Stalcup Admits Slaying Sheriff After Capture A. AND P. STRIKE IS SETTLED; STORES WILL REOPEN

COMPANY WILL PARLEY WITH UNION GROUPS

ALL EMPLOYEES TO BE RE-HIRED. BOARD TO ARBITRATE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—The most threatening breach in President Roosevelt's pro-labor industrial peace was plugged today by the National Labor Relations Board as it engineered a settlement of the Cleveland A. & P. store labor dispute.

Both the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company and the unions involved notified the board they had accepted its proposal for reopening the stores and submission of future disputes, if any, to arbitration.

John A. Hartford, president of the company, said in New York that the 2,000 employees dismissed last Saturday night when 300 A. & P. branches in Cleveland were closed would be re-hired Monday.

Company officials in Cleveland predicted the stores would be open for business by the middle of next week.

When the stores were closed, the company announced in full page ads in Cleveland papers it was withdrawing from the Cleveland field because of labor trouble.

Union truckmen had refused to haul supplies to the stores and the meat cutters and retail clerks and managers' unions called strikes in protest of alleged discrimination against union employees.

The agreement, worked out by the board after a 10-hour session with Hartford and union representatives last Tuesday, called for:

(1) Strikes to be called off immediately.

(2) Stores to be reopened, and all employees as of October 25 to be re-hired.

(3) The company to meet union committees, if asked.

(4) The company to refrain from discriminating against union employees, and to refrain from any action which would tend to discriminate against union members.

(5) The unions to refrain from coercing or intimidating any employee with a view to inducing union membership.

(6) Both company and unions to submit disputes to arbitration, and the unions to refrain from strikes.

(7) The company to resume its contracts with trucking concerns in effect before the stores were closed.

YANK ADMIRAL TELLS JAP WE CAN WHIP 'EM

AMERICAN'S JOKE IS PUBLISHED WRONG WAY IN JAPAN

LONDON, Nov. 3 (AP)—The task of seeking some way to break the deadlock gripping tri-power naval negotiations here probably will be turned over to the diplomats next week.

Norman H. Davis, United States ambassador-at-large, Sir John Simon, British foreign minister and Tsuruo Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to Great Britain, will begin diplomatic explorations of the difficulties in the way of an agreement among the three nations, it was understood.

Meanwhile, some stir was caused by Admiral William H. Standley's jesting offer, made Thursday, to swap the United States fleet for Japan's and still lick them. His quip, it was said, helped considerably to clear the air during the discussions.

The joke came during conversations in which Japanese and American delegates were stating somewhat bluntly their respective viewpoints.

Admiral Furoku Yamamoto, Japanese delegate, advanced the argument that the United States fleet had been brought to more than treaty strength through technical improvements and development of aircraft.

Smiling broadly, the American chief of naval operations, learned back in his chair and jokingly offered to swap fleets, undertaking still to lick the Japanese.

Both sides of the table roared with laughter.

A version of the incident published in Japan, which had Yamamoto making the suggestion and Standley becoming angered at it, was republished here today but both Japanese and Americans denied its accuracy, saying Standley was joking and his hearers so understood his remark.

With the air somewhat cleared by press reports that President Roosevelt had indicated his confidence that the talks would be successfully concluded and similar word from Tokyo, the delegates appeared anxious to avoid responsibility for complete break-up of the negotiations.

Man Reported Tied to Trunk On Automobile

A man tied to a trunk on the rear of a large automobile was the object of a search by Gray and Carson county officers Friday night. Local officers received a call from the sheriff of Panhandle about 7:45 o'clock that he had been notified of the incident and that the car was proceeding toward Pampa.

Officers immediately drove out on the Amarillo highway, and although they waited for nearly two hours, no trace of the car or man was found. Panhandle officers drove to Pampa after the report, but did not see the car.

Mr. and Mrs. Odus Mitchell and Harry Davis, returning from Cors, N. M., saw the man on the trunk as they passed the car near Panhandle. They thought he was just riding on the trunk of the car. They did not see any ropes around the man.

The report received by Panhandle officers was that the man was tied to the trunk.

'MA' IS ASKED TO VETO RIVER POWER PROJECT

Dwindling Time May Jeopardize Bills in Legislature

AUSTIN, Nov. 3 (AP)—Six working days remained today for the Texas legislature to bring a parent-statement over delinquent tax relief bills and dispose of legislation on four-fifths of the work which it was assembled in a fourth special session.

Next Saturday will be the final day.

Veto of its lone enactment on a major issue was a growing threat as reprisal for inactivity on other problems. The bill would divert approximately $6,000,000 ad valorem taxes to the Brazos river conservation and reclamation district as the nucleus of a federal financing of a huge flood control and hydro-electric power project.

Demands for its veto arose from within the session-split legislature. James E. Ferguson, husband of the governor, revealed.

Although saying the governor hasn't yet read the bill, Ferguson added no impetus to the veto threat. Delinquent tax relief legislation, apparently held the key to the situation. Its failure in the preceding session, under circumstances similar to those current today, was termed a "tragedy" by the administration.

Whether remission of penalties should be mandatory on cities and school districts or optional was the main point of difference. The senate has stood pat for an optional clause. The house has demanded with equal determination the mandatory feature.

Centennial Bill Loses. Next behind tax legislation was a senate bill in conference stage to form the lower Colorado river authority. (See MA, Page 3)

BANDITS DON'T KNOW EACH IS HELD IN JAIL

WEST TEXAS OFFICERS ARE EN ROUTE TO RETURN PAIR

HOUSTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—Virgil Stalcup, 27-year-old Panhandle desperado, and Clarence Brown, 34, his companion in two escapes from the Dickens county jail, will be turned over to officers from Dickens on their arrival here tonight or Sunday, Sheriff T. A. Binford announced.

Stalcup, who was captured by Sheriff Binford and a posse of deputy sheriffs here Friday night, admitted shooting Sheriff W. B. (Bill) Arthur in a break for freedom a week ago.

Brown, who was arrested Thursday while fishing for oysters from a rowboat in Galveston bay near San Leon, also talked about the slaying of the sheriff and said Stalcup fired the fatal shot.

Sheriff Binford said he received a telegram from Dickens county authorities early today stating that they would send for Stalcup and Brown, but no definite information on the time of their arrival or the probable disposition of their case was included in the message.

Brown said he and Stalcup stole an automobile in Calvert before disposing of the car in which they drove from Dickens county after shooting Sheriff Arthur and breaking out of jail.

Brown does not know that Stalcup has been arrested. Sheriff Binford said Stalcup knows Brown is in custody.

Constable Bush said charges of auto theft would be filed at Calvert against Brown and Stalcup but that no request for their presence there would be made until after disposition of the case at Dickens.

The captures of Stalcup and Brown were effected by Sheriff Binford and his deputies without violence.

A 22-year-old Houston woman, who had remained in the car while Stalcup went up the stairs, also was taken into custody and was being held at the county jail.

Early Saturday morning Sheriff Binford and his posse arrested an ex-convict in whose garage they found the automobile which had been stolen by Stalcup and Brown.

Both Brown and Stalcup talked freely with officers and newspaper reporters.

Stalcup, who is under prison sentences aggregating 254 years for a series of robberies, said he shot Sheriff Arthur after the latter refused to heed Stalcup's demands to put up his hands.

VOTE VICTORY IS CLAIMED BY BOTH PARTIES

FARLEY SAYS 'WE'LL WIN'; FLETCHER SAYS 'REPUBLICANS'

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 3 (AP)—President Roosevelt, home for a quiet week-end before voting, issued an endorsement of Senator Royal S. Copeland today after he learned of speculation over his stand on the democratic senator's reelection.

Before leaving the White House yesterday he urged support for his close friend, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, but did not mention Senator Copeland or other democratic candidates.

Hearing this had been construed in some quarters as implying he did not support Copeland. Mr. Roosevelt quickly called for Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary, and asked that any such inference be corrected.

"In making a statement yesterday for Governor Lehman," said McIntyre, "the president intended to leave no inference that he was not voting for Senator Copeland. He is voting for Senator Copeland. The president confirmed his statement yesterday to Governor Lehman, an intimate friend. Obviously he could not name all candidates on the ticket simply because of numbers."

Farley, Fletcher Confident. WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—In their semi-final clash of the political campaign, both the democratic and republican national chairman tonight avowed confidence in the outcome Tuesday.

"Substantial gains in the senate" were predicted by James A. Farley for the new deal. Henry F. Fletcher said republican strength there would be retained.

As for the house, Farley said, "we will hold our present membership (309) and possibly make some gains."

"Republican representation in the house (114) will be increased from 60 to 70 members," Fletcher countered. "I would not be surprised if our gains were much larger."

The 33 gubernatorial contests were not touched on by Farley; but Fletcher predicted GOP state tickets would "win in all normally republican states and we will elect governors in several" states which are now democratic.

What his statement conformed to pre-election tradition in drawing party distinctions, Farley's was unique in that it contained neither the word "democrat" nor "republican." The question, as put by him, is between the "new deal" and the "old order."

Not so with Senator James Hamilton Lewis, chairman of the democratic senatorial committee.

"I am convinced of the success of our party," said he, predicting a two-thirds senate majority or a gain of at least four seats to make it 64.

He used the words "a democratic victory."

Last minute reports to the president on the outlook named Maryland, West Virginia, Missouri, New Jersey, Indiana and Ohio as most likely returns democrats for senate seats now republican. Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Connecticut and possibly Vermont were placed next in order.

None of these were conceded by the republicans, who were looking to carry Nevada for their best chances to overturn senate democrats.

Reports on which Farley based his statement placed the democratic house chances at between a net loss of ten and a gain of ten seats. Although republicans in general spoke of this as dead-stuff, there were some among them who did not share Fletcher's expressed optimism. They were ready to hail as great triumph a gain of 40 to 50 seats, or about the average to be expected.

FLIERS HOP OFF FROM HONOLULU FOR CALIFORNIA

Scheduled To Reach Oakland Today At 12:30 p. m.

HONOLULU, Nov. 3 (AP)—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and Captain P. G. Taylor, Australian birdmen, took flight today for Oakland, Calif., to finish their migration from Brisbane, a 7,365-mile journey.

In the air at 2:15 p. m. (7:45 p. m. Eastern Standard Time) they planned to soar 2,400 miles over the Pacific and reach Oakland in seven-and-a-half hours at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow coast time (12:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time).

The plane carried for food supply sandwiches, beef tea and a bottle of pineapple juice, which Kingsford-Smith estimated was all that he and Taylor would need.

Every plane on Wheeler field was grounded as the Lady Southern Cross shot down the runway. Army authorities taking this precaution to prevent any possible trouble.

Military police closed all roads to the field for the take-off.

Shortly after Sir Charles completed a test hop in which he drove the plane at 210 miles an hour, fueling was begun. Six hundred gallons of gasoline was placed aboard weighing 4,200 pounds. Fueling was completed a few minutes before noon.

Educators Seek Federal Aid For Plains Schools

Federal aid for schools in drought-stricken areas of the Panhandle will be sought as a result of passage of a resolution in a business session here yesterday of the Panhandle-Plains Superintendents' association.

Supt. R. H. Rhodes of Dalhart suggested the step, pointing out that many schools would, unless aid is given, be unable to complete a full year's work.

Most of the time during the meeting was devoted to a study of proposed curriculum changes. Background studies will be made this year. Next year projects will be worked out and some schools selected for experimental work.

Nothing radical is planned, according to Dr. Harris Cook of West Texas Teachers college, one of the speakers. A curriculum specialist may be obtained for work in this section.

INSULL SHOUTS ANGRILY WHEN ASKED WHY HE DID NOT COME BACK AND 'FACE MUSIC'

Yells To Jury People Still Have Belief In His Integrity; Admits Evidence.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3 (AP)—Denton Insull, after four hours of questioning about his financial methods, Samuel Insull told a federal jury trying him for mail fraud today that his name was all the information his investors needed.

Twice when confronted with apparent weaknesses in the stock on which investors lost $100,000,000, Insull was asked: "Why didn't you tell that to the public?"

The deposed utility executive waved his hand. "They used to say that if we issued a piece of brown paper with a signature on it we could raise all the money we wanted to."

"I could have sold that stock," he was telling the jury a minute later, "on the belief that people had in my integrity." Then he shouted angrily: "—and which they still have!"

Insull's last two hours on the witness stand, under cross-examination of Assistant United States Attorney General Leslie E. Salter, brought declarations from him that his motives as a financier were honest, in spite of all evidence produced by the government that the stock in question was flimsy.

"I was doing things that I thought to be absolutely honest," he said stubbornly.

Code messages across the ocean to Insull, while he was avoiding American authorities seeking to return him to stand trial, were put before Insull.

Three showed that Insull was in communication with Gilbert A. Porter, his Chicago attorney, from the time the utility man was first indicted in Chicago in the fall of 1932, and was advised before to seek haven.

"I do not recall it," Insull said. Later, admitting the cables were sent, he said: "You've got some pretty smart code readers."

EDITORIAL

THE GOLDEN RULE: Luke 6:31-35.

Jesus said: As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise. For if ye love them which love you, what thank have ye? for sinners also love those that love them. And if ye do good to them which do good to you, what thank have ye? for sinners also do even the same. And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive, what thank have ye? for sinners also lend to sinners, to receive as much again. But love ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again; and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the Highest.

THIS IS AMERICAN education week. Education is the chief business of the state in terms of contacts with its citizens. Until the need for a new deal became apparent, education had little competition for the funds and interest of legislatures. Education is and must continue to be the most fundamentally necessary activity of organized society, for enlightened citizens are needed to cope with the complexities of modern life. Without education, self-government must perish. Indeed, without better education, democracy is threatened throughout the world and dictators are being set up as a substitute for public intelligence.

Education in this country has steadily improved in extent, technique, building facilities, and athletics. But there has been no improvement over that best school of all—a good teacher sitting on one end of a short log and a good pupil sitting on the other. We have many good teachers and many good pupils, but they are rather unfortunately mixed with many poor teachers and many indifferent pupils. The personality of the teacher and his ability to translate life to his pupil will always be more important than the type of textbook used or the elaborateness of the school plant and the strength of the football team.

The best measure of teaching is the quality of the taught. A newborn graduate is no more a test of teaching than an acorn is a measurement of the oak. Ten years after graduation from high school or college, most of the facts learned or half-learned in class have escaped the mind. The residue of a formal education becomes a part of the mental fibre, the moral fabric, and the intellectual viewpoint of the former pupil. A professional man may remember, through frequent use, the technical knowledge which particularly interests him, but if given a general examination on the school subjects he studied his grades would very likely be such as to make us wonder what classes are for, anyway.

We seek, in the school classes, to break down the warp and woof of human experience, to classify the threads, and to impart to the student an understanding of the pattern of living. Strangely, although the student must take up some of these threads and carry them on in his own life, he is given very few of them to feel and to hold. His habits of reading and thought come to be more dominated by his associates than by the ideals and habits he acquires in school.

Inasmuch as we have universal free schooling, educators must bear their share of the responsibility for the tendency of the educated (schooled) citizens to break under the stress of modern life, to drift into crime, to follow false political prophets, to put fellow humans in economic slavery, and to take their domestic troubles to the divorce courts. . . . If taught facts evaporate and ideals fade, what is wrong with education and what can be done about it?

It seems to the writer that schools have been too much like museums of abstract facts and too little like laboratories of learning. The best teaching is in the primary grades. There the teacher is close to the pupil, attuned to his life, and interested in coaxing him to walk properly, sit properly, to react with good sportsmanship and cooperation toward his fellows, as well as to read and to write. He has a dynamic interest in what is being done to and for him. It is a "game" and he likes it. He has little interference from competing forces. He has not crossed the fascinating threshold of sex, sports, and other attractions which intrigue his brothers and sisters.

As the pupil grows older, his problems increase, his flexible responses to his teachers grow more taut, the urges and inhibitions of adolescence grip him strangely. His dynamic interest suffers a depression, grades become something to seek or to ignore, and the facts he is asked to learn grow more and more abstract. He is asked to memorize dates of doings long before his time and to enumerate the motives of ages which seem of another world. He struggles and the struggle does some good and little harm. Graduation comes with its hysteria and partings, the last athletic triumph is witnessed, and life in its concretely vicious phases begins. This new life is bewildering. His ideals do not fit. Opportunities seem closed to him. Lately he and his fellows have joined the stream of unemployed whose mental meanderings are more dangerous than the painful void in their stomachs.

Education for our time must be changed. Educators are well aware of the fact. Nearly every meeting of school men includes a study of curriculum changes. Some educators wish to turn the schools into industrial plants, with every pupil taught some vocation. Others would go back to the cultural subjects and not attempt to prepare the student for a job, on the theory that culture is the aim of education.

Political dictators have programs which are suggestive. In Germany, the women are returning to the kitchens, in Russia to the fields, in Italy to child-bearing in more abundance. Certainly these are drastic steps, not in keeping with our democracy. Yet 90 per cent of our American girls marry at least once. Fifty per cent marry by the time they are 22 years of age. Any school plan which does not make home-making for girls an integral part of its work is obviously out of tune. Similarly, boys need to study the responsibilities of married life and to be given ideals of fatherhood and matehood. And, since girls like and do work for a few years in many cases, while their sweethearts are finding themselves financially, it is equally true that girls should be taught some trade through which, temporarily at least they can make their way. Many of them need stenography or some art to sustain them between divorces.

Curriculum changes will be more in content than in facts. Contact with today's world will be essential. Social participation rather than abstract study will be stressed. The classroom will become only a base for activities, the textbook will be merely a guide. Visual education through educational movies will dramatize the history and progress of all ages, enlisting new senses—sound and sight—in the learning process. We can no longer hope to teach a boy or girl something of all knowledge—we must choose that which is significant and illustrative and which "ties in" with our own time.

We recognize that the schools cannot solve all of life's problems. We are aware that the school competes with the modern home in that home influences undermine much of the work of the classroom. Culture must be taken from the classrooms, carried to the homes, and there nurtured and enlarged until pupils of the next generation can grow in an environment fertile for good thoughts, good habits, and worthwhile interests. We must learn to speak the English language well. We must make music as well as listen to it. We must write as well as read. We must play more, watch less. We must develop in ourselves and in our home communities a love of beauty in its many forms.

Then, and only then effectively, will the schools be able figuratively to water, to enrich, to prune, and to guide the flower of youth which is conceived in the home and best disciplined there. We need better schools but above all we need better homes. Education furnishes only an interval, albeit a somewhat lengthy one, for the cultivation of qualities which must serve the student and the state throughout a lifetime.

TEXAS HISTORY Brushing Up on Facts You Ought to Recall

No cheering crowds or eager citizens met the dusty, ragged group of men who trudged through the streets of Mexico City to the palace of the viceroy. Casual bystanders commented on the fact that an explorer named Francisco Vasquez de Coronado was returning from a two-year search for golden treasure. "He looks very sad and very weary," said one.

"He looks completely worn out and shame-faced," said another. "It was mad of him to think there would be gold and silver in a far-away land," said one who had possibly seen the group leave on their journey.

Coronado had nothing to say. He did not fear to raise his eyes to the crowd, and there was no disconsolate slouch to his shoulders. He was erect, though humiliation was in his heart. To report failure to the viceroy, after the viceroy had given him his own personal funds for the trip! It had been difficult to keep the army together, and they made a poor sight as they straggled into the city one by one.

Viceroy Mendoza was solemn as he looked at the bowed head of Coronado, as Coronado knelt to kiss his hand. Mendoza thought of his friends who had died on the exploration . . . his slaves who were gone . . . the lack of treasures . . . the empty money wallet. So this was the end of dreams for a wonderfully rich kingdom; a future of wealth and ease! Kindly he summoned Coronado to his feet. There was no need to upbraid the explorer, for he had truly done his best. Mendoza blessed him, and sent him back to his little territory of New Galicia, to continue his governorship after his absence of two years. In time Mendoza was to forget the bitter disappointment, and become one of the best rulers Mexico ever had.

After Coronado left the viceroy he disappeared from the minds of the people. Soon after his return he gave up the governorship of New Galicia, and no one is exactly sure what happened to him. It is well to believe that he took his family and settled down on his farm in the mountains of Mexico to earn his living by the soil, eventually forgetting his trip to the land of the Indians.

Coronado's expedition opened the way for future settlers and explorers. Because of the geographical knowledge he and his men brought back, the pathway was made easier for those who followed. The Texas Centennial in 1936 will honor men like Coronado, who had enough courage and vision and perseverance to stick to their goals, and accept defeat because they knew they had done their bit toward civilization, though it might be small.

Poppy Sales Much Larger This Year

The number of Americans wearing American Legion Auxiliary poppies in memory of the dead was dead this year increased more than one million over last year, according to Mrs. L. D. Blasingame, chairman of the poppy committee of Pampa unit of the Auxiliary. A total of 8,383,666 poppies were distributed by Auxiliary women on Poppy day this year.

The complete report on the Auxiliary 1934 poppy program, compiled by Mrs. James Morris, of Jamestown, N. D., shows a material increase in the number of poppies worn in practically every state. Thirty-two departments reached or exceeded their poppy quotas, while 45 reported gains over the number of poppies distributed last year. Approximately 7,800 Auxiliary units took part in the poppy program.

The disabled veterans who made the poppies for the Auxiliary received nearly $90,000 in wages. The employment was spread among hundreds of veterans in 66 hospitals and work rooms located in 35 states. Contributions made in exchange for the little red flowers of remembrance brought an estimated total of $850,000 to the relief and rehabilitation funds of Auxiliary units and Legion posts.

D'SPAIN WELL IN WHEELER COMPLETED FOR 1,354 BARRELS

OPERATIONS IN LOCAL FIELDS STEADY DOWN

SLIGHT DECREASE IN COMPLETIONS AND LOCATIONS

BY GEORGE L. GUTHRIE, Consulting Geologist, Combs-Worley Bldg.

With the pipelines that cut last week returned to the dollar oil standard and no major pipe lines meeting the cut, the possibility of oil staying around 47 cent mark seems favorable. Coupled with the apparent stopping of the illegal crude in the East Texas field from being dumped on the market, it is highly possible that in the peak months of refined products consumption next year the price of crude will raise above the dollar mark.

The Magic Oil & Gas company brought in its No. 2 Walker in section 44, block 24, Wheeler county. It is estimated to average about 150 barrels daily from the granite wash. It proves another connecting link between the Magic City field and the Kellerville pool as well as production south of the proven trend. The pay was from 2,426 to 2,432 feet total depth.

The Magnolia Petroleum company No. 2 Koons in section 43, block 24, Wheeler county, touched the pay this morning for an estimated 70 to 80-barrel well. It is not completed yet and may get an increase if drilled deeper.

Although Wheeler county has cooled off some from its boom last summer there is still considerable drilling to be done.

Christie & Hickman No. 5 D'Spain in section 52, block 24, Wheeler county, was also into the pay and had an estimated 1,200-barrel well in the granite wash.

OTHER NEW LOCATIONS
Gray county—The Texas company No. 3 H. Webb is 330 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the east line of the southwest quarter of section 12, block A-9, H&GN survey.

Moore county—The Texhoma Natural Gas company No. 3-P J. T. Sneed is in the center of the Moore survey.

Operators in the Panhandle of Texas are steady down. There is a slight decrease in the number of new locations for the week as well as the number of completions. The Panhandle district escaped a cut for the month of November and the allowable for the field decreased only a fraction of one per cent to take care of the new production during the month of October. The total allowable oil remained at 56,800 barrels daily and percentage of oil allowed per well is 8.19 per cent of the profitable oil which is the potential of the well minus 20 barrels.

Jeopardized by dwindling time and out-spoken opposition, bills to provide state participation in a Texas Centennial in 1936 were still further down the legislative scale. Favorable committee reports gained last week promised floor consideration, probably starting Monday, on bills in both houses. One in the senate would appropriate $5,000,000 for the state's celebration of 100 years of independence and progress, while that in the house would tap the state's general revenue to retire the state's debt.

"The Centennial would pay off better than anything we have done," Ferguson urged. Based on a fourth of the success of a Century of Progress, he calculated the Centennial would bring $40,000,000 in "new money" to Texas and result in a business turnover of at least $250,000,000.

Prospects for Centennial legislation were deemed brighter by Ferguson, however, by responses of industrial executives to telegrams appealing for support of the program.

An urgent plea for citizens to support the Centennial by contacting their representatives in the legislature was made by Walter D. Cline, chairman of the Centennial commission's executive committee.

"Further delay means a definite defeat for our Centennial plans," he warned.

Marian Gordon Dies At Skelly

SYNOPSIS: Lon and Mariae Gaud are developing a beautiful hillside tract into a region of small but beautiful homes for people of limited means. But Lon's health deteriorates and he must look for work. Silver Gordon, beautiful young divorcee who has threatened to seal Lon from Marian, asks the Gauds for dinner, and Marian overhauls McSwain. Silver's father, plot with William Brown to skip a construction job. Marian threatens to expose McSwain.

Chapter 25.
MARIAN'S OFFER.
"I didn't need to see the man, Mr. McSwain," said Marian. "I heard what she said, and I understood." "Your father's daughter," he sneered. "You wouldn't need to see me; you know everything, always."

"I know you gave ten thousand dollars to William Brown as a bribe, buying protection for the rotten material you intend to use in a school building."

"You've got your senses. Let's talk this over reasonably; you're too bright a girl to think you know more than the courts of the law." "He was becoming conciliatory."

"In this instance I do know more than the courts," she returned calmly. "I was more fortunate than our district attorney, I found proof—"

"You what... what proof?" "I don't necessary for me to tell you what proof I hold. I'll produce it if you do not change your plans on that school building."

"You think a bit of a girl can tell me how to run my business, eh?" "I know I can force you to build according to the specifications, or I can take a letter I hold written by Cliff Gordon, before he attempted suicide, to your daughter—"

"You have you in the federal prison." "Oh, no you can't," countered Marian. "Silver gave me the letter to read... only, there was one page she overlooked, a page which tells of how you got the money to pay to Brown."

"Gave you the letter to read, eh? I knew if you'd had the letter in your possession you would have turned it over to Earle's crowd... it would have paid you well for such a thing."

"I have the letter," Marian insisted. "Someone stuffed it into my coat pocket thinking it was my note paper. I found it there, re-read it, discovered this incriminating page. I knew I could do no good by exposing you then."

"McSwain was convinced, Marian could tell that by his attitude. He sat down on a rustic bench which etched a magnolia tree in front of the summer house, head supported lightly by one arm. The mention of Cliff Gordon, the one man besides Brown who knew of his duplicity had convinced her.

"Where is that letter now?" he asked at length, in a low voice. "In a safe place," Marian answered. "I'm keeping it there. I had intended giving it back to Silver, soon after I found it, but she disappeared from the mountain. I've only known since this afternoon where to reach her."

"And now you're returning it?" "Not after what I heard tonight. I don't feel I have the right to. You weren't satisfied with sacrificing Cliff Gordon, you don't know what it means to be desperate. I've been desperate... a lot of builders have these last few years. This business slump has hurt us worse than any other trade. We've had buildings we thought were sold come back on us, we've had new contracts never cashed. I've had a hard life, I've fought every step of the way and I've come up from a stratum of living you've never known, couldn't comprehend. I've never intended putting up a building that wouldn't hold... wasn't safe. Our restrictions here in this state are unusually severe... foolishly severe. I only intended to slash them a little... just enough to breathe even."

"After Brown's trial I meant, before God I meant to live up to my agreement in the contract, but... Silver could have helped... she won't. I don't know what's got into the girl. She loves money better than any human being I've ever known and yet—" he threw up both hands.

"She won't marry Blaine Kelly," offered Marian.

Here, said a cunning thought to Marian, is where you may drive a bargain. If she marries Blaine, it means Lon's protection from Silver.

At this thought Marian's head came up. She didn't want Lon protected. If he preferred Silver to her, she didn't want him. This was what would satisfy her. This was what Hamlin had meant that night in Reno when he said—"You'll demand what you want without compromise. If you can't have it you'll take loneliness and honor as barren substitutes."

"Well, young lady," McSwain stood up, facing her, "what do you intend to do?"

Marian hesitated only a moment. "This," she answered. "I know the fight you business men have had and how desperate many of you must be. My own husband has had his share. His inheritance was stolen from him, leaving him penniless. He hasn't been able to find work, though he's looked for weeks and weeks. And he is young. He has his whole life ahead of him. You aren't so young, it's harder for you to start over."

"Play fair with your contract. I want you to ask for a state inspection at the completion of your building. You have a good reason for this. You can say that, due to the questioning of your honor brought about by Brown's trial for bribery, you would like to protect both yourself and the young man who was charged by having an outside agency check your work. If you will do this, I will tell no one, not even my husband, that I have proof of your guilt in the bribery conspiracy. How about it?"

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 3. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade at midwestern markets this week continued slow with most all killing classes under pressure. Current prices are unevenly steady to 25 or more lower as compared with last week's close. Although slaughter cows were materially lower, short-foot steers arrived in liberal numbers and generally showed the most decline. Best strong weight steers in Chicago cleared at 9.35 with best long yearlings at 8.75. Country demand for stocker and feeder classes narrowed and only reduced supplies prevented a slump. Aggregate receipts of commercial cattle at eleven markets totaled around 233,800 against 252,593 last week and 215,649 a year ago.

Cooler weather stimulated demand for hogs with prices advancing 15-20, underweights showing the most upturn. St. Louis had a late top of 5.85. Total offerings of around 390,000 were 165,000 short of last week and 10,000 heavier than a year ago.

Fat lambs prices at river points are 10-25 or more higher than a week ago but at Chicago values are 25 lower. Other killing classes ruled firm to as much as 25 higher while demand for feeding lambs was slow at steady to lower prices. The week's commercial supply approximated 312,000 as compared with 341,229 last week and 355,275 a year ago.

NEED FOR AID TO ROOM TOLD BY DIRECTORS

DANCE WILL FEATURE THE MUSIC OF A NEW BAND

The Thrift room which clothes underprivileged school children will be the recipient of proceeds from the Elks club's annual charity dance Monday evening. It will be at the Pla-Mor, with music by Art Morrow's band, new dance orchestra for this city.

Needs of the Thrift room have been emphasized recently by school principals and the Parent-Teacher associations which sponsor this welfare project. Unless it receives more support immediately, some children will be forced to stop school for lack of suitable clothing, workers say.

Reports of last week, when 40 garments were issued, and only 15 received, and with no record of the calls that could not be filled, show the growing need of the room.

Tickets for the dance are on sale now by members of the Elks club directed by Mack Stennett, president, and also at the Schneider hotel. The price has been set at $1.10 for a couple. All dancers of Pampa and vicinity are invited.

Rules for Candy Making Given to Laketon Women

The difference in the many varieties of candy is made in cooking the sugar and liquids at different temperatures and handling them in different ways. Miss Ruby Adams told Laketon Home Demonstration club members and visitors in a candy making demonstration Thursday at the home of Mrs. Leo Paris.

Miss Adams was assisted by Miss Lill Dalton.

Changing the temperatures and method of manipulation results in varieties of fondant, taffy, brittle, stick, and hard clear candy, she showed. Grainy or smooth candy results when the heating is done at different temperatures.

Altitude in this section required cooking temperatures eight degrees lower than most recipes designate. Miss Adams revised table of temperatures shows that maple creams, fudge, and such candies should be cooked at 228 to 228 degrees to the soft ball stage, fondant at 230 to 230 to the soft ball stage, caramels at 238 to 240 to a firm ball, taffies at 257 to 262 to a hard ball, butterscotch at 282 to 292 to the crack stage, brittles at 292 to 302 to the hard crack stage, and clear hard candies at 302 degrees to the hard crack stage.

Five kinds of candies, college fudge, light opera, maple caramel, cherry puff, and molasses mint taffy, were made. All these are delicious and will pack beautifully into Christmas boxes as displayed by Miss Adams. These could make gifts to cause any child to "flatter his nose against a show window and beg for candy, not realizing that it is plain sugar and water with a few other ingredients transformed by candy-pan magic," she said.

The maple caramel recipe, especially delicious, was given as follows: Mix 2 cups sugar, 1 cup unsweetened condensed milk, 1/2 cup maple syrup, 1/2 cup corn syrup, 1/2 cup cream and 4 tablespoons of butter and cook over a low fire, stirring constantly, to the temperature of 238 degrees. Remove and add 2 tablespoons vanilla. Turn into a very slightly greased pan. When cold turn out of pan to cut more easily. Wrap each caramel in waxed paper. This recipe makes 2 1/2 pounds.

The candies were served to the hostesses, Miss Adams and Dalton; five guests, Misses Edward Thomas, Wheeler Paris, Jay Evans, Mart Cunningham, George Cunningham; and Misses Lawton Hoffer, Nettie Ataway, Clyde Gray, Chess Terry, C. E. Murrell, M. L. Roberts, and Harry Gillespie, club members.

Christmas Candy Is Easy to Make Club Women Told

"Everyone wants candy at Christmas, old and young; they like the home-made kind best, especially when you make it," Miss Ruby Adams, county home demonstration agent, told Frisella club members Friday at the home of Mrs. Guy Farrington.

This is an idea for the last minute. If pretty candies are purchased early and kept ready, she said.

The greatest help in getting correct results in candy making is a thermometer, which takes the guess-work out of all kind of sugar mixtures, Miss Adams explained when she demonstrated the characteristics of sugar the different temperatures, and the different kinds of candy it yields.

Taffy molasses mint, light opera, cherry puff, college fudge, and vanilla caramels were made, and served with delicious plate lunch to Mmes. B. C. Fahy, Sims, E. With the small, carefully chosen cast and a play that has been successful from Broadway to Hollywood, the players feel that their venture will appeal to the public.

Ticket sales are in charge of the First Methodist young people's department, sponsors of the play who plan to use the proceeds to finance their church activities.

Education Week Has Same Theme As State P-TA

By Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers

Mrs. John M. Fox, Wichita Falls, State Publicity Director.

The fourteenth annual American education week will be observed this week, November 5th to 11th. The occasion is celebrated each year during the week that includes Armistice day, beginning Monday in the schools and closing Sunday with appropriate exercises in the churches.

The sponsors of American education week are the National Education Association, the American Legion and the United States Office of Education. Invitations to cooperate are extended each year to groups interested in the welfare of children.

The national congress of parents and teachers with a million and a half members emphasizes American education week observance in its own program. Hundreds of newspapers publish articles about the school and radio broadcasts tell the American education week programs into millions of homes.

It is a significant fact that the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers has chosen for the theme of its state convention in Corpus Christi on November 19th to 22nd, the theme that is in keeping with the topic of this year's American education week because that theme "Building for Tomorrow" means much to an organization that is striving in every one of its many branches to work for the interest of child welfare within the borders of the Lone Star state.

It has been truly said that the race climbs upward through its children. Common sense suggests that in bad times we preserve first the things that are most important. When the trouble comes we turn to fundamentals. Home becomes dearer. We appreciate the services of the school. If schools are a blessing in good times they are an imperative necessity in bad times.

They safeguard the health of the child; they fortify the home. They give hope and encouragement to citizens who are the victims of misfortune but who can take satisfaction that their children are well cared for. The schools are ourselves working together for the education of children. When times are hard we need make that education better—to take more seriously our common task of preparing the young for life. Let us preserve and improve our schools. Let us keep the children first.

"If we believe in education for all the children of all the people, then we must believe that all the people have a vital concern in education and the schools," says Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, president of the national congress of parents and teachers.

DICK POWELL LEADING STAR AMONG SONGSTERS

"Happiness Ahead," First National's new comedy romance, comes to the La Nora theater today, with Dick Powell in the stellar role.

The story by Harry Sauber is a glamorous romance that combines hilarious situations with melodramatic thrills, to which several catchy musical numbers are added.

Dick Powell sings "Pop Goes My Heart" and "Beauty Must Be Love," and joins with Frank McHugh in a humorous duet entitled "Massaging Window Panes." A fourth song is rendered by Dorothy Dare, the famous Broadway musical comedy star, who comes to the screen for the first time in this picture. Her song is "All on Account of a Strawberry Sundae."

Josephine Hutchinson, famous on the New York and London stage, and especially noted for her role in Eva Le Gallienne's Civic Repertory Company's production of "Alice in Wonderland," makes her bow on the screen in this picture, playing the leading feminine role opposite Dick Powell.

"Happiness Ahead" is a sort of Cinderella story in reverse, although the path of young love is anything but smooth, which furnishes both comedy and drama.

There is an unusually strong cast of supporting players, which includes besides those mentioned, John Halliday, Allen Jenkins, Ruth Donnelly, Maryori Gatson, Gavin Gordon and Mary Treen. Mervyn LeRoy directed the production from the screen play by Harry Sauber and Brian Marlow.

MYSTERY HAS TALL YARN OF DEATH PERILS

MADMAN PLAYS BIG ROLE IN "MENACE" FILM

To satisfy the demands of murder mystery fans, Paramount has just completed a new and exciting story of terror and mystery which under the title of "Menace," opens today at the Rex theater.

The cast features Gertrude Michael and Paul Cavanagh, recently seen together in "The Notorious Sophie Lang," and John Lodge, Montagu Love and Henrietta Crossman.

In "Menace," three people live under the death threat of a madman who tracks them from Africa to an isolated house high in the mountains of California. There, they await the coming of their would-be killer and, although the police have been notified, realize that they alone must face their unknown assailant, overpower him, save themselves from his mad revenge.

But at the very hour at which the killer has promised to strike, unexpected guests arrive at the house. Within a few minutes, a note pinned by a dagger to the wall announces that the killer is among them, ready to exact his revenge of death.

Thrilling Climax Suspicion and fear grips all, and even before any action or plan can be put into effect, one of the party an American adventurer, is found dead with a knife in his heart.

Ralph Murphy, director of many excellent mystery pictures, is the director of "Menace," and he has given it the sinister background so essential to a picture of this type. "Menace" was adapted to the screen by Anthony Veiller from a story by Philip MacDonald.

AFTER EIGHT YEARS TIGER WHIPS RIVAL

Historic Feud Resumed And Crimson Checks Princeton Power for Three Periods.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 3 (AP)—Princeton came back to the football wars with Harvard today, after a lapse of eight years and celebrated the end of an historic gridiron feud by whipping the gallant but powerless Crimson team, 19 to 0.

For three periods, Harvard's courageous and unexpectedly effective defense checked the flood-tide of Princeton power and thrilled a crowd of 35,000, one of the smallest that has seen these old rivals meet in 30 years.

The steadily applied pressure of Princeton's steam roller attack, combining an aerial barrage with smashing line plays, broke down Harvard's resistance and produced two touchdowns in the last quarter.

Pepper Constable, Gil Les, and Paul Npauk lugged the ball across Harvard's goal line for touchdowns, but the final score by no means indicated the difference in offensive power between the two teams. Where Harvard only once so much as advanced a step into Princeton territory and registered only four first downs all afternoon, the battering Bengals advanced the ball over 400 yards by various methods and rolled up 18 first downs.

The outcome marked Princeton's fifth straight victory of the 1934 season.

NAVY UNBEATEN

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 3 (AP)—Navy's unbeaten eleven, led by the baffling Buzz Borries, ran its string of victories to six this afternoon by defeating Washington and Lee 26 to 0 before a capacity crowd of 22,000.

OVER POINT A MINUTE

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 3 (AP)—The heroic, powerful Scarlet Wave from Ohio State romped through a football game with Western Reserve today, piling up better than a point a minute score of 76 to 0. The Buckeyes' used three teams in rolling up two touchdowns each in the first two quarters, three in the third and four in the fourth.

BATTLE TO TIE

ROSWELL, N. M., Nov. 3 (AP)—With only two touchdowns in the entire game, both made in the final half, the New Mexico Military Institute and the Panhandle Aggies of Goodwell, Okla., battled to a 6 to 6 tie here this afternoon.

OWLS ON TOP RUNG IN LOOP--PORKERS 2ND

TEXAS CHRISTIAN NOW IN THIRD PLACE IN SOUTHWEST

DALLAS, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Southwest conference football championship race lifted Jimmy Kitts' Rice Institute Owls into undisputed first place today, dropped Arkansas into second place, and gave Texas Christian third place.

The University of Arkansas Razorbacks lost their first place tie with Rice when they played a 7 to 7 tie with Texas A. & M. at College Station.

The University of Texas Longhorns and Southern Methodist Mustangs started a 7 to 7 tie at Austin which practically eliminated both teams from the championship race since tie games count half won and half lost.

The Rice Owls boast two victories and no defeats, having trounced Southern Methodist and the University of Texas in conference competition. The Owls won a 27 to 0 non-conference game today from Texas A. & I.

The Texas Christian Frogs turned on the steam today by grabbed a 34 to 12 game from the Baylor Bears, giving the Frogs a right to third place with two wins and one loss.

The important conference clash next Saturday will pit Rice against Arkansas at Fayetteville. It is the consensus that if Rice gets over this game that Kitts' boys will win the crown.

his companies were concealed, and that the proudest of the entire system, the giant middle west utility system, was kept afloat by juggling securities between the concerns.

But the simplest question of them all brought the angriest answer from Insull.

After Insull had admitted that he knew, in the late fall of 1932, that he was wanted in Chicago, Salter asked:

"Why didn't you come back and face the music?"

Insull began a long explanation. He had received no request. He was unable to get information about the charge. Then he was told it was not extraditable. He lacked funds—"of my own"—to come back to the United States.

AGGIES AND ARKANSAS, TEXAS AND MUSTANGS

SMU OUTPLAYS LONGHORNS IN THRILL MELEE

Former Sandie Star, Kirby, shines in game. College Station, Nov. 3. (AP)—An alert band of Texas Aggies...

The underdog Aggies, who had been punched through most of the afternoon, got their chance late in the fourth period when Elvin Geiser...

On the first play, Fowler, a southpaw, shot a pass to Stringfellow and the latter squirmed to the Arkansas five-yard line.

Until those last few minutes, it appeared as though the seven-point Razorback lead was sufficient to get them by until their homecoming try against Rice next Saturday.

Since a tie counts as a half game won and a half game lost in the conference standing, the result here today left the powerful Rice Owls in undisputed possession of first place.

The conflict was a defensive battle most of the way. The Porkers, playing without Ralph Laforge and Clark Jordan, showed little in the second quarter except in their second quarter drive and the Aggies were unable to do much against the heavy Arkansas forwards.

Charlie Dewar Jr., of Brenham, Texas and M. Imhormat, played a heads-up game at center for the Aggies. Dewar, who is only a sophomore, gives promise of developing into one of the best centers in the conference before he concludes his career.

Wilson Stars. Austin, Nov. 3. (AP)—Sixty minutes of vicious and sparkling football fomented the University of Texas and Southern Methodist university deadlocked at 7-7 here today in a Southwest conference game.

Texas scored shortly after the game opened against Southern Methodist second team. For nearly three periods they fought doggedly to stave a charging Southern Methodist attack but faltered in the closing minutes of the third period and Bobby Wilson, phantom triple threat Mustang back, slashed around his right end, cut back through a gaping hole in the second and rammed 31 yards for a touchdown.

Time after time the Pony backs, Wilson, Finley, Shuford and Smith, fought their way for substantial gains but failed of reaching the pay station when their highly touted aerial strudy was smothered. The Ponies soundly outplayed Texas but their offensive failed at crucial periods.

The game was a thriller from the time Hliver, giant Texas tackle, recovered Turner's fumble on the first play of the game on the 30-yard line until the final play.

Texie lost no time in pushing over a touchdown. Hadlock busted through left tackle for a first down on the Pony 21 and then passed to Priest for another first down on the Mustang eight yard line. Hadlock threw himself at the center of the Mustang line but fumbled as he crossed the goal and Coats, Texas center, fell on the ball for the touchdown. Hadlock placekicked the extra point.

Hilliard Stopped. In an effort to snatch victory from fleeting time, Hilliard, Texas star performer who has been on the injured list for three weeks was rushed into the game. On the first play he took a Mustang punt and returned it 16 yards and was on the throwing end of a pass that carried Texas from its 15-yard line to the Mustang 20. The pass was to Hadlock. He took it on a dead run on the S. M. U. 30, dropped it but recovered it and was brought down from behind on the 20-yard line.

The threat ended when two Texas passers were incomplete and Hilliard was thrown for losses of ten and 15 yards on the next two.

The Mustangs third score after scare into Texas rosters with their bullet passes. Time after time it appeared as if the tosses would be completed for substantial gains only to be fumbled by the receiver or knocked down by alert Texas backs.

Southern Methodist tried 15 passes and completed five for only 48 yards. On the basis of first downs the Ponies scored a moral victory, being credited with 15 to five for Texas. The Ponies gained 211 yards from scrimmage and lost only six. Texas attempted five passes and completed two for 77 yards. Texas gained only 62 yards from scrimmage and lost 35. Texas recovered two S. M. U. fumbles and the Ponies recovered one Texas fumble.

Texas was penalized 30 yards and S. M. U. 25. One of the Harvester touchdowns was directly attributable to Noblett's blocking, when he took two men out of the way to let Dunaway clear out for a touchdown. Nash took a kickoff after the half on his 13-yard line, and raced for a touchdown with little interference, but the play was called back to its own 49-yard line, where he stepped out of bounds. Dunaway reeled off a 48-yard run for a touchdown, but both teams were off-side and the play was called back.

Harvester substitutes appeared strong again. There was much fumbling during the encounter, with the Harvester dropping seven, six of which were recovered. The Harvester line leaked badly again, especially when Mackie got his hands on the ball. The big fellow gave a nice exhibition of side-stepping when he gained yardage after having been forced as far as 10 yards behind the line of scrimmage by Plainview tacklers.

Miller, 122-pound halfback, was Plainview's ball toting star. The midget made most of the Bulldogs' gains and also got his share of the tackle. Kirk, tight end, and Talliferro (pronounced Tolliver), big 183-pound tackle, shone defensively.

The Bulldogs played hard football, sometimes passing the bounds of good sportsmanship. Head twisting, open swinging of fists, and jumping over the backs of the other players were among infractions, although they went unpunished by the officials, who also missed a couple of clipping offenses and two or three holding violations by the Harvesters.

The Harvester scored early after losing the ball on a fumble but regaining it when Wimberly booted only 6 yards into the wind. Hamilton crossed the pay strip after Dunaway had the most of the ball toting up the line.

Points Against Wind. Miller and Chisholm made a first down for Plainview after the kickoff and then Wimberly got off a long punt, into the wind, which rolled out 6 yards on Pampa's 15-yard line. It was then that Dunaway recovered his own blocked punt and raced to the Bulldog 45-yard line. Plainview held and Dunaway booted out of bounds on the Bulldog 1-yard strip.

Wimberly booted only to the 14-yard line at the quarter. Hamilton carried the ball close to pay on two tries and Nash went over in two more.

Green and Johnston smeared two Plainview plays and then Pampa recovered the ball when Neil, Plainview center, passed twice so hard at Wimberly that he couldn't hold the ball for punts. Nash crossed the goal after Hamilton and Elkins had gained to the 6-yard line.

Harvester substitutes then entered the game and, as usual, one of them had to make a speech and get the Earvesters a 15-yard penalty. The teams saw-sawed for a while with the Harvester substitutes finally hitting their stride with Powell crashing through for a touchdown when Webb, Elkins, and Brown had carried the ball down the field.

Webb intercepted a pass on Plainview's 45-yard line at the half. Weather Is Cold. The band and pep squad provided entertainment at the half while shivering fans drank coffee and ate hot dogs.

Harvesters Crush Plainview's Weak Gridders 60 to 0

By turning loose a touchdown barrage which never let up until the final whistle, the Pampa Harvesters Friday night opened their conference season with a 60 to 0 victory over the helpless Plainview Bulldogs, who were weakened through injuries and illness.

The game was played in a blinding sandstorm before more than 2,000 fans who braved the elements to see the Harvesters, minus Owens and Mumford, ends and Panning, fullback, perform under conference fire.

Finally Misses Point. The Harvesters dominated the play, making 19 first downs to 4 for the visitors, and gaining 417 yards while holding the Bulldogs to 55 yards. Lloyd Hamilton's string of consecutive punts after touchdown was broken at 11 when he missed one on a bad pass from center. He counted five out of seven, however.

Hamilton led the touchdown parade with three. Other counters went to Nash 2, Powell 1, Dunaway 1, Rose 1, Green 1, Dunaway and Nash scored touchdowns that were called back. Rose kicked the other extra point after touchdown.

Dunaway got away with a freak play in the first quarter when his attempted punt was blocked on his own 5-yard line. He picked up the ball and raced around his own right end, but the Plainview defense before he was downed. Again in the same quarter, Dunaway got off a 46-yard punt which rolled out of bounds on the Plainview one-yard line.

One of the Harvester touchdowns was directly attributable to Noblett's blocking, when he took two men out of the way to let Dunaway clear out for a touchdown. Nash took a kickoff after the half on his 13-yard line, and raced for a touchdown with little interference, but the play was called back to its own 49-yard line, where he stepped out of bounds. Dunaway reeled off a 48-yard run for a touchdown, but both teams were off-side and the play was called back.

Miller, 122-pound halfback, was Plainview's ball toting star. The midget made most of the Bulldogs' gains and also got his share of the tackle. Kirk, tight end, and Talliferro (pronounced Tolliver), big 183-pound tackle, shone defensively.

The Bulldogs played hard football, sometimes passing the bounds of good sportsmanship. Head twisting, open swinging of fists, and jumping over the backs of the other players were among infractions, although they went unpunished by the officials, who also missed a couple of clipping offenses and two or three holding violations by the Harvesters.

The Harvester scored early after losing the ball on a fumble but regaining it when Wimberly booted only 6 yards into the wind. Hamilton crossed the pay strip after Dunaway had the most of the ball toting up the line.

Points Against Wind. Miller and Chisholm made a first down for Plainview after the kickoff and then Wimberly got off a long punt, into the wind, which rolled out 6 yards on Pampa's 15-yard line. It was then that Dunaway recovered his own blocked punt and raced to the Bulldog 45-yard line. Plainview held and Dunaway booted out of bounds on the Bulldog 1-yard strip.

Wimberly booted only to the 14-yard line at the quarter. Hamilton carried the ball close to pay on two tries and Nash went over in two more.

Green and Johnston smeared two Plainview plays and then Pampa recovered the ball when Neil, Plainview center, passed twice so hard at Wimberly that he couldn't hold the ball for punts. Nash crossed the goal after Hamilton and Elkins had gained to the 6-yard line.

Harvester substitutes then entered the game and, as usual, one of them had to make a speech and get the Earvesters a 15-yard penalty. The teams saw-sawed for a while with the Harvester substitutes finally hitting their stride with Powell crashing through for a touchdown when Webb, Elkins, and Brown had carried the ball down the field.

Webb intercepted a pass on Plainview's 45-yard line at the half. Weather Is Cold. The band and pep squad provided entertainment at the half while shivering fans drank coffee and ate hot dogs.

Nash took the kick-off on his 13-yard line and raced for a touchdown on the Mustang eight yard line. He was called back to his 49-yard line where he had stepped out of bounds. The entire Harvester backfield took turns carrying the ball to the 25-yard line, from where Hamilton followed Green through on a spinner and raced across the goal line untouched.

BEAR PITCHES CLEVERLY BUT FROGGIES WIN

Baylor-TCU game is swell baseball exhibition. Associated Press Sports Writer. FORT WORTH, Nov. 3 (AP)—Scintillating with practically every play in the book, the Texas Christian University Frogs smothered the Baylor Bears today in a Southwest conference game, 14 to 12. Cracking through the "good old Baylor line" with bullet thrusts and loading the air with a successful assortment of passes, the Frogs made the Bears' defense look brittle and had little trouble stopping Baylor's offense which was practically nothing but passes. The air was filled with 51 aerial heaves, 37 by Baylor and 14 by Texas Christian.

Because they completed the most passes, the Bears clicked off 14 first downs against 13 for Texas Christian, but only in the first and last periods could they shoot over the Frogs' defense for touchdowns.

Baylor was extremely bad on blocking for its punter, and even though Joe Jack Pearce of Baylor pitched regular baseball game with a football, the melee belonged to Texas Christian from the first few minutes until the final gun. It was a day of stardom for hard-plunging Jim Lawrence, who went across for the first two touchdowns and turned in a whole of an all-around game. Sam Baugh, quick running Texas Christian, is touted as the best conference passer, scored the third touchdown. Scott McCall, former all-state star with the Fort Worth Mustangs, galloped across for a touchdown in the fourth when Coach Meyer had most of his reserves in the game.

The Christians quickly swept into a 7 to 0 lead. Taldon Mantion and George Kline cracked the Baylor front wall for first down on the 15-yard line. Lawrence then raced right end for a touchdown, and Mantion kicked goal from placement.

With Joe Jack Pearce, co-captain, throwing as if he were pitching a baseball, the Bears' home-galoped aerial raid netted a touchdown in the first on a 45-yard march that terminated when Pearce shot a 25-yard pass to Earl Wray who caught the ball behind the Christians' goal line. Darrell Lessor, the Christians' 215-pound center, blocker, Stringer's attempted placement kick.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 3 (AP)—In a corral drenched with driving rain and fetlock deep in mud and water, Illinois added the Army mule with a touchdown handicap in the first five minutes of battle today and then rode him over to a spectacular finish to hang on for a 7 to 0 victory before 41,000 soaked spectators.

The Illini won with great football, but never will they forget their ride for life in the closing minutes of play when the mule kicked back even with its famous Jack Buckler relegated to the sidelines by injuries. The final mule kick sent the Illini reeling to their second wild touchdown. The mule kicked back even with its famous Jack Buckler relegated to the sidelines by injuries. The final mule kick sent the Illini reeling to their second wild touchdown.

Illinois, forever on the alert for breaks, manufactured the big one that produced the victory. In a series of punt exchanges, Buckler paused with the rain and wind at his back. Through the Cadet line rushed Ken Nelson, who blocked the Hick. The mule-covered ball bounced toward the Army goal and Gene Dykstra recovered for the Illini and ran it to Army's 14.

Into the battle then stepped Grain Portman, who ran interference for two plays and then sprung into action on the Army 12 and raced around his left end for a touchdown behind interference that toppled the Cadets. The kick for the extra point was scored by Les Lindberg with Jack Beynon holding the ball.

LUCK WINS GAME. SEATTLE, Nov. 3. (AP)—"Lady Luck" came to the rescue of an almost helpless Washington Husky today, to give the United, undefeated Pacific coast conference football team a sparkling 14 to 7 victory over the Oregon State college Beavers.

ALLIGATOR TAMER WILL TRY TO QUELL WATKINS TUESDAY

He trains with alligators and tames hurricanes, does Jack Purdin of Florida, who will try to tame wild and woolly Sailor Ted Watkins of Post Tuesday night at the Pampa Auditorium. The two wild men are matched for the main event of an all-star card.

Bull Costello, Spanish bullfighter who turned wrestler when the bullfighting game got so tame, will meet Sam George, the well-built grappler from Corpus Christi, in the semi-final of one-half or 30-minute time limit. The preliminary will be another wild affair when Pat Garrison, Pampa oil man, meets Lobo Brown of Amarillo.

Watkins, the old maestro of rough grappling, was nearly mobbed here last week when he defeated Art Perkins in a wild affair. The old sailor doesn't give a care what fans think of him. He throws out his chest and struts whenever he does an exceptional rough piece of grappling. Purdin appeared in Pampa a few years ago and was about as peculiar as Watkins with the fans. He is rough, he is tough, and he doesn't care whom he meets. The Florida boy wins will probably be the favorite, despite the fact that his actions of years ago have not been forgotten.

Little is known about the Spanish bullfighter who will meet the tricky George. He is reputed to be one of the most promising grapplers of the day. It is said he can get as rough as the best, or can stay within the rules. George likes the going scientific, but he has the appearance of a wrestler who could take care of himself under any circumstances.

Lobo Brown has been yelling for a return match with Pat Garrison and the Irishman has agreed to accommodate him. Garrison defeated the Amarillo grappler three weeks ago when Brown declared that the referee favored Garrison. Tickets for the big match are on sale at Pampa Drug No. 1.

McLEAN BEATS CLARENDON IN 61 TO 0 ROUT

Gray county football teams had a dramatic Friday night under artificial illumination. While the Harvesters were defeating Plainview 60 to 0 in a conference tilt in Pampa, McLean was downing the Clarendon Bronchos 61 to 0 in a conference battle in McLean.

The lopsided win booked McLean's stock for the Tigers game with LeFors Friday night at Shaw field in LeFors. It marked the first time the McLean team has clicked this season. The opposition was weak, Clarendon flashing little offense and practically no defense.

Frank Stocking, Broncho coach for several years left recently to take a government job in Washington. Tolliver, big McLean fullback, led the Tiger attack with five touchdowns. Christian, quarterback, added another. The rest of the McLean touchdowns were made by substitutes, with Jack Pans getting two and Cunningham and Greer one each. Dow, fleet McLean half, played part of the game but was allowed to carry the ball only once. He has been out of the games for several weeks with injuries.

McLean made 19 first downs to four for Clarendon and gathered 361 yards from scrimmage to 63 for the Bronchos. McLean attempted only seven passes, three being completed for 51 yards and the others being incomplete. Clarendon attempted 10 passes, completing three for 44 yards, having two intercepted, and five incomplete.

FRINCETON WINS 19-0. HARVARD STADIUM, Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 3 (AP)—Breaking thru Harvard's tiring defense for two touchdowns in the final period, Princeton continued its unbeaten march today by soundly beating the Crimson, 19-0, before a crowd of 35,000 as these two old eastern rivals renewed relations on a friendly basis after eight years.

Rev. James Todd Chosen Advisor For EES School

The Rev. James Todd Jr., justice of the peace, is now associated with the Emergency Education school for adults in the capacity of advisor. His chief duty, other than making suggestions concerning the school, is that of directing plans to contact the public and making the purpose of the school better known. It is hoped that this school will become in a few years a permanent institution if it is given the proper backing by the citizens of Pampa, it was said.

Twenty-three classes are now in session, but new students may yet be admitted in most of them. The minimum number of pupils have signed up for the study of General Psychology, beginners' French, and Texas history. These classes will not meet for another week.

however, in order that all adults who wish to enroll in them will have the opportunity of starting at the very beginning. Those interested should telephone their names to Mrs. Love, 9012, or call in person at the high school building any evening. In all of the above classes there is no charge whatsoever except for a textbook wherever required. Every adult is eligible to attend.

One of the most interesting classes, and one in which we feel more people would be eager to attend, is that in second year Spanish. Fluency in conversation is the aim of the class. Anyone who has had at least one year of Spanish is eligible. The class meets from 8 to 9:30 on Tuesdays and Thursdays, and is free.

Anyone interested in learning shorthand or bookkeeping may also obtain this training. There is a fee of $1.25 per month for shorthand and $1.50 for bookkeeping. One or both of these subjects may be secured. Classes are held on the second floor of the high school building each night.

Inoculation Gives Child Protection Against Enemy

Every child is entitled to all the protection against preventable diseases that it is possible to give. It is the duty of the parent to secure this protection at an early age whenever possible. Among the worst of the diseases of childhood is diphtheria, which formerly ranked first as the cause of death. Three years of study and experiment, a preventative serum has been developed that gives almost absolute immunity against this dread disease. The Pampa school board and those vitally interested are using all the means at their disposal to have all our children inoculated before the onset of the season of the greatest incidence of diphtheria and urge all parents to have their children take the test to determine their susceptibility and where necessary to take the preventative serum.—Contributed.

Material Dealers Sponsoring Radio Talks Tuesday

"Nearly fifteen hundred retail building material dealers throughout Texas and Oklahoma have joined together in a great, wholehearted, co-operative effort to help bring about greater prosperity for every person in every community in the southwest." C. O. Drew, manager of the Acme Lumber company of this city, announced yesterday.

"This co-operative program, hailed by many business men as one of the most outstanding campaigns of the kind ever undertaken in the southwest, includes a chain radio program over the southwest quality group pick-up, and Oklahoma stations, advertising in building trade magazines and in newspapers, and localized advertising by the individual sponsors in their home town newspaper. The radio program was built and the advertising is being handled by the Erle Racey Advertising agency of Dallas. An advertising service for the local sponsors to use in their local newspapers has also been prepared. We building material merchants believe that this campaign will greatly stimulate all kinds of building activities and other business also in nearly every southwestern community."

The radio program, called "The Friendly Builders Hour," is heard from 6:15 to 6:45 o'clock every Tuesday night over the NBC stations of Texas and Oklahoma. High class musical entertainment is supplied by the 13-piece Friendly Builders orchestra and the well-known Bel Canto quartet. A lovable old character known as "The Friendly Carpenter" acts as master of ceremonies and injects a wealth of homely philosophy into the program.

Education Week Is Observed By Kiwanians Here

American education week was observed by the Kiwanis club at their meeting Friday. Bill Jarrett made an interesting talk on the expenditures of school funds. J. A. Meek presented an exhibit prepared by pupils of the Baker school.

The annual election of officers of the club will be held at the regular meeting Friday, November 23. The following candidates have been nominated: for president, Guy E. McTaggart and Jim Collins; for first vice president, R. M. Johnson and Bob Koerner; for second vice president, L. R. Thompson and Fred Cullum; for directors (four to be elected) Earl Reff, R. A. Selby, Bill Jarrett, Lee Waggoner, N. P. Willis, Howard Buckingham, C. L. Stine, and C. J. Goldston.

R. A. Selby invited members of the club to visit the schools this week in order that they might see how they are being operated.

government and economics, have made all arrangements for the election, which is being financed by the local International Relations club. Students will present their activity tickets in lieu of poll-tax receipts, and voting will be done on regular ballot forms. Votes will be counted and results tabulated in exactly the same way as at the regular voting places.

Mr. Condon has found that many students, even of college rank know little of election procedure. The plan which is to be used to give practical training in citizenship has aroused much interest in the amendments and officials which are to be voted on Tuesday. Former state representative Clyde W. Warwick has assisted by discussing the proposed amendments before classes of government students, and the college newspaper has carried editorials regarding the election.

COURT RECORD

CASE IS CLOSED
Gray county yesterday took a judgment for $762.23 in district court against the American Surety company of New York, the bonding firm for T. W. Barnes, former Gray county tax collector.

County Attorney Sherman White and John Sturgeon, representing the county, put into the records the testimony of County Auditor R. C. Wilson that the collector's report for 1932 showed $6,862.03 in excess fees due the county in a final settlement for that year. The collector paid $3,431.03, leaving a balance due of $3,431. Since the suit was filed, he had paid a total of $2,919.15, leaving a balance of $511.85. Interest at 6 per cent increased the total due, as represented by the judgment, by $250.38.

Mr. Barnes, it was stated, had offered to pay half of the remaining balance and make the final settlement as soon as he could, but the county decided to let the bonding firm handle the account.

A marriage license has been issued to B. W. Horne and Miss Dorothy Shilling.
