics is making a detailed study of the effect of NRA codes on employment, wages and hours in various industries, including the textile, for future guidance.

Robert Bruere, chairman of the cotton textile industrial relations board, has completed a statement which is believed to offer an alternative to the textile strike. He is seeking the approval of other government officials before making it public.

Labur called the Aluminum Company of America's rejections of the labor department's peace proposals a "challenge of the authority vested in the federal government by congress." In its statement the national council of aluminum workers denied that the plan to end their strike involves a closed shop, as the company said.

Think "look very much better" to the miners seeking a solution of the Chicago union bus drivers' strike and Minneapolis is enjoying normalcy after the end of the truck drivers' strike.
