STRIKE SUCCESS IS DENIED

Twinkles

Those who assume that hot weather is gone are due to be fooled. We will have hot, dry weather in September, even if it does rain some; unsettled weather in October with the first real norther; and very pleasant weather in most of November. December will be colder, with a little snow; January warmer with little moisture of any kind.

The lady of our household is not impressed by calf roping. She says that throwing and tying a rodeo calf is just about the same as giving medicine to Skippy, the family pup.

And, speaking of that pup, Marshall Oden is trying to insult us by saying that his pup retrieves doves; ours wants to bury the game for a rainy day. Now we ask you, which is the smarter pup?

It looks like a great sport year in Pampa. But the major item, of course, is Harvester football, with the annoying intrusion of the world series not to be overlooked.

We hear that the younger generation isn't so much of a problem now that dad's fewer dollars to waste. But the greater problem of giving youngsters a fair start in life is the greatest of the century. Maybe the older generation was a bit selfish in its criticism.

Brevitorials

Musings of the moment: This is the hunting season. Hunting has sustained the human race throughout the ages. Man's wantonness has reduced wild game at the same time that his industry has vastly increased the numbers of tame but edible animals. City-raised housewives often shudder at the thought of killing a chicken or dressing a wild fowl for food. Death is a necessary part in hunting. Life is cheaper than we sometimes think. Living is sustained by death in the sense that the life cycle is a story of birth, sacrifice, reproduction and death. Reared in this section when game was more plentiful, we do not share some newcomers' feeling that it is revolting to kill game animals. The question is rather one of preventing the extermination of the game.

SHUTTLE

back and forth between possible paths of two small but potentially lethal tornadoes was the unique experience of this writer Sunday. Maybe it's a story for Ripley. It was entertaining for a bit of observation but alarming at first sight.

WHILE

resting under the shade of a tree southeast of Canadian Sunday, our party noted with no great interest the formation of "thunder-heads" in the sky almost above. But when a tornado began

CANADIAN,

Sept. 4—One of three tornadoes seen near here Sunday demolished the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Burk, who with their children reached safety in the basement under the house, together with their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gudeg and child. Many fences were demolished by twisters southeast, south, and southwest of here.

forming it was something else. First, the top of a funnel appeared in the bottom of the bank of clouds. To our practiced eye—we lived 13 years in that country—it meant nothing less than a little twister. They are not nice things to flirt with.

WE

moved west, knowing that twisters usually do not go in that direction. Looking back, we watched the twister project its funnel slowly downward. The phenomenon slowly moved eastward, sometimes hesitating with no direction indicated.

MEANWHILE

the sky had become more clouded. We had driven 5 or 6 miles west before, to our surprise, we saw a second twister taking form about half a mile ahead and west of the highway. Our attention was called by a ground movement of air resembling a huge whirlwind. But when we looked upward there was a long, slender funnel with its bending shape slowly moving downward. The twisting air at the ground was advance notice of what was coming. It was obvious that the thing would cross the road.

WE

now know we could have speeded by without harm, as another car did, but it seemed the part of valor at the time to move back a mile or two and play the role of spectator. This we did, pulling the cloud down to the ground through its vortex and beating the earth like the loose end of an air-pressure hose. Very slowly, it moved across the road and on into Wheeler county, disappearing in the dust and rain which trailed it. As we crossed the trail, the dust was so thick that headlights were necessary. It was reported yesterday that one farm building was struck and demolished.

'MACHINE GUN' INCARCERATED IN ALCATRAZ

BELIEVE BAILEY AND BATES ARE ALSO IN PRISON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (AP)—Department of justice officials today confirmed reports that George "Machine Gun" Kelly, bank robber and kidnaper, was among the group of prisoners taken from Fort Leavenworth Sunday for incarceration in the new Alcatraz prison at San Francisco.

Kelly, one of the participants in the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel of Oklahoma, was transported west in the secret manner used when Al Capone was transferred from Atlanta penitentiary to Alcatraz.

Officers of the federal prison bureau withheld all details until the transfer had been completed. Reports that Harvey J. Bailey and Albert Bates, also convicted in the Urschel case, had been taken to the island fortress, could not be confirmed immediately.

With the same elaborate precautions which marked the recent arrival of "Scarface" Al Capone, former Chicago gang leader, and 50 other prisoners from Atlanta penitentiary, the barge was conveyed across the bay by boats bristling with rifles to the prison.

The same secrecy which marked the start of the trip shrouded movement of the convicts up to the time they were landed. They left Leavenworth prison in the dead of night, reportedly walking barefoot from their cells to the train to prevent escape. Heavy guards escorted them half-way across the continent and greeted them on the island.

Safe Driving Is Urged in City's New Campaign

With school opening and the streets filled with children of all ages, the police department today opened a campaign to bring about better observance of traffic regulations and control of speeding.

Running over stop-signs and turning to the right on a red signal without coming to a complete stop are motorists' violations which must stay Chief of Police Art Hurst said. He is assigning policemen to various signal corners under orders to make arrests without favoring anyone. He conferred with City Attorney John Sturgeon, who made a number of recommendations to the department.

Right turns are permitted on red signals, but only after making complete stops of vehicles. This does not mean merely changing of gears. One man was knocked down and injured yesterday by a motorist who ran through a signal and did not stop to render aid to his victim. The violator is being sought.

Schools will cooperate by teaching the children to obey the signaling stops of vehicles. The phenomenon of cars taking Harvester during the summer but must be controlled to save children's lives.

The whole city is asked to become alert to the problem and to give the officers full cooperation.

Municipal Pool Is To Be Guarded in Inactive Season

Pampa's swimming season is over. The municipal pool was being checked out from the management today and directions given for preparing the equipment for the winter "rest."

Arrangements have been made for Frank Johnson and his family to live at the pool to care for and watch it during the period of inactivity. Last year windows were broken and other damage done while the pool was not guarded. It was a successful season, with about $1,000 made in profits to be applied on the cost of the pool. The crowd of swimmers was small yesterday because of the cold, but Sunday's patronage was excellent.

Mrs. J. C. Lewis has returned from Amarillo, where she spent the past week visiting her mother who was seriously ill.

School Heads

Fifteen Are Sent to Hospitals, Five To Jail

KOINTE, Sept. 4 (AP)—Tight-lipped about the whole affair, members of the Baptist-Apostolic church in the little Sawmill community of Votaw, resumed their normal lives today after a free-for-all fight at a church service which took the life of one member, sent 15 to hospitals and landed five in the county jail.

J. M. Jordan, a farmer, was stabbed to death and Jim Burnett, another farmer, was in a critical condition from knife wounds. Several others were bruised in the fight, the motive of which remained unexplained. Sheriff Miles Jordan, who jailed five of the congregation to "let them cool off a while," said the fight was precipitated by either church matters, an old feud, or an election dispute. Sheriff Jordan, after investigation, said the fight was a "free-for-all."

RELIEF MONEY INVESTIGATION THEN RESUMED

SPECIAL AUDITOR IS CALLED BEFORE COMMISSION

AUSTIN, Sept. 4 (AP)—A senate effort to adjourn a special relief session of the Texas legislature at midnight Saturday was speedily defeated in the house today.

Both houses immediately resumed an investigation into relief expenditures preparatory to action on a bill to issue state relief bonds. J. P. Reed of Mountain Home, member of the Texas relief commission, continued as the senate witness and James T. Duke, special auditor for the Texas relief commission, appeared before the house.

Little debate preceded house action on the senate adjournment resolution. It was defeated 86 to 35.

Belief that the adjournment date would not be satisfactory to the house had been expressed in the senate.

"I am reliably informed the house relief bill can not be passed by Saturday night," said Senator J. W. P. H. Beck of DeKalb. Issuance of $9,500,000 state relief bonds was the purpose for which Governor Miriam A. Ferguson convened the session.

"If the session runs 30 days, it is most likely the bill will be passed in the last 48 hours," answered Senator Grady Woodruff of Decatur, author of the resolution. "There is a reasonable certainty the bill will be written in a conference, so it doesn't make much difference what the house and senate do. The sooner we send it to a conference, the sooner we will get away, as the people are demanding."

No relief bill has been introduced in the senate. Administration leaders decided to await arrival of the house bill which is pending before a committee of the whole house. Reed warned the senate the remaining $9,500,000 state relief bonds "will play out before the problem is solved" and suggested localities should be required to assume some of the relief burden "at the quickest moment."

The sooner counties bear a part of the burden, the sooner we will see the end of this sort of thing," he predicted.

Reed parried evasive answers to an extended line of questioning directed by Senator Grady Woodruff of Decatur and others on past practices in relief administration. Senator Albert Stone of Brenham interrupted to inquire of the purpose of the interrogations.

"I am trying to show the fundamental causes of relief commission unrest, and that this individual (Reed) is as responsible as any."

Gene Green Is New Supervisor For Commission

Gene Green has been appointed deputy supervisor of the Railroad commission, oil division, for the Panhandle field, it was announced today.

Mr. Green was first assistant to J. M. McDonald who resigned yesterday. He left today for Austin to confer with members of the commission about his new post.

Mr. Green, who has lived here for several years, attended the University of Texas, Austin, where he stayed at the home of C. V. Terrell, a member of the commission. He worked his way through the university. He is a native of East Texas.

Gas and Gasoline Departments Plan Barbecue and Good Program

Five beaves will "cook to a turn" in barbecue pits and other items of a full menu will be assembled for employees of the natural gas and gasoline departments of the Magnolia Petroleum company next Saturday afternoon at Shaw park in LeFors.

It will be a free barbecue and entertainment for the men and their families and special guests. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Pampa high school band. The meal will be eaten at 1 p. m. After the lunch, V. L. Dickinson will give the address of welcome and short talks will be made by R. D. Hanley, J. D. Hensley, J. L. Risinger, Dr. M. C. Overton, W. S. Norman, A. G. Post, C. E. McGrew, Dick Meyers, C. V. Edwards Jr. and Pat Crawford.

Harry Kelley of Pampa will then present vocal and instrumental specialties. A clown act will follow, then there will be more band numbers.

There will be entertainment by clowns for the children, and souvenirs will be distributed during the evening. As a special feature, a terrapin derby will conclude the program. The rules of the derby are as follows:

SCHOOL BUS LAW IS QUOTED FOR INFORMATION OF PUBLIC

Attention of motorists to the state law on passing of school buses was called today by Joe Shelton, superintendent of buses in the Pampa independent school district.

Heavy fines are assessed each year either through ignorance or carelessness. The law follows:

All vehicles used for the transportation of pupils to and from any school or college, shall have a sign on the front and rear and on each side of said vehicle, showing the words "School Bus." When any such "school bus" vehicle stops, every operator of a motor vehicle or motorcycle approaching same from any direction shall bring such motor vehicle or motorcycle to a full stop before proceeding in any direction and in event such "school bus" vehicle is receiving or discharging passengers, the said operator of such motor vehicle or motorcycle shall not start up or attempt to pass in any direction until said "school bus" vehicle has finished receiving or discharging its passengers.

Any party who violates any of the provisions of this act shall upon conviction thereof be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $50 or confined to the county jail not to exceed 90 days, or both such fine and imprisonment, provided, however, that if death results to any person caused either actually or remotely by a non-compliance or violation of any of the provisions of this act then and in that event, the party or parties so offending shall be punished as is now provided by law.

Budget Brings No Objections From Citizens

Formal Order of Approval Likely To Be Entered at Monday Session.

There being no objections from citizens, the tentative city budget will likely be adopted as prepared.

Besides the city commission, city manager, city attorney, and city secretary, those present at the public hearing were J. N. Duncan and R. E. Johnson of the board of equalization, J. A. Meloche, and Mr. and Mrs. Olin E. Hinkle.

The commission will likely enter an order next Monday night approving the budget. Changes can be made in it prior to that time if desired, however, since the public hearing was called to get public opinion on city finances.

Mr. Duncan and Mr. Johnson commented on city valuations, saying that valuations were being left approximately as they were last year. Their investigations have resulted in a few raises and a few decreases. They said that real property bore the brunt of city financing.

McClellan Creek Bridge Will Be Finished Today

Gray county's new bridge over McClellan creek will be finished today and cleaned up by the end of the week.

The long, low span will be opened to oil field traffic in the "hot spot" sometime next week. The east approach has been finished and clay placed on the road, but work is still under way on the west approach. The Austin Bridge company has made fast progress on the span.

County road building has been delayed recently by the rains. Curbs and gutter work in LeFors should be completed this week, however, weather permitting. Within 60 days, the caliche base will be finished from Pampa to McLean, leaving only the asphalt topping to be applied in finishing a road long desired.

It is expected that the 70-30 federal gift and loan to the county will be received in time to begin topping the road when the caliche is laid. If weather is "open," the road may be completed by cold weather.

DEATH NOT ASKED

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 4 (AP)—Life imprisonment—not the death penalty—will be asked by the state for Neal Myers, young University of Oklahoma student charged with the death of his beauty queen sweetheart, Marian Mills, prosecutors disclosed today as the youth's murder trial opened here.

UNION HEADS CALL WALKOUT HUGE SUCCESS

EMPLOYERS CLAIM 85 PER CENT ARE WORKING

(By The Associated Press.) An estimated 200,000 or more textile workers seemed today to have obeyed a union order for a general strike to make 650,000 workers idle in 22 states.

The exact number was a matter of dispute between unions and employers as both sides claimed the victory in today's test after the first skirmishes yesterday on the Labor day holiday.

Francis J. Gorman, chairman of the strike committee of the United Textile Workers of America, hailed the strike as a "tremendous success."

Peter Van Horn, chairman of the silk code authority, said that a survey as applied to silk rayon, and synthetic fabric industries showed the strike was "almost a complete failure."

George A. Sloan, chairman of the cotton textile code authority, said his survey of New England indicated "the majority of workers are not in sympathy with the strike movement."

Sloan claimed that in New England, feeling the strike for the first day, since the holiday was observed yesterday 100,000 were working and 25,000 idle, basing his estimate on incomplete reports.

Sloan said that in the south, in some parts of which mills operated yesterday, 125,000 were working and 38,500 idle.

LEAVE NATURE ALONE TO ENJOY IT MOST

It was a most attractive photograph. It showed a wild waterfall, toppling over a rocky ledge and foaming down into a gorge whose banks were covered with virgin timber. Everything in view looked presumably, just as it did centuries ago, before there was a white man on the continent.

The paragraph of printed matter that accompanied the picture said that this waterfall was on the Tahquamenon river in the upper peninsula of Michigan. A movement was afoot to turn the region into a state park, it was said; and then came this sentence—"the place is difficult to reach at present, but a highway will be built to the falls if the park is O. K. d."

And while all of us who like to go places by auto would be glad to have one more beauty spot put within reach of our summer tours, it occurs to us to wonder if we aren't overdoing this business of putting roads into the wilderness, just a little.

A good part of the charm of some of those wild spots is their isolation—the fact that they are not only unspoiled, but that they are so hard to get to that people don't get a chance to spoil them.

We have built so many roads in the last decade that it is hard to think of any beauty spot which the casual motorist cannot reach. And while this is, in the main, an excellent thing, we might reflect that once you make a wilderness thoroughly accessible, it ceases to be a wilderness.

There ought, in other words, to be some areas which can't be reached by car; spots which one must penetrate afoot, or with a pack horse, if one is to see them at all, and which contain no tourist cabins or general stores.

Let there be a few prizes for those who are willing to rough it, a few bits of wilderness which we can never see if we aren't game to park the car and hike a bit.

A recent editorial in Nature Magazine stressed this very point. It remarked acidly that there are people who won't be satisfied "until the crest of every mountain range is scarred by a skyline highway or scenic boulevard," and it pleads for preservation of some wilderness areas in their natural, roadless state.

This doesn't mean that we must stop making mountain and forest accessible to the auto. It is simply a reminder that we can build too many roads, and that if we do we shall rob ourselves of something very much worth preserving.

Government Not To Feed Strikers Richberg Asserts

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (AP)—A prediction that 5,000,000 families, a new high record, would be on federal relief rolls in February was made today by Donald Richberg, secretary of President Roosevelt's executive council.

The severity of the drought situation and the usual seasonal increase in relief during the winter are given as the reasons for the expected gain.

Richberg denied what he called "misinformation" to the effect that the government is financing strikes. "The amount of federal relief payments which can be attributed to strikes has been almost negligible," he said in the third of a series of reports he is making to the president on progress of the new deal.

In previous ones he reported that more than 4,000,000 workers had been put back into employment and that farm prices had been boosted to the benefit of agriculture.

SEAMAN HELD BY KIDNAPERS IN NEW YORK

NARCOTICS THROWN INTO SEA BY FRENCH SEAMAN
NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (AP)—The kidnaping of a French seaman by an international gang of smugglers and his torture during a month of captivity were disclosed by federal investigators today after twenty government agents, armed with sub-machine guns, had arrested two men and a woman.

The seaman, William Rosen, or Guillaume Rosen, identified one of the prisoners as the leader of the gang and the man in whose Brooklyn apartment he was held captive. He identified the man's wife as the woman who cooked for him during his imprisonment.

Investigators said Rosen, a seaman on the French liner Champlain, was abducted because he threw a package into the sea, believing it to contain potash. Instead, it held narcotics valued at 40,000 francs ($2,640).

The arrests were made in a raid today on the apartment where Rosen said he was held captive. Those seized were identified as Salvatore Mancuso, 28; his wife, Nellie, 25, and Dominick Gelferno, 31, also of Brooklyn. Rosen was unable to identify Gelferno, agents said.

All were charged with kidnaping and conspiracy. Rosen, 35, appeared at police headquarters with his wrists bound by the ropes with which he had been tied day and night and his forehead scarred by lighted cigarettes with which his captors had seared him.

Kidnaped on August 2, he was released yesterday. Federal men said they believed the gang had become fearful of detection.

Rosen told investigators he found the package concealed in a ventilator.

MCLEAN RODEO WITNESSED BY LARGE CROWD

LABOR DAY FEATURED BY FOOT RACES FOR CHILDREN

MCLEAN, Sept. 4.—By far the most successful rodeo sponsored by the McLean chamber of commerce brought the largest crowd of this year here yesterday. It was part of a Labor day celebration that started with a street parade of school children, fire department and the high school band.

Boyd Meador, president of the chamber of commerce as well as of the fire department, led the parade with the fire truck and fire boys, followed by the band directed by Prof. Davidson. School children formed the remainder of the procession which marched to the rodeo grounds for contests and awarding of prizes.

In the calf roping contest George Shouse was first with a time of 29 seconds; Tom Harlan second, 34 1/2 seconds; Ansel Back third, 40 seconds.

Grey Cubine took first place in bucking horse riding Jack Curtis in steer riding, and also in bull dogging.

Places were as follows in the foot races for children: Pre-school boys, Sidney McHaney first; pre-school girls, Lucile Smith; sub-junior boys, Roy Neison; junior girls, Iona Langford; junior boys, J. H. Metsel; senior boys, Murrell Reams.

J. B. Pettit and H. M. Rooh tied for first place in the old man's race. Sammy Cubine won the fat man's race by default as the other fat men refusing to run. The bicycle race was won by Roy Laswell.

Sixty-five dollars in prizes was given by McLean business men, who paid expenses of the program. All business houses closed from 12 to 3 p. m. for the program.

On the program committee were C. S. Doolen, D. A. Davis, and Witt Springer. The rodeo was managed by Lee Harlan and the race events by A. R. McHaney.

STEERS TAKE DOUBLEHEADER FROM OILERS

CROWD IS LARGEST AT DALLAS IN LAST TEN YEARS

A paid crowd of 12,482 persons jammed Steer stadium last night to see two crucial games this week between the Dallas Steers and Tulsa Oilers, who are battling for fourth place in the Texas league pennant race.

It was the largest paid crowd for a regular scheduled game at Dallas in 10 years and inspired the Steers to sweep the doubleheader, 4 to 3, and 10 to 1. Today the Steers are a game and a half in front of Tulsa for fourth place and a chance at the Shadsworth pennant play-off.

The Oilers booted away both games. Mace Brown dropped a head wrecker in the first contest. Due to Paul Beerling's home run in the top of the ninth with a runner on, Brown went to the mound for the last half of the ninth with victory in his grasp, but a wild throw by Catcher Powers trying to prevent Joe Vance from stealing third let in the tying run. The 3-3 score continued until the twelfth when the Steers scored the winning run.

Frank Barnes hurled 2-hit ball for Tulsa in the second but lost the decision to Al Baker, who stopped Tulsa with 2 hits. Rank errors cost Barnes his game, a wild throw by Powers to second base paving the way for the Steers' first run.

The first place San Antonio Missions and third place Beaumont Shippers split a doubleheader. The Missions took the first, 10 to 6, but

CARDS BEATEN TWO STRAIGHT BY PITTSBURGH

BOTH IDLE, BUT GIANTS AND TIGERS GAIN IN RACES

BY HERBERT W. BARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.
Even the weather man has climbed aboard the pennant band wagons of the Detroit Tigers and New York Giants.

Both leaders spent Labor day in their hotel lobbies as rain wiped out scheduled double-headers but both likewise gained ground thereby in their race toward the major league flags.

The Giants picked up a full game on the St. Louis Cardinals, walloped twice by Pittsburgh, and now lead the National league by six games. The Tigers actually advanced not at all in their quest of the American league bunting but the second-place New York Yankees split two with the Philadelphia Athletics and thus saw two more games wiped off their schedule without cutting into Detroit's 5 1/2-game lead.

The Cardinals' double reverse at Pittsburgh not only put them another full game back of the Giants but also allowed the Chicago Cubs, who split with Cincinnati, to tie them for second place. The Pirates beat both of the Dean brothers, Paul and Jerome, as their part of the holiday celebration. They chased Paul to cover with an 8-run third inning outburst to win the first game, 12-2, and then hammered the elder Dean for the winning runs in the ninth inning of the nightcap. The score was 6-5.

Lon Warneke pitched the Cubs to a 6-3 10-inning victory over the Reds in the opener but successive triples by Mark Koenig and Jim Bottomley in the seventh accounted for four of the five runs the Reds scored in that frame to win the second game, 6-4. Good pitching by Fred Frankhouse and Huck Betts gave Boston two victories over Brooklyn, 1-0 and 4-2.

Babe Ruth's 21st homer and 11 other hits gave the Yankees an 11-7 triumph over the A's as Vernon Gomez staggered to his 24th victory and his tenth in succession. The A's, however, came right back with a 14-hit drive, including Jimmie Fox's 40th homer, to win the second game, 10-3.

Cleveland strengthened its hold on third place by taking two games from St. Louis, 9-5 and 6-4. Washington lost the first game to Boston, 6-3, and the services of Manager Joe Cronin to boot, and then held on to gain a 4-4 tie in the second contest last night because of darkness after 8 innings. Cronin suffered a broken bone in his right arm when he tumbled to the ground after a mix-up with Wes Ferrell at first base in the eighth inning of the opener. He will be out for the rest of the season.

Home runs: Gehrig, Yankees, 42; Fox, Athletics, 40.
Stolen bases: Werber, Red Sox, 35; Fox, Tigers, 25.
Pitching: Gomez, Yankees, 24-3; Ferrell, Red Sox, 13-3.

THE SPORTS HORN

BY BILL PARKER, DALLAS, Sept. 4 (AP)—Take it from Skipper Jake Atz of the Tulsa Oilers, Alexander Hooks, Tulsa first sacker, is the Texas league's best all-around major league prospect.

Discussing Texas leaguers, Atz pointed to Hooks who was at the plate in batting practice and said: "For hitting, fielding, throwing, running bases and playing heads-up baseball, that boy at the plate is the league's best. He is ripe for the big show. His vast improvement within the last two months has been little short of marvelous."

Atz was pleased with the selection of Charlie English, Galveston second baseman, as the league's most valuable player. He said: "In every series we played Galveston this year, English gave us plenty of trouble. He is a sure fielder, timely hitter and a regular spark-plug for team play."

Next to English, I think my own shortstop, Skeeter Newsome, is the league's most valuable. From opening day up to now, I have depended on Newsome to balance my infield, to keep the boys fighting against bad breaks, and he has come through like a thoroughbred."

The popular Tulsa skipper was in grand-humor last night previous to the doubleheader against Dallas. The fact he had a headache after losing both games to the Steers doesn't matter. He admitted that his old baseball bones got a thrill yesterday when four different Tulsa fans called him over long distance

Jimmy McLarnin In Good Shape

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (AP)—If Jimmy McLarnin fails to regain the welterweight championship from Barney Ross in Madison Square Garden bowl Thursday night it will not be the fault of his conditioning. Jimmy's punching has been vicious, timing perfect, these last two days in his training camp at Orangeburg, as his sparring partners are perfectly willing to testify. Calvin Reed, clever Philadelphiaan, said so yesterday after taking a fearful battering in a 5-round workout.

"I don't see how Ross or any other fighter can live under that punching," Reed said. "I thought he was breaking me in two every time he hit me in the body. This is twice the McLarnin I boxed at Atlantic City."

McLarnin planned to box two more rounds with Reed tomorrow and then hang up his gloves until the fight.

Ross already is in town. The champion loafed through 2 rounds at Ferrandale, N. Y., yesterday and then packed up and came to New York. He scaled 138 1/2 pounds.

Pullman Chief's Son Kills Lover Then Slays Self

CHICAGO, Sept. 4 (AP)—Authorities believed today that jealous rage prompted Louis S. Hungerford, Jr., son of the general manager of the Pullman company, to send a bullet crashing into a young woman's brain and then kill himself.

Fully clothed, the bodies of Hungerford, 47, and Mrs. Milton Garrett Palmer, 33, were found yesterday in the woman's rear northside apartment.

A bullet in her head and another in her chest, the woman's body was slumped over a bed. Hungerford was on the floor, a revolver near his hand. A slug had pierced his forehead.

Police found an opened letter from the woman's husband, a sailor aboard the U. S. S. Texas, now on the Atlantic coast.

RODEO HANDS TURN IN GOOD TIMES MONDAY

ATTRACTION BROUGHT TO SUCCESSFUL CLOSE

Two interesting performances on Labor day brought to a successful close the B. C. D.-sponsored rodeo at Road Runner park, managed by Siler Hopkins.

Jonas D'Armond of Newkirk, N. M., was ring director. The rodeo stock was provided by Mr. Hopkins and Aubra Bowers, the latter of near Canadian.

Judges for the bronc and steer riding yesterday were W. W. Maddox of Pampa, foreman of the Hayhook ranch; Mr. Bowers, owner of the Lazy-J ranch; and Ace Henson, contestant from Carter, Okla. Virgil Nixon of Pampa received many compliments on his announcing over the Kreiger Radio service.

Yesterday's performances made up one contest show, the results of which were as follows:

Calf roping—First, Jonas D'Armond, Newkirk, N. M., 21 seconds; second, Tex Doyle, Shamrock, 23 1/2 seconds; third, Aubra Bowers, Canadian, 34 seconds.

Bronc riding—First, Charlie Braden, Wheeler; second, Ed Cain, Amarillo; third, Jonas D'Armond and Jack Yale, tied.

Steer riding—First, Jimmie Olsen, Pampa; second, Jonas D'Armond; third, C. Miller, Wheeler.

Bull-dogging—First, Tex Doyle, 10 seconds; second, Buck Jones, Wichita Falls, 22 seconds; third, Ace Henson, Carter, Okla., 22 1/2 seconds.

General average calf roping—First, D'Armond, 40 1/2 seconds; 2 calves; second, Eddie Smith, Wel-ington, 66 seconds; Bowers, 67 1/2 seconds.

Lola Barton's "E" the high school horse continued to be a favo yesterday.
With few exceptions, it was run off on schedule as planned. Of course, the contestants can guarantee to throw all the big bull-dogged, but the steers are about cheerfully. Some of the Brahma calves, running like a out-distanced the fleet range he.
The lights of Road Runner were ideal for rodeo work and a better than the average rodeo tem. The only trouble with a developed last night when at circled wires on the west side the field became over-heated part of the powerful globes turned out momentarily.

Man and Machine Weave a Pattern of Strife

Looms . . . hundreds of thousands like this . . . chattering mechanisms with clamorous shuttles watched by tense, deft workers . . . drawings billions of threads into the cloth they wear and use . . . Often they have woven a new pattern into industrial life—more speed, fewer men, shorter hours. And now the man at the loom waits working time lessened for himself and about 500,000 others in order that approximately 125,000 new unemployed may have new jobs . . . He knows that that American business will lose vast sums while he is away from his loom. The strike will cost him and his union an almost equal amount. He knows there will be violence and suffering, and nation-wide alarm. . . He wonders when he can get back to help pick up the tangled threads of progress.

TIGER ISLAND

By Gouverneur Morris

Synopsis: Before Captain Wong Bo and his radio operator, Flint, can scuttle the "Boldero" for the insurance, the owner of his cargo of wild animals, Angus McLeod, falls ill of appendicitis and must be put ashore at the little Dutch port of Slnbo, Harry Bowers, big game hunter, volunteers to accompany the animals to Singapore and tries to pick up an assistant from a derelict circus at Slnbo. He finds himself talking to a beautiful young woman in a lion tamer's uniform.

Chapter Six THE BARGAIN

"Oh," said the animal trainer "we run out of food and the money to buy food, so I kissed them good-bye and let them go." "That's where you made a mistake," said Bowers. "You need a trainer yourself, young woman, or a guardian, or a nurse, or something of the kind. Don't you know that the price of tigers is way up in G at the moment. For instance, I would have bought them myself."

"When you opened the cages and let them out," he asked, "weren't you frightened?" "Me frightened? Of tigers? Why, tigers are just like children if you understand them."

"Why," she said, "when they are hungry, you feed them." Then suddenly she smiled for the first time. It was just a flicker of a smile, but there was in it a hint of gaiety and mischief.

"When their heads ache," she said, "you give them aspirin; and when they are naughty, you slap them."

"Bowers fell into her mood with a chuckle, and continued: "The worst times, of course," she said, "are when they get homesick for the jungle."

"That must be awful," said Bowers. "What do you do for them then?"

"Just what you would do for a man who was down on his luck. You flatter them."

"I suppose I am dumb," said Bowers, "but even if I made up my mind to flatter a tiger, I wouldn't know how to go about it."

"Oh," she said, "just praise them. Tell them how handsome they are, make them feel important and self-satisfied. At such times, I often recite Blake's poem to them." And she quoted:

"Why of course you do," said she. "Couldn't you lie to him?"

The Boldero was a slow ship, and the ocean-road to Singapore was long, and it cannot be denied that the thought of having this particular young woman for a companion during the voyage, played an unfair part in his decision to engage her. It is not to his credit to think, nay, to be humanly certain that if she had been plain and unattractive, he would have made his excuses and sought elsewhere.

"Of course I could lie to him. I shall. I will."

Her eyes grew meltingly soft. This was occasioned largely by a sudden economic relief, and a little by gratitude. But Bowers mistook the cause of the melting look. Stupidly and conceitedly he attributed it to some undeserved and fortuitous quality in himself which made him extraordinarily attractive to women.

"Even if you weren't an animal trainer," he said, "I'd like to have you take this trip."

"Only," said Bowers, "that the words of a badly worried man, who is about to have his appendix out, to get a man to help me."

"Isn't that a quibble?" she asked. "If he had known that the only available man was a woman, wouldn't he have been willing to take a chance?"

"Very possibly," said Bowers; but still he hesitated. It was hard for him to realize, it always had been, that even out of her normal and natural sphere, a woman may sometimes function as effectively as a man.

At this moment Helen, the monkey, drew attention to herself by a sound which perhaps is a little described by the word chittering. Unperceived, she had opened the tin trunk, extracted a little felt hat with a feather in it, clapped it rakishly on her head, adjusted the chin strap, and was asking to be noticed.

The young woman who, quoted Blake to tigers, laughed. "Helen!" she exclaimed. "Tell the kind, handsome, generous, high-born gentleman how badly we need money!"

Helen rushed to Bowers, doffed her hat, and pranced about and chattered in the way of organ-grinder money the world over. Bowers extended a finger and swung the monkey to his shoulder.

"I suppose," said Helen's mistress, "that if McLeod knew that a woman was to be in charge, it would just about kill him. But couldn't you do for him what everybody does for the sick? The friend for the sick patient—the patient for the sick child; the animal trainer for the sick monkey?"

"I am not bright," said Bowers. "I don't understand."

DOUGLAS DAVIS DIES IN CRASH AT AIR RACES

WON BENDIX TROPHY IN FRIDAY'S DASH FROM COAST

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4 (AP)—Death caught up with one of America's most famous airplane pilots late yesterday as 1934's national air races roared to a close before nearly 100,000 persons.

With two major aviation triumphs to his credit in four days and a third almost within his grasp, Douglas Davis, Atlanta, Ga., veteran of a million miles in the air, crashed to death in the final racing event of this year's program.

Davis was on the eighth lap of the 12-lap, 100-mile Thompson trophy race and was leading the field by an 8-mile margin when the wreck occurred.

Witnesses said he had just cut inside a pylon about three miles to the rear of the grandstand when he suddenly swerved to the left as if planning to circle back and take the pylon on the outer side.

His plane was traveling about 250 miles an hour when it shot out of control, twisted crazily through the air and plunged its nose into the ground.

Davis was practically decapitated in the crash, and his body badly mangled. His parachute was still strapped to his back, and in one hand was clutched a package of air mail letters.

Uninterrupted by the hand of death, the race went on to a finish, with first place honors going to Rescue Turner of Hollywood, Calif., at a speed of 248.128 miles an hour. He received the coveted Thompson trophy and a $4,500 cash award.

Davis won the Bronx trophy race in a dash here from Burbank, Calif., last Friday and only a few hours before his death attained his second triumph of this year's races by exceeding the world's land plane speed record of 304.98 miles an hour.

175 MILLION DOLLARS Paid to Texas People

THE LEGAL RESERVE life insurance companies of Texas have paid to Texas people $175,000,000.00 in cash . . . as death claims, surrender values, endowments and annuities. The amount so paid out increases each year. Such payments in 1933 amounted to $20,000,000.00.

These Texas companies make it easy and convenient for the people of Texas to practice thrift and thereby provide for their own future needs. That the people of Texas appreciate this service is evidenced by the fact that 1,200,000 are policyholders, owning insurance in the amount of $1,150,000,000.00.

Texas legal reserve life insurance companies have assets of $184,000,000.00 so invested as to safeguard the interests of policyholders as well as to contribute largely to the progress of Texas.

When you buy life insurance in a Texas legal reserve company you become a participant in the program to make Texas a better state in which to live and make a living.

Holds Key Post

Final decision on the future of NRA may be swayed by a woman, a tireless, capable executive, whose rise is one of the New Deal's spectacular incidents—Miss Frances Robinson, above, Gen. Hugh Johnson's "right hand." Her advice to Johnson to "make a dramatic exit" may shape his course in the furious battle now raging.

Teach Children To Make Living, Says Woman, 101

ABILENE, Sept. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Curry, 101, is a life-long democrat and favors the new deal in Washington, but there are some things she doesn't like.

The woman, who stayed at home with four children while her husband and father fought in the civil war, can't agree with the government in its cattle buying program.

"I do not think it is right to let the stock as the government is doing," the aged woman said. "The Lord is not going to let us raise more than we need." The last statement evidently was made with the drought in mind.

"But if they do kill the cattle," she continued, "I think they ought to let the poor people eat all they want of the meat."

On another subject, Mrs. Curry was just as emphatic.

"If the people would take their children to the farm and teach them to work, the family could make a living and the children would know how to make a living when they grew up. Parents are to blame for children who do not do right, and it's terrible the way people let their children dress these days."

"Work, laugh and live," is Mrs. Curry's motto. She has lived successfully by it. She withstood the ravages of the civil war, was a pioneer on the frontier of Texas, and finally saw her home turned to the famous Curry oil field.

Mrs. Curry still is in good health, and the points at her family record with pride. Her family has grown. There are seven children, 42 grandchildren, 62 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren. Her oldest child is 81 and her youngest is 56. Since her husband's death 13 years ago, Mrs. Curry has divided her time between her children who live in Abilene, Weatherford and Breckenridge, Texas, and in Oklahoma.

VOICES BECOME IMPORTANT IN PREMIERE ACTS

IMITATORS WANTED OF SHOUTING, SINGING FILM STARS

Boys who have made their families uncomfortable with raucous imitations of Tarzan's jungle call or Joe E. Brown's funny shout may find their efforts profitable in the Hollywood premiere to be staged at LaNora theater Friday and Saturday.

Impersonators of Tarzan and Brown are among those wanted. Anyone, no matter what age, who can imitate those loud-voiced stars is asked to apply at the theater, to the Hollywood editor of the Daily News, or to appear for try-outs at a rehearsal meeting Wednesday at 7:30.

Meeting Tomorrow
All in the cast and all directors will meet then, on the mezzanine floor of the theater. Ten fine acts are in preparation, and the directors plan 10 more. Applications for places in the cast are still wanted from any one who can impersonate any star.

Several crooners have appeared in response to a plea for Bing Crosby impersonators, but try-outs will continue as long as there are applicants. A Dick Powell was signed up yesterday.

Each person selected for a part in the premiere will receive 10 tickets to the LaNora. In addition, each will be eligible for the award of a year's pass for first place, six months pass for second, and three months pass for third place to be given the winning impersonators.

Special black velvet curtains have been ordered for staging the skits; lights are being set and stage properties built. Draucis, who will act as master of ceremonies, will be the central stage figure and the setting is being arranged to suit his eerie personality.

Russ Columbo's Mother Vainly Calls for Son

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Sept. 4 (AP)—Hovoring between life and death, Mrs. Julio Columbo called today from a hospital bed for her son, Russ, but no answer came.

She did not know that the son, Russ Columbo, golden voiced singer, was dead, the victim of an accidental discharge of an old duelling pistol. For the third day he had failed to visit her as she lay suffering from heart ailment. Word of her son's death was withheld from her.

While the mother called for her son, a deputy of the county coroner's office prepared to call today the first witness at an inquest.

Lansing V. Brown Jr., film photographer, will be the chief witness.

Life-long friend of Columbo, Brown, 37 years old, held the cap-and-ball pistol which sent a leaden pellet into the singer's head as the weapon discharged accidentally while the two men were examining Brown's firearms collection.

In a state of collapse, Brown was confined to his bed yesterday. From the relatives came no expression of resentment toward Brown. One described it as "an act of God."

Their grief was shared by Sally Blane, who was at Columbo's bed when death claimed Columbo, and Carole Lombard, blonde screen actress.

ADAM JOHNSON IS DEFENDED AND ATTACKED

LEGISLATURE TALKS OF ADJOURNING ON SATURDAY

AUSTIN, Sept. 4 (AP)—Strong impetus had been added today to a plan to abolish the Texas relief commission as now constituted and replace it with a new board.

Three members of the existing board frankly admitted yesterday to house and senate committees inquiring into relief administration that the commission had been torn by political strife and bickering to such an extent that it had been unable to cooperate in supervising the task of feeding the state's unemployed needy.

Carl Estes of Tyler, J. F. Reed of Mountain Home and W. A. Brooks, Jr., of Dallas, members of the commission, were in agreement on inability of the board to operate constructively.

The house and senate ordered investigations into past relief expenditures as a preliminary to action on a bill to issue $9,500,000 in state bonds to match federal relief grants. Leaders of the inquiries, being conducted separately, planned to interrogate additional witnesses today.

Estes said he "wouldn't issue $9.50 in bonds under the present setup."

Reed said establishment of the Texas relief commission was a "mistake" and asserted it "should be abolished as now constituted."

Brooks decried the "political bickering" and the "factionalism" that had marked virtually all sessions of the commission and said it was apparent the present personnel could not unite on relief policies.

Establishment of a full time commission of from three to seven members was recommended by Reed and Brooks while Estes proposed that one man be assigned the task of directing relief operations.

Estes indicated a preference for Adam R. Johnson, present state director, as the man best capable of doing the job, but Brooks said he did not feel Johnson was qualified and that it would be necessary to obtain some one from outside Texas if "politics" was eliminated.

Johnson was caustically attacked by Brooks as "a relief director." He said Johnson lacked training in relief work and was incompetent. Reed alleged an efficient group had been organized to direct relief but that Johnson had failed to make use of it and that administrative costs were excessive.

What is reputed to be the source of most of the commission's dissension, selection of a state director, was reviewed by Reed.

He said the bickering originated in an attempt to remove Lawrence Westbrook, now assistant PERA administrator, as relief director. Reed was assistant director under Westbrook. He subsequently was appointed to the commission by Speaker Coke Stevenson and led in the movement to remove Johnson as director.

The house hoped to complete its investigation by Thursday. A resolution was pending in the senate to adjourn the special session at midnight Saturday, its sponsors asserting the legislature could complete its business by that time.

HERBERT HOOVER SAYS MAN IS PAWN OF STATE IN NEW DEAL

EX-PRESIDENT SAYS LIBERTY HAS VANISHED

PRIMARY LIBERTIES OF MAN USURPED, HE DECLARES

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4 (AP)—Herbert Hoover condemned the new deal today in the name of liberalism.

The former president, writing in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post, describes the foundation of "the American system" as individual liberty, and the base of "economic regimentation" as "the very theory that man is but the pawn of the state."

It is Mr. Hoover's first political pronouncement since he stepped out of the White House and Franklin Delano Roosevelt walked in.

"It is my hope," Mr. Hoover writes, "to show that to resume the path of liberty is not to go backward; it is to return to the path of progress from following the will-o'-the-wisps which lead either to the swamps of primitive greed or to political tyranny."

From the Pilgrims at Plymouth to the army in the Argonne, he says, Americans have died "that the human spirit might be free."

He continues:

"From these sacrifices and in the consummation of these liberties there grew a great philosophy of society—liberalism.

"The high tenet of this philosophy is that liberty is an endowment from the Creator to every individual man and woman upon which no power can encroach, and not even the government can deny.

"Under this philosophy and thru this structure we have developed the principles and forms of our social, economic and governmental life—the American system.

"The rise of our race under it marks the high tide of a thousand years of human struggle. Under it our country has grown to greatness and has led the world in the emancipation of men. When these boundaries of liberty are overstepped, America will cease to be American."

"Greed," says the former president, is this system's constant foe, coming from "economic agencies" on one side and "bureaucracy" on the other.

"The origins, character and affinities of the regimentation theory of economics and government, its impacts upon true American liberalism and its depredations from it," he states, "can best be determined by an examination of the actions taken and the measures adopted in the United States during recent months.

"The first step of economic regimentation is a vast centralization of power in the executive. Powers once delegated are bound to be used, for one step drives to another.

"The whole thesis behind this program is the very theory that man is but the pawn of the state. It is a usurpation of the primary liberties of man by government.

"It is a vast shift from the American concept of human rights, which even a government may not infringe, to those social philosophies where men are wholly subject to the state. It is a vast casualty to liberty if it shall be continued.

"Mr. Hoover's article, which is copyrighted, carries the title: "The Challenge to Liberty."

The Saturday Evening Post released a part of the article for publication, saying in its release: "Although there is no mention of the White House incumbent by name, a digest of the staggering number of powers delegated to the chief executive is made, with the author frankly in disagreement both with current administration policies and with the un-American attitude of congress in yielding virtually dictatorial powers to the president."

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (AP)—The stock market appeared to have received little benefit from the Labor day recess and prices generally pointed lower today in an extremely dull session. The textile strike seemed to be the principal deterrent to a revival of bullish sentiment. The close was easy. Transfers approximated 310,000 shares.

STRIKE

textile strike was hailed by union leaders today as a "tremendous success" while employers declared that a poll of the industry in New England indicated the majority of workers were opposed to the strike.

In New England, where the mills were closed yesterday because of the Labor day holiday, in mills employing an aggregate of 125,000 it was reported that at least 50,000 were idle.

In the great textile centers of the Carolinas a survey indicated that approximately 80,000 were idle and the same number working.

In the dozen or more other textile states affected by the strike indications were that at least half of the workers were idle.

Disorder in Georgia

The most disorder reported in the strike today was at Macon, Ga., where fist fights were numerous, there were several arrests and many threats of warrants. One automobile load of mill office workers was overturned when it encountered a picket line.

The full effect of the strike on the 650,000 workers actually at work when the strike was called remained to be determined. One automobile load of 10,000 cotton goods garment workers in St. Louis and 5,000 more in Kansas City ordered by the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union was expected to begin tomorrow.

In Paterson, N. J., union leaders said they expected the Paterson labor relations board to rule that they might call out 15,000 of the 30,000 silk workers in the Paterson area by nightfall.

Success in Carolina

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 4 (AP)—Additional thousands of workers answered the call this morning as the general textile strike gained momentum throughout the Carolinas.

The union made its greatest gains in Durham, N. C., where the strike was described as "100 per cent effective" by observers. Seven plants of the Erwin chain there were closed, with 4,500 walking out. The Durham Cotton Manufacturing Co. and the Golden Belt company, employing 3,300, opened their gates, but no workers attempted to pierce the picket lines.

The strike also spread into the Durham Hosery mill, which was not included in the general strike call.

In Mecklenburg county (Charlotte) approximately 3,500, who yesterday were for the most part "on holiday" today became integral parts of the strike movement. None

BUILDERS

Electric Boat company of New London, Conn., appearing as the first witness before the senate munitions committee, testified the two concerns had an agreement covering the construction of submarines.

Chairman Nye of the committee read into the record copies of the contract.

Carse said Vickers was a customer rather than a competitor of Electric Boat.

Other testimony went into the record that the boats were sold to foreign countries and that the United States navy used some of the basic patents owned by Electric Boat.

Carse said his company made a profit every time Vickers sold a submarine because of the Electric Boat patents. He added that his company lost about $40,000 a submarine on 400 German submarines built during the world war because of patent infringement.

CRASH

Nacogdoches, Tex., escaped with minor injuries.

The bodies, burned beyond recognition, were removed from the wreckage by a party headed by Lieut. L. M. Adams, commanding officer of a CCC camp at Danville, La. Adams said it was necessary to cut the pilot's body from the twisted mass of framework that pinned him in his cockpit.

An investigation went forward today from Barksdale Field. The bodies were removed to a funeral home here.

An unidentified farmer working in a nearby field told officers he heard the drone of the disabled plane as it cruised through the rain at an altitude of 200 feet. Then came a dull thud and an explosion. He said he saw flames leap from the hillside where the plane crashed.

Martin clambored from the wreckage as flames broke out and attempted to pull Baker from the wreck. He told of his flying companion screaming for help.

As the flames leaped about him, Martin said he was forced to desert his companion.

Cadet Caldwell was killed by the impact of the crash.

The three flyers were returning to San Antonio via Barksdale Field after visiting in Ruston, where Cadet Caldwell formerly attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cleek of Panhandle and Mrs. G. W. Masters of Los Angeles were week-end guests of Mrs. J. M. Bell and family.

Practically all of the church going people of the community were seated at the services when a man walked into the crowd and called a member of the congregation to one side, Sheriff Jordan said.

"Directly another man got up and 'chose' another man and the first thing they knew all of the men were fighting or hunting cover, the sheriff said.

Although not certain that he was correct in his motives for the fight, sheriff Jordan said "things point mighty strongly to an election dispute, a feud or a squabble over church benches."

No charges had been filed against the five men held in jail.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 4 (AP)—Influenced by weakness of foreign markets and by heavy rains southwest, grain prices averaged lower today.

Contributing to bearish sentiment was the fact that Argentine wheat average was officially forecast at substantially above recent estimates. Competition between Argentina and Canada was regarded in various quarters as presenting for at least a time an obstacle to higher prices.

Wheat closed irregular, 1/4 off to 3/4 up compared with Saturday's finish. Dec. new 1.03 1/2-1.04, corn 1 1/2-1 1/2 down Dec. new 79 1/2-80, oats 1 1/2-1 1/2 advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.
