TOMORROW IS VOTING TIME

For most of the voting population of Gray county, tomorrow's general election will be interesting only because of the eight constitutional amendments placed before Texans. They are confusing proposals and will demand some study, but every qualified voter should go to the polls and vote his best sentiments.

It is unfortunate that the ballot forms do not have more simple statements of the proposals. It is deplorable that the amendments are jumbled together so that it is difficult to tell where one ends and the other begins. The wording is repeated twice and is identical after the words "FOR" and "AGAINST." Here are brief comments on the amendments in the order of their appearance on the Gray county ballots:

1. This amendment proposes to re-classify property, except real property, and to let the legislature set separate and varying levies on stocks, bonds, mortgages, notes, bank deposits, and other similar property. Seemingly, the amendment has two "jokers." One is that it says all real property taxes shall be equal and uniform. This contradicts the $3,000 homestead exemption. The other is that it says that all property shall be taxed except municipal property. Are we, then, to believe that church and fraternal holdings will be taxed? Governor-nominee Jimmie Allred favors this amendment. Some of the most careful students of law and taxation think the amendment is ambiguous and dangerous.

2. This amendment would give the commissioners court powers similar to those now held by city commissioners. The intent is to make consolidation of county departments possible, to reduce the number of department heads, shorten the ballot, and reduce the expense of county government.

3. This is the amendment proposing to limit state expenditures to $11.25 per capita. School men say this would cut the scholastic apportionment, or state aid, to such an extent that local school taxes would have to be hiked. The State Democratic convention adopted a resolution condemning this amendment.

4. The fee system and its evils would be abolished by the fourth amendment. It would put county and district offices on a salary basis, and fees would be placed in the county treasuries.

5. The fifth amendment would permit the legislature to consolidate counties if the people voted to merge their governments and reduce the cost of county administration. This is regarded as being in no great demand but as giving a privilege desired by a few sparsely settled counties.

6. The sixth amendment would permit home rule cities to alter, amend, or repeal their charters every twelve months if desired.

7. This amendment would permit, though not require, home rule cities to amend their charters to provide for elections every four years. This and the sixth amendment are desired by some of the larger cities but would not be binding on any city.

8. The last amendment would subject the lands of the University of Texas to taxation for county and school district purposes. The counties involved, most of them in West Texas, claim these lands, untaxed, place an unfair burden on them in providing self-government.

Although communism is rather widely condemned in this country, the right of citizens to be communists and to advocate their doctrines is illustrated in the ballot. There is a full state ticket for the communist party and another for the socialist party, in addition to the democratic and republican columns.

Regardless of your political faith, it is your duty to vote.

WASHINGTON.—Roosevelt has been wishing that General Johnson was twins.

He cause use the other one to dramatize the second big public works program, now planned as a five to seven billion dollar effort to decimate relief rolls and speed business recovery.

The president and his advisers agree they need someone with Johnson's evangelical fire. They're talking of stirring up a revival of "wartime patriotic enthusiasm."

Once they had the general very much in mind for this big new job. Then he made a fuss about quitting NRA, got to fighting with the other New Deal leaders, infuriated labor, and talked himself into the wings.

Harry Hopkins is the favorite candidate now. But it isn't settled that any one person is going to be named as boss of the program or as chief ballyhoo man. The big spending effort on housing, grade crossing work, rural electrification, subsistence homesteads, and other improvements may be divided into separate sections under the general supervision of Donald Richberg.

In most unofficial discussions of the new program, someone recalls the visit here last spring of John Maynard Keynes, the British economist. Keynes preached to Roosevelt and other New Dealers the doctrine of "spending our way out of the depression." One of those he impressed was Hopkins.

Of course the idea of a really big public works program had been advanced here long before—by Senator Bob LaFollette and others.

The hopes of some idealists here for a "separate economic system within the economic system," based on a national scheme of production of necessities by the unemployed for the use of one another, have been sunk—for at least the time being.

Business interests smashed grimly at FERA's first movements in that direction and Roosevelt told Hopkins to soft-pedal. Shoe manufacturers insisted on their right to sell shoes to the unemployed, without competition, so the plan to have the unemployed make shoes from hides accumulating from drought relief operations was dropped.

Mattresses will be made in FERA workrooms from surplus cotton despite protests of mattress companies that they will be too well constructed and too long-lived.

Miss Dorothy Detzer, the young pacifist whose backstage work was largely responsible for the munitions investigation, has returned from Europe with the belief that governments over there aren't likely to start any wars, because they're too afraid of internal revolt.

Admitting that the makings of wars exist and are often at the boiling point, Miss Detzer, who is national secretary of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, says the dangers of revolution are in the minds of nearly all European regimes.

Bitter popular opposition is so strong in most of them that a government which declared war would soon find itself engaged in two wars.

TEXAS HISTORY

Brushing Up on Facts You Ought to Recall

Trees were beginning to bud, and grass had just begun to come up through soil long covered by snow when Coronado and his men started once more to the land of riches and wealth. Leaving the women in the little village of Tigues grinding corn while the five players made music for them, and bidding farewell to the Indians who had given them corn and beans and delicious meat from the "cocks with great hanging chins," the explorers went in search of Quivira.

Coronado was determined to find the land of Quivira. Perhaps his failure thus far was sufficient to give him determination to never give up. He could not—he must not—return to New Spain empty-handed. He had promised to get gold and silver, and he would do so.

Passing through Cicuye, the men journeyed on nine more days until they reached the buffalo plains of the Panhandle. From there they had to travel without landmarks for none of their party had been that way before. After days of tramping eastward, with still no Quivira in sight, the men became disgruntled and suspicious of the Turk. Some insisted that the Turk did not know where he was leading them. Coronado, worried lest his men give up in discouragement, and doubting the Turk's story, cross-examined him. One of the men "solemnly swore that he had seen the Turk talking with the devil in a pitcher of water," and therefore knew the Turk was capable of all sorts of lies. Finally the Turk had to admit he was lying. No Quivira existed as he described it.

What a blow the news must have been to the expedition! With the horses tired from buffalo-chasing, corn almost gone, miles and miles from the little group of Indians at Tigues, the explorers once more met with defeat. It would be foolish for the entire force to continue to Quivira. Thirty must be selected, and the others sent back to the headquarters on the Rio Grande. It is probable that Coronado parted with his men somewhere along the north fork of the Canadian river, due west of the Pecos. May 1, 1541, the group of explorers slowly began their trek back to Tigues.

Coronado watched his men disappear over the horizon, then with his little band of thirty men, set out northward for the gold and silver in Quivira. He would return by fall, laden with precious gems and riches for a lifetime.

GOODNIGHT, Nov. 5 (Special)—

Visitors to Texas during the Centennial year of 1936 doubtless since childhood would have heard of the buffalo, which once roamed this state and others of the west, but today they will find that few of the former "lords of the plains" survive. In this connection, it might be well to recall that although Col. Charles Goodnight, plainsman and Texas Ranger, made many contributions to the colorful life of the southwest, which will be memorialized by forthcoming celebrations in Texas cities, it is the fact that he preserved the buffalo from extinction that has brought to him the most renown among people of the present day.

On the ranch, which he founded in 1887 at Goodnight, near the Palo Duro canyon, there is at present the finest herd of buffalo in the world. The owners of the ranch are continuing, after Colonel Goodnight's death, to maintain the herd, and the place attracts many visitors.

The love of scouting and the technique of plainscraft were the breath of life to Colonel Goodnight, and so doughty and clever was he that his name had become a household word along with those of other great frontiersmen, who scouted the length and breadth of Texas and left accounts of bloody warfare with outlaws and Indians, hunger and thirst.

After the establishment of the Republic of Texas, the bloody attacks of Indians in the west, caused outposts of white settlers to be driven back until they rested again in the shelter of the timbered zone. So in 1862 the state of Texas attempted to stem the backward movement of the frontier by the organization of the Frontier Regiment of Texas Rangers. Its scattered squads were stationed along the outside of the frontier settlements from the Red River to the Rio Grande.

A company of these under the command of Capt. J. J. Cureton was stationed at old Fort Belton and one young member of it was Charles Goodnight. They protected the settlers from marauding Indians and outlaws coming from the vast and unexplored plains country. From the Rio Grande north to the northern edge of the plains, the Rangers generally found war-torn settlements. But beyond that, to the north, only a scout who knew the land as only those with the uncanny instinct of the plains know it could expect anything but death. Colonel Goodnight was one of those scouts who knew the plains to the grassroots.

TEACHERS ASKED TO SUPERVISE MAKING CLASS PROJECT OF ALL HISTORIC POINTS IN COMMUNITY

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—Teachers of history in the schools of Texas are being requested to make a class project of the points of historic importance in their community and county by the Texas State Parks association, according to Fred M. Herndon, secretary.

The last called session of the Texas Legislature authorized the State parks board to gather this information and to mark the spots of historic interest, but made no appropriation whatever to carry on this stupendous task, Herndon said.

Neither the parks board nor the association has ever had any funds to even carry on the parks work, yet today has 72 state owned parks comprising 268,405 acres which have been donated to the people of Texas without cost to the tax payers.

Under these conditions it will be impossible for the parks board to place suitable markers at historic spots but the board and the association are working together to secure information necessary to do the marking which must come when funds are available.

School teachers of Texas are in position to make school work projects of local history and send their theses or stories to the State Parks Board, Austin Texas, for compilation by counties for reference when funds are available for marking.

There is hardly a county in Texas but which has a background rich in historic interest, Herndon said. But without funds the board or the association can not gather this much desired information.

"The school teachers of Texas can render valuable assistance in this work, and at the same time aid their communities and counties, and bring home to students the rich heritage which is theirs through the sacrifice and pioneering work of their forefathers," Herndon said.

Officers of the board and the association will gladly continue to give of their time and ability in this work if they may have the cooperation of the school teachers of Texas, Herndon said.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Nov. 3. (AP)—The precedent established by President Roosevelt is being followed by Attorney General James V. Allred, Texas' next governor, in the matter of direct appeal to the people on questions of vital public importance.

Allred conducted his first "fire-side chat" with the citizenry of Texas recently. He spoke in favor of adoption of a constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to classify property for taxation purposes and against an amendment that would limit state expenditures during a year to $11.25 per capita.

Allred, due perhaps to the ardor of his youth, displayed considerable vehemence in discussing questions he regarded as paramount to the state's welfare and again went to grips with the veteran political maestro, former Governor James E. Ferguson.

It was an odd coincidence that Ferguson publicly urged defeat for all amendments on the same day that Allred took up his war clubs in favor of the tax classification proposal. Ferguson exhorted the voters to scratch all of the amendments, including the one championed by Allred.

Allred asserted opposition to the amendment originated with the group that was endeavoring to enact "a pernicious sales tax." Ferguson contended adoption of the amendment would vitiate the provision in the constitution that exempts $3,000 of the assessed value of resident homesteads, an allegation Allred emphatically denied.

As a result of the clash in opinion between Allred and Ferguson it was predicted Ferguson would be one of Allred's most severe critics and that the seasoned warrior intends to keep a close watch on political developments for some time to come even though the Ferguson family has announced its withdrawal from the realm of active politics at the end of Mrs. Ferguson's second administration.

Ferguson and Allred have viewpoints that are widely separated. Should the "feud" between the two develop it not only would be interesting but doubtless would have repercussions of far reaching effect.

JURY INDICTS OFFICIALS IN DEPOT CRIME

KANSAS CITY POLICE BIG NAMES CHARGED WITH PERJURY

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 5. (AP)—Charges of "tolerated" crime and police incompetence, made by the federal grand jury, investigating the 1933 union station slayings, made a roaring fire today of Missouri's heretofore smoldering political campaign.

Two high police officials and a former director of police were indicted for perjury by the same body which reported that it found criminal mobs and racketeers and "unbridled gambling" in Kansas City.

Senator Roscoe C. Patterson, republican fighting to retain his seat at Washington, expressed the belief that the indictments had "wrecked the hopes of the Kansas City political machine" led by "Big Tom" Pendergast, democratic boss.

Harry S. Truman, who has Pendergast's backing as the democratic nominee, retorted that Patterson "has been making a practice of issuing false statements about the Kansas City organization."

The grand jury planned to wind up its investigation today by questioning Aden Richetti, only survivor of the three gunmen accused of killing Frank Nash, a train robber, and his four custodians in an attempt to free Nash. Richetti was brought here from Ohio yesterday, manacled and wearing a straight-jacket.

Another grand jury, the county inquest, was expected to plunge into the case, seeking to determine whether John Ladd, Pendergast lieutenant, helped the slayers escape.

Eugene C. Reppert, former director of police, and Thomas J. Higgins, chief of detectives, were indicted on charges of falsely denying that they ordered subordinates to "lay off" the union station case. George Rayen, in charge of the motor theft bureau, was accused of having said that he owed the greater duty to the Pendergast machine than to the police department, and then denying before the jury that he said it.

New Members To Be Church Guests Wednesday Night

The 286 new members who have joined Pampa Methodist churches in the last year will be special guests at an all-church party in the church basement Wednesday evening, beginning at 7 o'clock, since Rev. Fopie became pastor, a total of 190 have joined the First Methodist church.

A total of 96 new members have joined the McCullough Memorial church and Wesley Harrah chapel which were constructed this year.

The occasion of the all-church party will be the "food-faith-and-fun" night held every Wednesday evening. All old members as well as new members are urged to attend. A covered dish will be brought by members for the luncheon which will be served at 7 o'clock.

Stewards of the church are now winding up business for the year, preparatory to the conference which will convene in Abilene next week.

KANSAS VOTES ON WET ISSUE ON TOMORROW

NUMEROUS STATES ARE TO VOTE ON REPEAL IN ELECTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Repeal of local prohibition laws is one of the most important side-issues in many states in tomorrow's off-year election.

Several states will vote on repeal of their constitutional prohibitions against liquor, while in others the voters will concern themselves with local option proposals. In some, regardless of the outcome of the voting, liquor control laws will not be affected as they pre-date the state prohibition amendments. In still others, the effect will only be indirect as the question will be put up to legislative bodies.

North Dakota and Florida vote on repealing their dry laws; in Nebraska, Idaho, Kansas, West Virginia, and South Dakota the voting will be on repeal of constitutional prohibitions. The Kansas prohibition amendment has been a part of the constitution for 54 years.

California, a leading wine producing state, votes on two measures. One would relax the present liquor laws to permit serving liquors other than beer or wine to be served with meals. The other would establish the right of local option.

Each city and town in Massachusetts will vote on whether hard liquor, beer, and wine, neither, or both may be sold. Thirty-eight election divisions in Ohio will vote on straight local option, banning liquor, wine, and beer; seven will vote on beer and wine; and four on beer. About 140 Pennsylvania communities will vote on the matter of consuming liquor on the premises where sold. It can have no effect on sale of liquor in bulk.

Parl-mutual betting will be voted on directly in two states and by implication in a third. Massachusetts and Nebraska voters will have a chance to express themselves on laws allowing betting on races while voters in Delaware elect legislators who must pass the Delaware pari-mutual law for the second time before it becomes part of the constitution.

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK OBSERVANCE STARTS TODAY

PATRONS INVITED TO VISIT CLASSES DURING THE WEEK IN 'KNOW YOUR SCHOOL' PROGRAM

OPEN PROGRAMS ARE ANNOUNCED BY P.-T.A.

National education week, beginning today, is being observed in schools, clubs, and churches. Programs are being presented by several organizations and Pampa schools are holding open house.

Parents of school children are especially invited to visit the classrooms this week. Some schools have designated days and hours for visitors, while others are ready to entertain parents at any time.

One of the latter is your high school. Principal R. A. Selby announced that usual work will be conducted, as nearly as possible, during the week. Parents of pupils are urged to visit at least one class.

Home rooms and classes will have special programs in observance of the week, and at the chapel hour Wednesday morning, 8:45, pupils will give short talks on their work.

Woodrow Wilson school will observe Thursday as visiting day, it has been announced by Mrs. Annie Daniels, principal. Horace Mann pupils are inviting their parents to visit them at stated hours through the week.

Other schools here are also extending invitations to visitors in a "know your school" program. Parent-Teacher associations meeting this week are stressing the education week theme, and the Mercator association is sponsoring an open program tomorrow evening, with all residents of the community invited. School officials will speak on various phases of the school system.

BETHANY CLASS PARTY
Bethany class members of First Baptist church will meet at the church Wednesday at 2:30 and go to the home of Mrs. Ernest Reynolds, where Mrs. J. F. Reynolds, teacher, will be hostess for a social. All members, including members in service, are invited.

"Let's quit killing" is the slogan adopted for a traffic safety program in Portland, Ore. City council gave $200 toward the campaign expenses.

Like Cuddling a REAL BABY!

MILLER'S famous ALL-RUBBER Dolly!

SHE looks like a real baby, her expression is so life-like and natural. She feels like a real baby, she's so soft and huggable. But we warn you—she's a tough baby!

Bang her on the floor, douse her in a tub of water, treat her rough—and still she comes up smiling! Your youngster will love her—but can't love her to pieces.

From top to toe, this doll is absolutely unbreakable. She'll last indefinitely and be a constant delight. All rubber; 100 per cent washable, guaranteed not to peel or crack. Movable eyes, head, arms and legs. A size and type for "little mothers" of every age. Get your little girl one today.

SPORT BRIEFS

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS, Nov. 2 (AP)—Betting commissioners have quoted first odds on the 1934 renewal of the $10,000 added Waggoner handicap to be run November 10 at Arlington Downs.

Clarify, owned by W. C. Stroube of Corsicana, and Strideaway, a Waggoner entry, have been established as co-favorites at 5 to 1. These two horses are slight favorites over the Three D stock farm's speedy money getter, which in a recent race turned in a record-breaking performance in negotiating the Waggoner course, 150 feet short of six furlongs, in 1:10 3-5. Money Getter is quoted at 6 to 1.

The 10 to 1 thoroughbreds are Pot Au Brooms and Bien Fait. Pot Au Brooms finished fourth in last Saturday's Arlington handicap, W. C. Stroube's Bien Fait has failed to live up to training expectations.

Royal Blunder at 15 to 1 is next in line. The 20 to 1 horses are My Dandy, Wacoche, Wild Turkey, Golden Way and Wise Ways. Delano and Edie Hard are quoted at five hundred to one.

Azucar, the combination steeplechase and race horse is quoted at thirty to one along with Flying Cadet. Azucar has been an eastern sensation on the jumps and later on the flats.

Quatre Bras II, a favorite of Arlington Downs crowds, is coupled with Strideaway, Money Getter and Sandwreck as the Three D stock farm entry, and is quoted at 50 to 1.

While odds are being laid on the big handicap entries, Arlington Downs officials will not lay odds on the probable attendance but they are planning for an outpour of thirty-five thousand persons.

Club Is Taught To Make Candy

Women of Priscilla Home Demonstration club found the thermometer a valuable aid in the art of candy making, when Miss Ruby Adams, county agent, assisted by Miss Lill Dalton, gave a demonstration of making five kinds of candy at the home of Mrs. Guy Farrington.

Temperatures were lowered eight degrees from the original sea-level recipes to suit this altitude, Miss Adams explained. The women followed exactly the directions which had been worked out in laboratory experiments with sugar.

Important changes take place in the sauce pan during the boiling of sugar and water, so that at different temperatures the sugar has characteristics which make it yield different kinds of candy.

Mrs. C. A. Tignor presided over a short business session when she accepted reports of members' record books.

Chicken sandwiches, vegetable salad, tea, and cherry puff candies were served to Misses Adams, Dalton, Dolnie Lee Stroope, Mmes. B. C. Fahy, John Sims, E. Williams, John Lawler, Tignor, Clyde Caruth, Otto Patton, Norman Walters, Kennedy, Joe Lewis, Minnie Jackson, R. P. Tinsley, Ira Spearman, Marvin Daugherty, and the hostess.

Hi-Lo Club Has Party Thursday

Mrs. Bill Gill was hostess to the Hi-Lo bridge club at the Eagle Buffet Thursday evening. In the games, Mrs. Roy Dyson scored high and Mrs. H. P. Beatty low.

Other members playing were Mmes. J. G. Teeters, Tom Moore, Bill Dull, Doug Wilson, E. P. Hollingshead, Homer Wallace, C. C. Cockerill, R. A. Myers, and W. M. McWright.

George Davis Plays Host to Friends on Twelfth Birthday

George Davis was host to a party of friends on his twelfth birthday Saturday afternoon at the E. V. Davis home, 117 E. Foster. Interesting games were played, and refreshments of cake, hot chocolate, and apples were served.

Pardoned Woman Dies Of Cancer

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 5 (AP)—Pardoned from state's prison two weeks ago upon the advice of physicians, Mrs. Ida May Eddy Shaw, 35, is dead from cancer.

She was serving a life sentence for the murder of her husband, A. A. Shaw, the night of June 20, 1933. Since her pardon by Governor H. G. Kump, Mrs. Shaw had been bedfast at her mother's home.

Harley Lemon, her alleged paramour, who the state charged plotted with Mrs. Shaw to collect her husband's property and insurance, is serving a life term.

CLARA HILL CLASS

A party for members and guests was planned by Clara Hill class at its meeting Sunday. It will be at First Methodist church parlors Wednesday at 2:30. Two new members, Mmes. Jackson and Graham, were present in the class.

P.-T. A. CARNIVAL

A Halloween carnival sponsored by the Pampa Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening was attended by a large crowd and added a substantial sum to the association's treasury.

DEBUT OF NEW PLAYERS CLUB IS ANTICIPATED

COMEDY WILL START AT 7:45 THIS EVENING

Some Pampans will be interested in the debut of a new dramatic club in the presentation this evening of Laff That Off by the Plains Players. Others will be interested in the play itself, a well-known comedy.

The curtain is scheduled to rise at 7:45 in the city auditorium. This first offering of the new club will be sponsored by the young people's department of First Methodist church, which has charge of ticket sales and will benefit from the proceeds.

A cast of only six members is made up of experienced players. Verlon Twaddell, LaVerne Courson, and John Ketter have the male roles, appearing as three bachelors who live on a communistic basis, sharing their money and work.

Appearance of a hungry and homeless girl, played by Miss Clotilde McCallister, starts the plot complications. Miss Dorothy Harris has a comedy role as the "Mopopus," and Mrs. Wade Thompson appears as the landlady.

First Grade Has Club And Paper

"The first grade in room four, Horace Mann school, is the Green and Gold club now," says a weekly newspaper compiled by the young students. Each week they gather the news, which is then written on the board by their teacher, Mrs. J. L. Lester, and copied by the children to take home.

Last week's issue continues: "The green stands for life and growth. The gold stands for pure thoughts and deeds. Our president is Joyce Pratt, vice president, Ronald Lester, secretary, Kenneth Seyffort. We shall elect new officers each month by popular vote."

"Mothers of our room are organized, too. Mrs. Rob Seeds and Mrs. Bruce Pratt are chairmen. They meet every second Thursday before PTA meeting and visit in our room."

"We are happy to have the PTA pennant handed in our room. Our mothers' club bought and made pretty green curtains for our windows and doors. Mrs. F. L. Stallings gave us a vitrola to use in our room. We get much pleasure from it."

"We enjoy having Miss Groom come to our room once a week to help us with our music."

"Norma Dee Hall had her tonsils out and has been absent all week. LeRoy Faircloth has had pneumonia and has been out three weeks. We miss them so much."

Another item was a report of a ball game Friday between "Pampa and Plainview," with a victory by the latter accepted as an omen that the Harvesters would win their game Friday night.

CHURCH OPENS NEW BUILDING WITH SERVICES

Visitors From Many Towns At All-Day Program

Attendance was large at services yesterday in the new brick building of Central Church of Christ, opened with an all-day program. E. M. Borden, minister, preached in the morning and evening.

Dinner was served at noon to local members and visitors from Wheeler, Claude, Clovis, Laketon, LeFors, Canadian, Hereford, Hedley, and Parlington as well as Pampa residents.

A song service filled the afternoon. Leaders from nearby churches directed assembly singing, and talks were made by visiting preachers and laymen. Bible classes yesterday morning were attended by 86, and the young people's class by about 50 yesterday evening.

Four persons became members of the church, two by transfer of membership.

Services will be conducted in the new building through Friday of this week. Will M. Thompson, minister. See NEW CHURCH, Page 6

Teacher to Wed

Romance has invaded the classroom of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and Miss Nellie Lee Holt, professor of religious education, above, will wed Curtis Bok, son of the late Edward Bok, wealthy Philadelphia publisher. Miss Holt made the announcement at a teachers' convention in Omaha.

VARIED EVENTS HOLD INTEREST OF CHURCHES

BAPTIST MINISTER IS ATTENDING STATE CONVENTION

Dedication of their new building by Central Church of Christ, presence of a visiting speaker at the Presbyterian church, preparation by the Methodist churches for ending their year next week, and departure of the Baptist minister for a state church convention, marked yesterday in Pampa churches.

Dr. George Fender, synodical executive for this state, spoke morning and evening at the Presbyterian church. A congregational meeting has been announced for that church Thursday evening, beginning with a covered dish supper.

The Rev. C. E. Lancaster, First Baptist minister, accompanied by Mrs. Lancaster and their son, Melvin, left today for San Antonio to attend a teachers' convention in Omaha.

ACCIDENTS ARE FATAL TO TEN IN WEEK-END

FATAL FALLS KILL 2; TRAINS, CARS KILL REMAINDER

(By The Associated Press.)

Ten accidental deaths were recorded in Texas over the week-end, trains, automobiles and fatal falls figuring in the death list.

Three Fort Worth men, Leslie Hewitt, 20, A. F. Brown, 39, and C. O. Davis, 22, were crushed to death when their automobile smashed into the rear end of a switch engine at a crossing on the outskirts of Fort Worth's city limits. The automobile was dragged 100 yards down the right-of-way.

An aged Houston couple, F. J. Egon Dierkes, 70, and his wife, Mrs. Mary Dierkes, 70, was killed in a collision of two automobiles on a highway at Missouri City, 15 miles west of Houston. Three women and two men were injured.

Willie Kypner, 19, of Sierra Blanca, riding with a chance acquaintance to Pecos, was killed when a machine driven by A. H. Utley of Salt Lake City, Utah, plowed into a freight train.

Clifton Sims, 21, Kennedy, en route to San Antonio with three men companions, was killed near Poth when the automobile overturned after striking a concrete culvert.

Lyle G. Smith, 30, of Danville, Ill., was killed instantly when his motorcycle and an automobile was in collision at Caddo Mills, 10 miles southwest of Greenville.

W. H. Wood, 41, stood talking with his employer, C. Lucchese, and M. Keys, a parking lot operator, on the banks of the San Antonio river. A log which he stood rolled and he toppled into a dry river bottom. His neck was broken.

Ten-year-old Lonnie Knight, Waco schoolboy, fell from a tree in a school yard. He died of a broken neck.

Cows Loaned to Families on Relief Recalled in Order

AUSTIN, Nov. 5.—With no further buying orders received and the end of the government's livestock buying program in sight, Texas Relief commission officials have issued orders to county administrators to return all cows loaned to relief clients to pens for final disposition. From pens, cattle will be concentrated at central points for shipping in carload lots.

A large number of Scouts and parents attended the meeting and saw an impressive presentation of the charter.

Marian Gordon by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Work on Lon Casad's beautiful new development has been stopped, because Lon's money has been stolen. Silver Haddon, the girl who lost Lon to Marian Gordon, asks Marian and Lon to dinner with her parents, the McSwains. Marian overhears McSwain plotting to scamp a high school he is building, and agrees not to expose him if he will play fair. He has not answered.

Chapter 26 NEW SURPRISE

McSwain stood, head to one side as if listening. In a moment Marian also caught faint voices calling. "Daddy," called Silver, then, "Tan."

A white-barbed servant came softly down the path, saw the two of them and turned to go back. Still McSwain didn't answer. Marian heard footsteps now, and the voices of Silver and of Lon, coming towards them.

"I haven't time to say much," began McSwain. "I'm mighty thankful my fate fell into the hands of a girl of honor, like yourself. Give me a little time; this has been a shock, a tremendous shock."

"Daddy, you old sheik," cried Silver, rounding the shrubbery at the corner. "The idea of your being out in the garden mooning with that red headed gal. Marian, shame on you—" her laughter rippled out, covering their silence—"been looking all over for you. If you don't come in and drag mother and Willie and administrators were required to retain receipts in order that later they might be returned to pens for final disposition."

Lon stepped to Marian's side and as the other two preceded them down the garden path, slipped one arm about Marian and found her trembling. "Honey, what's wrong?" "Oh, Lon," she whispered. "I wish we could go home right now."

"We can't very well, it's only half past nine."

"Only half past nine?" she repeated. She had left the card room at nine. Had that whole episode taken only half an hour? To her it had seemed hours.

The group cut for partners. Marian found she had drawn Blaine Kelly, McSwain, Mrs. Wylie. Lon, Silver, Mr. Wylie and Mrs. McSwain were at the other table.

Marian, who played with brilliance at some times, and stupidly at others, found this was one of her worst nights. She could not forget that McSwain was sitting near her, watching her covertly with his heavily lidded eyes.

Midnight came with trays of sandwiches and tall, iced nightcaps, and after these were consumed, the Casads left. Escaped, Marian felt, as she sat beside Lon, heard the purr of the motor and the clang of the gates behind the car.

They drove in silence for a while, then Lon spoke. "Silver has certainly changed; she's evidently decided to act her age."

"Either that or she's been taking lessons from Mae West."

"Pr-r-meow!" trilled Lon, chuckling. "I like her a lot better this way."

"So does Blaine Kelly."

"Silver says he's a new kind of porous plaster, sticks so close she doesn't know how to get rid of him."

"She might try marrying him," came in ironical tones from Marian.

"She's very beautiful," Marian said. "When she's all dolled up, but I wonder if she'd be as sweet as you are in the mornings, when you're flying around a hot chicken cooking for your worthless old man. I'll bet she wouldn't."

"My old man isn't worthless," Marian reminded him, but, comforted, went back to the house, grateful at least that Lon was roused into belief in himself. She watched him leave in the morning, assurance in the firm line of his chin, confidence in the warm hazel eyes. The stamp of the unemployed had been sloughed off during the night. He was the Lon Casad she had married. She waved from the hilltop, then raced to the house; there was much to be done before Lon returned. It was Lon's birthday.

After taking a shower and donning a cool, green linen dress she walked down to the highway to the mail box and found a handful of mail, and a package. A letter to her from her mother and a ten dollar bill. "Just remembered it was Lionel's birthday, wondered if you had changed on hand, am sending this for you to use for him, as you please."

There was a letter from her father to Lon, a very thin letter. She held it up to the light. It was a check. And the box, addressed to Lon in her brother Jack's scrawling handwriting. Bless them. What a birthday party they would have! She would use some of the ten dollars, take a bus to Walnut Creek and buy groceries for a dinner royal. Late that afternoon she toiled back up the hill. No trace of the car yet. Another shower, a fresh frock. The heat was searing the hill-side; Lon would be tired, hot. She went into the kitchen and started the fire. A salad of avocado, creamwhipped potatoes, filet mignon steaks with mushrooms, hearts of artichokes browned in butter, fresh sliced peaches and—Sauterne. She would compete with the McSwains. She laid the table in the parlor, after hosing the stones until they were cool. There was a car coming, she dashed into her room, fluffed a powder puff over her nose, patted her hair, sprayed perfume over her shoulder, and dashed back.

It was Lon, alone, his face as radiant as the westering sun. She rushed into his arms. "Happy birthday, Lon." "Birthday?" he asked in surprise. "Well, by George, it is . . . and what a birthday. Ian, I've got a job." "I know it," she answered, wringing her nose. "Who told you?" he asked in surprise. "Your face . . . and Lon, you've got a package and a couple of letters and mother and dad sent you some money and I used part of it to build you a grand birthday dinner." She paused for lack of breath. "Hurrah for the Casads," shorted Lon, walking towards the house, Hero nibbling daintily at one hand, the other arm about Marian. "Looks like winter's over, doesn't it?" The cake was duly admired, then Marian started dinner while Lon showered and changed to cool linens. Coming in sleek, immaculate, he smiled at her. "You haven't asked about my job," he chided. "don't bother, I'll tell you. I'm the new foreman for the Madden Construction Company, building the East Brazos high school." Marian gave one gasp, then crumpled in a heap on the kitchen floor. attend the state Baptist convention. The Rev. M. S. Leach and Mrs. Leach of LeFors went with them.

At First Christian church services were conducted by the pastor, John S. Miller, who closed a revival series in Amarillo Friday evening. Presbyterian church had 150 in Sunday school, First Christian church 426, First Methodist church 504, Harrah chapel 65, McCullough Memorial church 85, First Baptist 222 and 187 in training service, Francis Avenue Church of Christ 190.

Telegraph messengers in Austin faced by numerous thefts of bicycles, unsuccessfully petitioned the city council for an ordinance requiring registration of wheels.

Mrs. A. N. Dilley Jr., and daughter, Dorothy Anne, have returned from a visit to the world fair at Chicago.

Legal Notice

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals, addressed to W. C. Breining, secretary of the board of trustees of the LeFors Independent school district of LeFors, Texas, for the construction of a one-story school building at LeFors, Texas, in accordance with the plans, specifications and instructions to bidders, prepared by W. R. Kaufman & Son, architects, will be received at the office of the school trustees in the high school building at LeFors, Texas, until 2 p. m. the 13th day of November, 1934, and then publicly opened and read.

The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract with the board of trustees of the LeFors Independent school district of LeFors, Texas, which will contain provisions conforming with the requirements of the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works as set out in its bulletin No. 2, revised March 3, 1934, and the construction provisions of the loan and/or grant agreement.

A cashier's or certified check, payable to the order of the order of W. C. Breining, secretary of the board of trustees of the LeFors independent school, district, in an amount not less than 5 per cent of the largest possible total bid, including consideration of alternates, must accompany each bid as a guarantee that if awarded the contract, the bidder will promptly enter into a contract and execute bonds in the forms provided, as outlined in the specifications and instructions to bidders.

A performance bond, in an amount of one hundred (100 per cent) per cent of the contract price, and a separate and distinct labor bond, in an amount equal to the estimated largest aggregate payroll in any one month, will be required.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum wage rates prescribed by the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works must be paid on this project. Contract will be awarded subject to the approval of the state engineer, P. W. A.

(a) "FORWARD" to executive order 6646, dated March 14, 1934, no bid will be considered unless it includes or is accompanied by a certificate (worded in accordance with P. W. A. 61, revised March 19, 1934), duly executed by the bidder, stating that the bidder is complying with and will continue to comply with the approved code of fair competition to which he is subject, and if engaged in any trade or industry for which there is no approved code of fair competition, then stating that as to such trade or industry he has become a party to and is complying with an agreement with the president (President's Re-employment Agreement) under section 4 (a) of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

Plans and specifications may be secured from W. R. Kaufman & Son, architects, Pampa, Texas, upon deposit of $15.00, as a guarantee of the safe return of same. (Oct. 29-Nov. 5)

Relief Families Given Goat Every 15 Days in Webb

LAREDO, Nov. 5 (AP)—Goats, on the hoof, play an important part in solving the relief problems of Webb county.

Unlike communities where persons on the relief rolls are cared for solely through issues of groceries or actual cash, relief clients here receive Angora goats—alive and far from ready for the table.

Each client on the relief roll with a small family receives a live goat each 15 days; while those with large families receive two goats each 15 days.

The persons to whom the animals are issued are required to slaughter them. Hides must be turned in after butchering before any more goats are given out.

Any person found selling any of the goat meat or the skins is subject to fine.

B. D. Tate, county administrator for the Texas relief commission, is in charge of the issuance of goats provided by the federal government under emergency drought relief.

The issuance of goats—females only—began October 28. At that time only 450 head of angoras had been purchased from stockmen of Webb county. The greater part of the goats to be distributed will be shipped in.

Indications are that it will require about 600 goats a week to supply relief clients.

MEMPHIS WILL STAGE RODEO IN FEW DAYS

BEST PERFORMERS TO BE TWO DAYS IN HALL COUNTY

MEMPHIS, Nov. 5 (SP)—With three performances, offering many of the best known riders and ropers in the southwest and many bucking broncs, Brahma steers and wild cows, the American Legion here is sponsoring a two-day rodeo on Saturday and Sunday, November 10 and 11, at the Hall county fair grounds.

An added attraction will be the night performance Saturday, Nov. 10, under the floodlights of fair park athletic stadium.

The rodeo is to be staged by Roy Mayes, former world champion bronc rider and veteran rodeo performer, who staged one of the largest events of his nature in this territory here in 1922.

At work long in advance, Mayes already has secured over 100 head of animals for the event, and some of the outstanding cowboys in the southwest here entered.

The list of riders include such rodeo characters as Jonas de Arman, Sayre, Okla., present all-around world champion and winner of many events from Fort Worth to Burwell, Neb., and from Cheyenne to Madison Square Garden, New York.

Odel, Bettisell, Odel, also winner of numerous bronc riding and bulldogging titles; Buck Standifer, Olton, winner of the calf-roping contest last year at the Roswell, New Mexico State Cotton carnival.

Otus Riddle, Odell, a member of Tex. Austin's western troupe that recently staged a rodeo in London; "Turfy" Maddox, pushed forward by the city of Childress as the toughest bulldogger in the territory; "Sex" Harrison, Bailey, Okla.; Buddy Ellison, San Jon, N. M.; Hal Cooper, Woodward, Okla., and numerous others, including entrants from the JA and Buckle L ranches.

Heading a score of bucking horses will be Northern Starry, hard-bucking, savage mustang from the Mata-dora ranch, one of the best known rider-busters in this section of the country.

More than 30 Brahma steers are to be brought here from South Texas for this phase of the entertainment, and nearly 50 wild cows and calves have already been secured for the wild cow milking and calf roping contests.

There will be five different contest events at each performance, in addition to clowns, trick riding, and roping exhibitions, kids' pony races and cowboys' relay races.

The afternoon shows will start at 2 o'clock and run between two and four to 25 contestants in each performance is to be staged at 8 o'clock under the football floodlights.

Admission at each performance will be 25 and 50 cents.

For the entrants there will be plenty of keen competition, with from 15 to 25 contestants in each event, and also $500 in prizes for the winners.

RECONCILIATION WITH DOUGLAS IS DENIED BY MARY PICKFORD

CHICAGO, Nov. 5 (AP)—It must have been something she said.

At any rate, when Mary Pickford came out of the west today she found the breakfast table aglow over a report that she had acknowledged a reconciliation with the estranged athletic husband, Douglas Fairbanks.

As for Mary, she was annoyed. She had three things to say about it:

"The answer is no. It isn't so. It's not true."

Her audience, in Miss Pickford's (Blackstone) hotel suite, took it that she meant to deny any reported admission in a Kansas City interview that she and Fairbanks had arranged a rapprochement.

The actress did not specifically say she and Douglas were getting along nicely or weren't.

"Why, I only talked with one man there," she said of the Kansas City stopover last night. "He must have been a good scenario writer."

The petite film star, for years wearer of the title of America's sweetheart No. 1, seemed slightly miffed about it all.

"We just talked for a moment," she insisted. "Nothing was said about Douglas and me."

Perched on the edge of a straight-backed period chair, her feet swinging an inch or two clear of the floor, Miss Pickford solemnly told her questioners she would be happy to discuss anything except her domestic affairs, which seemed to be most interesting to everybody else.

She was, personally, more interested in Miss Pickford the author.

"I'm going to New York," she smiled, "to see about the publication of a few things I've written. A few stories, and a novel. I'm getting to be a real author now. I may even do a play."

Much Meat Now Being Given Out To Relief Clients

AUSTIN, Nov. 5—County administrators today had been notified by Texas Relief commission officials of the third general distribution of canned beef and notified to call at the commission's 21 canneries for their allotment.

The third distribution will include 5,500,000 cans of beef. It is twice as large as the two previous allotments, and will cover the requirements for a two months' period. C. Z. Crain, head of the commodities distribution department, said.

The increased allotment was made because storage space is becoming congested at canneries. Administrators were requested to issue the cans on a basis of 12 per month to the average family of five persons, over and above their regular budgets. Larger families will receive more and smaller families proportionately less. Each can weighs 1 pound, 4 ounces.

This issue brings the total number of cans of beef distributed to administrators for destitute families in Texas to approximately 11,000,000.

The Gray county relief office has received 468 cartons of canned meats lately.

PAMPA-BORGER, McLEAN-LEFORS GAMES ARE IN SPOTLIGHT THIS WEEK

BORGANS WILL PLAY IN CITY IN AFTERNOON

McLEAN WILL INVADE HOME OF PIRATES IN EVENING

Pampa and LeFors will be focal points of Panhandle football this week-end, both being the host towns in conference games. The Borgers Bulldogs will play in Pampa Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. At 8 o'clock, the McLean Tigers will invade the home of the LeFors Pirates for a night game.

Pampa football fans are taking about as much interest in one game as the other. Pampa is doped to defeat Borgers although the outcome of the Borgers-Amarillo tussle, won by Amarillo 12 to 0, placed a puzzling outlook on the situation. The game with Borgers is not being taken lightly by the Harvesters, despite their 60 to 0 victory Friday night in their first game. The Bulldogs held Amarillo to a 12 to 0 score two weeks ago and Saturday night continued to show a world of improvement in defeating the Panhandle A. & M. Fresh from Goodwell, Okla., 14 to 11, in one of the best games of the season.

Borgers is not the weak team it was at the beginning of the season. The Bulldogs were annihilated by injuries but have come out of the handicap with a strong team. There is doubt in the minds of Pampa fans over whether Amarillo loafed against Borgers or whether the Sandies put out their best. The Sandies' first string was never in the game together but there were several regulars in the lineup most of the game.

The Harvesters will continue to be weakened by injuries. Captain Monroe Owens, end, and Red Fanning, fullback, will still be watching from the bench. Fred Mumford, end, may be able to play part of the game. The team also was injured in El Paso two weeks ago. There has been doubt expressed as to whether Owens and Fanning will be able to play in the rest of the season.

The Harvesters will rest next week while watching Amarillo and Lubbock battle on Tech field in Lubbock. It will be the first time this season that the two teams will have to put out everything they have in an effort to win. Lubbock, threatened with defeat a few weeks ago, continued to hold back its power. Amarillo has also used deception in every game. Therefore the full strength of the two teams is unknown, even to each other.

Pampa coaches have been criticized for matching games with Lubbock and Amarillo on consecutive weeks but if fans stop to think, it was the only way Pampa could get Amarillo and Lubbock together before they met either of them. Now the Harvesters can sit back and watch the struggle and see what will be keyed up for the two games and will not have time to let enthusiasm lag with a long rest.

Down in LeFors, Coaches Bill Bronson and Francis Smith are seeking a means to stop Tolliver and Dow of the McLean Tigers. Coach Garrison Rice, who has been having the same worry about Cumberland and Morgan of the Pirates. The game should be hard-fought and one of the best of the season. The two eleven were considered well matched until Friday night, when McLean won a 10 to 0 victory over the LeFors team. The Tigers clicked at their best for this season.

LeFors rested last week. The Pirates will be badly outweighed in the tussle but they have showed such a fighting spirit this season that they may be able to pull out a win. The game will be played under the lights at Shaw field. Nearly 1,000 reserve seat tickets have been sold for the game. A few are still available at the LeFors and McLean high school offices.

RICE OWLS TO TRY PORKERS ON SATURDAY

SOUTHERN METHODIST TO PLAY TEXAS AGGIES

BY BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.
 The Southwest conference continued a splendid Saturday job of practically eliminating all but three of its championship challengers. When Southern Methodist, Texas A. & M. and the University of Texas terminated the afternoon with tie games they all but stepped out of the titular parade.

A tie count a half game won and a half game lost in Southwest competition, which means the Mustangs, Longhorns, and Aggies each are credited with one loss and one tie. The Baylor Bears, with three conference defeats against them, are completely out of the championship marathon.

The Rice Institute Owls, so far undefeated, the University of Arkansas Porkers with two wins and one tie, and the Texas Christian Frogs, with two victories and one defeat, will have to keep the conference race alive.

Next Saturday's important contest will be in Fayetteville, Ark., where Rice will tangle with the Razorbacks. Rice is on top by virtue of victories over Southern Methodist and Texas. Arkansas trimmed Texas Christian and Baylor, but dropped out of a first place tie Saturday by playing a 7 to 7 tie against A. and M. A defeat for the Porkers will put them in the also-ran class.

Coach Jimmy Klitt's Owls breezed in a 27 to 0 triumph Saturday in a non-conference game with Texas. The Aggies were permitted the Houston squad to retain an undefeated 1934 record.

Other conference games next Saturday will pit Texas A. & M. against Southern Methodist at Dallas and Baylor against the University of Texas. The Aggies will play Christian and Loyola of New Orleans in an inter-sectional game at New Orleans.

The Aggies' furious fourth period rally which tied Arkansas 7 to 7, was Saturday's biggest conference surprise. The Aggies went behind when Arkansas sent P. Rucker across for a touchdown in the second period, and it looked like an Arkansas victory until the final period when the Cadets staged a drive that eventually drove Nash Thompson Jr. through right tackle from the one-yard line for a touchdown. Thompson then kicked goal.

The 7 to 7 deadlock between Southern Methodist and Texas was not a surprise. The teams appeared evenly matched before game time. The Mustangs lagged behind until the third period when Robert Wilson whirled through for 31 yards and a touchdown. Orr kicked the point from placement to knot the count.

Texas Christian unleashed enough power to crush Baylor, 34 to 12. It was an easy game for the Frogs, who stacked up an early lead, coasted through the third period without making an effort to score and then opened up for a pair of touchdowns in the final period.

Because of a powerful backfield in Jim Lawrence, Taldon Manton, Geo. Kline, and Sam Baugh, the Frogs have stepped up as Rice's foremost challenger even though their record is marred by a conference defeat.

Many critics believe the Christians will win the remainder of their conference games and will meet Rice with a change of going into a tie for first place, providing the Owls bump over the Razorbacks in this week's most important game.

of confidence at the start really cost Bowie at least one touchdown, possibly two, and Coach Davidson had tried like sin to convince his proteges that Pampa wasn't so terrifically tough. At that, today, he can tell them: "I told you so." They wouldn't listen to him last week. But they probably will from now on. Bowie gave Pampa one of the hardest games the Harvesters have played, despite its loss. Pampa was beaten by an Oklahoma City team early in the season and has romped to victory in every other game. All in all, the Bears have nothing to be ashamed of. But there should have been a larger crowd in the stadium to see them, win, lose or draw.

Robert Wilson Still Leads In Scoring Battle

By The Associated Press.
 Robert Wilson, Southern Methodist's speedy half back, scored one touchdown Sunday against the University of Texas to retain his lead in the Southwest conference scoring race. Wilson has 42 points. Jim Lawrence, Texas Christian's hard plunging back, is second with 36 points.

The scoring leaders follow:

Player	Points
Wilson, hb, SMU	42
Lawrence, hb, Texas Christian	36
Wallace, hb, Rice	30
Shurford, qb, SMU	30
Gilbreath, hb, Texas	30

STANFORD PLAYS WASHINGTON AND NAVY IRISH ON SATURDAY

Tulane And Louisiana State Meet Colgate And George Washington This Week.

BY HERBERT W. PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.
 NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Despite the week-end's spectacular developments the football situation—sectionally, that is—was virtually unchanged today.

Nothing that occurred in the sanguinary battling of last week when Army, Dartmouth, and Chicago all were whipped for the first time, could shake such standouts as Minnesota, Alabama, Stanford, Princeton, Rice, Illinois, Santa Clara, Navy, Tulane, Syracuse, Louisiana State, and Michigan State from their "penthouse" positions atop the football world.

Crucial engagements loom both for Stanford and Rice on Saturday. Faced by Big Bobby Grayson, Stanford looked more and more like the class of the Pacific Coast conference in wallowing U. C. L. A., 27-0, last week but the Indians will have to vault Washington's undefeated and untied huskies in their next engagement. The Owls of Rice south west leaders return to conference camp "lunch" after a 27-0 "breather" with Texas A. & I. to face Arkansas, unbeaten but tied surprisingly by Texas A. & M.

Otherwise, the temporary leaders are menaced mostly by inter-sectional rivals this week. Navy, whose great back, Buzz Borries, led the Midshipmen to a decisive 25-0 rout of Washington and Lee, will travel to Cleveland to meet Notre Dame, thoroughly whipped by Pitt, 19-0. Pitt, meanwhile, hopes her galaxy of fleet backs will be able to get loose for a touchdown or two against Nebraska, Big Six leader at Lincoln, at least one perfect record will go by the boards when Michigan State and Syracuse collide at Syracuse.

Two of the Southeastern conference contenders, Tulane and Louisiana State, will travel into the north with the former getting the toughest assignment—a battle at New York with Colgate's Red Raiders. Louisiana, meanwhile, will tackle George Washington in the national capital. Minnesota, whose rugged line and star collection of backs, Lund, Alfonso, Kostka, et al., buried Michigan, 34-0, under a second half assault, should continue its march to at least a share in the Big Ten title against Indiana. Illinois, which capitalized on one early break to down Army in a driving run, encounters Northwestern, while Purdue, the only other undefeated conference contender after its sectional 28-20 conquest of Chicago, tackles Iowa next.

Princeton, getting a "breather" with Lehigh after its 19-0 victory over Harvard, and Alabama, Southeastern's powerhouse, meeting Clemson, should win easily. Santa Clara's Broncos, whose tie with Stanford and 20-0 verdict over California projected them right into the national spotlight, have an open date.

Summarized, sectional prospects and programs for the week are about as follows:

JAPS GO WILD OVER BABE RUTH AT BALL GAME

65,000 CHEER BABE RUTH AS AMERICANS WIN

TOKYO, Nov. 5 (AP)—Capacity crowds of 65,000 jammed into Meiji stadium and went wild over Babe Ruth as a group of big league baseball stars from the United States trounced two over-awed teams of Japanese all-stars.

The barn-storming American team trimmed the Nippon all-stars 5 to 1 today after running away with a 17 to 1 affair against the Tokyo all-stars in their debut yesterday.

The fans idolized the Babe, although he failed to get a homer in either game, and in turn he was greatly impressed with their courtesy and eagerness to see the runs pile up, even if they were all on one side.

Two homers by Earl Averill and one apiece by Lou Gehrig and Jimmy Foxx accounted for all of the scoring in the second when he hit for the circuit after Gehrig had walked. Averill followed with another in the same inning. Gehrig got his four-bagger in the third and Averill his second in the seventh.

Undismayed by the reputations of the American wrecking crew, Date pitched courageously, refusing to be disheartened even when the sluggers' drives fell among the scrambling fans in distant stands.

The Babe singled once, walked once, flied out twice and grounded out once. Both of his flies were deep into right field and possibly would have been good for homers in the less massive American parks.

His clowning on the field, where he played the last six innings, kept the crowd in an appreciative up-pour.

The lone Japanese run was unearned. It came as the result of a hit batsman, a wild throw by Catcher Hayes and an outfield fly.

18-Year-Old Boy Has Good Season In Plains Golf

AMARILLO, Nov. 5 (AP)—John Munn, 18-year-old Amarillo golfer who scarcely knows what it is to shoot over 70 plans to get into big-time play before he is 20.

Starting his golf career at the age of 15, Munn went through two years of high school competition without losing a match, then set out to smash a remarkable sub-par scoring record in the Panhandle-Plains region of Texas.

The youthful links star, who never had an instructor, won the 1933 South Plains invitation tournament with seven under par for 36 holes, the Lubbock city with 27 under par for 90 holes; the 1934 Amarillo city with 27 under par for 87 holes; and the Amarillo municipal meet with 38 under par for 86 holes.

Munn's latest showing, branding him as a potential outstanding player, was his victory in the Amarillo open. He shot 22 under par for 94 holes, to lead the field by a wide margin.

A new unit is being constructed at the Borden town prison farm, Trenton, N. J., at a cost of $1,000,000. Some 500 prisoners will be housed.
