

TEXTILE STRIKE BEGINS WITH BITTER THREATS OF VIOLENCE

SHOCK TROOPS ARE IMPORTED BY EMPLOYERS

'SLUG BACK' IS TERSE ADVICE OF STRIKE CHAIRMAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (AP)—The zero hour for union workers to be out of the nation's hundreds of textile mills came and passed tonight—and there was no change in their orders to strike until the end.

At headquarters of the United Textile Workers, labor leaders, tired out by days of unfruitful dickering, went to bed, leaving the office dark.

Even the federal mediators who had hoped against hope until well into the night decided the strike was inevitable. They, too, left the national labor relations board's suite in darkness.

The last slender thread of hope that the strike sword could be held aloft beyond the 11:30 p. m. zero hour was cut, when labor leaders, after listening to hours of argument, pleading and coaxing, emerged from the offices of the national labor relations board with the grim assertion:

"The strike will go on."

Thousands Involved

Involved were 150,000 silk workers, directed to join the others in an order flashed just before noon, 407,000 cotton textile workers and 100,000 woolen mill employees. Affected, too, were 200,000 new unemployed in these industries.

Rebuffed, but doggedly persistent, Lloyd Garrison, chairman of the labor relations board, had waged a twelfth-hour battle to avert the catastrophe. Much of the board's own prestige, a possible blow to recovery, probably violence and certain suffering by textile workers all were at stake.

But Garrison himself, after the last of today's conferences, told newspapermen that there was no hope of a weakening in the stand of either side before the strike time.

As the day wore on threats of violence increased. Francis J. Gorman, militant strike general of the union forces, called off a scheduled appearance before a mass meeting of southern workers in Charlotte, N. C., tomorrow. He gave as his reason the press of business here.

His associates, however, disclosed that fear of possible attack by anti-unionists prompted the strike committee to order him to remain in Washington.

President Thomas F. McMahon of the United Textile Workers, Communist and other union officials shuffled back and forth during the day from strike headquarters to the offices of the national labor board.

Strike Breakers Imported

Tension mounted rapidly as the strike deadline neared. In many communities other union officials shuffled back and forth during the day from strike headquarters to the offices of the national labor board.

SENATOR WOULD ABOLISH TEXAS RELIEF SET-UP

Commission Would Be Replaced By Paid Members

AUSTIN, Sept. 1. (AP)—Replacement of the part time Texas relief commission with a salaried board of three members to devote its entire time to relief administration was advanced today as a major improvement necessary for efficient disbursement of funds for the needy.

The proposal was made by Representative R. J. Long of Wichita Falls, author of a bill to issue $9,500,000 in state relief bonds, who characterized sessions of the present nine-member board as "joke."

While the house of representatives was getting its inquiry into relief administration underway, a movement was initiated in the senate to discontinue an investigation started by that body yesterday. An attempt to block the house investigation was defeated.

Long said he would offer an amendment to the bill to abolish the present commission, which serves on a per diem basis and usually meets one day each month. He asserted the commissioners were

Clark to Attend Regional Session

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Clark have returned from a trip to points in New Mexico and Colorado.

While away, Mr. Clark visited Boy Scouts at Keyes, Okla., in his capacity as executive of the Adobe Walls council. With this visit he completed his rounds of every troop in the council, many of which he has visited several times this year.

This week-end he will go to Mineral Wells for a week's conference of executives of the ninth region, called by national Scout officials. Progress of the ten-year program will be surveyed and plans made for the jamboree next year in Washington, D. C.

LONG STARTS MOVE TO DUST CITY OFFICIALS

LEGISLATURE DUE TO IMPEACH ENEMIES OF SENATOR

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1. (AP)—Senator Huey P. Long began weaving a web around his mortal political enemy, Mayor T. Semmes Walmesley, through testimony today before his special state legislative investigating committee, by which he hopes to force the mayor out of office.

Under a section of the state constitution the committee has the authority to take testimony without rebuttal or cross examination and lay it before the state legislature, where a two-thirds vote of the senate and house can declare any officer, except the governor or acting governor, out of office and he would not be eligible to succeed himself.

Long, who has the power of a Caesar in Louisiana, has indicated that he will call another special session of the state legislature, probably within a week, at which he will attempt to oust Mayor Walmesley and Judge Nat W. Bond and Judge Walter Gleason, civil district court judges of New Orleans, who have rendered decisions adverse to the Long political interests.

At the last special session of the legislature Long held a second and third majority in the senate and occasionally commanded two-thirds of the house. Some of the old time politicians say they do not see how Mayor Walmesley can withstand the latest onslaught of Long, who can prevent Walmesley from offering any defense or even appearing before his accusers.

The hearing today, one of the strangest performances of its kind ever held in the United States, brought out testimony of witnesses who claimed to know of payments from lottery operators aggregating $1,000 weekly to Mayor Walmesley and $700 weekly to Police Superintendent George Reyer and lesser amounts to police captains.

The testimony was taken behind closed doors with a Long hand-picked audience, with all newspapermen barred but with broadcasting equipment set up. The committee room and environs fairly bristled with troops.

They escorted Huey Long to and from the committee room, a squad of eight forming a half moon around the "kingfish."

Long said he wanted the Press Association representatives present but the committee had overruled him.

And the hearing was launched in (See LONG, Page 4)

WORLEY 'WRECK' IS UPHOLSTERED FOR MR. ALLRED

Offers To Help City Obtain Centennial Appropriation

Friends of Eugene Worley of Shamrock, state representative-elect for this 122nd district, have upholstered the back seat of his 1925 Ford with black oil cloth for the gubernatorial nominee, Attorney General James V. Allred who will be asked to take a ride in the racy, antiquated vehicle at the state democratic convention at Galveston, Sept. 11.

If the governor-elect does not ride in the machine at Galveston he will be invited to try out the back seat at Austin later on. Mr. Worley, young University of Texas student, who won from the incumbent, John Puryear of Wellington by over 2,000 votes in the run-off primary, said, "Gene" also said that the "friends" who figured in the upholstery were not "corrupt" or "vested interests." Mr. Worley has the "ottermobile" for four years.

Mr. Worley will be a delegate to the convention from Wheeler county. He will go to Austin in October to "take up a few dollars" as advertising manager of the Cactus yearbook of the University of Texas. He will not attend school during the

Much Interest in Housing Plans Is Manifested Here

Manager George Briggs of the B. C. D. has arranged a conference with John E. Hill of Amarillo calculated to answer some of the questions of local home owners which have arisen since the recent session of business men on the housing situation here.

It is evident that Pampa as a community will have to advance from 20 to 40 per cent of the capital needed in the movement. The government, if plans are satisfactory, will provide the rest of the money.

Loans for repair work, adding of rooms, and the like will be the first available. The loan plan for new buildings has not yet been perfected. Inquiries being made to the B. C. D. by interested citizens shows that there is much interest here.

WILD BRONCS THROW RIDERS STEERS ALSO UNSEAT MANY RODEO HANDS

PERFORMANCES TO BE GIVEN TODAY AND TOMORROW

Long-legged rodeo hands matched brawn and wits with range stock last night at the opening performance of the B. C. D.-sponsored rodeo at Road Runner park, and came out second best in many instances.

So numerous were the cowboys entered that the group was split, half of them to appear this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to finish the competition in the first bracket. Performances also will be given at 2:30 and 8:15 p. m. on Monday, Labor day.

Leaders in the first half of the competition last night included:

Bull-dogging—First, Ace Henson, 43 3-4 seconds; Jonas D'Armond, second, 53 1-8 minutes; third, no time.

Bronc riding—First, Jonas D'Armond and Buck Jones, in tie, second, Ed King.

Steer riding—First, Jimmie Olsen, second, Boots Flemming; third, Bill Gibson.

Calf roping—First, Biddy Ellison, 17 1/2 seconds; second, Jonas D'Armond, 19 1/2 seconds; third, Siler Hopkins, 21 3-5 seconds.

As stated above, these leaders may be displaced when the other contestants and the other stock go through their paces.

D'Armond rode "Flax", aged rodeo horse owned by Lon L. Bissett. The old veteran, who has given D'Armond many a first place in good rides, showed again last night that the years sit lightly on his glossy back.

"Ginger" on whose back no man has ever qualified, was ridden in a loose-rope exhibition—for a few seconds only.

A remarkable exhibition was given by the high school horse, "Silver Squirrel." This highly trained animal added, multiplied, subtracted, waited, and otherwise astonished the good-sized audience. The horse also can walk on the hind legs and on the knees.

D'Armond bull-dogged a steer in 18 1/2 seconds from the side of a speeding car. Many another "dogger" was not so fortunate. A number of the huge steers were too big to handle. They tossed the men about and, when stopped, stood with front legs apart. Some had a change of pace which caused horses to over-run them. Others were thrown.

Steer-riding afforded the audience some of its best entertainment. While there were a number of remarkable rides, more often than not the riders landed in the soil of the arena, sometimes on their heads. Thrills not on the program developed several times when horses fell in the arena, throwing their riders.

The high school band played at intervals during the performance, directed by Roy Walrabenstein.

Labor Day To Be Varied One In This City

Pampans yesterday began moving over hunting grounds and fishing holes of this territory. Doves and prairie chickens, while not plentiful, will be sought by scores of hunters during the week-end.

Locally, the entertainment program will be featured by the rodeo at Road Runner park. Today's performance will be at 2:30 p. m. Monday's shows will be at 2:30 and 8:15 p. m.

The municipal swimming pool will close for the season Monday night. Dry goods and hardware stores will close all day Monday, it was said yesterday, as well as a number of public offices, some of which, however, will not close until noon.

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy Sunday and Monday.

Workman Goes To Dallas For Salary Boost

Mr. Workman's Successor Has Not Yet Been Selected

W. O. Workman, head of the science department of Pampa high school, has been notified of his election to a teaching position in Highland Park high school of Dallas. The move will mean a substantial increase in salary, although he will not be head of the department in Dallas.

Mr. Workman's successor has not yet been selected. His duties here included that of advertising and publicity for Harvesters contests, a work in which he had had previous experience.

It is a fact not generally known that the average salaries of Pampa teachers are below the average for towns of this size in the southwest. Contrary to a report now in circulation, there has been only one salary increase over last term, and that amounts to about 9 per cent. Salaries in Amarillo are considerably higher than here.

E. N. Dennard has been made head of the history department, succeeding Miss Louise Drenberger, who has resigned since being married. In the mathematics department, Mrs. C. A. Clark will work temporarily because of the absence of Miss Ethel Rice, whose mother is ill at Hereford.

A department which will be given special emphasis this year is that of physical education for girls. Co-rective work for students not physically able to compete in athletic games will be emphasized. Miss Kathleen Milam is the instructor.

Enrollment in the high school was not quite completed yesterday. Any student who did not enroll or whose program of study was not completed is asked to report to the high school Monday. Junior high school, which had registered 350 names up to noon Saturday, will continue enrolling Monday. Classes in all the schools will begin Tuesday morning at 8:45 o'clock, although the ward schools will not enroll until that time and will likely do no more than make assignments.

There will be a general faculty meeting of all teachers and school executives at 10 a. m. Monday in the cafeteria at the central campus. Junior high will have a faculty meeting at 2 p. m.

The Harvesters returned from their mountain camp in time to enroll with the other students. They had no practice yesterday.

Student activities will get underway this week. The band has already had two meetings in the high school. The pep squad will organize during the week. No chapel will be held this week.

A faculty meeting at Sam Houston school has been called by Principal A. L. Patrick at 1:30 Monday afternoon. All teachers at that building are expected to be present to make plans and receive instructions for the term opening Tuesday.

CREAGER OPPOSED

DALLAS, Sept. 1. (AP)—Dallas republicans who announced their opposition to the regime of R. B. Creager of Brownsville, met here today formed the "grand old party," laid plans for a state-wide organization and decided to seek an injunction this week to prevent the secretary of the state from putting any regular republican candidates on the November general election ballot. Harry E. Gordon was named chairman of the local group.

In a telegram to Mr. Ferguson, Garner stated he did not "seek the office of national committeeman from Texas, but in view of the honors paid me by Texas democracy, I don't see how I could consistently decline to comply should the party call upon me to render this service."

"I am very much in favor of Mr. Garner's election as national committeeman," Allred said. "It would be a sacrifice on his part to take the post, but he told me the same thing he has told Mr. Ferguson that he did not feel he could refuse the honor if it were given him."

"I am delighted at the attitude of Mr. Ferguson and now I think all of us should concentrate behind

Accused Of Misappropriating $2,800 Belonging To Hutchinson County

BORGER, Sept. 1. (AP)—Arthur Huey, Hutchinson county tax collector, held in jail on a charge that he killed A. F. Berger, founder of this famous oil boom town, tonight refused comment to newspapermen on the slaying, saying "there is a time and place for that."

Two charges faced the tax collector tonight, that of the slaying, and another complaint accusing him of misappropriating $2,800 belonging to the county. The latter charge filed by L. L. Roberts, county auditor, before Russell Brown, county clerk, alleged a misappropriation of Feb. 27, 1932.

To this charge Huey said: "I've been two years and a half in straightening the matter out and I'm not going to quit. I will exhaust every means, legal and fair, to adjust it."

Borger, who ten years ago had a hunch that there was oil in this section, founded a town that rapidly developed into one of the biggest oil boom centers of the business. A long crime wave followed, thirty slayings being recorded in three years. Martial law was finally declared after a district attorney was slain.

Borger was shot and killed yesterday as he stood in the postoffice here. Huey, holding two pistols, walked out the front door and asked bystanders to "call the sheriff."

"LIMA'S ONLY HOPE IS TO RESIST AND REBEL." CARBON BLACK WAREHOUSE IS FOUND ABLAZE

Texas Elf Stock Is Damaged Early Saturday

As yet unestimated but heavy damage was sustained by the Bowlers plant of the Texas Elf Carbon company yesterday when one million pounds of black in a warehouse was found to be afire.

Employees had an ample supply of water and steam, easily controlling the blaze, but several days will be required to extinguish the smoldering until the product is removed and examined. Some of it can be salvaged. Current prices for carbon black average about 4 cents a pound, but there is no market right now because of over-production.

The concrete and metal building was not damaged except where necessary to tear off sheets to get at the fire. A heavy downpour in the afternoon hampered employees in their work. The Pampa fire department stood by for a time but was not needed.

The fire was discovered about 8 a. m. yesterday.

The same plant had a costly blaze in 1932 when a portion of the pressing unit burned. Precautions taken as a result of the knowledge gained in that fire prevented heavier damage yesterday.

Former Borger Policeman Shot

BORGER, Sept. 1. (AP)—Charley Payton, former city policeman, was shot twice in the back by an unknown assailant here tonight.

Payton, now a laborer, was working on his back porch at 10 o'clock when four shots were fired at him out of darkness.

One of them struck him below the left shoulder, and the other hit his left arm. He was reported in a serious condition in a hospital here tonight, and there was a possibility that he would be paralyzed from the hips down, attendants said.

Officers were working on clues which pointed toward an individual with whom Payton recently had had differences.

YOUTH KILLED BY LIGHTNING DURING STORM

FOUR-FOOT WALL OF WATER DAMAGES BUILDINGS

CLARENDON, Sept. 1.—From out of the southwest rolled a 4 1/2 foot wall of water this afternoon, filling basements and stores in the town in the business section, marooning citizens on second floors and roofs, sweeping automobiles along the streets, and washing out 500 feet of F. W. & D. railroad track, but the only casualty came in a freakish flash of lightning.

Alfred Walker, 16, was killed and his father shocked by a bolt which struck the truck in which they were riding to town near the city limits. Several others on the truck were not injured although dazed for the time.

Lake Covers 6 Miles
Clarendon lake, which usually covers about 100 acres north of town, tonight had the ocean-like dimensions of six square miles and was backed up into the edge of town, where a number of houses were abandoned by the residents. Firemen and volunteers formed a rescue squad and removed persons who could not safely join the general practice of wading.

Damage to crops was very light, but in town basements stocks were soaked, stores swamped by as much as 3 feet of water, and mud was left on everything the torrent touched. Ordinarily, a concerted drain through the town carries the water from a drainage area extending 5 miles or more from the city, eastward. Today a wall of water swept down on the town while the rain fell in gusts and sheets, driven by a hard wind. Lightning was severe.

The rain started falling in torrents shortly before noon and continued until 3 o'clock. It totaled about 5 inches in the city, though less beyond. It was the heaviest

I SAW--

Many Pampans in the last few days crowded around four small boys, all brothers, who play guitars, banjos, ukas, and sing hill-billy and popular songs. The boys are Virgil Friley 11, Jack 10, Buddy 9 and Billy 8. Another brother Wendell 13, is at Burkhardt. Their papa, who travels with them taught them to sing and play.

Germany Accused Of Teaching War To Saarlanders

GENEVA, Sept. 1 (AP)—Nazi Germany stood formally accused tonight of providing military training for 16,000 German residents of the Saar in preparation for the Plebisite in that region Jan. 13.

The Saar will vote early next year to rejoin Germany, join France or remain under League of Nations mandate.

The League of Nations' commission now governing the Saar today advised the league's home offices that it had discovered documentary proof that Saarlanders are being given military training in German labor camps.

So serious did it consider the situation, the commission said, that it has drafted an order banning the German labor organization from the Saar and instructing youths now enrolled to report to police for surveillance.

A Nazi "putsch" to force a pro-German vote in the Plebisite was hinted at in some league quarters here.

Documents seized in the office of the German front organization's voluntary labor service in the Saar proved the German front "is maintaining constant relations with the Reich authorities and promoting their interference in Saar affairs," the governing commission reported.

FAVORITES IN RACQUET MEET SURVIVE FIRST

WILMER ALLISON, FRED PERRY, STOEFFEN TO SECOND ROUND

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 1 (AP)—Perfunctory procedure of the first round of the 53rd men's national singles tennis championship went along today without a hitch, with Fred Perry, the British holder of the title, barely getting a workout in his elimination of Carl H. Schwickler.

While most of the big guns were muffed by virtue of receiving first round byes, the British titlist accounted for the former Columbia university star in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1, 6-3, and led four seeded domestic challengers—George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago; Lester R. Stoeffen of Los Angeles; Clifford Sutter of New York and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., into the second round.

They were the only members of a select group of 15 Americans and foreign seeded players who saw action in the opening round. The ten others will swing into action for the first time in the second round on labor day.

Lott, whose victory over Frank Salsels yesterday in the semi-finals of the eastern regional championship brought him light among the foremost contenders for the crown, put on one of his occasional indifferent performances and barely slaved off elimination by young Marco Hecht, University of Pennsylvania star.

With the youngster having every stroke in his repertory working to perfection, Lott had to make some remarkable recoveries in the final set to pull out the match, 6-2, 6-3, 7-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Allison, who is figured to have the best chance of restoring the championship to this country, met a formidable antagonist in Gilbert Hunthof, Washington, D. C., and had to lift his game to the heights that carried him to victory in the western and Los Angeles tournaments to turn back the vigorous challenge of the youngster who was a finalist in the 1934 inter-collegiate championship.

Stammers Wins Singles Titles On Grass Court

RYE, N. Y., Sept. 1 (AP)—Katherine Stammers won the women's single title of the eastern grass court tennis championships today, defeating Freda James, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, in the fourth all-English final in as many years.

Miss James, surprise conqueror of her compatriot, Betty Nuthall, in the semi-finals yesterday, put up a strong battle against Miss Stammers but finally succumbed to the steady play of Britain's fourth-ranking player. Miss James is ranked No. 12 abroad.

Miss Stammers and Miss James returned to the courts after their singles tussle to annex the doubles, defeating Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian, and Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., 6-3, 6-8.

Donald Budge, red-headed Oakland youngster, and Gene Mako of Los Angeles, scored a decisive victory over John McDiarmid, Fort Worth, and Jack Tidball, Oakland, Calif., in the men's doubles, 7-5, 8-6. Mako and Budge had scored a surprise victory over the English stars, Fred Perry and F. H. D. Wilde to reach the finals.

The men's singles final between George Lott of Chicago and Frankie Parkel of Spring Lake, N. Y., will be played tomorrow.

Texan Stars For Western Poloists

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 1 (AP)—Playing their first game as a unit, the west's polo stars defeated the Freebooters, 13 to 11, at the Meadow Brook club today in a tune-up for the start of the inter-sectional series against the east next Saturday.

Devereux, Milburn, 53-year-old back for the Freebooters, suffered a fractured collarbone.

The west, with Eric Pedley, Cecil Smith, Aidan Beak and Elmer Boeseke, a 36-goal combination, riding in that order, gave an impressive demonstration of hard and accurate hitting. Smith, 10-goal Texan, led the scoring with five goals.

CARDS BREAK TIE
CHICAGO, Sept. 1 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals broke the second place tie with the Cubs today by winning the second game of the series, 7 to 1.

Bill Hallahan shut out the Cardinals until the ninth, while the Cardinals took advantage of an error by Augie Galan with two bases filled and two out in the second inning to pile up four unearned runs.

The victory allowed the Cardinals to keep pace five and a half games behind the Giants, who also were winning again today, while it sent the Cubs down into third place six and a half games in arrears.

Tigers Spurt to Win
CLEVELAND, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Tigers came from behind again today, tying the score in the eighth inning, then hammered around two more runs in the eleventh to defeat the Indians, 6-4 in the second game of their series.

It was Detroit's tenth extra-inning victory this season and increased the Tiger lead over the defeated New York Yankees to 5 1/2 games.

Marvin Owen, Detroit's star third baseman, drove in the winning runs when he smashed Willis Hudlin's delivery for a double to right center, but a lot happened before that.

The Tigers trailed from the third inning, when Earl Averill belted his 23rd home run with one aboard, until the eighth. Then Gerald Walker bounced a single off Flicher Oral Hudibrand's leg, stole second and scored the tying run on Jo-Jo White's single.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT THE NATIONAL HOUSING ACT

What is the purpose of the National Housing Act

President Roosevelt says "many of our homes need repairing and modernizing to bring them up to the standards of the times."

The purpose of the National Housing Act is to make it possible for home owners to secure funds to repair, remodel or modernize homes at low rates of interest with repayment privileges covering a long period of time.

What is the money available for?

For repairing, for remodeling, for alterations of established homes.

Who is eligible to get the money?

Any home owner of good character — who has a means a livelihood and is able to meet the payments required may borrow funds to repair and bring them up to "standard of times."

IF YOU ARE A HOME OWNER OF GOOD CHARACTER AND MEANS OF LIVELIHOOD

YOU CAN GET THE MONEY

The United States Government has made it possible and practical for nearly every homeowner to GET MONEY NOW to repair, remodel, MODERNIZE homes.

You can get a loan for home improvement even if your home is now mortgaged up to sixty per cent of its value.

Uncle Sam says, "Go ahead and borrow the money. I have arranged for you to get it on easy terms with long time to pay and low rates of interest if you are of good character — a good moral risk — and have steady means of earning a living, you are eligible to borrow under the provisions of the National Housing Act."

Don't delay — plan to modernize your home now. Call in your contractor, painter, building material dealer, plumber, or roofer for estimates.

WRITERS VOTE PONIES AS '34 GRID CHAMPS

CLAIM NO SOUTHWEST TEAM WILL BE UNDEFEATED

FORT WORTH, Sept. 1.—The Southern Methodist University Mustangs will win the 1934 Southwest Conference football championship.

At least that is what Southwest sports writers think about it. Here's the way these pre-season guessers think the seven schools will finish the season:

Southern Methodist University, University of Texas, Texas A. & M. College, Texas Christian University, Rice University of Arkansas, Baylor University.

Probably the most surprising thing about the result (the sport editors gave their opinions on how the seven teams would finish in response to a request of this writer) is the placing of the Arkansas Razorbacks in fifth place. Much of the early gossip has given the Razorbacks a good chance to finish on top of the heap. The Hogs were "guessed" in every position from first to last.

T. C. U. Baylor and Rice failed to get a single vote for first place. Most of the dopsters placed the three teams just about where they stand in the final results.

Texas got votes for from first to sixth place; A. & M. for from first to seventh; and S. M. U. for from first to sixth. Slightly more than one-third of those voting, however, picked the Mustangs for first place, which puts them far out in front as pre-season favorites.

Several sports writers volunteered the opinion that no Southwest eleven would go through the 1934 conference season undefeated.

Fight Card Is Canceled Here

There will be no fight program here this week.

Premoter B. W. Kelly yesterday announced cancellation of the scheduled all-night program set for Wednesday. Arrangements and moving of the ring from Road Runner park to the Pla-Mor auditorium could not be completed in time.

The night battles will take place Sept. 11 at the Pla-Mor. Mr. Kelly said.

Where Do Homeowners Go to Get the Money?

To your community's established lending agencies such as banks, insurance companies and building and loan companies. These agencies recognized by the United States Housing Administration, have full details about the act and are ready to answer any other questions.

When Will the Funds Be Ready To Use?

The money is waiting now. Homeowners desiring to take advantage of the privileges of the National Housing Act should consult with lending agencies in their community at once.

Why Was the National Housing Act Passed?

To set up credit machinery to make it easy for homeowners to secure funds to repair and modernize homes and to bring them up to the standard of the times.

To foster increased business and employment in the building trades and allied lines — a vital part of the administration's recovery program which leads up to what the President terms, "a more abundant life."

NO SATISFACTORY SOLUTION IN SIGHT AS GAS IS INVESTIGATED

NEXT SESSION OF SOLONS TO HEAR REPORT

ELEVEN WELLS COME IN DURING LAST WEEK

BY GEORGE L. GUTHRIE

Consulting Geologist, Combs-Worley Bldg.

The senatorial report on the distribution of natural gas for the last few years has been submitted to the Senate Investigating Committee. Senator Beck appointed a sub-committee of four to study the Panhandle gas situation. It is the intention of the committee to get all the evidence in shape that some legislation can be passed in the next session. The committee is said to consider the situation acute and to see a need for some legislation for the control of waste.

For the last few months, domestic gas company engineers have been carrying on tests to show that it is possible to return gas to the gas sands. This was done by taking the gas from a well higher on the structure with a greater rock pressure and piping it to a well with lower rock pressure, thus returning it to the gas sand. This could be carried on until the pressure became equalized; however, this was only a means of showing that the gas could be reintroduced to the sands.

In the case of a gasoline plant stripping the residue gas and returning the residue gas to the sand, this likely would put an end to the gasoline plant because in addition to increased cost of compressing the gas to a sufficient pressure to reintroduce it to the sands, there would be dilution of the natural gas already in the gas sand. It would soon become unprofitable for the plant to operate because it would have to handle much more gas to get the recovery of casinghead gasoline which it now does.

The picture a few years from now, would be that domestic gas companies would be taking all of the gas from the Panhandle because it would not be profitable for gasoline plants to operate. The gasoline content of the gas would be diluted but the scrubber plants on the domestic lines, which have to be on the lines to stop gasoline from precipitating in the lines, would still be in operation and would produce all of the casinghead gas.

If casinghead plants can operate and blow the gas into the air at a profit, why not let them sell the residue gas for domestic purposes? ask many persons. There is no doubt that the gas situation is drastic and that something must be done about it; however, I do not believe that repressuring is the solution to the problem. The landowner should be protected; he should always get a check for the gasoline content of his gas as well as the residue.

The number of drilling activities fell off during the week with the starting of 5 new wells and the completion of 11 wells. No wells were brought in for very large production, but most of them were good producers.

RICH SAAR VALLEY TO CHOOSE BETWEEN FRANCE, GERMANY AND NEUTRALITY ON NEXT JAN. 13

(Will the Saar become French or German, or will that rich valley lying between old foes remain a political ward of the League of Nations?)

A turbulent campaign is under way to induce eligible residents of the Saar to vote for one or another of three possible determinations in a plebiscite next January.

In a series of four articles, the Associated Press will present a resume of the issues involved. The first, which follows, outlines general aspects of the problem.)

(By The Associated Press.)

An extraordinary political campaign is drawing to a rousing close in the Saar.

The rich valley, in a swirl of international political rivalries, must decide Jan. 13, 1935, whether it will be German, French or neutral. In final phases of the campaign, there is a spectacular collision of nationalistic jealousies, ambitions and aspirations.

The Saar basin is a region about the size of the state of Rhode Island. It is home to 800,000 inhabitants who, since the war, theoretically were without nationality. Lying between France and Germany, near the headwaters of the Rhine, it was a hot which the treaty makers at Versailles did not care to crack in 1919.

In Germany, where the spirit of nationalism runs hot, the Saar is regarded a dismembered part of the fatherland. The Saarlanders it is confidently believed through the reich, impatiently await the day they will be taken back into the fold of German states. Germany, fired by the enthusiasm of Chancellor Hitler and aroused by the Nazi propaganda machine, is carrying on a vigorous drive to induce the Saar to "come home."

In France there is a notable disposition on the part of the government to keep official hands off the question. But the government regards indulgently the efforts of unofficial committees to impress on the Saar the desirability of union with France. Throughout France, however, there is a recognition of the Germanic character of the Saar people and culture, if the valley should vote to join France it will be because other factors, notably religious have colored the situation.

In Geneva, the immediate concern is that there be a fair, orderly and secret expression of the wishes of the Saar electorate. It is no secret that most league officials would sigh with relief if their "problem child" would take up with either France or Germany.

Under provisions of the peace treaty, France received the Saar mines, valued at about $100,000,000, as compensation for French mines flooded by the German army in the Lens district. The mines must be purchased by the Germans if the Saar votes to join the reich, but no exchange difficulties are anticipated because there are said to be enough francs in the Saar to pay the bill.

Colonel G. G. Knox, an Australian of Irish ancestry, chairman of the Saar commission, and on him, chiefly, falls the responsibility for seeing that it is a fair plebiscite. He has made repeated complaints to the league of nations that nazis have resorted to terrorist campaign methods. The nazis retorted by accusing Col. Knox of partiality.

The colonel holds one powerful trump card. He has authority to call in the army of France if disorders occur, or if he believes free expression is being denied. In some quarters there is apprehension that Col. Knox may feel obliged to play the trump.

Miss Blanche Adams, who has been visiting her sister, Miss Ruby Adams, the past month will leave today for a short stay with her father at Denton before going to Galveston, where she teaches.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—The stock market was all but deserted today, and trading fell to the smallest volume for a Saturday in 16 years.

Price changes were narrow and mostly unimportant. Business was large in the nature of lightning both long and short accounts before the holiday week-end. Sales were only 113,060 shares, the smallest since Aug. 3, 1918, when only 68,700 shares were traded.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 1. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Livestock trade at mid-western markets this week was featured by substantially higher prices despite the fact that receipts were 74,000 heavier than last week.

The chief stimulating factor to the trade was the active demand at high prices for dressed beef.

Grain-fed steers and yearlings are 50-75 higher than last Saturday while other killing classes are generally 15-50 higher. Chicago scored 10.90, a new high for the season, for finished 1300-lb steers. There was a fairly broad demand for stockers and feeders.

lowing announcement of a bullish crop estimate. Part of this strength was reflected in wheat but the volume did not swell, traders showing a hesitancy. Disquieting to sentiment was the threatening textile workers strike.

September wheat deliveries reacted from early lows almost a cent at the close. September new wheat finished at $1.02 1/2-3/4, December new at $1.03, and May at $1.04 1/2-1.05. The corn trade was confused at the start because of inauguration of trading in new-style contracts necessitated by new grading rules which went into effect today. December old tumbled to 79 1/2 early but gained a cent, closing at 80 to 80 1/2 cents.

Provisions were unevenly steady. Oats were 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, rye was 1/4 down to 1/2 up and barley was unchanged to 1/4 lower.

widely split by "politics" and were unable to unite on a coordinated relief policy. He added the commissioners were busy with personal business and could not devote sufficient time to supervising relief.

"If we appointed a full-time, salaried commission we at least would know how relief money was being spent," Long said. "As it is there is no one or group of men that can tell you where relief funds have gone or what they have been spent for. With a full time commission we would get the job done."

The commissioners would be paid $4,000 or $5,000 annually and would be in session continuously. The governor, lieutenant-governor and speaker of the house of representatives each would appoint one member.

Long cited, as an example of inefficiency, a session at which he said the commission approved 35 or 40 local administrative boards within an hour. Incompetent local boards have been the source of many administration ills and have caused relief loans to be out of proportion with actual needs. Adam R. Johnson, state relief director, told the senate.

camera with Huey running the whole show. He dropped easily into the roll of cross examiner and gloated over testimony that assaulted the reputation of his political foes. A string of witnesses told the committee that they had knowledge of the operation of a huge lottery ring, race horse handbooks and houses of girls with protection money being paid to the police and city administration.

The high spot of the testimony was the witness, Huey Long, said he was Henry R. Long, native of Mississippi, and no relation to Huey Long, testified that some twenty lottery establishments were operated in New Orleans and paid approximately $3,500 weekly, protection money to city officials.

He said each establishment paid Mayor Walmsey fifty dollars weekly and thirty-five dollars weekly to the police superintendent. Other protection funds were paid to police captains, he said.

The witness, saying he was Edward J. Oakes, said that Carroll Walmsey, brother of Mayor Walmsey, had offered to get his property unseized from residential property to business property for $1,000. Oakes said he did not pay the thousand and his application for unseizing was rejected but that his neighbor had his place unseized.

After the hearings had adjourned until two p. m. Tuesday, Mayor Walmsey issued a statement denying the testimony concerning him.

FLOOD

downpour ever recorded here. The water drained from the city within a few hours, leaving a layer of mud.

A section of pavement of highway 5 was washed out. At one time, 7 feet of water stood in the Ft. Worth & Denver yards for several minutes. Trains were halted pending repair of the washed out track.

An open-air tabernacle was swept by the flood. Only a piano remained after the storm had passed.

General rains fell over this territory and heavy clouds appeared menacing tonight when viewed by a nervous populace.

Rescue Squads Mustered

Fire alarms were blown to assemble rescue squads to take women and children to higher ground. There was never any great danger to lives in the residential areas, but it was not known how many walls of water would strike the city.

Because the water moved constantly through the business area, the water did not remain steady as to depth. For the greater part of the time it was about 30 inches deep. Telephone and electric service was never interrupted.

J. C. Estlack, editor of the Clarion Leader, told THE NEWS correspondent that he had been besieged by newspapers down state, news gathering agencies, and individuals seeking information about relatives. He said that while the damage was heavy, the significance of the flood was so much exaggerated that a wrong picture of the incident had been given in first reports. He said that only a cloud burst could send more water through the town than the natural drainage could carry. Such a rare occurrence happened today.

Citizens doubted, however, that drastic steps would be taken to prevent a recurrence of the flood.

B. C. D. NEWS ABOUT YOUR TOWN AND MINE.

The Directory

Through the Board of City Development, the B. C. D. Directory company was induced to come to Pampa some 5 years ago to print an up-to-date directory.

Realizing that the directory did not cover many lines just outside the city, especially in the oil field, the B. C. D. company was requested to include an oil section in the new directory. In order to accomplish this purpose, a campaign was put on a great deal of research, was made, letters were written over a period of several weeks, and the information that is in the new directory was compiled. In the back of the directory are a number of pages showing the various oil interests in this territory, and throughout the body of the directory the names of employees of a large portion of these companies have been inserted alphabetically. Through this work we have a directory which gives a large part of the names of employees of the hundreds of oil companies in this territory, and this will make the directory of great value to the business interests of the city.

Cooperation With J. C. C.

About three years ago, the B. C. D. of young men who were not active in civic work and knowing that these men could be of great value to the city and themselves through the training they would obtain in such organization, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, during three years, the relationship of the two organizations has been a happy one in every way possible.

It was the general understanding of the two organizations that the Junior chamber of commerce would take over as its work such plans as it has carried out, such as Santa pany of Buffalo, must deal with that union on wages and hours instead of the "company" union.

"This board stands upon the majority rule," said the formal opinion.

"And it does the more willingly," the board added, "because the rule is in accord with American traditions of political democracy which empower representatives elected by the majority of the voters to speak for all the people."

The eve of the textile strike and the start of the Labor Day week-end found the country with only one other major labor disturbance on its hands. Nearly 10,000 employees of the Aluminum company of America were striking for a written contract, collection of union dues by the company and a universal wage scale. Government-supervised negotiations ended that walk-out were to be resumed in Pittsburgh next Wednesday.

There were indications that although the American Federation of Labor had made important gains since NRA all was not peaceful within the organization itself.

Next month the A. F. of L. has its annual convention in San Francisco. There will be re-opened the old squabble of "horizontal" vs. "vertical" union organization. The A. F. of L. originally was forged largely on "horizontal" lines—meaning that workers in each trade should belong to a nation-wide union of that trade.

But new problems of organization stimulated agitation for the "vertical" plan, under which every employe in a single industry, regardless of his job, would join a single union.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)— Momentous decisions vitally affecting labor stood upon the books or impeded today as the nation moved into a traditional labor day week-end blurred by a threatening general textile strike.

Issues brought to focus by the textile strike—the power of the new labor relations board; the worth of walkouts to gain NRA code revisions; the principle of federal relief aid to strikers—all may write new chapters in labor history.

As the labor day week-end began, organized workers in general already had recorded another important victory—an upholding of "majority rule." The national labor relations board ruled today that since the automobile workers federal union won an election among the employes by 1,105 to 647, the House Engineering com-

WAGONER PRAISES Seiberling Tires

Realizing that heat is the greatest enemy of rubber and tire life, tire engineers have always sought to perfect a tire that would be self-cooling.

"The Seiberling air-cooled tire," says Lee Waggoner, local Seiberling dealer, "is the only tire however, that really cools and air-conditions itself as it runs."

"This is possible because the Seiberling air cooled tire has many small wind tunnels traversing the tread. As the tire rolls these tunnels open and close, forcing out destructive heat generated inside the tire and pumping in cool, fresh air."

"At 60 miles per hour, more than 24,000 cubic inches of fresh air passes through the tread of the average size Seiberling air cooled tire. Exhaustive tests prove that this tire runs 25 per cent cooler than the ordinary tire."

"This means a cool running, longer life tire," Mr. Waggoner explains, "and a tire that is much safer from blowouts."

DIRECTOR OF BUDGET QUILTS-BELL CHOSEN

HANDS IN RESIGNATION AFTER DISPUTES WITH F. D. R.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 1. (AP)—President Roosevelt today confirmed the resignation of Lewis Douglas as director of the budget by announcing the appointment of Daniel W. Bell, commissioner of accounts and deposits, to serve as acting director.

This was the first official intimation the president had given of receipts of Douglas' resignation, which was handed to Mr. Roosevelt Thursday, while Douglas paid a brief call at Hyde Park house. The call was described at the time as purely social.

The president announced the appointment of a temporary successor to Douglas at the conclusion of a busy round of conferences, during which he approved an extension of the existing NRA automobile code for two months to November 3; received a report of progress on the housing program from James A. Moffat, administrator, and watched developments in the textile strike.

His acceptance of the resignation was made known also within two hours after Marvin H. McIntyre, presidential secretary, had told newspaper correspondents that "there is nothing to say" about the Douglas resignation.

At the same time, Mr. Roosevelt announced that Douglas also had submitted the resignation of F. W. Lurvey the assistant director of the budget.

Bell is a veteran of the treasury and apparently was selected without regard for political qualifications. He entered the treasury in 1911 as a young man and worked up through the various grades to his present position.

While Mr. Roosevelt held Douglas' resignation on his desk today, and before announcing the acceptance of it, he mapped out in conference with special aides the money needs for the continuing employment and drought relief which was one of the original causes of the split between the president and his budget director.

It was the $525,000,000 drought relief appropriation authorized by the president that was one of the many points of dispute between the president and Douglas. This item exceeded the budget and the director balked strenuously.

The president insisted the drought was a calamity of nature that must be met at the cost of exceeding the budget. Agriculture and relief experts have estimated even more money will be required but the president is hopeful of keeping within the sum.

Ford Dealer in Big Contest on Auto Servicing

Tom Rose, local Ford dealer, and employees, with particular reference to service managers and parts merchandisers, are putting forth their best efforts to win their share of awards in the Century of Progress Contest, now being conducted concurrently by each of the Ford Motor company's 32 branches throughout the United States.

The purpose of the contest, which began July 15th and will conclude September 15th, is to bring to a maximum of efficiency the service rendered Ford car owners. Winners will be determined by a point system, which stresses such essentials as maintaining a model shop, with up-to-date equipment and skilled mechanics, maintaining a minimum, well-balanced stock and selling genuine Ford parts and accessories.

The numerous prizes include automobile radios, gold watches, traveling bags, pen and pencil sets, with the top awards for service managers and parts merchandisers—of three-day all expense paid trips to the Ford Exposition at the World's Fair, Chicago.

There are 600 first prizes, so that late in September when the winners have been determined, 600 Ford service and parts men will descend on Chicago—the largest single group of Ford employees to visit the fair.

Miss Louise McLean, public school teacher here, arrived Friday night from her home at Denton, where she spent the summer.

TIGER ISLAND

By GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

SYNOPSIS: The owners of the "Boldero," Captain Wong Bo and Flint, the "spark," plan to scuttle her for the insurance. Aboard is Angus McLeod with a cargo of wild animals; McLeod falls ill and must go ashore. But the animals must go on to Singapore, and Harvey Bowers, hunter, volunteers to take them. Bowers visits a stranded Malay circus at the little Dutch port where the "Boldero" is tied up, to find the animal expert to assist him.

Chapter Four BIG BERTHA

Some of the ballyhoo posters were still in place, and if you had judged from these and not from the smallness and shabbiness of the tents, you would have judged that the Matassoni Circus was of monstrous caliber and world fame. The stink jungle beyond was lighted here and there by long strops slanting shafts of sunlight.

Bowers and his Malay chauffeur hunted about for traces of an animal trainer in the first three sideshow tents they found only evidences of hasty packing and abandonment. But in the fourth tent, which was very little, they found a woman who had a voice.

The ballyhoo posters without, had informed them that her name was Big Bertha, that she was a genuine English lady, and that she weighed six hundred pounds. To many Orientals, adiposity and beauty are synonymous.

At the sight of the representation of the vast woman on the poster, the Malay chauffeur, who was young and by nature predatory and a wastrel where women were concerned, made a clicking noise with the tip of his tongue. Big Bertha, who must actually have weighed very close to six hundred pounds, dressed in her best pink tights and velvet frunks, sat on a tin trunk, reading a book.

She had clear-cut features of the usual size; but by the scale of her body, they seemed small and mean. It is probable that she heard the sounds of the two men entering the tent, for they had lifted a flap of the canvas and let it fall rattlingly behind them, but she did not look up. Bowers cleared his throat and said:

"Beg your pardon."

With a most snobbish imitation of an English gentleman's way of speaking, and transferring her gaze from book to the intruders, Big Bertha murmured the one word: "Granted." Then she laid her book open and face down, on the trunk beside her, and picked up a handy sheaf of highly varnished photographs.

"You will 'ardly wish to show up at 'ome," she said, "without one of these."

Bowers took the photographs in his hand and looked through them. While he was thus engaged, Big Bertha perceived that the chauffeur stood rooted and gazed upon her with awe and rapture. She dropped him a wink, accompanied by faint twisting of her gigantic torso.

This incipient romance was interrupted by Bowers, who had been reading the fine print at the bottom of the photographs.

"Did you really weigh twenty-nine pounds at birth?" he asked, and in his voice there was a kind of horrified admiration.

"Twenty-nine pounds to an ounce," said Big Bertha, "and the mater only a little sprite of a woman. Fancy!"

"And only a gulden each," said Bowers. "I find that I cannot be happy with less than six."

He selected six of the photographs, pretty much at random, pocketed them and paid for them. This was the easiest money that Big Bertha had seen in many a day, and she wondered if by any chance, the young and obviously rich young man was one of those very rare Americans who admire fat. His next question seemed to suggest to her heart, which every day rendered extremely susceptible, that he was.

"Now that the show is on the rocks," he said, "what are you going to do for a living?"

Big Bertha bridled and even simpered. "In Oriental countries," she said, "women of my type don't have to worry about the old daily bread."

If she thought to have made a conquest, she was undecieved by the next question which was asked her. It was asked in a very businesslike way.

"Can you, perhaps," said Bowers, "tell me if the animal trainer is still on the premises?"

Big Bertha became instantly cold and distant. Doubtless she thought she resembled a queen dismissing an unsatisfactory subject.

"Last tent down the road," she said icily.

Bowers, who hated to give offense, realized that he had done so, and as the imperious woman reached for her book, he smiled most engagingly and asked:

"What are you reading?"

But Big Bertha was not to be mollified. Her answer was cold and stately.

"Eat and Grow Thin," she said. "It was all that Bowers could do not to guffaw in her face. With a clicking thanks and a goodby, he turned and fled."

Not so for the chauffeur. His eyes had not for a moment quitted the person of Big Bertha, and his admiration had grown steadily. He now moved toward her as if drawn by an irresistible force. Her face softened for a moment among the folds of his sarong, the chauffeur produced a dirty little purse well stuffed with silver.

"If you please," he said, "I'd like to buy pitch."

It was not the ballyhoo posters, depicting the most dangerous animals in the most enraged and devastating states of mind, which caused Harvey Bowers to hesitate at the entrance to the animal-tent, but a woman's voice.

It was a cold, hard voice to which words seemed to come easily. It was a kind of voice often associated with persons who, because of economic pressure, have no time for the essential. It was a voice of authority, and it was laying down the law. It was finding fault and reproving, but it was not an angry voice.

Indeed, it seemed to find a kind of humor in its own utterances. But the voice must have been addressing itself to a very meek and humble audience, for there was never once the sound of an answer or a word of remonstrance in some other voice.

He gathered presently that the voice was the voice of an exasperated mother, dressing down a daughter who had misbehaved. The scolding came to a sudden stop, and Bowers had begun to lift the flap of the tent, when it started up again.

next session of the legislature which convenes next January.

Learns Oil Conditions

The representative-elect who received an even greater majority of votes in Gray county than he did in Wheeler county where he lives, has been making a tour of the four-county district since the runoff primary. Last week, he spent acquainting himself with literal and "black-and-white" conditions in the Gray and Wheeler county oil fields.

He has visited stripping plants, carbon black plants, oil wells, and has conferred with all persons concerned in the gas stripping plant controversy.

Thanks Voters

Dcnley county, he said, has the most acute relief situation in the district. Farmers, especially, are in bad shape. He was anxious to learn whether the flood of yesterday further damaged the crops there. He said the relief needs of that county could be surmised in a single visit to the Clarendon relief agency.

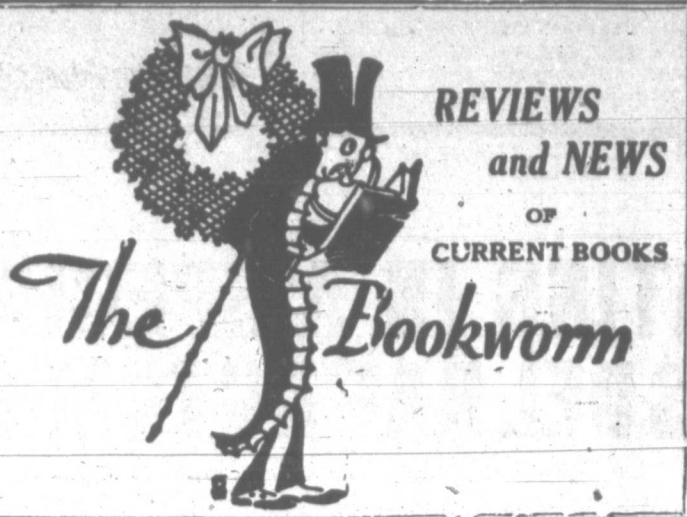

In thanking the voters of Gray county for the big majority given him, Mr. Worley said that he wanted to hear from the voters and that he would answer all inquiries and letters addressed to him. "I intend to serve the people of this district as they want to be served," he declared.

For Pre-Centennial

Mr. Worley has been interested in Pampa's Pre-Centennial celebration since its inception last spring. He said that he would use his power of persuasion to help Pampa obtain a state appropriation in 1936 to produce a Centennial celebration. An act of the legislature authorizes the Texas Centennial celebrations over the state. Sites will be determined Nov. 1. The only requirement is the cooperation of the people. There is no limit to the number of such secondary celebrations. Pampa, "the Centennial city of the Panhandle" will apply for a secondary celebration, and Mr. Worley offered his assistance in obtaining it.

Last week, he attended the organization meeting of the Panhandle League in Amarillo, where plans to obtain good roads and other benefits for the Panhandle were discussed and made. He said he would take the initiative in supporting movements that will lead to the closing of gaps in Panhandle roads.

Mr. Worley arrived in Pampa yesterday and will remain until Tuesday.

MARY AUSTIN

At the age of 65, Mary Austin, whose unique mental equipment more than once won her the epithet, "the most intelligent woman in America," is dead at her Casa Querida in Santa Fe. Never robust, she claimed to have kept alive and active more through the singular power of prayer which she learned from the American Indian, whose cause she steadily championed than from the resources of medical science. In 1903, when the doctors gave her nine months at the most of a major operation, "she counted her money and decided that she had enough to die on," she went abroad because she understood there were places in Italy where one in great pain could die quietly. How she was able to "evade the pronounced symptoms of cancer," and live, through recurrent illness, for thirty fruitful years, is told in her "Christ in Italy," "Experiences Facing Death," and "Earth Horizon." Collapsing from an acute attack of angina at a banquet given on November 1, 1932, by the Boston Authors' club to mark the publication of her autobiography, she got up the next day and went to a musical comedy, saying: "I understand enough about my life pattern to know that I shall not go out suddenly."

Born in Carlinville, Illinois, of pioneer ancestry, Mary Austin was self-educated. She was marked with unusual clairvoyant gifts and wrote poetry at the age of seven. Susan B. Anthony and Frances Willard directed her attention to the Suffrage and Prohibition movements before she moved west to witness the end of the cowboy period and the decline of the Spanish culture of California. Her marriage took her to the Mojave desert and showed her the last remnant of the old mining life. Here she studied the sheep-herding business described in "The Flock," taught school, began to win recognition as a writer of importance, and developed a lasting interest in the art and lore of the American Indian.

Later in California, she founded the celebrated Carmel colony with Jack London and George Sterling, and wrote her first major book, "The Land of Little Rain." After traveling extensively in Europe, she spent several winters in New York before settling at the close of the War in Santa Fe, in the belief that "the next great rise of English-speaking culture would take place in that region." Critics have accorded her a secure position in the top flight of women writers, and in England her work has been recognized by such writers as H. G. Wells, Joseph Conrad, Bernard Shaw, May Sinclair and Rebecca West. The friend and advisor of two Presidents, Theodore Roosevelt and Herbert Hoover, her influence has by no means been confined to the literary medium. She was closely in touch with many of the central movements and leading figures of her generation, and when her autobiography appeared, the New York Herald Tribune characterized it as "the story of America."

Of Mary Austin's sphere and scope, Henry Smith has written in the New Mexico Review: "She is interested in botany, geology, archaeology, the psychology of genius, history, anthropology, literary history, sociology, prose fiction, regional culture, religion, and verse for children; but all because, and to the extent that, she is impelled toward the integration of the human personality as it actually exists, everywhere in some specific environment, and particularly in America in the environment which has seemed to her, after long experience of many others, most fundamentally American; the West, ultimately the Southwest. . . . It is impossible to call her lifelong quest scholarship, politics, science, or art; it is all these, by turns or simultaneously, but at bottom it is a quest for the fullness of life."

Books by Mary Austin: "The Land of Little Rain," "The Basket Woman," "Isidro," "The Flock," "Santa Lucia," "Lost Borders," "Christ in Italy," "The Arrow Maker," "Women of Genius," "The Lovely Lady," "Love and the Soul-Maker," "The Man Jesus," "The Ford," "The Young Woman Citizen," "The Trail Book," "Outland," "No. 26 Jayne Street," "The American Rhythm," "The Land of Journey's Ending," "A Small Town Man," "Everyman's Genius," "Lands of the Sun," "The Children Sing in the Far West," "Starry Adventure," "Experiences Facing Death," "Earth Horizon," "One Smoke Stories."

"LEISURE, A SUBURBAN STUDY," by George A. Lundberg (Columbia University Press). Leisure, in the view of Isaac Watts, is only an opportunity for mischief. Our grandmothers told us that Satan found occupation for idle hands. Only a decade or two ago, we looked askance at men who didn't go to business every week day, and what's more, stay there. Clock watchers were taboo—it was a sin to want work to end and play to begin.

No more. We have, for instance, Gove Hambidge writing a book called "Time To Live" in which he frankly confesses that he walked out of his office for good one day because he didn't like it. "People bought and read the book and presumably some of them agreed with Mr. Hambidge."

Now Dr. George A. Lundberg, of Columbia university, has taken Westchester county, north of New York, for a laboratory specimen. Westchester is probably the best known of New York's suburbs, populated by a class of humanity which has, on the average, a little more money and a little more leisure than those who live nearer Times Square. Dr. Lundberg has dissected Westchester.

He tears it to bits, and finds (to be brief) that although Westchester people want to use leisure well, they don't know how. One gathers that a good deal of Westchester time is just frittered away—not that Dr. Lundberg disbelieves in frittering as such.

"My hands are so awkward" confessed Montaigne, "that I cannot even write legibly enough for myself, so that I prefer to rewrite what I have scribbled rather than give myself the trouble of deciphering it." One sympathizes, therefore, with Marvin Lowenthal in the task which confronted him when he set down to write, not the biography, but the Autobiography of Montaigne.

Dr. Janet Miller's "Jungles Preferred" has sold continuously ever since it was published on March 18, 1931. Houghton Mifflin Company announce for publication in September a new book of Dr. Miller's entitled "Carnel-Bells of Baghdad." It tells what happened to the author when she bought a native costume and set out to see, to taste, and to realize fully the life of the city of the Arabian Nights.

Houghton Mifflin company has just ordered a fifth large printing of Phyllis Bottome's "Private Worlds," a steady best-seller since its publication in March. John Lane will publish the English edition this month.

TEXAS SENATE WILL HAVE 11 NEW MEMBERS

ONLY 7 VETERANS TO RETURN, SMALL AMONG THEM

AUSTIN, Aug. 31 (AP)—Ranks of the "old guard" of the Texas senate composed of members who have served longer than one full term were thinned and the most picturesque unit removed by voters' decisions in recent democratic primary elections.

Voters' fickleness and voluntary retirements combined to place 11 new members in the group of 31 next January when the forty-fourth Texas legislature convenes. Only seven of the 20 who will return can be classed as veterans.

The most discussed defeat was that of Archie Parr of Duval county, dean of the senate. He was re-elected both in years of service, extending through 10 legislatures, and in age.

"The Duke of Duval," hitherto undisputed political ruler of a southern Texas domain comprising a tenth of the state, tasted political defeat for the first time in his life. Few times had he pitted his strength in senatorial struggles and lost. Legends of his prowess and cunning in recruiting legislative support for his proposals are legion. Few of them, however, directly affected other than his district.

Despite his personal defeat he swung his home Duval county by a majority of more than 30 to one for his favorite gubernatorial candidate.

Holbrook is Dean. All others of the "old guard" will round out second terms—eight years of membership—with the forty-fourth assembly. They are J. W. E. H. Beck of DeKalb, Tom DeBerry of Bogata, John Hornsby of Austin, Will Martin of Hillsboro, and Clint C. Small of Amarillo.

A seventh of the veteran group, Nat Patton of Crockett, was nominated for congress from the new East Texas district and will resign after the November general election. A house member, Gordon Burns of Huntsville, has announced his candidacy for the remainder of Patton's term and a former house member, E. T. Murphy of Livingston, was urged by friends to enter the prospective race.

Only half of the 10 incumbents who sought re-election were returned. In the first primary, W. R. Cousins of Beaumont, whose first term antedated that of Holbrook, was defeated by Allen Shivers, recent University of Texas law graduate, and Cecil Murphy of Gainesville, completing the unexpired term of late Loy of Sherman, was defeated by Rep. Olan R. Van Zandt of Tioga. Three others lost in the run-off primary—Parr to Jim Neal, Webb county ranchman; Julian P. Greer of Jake Loy of Sherman, was defeated and George Purl of Dallas to Claude Westerfield.

Aspirations for higher offices prompted retirement of Walter Woodul of Houston, democratic nominee for lieutenant governor; Joe M. Moore of Greenville, losing candidate for lieutenant governor; and Walter Woodward of Coleman, defeated candidate for attorney general. The other two—who retired were Miss Margie E. Neal of Cartilage, for eight years the only woman member; and Gus Rusek of Schulenburg.

Weaver Moore of Houston was nominated to succeed Woodul; Wallace Hughston of McKinney to succeed Moore; L. J. Sulak of La Grange, weekly newspaper publisher and appointee of Governor Miriam

A. Ferguson of the University of Texas board of regents, to succeed Rusek; Joe Hill of Henderson to succeed Miss Neal, and E. M. Davis of Brownwood, a former representative, to succeed Woodward.

Senators who won renomination were Holbrook, W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales, Grady Woodruff of Decatur, Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth and Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls.

Other incumbents whose terms continue through the forty-fourth legislature include E. J. Brackett of Victoria, Wilbourne B. Collier of Eastland, Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, Will D. Pace of Tyler, John S. Reddick of Lufkin, Ean M. Regan of Pecos, Roy Sanderford of Belton, latvie apprenticeship.

Of the five who defeated incumbents only Van Zandt served a legislative term. Albert Stone of Brenham, who are holding their initial legislative offices.

Is Your Lighting System Like Topsy?

Did It Just Grow . . . Or Was It Planned?

School Children Need Adequate Light For Study.

Almost every home is lighted electrically BUT very few are lighted properly. There are in every home certain spots which are eagerly sought by every member of the family. They are the bright spots. They are the spots where reading may be done without fatigue and eye-strain. They are the friendly spots.

There is no reason why the entire house cannot be a friendly spot. Modern lighting equipment distributes light evenly and prevents glare. It gives more light at less cost.

The measurement of light is an exact science. If you are not satisfied with your lighting we will be glad to check it for you. We have instrument which you can read and determine to your own satisfaction whether or not your lighting is adequate.

At this time it is especially important that you assure yourself that your lighting is correct. Many school children have defective vision caused by inadequate light.

LIVING UP TO THE LAW (Matthew 17-20)—Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets; I am not come to destroy, but to fulfill.

THE AMERICAN Bar association will investigate charges made before its recent convention that the Roosevelt administration is voiding the constitution of the United States.

The depression came upon us suddenly. There was no time to submit constitutional amendments. Congress willingly gave the president the powers of an economic dictator.

We in Texas have a good perspective of constitutional government. We respect but we do not worship our state constitution. We realize that in many respects it is out-moded.

When a need arises in this state, we amend the constitution. We did so to vote $20,000,000 in relief bonds. We limited ourselves strictly.

As civilized peoples admit that no American is likely to see his family starve in the midst of plenty. It is illegal to steal food, but the definition of theft is rather flimsy when starvation is involved.

JOBS, NOT food, should be made available. It is a lamentable fact that many men have been beaten down in spirit and in respectability—not by want but by being able to get a grocery dole.

There is a mistaken idea that everyone on the relief rolls is unwilling to do a hard day's work. It would be hugely illogical to assume that ten millions of American men were loafers and cheats.

All the federal and public employees, if classified and studied, would show that in addition to 10 millions of unemployed we have three times that number in public jobs.

HARRY E. HOPKINS' promise that the federal government must and will evolve a distinctively American method of dealing with the stupendous problem of unemployment relief, and will not be content to copy some European system, is a bright bit of good news.

That has to be done, of course, in simple humanity. But unless unemployment relief goes beyond that, it simply creates a new problem without solving the old one.

England's long years of the dole illustrates the point. The dole has been a great drain on the English treasury, and it has been a feeble and back-handed way of meeting a very serious issue.

Unanimously, they testify to the destruction of morale which follows in the train of the dole. They find, all across England, innumerable young men who have grown up to their late twenties without ever having been employed.

these young men have got completely used to this kind of life.

The dole keeps them from starvation and provides them with a few odd pennies for their recreation—football games, movies, a glass of beer now and then, and so on.

In many, many cases these young men have lost the desire to work. They have never known anything but a life of pointless idleness; it has come to seem the normal thing to them, and the wish to get out and stand on their own feet has atrophied and died.

Such young men, when they appear in large numbers, constitute one of the most tragic problems any nation can face. They are rapidly becoming unemployable.

Something more must be done. Jobs, in other words, must be created, no matter how impossible it may seem to do it.

Next Governor of Texas Was Bootblack, Bottle Washer, and Newsboy In Working Way "Up"

AUSTIN, Sept. 1 (AP)—The next governor of Texas once shined shoes. He's James V. Allred, 35 years old, who won the democratic nomination from Tom F. Hunter, "Jim" Ferguson's candidate. Ferguson is a former governor and husband of the present incumbent, "Ma" Ferguson. Nomination is tantamount to election.

Allred's rise is being compared with that of former Governor Dan Moody, youngest chief executive of Texas, who was 34 when elected. Both started in politics as prosecuting attorneys, and both served as attorney general.

"Hundreds of suits, said to be a record, have been tried and filed during Allred's two terms as attorney general. Many he won, but he has had his share of defeats, too, one of them being his suit against 15 large oil companies and the American Petroleum institute for aggregate penalties of $17,000,000 for alleged violation of anti-trust laws.

Born in Frontier Town.

But thousands of dollars in cash and valuable oil lands have been recovered by Allred for the free school fund, one suit netting the state more than $1,000,000 in cash.

The gubernatorial nominee is a "showman" with a flair for "mixing it" with the opposition, both on the stump and in the court room. One of his opponents is "lamented" in Los Angeles sustained by the stage when Allred became a lawyer.

Allred was born in Bowie March 29, 1899. His father was a rural mail carrier. Bowie was a frontier town then, and one of Allred's earliest memories is of a gun fight between the town marshal and the county badman.

Once Washed Bottles.

Allred's four brothers are lawyers. His first job was washing bottles. After that he shined shoes and sold newspapers. During the World war he served a year as an apprentice seaman. It was then he first thought of becoming a governor.

"I'm going home and run for governor some day," he told three home town friends at the San Francisco naval barracks.

He is a strong prohibitionist, but favors submission of repeal of state prohibition. He advocated establishment of a state police force, improvements in Texas' pardon system, adoption of a constitutional amendment to permit classification of property for taxation and repeal of the law legalizing race track betting.

His favorite recreation is fishing. His wife is the former Joe Betsy Miller of Oklahoma, an accomplished musician. They have two children, James Jr., 5, and William David, 8 months.

Walking Is Fun—And Fashionable With New Shoes

BY A "YOUNG MODERN"

DENTON, Sept. 2.—Shall we get out and walk? Of course not if you don't want to, but have you ever decided just why it is that you don't particularly care for that exercise that brings the "roses" to your cheeks, "Maybe it's your shoes!"

Dame Fashion says walk for your health, walk for your figure, walk for fun, but walk in comfort, and Texas State College for Women (GIA) co-eds readily agree. Several years ago it was with some reluctance that college girls "walked in comfort" for the existing pattern is "comfort" shoes weren't just the thing to be seen in on campus. But now the new low heels, so attractive and easy on your feet, are the smartest being shown. They wear well, twinkle and new fall dress fabrics.

Designed in light colored effectively trimmed with dark brown calf perforated designs or a pebbly looking grain calf which gives two tone effects, the ever-popular oxfords and glillee ties will help you "step" to your stride.

For more formal dress the latest fall shoes are designed in alligator and reptile skins cut to a high lace in either pump or oxford styles. Let them be conservative but attractive, neat and most of all harmonious with your new fall ensemble.

With an eye to "glamour" for the evening, college students select a frivolous sandal in silver or gold for their dancing dress. Dark sandals in black, brown or navy blue also make their appearance in early fall styles to blend with the formal evening gown.

Choose your shoes to harmonize with your costume—it's most essential in perfect grooming.

Walking Is Fun—And Fashionable With New Shoes

through organization, in all matters affecting industry, labor conditions, and civic development. We should also develop something better than the provisions we have made thus far for caring for the victims of the hazards and vicissitudes of life. An excellent method lies in the modified application of the principles of insurance.

Government Insurance.

In the heyday of the twenties and even in the first years of the depression, it was popular to scoff at unemployment insurance as a "do-nothing" but the significant fact now stands out that in no country which has experimented with unemployment insurance has the system broken down, even in the present world depression, and in no country has the public treasury been called upon for amounts to relieve distress even approximating our expenditure for relief.

In this country, while we lag behind Europe, social insurance is not entirely unknown, but it is apparent we do not begin to meet the needs of the situation. The most serious hazards are almost unprovided for. I regard our duty now to survey the entire field and outline what can and should be done to give real and complete economic security whether each section of the entire program is immediately feasible or not.

If such a program as I have outlined can be carried through to a successful conclusion this will be a better and more satisfying country in which to live, not only for this generation, but others to come. For the best interests of our people we can achieve the goal now generally recognized as desirable and well within the capability and ingenuity of the citizens of this great republic.

Prince George's Bride-to-Be Is Downright Broke

BOHINSKO LAKE, Yugoslavia.

Sept. 1 (AP)—The gracious Princess Marina of Greece must limit the trousseau for her wedding to Prince George of England to modest proportions, informers said today, unless the British royal family comes to her aid.

Marina's parents are almost as poor as the proverbial church mouse. This was cited as further evidence that the affair is a "love" match.

Prince Nikola, 27-year-old Marina's father, has been jobless and without an income ever since his brother, the king King Constantine, lost the Greek throne 12 years ago.

The princess' mother has given Marina her old pre-war wedding gown to wear when she goes to the altar with George in Westminster Abbey this winter.

AMARILLO, Sept. 1 (AP) — The Palo Duro park lake recently completed has water in it—lots of water. The lake is more than a mile long, the water being backed up in a creek bed on the canyon floor. Major E. A. Kingsley, park superintendent, announced recently that the big dam was finished and all that was needed was a little rain to fill the lake. "Well, we got the rain and plenty of it," the Major said. "The water is 12 feet deep at the dam, and it fills the draw for a distance of more than a mile."

CUYLER STREET TO RESEMBLE HOLLYWOOD AVENUE ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY IN MOVIE EVENT

LOCAL RESIDENTS TO MIMIC STARS OF SCREEN

Cuyler street will again blaze with white light in Pampa's second annual Hollywood Premiere to be held at the La Nora theater Friday and Saturday nights, Sept. 7 and 8. Cuyler will be turned into Hollywood boulevard and local people changed to Hollywood movie stars.

Many of the outstanding movie stars of the cinema city were impersonated last year. This year's event will be an even greater spectacle with a larger number of star impersonators. There are really some remarkable resemblances, little or no make-up will be needed on some of the impersonators, while others with only a little make-up will be able to give remarkable performances, the director says. The special equipment to be used in staging this spectacle has already been secured. Brilliant floodlights, giant spotlights and klieg lights, a powerful loud-speaking system, and special cars to convey the star impersonators will furnish the atmosphere for the premiere. The stars will be introduced to the audience in front of the theater at 8:15 p. m. by a prominent local man who will act as master of ceremonies. They will be introduced over a powerful public address system in front and will then appear on the stage of the theater for the main event of the evening.

A special premiere showing of the screen attraction "Scarlet Empress" with Marlene Dietrich will be held in connection with the gala premiere, which in itself will be quite a novelty since it is a pre-release date showing and one of the newest Paramount releases of the new show season. The same program will be presented at the La Nora both Friday and Saturday nights. A few star impersonators are still needed. Anyone wishing to enter is urged to get in touch with the management of La Nora immediately.

LOCAL THEATER PROGRAMS

Friday and Saturday, on stage, annual "Hollywood Premiere," and on the screen, "Scarlet Empress," a Paramount picture, with Marlene Dietrich and John Lodge; also "Autograph Hunter" and Pampa Daily Newsreel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hinkle of Canyon are spending the week-end with their son, Olin E. Hinkle, and Mrs. Hinkle.

IMPERSONATORS FOR HOLLYWOOD REVUE STILL NEEDED, INCLUDING GARBO, JACKIE COOPER, MAE WEST

Numerous local people have been recruited to impersonate movie stars in the Hollywood premiere, Sept. 7 and 8, but more impersonators are needed.

"Every movie fan—and aren't we all—at one time or another has imagined that he or she resembles some movie star," the general director of the premiere said. "These people are invited to report immediately to the Hollywood editor of the Pampa News or to the La Nora theater. The inducement for appearing in the premiere is attractive: 10 theater tickets to each person in the show, a year's pass to the show as first prize, six months as second prize and three months as third prize. Ben Gull and Neal Bean as Laurel and Hardy won first prize last year. They may put on the act again this year and they may not—it depends on whether Mr. Bean returns from California in time. The impersonators of Fay Wray, Buck Jones, James Gaynor, Dracula, Frankenstein's monster, Kay Francis, Our Gang, Hunchback of Notre Dame, Marlene Dietrich, Ann Harding, Myrna Loy, Robert Montgomery, Paul Muni, Cleopatra and Caesar, Chick Sales and others were present Friday night at a general meeting of the cast on the mezzanine floor of the La Nora. Also was present a 11-year old girl who was acclaimed a "dead-ringer" for Mitzel Green's impersonations of George Arliss, Greta Garbo, Zasu Pitts, Mae West, and she will give an act impersonating all those stars.

The directors still need grown-up impersonators of Zasu Pitts, Joe Penner, Will Rogers, John Gilbert, Gracie Allen, Jackie Cooper, Bing Crosby, Mae West, Norma Shearer, Harold Lloyd, Gary Cooper, Sch-nozzle Durante—and any other one can think of.

The directors believe there should be a good impersonator of Edna Mae Oliver in Pampa. "Dracula," done by an experienced actor, will be master of ceremonies at the premiere.

Farmers to Vote On AAA Program

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The AAA will poll the nation's farmers to see whether the traffic light on the crop control path blinks red or green.

Chester C. Davis said in a radio speech last night the answer to the future course of the AAA "rests with the farmers." They will be given a chance to pass on the question whether they want programs of cooperation in production effort—to continue, and to advise us as to the nature of the program they wish to follow.

He said the wheat carry-over next year will be about normal, cattle purchases by the government will eliminate much of the beef surplus, the tobacco carry-over will be close to normal, cotton acreage may be expanded next year and hog growers are putting their business in order.

The administration, he said, now has back of it the "mass momentum" of 3,000,000 farmers who adjusted production this year and their opinions "are of paramount importance."

ALFRED COLLECTS AUSTIN, Sept. 1 (AP)—Collection of $4,100.56 as past due royalty on a state permanent school fund lease of 565 acres in Rusk county from the Humble Oil and Refining company was announced today by the attorney general's department.

Dick Powell Likes Dames

Yes, it would certainly look that way! Here's Dick surrounded by Hollywood's most beautiful damsels—and he seems to be enjoying himself. You see Dick—and the girls—and Ruby Keeler, Joan Blondell, Guy Kibbee, Hugh Herbert, Zasu Pitts, and many others in "Dames" the new Warner Bros. musical picture at La Nora.

'DAMES' TO BE OFFERED TODAY AT LA NORA

BEAUTY CHORUSES ARE FEATURED—COMEDY PREVAILS

"Dames," Warner Bros' latest mammoth musical comedy romance with spectacular ensembles by Busby Berkeley and an all star cast headed by Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, and Ruby Keeler, is scheduled as the feature attraction at the La Nora theater beginning today.

The story by the well known playwrights, Robert Lord and Delmar Daves, is said to be hilarious comedy tinged with a glamorous romance. It treats of a somewhat hypocritical and highly eccentric multimillionaire whose chief concern in life is other people's morals, but who eventually gets drunk on cold medicine and is taken for a sleight ride by a gold digging chorus girl.

In addition to the all star cast there are 300 of Hollywood's most beautiful chorus girls who dance in the Busby Berkeley numbers.

Berkeley, who created and staged the ensembles of "42nd Street," "Gold Diggers of 1933," "Footlight Parade," "Wonder Bar," and many other musicals, has gone himself one better in each new production, and in "Dames" his creations are said to be so spectacular as to dwarf anything he has done before. Two of the dances are said to be especially beautiful, as well as novel and fantastic—the Ruby Keeler "Mirage" number, in which the catchy song, "Eyes For You" is sung, and the "Kaleidoscope" number, which carries the theme song, "Dames."

Many catchy airs are sung, the music and lyrics for which were written by three teams of the best known song writers in the country, Warren and Dubin, Fain and Kahal, and Dixon and Wrubel.

Joan Blondell heads the all star cast in the role of a chorus girl who eventually weds the millionaire morality censor, after compromising his fat cousin who is in deathly fear he will be found out and cut out of the will. Hugh Herbert, the screen's drollest comedian, has the role of the millionaire and Guy Kibbee is the cousin, with Zasu Pitts playing the part of his straight laced wife.

The romantic interest is furnished by Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler, this popular pair of screen lovers again being paired.

Others in the cast include Arthur Vinton, Phil Hagan, radio's singing cop, Sammy Fain, Arthur Aylesworth, Johnny Arthur, Lella Bennett, and Berton Churchill. Ray Enright directed.

Many Bands to Play at Fair

AMARILLO, Sept. 1 (AP)—Bands by the score, each accompanied by large delegations, will be here, Sept. 15-22 for the Tri-State fair.

Every section of the region served by the second largest exposition in Texas will be represented. It will be a "free gate" fair. Interest in the 1934 fair never was more intense, according to Mayor King and Bill Beechler, who have just completed a long tour of the Panhandle, New Mexico, and Oklahoma.

"I predict the greatest attendance in the fair's history," declared Beechler, chairman of the association's reception committee. "Everywhere we went there was unusual enthusiasm over the 1934 greater exposition," added King, director of racing. As president of the exposition this

MURDER PLOT IS THEME AT REX THEATER

'Perfect Crime' Never Occurs—Proof Is Given

Proving once again that you "can't get away with it," Paramount's "Crime Without Passion," the Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur picture, featuring Claude Rains, Margo and Whitney Bourne, which opens today at the Rex, again explodes the fallacy of the perfect crime and points out that even the cleverest criminal must slip up in his plans somewhere and thus land in the clutches of the law. Written and directed by Hecht and MacArthur, "Crime Without Passion" is the story of the cleverest criminal lawyer in New York who forgets his role as defender of criminals to become a murderer himself and who bungles his crime. Claude Rains plays the role of the lawyer who makes elaborate plans to cover the supposed murder of his former sweetheart. It is only after a slip-up in his plans forces him to commit an actual murder that he learns that his sweetheart is alive and only slightly injured, and that he, himself, is the actual victim of his perfect crime. Produced at the Astoria, New York, studios as one of four new Hecht-MacArthur pictures, "Crime Without Passion" employed the resources of one of the most remarkable technical staffs.
