

SENATE PASSES $5,000,000 BOND BILL WITH PROVISIONS TO CUT ROLLS

BOARD WOULD DECIDE PLEAS OF APPLICANTS

CONTROL BOARD WOULD BE GIVEN RELIEF POWERS

AUSTIN, Sept. 15 (AP)—The Texas senate today passed and returned to the house of representatives a bill to issue $5,000,000 additional state relief bonds and prescribe rules for expenditure of proceeds. One opposing vote was cast on final passage.

General agreement with views of the house was reached by adoption of amendments from the floor, although there were differences on many points. Next week the house either will concur in the changes or dispatch the bill to a conference committee for adjustment of differences. The bill passed contained the text of the senate measure but held the house bill status.

Amount of the issue was trimmed from $9,500,000 to $5,000,000, which was $1,000,000 less than voted by the house, by a one-vote margin on adoption of an amendment by Senator Joe Moore of Greenville. A bond issue of $2,000,000 was approved by the electorate last year and $10,500,000 have been sold.

The senate included a budget provision, which was rejected by the house, to restrict expenditures to $1,000,000 in November and $1,500,000 monthly in December and January, leaving $1,000,000 in October.

Transfers Powers

Both houses were in agreement on the policy of transferring relief administration from the present nine-member Texas relief commission to the three-member board of control. The senate would retain the Texas relief commission as an entity, constituting its membership as that of the board of control, while the house also would abolish the commission in name.

As a step toward ultimate transfer of relief costs to local agencies, the senate wrote into its bill a provision requiring counties and municipalities, if able, to pay all local administrative costs.

After the amendment was once defeated and resubstituted, it was altered to permit the state agency to pay any or all of local administrative costs if the local agencies were unable.

Senators Predicted the Provision Would Effect Economies in the Cost of Distributing Relief.

Numerous provisions designed to reduce relief rolls were contained in the bill which Senator J. W. E. H. Beck of DeKalb was author. It would create county advisory boards to pass on eligibility of relief applicants, require applicants to be bona fide residents of Texas for at least a year and to make sworn statements showing necessity for aid and deny relief to persons who refused private employment within 10 days prior to their application.

Employment of persons who otherwise would be objects of relief for other than technical work would be mandatory upon the state agency. Strong anti-needism provisions, prohibiting employment of close kin of employees of county, state and federal governments receiving salaries of $100 or more a month, were placed in the bill.

House and senate provisions both prohibited expenditure of more than 50 per cent of bond proceeds for direct relief. The senate would permit use of twenty per cent of the funds for materials and equipment on work projects, five per cent for hospitalization and three per cent additional for care of tubercular indigents. It would permit

Gray County's Exhibit Delayed By New Limit

Gray county's agricultural exhibit at the Tri-State fair was started Friday, but not finished because of an extension of time to Monday for completion.

Good samples of fruits, vegetables, grains, and alfalfa have been obtained, also some fair cotton. However, there is a shortage of red top cane with which to dress up the exhibit. The exhibit is expected to be creditable when completed, and fairly representative of the agricultural resources of the county.

Ralph Thomas, county agent, is arranging the exhibit, assisted by George Biggs of the B. C. D. Miss Ruby Adams, home demonstration agent, is an assistant in judging one of the women's divisions of the fair this year. A number of Gray county women have entries, as also do some of the farmers.

'GET OUT,' JOHNSON IS TOLD

Know Your County: Here is proof that fruit can be grown successfully and abundantly in Gray!

Above, in full bloom, the L. L. Palmer apple orchard north of Alameda was beautiful beyond description last spring. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer, left, posed for The NEWS photographer last Sunday amid the ripening fruit, bins of which are shown in the lower picture. Hall knocked 1,000 bushels of the apples from the trees Sunday afternoon. This and other orchards along McClellan creek prove that central Gray county can be made a productive garden spot.

CENTRAL GRAY GARDEN SPOT OF THIS AREA

Palmer Apple Trees Provide Pretty Picture

By OLIN E. HINKLE, Managing Editor, THE NEWS
Central Gray county may be merely a sandy ranch area to some folks, but sub-irrigated lands along the streams will grow most anything that will grow in this section and in most parts of the plains. It is a garden spot waiting for development.
But not all of it. Some of the finest apples and some of the finest cotton are being grown there. A visit to the Bruce Nurseries and the Hill, Griffin, or Palmer apple orchards will be a revelation to many persons who imagine that this is purely a wheat, cotton and cattle country.
Take the L. L. Palmer place north of Alameda, for instance. The Palmers have one of the biggest and finest apple orchards in this section. Not even the drought and recent hail storms could prevent their raising a fair crop. The hall knocked off 1,000 bushels of ripening apples, carpeting the 12-acre orchard with the fruit, but it left more apples than that on the trees. October is the big apple month in this section.
The family moved to the present location in 1918 from Donley county. Since that time their trees—400 by actual count—have been their hobby. It has meant much hard work. The Palmers are pleasant, substantial folk who enjoy seeing things

Russia Becomes Member Of League

COUNCIL SEAT IS ALLOCATED SOVIET UNION

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY IS NOT PREREQUISITE TO MEMBERSHIP

GENEVA, Sept. 15. (AP)—The union of soviet socialist republics today formally accepted an invitation extended by some thirty countries to join the League of Nations, and was expected to become a member early next week.

At a special session of the league council, Russia at the same time was allocated a permanent council seat, thus gaining the same importance among the select powers of Europe as countries like England, France and Italy.

The soviet union's acceptance, however, contained a warning that Russia would not submit to arbitration conflicts involving her prior to her entry to the league.

Allocation of the council seat must be approved by the league assembly, to which the question of Russia's new place on the council will be in one of two vacant seats, left empty by the withdrawal of Germany and Japan last year.

All the nations of continental Europe participated in the invitation, with the exception of Switzerland, Belgium, Holland, Portugal and Luxembourg.

Great Britain and all the British commonwealths, signed, excepting the Irish free state. The invitation also bore the names of Chile, Haiti, Uruguay and Mexico. The Scandinavian countries sent a separate invitation.

The names of both resigning powers entered frequently into the weeks of discussions that preceded the Russian election today. The tension between Russia and Japan in the Far East is well known. The German angle lay in the fact that France was the main sponsor in the move to seat Russia in the council.

What opposition there was to the Russian election was not strong. Argentina, Portugal, and Panama abstained from voting.

A movement to require a pledge from Russia that she would give religious liberty to the foreigners in her midst apparently died aborning. Right up until the time of the telegraphic dispatch of the invitation to Moscow, efforts were made to specify such a pledge along the lines of the assurance given the United States when that country recognized the soviet government.

It was revealed today that the drive toward organizing Europe on a peace basis has been accentuated by a decision of the Balkan powers in favor of a Mediterranean pact which would include Italy and such nations as Turkey, Greece, Yugoslavia and Rumania.
Now that Russia's league membership is assured, the Associated Press was given to understand that France and England will direct new efforts toward bringing about some sort of an eastern European securities pact, similar to the Locarno pact, in which Germany and Poland would feel they could participate.

Every Pitch Is a "Strike"

These strikers are living up to their name, as they pitch strikes through windows of a factory at Saylesville, R. I., where bloody clashes between 3,000 mill workers and their sympathizers and 1,200 militiamen resulted in four being seriously wounded and dozens of others injured. Marksmen hurled stones at their fellow workers cheer them on.

Colonel and His Lady Land at Roswell, New Mexico

ROSSELL, N. M., Sept. 15. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Anne Lindbergh landed at the Roswell airport late today after flying from Woodward, Okla.

Although Colonel Lindbergh refused to reveal their destination, it was thought from remarks made to the airport attendant that the famous couple plan to spend the night in El Paso.

As usual Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh followed their "not speaking for publication" rule, and whether or not their visit to this city was accidental or on purpose was not divulged.

They landed at the local airport at 4:15 p. m. and within ten minutes several hundred people congregated at the airport to get their first glimpse of the noted couple.
They refused several invitations to spend the night here and visit the famed Carlsbad Caverns.

WOODWARD, Okla., Sept. 15. (AP)—Their enforced stay at a modest ranch near here ended, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Anne winged their way to Roswell, N. M. in a new airplane today while scores of farmers and ranchers boasted they had "seen Lindy."

Since Thursday the Colonel and his wife had been welcome guests at the ranch home of Homer Aitkens. They were on an inspection tour of airports when a motor "froz" over the Aitkens corn field and the Lindberghs descended.

While they awaited another plane from St. Louis, Lindbergh milked a cow, rode horse back, helped do the chores and chatted about crops and farm loans. And Anne helped Mrs. Aitkens prepare the meals.

RESIGNATION DEMANDED BY STRIKE HEADS

CLAIM NRA CHIEF HAS BEEN PARTIAL TO EMPLOYERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—Strike leaders demanded the immediate resignation of Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, today as the great textile industrial conflict approached a crisis which may result in the personal intervention of President Roosevelt.

Replying to Johnson's accusation that union officials called the strike in violation of their pledged word, Francis J. Gorman, national strike chairman, charged the NRA head with untruthfulness and partiality to the employers.

"He has demonstrated his utter unfitness to hold public office," said Gorman. "We demand that he resign forthwith."
Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers, against whom Johnson's charge was directed denied the accusation. At Pawtucket, R. I., he declared the NRA leader was "endeavoring again to make it appear that this is a strike against the government."

George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, praised Johnson for "definitely speaking propaganda effectively used in many mill centers" to the effect that the government and the NRA are supporting and encouraging the textile strike.

The weekend calm on the strike front was punctuated, meanwhile, by the explosion of a dynamite bomb which shattered windows for fifty feet along the front of the E. M. Holt plaid mill at Burlington, N. C. It was "like an earthquake," residents of the town said.

President Roosevelt put in at Newport, R. I., and conferred with Secretary Dern and Maj. Gen. Fog Canner on the new subdued strike

Repair Loans to Be Decided This Week by Group

Two developments in the Pampa housing situation are expected to take more definite form this week.

One is that Senator R. A. Stewart of Fort Worth, federal representative, is to announce a date on which he can come to Pampa to help plan the financing of loans here. The other is that a group of local men will decide whether they are to form a company to provide some of the necessary funds.

Since the government does not provide the funds, but merely a partial guarantee against losses by private lenders, its service is to encourage loans rather than to make them.

Fire Is Put Out While Mann Waits

The Pampa fire department has started giving curb service. The new system of extinguishing fires was introduced at 2 o'clock yesterday morning when John Mann drove up to the fire station with his new automobile on fire.

Mr. Mann and other passengers in the car, who were returning home for a party, aroused firemen who responded, half dressed, and extinguished the burning wire. The blaze had apparently ignited from crossed radio wires.

The fire was discovered while Mr. Mann was driving in front of the Eagle Buffet. He immediately backed the car to the front of the fire station, where the new service was introduced.

U. S. Sold Germans Planes

Hearing to Reveal Mystery Fleet Was Smuggled in; Shipped by U. S., Britons.

(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—The senate munitions investigating committee intends to disclose next week evidence indicating that Germany has assembled a sizeable mystery fleet of war planes.

Data has been uncovered relating that the planes were smuggled in piecemeal through North Sea ports, and then assembled. The committee has further evidence that such shipments came from both the United States and Great Britain as well as Sweden.

The senate investigators will attempt to prove that camouflaged engines, parts and other equipment were brought in under misleading labels and shipping invoices.

In addition to forthcoming testimony along these lines, the committee lifted the cover today on material placed in the record late yesterday, almost without examination. Among other things were documents reporting that:

Huge stores of arms have been shipped from Italy into Australia and Hungary;

Sixty bombing and fighting planes, carrying full bomb racks and complete gas equipment, were delivered from Italy to Hungary by air;

A great store of gas was delivered by rail from Italy into Austria, and presumably into Hungary, over a ten months period "without anyone noticing the shipments."

The committee, in addition to airplane testimony, intends to turn a spotlight next week on the manufacture and distribution of poison gas. Investigators held evidence today that four great powers are equipping themselves with cellophane gas masks against any pos-

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Liquidation finished in financial market at the week-end today and stocks straightened out sufficiently to make feeble rallying efforts.

Weakness persisted in spots in the share lists and heaviness still ruled in bonds including U. S. government issues. Commodities were steady.

Labor worries and administration policies still dominated the talk in the financial community.

Week-end short-covering and some buying by traders on the possibility the market might rally from its current test of the July lows furnished most of the moderate support for equities. Gains were small as a rule, however, and final prices mixed.

The Standard Statistics Co. average for 50 selected issues rose four-tenths of a point to 87.7, but still was only about a point above the July 26 low. Utility shares made another new 1934 low by a small margin.

The turnover was 314,670 shares, compared with 211,400 last Saturday.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15. (P)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade at midwestern markets this week felt the depressing influence of a slow demand for both dressed beef and fresh pork at eastern markets. The weaker tone prevailed at all times on fed steers and yearlings, but it was mid-week before packers made any appreciable headway in breaking prices. From Wednesday on, it was a buyers' market on beef steers, yearlings and fed steers. Current prices on beef steers and yearlings are weak to unevenly lower than a week ago. Some markets showed losses of 50 or more. Demand for stockers and feeders was less active and high quality offerings holding about steady, with the general market weak to 25 lower. Aggregate receipts of commercial cattle at eleven markets totaled around 267,000 as compared with 260,210 last week and 295,458 the corresponding period a year ago.

Hog prices broke sharply the first part of the week, but a reaction on late sessions left quotations unevenly 10-30 lower than last Saturday. St. Louis had a late top of 7.25. Total offerings of around 293,700 were 17,000 short of last week and 12,500 under a year ago.

Fed lambs are 25-75 lower than a week ago while yearlings and aged sheep are steady to 25 lower. Feeding lambs shared part of the decline on slaughter lambs. The week's supply approximated 424,000 against 378,436 last week and 410,400 a year ago.

President Takes Hand in Yacht Race
NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15. (P)—President Roosevelt took a hand in the first Endeavor-Rainbow race for the America's cup today.

As the two yachts rounded the weather mark, several vessels, notably the destroyer Manley, carrying newspaper cameramen, made too close to the challenger so as to interfere with her wind.

President Roosevelt, who was following the race from a vantage point aboard Vincent Astor's yacht, Nourmahal, promptly radioed a message to the Manley to get out of the way.

The president's cryptic message said: "Are you challenging the Endeavor?"

SEPT. 15 1934

DRINK TEXANS: To the anniversary of a new era!
To the happy solution of a long-standing problem! To the joy of temperate, healthful, intelligent living! . . . and PROSPERITY!

ONE YEAR OF LEGALIZED BEER IN TEXAS HAS BROUGHT TO OUR STATE

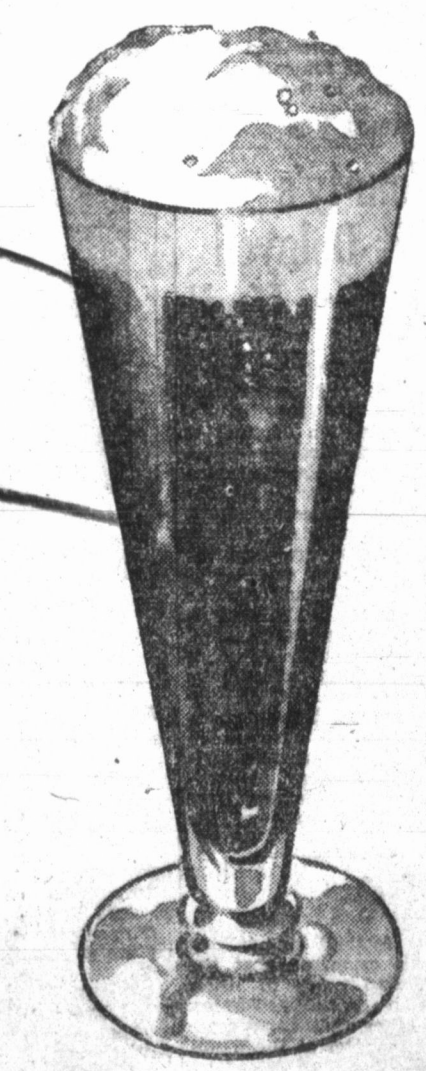

Millions of dollars in added revenue absorbing an alarming deficit without additional taxes on already burdened institutions and individuals.

A major solution to the problem of unemployment; a business stimulus to the basic industries by creating new jobs in every field of activity, and a demand for materials, supplies, transportation, and building which hasn't existed since before the depression.

An ever decreasing bondage under the terrors and evils of racketeering which grew out of justifiable disrespect of prohibition laws and their administration.

The attention and respect from a nation which is loud in its praise of the manner in which this State long since a champion of temperance, judiciously handled this social problem. The creative, successful manner of subsequent administration of the new law has received wide acclaim.

Last, but not least, the last year has brought us face to face with the simple, refined joys of temperate living, unhampered by interference with personal liberty and opinion, which the American people have long respected and have a right to demand.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS!

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, Sept. 15. (P)—Aggressive speculative buying lifted grain prices at times today, but late profit-taking sales virtually wiped out advances.

One leading trader was alone credited with purchasing about a million bushels of wheat for May delivery. Mills were also said to have been active buyers.

Predictions of widespread possible frost tonight were a strengthening factor until corn crop experts here expressed doubts that frosts now would result in serious damage.

Wheat closed irregularly lower to higher compared with yesterday's.

GANGLING SOPH FROM VERNON LOOKING GOOD

RALPH LAFORGE SHOWS UP BEST IN HOG CAMP

HOUSTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—The Rice Institute team that Coach Jimmy Kitts next Saturday at New Orleans will start against Loyola university Saturday afternoon locked only fair in a torrid scrimmage.

In the first few minutes the Rice first stringers gained freely, but when the other boys warmed to the task yardage was very hard to gain.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 15. (AP)—Ralph LaForge, the University of Arkansas' rabbit quarterback, flashed mid-season form today in the Packer's first scrimmage session, racing forty yards for one touchdown and gaining consistently all afternoon.

Mud and cold weather failed to halt the Razorbacks as they went through a snappy drill.

Criswell, 200-pound fullback, tore through the opposing line almost at will. Six regulars were kept out of the scrimmage because of minor injuries but all were expected back next week.

AUSTIN, Sept. 15. (AP)—Paul Taylor, gangling sophomore of Vernon, recently switched from end to tackle, was the life of an otherwise drab and unimpressive scrimmage session Saturday between the University of Texas first team and an assortment of candidates for the second, third and fourth teams.

Flashing a brand of pep and spirit seldom seen in initial scrimmage sessions, the gangling Vernon tackle slashed through the team's line to smear play after play, while Line Coach Tim Moynihan looked on approvingly.

The Steer squad, as a whole was ragged on defense and only ordinary on offense.

Dallas Steers Whip Galveston In 3-2 Battle

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 15 (AP)—Stanley Schino, husky rightfielder, lifted the Dallas Steers back into the Texas league championship fight here tonight when he bugged-whipped a pair of home runs over the centerfield wall to beat Galveston, 3 to 2.

The Buccaneers lead, 2 to 1, in the give game Shaugnessy played off the fourth melee will be played here tomorrow.

Schino's circuit wallop, coupled with little Sal Ghattio's four hit pitching, prevented Galveston from closing out the series tonight with three consecutive victories. Ghattio easily conquered Slim Jim Bivin on the mound. Bivin allowed nine hits and was constantly having to bear down and pitch out of tight situations.

Terrific hitting apparently is what modern baseball fans like and they saw plenty of it tonight. With the score 2 to 2 in the last of the ninth inning, Schino first up, clouted the first pitched ball over the right center fence, breaking the deadlock and sending a crowd of 10,000 persons home just when they had settled down to

Ross Ordered to Box Canzoneri

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. (AP)—Amid all the troubles Barney Ross is having to get rid of one welterweight title challenger, Jimmy McLarin, the New York state athletic commission today ordered him to accept within 60 days the lightweight title challenge of Tony Canzonera, former champion.

Canzoneri posted a forfeit check for $2,500 with the challenge and both were accepted by the commission. Ross won Canzoneri's lightweight title in Chicago in June last year and again repelled him in a fifteen-round match in September.

Tony meets Harry Dublinsky, of Chicago, in a return match here Oct. 5, but the result will not affect the commission's decision. Dublinsky, who beat Canzoneri earlier in the summer is considered a welterweight.

Richest Race Is Won By Big Colt

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. (AP)—A big brown colt, which made eight trips to the post before he was able to account for the first of his two previous victories, today won the world's richest horse race, J. E. Widener's Chance Sun, threw mud and water into the faces of thirteen of the leading two-year-olds to take the $100,000 maturity at Belmont Park.

Given only an 8 to 1 chance to whip such great juveniles as E. E. Bradley's Balladier, and Mrs. Dodge Sionne's Psychic Bid, Chance Sun stepped past the judges stand with four lengths to spare over the Bradley ace and holder of the track record for the six and one-half furlongs. Mrs. Payne Whitney's Plat Eye was another half-length back in third place, leading William Woodward's Omaha by the same distance.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN FOUND

ELECTRA, Sept. 15 (AP)—The body of an unidentified man was found today submerged in the mud of China creek five miles north-east of Electra. Elmer and Lester Eckelcamp, who were repairing a line fence washed out by recent rains, discovered the decomposed remains and notified their father, Herman Eckelcamp who notified officers here.

FORD offers this NEW SERVICE

... Instead of an "Overhaul" - a factory reconditioned engine

Every mechanism, no matter how finely made, eventually wears and must be reconditioned. Automobile engines are no exception.

The Ford V-8 is the finest, most dependable and most rugged engine Ford has ever built. But there comes a time when any piece of machinery should be reconditioned to renew the efficiency originally built into it.

The Factory that built this engine is best equipped to recondition it. Here are the men, the precision equipment and the inspection methods which insure the excellence of the engine in the first place. Therefore the Ford Motor Company has instituted this exclusive new service to owners of Ford cars and trucks. When the owner of any Ford built since 1927 finds that his engine needs an "overhaul", he can have a factory reconditioned engine—at approximately half the cost of an old-fashioned "overhaul".

The Ford owner not only gets a much better job at far less cost—but only a few hours are required to make the exchange.

This "Exchange Plan", which also includes many other units of Ford cars and trucks is an important forward step in automotive practice.

On Cruise With America's Cup Challenger

Towering majestically in almost her full spread of snowy canvas comes the Endeavour, bearing Great Britain's 15th challenge for the America's Cup. Miss Margaret Bourke-White, America's most famous photographic artist, snapped this picture exclusively for this newspaper as T. O. M. Sopwith's racing yacht took a starboard tack on the course of the international contest off Newport, R. I., against Harold S. Vanderbilt's Rainbow, defender of the America's Cup. So light was the

"ghosting" breeze that the English skipper ordered up the billowing parachute spinnaker, which is dipping the sea on the port side. Those holes are designed to spill the wind so that every breath of air can be utilized.

HUEY P. LONG CALLS PRIMARY NULL AND VOID

'Kingfish' Now Mad Because Dead Man Wasn't Elected

CROWLEY, La., Sept. 15. (P)—Huey Long threw Louisiana into a new uproar today by having a displeasing primary election declared "null and void."

Fighting the nomination in Tuesday's primary of Judge Thomas F. Porter as a state supreme court justice, the "Kingfish" descended on the district democratic executive committee here today, expelled the chairman and had a new election called for October 9.

The Louisiana "dictator" was angered because Porter was nominated when his candidate, Justice Winston Overton, died three days before the election, leaving Porter unopposed.

Playing his arms and shouting for a "free expression of the people at the polls," the picturesque "Kingfish" threatened to call a special session of the legislature if attempts were made to buck his wishes. He controls the legislature.

T. Arthur Edwards, chairman of the democratic committee, declared Porter should be certified as the nominee because the law provides that when a candidate dies within seven days of an election no new candidates may file.

As only two other members of the committee sided with Edwards' views, and 10 were inclined to agree with Long, the committee deposed the chairman and named J. Cleveland Fruge in his place.

It took the committee only a short while then, under Long's direction, to declare last Tuesday's primary "null and void" and to call a new election for October 9. Candidates in the new election will have until September 26 to file notice of their intention to run.

Judge Porter, who appeared before the committee in his own behalf, intimated he would carry a fight through the courts.

Long contended that Overton's death three days before the election, leaving Porter unopposed, gave the people no chance to express their wishes.

Despite Overton's death, he received almost half as many votes as Porter.

Lieutenant-Governor John B. Fournet also came here for the committee meeting, and it was freely reported he would be Long's candidate in the new election.

Freight Rates Greatly Reduced

AUSTIN, Sept. 15. (P)—A helping hand to drought stricken cattle raisers in 239 Texas counties was extended by the Texas railroad commission today in the form of an emergency order drastically reducing freight rates on livestock feed, water and cattle.

Acting on its own accord the commission reestablished emergency drought freight rates that expired several weeks ago. The reduction will become effective Monday and continue for sixty days. The commission issued its order after railroads failed voluntarily to reduce their tariffs. Hay and water, in carloads, will take fifty per cent of the regular tariff; whole grain, animal and poultry feeds 66 and 2-3 per cent and livestock 85 per cent with the privilege of returning stock at 15 per cent of the full tariff.

Movie Actor Is Held by Indians In Jungle Jail

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 15. (P)—An appeal for aid drifted into civilization out of the Mottio Grosso fastnesses today from Albert De Winton, 66-year-old Los Angeles movie actor who for more than a year has been exploring the jungle in a lone search for the lost British explorer, Col. P. H. Fawcett.

The message asked that the United States consul here and the Brazilian government extricate him from the hands of the Inaurita Indians deep in the jungle along an uncharted river.

The Indian service said it was "unlikely the Brazilian government would interest itself in a rescue inasmuch as Winton's quest is private and unofficial."

It was indicated that should the United States consul take action on the basis of an unconfirmed report that Winton is a naturalized American, the governmental machinery might move too slowly to bring aid in time.

Euphrasio Cunha, director of the Jose museum in Cuyaba, capital of Matto Grosso, forwarded the appeal — dated May 22, 1934 — last night and it was delivered today to the minister of agriculture here.

For nine years the jungle fastnesses of interior Brazil have shrouded the fate of Col. P. H. Fawcett.

In 1925 the Briton, with his son and one other white man, plunged into the wilds in search of a hidden city which he believed would prove that South America, and not the valley of the Euphrates, is the cradle of civilization.

Numerous searching parties have set out on Fawcett's trail, only to return empty-handed. One went into the back country more than a year ago and has not been heard from.

Nazi Lutherans Turn on Bishop

NURNBERG, Sept. 15. (P)—A group of Nazi Lutherans today turned on Bishop Hans Meisser of Bavaria — last high dignitary of the Reich church to oppose Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller — demanding Bishop Meisser's immediate removal.

"Bishop Meisser," declared a resolution passed by the South German Federation of Evangelical Christians, a Nazi unit, "pledged loyalty last January to Adolf Hitler. Three months later he broke this pledge.

"He has been proved a faithless, perfidious traitor to Hitler and the Third Reich, a Judas. He has committed the treason against the German people. The patience of the evangelical populations is exhausted. The people will take the protection of their church into their own hands."

Little Shoots Best Golf Since Bobby Jones To Defeat Texan For Title

DAVE GOLDMAN DALLAS METAL WORKER, LOSES

CALIFORNIAN WINS BY 8 AND 7 WITH SUB-PAR GOLF

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
BROOKLINE, Mass., Sept. 15 (AP)—William Lawson Little Jr., the strapping 24-year-old Stanford University student, today became the world's amateur golf champion by flattening David (Spec) Goldman, a courageous young Texan, by 8 and 7, in the final round of the United States amateur tournament.

Little steam-rollered his way to triumph with much the same crushing power he employed to lift the British amateur crown last May. He thus became the third golfer in history to hold both of the great amateur trophies in the same year. Harold H. Hilton of England and Robert T. Jones Jr. of Georgia were the others but neither swept to the heights with any more devastating golf than the San Francisco "seige gun" did.

played in spread-eagling his opposition at home and abroad. Goldman, a 25-year-old Dallas metal worker, was caught in a barrage of sub-par golf and simply could not get out from under it. "Spec" as game a fighter as they come won the first hole and in the Californian even through the first eight holes but thereafter his own resources began to crumble and he was literally battered to defeat by one of the greatest and most accurate exhibitions of sheer hitting power ever witnessed in a national amateur tournament.

Shoots a 69
Little shot the second round in 69, two under par—the finest round of the entire tournament—to become five up. He showered Goldman with a string of birdies in the afternoon, never relaxing the pressure and ended the one-sided encounter on the 29th green.

The clouting Californian, many of whose tee shots carried close to 300 yards, never was in anything resembling serious trouble during the entire match and on neither occasion was he in the sand. With six birdies and only three holes where he went over par, Little was three under par for the 29 holes.

His margin of triumph wasn't as lop-sided as the final match in the British amateur, where he walloped James Wallace, the Scotch carpenter, 14 and 13. It was convincing enough, however, to leave no doubt whatever that Little is the absolute master of amateur ranks, at home and abroad, for the time being.

In succeeding the title lost earlier in this week's tournament by George T. Dunlap Jr., of New York, the Californian won seven successive matches without being extended. It was the nearest thing to a one-man tournament since Bobby Jones retired, for Little was the outstanding favorite from start to finish.

First California Title
The first Californian to win either the British or American amateur titles, Little has shot spectacularly to the twin peaks of golf. Five years ago he was just a youthful slugger best known as "the man who beat the man who whipped Jones." That was at Pebble Beach, when Little defeated Johnny Goodman, who had conquered Jones in the first round of

Giants Put Their Hearts Into This Game

Are the Giants nervous before a ball game? Do they worry about the stuff the opposing pitcher might have? Are they afraid of possible injuries sliding or at the plate? No, they have no worries except who is going to get that queen of spades in their daily game of hearts that lasts until the bell brings them onto the field for practice. Here are some of them in the clubhouse handling the pastebards. Reading clockwise from Johnny Vergez, No. 7, are Joe Bowman, Hal Schumacher, hiding behind Joe, Carl Hubbell, Mel Ott, Joe Moore and Gus Mancuso.

the national tournament. The best he ever had done before was to reach the 1933 semifinals, where he lost to Dunlap. He made the Walker Cup team this year for the first time. Concentrating on the improvement of his game, mainly under the tutelage of Tommy Armour, the Californian suddenly began to combine accuracy and steadiness with his terrific power. The result is a golfing machine which looks to be the nearest to "a sure thing" in golf since Jones retired in 1930.

Little's most exciting shots included a 35-foot putt which he ran down for a birdie three and his 69 in the morning, and a series of dazzling approach shots during the outgoing stretch this afternoon. On the 22nd and 24th holes, he came within 28 inches of holing out for eagles and on the 25th, measuring 185 yards, he fired a maulie iron within 2-1/2 feet of the cup for his third birdie within four holes.

Little didn't have a single three-putt. The nearest to mistakes that he made with his putter were when he missed a four-footer for a birdie on the 11th hole and failed to get down a downhill six footer on the 23rd. Both were ticklish putts, however, and he more than made up for them with eight single-putt greens.

For Goldman, the turning point came at the ninth. All square, going to this 430-yarder, the Texan's second shot flew into a clump of bushes and was ruled out of bounds by President Herbert Jacques of the United States golf association. Goldman then conceded the hole. He still had a fighting chance at that stage but on the 10th and 11th, feeling the pressure of Little's marvelous approach shots, he tried too hard for birdies, with the result he not only missed them but three-putted each time.

Curt Davis failed to hold the visitors in the opening encounter, while costly wild throws by Dic Bartell and Lou Chiozza gave the Pirates the second game in the ninth.

TIGERS RECOVER
DETROIT, Sept. 15. (AP)—The Tigers found the batting punch that they have been seeking for several days but they didn't need much of it to smack the Senators into submission, 12-2, today. The triumph kept them 4 1/2 games ahead of the Yankees and wiped out the third-place Cleveland Indians' final chance to tie for the flag. The victory kept the Yanks 4 1/2 games behind Detroit with 13 games to go.

Murphy limited the tribe to four hits. New York ... 100 100 000—2 7 0 Cleveland ... 010 000 000—1 4 1 Murphy and Jorgens; Pearson and Bereg. Boston-Chicago—postponed, rain. Philadelphia-St. Louis—Postponed, rain.

Advance sale of tickets has been brisk. Another large crowd is expected to be on hand to see the fourth card of the year. The card will be headed by a 10-round bout between Billy McDonald, 155, of Amarillo and Tiger Gibson, 167, of Oklahoma City. If Gibson is the winner, he will be challenged by K. O. Brown of Amarillo, who recently wrestled the light-heavyweight title from Schoolboy of El Paso.

Kid Mitchell, 160, of Hot Springs, Ark., the loose-jointed boy who can make his body do all kinds of tricks to miss blows, will tangle with Tom Martin, 175, of Amarillo, in the eight-round semi-final. It is hoped to be a second main event.

Benny Whitmore, 192#, of Amarillo and Verdell Bowie, 128, of Borger, will sling leather in the six-round special event. The two youngsters are fighting cocks.

John Henderson of Waco and Leson Talley of Kaufman, two light-heavyweights, will meet in the preliminary at 8 o'clock.

Reserve seat tickets are available at Pampa Drug No. 1, Rex Barber Shop and the Pla-Mor.

LeFors to Open Season Friday Against Bucks

The LeFors Pirates will open the 1934 football season Friday night when the White Deer Bucks invade the Gray county city for a game under the new lights at Shaw Park. Game time will be 8:15 o'clock with admission 35 cents for adults and 15 cents for students.

It will be a non-conference game and a meeting of old rivals. White Deer and LeFors teams have been battling each other for years, with honors about evenly divided. Both squads will be young but promising. Seats along the west side of the playing field will accommodate nearly 2,000 fans. Additional seats are being made for the east side of the field.

LeFors coaches were well pleased with the showing made by their charges in a scrimmage session with the Harvesters last Thursday afternoon. They declare that the workout was very beneficial and the boys learned a lot about football. Several new prospects were uncovered during the scrimmage.

White Deer has been working hard and opened the season with a win Friday over the Buchanan high school team of Amarillo. The team showed lots of promise.

Mel B. Davis returned Friday from a business trip to Colorado.

BIG AND FAST SANDIES LOOK GREAT AND WILL OUTWEIGH PAMPANS 4 POUNDS PER MAN

Little McLean Team Holds Big Erick Bruisers to a Scoreless Tie Friday.

Coach Odu Mitchell looked over future opposition Friday and came back to Pampa with a serious look on his face. The coach saw the scrimmage between the Amarillo Sandies' A and B teams and then drove to Erick, Okla., where he saw McLean hold the great Erick eleven to a scoreless tie.

Amarillo has another big, fast team in the making. The A squad will outweigh the Harvesters who have been starting most scrimmage sessions by about four pounds to the man. The team showed excellent carrying ability, a good defense, and a backfield that can pass and carry the ball like veterans already.

The big fellows ripped and tore through the B squad for 26 points in the first half and then coasted. The ball carrying of Stidger, Burkin, and Harlow was outstanding. Bufkin and Stidger also hurled many passes into the waiting arms of Peterson and Cochrane, pass snatching ends. The line showed much ability at opening holes and on defense was strong.

McLean took advantage of every break in the game to hold the big Erick eleven to a scoreless draw. They pounced on the ball at every opportunity and generally played mid-season football.

The outstanding feature of the game was the ball carrying of "Midger" Christian, brother of the famous "Crickie" Christian, and Dowell, fleet-footed halfback, who several times ran away from the secondary, only to be nailed by a safety or chased out of bounds before he could cross the line.

The McLean line is light but fast and can charge like a group of "billy goats," in the words of Coach Mitchell, who watched the Little Tigers worry the big Erick eleven until the home club was at a loss to know what to do next.

"The games was the most interesting one I have watched in many years," Coach Mitchell enthusiastically declared yesterday. "It was a pleasure to sit on the sidelines and watch those youngsters take advantage of the breaks."

Erick took the kick-off and marched to the McLean 10-yard line, where the Tigers held. They booted out of danger and when the ball went between the safety's legs, McLean gained possession on the 20-yard line by hitting the ball carrier so hard he fumbled. They took the ball to the 5-yard line before losing it and then started a battle in mid-field that was a thriller.

The fleet McLean backfield ran the ends, passed, and suddenly hit the line for nice gains. The big Erick boys battered the McLean line for long gains but failed on every attempt to put across a counter.

McLean comes to Pampa for a game with the Harvesters October 19.

DECIDING TILT SCHEDULED IN TEXAS LEAGUE

MISSIONS, SHIPPERS ALL SQUARE IN RACE

BEAUMONT, Sept. 15. (AP)—The San Antonio Missions took advantage of four Beaumont errors to trounce the youthful Exporters here today and pull back into the thick of the fight for the Texas league pennant. The result left the clubs with two victories apiece in the play-off series with the final game here tomorrow.

The veteran San Antonio south-paw Hal Wilse, was right today and when he is that way, he is tough for any club in the league to beat. He allowed only five hits and scattered them over as many innings.

Jake Wade started for Beaumont. With the aid of sparkling fielding he got through unscathed until the sixth when the Missions scored three runs, more than enough to win the game.

Steve Larkin for the Shippers and Ash Hillin for the Padres likely will be the pitching choices for the rubber contest. The two tangled at San Antonio in the opening game with Hillin getting the decision but the exporters are confident that the result will be different on home soil.

San Antonio ... 000 003 001—4 6 0 Beaumont ... 000 000 100—1 5 4 Wilse and Heath; Wade, Hare and Lorbeer.

The Pampa high school golf team, composed of Buck Talley, Wilbur Irving, John Austin, Elmer Watkins, and Melvin Watkins, yesterday swept a match from the Amarillo high school team. It marked the third time that a Pampa golf team has defeated an Amarillo team and the first time they have won all matches.

Buck Talley, number 1 player on the Pampa team, was taken 21 holes to win from Jimmie Croom, ace of the Amarillo team. Talley carded a 73 for the 18 holes to be two strokes under Croom. The two young golfers battled on nearly even terms the entire distance, with Talley finally taking the long No. 3 hole with a birdie 4.

Wilbur Irving won his match from Paul Beeler, Amarillo's number 2 player, 4 and 3. John Austin defeated J. P. Moon 4 and 3.

Elmer Watkins won from Wade Holman Jr. 7 and 6. Melvin Watkins defeated Clarence Meyers, 2 and 1.

Sensational

DOC TALLEY.

Doc Talley, pitcher and outfielder with the House of David ball club, has been a member of the cut for 37 years. He will be in the game here against the Road Runners Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week when the House of David team comes to Pampa. Talley has pitched in more than 400 games and played outfield in nearly all other games played by the club. He has traveled more than 415,000 miles with the team and is one of the original "pepper game" artists.

School Golfers Beat Amarillo

The Pampa high school golf team, composed of Buck Talley, Wilbur Irving, John Austin, Elmer Watkins, and Melvin Watkins, yesterday swept a match from the Amarillo high school team. It marked the third time that a Pampa golf team has defeated an Amarillo team and the first time they have won all matches.

Buck Talley, number 1 player on the Pampa team, was taken 21 holes to win from Jimmie Croom, ace of the Amarillo team. Talley carded a 73 for the 18 holes to be two strokes under Croom. ANOTHER GAME TO BE PLAYED MONDAY NIGHT

WESTERN ASSOCIATION CLUB WILL FACE LOCALS

There will be big time baseball at Pampa this afternoon and tomorrow night when the Ponca City Oilers, Western association team, come here for a two-game series with the Road Runners.

The game will be called promptly at 3 o'clock. Admission will be 2 cents for women and 4 cents for men. Tomorrow night's game will be at 8:15 o'clock with the same admission.

Roy Johnson, manager of the Oilers, has a club of hustling youngsters who have been playing big league baseball all season. The team is en route to Los Angeles, which owns the franchise. Most spectacular in the lineup is a 16-year-old third baseman named Messer. He led the league in hitting this year and was one of the outstanding fielders in the association.

Shope at first base is another sensation, while O'Grain and Holdstock are a couple of great fielders. The team has batting strength as well, and the Road Runners are hoped to have their strongest opposition of the year.

The Road Runners have been taking their baseball seriously since their 2 to 1 defeat by El Reno Monday night. They couldn't hit the good pitching dished up by Chody and they apparently realize that they will be up against some more great hurling from Ponca City.

Manager George Bulla will have his entire mound staff ready to duty. Although he has not designated a starting hurler, Lee Dane is hoped to get the nod this afternoon, with Bill Hardin the choice for tomorrow night.

The House of David and the For Worth Cats will also be here this week for five games. The headliners will play Wednesday and Thursday night, with the Cats Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon.

The probable starting line-up: PAMPA—Ponca City: Sheldon, ss; Crawford, 2b; Messier, 3b; Shope, 1b; O'Grain, rf; South, cf; Holdstock, cf; Worth, c; Cereghina or Harris, p.

COUNTERFEITS OF STATE CIGARET STAMPS HAD WIDE CIRCULATION

AUSTIN, Sept. 15. (P)—The startling discovery that counterfeit state cigarette stamps had been widely circulated despite extreme precautions was detailed today in the trial of Charles Pollard, former Texas attorney general.

Pollard is charged with conspiring to a conspiracy to distribute counterfeit tax stamps. Others charged include D. H. Willard, of Dallas and H. R. Stribling, Earle E. Bower of San Antonio has admitted show that a close relationship existed between Pollard, Willard and Bower.

The defense objected strenuously that such evidence placed a wrong implication on a perfectly innocent business relationship. It has maintained that Pollard was retained by a tobacco wholesale jobbers association to represent it legitimately in Austin and that Bower retained him to effect a settlement with the comptroller's office.

Lockhart said that at one time he cancelled an order with a Chicago engraving company for 200,000,000 stamps until it was established that counterfeiting apparently had been done in Philadelphia.

Felle described how he traced counterfeit stamps to the Bower Wholesale company of San Antonio, having found numbers of them on cigars sold by that company.

Bower has testified that he bought thousands of stamps from Willard and Stribling, obtaining them for much less than the state asked for legitimate stamps. He maintained, testifying as a state witness, that he was told the stamps, strictly speaking, were not counterfeit, but had been made from the same plates as the state stamps.

grow. But growing an orchard is no picnic. There must be an everlasting war on insects and parasites. The trees are sprayed about seven times a season, once dormant and six times after blooming. Spraying 400 trees, even with a power sprayer, is no vacation. Cultivation is vital. Five children have helped some, but one by one they have married and moved away until only Coy, the youngest, remains. He will enter West Texas Teachers college this term to resume his education. He already has had some teaching experience.

The sandy, almost dry McClellan creek flows by the Palmer orchard. Water is abundant 6 to 8 feet below the surface. Into this the trees sink their roots for the life sustaining moisture. The soil is sandy but sufficiently fertile. Garden truck does well in it. Alfalfa makes several good cuttings a year. There are thousands of acres of similar land up and down the creek.

The varieties of apples include Delicious, Black Twig, Wine Sap, Gano, Arkansas Black, Kinard, Jonathan, Grimes Golden, York Imperial, Northwestern Greening, Missouri Pippin, Rome Beauties, and Ben Davis. This year they are smaller than usual but the limbs are filled to the breaking point. The fruit of the apples are sold in the orchard, for the fame of the McClellan orchards has gone far. Buyers come from a radius of 100 miles. The fruit is stacked under the trees, placed in bins, and sometimes kept all winter. Last year cider was made for the first time and about 100 gallons was sold. Selling of the apples is no problem.

It is not to be assumed that the fruit belt is wide. It averages about

Revealing Munitions Secrets

That King George of England had intervened in negotiations between an American munitions company and the Polish government two years ago in behalf of Vickers, Ltd., English armament firm, was the testimony of Louis half a mile each way from the creek. But with irrigation much of the mid-county soil would grow fruit and vegetables.

Up the creek a few miles is the nursery being developed by Paul Bruce. An attraction worth driving miles to see is his house made of petrified wood. Many wagon-loads of the wood was hauled over several years. Where the wood came from is a mystery, for certainly the original trunks must have floated into this section in prehistoric days. And, beautiful as now are the well kept orchards with reddening apples on every branch, even prettier are they in early summer when the sweet-smelling white blossoms festoon every limb—truly that is a rare and wonderful sight. If you haven't seen the McClellan creek farms, you don't know Gray county.

The plane arrived last night with mechanics who will repair the abandoned ship.

Showing his appreciation to his hosts, Lindbergh took Mr. and Mrs. Aitkens for their first air ride in this section in prehistoric days. And, beautiful as now are the well kept orchards with reddening apples on every branch, even prettier are they in early summer when the sweet-smelling white blossoms festoon every limb—truly that is a rare and wonderful sight. If you haven't seen the McClellan creek farms, you don't know Gray county.

But Lindbergh did not participate in a rodeo at Woodward as the farm for the first time and dipped a wing in salute as they flew over the Aitkens farmhouse.

Landings at the Woodward airport Lindbergh and Anne stopped briefly to witness the rodeo while their plane was being refueled. Then they circled the town and took off for New Mexico.

Order City Not To Lower Rates

DALLAS, Sept. 15 (AP)—A temporary injunction restraining the city of Wichita Falls from putting into effect an ordinance lowering telephone rates was granted the Southwestern Bell Telephone company today in Judge William H. Aiken's United States district court.

The injunction specifically restrained the city. Mayor John T. Young and other city officials. No date for a hearing for a permanent injunction was set.

The protested ordinance was passed Aug. 20 and was slated to become effective Sept. 15.

The telephone company posted a $50,000 bond to secure the defendant and all Wichita Falls telephone subscribers who may be entitled to sums which the company may have collected under the restraining order should the injunction be quashed later.

Dog Medicine Involves Honor Of Nebraska

M'NEILL, Miss., Sept. 15. (P)—Dog medicine appears at first glance to have nothing whatever to do with honest citizenship, but it falls to the lot of a Nebraska resident to prove otherwise.

The good citizen ordered the medicine from a McNeill firm in the fall of 1933. He didn't receive the package, and demanded a refund. The company couldn't locate the shipment, and accordingly refunded $1, the price of the remedy.

Much to his surprise, the McNeill company received a $1 bill from its former Nebraska customer recently, with the explanation the medicine had just been found in a corn crib. It had been received by the hired man, who placed it atop a load of corn, and forgot it. When the corn crib was emptied, the package was found—and the honor of Nebraska was promptly attended to.

JONES IS MADE TARGET OF NEW ATTACK ON FDR

Says Jones' Bank in Houston Bulges With Money

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (P)—The cross fire of political blasts today brought a statement from Senator James Hamilton Lewis (D., Ill.) that in states where President Roosevelt had been made an issue in the primary campaigns "the vote gave him the approval."

In a republican return fire, representative Chester Bolton of Ohio, co-chairman of the C. F. senatorial-congressional committee, directed a broadside at the Roosevelt administration. He declared that if Jesse Jones, chairman of the RFC, was chosen to reassure business that the new deal is for "fair profits for business," an "new dealers seem to have made a poor choice to present such assurance."

Lewis is chairman of the democratic senatorial campaign committee.

Bolton's statement referred to a recent address by Jones before a national business conference at Wellesley, Mass. The republican asserted his speech "and the vague attempts of other new dealers to calm the fears of business, indicates a change in policy which the president himself should make clear."

Bolton said that while President Roosevelt and Jones were advocating the easing of credit, Jones as president of the National Bank of Commerce of Houston, Texas, had failed "to heed the plea of Mr. Jones of the RFC." He said Jones' bank had deposits of $24,543,325 and loans amounting to only $6,395,972 on June 30.

BANKHEAD ACT DRAWS VOLLEY FROM SENATE

LEGISLATURE OPPOSES COTTON CONTROL MEASURE

AUSTIN, Sept. 15. (P)—A double barreled attack was under way today in the wholly democratic legislature of the nation's greatest cotton-producing state against the Bankhead law, a federal medium designed to aid southern farmers through controlled cotton production.

A resolution demanding its suspension by decree of the president or repeal by congress was presented in the senate. The house planned to start debate Monday on a resolution requesting the United States attorney general to institute a suit without delay to have the law declared unconstitutional. The senate referred its resolution to a committee which held a public hearing Monday night.

The senate resolution asserted continuation of the law was certain to have a detrimental effect on cotton farmers and other enterprises allied with cotton production. Fear that enforcement of the law would lead to "peonage" was expressed in the house complaint.

While house and senate leaders condemned the measure reports were received of an armed meeting of cotton farmers in the Rio Grande valley to protest its provisions. Two carloads of farmers, who had armed and started from El Paso to San Benito, to demand issuance by the county agent of tax exemption certificates were persuaded by civic leaders to adopt more peaceful means and a resolution protesting the Bankhead law was on its way to the president.

Civic leaders in the valley said they feared violence unless the law was suspended and estimated the plan was costing valley farmers $859,920 in taxes.

"The Bankhead cotton bill is subversive of and destructive of every concept of Americanism," and "makes the man the peon of the state," the house resolution recited while the senate resolution asserted "Texas producers would derive no benefit from it because 'any reduction in the production of cotton in Texas will be offset by an increase in the production of cotton in foreign countries.'"

"Fully 95 per cent (of Texas cotton) is sold and shipped to foreign markets in competition with cotton produced in foreign countries," it continued. "Any reduction in the production of cotton in Texas is bound to result to the detriment of not only the producers in this state, but also to the pickers, ginners, merchants, bankers, compresses, warehouses and others who buy, sell and handle this commodity thus adversely affecting business generally in Texas."

T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, author of the senate vehicle, said two of the largest cotton exporting firms in the United States planned to open South American offices "to meet their export requirements because of the announced policy of the United States government to curtail and reduce the production of cotton in Texas and other states."

Mrs. Joe Minnick and daughter Jo Ann, Miss Jacqueline Hearst and Mrs. Hazel Myers spent Saturday in Amarillo attending the Tri-State fair.

Governors Are Asked to Attend Texas Tech Game

LUBBOCK, Sept. 15. (P)—With an eye toward adding to the grandeur of the occasion, Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech college, has invited Governor A. W. Hockenhull of New Mexico and Governor-elect James V. Alford of Texas to be special guests of the college when Tech's Matadors meet the University of Texas Longhorns here next Saturday night.

Governor Hockenhull, it is revealed, is a graduate of Texas University. He has not seen a Longhorn team in action for several years. Learning that New Mexico's governor was to be in northwest Texas on or about the date of the game, Dr. Knapp has extended the invitation. At the same time, a personal invitation was mailed to Mr. Alford.

SERMON SUBJECTS FOR WEEK ANNOUNCED BY FOOTE

Gaston Foote, pastor, will open his second revival meeting at the First Methodist church this morning, preaching on the subject, "What is the Price?"

Record Number Of Exhibits at Tri-State Fair

AMARILLO, Sept. 15 (AP)—The twelfth annual Tri-State Fair will open here Monday with agriculture and livestock exhibits from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and a dozen other states.

The fair, which will be featured with a seven-day racing meet, will continue through Saturday, September 22.

Wilbur C. Hawk, exposition president, said a record number of exhibits have been entered and that indications point to big attendance from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Theme of the exposition will be to show the sort of fine agricultural products and livestock produced in the tri-state region during the severe drought.

Herefords will be featured in the livestock division, and prize herds have been entered from 13 states. A crowd estimated by fair officials at over 2,000 today attended the opening racing feature of seven races.

Winners of today's races were: Sweetheart, Jessie F., Gold Scourer, Jacquelyn Coogie, Trinity Girl.

Too Many Cats-Husband Goes to Court

BALTIMORE, Sept. 15 (AP)—Cats, a Baltimore husband has let the domestic relations court know, get his goat, especially when they climb into bed with him.

"Cats, cats everywhere," he complained to Judge Albert H. Blum.

"My wife has six of them. I put up with them until I woke one morning and found two in bed with me.

"That was too much."

However, after some argument, the tabby disliking husband agreed to a reconciliation.

Rain Interrupts Sports Schedule in New York City

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP)—Rain, bugaboo of outdoor sports promoters, fell over the metropolitan area today for the second straight week-end and washed out two of the day's scheduled major sports events, the 15-round welterweight championship fight between Barney Ross and Jimmy McLarnin and the first match of the East-West polo series.

The fight was postponed, for the fourth time, to Monday night. The polo match was postponed indefinitely with the probability it will be held Wednesday or Thursday if as and when the rain stops falling.

The Ross-McLarnin shindig originally was scheduled for Sept. 6, put over to the 7th, then the 8th and finally postponed until tonight, a Jewish holiday intervening to interfere with Ross' training.

Another Jewish holy day is in the offing, and unless the fight is put on Monday night it may have to be indefinitely set over or moved indoors. Yom Kippur starts Tuesday night and the 24 hours of fasting that would entail for Ross would be a real break in training for him.

The East-West polo matches have been no less plagued by the weather. The first match originally was scheduled for last Saturday, was put over until Wednesday, then postponed again until today when a new cloudburst drenched international field at the Meadowbrook club last Monday. The field still would be dangerous for men and ponies Wednesday if the rain continues over the weekend.

MELLON FACES NEW CHARGE OF U. S. TREASURY

Government Claims He Owes Back Taxes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—The treasury and Andrew W. Mellon, for 11 years a treasury secretary today traded verbal blows over a new federal effort to collect $3,075,103 in taxes and fraud penalties from the Pittsburgh multi-millionaire.

The government filed with the board of tax appeals a petition asserting that Mellon, while still secretary of the treasury, began the execution of a scheme to evade his federal income taxes. Involved, it contended, were "fictitious" stock sales and other devices.

Striking back, Mellon declared in a statement issued here that the move was made "in order to save the treasury's face and to give some semblance of justification for its participation in the inept political maneuver of Attorney General Cummings last spring."

Mellon expressed surprise that the treasury would take "the astounding position that it intends to try out in a civil tribunal the very same issue of tax evasion settled by the federal grand jury at Pittsburgh last May."

A grand jury refused to indict Mellon on tax evasion charges last May and the treasury soon afterward notified the former ambassador to Great Britain of an additional assessment and penalties for the year 1931. He appealed to the board and the government's action today was in answer.

The government is now seeking $2,950,008 in addition to the $667,859 which Mellon paid for 1931 and also in asking $1,025,034 in fraud penalties.

The former treasury head, however, in denying the validity of the assessment, entered a counter-claim of $139,945 for over-payment of taxes in 1931.

The penalties were claimed because of alleged use of family-controlled corporations for transfer of stock to Mellon's son and daughter to evade taxes without actual sale being affected.

These transactions, the government asserted, were part of a "comprehensive scheme of tax evasion and avoidance."

Mellon met the fraud charges with an assertion that the treasury "well knows" its allegations are contrary to fact.

"It repeats the charges," he said, "thrown out by the Pittsburgh grand jury, with the addition of one further charge, both trivial and fictitious in nature, and inserted merely as an excuse to re-try the old issues and to make the public believe that some new matter is to be considered."

"It even accuses me of the sale of stock to avoid gift taxes, that law not then being existence, and to avoid estate taxes, ignoring the fact apparently that I am still very much alive."

"It seems almost unbelievable that a responsible government department should lend itself to such a proceeding. It is quite clear that in my case the treasury is not so much interested in collection of revenue as in attempting to discredit me."

In making his return, Mellon computed his gross 1931 income at $10,890,486 and his net income at $1,927,116. The government's petition alleged the gross should have been $15,951,568 with a net of $13,482,660.

The government also challenged Mellon's report of $3,821,178 contributions to charitable enterprises. It contended only $310,918 was properly deductible.

up to a fourth of each county's allotments spent for low water dam construction, while the house would set aside a fourth for construction of lateral roads.

The senate's provision transferring supervision of relief to the board of control would empower the agency to elect a state administrator, who in turn would have authority to select county administrators.

Brisk debate preceding a vote on the amendment to reduce the amount of the issue brought a charge from Senator Moore that those who favored the $9,500,000 amount were seeking to embarrass the incoming governor and administration. The charge was quickly disclaimed by Senator Beck, but argument for the smaller amount centered on the advisability of leaving a balance in the relief fund for the succeeding legislature to administer.

Caution in spending the remainder of bond proceeds also was urged on the theory the federal government later would carry Texas' relief burden only upon assurance another bond issue would be submitted.

Cherokee Strip Opening Will Be Celebrated Today

ENID, Okla., Sept. 15. (AP)—Whiskers and crinolines, hoop-skirts and bandanna neckerchiefs, were in evidence here today as Enid prepared for its third annual celebration of the opening of the Cherokee strip on Sept. 16, 1893.

Five hundred men are members of a "whiskers club," a feature of the festival which has its formal opening tomorrow and extends thru Tuesday.

The funniest beards, and the toughest ones, will bring their own prizes.

A group of over 200 women, determined not to be outdone by Enid men in providing period atmosphere, have unearthed quaint costumes from dusty attic trunks and have pledged themselves to wear them during the two-day fete.

The "stripe," a rich area about 56 miles north and south, and 226 miles long, extending from the 96th to the 100th meridian, originally was granted to Cherokee Indians as an outlet from their homelands to the buffalo hunting grounds.

Although treaties provided that the land should be theirs "as long as grass grew or water ran," President Grover Cleveland proclaimed the Cherokee strip open to white settlement Sept. 16, 1893.

HEARING

sible future conflict.

A committee investigator asserted it would be developed next week that not only the United States, but also Great Britain, Germany and Japan have such masks.

Senator Nye (R, ND), chairman of the committee, reported today that there had been a powerful effort to halt or at least slow down the investigation. He asserted, however, that the probe would continue to be "sweeping and complete."

Most astounding to committee members thus far have been revelations that Germany has been building up war stores despite the ban against such action in the Versailles treaty.

Testimony has been heard indicating Germany kept her submarine-building industry alive outside her own borders, has smuggled in large stores of American revolvers and machine guns, and built up her ammunition dumps with thousands of tons of powder.

The documents placed quietly in the records late yesterday were confidential sales reports of the E. I. Du Pont Dolomours company of Delaware.

These reports mentioned among other things that Poland believes a war with Germany is unavoidable, and that arms sandals have been hushed when they came to light in central Europe.

Depositions in Allred Suit To Be Sought Soon

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 15. (AP)—Depositions will be sought next week from James V. Allred, democratic nominee for governor, and R. E. Waters, his campaign manager, in connection with a suit filed here in 94th district court in an effort to keep the name of Allred off the ballot for the general election Nov. 6.

Joe Burkett, who filed the suit, said today depositions would be sought from the two principal defendants, as well as from the assistant campaign managers in various cities.

Burkett said it had been planned to take depositions Saturday from R. E. Phillips, assistant campaign manager, and Martin Wright, both of San Antonio. Wright had been named in the petition as receiver of campaign funds here for Allred.

Wright was reported out of town Saturday and Phillips declined to answer questions until he could consult an attorney.

Depositions also are to be taken from managers of various radio stations for data on statements used by Allred, time consumed in broadcasting Allred speeches, and the per hour charges. In the quo warranto, proceedings filed against Allred it is contended that costs of radio broadcasting were not included in expense statements prepared by Allred and Waters.

situation in Rhode Island, which had threatened earlier to bring a call for federal troops.

The chief executive found the state so placid that shortly afterward the yacht Nourmahal, on which he is cruising, steamed out of Narragansett bay to spend the late morning with the private fleet attending the international yacht races.

Silk employers offered to meet labor spokesmen in a public hearing under the auspices of NRA, but, although official comment was lacking, strike leaders were inclined to disapprove the suggestion.

The usual Saturday mill closings brought a general calm to the strike front. It enabled both mill owners and union leaders to prepare for a critical period which both expect to begin on Monday when the strike enters its third week.

As on last Monday, the employers are planning a determined effort to reopen a large number of closed mills under the protection of national guard units, now on duty in a half-dozen states. Labor leaders promised an unyielding resistance to such a move.

The conflict has developed into a test of labor's strength under the NRA. Virtually all national and international unions are reported to be dipping into their treasuries to assist the textile strikers. The mill owners, meanwhile, have the unqualified support of other great industries.

Johnson himself, broke the agreement of June 2. Gorman contended, asserting that the first clause of that compact stipulated that the agreement should not prejudice the right to strike.

The agreement of last June ended a threatened general textile walkout. Under it, NRA's research and planning board was to study and report on hours, wages, differentials, while a committee under the code authority was to compile a report on "the situation." The agreement stipulated time limitations upon the completion of each report.

Bus Crowell of Charleston, N. C. is visiting his brother, Alex Crowell, here this week.

First Norther Brings Shivers In North Texas

(By The Associated Press.)

In the opening business session, Miss Helen Marie Jones was elected president for the coming year, Miss Marie Tinsley vice president, Miss Blanche McMillan secretary, and Miss Parker treasurer. Miss Dodd is the retiring president.

A messenger boy called the honoree to the door and delivered a telegram. She read the following message: "May these good wishes continue through your many years together, may your happiness never diminish and may your fortune increase."

Miss Dodd sang "I Love You Truly" while the gifts were presented. Each girl wrote her favorite recipe for the bride.

Pink ice cream, white cake, sandwiches, and pink and white favors containing pink and white mints, carried out a dainty color note for the refreshment course.

Present were Mrs. Engle, Misses Dodd, Tinsley, Hester Lester, Mary Snead, McMillan, Jones, Willie Reece Taylor, Parker, and Mrs. Wolfe, club sponsor.

New Leaflets In P-TA Packet Aid The Rural Units

BY MRS. JOHN M. FOX, State Publicity Director Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers.

It can safely be said that the three most outstanding leaflet helps included in the local unit packet now ready for distribution to 2,000 parent-teacher associations throughout the state of Texas are "The Rural P-T. A.," "Home Play in Rural Areas," and the playlet "Publications Conference on the Local Unit Package."

It is a significant fact that rural areas in which small units are functioning—and in many cases under opposition from unenlightened school superintendents and boards of trustees—are receiving more and more attention from National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Realizing that each separate and distinct rural community has a population that requires a program of enrichment exactly suited to its peculiar needs; that each parent-teacher association located in rural communities has problems to meet that are unlike the problems in any other community; that the needs of every section must be carefully studied—new helps are constantly being prepared to meet the challenge of the rural parent-teacher association with a small membership.

The Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers is glad to present in the local unit packet two leaflets covering suggestions for organizing and conducting parent-teacher associations in rural areas. They have been prepared by William McKinley Robinson, national chairman, rural service. They contain program outlines that are peculiarly suited for rural communities.

For instance in October, following a reception for teachers and school board members, is found a program on "School Law" with such topics as "school attendance; child labor; and consolidation; school buses" featured. And again in January suggested discussion topics are as follows: "4-H Clubs; Future Farmers; Girl Reserves; Hi-Y;" and in April, featuring community recreation, such topics as "community singing and dinners; orchestras; homecoming picnics; pets; gardening; hobbies; handicrafts. All these are of absorbing interest to rural boys and girls and to parents in progressive communities whose helpful influence can interest other fathers and mothers in the betterment of their immediate sections through a friendly, well-organized parent-teacher association.

"The Family that Plays Together, Stays Together" is one of the chapter heads and slogans in the "Home Play in Rural Areas." Another is titled "Hobbies" and is signed by Theodore Roosevelt Jr. The pamphlet featuring a playlet designed to call attention to the different leaflet helps for every unit is absorbing interest and will be used this fall by many associations to start out their work for the year in an informed and constructive manner.

BELTS WITH POCKETS
PARIS (AP)—Belts with pockets are a new trick in 1934-35 fashions. One designer puts a muskrat pouch pocket at the left side of a brown leather belt which finishes a tweed suit, while another fastens tiny pockets on each side of a bright green leather belt worn with a brown sports frock.

Garden Club Starts New Year

FALL GARDENING IS FIRST TOPIC IN NEW SERIES

Fall gardening for spring bloom was discussed at the Garden club's first meeting of a new year Friday morning in the city club rooms. Mrs. Arthur Teed was program leader.

New officers were in charge of the meeting. Mrs. J. P. Wehrung is president. Mrs. R. J. Hagan vice president, Mrs. Lynn Boyd treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Swanson recording secretary, Mrs. Jim White, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Clifford Jones reporter, Mrs. J. M. Saunders council representative, and Mrs. J. C. McDonald parliamentarian.

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Clyde Fatheree for her efficient work as president the past year.

Time For Bulbs.
Mrs. Teed opened the program with a discussion of tulip history and culture. The cultivation of tulip bulbs in Holland began in 1647, she said. Outstanding species that have been developed include Darwin, Breeder, Cottage, Parrot, and two less known varieties, Lily and Rembrandt.

The bulb needs a sunny and well drained place. Now is the time to order tulips for planting in October and November. Candytuft and pansies are good flowers to plant with tulips for later bloom, she added.

Mrs. Charles Dunkel spoke of bulb gardening with lilies and other plants. She described formal and informal plantings of these lovely spring plants.

Favorites Discussed.
Mrs. Joe Gordon's topic was lilacs and peonies. The former, she said, should be in every garden. Some species bloom the first year and others not for several years, so the buyer should be sure of the type he secures.

Peonies were named for the god of healing. They make a good border and should be planted in showy places. They are not hurt by cold, but need an unusual amount of water. She named the American Peony Association as the source of material on this plant.

Members present were Mmes. Wehrung, Jones, A. B. Zahn, Bond, Fatheree, McDonald, E. A. Shackleton, Emmitt Dwyer, Hagan, Frank Yaley, C. H. Schulkey, Fred Cary, Charles Teed, Ewing Leck, Dunkel, Teed, Swanson, Fred Fenn, P. C. Ledrick, White, W. Purviance, Henry Thut, R. B. Fisher, W. C. Mitchell, Ed Damon, and S. A. Hurst.

A TREE IS KNOWN BY ITS FRUITS: Matthew 7:15-20
Enter ye in the strait gate; for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it. Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?

Even so every good tree bringeth forth evil fruit, but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit. A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire. Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them.

THE OIL business advances from one crisis to another. When one problem is solved there is always another. Right now many ugly rumors are going the rounds.

The Panhandle has had a fairly busy summer, with new wells, expanded operations, and employment given to hundreds of men. Production has risen, potentials have been hiked, and the factor of allowable production per well has gone steadily downward. To push it further would be ruinous to many operators and disastrous to the employment of many men.

The gasoline industry has developed on a basis which has brought natural gas into competition with crude oil. Meanwhile, no solution has been brought forward for the prevention of waste of residue gas, which is acceptable for domestic fuel.

It is reported that much storage has been depleted. This fact has been associated in the past with "squeeze play" activities of crude oil purchasers. At any rate, the summer peak of gasoline consumption is considered as having passed on Labor day and restrictive movements are more easily justified in the winter season.

The Panhandle rightly asks that its allowable not be cut. A constantly rising potential justifies this very reasonable request.

PAMPA may not revive the Community Chest plan, but many cities are feeling the necessity of doing so. The federal government has been putting something like $128,000,000 a month into relief work. The bulk of the relief work is being carried by the taxpayer rather than by the private contributor. Is the Community Chest, this fall of 1934, an essential thing in big cities?

Perhaps the best way to answer that question is to examine a statement just issued by Newton D. Baker, chairman of the 1934 Mobilization for Human Needs.

Mr. Baker points out that the government work provides only the bare bones of relief. Private charity has to clothe the skeleton with warm flesh. It is not enough to keep people from starvation; unless something more than food and fuel be provided, the national morale will suffer irreparably.

Unemployment means ill health. Reliable surveys show that there is nearly 50 per cent more sickness in the families of jobless men than in the families of men who have steady incomes. Medical services for such illness must be free; the hospitals and nursing associations that furnish them are largely supported by Community Chests.

Childhood suffers when adults are unemployed. Children in families on relief are largely undernourished. Government help cannot reach them. Unless the local, privately-supported community agencies can help, they will suffer physical and spiritual damage which can never be made good.

Young men who cannot work find time hanging heavy on their hands. Keeping them from starving does not relieve them from the curse of idleness. Unless their communities help them to use their leisure—the government cannot hope to do it—many of them will become casualties of the depression.

The word "romance" is a strange one. It usually conjures up visions of men who live lives of danger and action—soldiers, cowboys, explorers, sailors, and so on; too often we forget that the greatest romance of all is sometimes to be found in a life which, to all outward seems, is prosaic and uneventful. There is romance in Pampa and everywhere.

One is reminded of this by news of the recent death of Dr. William Campbell Posey, noted Pennsylvania ophthalmologist.

Dr. Posey spent his life combating diseases of the eye; and a short time before his death he wrote a short article for "The Sight-Saving Review," telling of the romance he had found in the long fight to keep people from losing their eyesight.

He told of the German physician, 150 years ago, who first suspected that infection in a child's eyes at birth could be the cause of blindness, and who vainly tried to persuade his colleagues of the truth of his theory. He had no success.

Physicians kept on explaining to harassed parents that their children had lost their sight because of peculiar atmospheric conditions, cold drafts, unbalanced conditions in the alimentary canal, and the like—and new-born children kept on being stricken with blindness.

Then Dr. Posey went on to carry the story down through the years. He told how the old German doctor was vindicated, some 80 years later, when another German doctor showed the world how to save the sight of thousands of infants annually by dropping a 2 per cent solution of silver nitrate into the eyes of new-born babies.

He told how other specialists devised equipment to make happier and easier the lives of people born with weak or defective eyes; how special methods of care and training were drawn up to fit those who did lose their sight for useful, normal existence; how hospitals and clinics were founded to prevent blindness; how means were found of preventing many injuries to the eyes; how a vast mass of knowledge of diseases of the eye was compiled, to make the task of saving eyesight progressively easier.

And in all of this Dr. Posey found an absorbingly romantic story—as the rest of us can do, also, if we get rid of our preconceived notions about what romance really is.

In the age-old struggle to make the hard lot of human beings a little brighter and happier there is romance enough to satisfy the most ardent. All we need is someone like Dr. Posey to make us see it.

SPEAKER'S WIT IS APPRECIATED IN LEGISLATURE

Stevenson Is Facing A Struggle for Reelection

By CHARLES E. SIMONS.
AUSTIN, Sept. 15 (AP)—Witticisms of Coke R. Stevenson, speaker of the Texas house of representatives, enliven what otherwise might be dull sessions of the legislature. Stevenson often has used his wealth of dry humor to good advantage in cajoling the house into action and soothing the feelings of members, who often threaten seriously to disrupt consideration of legislation.

"Admit the extinguished, I mean distinguished, body," Stevenson told the house doorman when the senate presented itself at the bar of the house for a joint session. "Two eyes and one nose; the motion is carried," he may remark after an apathetic house has voted on an unimportant motion or bill.

Stevenson is facing one of the hardest fights of his political career in attempting to break precedent and hold the house speakership for two consecutive terms. Some of the members who supported Stevenson in his last race have pledged themselves to Rep. J. B. Ford of McGregor.

Both Stevenson and Ford and their campaign managers are losing no opportunities to meet and discuss the speakership with newly nominated members. Stevenson, when the house is busy debating legislation, usually confers with some of his advisors, while keeping an experienced eye on the proceedings to prevent the parliamentary machine from becoming entangled in a snarl.

Likewise, Ford's desk in a corner of the house is marked by activity and one conference after another. Many of the new members attending the current special session have given either Ford or Stevenson little satisfaction. Some of them would like to see which way the wind is blowing before committing themselves to either of the leaders.

If they back the wrong man they cannot expect the important committee assignments to come their way. Those who support the winner are given state affairs, appropriations, revenue, and taxation, in-

COLLEGE-BOUND STUDENTS GO EAGERLY OR RELUCTANTLY TO SCHOOLS WIDELY SCATTERED

Colleges and universities from the east coast to the far west will receive Pampa students this month, but nearby schools have been the choice of most.

Every day last week saw the departure of college-bound girls and boys, and the exodus will continue through next week with many a home in the throes of preparation for launching a shy freshman or eager upper-classman into another year of learning and play.

Colleges farthest from home were chosen by two schoolmates of last year, Misses Marjorie Buckler and Christine Cook. After attending Our Lady of Victory at Dallas last term, one goes east and the other goes west this year, Miss Buckler to Leland Stanford university, Palo Alto, Calif., and Miss Cook to Maryland university.

To Many States

Miss Clara Brown, on leave of absence from the faculty here, and Miss Audrey Noel will leave about September 20 for Greeley, Colo., both to be seniors at Colorado State Teachers college there.

Miss Sue Dodson has enrolled at Stephens college, Columbia, Mo. Joe Gribbon left this week-end for the University of Nebraska at Lincoln. Samuel Stennis has entered the Colorado School of Mines at Golden.

Parks Brumley will again attend the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. Wylie Reynolds and Buck Mundy are attending New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell. George Casey goes to Arizona university, Tucson.

Oklahoma colleges are the choice of many Pampans. To Oklahoma university, Norman, go Miss Frances Finley, Warren Finley, Alfred Fullingim, Wayne Larsh, and Don Minning. Tulsa university will claim Joe Kahl, Troy Stalls, and Jim Fiole. Mis Imogene Holten is enrolled at St. Joseph's college, Guthrie.

Some Choose Texas

Other students have chosen Texas colleges. The large group that will study at West Texas Teachers college, Canyon, this year includes Misses Jack Joe and Garnet Poole, Josephine Lane, Etoile Sirmam, Mary McKamey, Yvonne Thomas, Vondell Kees, Lucile Cole, Margaret Beck, Frances Rogers, Iris Gillis, Anna Mae Flesher; Mrs. Helene Dyer, Reed Clarke, and Ralph Poe. Another large group will attend

Texas university, Austin. It includes Opas Denson, Allan and Clinton Evans, Franklin Baer, Max Brown, George Keahey, Frank Henry Culum, Robert J. Meers, and Tom Braly.

Texas Tech, Lubbock, is the choice of Ann Clayton, Turney Mullinax, Burton Doucette, Jo Flanagan, Larry Trenary, Bill Kelley, Siler Faulkner Jr., Miss Floy Stansard, and others who will decide on enrollment before the opening date, September 28.

Off to Fort Worth

Paul Hill and Clovis Green will return to Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, and will be joined by Miles Marbaugh, Harvester of last year.

Miss Frances Hodge plans to attend Texas Woman's College at Fort Worth.

Orville Heiskell and H. B. Taylor have written their families here that they are welcomed as former Pampa students to Baylor and have started football training. Robert Woodward is also at Baylor, as is Donald Haslam of Skellytown.

Frank Kelley will leave soon to attend Baylor Medical college at Dallas. Harold Bray and Herbert Davis plan to be students at Texas A. & M., Bryan. Henry Will Fullingim has returned to Texas Military college, Carroll.

Miss Jeannie Stennis, who was graduated from the College of Industrial Arts last spring, will return to that Denton school for a secretarial position.

Wayne Kelly is again in Amarillo Junior college, and Price Memorial college in Amarillo will have a number of Pampa students including Paul Kelm, Albert Hollenbeck, Ralph West, James Fitzgerald, Edward Bissett, and Hubert Phillips.

Club Fair Is Best.
WHEELER, Sept. 15.—Attracting several hundred visitors, the county home demonstration club fair last week-end was pronounced the best event of its kind ever held here. Each of the 16 women's clubs had a booth. Busy Bee club was first in points, and Mrs. Jess Crowder of that club was first for individuals. In the girls' division, Eric Creekmore of Wheeler was first in the senior group and Nellie B. Chandler of Briscoe in the junior group.

Mrs. Ferris Has Party for Bridge Club on Thursday

Thursday Afternoon Bridge club was entertained by Mrs. Ben Ferris at her home this week, with three tables of players present. Mrs. Ray Eaton was a club guest.

A clever "end of the depression" motif was used in table appointments, and the rooms were gay with fall flowers. A salad course was served after the games.

Members playing were Misses Henry Trout, J. M. Saunders, Sherman White, Howard Neath, Sherman Roberts, Crawford Atkinson, Joe Burrow, Rufe Thompson, Winsett, and A. A. Kelly. Mrs. Burrow scored high in the games.

TWO-FACED WEAVES
PARIS (AP)—Some of the fabrics shown in winter fashion displays lead a double life for they are woven in two-faced weaves. Silk on one side and wool on the other is the favorite combination. Schiaparelli uses one which she calls "double entente"—satin on one side and duvetyon on the other.

PROJECTS FOR YEAR START IN HOUSTON P-TA

Teachers Introduced At First Meeting Of Term

Several school projects were started at the first meeting of Sam Houston Parent-Teacher association Thursday afternoon, attended by about 90 persons.

Members voted to sponsor book week observance, to purchase needed supplies for the cafeteria, and to support the school thrift room.

Mrs. V. E. Fatheree welcomed the teachers for a new year with a poem, Parent to Teacher, by Gray. Principal A. L. Patrick introduced new teachers. A report from the recent city Parent-Teacher council meeting was given by Mrs. J. W. Garman.

J. C. Cox directed the school band in a number and announced plans for a beginners' band. The attendance award went to Mrs. John Bradley's room, which had 22 mothers present.

Seven Girls to Attend W.T.S.T.C.

CANYON, Sept. 15.—Reservations have been made for seven Pampa applicants for lodging in Cousins and Randall halls on the West Texas State Teachers college campus for the coming year.

The applicants are Margaret Beck, Frances Rogers, Yvonne Thomas, Lucille Cole, Iris Gillis, Anna Mae Flesher, and Mrs. Helene Dyer.

Randall hall, a dormitory in which the students who live there do the work on a cooperative basis, is already filled to capacity.

Cousins hall, the oldest dormitory on the campus, can care for less than a dozen more girls. Last minute vacancies will probably enable a few more co-eds to find places in each dormitory.

At a faculty meeting on Sept. 17, President Hill will outline the work of the teachers for the year. The term opens September 18.

DRESSMAKER'S DELIGHT

PARIS (AP)—Buttons which do not sew on are next. Schiaparelli uses them in her new fall and winter clothes. They are neat cone-shaped affairs of leather which fasten in by means of a spike screwed into a disc on the other side of the material.

"Dressmaker's delight" she calls them because they can be adjusted wherever the wearer wills and do away with the tedium of needle and thread.

Plaid Popular

Scotch plaids are positively flamboyant with the old-fashioned combination, red, green and black leading. Blue and gray checked woollen jackets with dark gray skirts make handsome ensembles. Brown and yellow checked coats with skirts of plain brown are worn a good deal, too. Mrs. Norman K. Toerge, above, wears such an outfit. She completes it with a woollen beret and a loosely-tied Ascot scarf.

SEES GOOD PROSPECT

CANYON, Sept. 15.—Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the West Texas State Teachers college was interviewed yesterday regarding the prospects for college attendance this fall, and he declared, "I have never before seen such interest in attending college as there appears to be this fall. During the past month there has been a steady stream of people visiting the college offices to make arrangements to enter at the beginning of the fall semester September 18. Many of the young people who will come to school this fall will do so at a tremendous sacrifice on the part of their parents."

TIGER ISLAND

By GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

SYNOPSIS: Harvey Bowers, big game hunter, and Ivy Green, animal trainer from a defunct far eastern circus, are caring for a cargo of animals bound for Singapore. Wong Bo, captain of the S. S. Boldero, and Flint, his radio operator, plan to scuttle the Boldero for insurance. Now Wong Bo has stolen Bowers' valuable guns.

Chapter 16

WONG BO'S PLAN

Wong Bo had gone about this business of stealing the guns and weighting the cases quite openly. Their owner was asleep in the bows and Wong Bo had noted that once he had retired for the night, he never grew restless and came wandering about. He made it his business to guard the white girl and watch over her.

Wong Bo chuckled to himself. A lot of protection Bowers would be if, for instance, Wong Bo himself coveted the white girl, or if he were to tell the crew that they could have her! As a matter of fact, he had told them that they could not.

That, and not Bowers' presence, was the reason why she had not been molested.

What was to be done in the event that Bowers should accidentally find out about the stolen guns? He would of course raise and make angry threatening noises. Wong Bo carried, well hidden but extraordinarily handy, a short-barreled double-action .38 caliber revolver. He would use that, then have Mr. Bowers thrown overboard.

If the girl screamed and made too much fuss, he would present her to the crew with his compliments, and after a while she could be thrown overboard. Flint would make a scene, but Flint would never be in a position to bear witness against his captain without incriminating himself.

inating himself. If Bowers had to die, then of course the woman had to die too. Once you let her get ashore, she would be sure to talk. It was a pity that Flint liked her so much, but that couldn't be helped.

But he did not anticipate trouble. The paroled guns would be in Wong Bo's boat. Bowers would be in another boat. The gun-cases would go down with the ship. It would be funny to let Bowers think that he had saved the weapons, later to find that he had saved only spoils of copper wire and odds and ends of junked metal! But it would lead to questions probably in the court of justice which would not be easy to answer.

The Boldero was to be wrecked at night. The passengers would be forward. Doors and hatches would be shut so that they could not be opened. The passengers would not be allowed to go below for their belongings.

The suits in which they slept would have to serve until they were landed in Borneo. There Bowers could arrange his credits by cable or radio and renew their supply.

Life was the main thing. No one whose life has just been saved mourns about possessions which have not.

Bowers had never been happier than while he was being robbed. A number of times during the day he had felt that Ivy's baffling coolness and aloofness were a trifle forced. He had the feeling that if only a little she was softening toward him, and that night just when Wong Bo was inserting the pass-key into the lock of Bowers' cabin, it was Ivy herself who started a conversation.

Except for talks concerning the condition and the care of the messengers, it was the first serious conversation that they had had. If Flint had been eavesdropping it would have made him very unhappy.

"Are you asleep?" Ivy asked. "Never when you're awake," said Bowers.

"Then you don't always answer when you're spoken to?" "When did that happen?" "Last night. I asked twice if you were awake and you didn't say anything."

"I am awake now," said Bowers. "What was it you wanted to say last night?"

"Oh," she said, "just something that I want to get off my chest. I have been rude to you and snippy ever since we started. I had you doped all wrong. You have been steadily kind and patient. This could have been a mighty tough trip if you hadn't been. I guess that's about all there is to say and I am sorry I have been so mean and pernickety."

I had it coming to me," said Bowers. "Since we are being frank, I doped you all wrong. I have knocked around the East a good bit. Well, you know as well as I do what the average man can expect from a girl in a stranded show. The only difference I gave you was your looks. "You're the best-looking thing in the China Seas. After you called me down hard and plenty, I began to see the other differences and I have been kicking myself black and blue for taking the wrong tack in the beginning."

Royal Family of Munitions Faces Senate Probers

"Do you know," said Ivy, "how you read about a person in the papers and you either like 'em or hate 'em? I have read about you and I formed my opinion and when you came to the tent that day and said that you were you I said to myself, 'Here's where I tell him where he gets off and what I think of him.'"

"And you did," said Bowers. "Oh, no, I didn't," said she, "not the half of it."

"Lose your nerve?" "No," she said. "I found that I didn't feel quite the way I thought I would. Will you tell me something?"

"Of course." "What is it that makes a man want to kill?" "It isn't true of all men," said Bowers. "The instinct has been bred out of a lot of them. I began wanting to kill as soon as I knew that there were things to kill. Later my father took me to the Natural History Museum and the Zoo. I saw live animals and stuffed animals that don't exist any more. My father told me what he knew and guessed about primitive man. He thought that the human race lived in trees before it lived in caves. That is why so many people, especially children, have falling girans."

"Do you mean," said Ivy, "that you think you are on a high place and you slip and come to the bottom with an awful smash and find yourself awake in your own bed all a-sweat with fear?" (Copyright, 1934, by Gouverneur Morris)

Monday, Bowers and Ivy find they agree on a few things.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

BY ROBBINS COONS. HOLLYWOOD—Greta Garbo, reputedly so fond of seclusion, should work in the English studios. There, perhaps, she would find that freedom from publicity she so desires in Hollywood.

Gayle Talbot, in a dispatch from London, points out the attitude at Eistree studios toward the "personal publicity" that is desired by most of Hollywood. The studios there, the dispatch says, "Don't think it is anybody's business if their high salaried leading lady is going places with the latest juvenile importation from Hollywood. Neither is it any concern of the public how much money little Sarah Twinkletons, late of the ribbon counter, is making."

And so many of the English stars who come to Hollywood agree with that notion that it takes a while for a newspaper man to convince them that he really wants to know them only so the American public, if interested, may know them too.

They aren't accustomed to this form of adulation. They're a little puzzled by it, often bewildered, and

Colorful Zion National Park Scene Will Adorn New Stamp

This view of rugged grandeur in Zion National Park in southern Utah will grace a new stamp to be issued by the Postoffice Department. So magnificent is its beauty that a playwright, famed for his descriptive phrases, said no English words could describe Zion Canyon. Called "Little Zion" by Brigham Young colonists, it was a haven for early settlers because the Indians believed the canyon to be "The Valley of the Spirits," and dared not venture near.

—but this is infrequent—a little resentful.

Interviewing Miss Landi. There comes to mind immediately a first interview with Elissa Landi, freshly arrived from London via New York. Married to an Englishman at the time and English in her viewpoint, Miss Landi's suspicion of a Hollywood newspaper man was poorly concealed. Since then, she has "caught on" and realizes that it's part of the movie star's life in Hollywood.

Leslie Howard, a pleasant individual who will answer questions readily and intelligently—provided they are intelligent questions—was schooled in this "personal journalism" through his stage appearances in America, and did not shy except when gushy women "fan writers" propounded queries any man—certainly most of all a movie hero—would be foolishly to answer.

British Avoid Star-Making. Charles Laughton, who was to win the Academy prize, took some little time to become accustomed to Hollywood's informal ways, but proved agreeable, if bewildered. Benita Hume, perhaps because she had had a taste of stardom before the game, was different, quite outspoken.

Brian Aherne, naturally reserved, diagnoses the situation as springing from the British studios' desire to avoid "creating stars." Eistree emphasizes the production—it doesn't want the public to become too interested in the personalities featured therein.

Present were the Misses Montgomery, Mrs. Ed Burch, Grace New, Anna Mae Gotcher, Helen Jo Daugherty, Mary McKamy, Ethel Hamilton, and a guest, Mrs. Elmer Fite.

The club met Wednesday with Miss Clayton. After a short business session, refreshments were served. A called meeting was announced for Monday at the home of Grace New.

PANHANDLE WHEAT FARMERS ARE PUTTING UP FIGHT AND GAMBLE WITH WEATHER MAN FOR PASTURE

AMARILLO, Sept. 15 (AP)—Panhandle wheat growers are staging a lively deadline scrap with the weather man for winter pasture to supplement a short feed crop.

With but a few days left to plant wheat for grading purposes, farmers are riding drills, putting seed into the quickly prepared ground that is void of subsoil moisture, hopeful that additional rains will come to start the grain on its way to winter pasture for stock that otherwise will not have too much feed.

Despite the fact that many widely separated sections of the territory that normally sows 3,000,000 acres and produces in the neighborhood of 34,000,000 bushels of wheat has received rain, the prospects are bright. And production apparently depends on the amount of fall and winter rain.

According to W. A. Barlow of the Great West Mill & Elevator company, prospects for a wheat crop are none too promising at present, and the Panhandle must have much more rain before a majority of farmers can sow their wheat.

"The moisture where rain has come has not penetrated the dry subsoil, and what comes up now cannot grow off fast enough to make good grazing unless there is considerable more rain," he says. "We have but few more days to sow grain for pasture purposes and the farmers are busy."

Barlow said that conditions in Western Oklahoma and Kansas are about the same as in the Texas Panhandle, adding that eastern Oklahoma and Kansas have received more rain and are in better shape for a wheat crop.

Following a series of trips that took him to practically all sections of the Panhandle, F. J. Triplett, president of the Texas Wheat Growers' association, said that many farmers are sowing wheat, some of them under adverse conditions. He added that few sections had received sufficient rain to assure a stand of wheat.

"Although chances for pasture soon will be gone," Triplett said, "there is no reason to be unduly alarmed over the situation, since we can sow wheat late in December and still make a good crop. That has been done any number of times. But there is one thing sure—the Panhandle, as all other wheat-growing sections of the drought area, is going to have to get considerable more moisture before the picture is very pretty one."

When rains came, farmers faced the problem of combatting volunteer wheat. The land, a majority of it, was prepared in the summer, and many farmers kept their soil in good condition and ready for sowing. But since there was not sufficient rain during the summer to sprout wheat left in the field, the volunteer crop came with the first moisture.

In no few instances killing of the volunteer wheat took practically all of the moisture out of the ground. Some farmers, however, did not attempt to kill the volunteer grain, leaving it for pasture purposes.

Volunteer wheat, according to growers, seldom makes a good yield in the Panhandle, the stand usually being irregular with too much grain in some places and not enough in others. Such wheat has been known to make good yields during exceptionally wet years, but a majority of farmers grown on it in normal times.

The spotted rain evidently would have helped many sections of Texas' vast wheat belt if the land had been in good condition. But that was not the case. A majority of the ground had been prepared in the summer when it was so hard anything like deep plowing was impossible. Therefore there is a shallow mulch on the land, and that is the only soil, the subsoil being too hard and dry for the more or less light showers to affect.

Because of this condition, many farmers are having to sow wheat in the dust, while others who received more moisture have little hope for their crop to grow off to a good start without additional rain within a short time.

Wheat sowing usually starts in the Panhandle section in September and continues through October.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think—think hard... Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I will give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

(The following items were published in the Texas Centennial News, official publication of the public committee of the Texas Centennial Commission, Corralitos, Texas, and furnished to Texas newspapers for publication so that the citizenship of Texas may keep informed of Centennial activities over the state.)

TEXAS NOT TO FAIL, RUSK EDITOR SAYS

"Flem Flings," a column in the Rusk Cherokeean and edited by John H. Flensing, believes Texas will rise to the occasion in a big way in 1936.

Among other things he says: "Present immensity of Texas and its resources is not the primary reason for a proper and fitting celebration. Texas has a history that is grand, glorious and inspiring. To fail to properly celebrate the Centennial would be a desecration of the memory of those courageous pioneers whose courage and initiative opened up this vast territory, whose advantages six million citizens now enjoy."

"Texas must have a fitting Centennial celebration and we believe Texas will rise to the occasion."

TEXANS ARE AWAKENED SAYS SAVOY EDITOR

The editor of the Savoy Star is good enough to say: "The people of Texas are being awakened to the advantage of the publicity that the Centennial will occasion, and they also are becoming aware of the economic benefits that will accrue to Texas business. All Texas should join wholeheartedly in the movement for a great celebration and a greater Texas."

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.—State-wide interest in the proposed Texas Centennial is reflected in the requests from women's clubs, civic clubs, schools and other organizations for material on this subject which come daily to the Package Loan Library Bureau of the University of Texas. This topic is the most popular among clients of the bureau, especially in recent weeks, according to Miss LeNora Dimmitt, chief.

Calls for material in the form of bulletins, pamphlets and clippings from newspapers and magazines, have shown an increase during the last few weeks far in advance of the usual seasonal gain, Miss Dimmitt said. This is occasioned in part by the unusually large number of schools which are opening early in September, due to the wide-spread crop failure which has permitted children in most sections of the state to leave the fields and return to the school room. Women's clubs likewise are getting into action early in the year.

Among the other subjects on which material is being widely distributed are Caroline Miller's Pulitzer prize novel, "Lamb in His Bosom," since prize winners are always in demand; various phases of the "New Deal," particularly commissions appointed under the New Deal and prominent men who have been and are responsible for the operation of the New Deal; and the eight amendments to the Texas constitution to be voted on at the forthcoming general election. These amendments include proposals to abolish the fee system in large counties and make it discretionary in smaller counties; to tax certain West Texas lands for school purposes; to authorize the legislature to combine certain counties and to create others; to empower some rule dates to change the tenure of city officers from two to four years; to permit home rule counties to change their charters once in twelve months; to vest the power of counties in the commissioners' court; to limit the tax powers of the legislature; and to modify real estate property for the same purposes and to provide for an occupational tax.

Members Leaving For College Are Honored by Club

Junior Civic Culture club honored two of its members who will leave soon for college with a party and slumber party Friday evening. Miss Ann Clayton will attend Texas Tech, Lubbock, and Miss Mary McKamey will leave Wednesday for West Texas Teachers college, Canyon.

They were honorees at the home of Misses Roberts and Minnie Olive Montgomery at an evening party that was followed by a slumber party and breakfast at the McKamey home.

The club met Wednesday with Miss Clayton. After a short business session, refreshments were served. A called meeting was announced for Monday at the home of Grace New.

Present were the Misses Montgomery, Mrs. Ed Burch, Grace New, Anna Mae Gotcher, Helen Jo Daugherty, Mary McKamy, Ethel Hamilton, and a guest, Mrs. Elmer Fite.

BING CROSBY'S HERE IN FILM OF UNIVERSITY

"BACHELOR BAIT" WILL BE SHOWN BY REX THEATER

An absurdly crack-brained and delicious comedy, that even in its wildest moments seemed surprisingly real, Paramount's "She Loves Me Not," starring Bing Crosby and Miriam Hopkins in the film version of the season's greatest stage hit, opens today at the La Nora theater.

The ludicrous account of what might have happened at Princeton but never did begins with a shooting in a Philadelphia night club, viewed by a little dancer, who flees to escape being held as a material witness.

She gets as far as Princeton, penniless and hungry, where she prevails upon the generosity and good nature of a group of college boys who disguise her as a student and hide her in their dormitory.

The father of one of the students hits upon the ingenious plan of using her predicament as part of a wild-eyed publicity scheme to save one of his films which promises to be a lemon. He dispatches his demon press-agent to the university campus where he arrives together with a gunman from Philadelphia who has come to silence Curly, and the dean who has just got wind of the affair.

The ludicrous mix-up that results almost causes the expulsion of the guilty student group, but the press rallies to their defense and a happy solution is reached for all, with the dancer in the movies, Crosby in love with the dean's daughter and the musing quiet restored beneath Princeton's dreamy spires.

As the tow-headed, flamboyant, madcap little dancer who causes all the trouble, Miss Hopkins renders one of the grandest performances of her career, while Crosby and Kitty Carlisle are equally delightful in both their singing and acting roles.

"BACHELOR BAIT," COMEDY HIT CAPITALIZES DAN CUPID

Hollywood projects its searching cameras into the matrimonial agency, and evolves a new angle of satire on Dan Cupid's machinations in "Bachelor Bait," the laugh hit now at the Rex theater with an all-comedy featured cast, comprising Stuart Erwin, Rochelle Hudson, Pert Kelton, "Skeets" Gallagher, and Berton Churchill.

Cupid shoots more arrows than ever from his bow, and enjoys a thriving business through the efforts of the drawing Erwin, who operates a nuptial bureau, with successful and marital results. "Bachelor Bait" is purveyed by Romance, Inc., which primes its prospects with a charm school, a gymnasium, and psycho-analysis and etiquette instruction.

Romance, Inc., is a matrimonial agency founded by Erwin, dedicated to finding a bride for every bachelor, and a groom for every spinster. Entirely different from the ordinary introduction bureau type of matrimonial agency, Romance, Inc., applies the resources of science to aid mate-seekers. Judges Declare No Contest in Yachting Race

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 15. (AP)—Rainbow, defender of the America's cup, most prized of all yachting trophies, today was deprived of victory over Endeavor, the British challenger, in the opening engagement of the 15th challenge series by a feeble breeze.

After Rainbow had led her rival around almost the entire 30-mile windward-leeward course, the five and a half hours allowed for the contest expired and the sailing match was declared "no contest."

Rainbow was a little more than half a mile from the finish line when the race committee hauled down the red ball signifying the time limit. Endeavor at the time trailed Rainbow by about three-eighths of a mile.

If the inconclusive contest proved anything, it was that Harold S. Vanderbilt and his crew sailed a better race than T. O. M. Sopwith, the challenger, and his men, largely composed of recently recruited amateurs.

Steel Rail Goes on a Bender

It's the steel rail, not the observer, who has been on a bender in this case, although you can't be blamed for not crediting your eyes. The rail looped the loop when four cars of a speeding New York-bound express train were derailed near Bristol, Pa. Two women passengers were slightly injured.

LET THE ELECTRIC SEWING MACHINE KEEP YOU IN STYLE

With an electric sewing machine you will enjoy sewing, perhaps for the first time. Many of your friends and acquaintances no doubt now stay well dressed at small cost because they make their own clothes. With the new patterns almost anyone can cut the material. With the electric sewing machine you merely guide the cloth, and the machine actually makes the dress.

Besides making new things at small cost there are alterations that can be done to remodel old clothes so that they appear to be new. The cost of operating the electric sewing machine is negligible. A penny will run the machine for hours.

An electric sewing machine will pay for itself in a short time.

MR. MERCHANT

MAY WE INTRODUCE OUR REPRESENTATIVE

The Beauty-Scrip Company of Texas is establishing in this state its sensational stamp merchandising plan for retailers. In inaugurating the plan in Texas, we have chosen Pampa as the first city in which to introduce it, and have sent here our State Representative, who will appreciate a few minutes of your time in which to explain the working details of the system. The proposition is a sane, sound, business-builder in which scrip given with the purchase of merchandise will be redeemable in trade at the local authorized beauty parlors. Scrip received from local stores which have already adopted this plan will be redeemable beginning Oct. 1st.

MR. H. B. MILBURN

Mr. Milburn will appreciate your courteous hearing for a few moments when he calls.
