Retail Sales in Texas Increasing

AUSTIN, Aug. 22.—Reports to the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas from department and specialty stores located in all sections of Texas indicate that retail sales for July were well above those of the similar month last year.

Average dollar sales in the 95 reporting retail establishments were 13.4 per cent above those in July last year, and for the first seven months of this year aggregate sales were 26 per cent greater than in the corresponding period in 1933, the Bureau's report said. The decline in sales from June to July was, however, slightly greater than the average seasonal decline for the preceding seven years.

Two New Scout Troops Active In Adobe Walls

Two new Scout troops are active in the Adobe Walls council.

One is at Magic City, where it is sponsored by the Presbyterian church. W. R. White is scoutmaster, assisted by O. M. Johnson, A. B. Pinell, and T. F. Shirley as members of the troop committee. The other troop is sponsored by the McCullough Memorial Methodist church here. Ernest Gee is scoutmaster and J. E. Beard is assistant scoutmaster. Troop committee members are H. C. Boyd, Rev. Lance Webb, A. R. Randolph, and E. N. Franklin.

THIS, TOO, WILL PASS AWAY

The winter will be as peaceful or warlike as the people make it. Agitators are finding the fields for their ravages. They are, in some quarters, beginning to shake the faith of workers in democratic government.

When this happens no authority is safe, whether it is vested in schools, churches, homes, municipalities or state government.—Pampa Daily NEWS. Comment by Higgins News: The winter will bring its own problems. The country, as a whole, will be depressed because of the drought that has been so wide spread that few localities have been immune.

People down and out will grab at a straw that they hope will help them to get back on their feet again. They are easily swayed by any wind of doctrine and prone to try any expedient that may be offered, without taking second thought as to the result of such action.

The thing of most importance now is to face the future with faith, instead of fear. This, too, will pass away. People have seen hard times before. We are more fortunate than we realize, even tho' hard hit.

We have not yet come to the place where just one solitary biscuit is allotted to each individual in the family when the call is made for breakfast. Yet, hard times did not make the pioneers into anarchists, nor did the people start a revolution.

People who turn red when adversity comes are not good American citizens. American citizens hold fast to the flag while they pray for help in the hour of adversity. Of such stuff are fashioned our people today.

NEW ARCH CRIMINAL STEPS INTO JOHN DILLINGER'S SHOES

LARGEST LOOT OF CASH EVER TAKEN IN U. S.

BANKRUPT BOOTLEGGERS MIGHT HAVE STAGED SUPER ROBBERY

BY DALE HARRISON.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—A new arch criminal, craftier than a Capone and dealer than a Dillinger, hid today from the law, with the largest loot of cash ever taken in an American holdup jangling in his jeans.

Timing his $247,000 robbery of an armored truck yesterday as a sardonic coincidence to Police Commissioner O'Ryan's sixtieth birthday anniversary, this new strategist of crime executed the theft so smoothly and fled so swiftly that his trail ran everywhere today into dead ends.

The police falling in their quickly set trap yesterday, turned their full strength today into the hunt. Throughout the night the air bristled with radio commands to cruising squad cars and speedy police patrols. No arrests have been made, but scores of men, women and children—witnesses to all or part of the holdup—have been questioned.

Some credence was given to a theory that the crime was conceived in the brain of some former bootlegger made desperately poor by repeal. This theory was given substance by the finding last night of empty money bags—possibly the very bags in which the $247,000 was being transported—in the rear of Finnerly's bar and grill at 2115 Emmons avenue, Sheepshead Bay, Brooklyn.

The bags were found beneath cigarette vending machines in Finnerly's place. They were stamped "federal reserve" and "Brooklyn, Manhattan branch."

Phil Claro, a bartender at Finnerly's, said 10 men whom he never had seen before entered the barroom at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon—three hours and a half after the robbery—and had a round of beer. The number of men involved in the holdup has been variously fixed at between 10 and 14.

The money taken from the armored truck consisted of sums collected at several Brooklyn branches of the Bank of Manhattan, as well as from private firms. It was destined for the federal reserve bank in Manhattan.

The police have apparently no inclination toward any theory that the holdup may have been an "inside job." They call attention to the fact that not only were the two guards and the truck driver wete men of vouched-for integrity, but also that no advance information as to a truck's route is ever made known.

The hi-jacker technique marked the robbery, a detective said. In prohibition days, he recalled, gangs numbering a dozen or more men would swarm over the side of a rum running vessel, take over the machine guns and escape in speed boats to pre-arranged destinations where fast motor cars and trucks awaited.

Fast cars and speedboats were essentials of yesterday's crime. The thieves drove away in cars of such power as to enable them to out-distance pursuit and went directly to a dock where speed boats waited to race them out of the police circle that had been quickly swung around downtown Brooklyn.

This detective, who declined to be quoted by name, said there is little doubt but that the robbery had been planned for more than two months.

The employment of an ice cart as a vehicle for conveying machine guns to the scene of an intended robbery was a touch strengthening belief that a new crime strategist had leaped forward to snatch the mantle of master rogue that fell when federal guns dropped John Dillinger in Chicago. When the moment for action came, a burly covering was yanked from the cart, showing a machine gun ready for immediate action.

The distribution of gang members about the vicinity of the Rubel Ice corporation's plant at Bay 19th street and Croysey avenue was further evidence of careful plotting.

The precision of execution yesterday has never been excelled in fact and seldom even in fiction. The three truck guards, each armed, were covered by robber guns so quickly that even the slightest movement for their weapons would have been suicide. The truck driver, Joseph Allen, had his hand resting on the butt of his pistol, yet could not draw.

As quickly as they had covered the truck guards, the robbers began to transfer bag after bag of currency and coin from the truck to their own machines. Machine guns swung menacingly at the group of men gathered on the ice corporation's loading platform.

There were 2 specks of money remaining in the truck when a sudden command of "scram!" sounded from the lips of the leader. The robbers ran for their cars, leaving behind $29,000 and dropping one of their machine guns in the only false move of another expertly done crime.

Snatching up this weapon, William Lillenthal, the truck guard, jumped into the "holdup proof" truck, as did Allen and John Wilson, another guard, and opened fire as they gave pursuit to the thieves. None of the bullets took effect.

The traits and characteristics of bees are believed to have remained unchanged since the beginning of history.

Woodward Raps M'Craw on Record In Fee Instances

MESQUITE, Aug. 22.—While serving as district attorney of Dallas county, William McCraw refused to reveal to the Dallas County grand jury the amount he was making out of that office, Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman, candidate for attorney general, charged here.

"The Dallas County grand jury made complaint that William McCraw as district attorney refused to state the amount he personally was making out of that office in fees," Senator Woodward charged.

Referring his audience to the files of Dallas newspapers for proof, Senator Woodward charged that McCraw was making enormous sums as his own personal salary from fees and that he would not reveal the total amount for fear of creating public indignation.

"My opponent won't tell you how much he took from the taxpayers of Dallas county in fees and commissions while he was district attorney because he knows it would create a wave of indignation," Woodward declared.

"His total salary and commissions from the district attorney's office of Dallas County was $125,000, and I dare him to deny it. He cannot because the records are there and speak in unanswerable words."

"The most damaging thing of all for my opponent is not the amount which he took from the taxpayers but the way in which he took it."

"He made the bulk of his salary by filing 13,978 foreclosure suits against people who could not pay their taxes because of a great depression."

"While the people of Dallas were unable to pay their taxes because of economic conditions over which they had no control, my opponent waxed rich by filing thousands of delinquent tax suits against them."

TO GIVE SCHOLARSHIP

It was announced today by Val M. Keating, social service consultant to the Texas Relief commission.

These scholarships, made available by the federal emergency relief administration, will be awarded to students between 21 and 35 years of age who have had some undergraduate work in the social sciences.

Now, within a week, these same two men have written in disappointment what many look upon as the closing chapters of their political careers. Both, aspiring to senatorial nominations, were snuffed under by newcomers. Politics is like that.

For Shaver, it was the old familiar story of the failure of a once-important figure to come back.

For Bryan, it was something more. His loss of ascendancy in Nebraska politics may mean the end of a dynasty, the final disappearance from democratic politics of a name conjured with by the party for nearly 40 years.

DOUG AND MARY ARE SILENT ON RIDE TOGETHER

Reconciliation Is in 'Lap of the Gods' Says Mary

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 22 (AP)—The future of the royal family of the films, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks, rested "in the lap of the gods" today.

That is the way "America's Sweetheart" described the status of their one idyllic marriage which has found its way into the divorce courts.

With a wistful smile, she spoke of her meeting yesterday with Fairbanks upon his return to Hollywood after 14 months in Europe. What occurred between the two, for whom Hollywood hopes a reconciliation lies ahead, nothing was known.

After the meeting, Mary said: "Yes, I saw Douglas. Whether I shall see him again is in the lap of the gods. Further than that I can say nothing."

Fairbanks, true to the silence with which he has met all inquiries about his "private life," had nothing to say.

The famous couple met yesterday afternoon near a fashionable hotel in Beverly Hills. A few hours earlier, Fairbanks had alighted from a special car at a Los Angeles station. He went from the depot to United Artists studio.

After an interval in which few knew what happened and none would tell, he met Miss Pickford in Beverly Hills, entered her automobile and went with her for a drive. It was after that that she made her statement.

There was almost certain to be another meeting between the couple, even if for no other purpose than to talk over business. A business conference has been called by Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists, which is supposed to bring together Miss Pickford, Fairbanks, Charles Chaplin and Samuel Goldwyn, producer, United Artists originally was formed about this group.

Fairbanks and Miss Pickford jointly own the physical assets of the studio and Schenck has acted as executive director of it.

HOOVER WRITES LETTER

Editor, The NEWS:

I see by the Texas daily papers that Tom Hunter is making great capital of, and charging my statement made publicly at Amarillo, to Jimmy Allred. He overlooks the fact that I distinctly stated that I was a free lance in politics; had no personal axe to grind, no personal favors to ask, and that I did not aspire to any public office, and, therefore, I felt that I had the right to state my position personally, and I distinctly limited the responsibility of the statement to myself, in making the public statement that I would not vote for Hunter, if he was the nominee of the party, and that if he was the nominee, I would personally support the republican nominee, and that I did not know who that nominee was and did not care. Mr. Allred was responsible for this statement. I made it publicly and I want to publicly assume the entire responsibility for the statement.

While I am a democrat and have always been and always will be, I consider always the man above the party, and I have always, and ever will, cast my vote for the good of the people, and I state now that I had rather see some good republican governor of the state of Texas than any man whose public views and political ties, which he has assumed, are so opposite to what I believe to be to the interest of the state of Texas at large.

The charging of my statement to Mr. Allred simply shows the extremity to which, his opposition is willing to go in order to try to influence a few votes against him.

Allred did not know that I was going to make the statement and has never endorsed the statement.

In selecting between two men, I believe in giving honor to whom honor is due, and I am going to close this statement by simply asking the one question: "What act has ever been performed by Tom Ferguson Crawford Hunter which entitles him to the honor of the vote of the people of the great state of Texas?"

When we compare Hunter to the inhabitants of the waters of the state of Texas, and his efforts to back out of his original tax statements, and policy, he reminds us of the remarkable inhabitant of our waters which always crawls backward.

H. E. Hoover, Canadian.

GENERAL ALLRED ENDORSES TEXAS CENTENNIAL

"Attorney General James V. Allred, candidate for Governor in an address at Corsicana Friday night of last week, gave hearty endorsement to the Texas Centennial movement.

"Of course all of us are, or should be, heartily in favor of the Texas Centennial," General Allred said. "In this city was born the Centennial idea more than ten years ago, and one of your distinguished citizens has had a very important part in crystallizing this great movement.

"It goes without saying that I am for the Centennial and stand ready to render every possible cooperation."

MACKIE IS SLATED FOR BACKFIELD BERTH ON GRID TEAM

Pampa's Harvesters today made themselves comfortable in the pine-scented environment of the Sacramento mountains of New Mexico, 10 miles from Weed, and prepared to take their first workout.

There were 35 of them. In build they ranged from the tanned ruggedness of husky boyhood to the spindly frailness of adolescence.

Until 10 days of practice work off the summer-attained softness and hard work shows how each man takes to the training. Coaches Mitchell and Fox will not attempt to cut the squad and send some of the boys to Coach Harry Kelley for more seasoning.

DUST STOPS TILT IN TEXAS LEAGUE

OILERS CAPTURE FIRST GAME FROM SAN ANTONIO

Associated Press Sports Writer. "The drought is having its effect on baseball games. With the aid of a blinding dust storm last night, the Tulsa Oilers defeated San Antonio, 11 to 2, in the first of a scheduled doubleheader but the second game was postponed because the whirling dust made it impossible to see the ball.

By an odd coincidence, the second game in which the Missions were leading 3 to 1 when it was called, was being played due to a game being stopped at Tulsa July 16 because of a severe dust storm. The southpaw slants of Frank Barnes completely puzzled the league leading Missions while the Oilers pounded Ash Ehillin, who was after his twenty-third win this season, to all corners of the lot, and eventually from the box in the eighth inning when they scored 7 runs.

Sport Slants by ALAN J. GOULD

"The old-timer leaned back, lit a fresh stogie and opened up on another angle. The current baseball season in the major leagues, it seems, has given him a new lease on life. The game was worth bringing him back to the press box again. There was or there are, for instance, the Deans—Dizzy and Daffy.

"There, my boy," remarked the old timer, "are a pair of pitchers John McGraw would have loved to handle in his prime. The fact is John tried to buy Jerome Dean from the Cardinals the first year he came up. Gabby Street couldn't handle the elder Dean at all.

"Chances are if McGraw and the Giants had got Dizzy they would have got Paul because things like the Deans always come in pairs. "Of course these Deans are a little too soft and too talkative to be compared with rare birds like Rube Waddell or Bugs Raymond. Money didn't mean anything to those fellows. Now the Deans may have 'temperament' but they also have some business sense, too. The publicity they have been getting from arguments with the Cardinals, first over salaries and lately fines, is worth thousands of dollars in gate receipts. Yet I hear baseball men saying it's all silly!

These Old-Timers. Within a few days of each, east-off Al Crowder beat the great Gomez and the Yankees, the ancient Benjigh Crimes stood the world champion Giants on their respective ears and Waite Hoyt followed it up by also handing a beating on Bill Terry's club in Pittsburgh.

Under the circumstances, a triumph for any one of the three would have been noteworthy; victory for all of them is nothing less than remarkable. It turns back a flock of pigeons in baseball history. Grimes was developed into a pitching ace by the late Uncle Wilbert Robinson before Dizzy Vance came along. The old spitballer has just passed his 41st birthday and this is his 19th year in the big show.

NEW YORK PLANS LOTTERIES TO HELP PAY CITY RELIEF COST

PLAN WILL NET 12 MILLIONS MAYOR THINKS

FOUR PUBLIC DRAWINGS WOULD BE HELD YEARLY

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—Four lotteries a year—a corporation picking officers by lot for fabulous three-month salaries—are planned by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia and city lawmakers to provide unemployment relief.

Allowing 40 per cent of the receipts for salaries of prizes, backers of the plan estimate that it will net $12,000,000 a year to meet the relief emergency.

Thirty-five million dollars more is expected from a business gross receipt tax of one-half of one per cent, ten times the tax now in effect.

James J. Lyons, Bronx borough president, drafted the lottery plan to skirt the state law against lotteries. Shares in the relief corporation would be sold for $2 or $2.50 each and officers would be chosen from among the shareholders at public drawings.

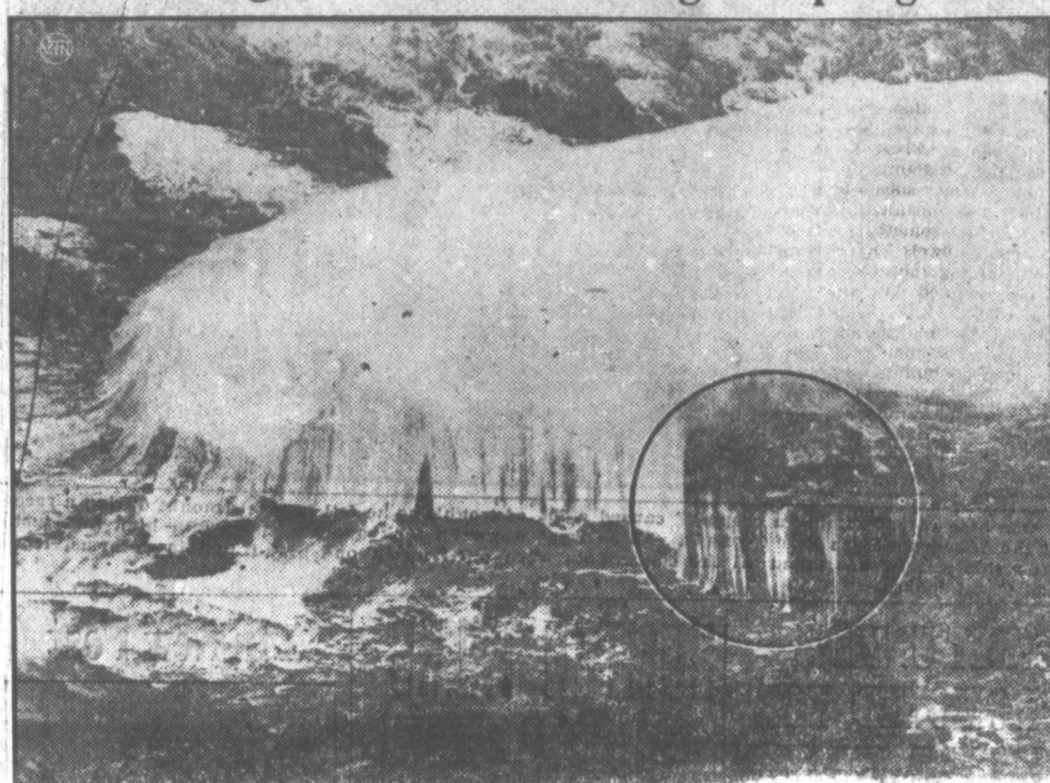

Democratic and Fusion (La-Guardia) leaders have given it their support.

The proposed gross receipts tax would apply to revenue from professions as well as trade and other forms of business, but not to salaries. Businesses would be allowed $5,000 exemption, so that the firm grossing $50,000 in a year would pay $275 tax.

Available relief funds will be exhausted by the end of this month and city officials hope to speed the new tax legislation so that they may borrow against it. Next year's relief requirements have been estimated at $50,000,000.

How Niagara Looks After Biting Its Lips Again

The famed Canadian Horseshoe falls of Niagara presented a new face to sightseers after hundreds of tons of rock pitched with a deafening roar from the lip of the crest to the gorge 160 feet below. At the point shown in the circle, the water is plunging over the brink in the new curvature formed by the rock collapse. This new recession being about 100 feet deep and 150 to 200 yards long.

The section that fell extended beyond the first notch of the horseshoe from the Canadian side and was close to Goat Island.

The San Angelo Standard-Times says Fort Concho is one of the best preserved of all the forts, and that city will strive to be an important secondary celebration city.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission:
"I will think—talk—write—Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

The following items were published in the Texas Centennial News, official publication of the publicity committee of the Texas Centennial Commission, Corsicana, Texas, and furnished to Texas newspapers for republication so that the citizenship of Texas may keep informed of Centennial activities over the state.

SAN ANGELO PREPARES FOR CENTENNIAL PART
San Angelo is preparing for a big part in the Texas Centennial of 1936 in connection with the rehabilitation of famous old Fort Concho, which is within the city limits.

FIRST PROTESTANT CHURCH TO BE BUILT

In connection with the work it has been announced that Methodists of the State will be asked to contribute $12,000.

Hundreds Hunt Missing Co-ed; Feared Slain
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 22 (AP)—Hundreds of Birmingham citizens joined police today in a search for a missing Howard college co-ed, Faye New, 19, who officers said they believed had been killed.

The girl, a pretty brunette and active in athletics at Howard, was last heard from Monday night. Police said Harold Taylor, 29, told them he went riding with Miss New and that she had jumped from the car and run into the woods near the abandoned Ruffner mine after a disagreement.

Searchers used flashlights, lanterns and improvised torches last night as they went over the wooded section northeast of here. Saying he believed Miss New had been slain, Chief of Police Luther Hollins ordered his men to search carefully every possible hiding place.

Officers said Taylor took them to the spot where he said Miss New had left his car. He led a brief survey of that region before he was taken to headquarters for questioning.

of this scrutiny, I strolled by a counter and began fingering various articles, small ones that might be thrust surreptitiously into one's pocket. It was great fun.

Sluth-Baiting
The dick trained his eye on me steadily, but glanced hastily away when I sought to catch his eye. After that I wandered by every counter on the floor, handling nondescript merchandise as though trying to pocket a few items. By this time several confederates had joined in the pursuit, and so I eventually left them, speculating as to what I had made off with, yet not daring to accuse or lay hands on me because they were uncertain. This form of diversion is called sluth-baiting and is a favorite gag with a lot of people.

What makes it difficult is that the detective may not touch a patron until he has left the premises. To accuse a letterer inside the store is no good because the accused says, "Why I am waiting to pay for this." So a suspect is followed out of the store and then pounced upon, but only when the sluths have their man dead to rights. Otherwise, the consequence is a very loud noise in the form of a law suit.

ABOUT NEW YORK

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—Elevator girls in New York's department stores may not always shed an impression of intellectuality, yet more often than not their feats of memory would shame most of us. Cataloged in their minds are many thousands of items ranging in importance from safety pins to sables and yet they are able to define and place these upon request without the slightest hesitation.

To appreciate the significance of this it is necessary to understand how really gargantuan some of the city's department stores are. They tower 10 and 15 stories, each crammed with merchandise. Each individual level is large enough to encamp a small army, and its thousands of feet of floor space and counter space are divided and subdivided into myriad little compartments for such trivia as hose, toilet accessories, picture frames, felt hats, rugs, fishing tackle, furs, canoes, bicycles, kitchen utensils, belts, and perfumes.

To memorize these and their precise location seems impossible, yet elevator girls, who must pause at each floor and recite a hurried resume of that floor's displays, are able to answer instantly any query concerning merchandise.

The Wonder Girls
Intrigued by this vast detail of the mind, I rode an elevator nearly an hour the other day listening to the countless questions put to these girls, and I marveled at the serenity and ease with which they answered. One haughty dowager, reeking with perfume, was in a fit to match a piece of ivory lace. The girl took one fleeting glance at the sample.

"Eleventh floor rear, section D, Ma'am," she directed. The lady thanked her and detoured at the prescribed stop. This was one of a hundred similar queries.

My hour's loitering brought adventure, too. One stands or hangs around in a department store only so long before a house detective is giving him the once-over. Conscious

GOOD COFFEE NEED NOT BE UNUSUAL

Good coffee is easy to make when one uses the proper methods. However, for uniform results uniform methods must be used. Temperature and time play an important part in coffee making.

In making coffee electrically the equipment is designed to give you exactly the correct amount of heat. Burnt coffee is impossible with an electric percolator. Just watch the time necessary for the process and perfect coffee is inevitable.

With the new electric coffee maker the trouble of watching the time element of coffee making has been eliminated. The coffee is simply placed in the top of the coffee maker and sufficient water is placed in the bottom of this simple device. The process is sealed to hold all delicate aromas. The electricity is then switched on and the process of making the most delicate coffee known completes itself.

THINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW about your telephone

• It was in 1876 that Alexander Graham Bell finally perfected his telephone. The first human voice heard over wires was Bell's when he called through his instrument to his assistant, Thomas Watson, "Mr. Watson, come here, I want you." (It was in reality a call for help, for Mr. Bell had just spilled a quantity of acid on his best trousers.)

• Alone and comparatively unnoticed at the great Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, Bell realized his problem was but half solved. He had his telephone, but how was he to convince people they could send their voices over metal wires; how was he to get them to use it?

• Bell wisely left the latter problem to his friend and father-in-law, Gardiner G. Hubbard. Hubbard and a group of friends hit upon the idea of licensing other companies to use Bell's patents. In exchange for that right they accepted stock in those companies.

Thus was laid the groundwork for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company of today... the parent organization of the 24 regional operating companies, of which the Southwestern Company is one.

Over more than 50 years of operation, the fundamental policy of the Bell group, as guided by this parent organization, has been to give good telephone service at a fair cost.

This policy has been adopted because we feel that, from your standpoint as much as from our own, it is sound and workable. It is based upon the belief that in an undertaking planned like the telephone service for the long pull, what is best for the telephone user becomes in the end the policy that will bring us the sounder, more enduring success.

CATHOLIC CHURCH PLANS ITS CENTENNIAL PART
The Roman Catholic Church in Texas already is laying definite plans for its participation in the great Texas Centennial. A State Catholic Centennial committee has been formed. The Very Rev. Christopher E. Byrne, bishop of Galveston, is head of the committee. Among its members are Rev. Joseph O'Donohue of Sherman, and George T. Burgess, Dallas lawyer.

LIONS CLUBS PLACED IN CENTENNIAL LINE
The 245 Lions clubs in Texas have been placed squarely behind the Texas Centennial and are in active support of the publicity plans now being carried out by the committee.

Texas, the domain which has known six sovereignties, will celebrate a hundred years of its romantic history in 1936. It will be through the medium of a great Centennial, ordered by direct vote of the people in November, 1932. The Centennial commission now is engaged in laying plans for this great exhibition, international in character. Every Texan will thrill as the drama unfolds. Every Texan now has a part.
