Modern plumbing has taken much of the fun out of celebrating Halloween. . . . And it is a pity that you should know the fun of taking, which may be for-

Attention to your installment buying of an education for your children, paved roads for your car, fine public buildings for your civic pride, attention for your property and your person. Where do you get money for your money?

Corollary to the above paragraph, we add that what you can't afford is too expensive at any price, but some things are positively necessary to sustain life as you wish it.

All governmental powers are derived from the people and, it may be added with respect to the constitutional amendments, a rather bewildered people sometimes.

The old saying that the camera doesn't lie was never true. Since propagandists are trying to get in to the schools via educational films, it will be well to remember the fallacy of the old saying.

Mistings of the moment: Every Pampa has moments of depression, mental and physical fatigue. Many of life's tragedies, both in decisions and accidents, occur in such moments. Some persons have too many such periods for their own good and that of their associates. Some persons charged with grave responsibilities do too little to remove the stresses and strains which cause such human depressions. . . . Modern life is depressing. So were the good old days. Smiles are bumpers against the stresses of living.

Brevitorials

HE IS NO. 1 Public Enemy of the Harbors in this district. He is Morris White of Lubbock high—not big, not tall, no faster than many a rival, but so versatile, so deceptive in his gait, and so sturdy that he is the most feared backfield star in this section. And what makes the Westerners especially formidable this year is the fact that even if White is "bitted," his mates are capable of carrying on and winning ball games. He will be seen in Pampa November 23 but, we hope, not much.

VARIOUS theories have been advanced as to why so many of the Harvesters received severe strains and bruises at El Paso. Coach Odus Mitchell gives three. The first is that the locals were tired from the long automobile ride and tight-seeing. Secondly, the Harvesters eased up after putting over a couple of touchdowns. To ease up is to get hit instead of doing the hitting. He who gets hit is likely to get hurt. Third, the El Paso boys played hard and "gained" every Pampa they could. That's football if you're ambitious. . . . We're one of those who feels that no conference games should be played on rock-like grids. The El Paso field, we're told, was too hard. Borger's field is likewise reported to be with rocks strewn over it.

WE'RE STILL of the opinion that there are too many one-eyed cars around this town. Last night we saw five in one block. We're not advocating a police campaign topped with fines—unless those warned fail to correct the trouble. Those who should respond are the owners of the cars. We know that, in town driving about well-lighted streets, it is not always immediately apparent that one's car has only one light burning. . . . An examination of the lights will tell the story. . . . Pedestrians walking in streets at night should have no recourse in law if they are hit by a driver who is driving where he should and as he should. But walks should be provided by the city at those places where ravines make it difficult to walk anywhere but in the streets. . . . Pedestrians should walk "against" the traffic so that they can see the approaching cars.

PAMPA'S AVIATION problem is acute. Some of the aviators are a fault in annoying residents with excessively low flying. The field is a fault in being so located that it is necessary to take off over town in certain winds. The field has a ditch which should be filled frequently to prevent danger to local crops and special hazards to visitors. . . . Accidents in aviation are steadily declining. Many today's casualties may be charged to negligence, unlicensed and poor-

TAXES TO YIELD ABOUT $5,000,000 UNDER
PROPOSALS

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (AP)—Prospects were bright today for final committee action in the house of representatives on a bill to levy special taxes to finance the Texas Centennial.

Hearings on the bill were concluded last night on all points of the bill except a provision proposing a tax of 10 per cent on gross receipts of hotels of more than 100 rooms. A subcommittee was reappointed to study the bill and the suggested levies and expected to present it to the main committee this afternoon for a final vote. Taxes proposed in the final draft would yield about $5,000,000.

The Centennial commission indicated a $5,000,000 appropriation would be acceptable. Senate subcommittee is writing a bill to appropriate that amount, of which $2,750,000 would be allotted to the main celebration at Dallas and $2,250,000 to Fort Worth for completion of a livestock coliseum. The remaining $2,000,000 would be expended for observances at historic points.

Centennial sponsors were confident the revenue bill would go to the floor on a favorable report.

Representative J. C. Duval of Fort Worth, chairman of the house revenue and taxation committee, and Walter D. Cline, chairman of the Centennial commission executive committee, made closing arguments for the bill and challenged protests of opponents of the bill that the suggested levies would ruin the state.

The tax would be spread over many subjects, including gross receipts of utilities, racing wagers, beer, soft drinks, coin operated vending machines and amusements.

Cline objected vigorously to statements made by McDonald McLean, an Houston oil operator, that sentiment generally was against a Centennial at this time.

"A vast majority of the people want the Centennial and want the legislature to make an adequate appropriation for it," Cline told the committee. He warned the legislature against placing credence in a "whispering campaign," whose theme song is "let's put it off; now is not the right time for a Centennial."

"Unfortunately Texas cannot change her history," Cline said. "Suppose Sam Houston had said the time was not right at the battle of San Jacinto."

Cline urged that direct action be taken, one way or another on the bill and that it not be throttled. "If you don't do it, it hit it in the head with a sledge hammer and don't stick it in the back," he said.

A work order on the Highway 88 relief project is in the mails, the local office of the highway commission was informed this morning.

Approval of the starting of work is expected to reach the Pampa relief office about the same time. Work will start almost immediately, it is believed.

Full details of the work order have not been received but it is known that grading and placing of caliche will begin here and continue southward. The project has the approval of both highway and relief commissions.

Men who have been working on Highway 33 through South Pampa have completed their activities, although surfacing of the caliche is yet to be done by the state highway department, probable under contract. The county sometime ago took the necessary preliminary steps to get approval of the right-of-way.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1. (AP)—A Centennial of Pampa exposition passed from the American scene early today.

More than 363,000 merry-makers turned the death watch into a huge and boisterous carnival. They cheered and sang and drank and danced then left the grounds with whatever they could carry as souvenirs of the most successful fair in the nation's history.

The 325 acres of garish buildings along the Lake Michigan were abandoned with the dawn to another army-artisans come to dismantle most of the structures and to pack the thousands of exhibits for shipment to museums and other institutions. The land reverts to the South Park board July 1, 1935.

There was whimsy as well as grandeur.

TEMPLE, Okla., Nov. 1. (AP)—Three young bandits all armed with revolvers, held up the First State bank here at 10 o'clock this morning, took $1,200 in cash, kidnaped three bank officers and two customers and fled eastward.

The kidnaped men were released unharmed as the edge of town.

M. S. Ray, president of the bank; V. A. Dowlen, cashier; C. S. Worsham Jr., G. A. Nelson, and J. E. Knight were the five men taken with the bandits on the ride to the edge of the town.

Descriptions of the bandits given by eye witnesses led officers to believe the leader was Raymond Hamilton, fugitive, desperado from the Texas penitentiary. The bandits fled in a small sedan (Ford V-8).

I Heard . . .

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—Keen interest was displayed by the White House today—but no public comment was forthcoming—on Henry Ford's announcement at Detroit that the Ford Motor company is out of the depression.

More talkative, Secretary Morgenthau replied "whoopee" when told at his press conference of the statement.

There was no immediate comment on Ford's assertion that the depression would be over for the whole country if industry would "forget the alphabet schemes and take hold of their industries and run them with good, sound American business sense."

Ford, a frequent critic of the administration, refused to sign the NRA automobile code and come under the Blue Eagle. President Roosevelt went to work seriously today on the budget for the new government year beginning next July 1—a budget which the American Bankers' association attacked as balanced in the interest of recovery.

The unknown quantities of future expenditures for relief and public works continued to dominate the budget discussions.

Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, was a luncheon guest.

The president set aside the afternoon for Secretary Morgenthau and Daniel Bell, acting director of the budget. He also arranged for a conference today with a group of automobile manufacturers and Clay Williams, chairman of the NRA board, on the motor code which expires Saturday.

Ford managers, called into Detroit from all parts of the country, expressed the belief that business conditions generally had improved sufficiently to warrant preparations for a "great sales year" in 1935.

"Make it 1,000,000 or better," Mr. Ford's statement said. "Our experience during the last six months and what we see in the future tells us a year of improved business is ahead."

Education Week
To Be Observed
November 11-17

Ministers and newspaper men in conference with Supt. R. B. Fisher this morning, pledged their cooperation in the observance of American Education week.

The observance of the week includes a series of church services, and the schools will urge parents to visit the home rooms of their pupils.

The fourteenth annual American Education week will be observed November 11-17. The occasion is celebrated each year during the week that includes Armistice day, beginning on Monday in the schools and closing on Sunday with appropriate exercises in the churches.

The general theme of American Education week 1934 is "Education for a better world." The importance of character training in the preparation of young people for a changing social order the topic for American Education week Sunday, November 11. "Enriching Character Through Education" is particularly important.

The observance of the week is led in the celebration of this day. As this Sunday falls on Armistice day, primary emphasis will be placed upon character as the foundation of citizenship in accordance with the patriotic spirit of the occasion.

Parents observe American Education week by special sermons and by promoting observance throughout the week in contacts with members of the community. Sunday school classes celebrate American Education week by building their programs around the American Education week topics. The improvement of government in the community and the nation and the part which schools and churches may take in education for citizenship will be an appropriate subject for discussion this year. The problem of increasing leisure time and the worthy use of this time in the days ahead may be used as the foundation of an interesting class meeting, showing how churches may lead in guiding recreation. An appreciation of home and the simplification of the home membership is another topic which may be made the basis of Sunday school lessons.

Young people's societies have an opportunity to build their programs for American Education week around the theme vital in their lives—Planning for Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—Insisting that once an air attack was launched nothing could prevent the destruction of its objective, Gen. Wilcox (D., Tex.) today recommended to the president's aviation commission expenditure of over $200,000,000 for construction of a net work of air defense bases to protect the United States and insular possessions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—The Manchoukuo government, it was learned today, has already moved to effect an oil monopoly, despite representations by the United States, Great Britain, and the Netherlands.

Disregarding the foreign charges that the scheme is discriminatory and violates the principle of the open door, Hsinking has instituted steps to assume early possession of extensive marketing installations made in Manchoukuo by the Standard Oil Company of New York and the British Asiatic Petroleum company, reliable sources said.

They are to be eliminated from profitable distributing and retailing businesses built up during recent decades.

Both companies received from the Manchoukuo ministry of finance notification that the monopoly will be instituted "in the very near future" and that "in all probability the present marketing and selling system will be greatly changed."

Officials of the companies were instructed to report to Hsinking on their imports and sales in Manchoukuo since Jan. 1, 1932, where their agents are located and the size of their businesses, and finally all property, with its cost, dates of erection and other details with a view to its transfer to Manchoukuo upon an estimate of fair valuation.

P. evidently, it was learned, without notifying the Standard Oil or the British company officials of Manchoukuo notified the companies' native agents to come to Hsinking to confer on their employment under the monopoly setup after the foreign concerns have been eliminated.

Despite assurances that purchases of crude oil for the Manchoukuo oil company's refinery at Dairen would be allotted to foreign companies on a proportionate basis of their sales during the past two years, neither the Standard Oil nor the British Asiatic is participating in this.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1. (AP)—Samuel Insull, defending himself against mail fraud charges today, told the jury that his Middle Western Electric power pool had "contributed more to the wealth of this nation" than stockholders had lost in Insull's two billion dollar commercial failure.

A moment after he had made this proud declaration pounding his fist emphatically on the arm of the witness stand, Insull told the jury that he had turned down an important post offered by the English government in 1926, to stay in this country.

"This statement, gentlemen, has never been made public," said the 74-year-old utility executive, waving his hand at the jury.

"Mr. Stanley Baldwin offered me the chairmanship of the British high tension power development," Insull said almost in a shout.

"He offered me a chance to do, in the country of my birth, what I had done in the country of my adoption. It was a tremendous temptation."

"I could have gone to England and duplicated the reputation that I've made here. There were only two reasons why I did not."

"The first was my obligation to my associates here, and the second my obligation to the security holders who provided me with money to do it."

The Pampa-Borger football game will be played in Pampa Friday, Nov. 9, at 2:30 o'clock.

This decision was reached this morning by officials of the two schools in a session here. Pampa has much the better field.

In the evening of that day, the crucial LeFors-McLean game will be played at LeFors. The Amarillo-Lubbock game, which many Pampans wish to see, will be at Lubbock on Armistice day, the Monday following.

For a party of 25 or more Pampans, the Santa Fe has offered to furnish a special coach to Lubbock on the regular early morning train, which would be held until 5:30 a. m. and attached to the Amarillo special train at Amarillo. The departure from Lubbock would be in time to connect with the regular east-bound train, which arrives here at 10:50 p. m. For such a service, the round-trip fare would be $4.10.

Postal receipts for the first 10 months of 1934 have passed the amount for the full year of 1933, according to the report of Assistant Postmaster O. K. Gaylor, released this morning. Postmaster D. E. Cecil stated that every department was showing large increases in business.

With the close of business yesterday, the receipts for the first 10 months of this year exceeded the total business of last year by $1,182.19. Receipts for last month amounted to $6,376.66, compared with $4,735.73 of the same month last year. October business showed an increase of $2,083.35 over that of September of this year.

Total receipts to date this year amount to $49,236.88 while the total for 1933 was $48,054.69.

Percentage Of Proratable Oil
In Field Drops

Despite the fact that the Panhandle allowable remains at 56,800 barrels in November, the percentage of proratable oil allowed to be produced in the field dropped from 9.96 per cent to 9.18 per cent, according to the new production schedule issued late yesterday from the local office of the Texas railroad commission.

The necessary reduction in the percentage factor was due to the amount of new production brought in during the month of October when 38 wells, capable of producing 15,933 barrels of oil, were completed. Most of the completions were in Gray and Wheeler county and came under the heads of proratable wells.

The Panhandle field now has 2,998 wells with a potential of 286,416 barrels, of which 31,143 barrels is marginal oil, 2,449 barrels exempt oil, and 252,824 barrels proratable oil.

The amount of exempt and marginal oil is charged from last month when the field showed 2,099 wells with a potential of 270,483 barrels, of which 237,372 barrels were proratable oil.

Gray county has 1,031 wells capable of producing 176,907 barrels of crude, of which 17,074 barrels is marginal oil, 132 barrels exempt oil, and 158,701 barrels proratable oil.

The Panhandle field continues active despite the unsteady condition of the oil industry. New locations are being made daily and completions this month should nearly equal the figures of last month. Most of the activity is in Gray and Wheeler counties although Carson and Hutchinson counties have been coming to the front.

Proof that Pampa is going forward steadily was presented by Geo. Briggs, B. C. D. manager in a talk to Pampa Lions today.

Last year there were 1,360 telephone connections. Today there are 1,620.

Last year there were 2,085 gas connections. Today there are 2,350.

Last year there were 2,158 electric connections. Today there are 2,270.

Last year there were 1,763 water connections. Today there are 1,966.

Last year there were 3,020 school-children; now there are 3,470 in this school district.

These and other statistics were given.

Customs officials at this port got the biggest shock of recent years when a traveler from New York made this reply to their customary query.

"It was their first opportunity to collect duty on bootleg liquor," said a customs official, "carried by William Miller, representative of a Scottish whisky firm, when he returned from a business trip to New York."

Miller explained he had been introduced to a bootlegger and had bought the liquor to show his chiefs what they had to compete against in America.

Two three-year prison sentences, which will run concurrently, were assessed Clyde Lewis, alias Albert Hammond, today on his plea of guilty to theft.

In waiving the jury and pleading guilty, Lewis evidently thought he would have something to say about his sentence. He said this:

"I'll not accept it."

"What will you accept?" asked His Honor.

The defendant was enlightened as to what he would have to accept, which was two concurrent 3-year terms.

Boyes of Panhandle was endorsed for a position on the state highway commission last night by a group assembled here to urge selection of a man from this sector. The meeting sought to bring about better recognition of this sector from the state capital. Representatives came from Spearman, Panhandle, White Deer, Miami, Pampa, and Amarillo.

Re-indictment of defendants in pending "nuisance" cases involving the state liquor laws is expected as a result of a court of criminal appeals ruling yesterday.

The court held that the old form of indictment is inadequate since passage of the amendment permitting sale of 3.2 beer. Indictments must state the type of liquor and, in dry territory, specify that 3.2 beer is illegal. Cases pending here were continued this morning. The grand jury will convene again Monday.

U. S. AVIATION WINS NEW LAURELS

Douglas twin-engine planes roar over the Panhandle plains in the coast to coast commercial air lines of TWA.

Last week an identical Douglas plane roared over the London to Melbourne route and placed second in the air race, far ahead of any other commercial plane entered. The two 700-horsepower engines were operated at only 70 per cent of their full power. No extra gasoline tanks were installed. The regular two-way radio equipment was used. The plane was built at Santa Monica, Calif. It has a steam heating plant, a crew of three, and can range 1,300 miles without refueling.

As used in the air race, the plane carried weight representing nine persons. The third place plane was another American-made ship, a Boeing cruiser.

London newspapers were aroused by the poor showing of British commercial planes. American engines and ships won merited applause from the entire world of aviation. This is a big country where planes are needed. Millions of dollars has been spent in developing technical facilities.

Americans can well take pride in the outcome of the race and look with further approval on the development of commercial aviation.

WASHINGTON.—I have a pleasant little success story about the girl who took the place of the famous "Robbie" in NRA. Her name is Helen Elliott.

Of course there can be only one "Robbie" in an administration, just as there can be but one General Johnson.

Mrs. Elliott is secretary to Chairman Clay Williams of the National Industrial Recovery Board. And that's all.

It's an important job—perhaps the prize secretarial job in Washington. But although Helen has the same inner outside office where Miss Robinson used to handle people who weren't quite important enough to see Johnson, she doesn't make important decisions involving NRA policy.

She is tall, graceful, brown-haired, brown-eyed, and perfectly toothed. Good-looking, too. Usually she wears a tailored suit and a bright necktie. Age: about 30.

She was the first woman employe of NRA and has now outlasted all the earliest settlers. Originally from Fresno, Calif., Mrs. Elliott was the director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce here when along came the New Deal.

NRA was only a bill pending in Congress when Johnson and his original assistants, Bobby Straus and John Power, moved into the Commerce building and began to plot the recovery organization so soon to spread through the building like a great fungus.

They needed a good girl and the bureau contributed Helen Elliott.

The first girl ever to take dictation from Johnson here, she told her friends that night that she had been "scared to death" by his gruffness and force, even though he said her work was fine.

"Where do you hang out?" the general had demanded, which rather shocked Mrs. Elliott, who wasn't used to that kind of language.

Word came that Donald Richberg was to be NRA's No. 2 man and Mrs. Elliott, who had heard a lot about him and his career, decided he would be a swell boss.

She was very simple and direct about going after the job and everybody she talked to thought she was such a nice, sensible, efficient girl that she didn't have any trouble at all, even though nearly every girl in town seemed to be after the berth.

Miss Alice Houlihan came from Richberg's Chicago office to be his personal secretary and went with him to the National Emergency Council, while Mrs. Elliott stayed on to handle his work at NRA.

When the reorganization came, Mrs. Elliott asked Richberg if he wouldn't release her so she could try to get to be secretary to Williams and Richberg at once told Williams he couldn't do better than grab Mrs. Elliott. A lot of girls were after that job, too.

You'll find her just outside Williams' office—if you can get by the two men who call themselves "receptionists," in the office outside hers.

She lives somewhere out in the country with a 7-year-old son named Billy.

Byrd's party reports it made only 38 miles in six days, due to a raging blizzard. Oh, well, they're not going anywhere.

There's nothing to the rumor that the Piccards came down when they ran square into the price of steak.

Lawyers in Italy have had their fees cut 13 per cent by Mussolini. He'd better be careful. One of them's likely to sue him.

HEPBURN IS THREATENED OVER SINCLAIR LEANINGS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1 (AP)—Supporters of Upton Sinclair today promised a grand jury investigation of alleged attempts of motion picture producers to intimidate film stars who are sympathetic to the former socialist and democratic nominee for governor.

The latest development in the state's tense political campaign came yesterday when David Sokol, an attorney, asked the Los Angeles county district attorney to institute a grand jury investigation of purported threats that film studio employees should be dismissed if they voted for the democratic nominee.

Katharine Hepburn, screen actress, was cited as "an example of an employe so threatened."

Deputy District Attorney Daniel Beecher said studio executives will not be subpoenaed but any persons supposedly threatened whose names are furnished by Sokol's committee will be called before the grand jury.

Sokol, writing on stationery headed "the law enforcement committee of the county," asked that Miss Hepburn and the heads of eight large studios be questioned regarding the asserted attempts at intimidation and said he would later request subpoenas for Douglas Fairbanks, Clark Gable, Will Rogers, and other screen celebrities.

Miss Hepburn's studio said she had not yet been informed of the requested inquiry, but Beecher disclosed he had sent an investigator to question the actress.

Murray Predicts Republican Will Be New Governor

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 1 (AP)—Gov. Murray's weekly newspaper today predicted W. B. Pine, republican nominee, would be elected governor.

"With an honest election and a little enthusiastic work on the part of Pine workers an election day, Pine's majority will equal that of Governor Murray in 1930," the publication said.

L. B. Shelton, editor of the paper, said the prediction was based on visits to 68 of the 77 counties.

Governor Murray, who supported Tom Anglin, for the democratic nomination, has failed to rally to the standard of Rep. E. W. Marland, who won the nomination.

BULLDOGS SEND NOTICE THEY WILL PUT UP HARD FIGHT TOMORROW NIGHT

COACH PRUITT IS DEVELOPING CLUB QUICKLY

PLAINVIEW HAS SHOWN CONSISTENT IMPROVEMENT

BY JACK UNDERWOOD. (Sports Editor, Plainview Herald.)

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 1.—Pampa fans may expect to see a hard working, well drilled squad of inexperienced but courageous football players in action against the Harvesters Friday night when the Plainview Bulldogs take the field.

Handicapped by injuries and lack of capable reserve strength, the Bulldogs, nevertheless have showed consistent improvement since the start of the season. In each game that has been played the Plainview team has shown encouraging development in every department.

In Coach Madison Pruitt, former all-American end of Texas Christian university, Plainview has found a mentor who demands the respect of players and fans and is able to get satisfactory results from his players.

The big Bulldog team which held Pampa to a 6 to 0 score last season went out, to a man, when diplomas were passed around at the last graduation exercises and Pruitt was confronted with an apparently hopeless task in developing a team from the rawest of raw material.

His success has been so marked that Plainview fans have turned out for the games in larger numbers than ever before in the history of the school.

Plainview's record has been an unimpressive one. After losing the opening game with Clovis 50 to 6, the Bulldogs barely noded out a victory over the Floydada eleven, 6 to 0. The Bulldogs then played a 7 to 7 tie with the high school team from Spur, a much stronger aggregation than Floydada.

The 19 to 0 loss to Childress can be discounted materially because the team was not in condition to play.

Traveling to Childress on the afternoon of the game, a bus bearing 15 of the players overturned. Three regulars were injured so badly that they returned to Plainview under a physician's care and several other regulars were bruised to an extent that it badly hampered their playing.

Quannah won from the Bulldogs 6 to 0 at Plainview last Friday night in a game that solidly endeared the Bulldogs to the hearts of the fans.

With six regulars nursing injuries on the bench, the Bulldogs battled valorously and except for a brief interlude at the opening of the game when a blocked punt lead to the lone touchdown, they outplayed the Indians.

Captain Roy Neal at center is one of the outstanding players on the squad this year. He has proved capable as an offensive player and is a defensive power.

In Dees and Vaughn, the Bulldogs have two aggressive guards. Vaughn was one of the players injured in the bus accident but is due to start against Pampa.

Taliaferro, a 133-pound tackle, has developed amazingly and is rapidly learning how to handle his position against the toughest opposition. It is his first year to play football. Loring will probably start in the other tackle position. He was an outstanding performer in the Quannah game.

Elk, a rangy capable end, will start on the right side of the line. He has broken up many enemy plays this year and is adept at handling passes. On the other end of the line will be Lowry or Joiner, both reliable men.

Plainview's backfield suffers still from injuries and three regular starters, Ray, Mason and Covington, are not expected to play. Wimberly, another capable back, is on the casualty list; and the starting backfield will probably be Dean, Miller, Chisholm, and Seals. Of these Chisholm is the only regular. He has a nice drive, but is rather slow. Miller is fast and game, but light. Seals and Dean are willing workers who lack experience.

Throughout the season the Bulldogs have shown a disposition to fight desperately from the opening whistle until the final gun. There is every reason to believe that they will extend themselves to the utmost in their first conference game.

If Pampa wins the game it will be because of superior ability and experience and not because of a lack of effort on the part of the Bulldogs.

On Bench With Injuries

CAPTAIN MONROE OWENS

Owens has not hit his real form this year but is expected to be up and ready for the conference games. He is out with injuries at present. Owens, all-state end last year, is one of the best defensive players in the state. He can take passes and block with the best. He is playing his last year for Pampa.

NAVY'S YOUNGEST COACH IS CONFIDENT HE'LL BEAT ARMY

"We're Going To Lick The Army When We Meet A Month Hence," Says He.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 1.—A sort of synthetic gloom afflicts many a football coach in speaking of his team's chances against major rivals—but not young Tom Hamilton, the youngest coach of a major team.

"He is the expert coach I've ever seen," one official remarked. "It stretches us. Where other coaches have been nervous, and almost ill with excitement before a game, Tom is the coolest man in the crowd."

This Hamilton was quarterback on the last Navy team that even gained so much as a tie with the Cadets. It was his kicking that brought the Middies a 21 to 21 stalemate in the famous battle at Chicago in 1933.

Plains Baseball League Is Talked Over Panhandle

Although the baseball season has just ended, and the football season is in full swing, it is time to be thinking about the baseball situation in 1935. The big leagues have started their trading and will continue to make startling announcements throughout the winter.

Organization of a baseball league in this section of the Panhandle next year is one of the problems which confronts interested groups. Many believe that a strong league could be organized and that more interest would be created in baseball.

There is a rumor in the air that Pampa will have two strong clubs next year instead of just the Pampa Road Runners, and that LeFors will also have another team besides the Coltexo nine.

Getting Amarillo into the league is the major problem from a competitive standpoint. Berger will have two strong clubs again in 1935 and with two from Pampa, two from LeFors, one from Amarillo, and another team, a good eight-team league could be organized.

Meetings will be called during the winter months to discuss the baseball situation.

Berkley Bell, Famous Tennis Player, Charged

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Berkley Bell, nationally known tennis star, must answer a charge of violating the Sullivan act as the result of the finding of two revolvers in his room in an East 56th Street hotel.

The weapons were found by two police detectives in a search of Bell's room yesterday while investigating a complaint by Stanley Young of Chicago, former roommate of Bell. Police said Young complained he had lost $112,500 in a deal with two men he said he met through Bell last summer. The authorities said Bell had no connection with the transaction.

Bell, who was released under $500 bond last night, denied the gun were his and said he did not know to whom they belonged. He said Young had been living with him until two weeks ago when Young went to California. Bell met Young earlier this year while playing in a tournament here.

The police said Young told them he had put his money into a proposition to operate a night club at Smithtown, L. I. The names of the two men involved in the deal were not disclosed.

Judge Jack Meade of Miami spent Tuesday afternoon visiting friends in Pampa.

COCKY YOUTHS OF GORILLAS ARE BENCHED

KELLEY'S BOYS WILL PLAY WHEELER ON FRIDAY

A somewhat changed lineup will take the field for the Pampa Gorillas when they invade Wheeler tomorrow afternoon to battle the Wheeler Mustangs, big Class B team. A few of Coach Harry Kelley's boys have become so cocky that they came out to practice only a few minutes the last couple of weeks and, as a result, they will warm the bench at Wheeler.

The changed Gorilla lineup did well in scrimmage sessions Tuesday and yesterday, and the boys have a new idea of the game following their excellent showing last week when they held the Tulsa Hornets to a 7 to 0 score.

The team will be slightly lighter than the eleven which defeated Wheeler 19 to 13 in a real upset here last month, but the present lineup should show about twice as much fight. The "old gang" figured they had the team made without a struggle, and as a result the team's performances have been ragged in most of the past games.

"There is to be no such thing as leaning and cockiness in this squad," Coach Kelley declared when he benched some of his regulars. "This team is being prepared to take over the Harvesters duties and there will be no smart alecks wearing a green and gold uniform and disgracing it next week," the coach said.

The probable starting lineup named by Coach Kelley after yesterday's scrimmage is: Ends: Green and Walsad, tackles: Collins and Hamel, guards: Strickland, center: Woodruff, quarter: Owens and Kitchens, halves: Showers, full.

White Deer To Play On Miami's Field Tomorrow

The Class B football schedule for this week is an interesting one, with three conference games scheduled. The schedule for Friday follows: White Deer at Miami.

Groom at Claude, conference game. Clarendon at McLean, conference game, night.

Pampa Gorillas at Wheeler. Quotane at Turkey. LeFors, open date.

Other Class B schools in this section have not reported their contests.

Next week will see all eyes turned on LeFors where the LeFors Pirates and the McLean Tigers meet to decide the championship of section 2. Shamrock has already won the section one division and is willing to meet the winner of the McLean-LeFors battle. Panhandle is hoped to win section three and Dumas section four.

Peking winners of this week's contests would be a hard job, especially in the case of McLean and Clarendon which should be won by McLean. Other teams are evenly matched and many close scores and not a few upsets should result.

Hunters Return With Two Bears

Two bears fell before the rifles of a party of Pampa hunters in the Mexican mountains of New Mexico last week. One of the animals weighed more than 200 pounds and the other exceeded 100 pounds.

The party, composed of Roger McConnell, Harold Baer, W. F. Tolan, Hugh Ellsworth, and Doc Colgrove, packed into the mountains from Silver City. The mountain country appeared at its prettiest, the hunters declared upon their return Tuesday night. They were gone 10 days and plan to make a return trip later in the season.

Gen. Green returned yesterday afternoon from Austin where he transacted business.

THIRTEEN MAJOR GRID TEAMS STILL UNBEATEN AND UNTIED

Alabama, Michigan State, Princeton, Minnesota May Keep Slates Clean.

By HERBERT W. BARKER

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Thirteen major college football teams still are pursuing that will-at-the-wisest, a perfect season, an all-conquering campaign marred neither by defeat nor tie.

Here's the list of major teams neither beaten nor tied as it stands now: East: Army, Navy, Dartmouth, Princeton and Syracuse.

Midwest: Minnesota, Illinois, Chicago and Michigan State. South: Alabama and Tulane. Far West: Washington, Rocky Mountain, Utah Aggies.

A study of the schedule for the rest of the season shows that of these 13, no fewer than nine are booked for competition against one or more teams also on the list, thus making it certain that the final count will be far short of thirteen.

Alabama, Tulane, Utah Aggies and Washington are the lone exceptions to this rule. For instance, plays Illinois this week and Navy later as well as Harvard and Notre Dame. Army is the only rival still unbeaten which Navy must play but the Midshipmen will have worries enough against Washington & Lee, Notre Dame and Pittsburgh.

Dartmouth and Princeton will square off against one another in the season's finale for both. Before that, Dartmouth will need to "take" Yale and Cornell, and Princeton will need to whip Harvard and Yale if their Nov. 24 clash is to bring together two eleven with perfect records.

Syracuse appears to be the most dangerous obstacle in Michigan State's path although Charley Bachman's powerful array also has Minnesota, Detroit, Kansas and Texas A. and M. to dispose of. Aside from Michigan State, Syracuse will be hard-pressed to win from Penn State, Colgate and Columbia.

Chicago's Maroons, assuming they get past Purdue this week, still have the hardest sort of a row to hoe—Ohio State, Minnesota and Illinois in succession. Minnesota, the powerhouse of the Big Ten, apparently has an excellent chance of finishing undefeated and untied if the Gophers get past Chicago for their other games are with Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin. Illinois has Army, Northwestern, Wisconsin and Chicago still in front of it.

Theoretically, then Washington, Utah Aggies, Alabama and Tulane seem to be in the best strategic position at the moment because their remaining foes all have been either beaten or tied. But Washington's huskies, after Oregon State this week, have Stanford, tied by Santa Clara, but unbeaten; Washington State, undefeated in Coast conference competition, and Southern California to beat. The Utah Aggies may get along quite well against Brigham Young, Colorado Aggies and Colorado Mines, but the last hurdle will be the biggest—the University of Utah. Tulane may sweep through Mississippi, Colgate, Kentucky and Sewanee but the Green Wave's final game with powerful Louisiana State may be the heart-breaker.

Alabama seems most likely of them all to reach the main objective. The Crimson Tide has hurdled what seemed to be the biggest obstacle, Tennessee, and now has Kentucky, Clemson, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt in front. On the basis of results to date, there should be no great danger to the Tide's perfect rating in these four last games.

Taking everything into consideration, the best guess seems to be that the end of the season will find Alabama, Michigan State, Minnesota, and Princeton with their slates clean of tie or defeat.

GIANTS TRADE BLONDY RYAN FOR BARTELL

TRADE ALSO INCLUDES 3 OTHER PLAYERS AND $75,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The first move in Bill Terry's reconstruction campaign brings Dick Bartell, peppy shortstop of the Phillies, to the New York Giants in exchange for a bundle of cash and four players, including Blondy Ryan (they can't beat 'em) Ryan.

To snare Bartell the Giants were forced to give Ryan, Johnny Vergez, George Watkins, and a rookie pitcher, John Puzello, as well as cash estimated at $75,000.

National league critics studied the deal closely and then decided nobody had been cheated. Bartell, one of the league's finest shortstops, should make the Giant infield. The Phillies, in turn, get a third baseman, Vergez, a shortstop, Ryan, an outfielder, Watkins; a pitcher, Puzello, and the cash with which to invest in more playing material.

With Bartell's entrance into the Polo Grounds ensemble, the veteran Travis Jackson undoubtedly will be shifted to third base, a position he played with amazing efficiency in the 1933 world series. Hughie Critz and Terry himself will round out the infield.

Although only 27 years old, Bartell is a veteran of seven National league campaigns. He broke in with Pittsburgh in 1927 but was traded to the Phillies in 1930 after a front-office quarrel. His life-time major league batting average is well over .300 and his fielding has been consistently brilliant.

Germany Warns France To Keep Out Of Saarland

BERLIN, Nov. 1. (AP)—A semi-official German source, answering reports that France is preparing for possible occupation of the Saar territory, warned today that France is "playing with fire."

"The Deutsche Diplomatische Politische Korrespondenz, mouthpiece of the government, in an editorial headed 'playing with fire,' said: 'Under no circumstances could peace and order be enforced in the Saar with military force by a power which is a party to the January 13 plebiscite.'

"The rich Saar region votes then on whether to join Germany or France, or to remain under the mandate of the League of Nations."

The editorial expression came in quick reaction to reports from Paris and London that France is making ready for a possible Saar occupation "whenever the Saar governing commission deems it advisable."

The Korrespondenz claims not a single case of terrorism has arisen in the Saar. The population there, it says, is maintaining marvelous discipline, despite countless provocations from "immigrants" who are abusing their rights.

Religious, Race Issues Brought Into N. Y. Race

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—High democratic leaders sought today to counteract any effects the now famous Farley-Sinclair mixup may have on the New York state gubernatorial election.

Some of the leaders were concerned over reports that certain foes of Governor Herbert H. Lehman are making headway by telling Catholic, Jewish and Protestant voters that national Chairman James A. Farley really endorsed Upton Sinclair and that Sinclair is against all religion.

Though expressing confidence that Lehman, a close friend of President Roosevelt, would win out in the various campaigns with Robert Moses, embattled republican candidate, democratic chiefs are believed to be planning special efforts to convince the voters that neither Chairman Farley nor President Roosevelt has endorsed the national chairman who seeks the California governorship.

They will try to bring home their explanation that a letter urging Sinclair's election bearing the rubber stamp signature of Farley was sent from democratic headquarters through a mistake by a minor employee.

Republicans, led by Rep. Hamilton Fish (R-N), are saying "it does seem a little strange for Mr. Farley to join the band wagon behind Upton Sinclair, who has denounced all religious beliefs, including that of the Catholics, Protestants and Jews."

Negroes Eat Ton Of Memphis Clay Like Ice Cream

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 1. (AP)—The mysterious disappearance of clay deposits on the banks of the Mississippi river has been solved. Negroes are eating it!

Chief of Police Will Lee first noticed the gradual disappearance of the clay some time ago. The river, winding its way to the gulf, was not responsible, the chief found, so he set his officers to find out just where it went.

Their report that the clay is being taken away by the negroes who eat it as if it were ice cream or pork chops.

Memphis physicians agree the clay may have some medicinal properties, especially if those eating it are susceptible to anemia or afflicted with intestinal parasites.

Chief Lee estimated today that at least a ton of the clay has been eaten. Dr. Louis Leroy, a diagnostician, gave the bewildered chief this explanation:

"Clay eating is not at all an uncommon practice. It can't hurt them unless they eat enough to clog the intestinal tract."

So Chief Lee simply shrugged his shoulders and said: "Let 'em go to it. I hope the banks don't run out."

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Just as Marian's husband, Lon Cassad, was getting a good start on his plan to develop an old apple orchard into a region of small homes for people with taste and little money—a secretary runs away with the money back of the venture. Lon tries to get a job, and has no luck. Marian finally persuades him to pay off his men with her savings.

Chapter 23
NEW NEIGHBOR

Lon returned home next day with no levity in his greeting. He had transferred Marian's savings to a joint checking account of their own. The next day was Saturday; they had agreed to let the men work out the week that it would pay them off and there would still be one hundred and eighteen dollars in the bank.

"Wealth, Lon," Marian insisted Saturday night, as she showed her the stub with their balance.

The next day, Sunday, a crowd from the Dispatch drove out for dinner. They'd formed a habit of that, sure of a hearty welcome. Marian was amazed at the quantity of food they consumed. A whole ham, two quart jars of jam, a pound of coffee... she checked herself. Did this mean that in the future she would entertain with one eye on the larger?

On the first of the month the maintenance bills rolled in... stalked in, Lon corrected her. As he bent over them his face looked as if it had been planed by one of his own tools, so thin was it becoming. The electricity bill was much too high, they decided. Perhaps they'd better turn off the refrigerator. They could keep things in the storage house, it was below ground, cool. Lon said there had been a wood cooking stove in the old farm shack; he could clean that up and they'd use that for cooking.

With the advance of summer the heat became intense. They took to going for long drives on Sundays, and after the gang had come, tarried and left unfed, they understood that it would be better to have the drives stopped; even the price of gasoline must be considered and they walked.

"It would be fun any other time," Marian confided to Lon as they stretched under the coolness of giant redwoods in the Maraga valley.

Lon had said nothing in reply to her confidence but she was becoming accustomed to that. She was even learning to refrain from cheerful comments. His silent reception of them made her feel like a silly, piping bird, in the kind they'd seen on the coast during their honeymoon, funny little things fustily waddling along the beach on oversized feet, pipping, eternally piping. She must sound like that to him.

Sundown and they walked back through the heat of the hills to their home. Lon watered the garden while Lon tinkered with the car. He was driving into town in the morning. The Sunday morning papers, each folded to the "Men Wanted" column, lay on his chiffonier with black dashes and opposite advertisements he felt qualified to answer.

"That night Marian slipped a silver dollar she had been cherishing, into Lon's vest pocket. He'd think he'd forgotten it, she thought, and luckily didn't see the flush of humiliation on his face as he took the suit into the patio to brush it and heard the dollar roll down on the stones.

That next morning in the patio, when he stooped for his farewell kiss, she clung to him as though she would never let him go. What did wives do to let their husbands know they were suffering with them?

For them, rather, because life never seemed as dark to them as to the men who were trying to protect them. This night she would try again.

She would wear the plum colored silk Lon had never seen, an old dress, but becoming. It was the color of Diablo sunset. There was grape juice in the cooler, her mother had canned it last year. She would serve that... canned tomatoes could be made into a salad if properly drained. Oh, any food would be good if served in the patio and she would be calm, and as near like Diablo as she could.

She dressed and with a book in her hand, curled up on the divan. She heard Lon drive in, but didn't stir. He must be tired of her clinging to him, she thought. She heard him call and whistled in return, and then she heard voices.

She stood up and peered out of the windows. Lon was laughing who had stood in awe of the slender figure of her girlhood memory, felt a little sorry for her now. The Wyles were presented, a middle-aged couple with the cosmopolitan mark of the islands on them, and Blaine Kelly, a man not overly young, and with the plumpish look of soft living about him.

And then came McSwain. Marian surveyed him with intense interest. This was the man who was willing to sacrifice his son-in-law to save himself. He was... she sought for a word... gross, that was it. There was a belligerent line to his jaw, a brutal line to his brow.

Tomorrow, a man's fate falls in to Marian's hand.

Easy Divorce In Russia Is Not Popular in Use

LUBBOCK, Nov. 1.—Dr. H. B. Bruner, curriculum authority and a member of the Columbia University faculty, during a recent visit here discussed Russia and Germany before the students of Texas Technological College at a general convocation. He is making a series of lectures on "The Curriculum Reconstruction movement" sponsored by Texas Tech and the Lubbock high school.

"Divorces may be obtained in Russia in a few minutes, and just the sending of a post card from either party constitutes the legal procedure," he stated, "but it is amazing to note that the rate of divorces in Russia is less than that in the United States. The rate in the United States is one divorce out of every three and eight-tenths marriages," he said.

In Russia last summer Dr. Bruner found conditions different from the way they are usually pictured in the United States. "Such articles as soap and simple luxuries are not found even in the best of hotels," he revealed, "and many families have to live in a house which we think is just large enough for one family."

HUNTING HIS HUNTING DOG
PHILADELPHIA—Commander S. J. Zeigler, U. S. N., owner of a prize English Setter, is hunting his hunting dog. The canine, it seems, chose a psychological moment to go AWOL. "Skipper," as the dog is called, left his master flat on the eve of the hunting season. The commander offers a $50 reward and no questions asked—and hopes "Skipper" will be returned before the shooting season is done.

DEMOCRATS PREDICT SENATE GAINS IN 10 NORTHEAST STATES

LABOR URGES DEFEAT OF 4 GOP SENATORS

RITCHIE SEEKS FIFTH TERM AS MARYLAND GOVERNOR

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Republican seats in the senate, the last stronghold of the party in twelve northeastern states which pay more than half the federal income taxes and contain a quarter of the country's population, will be under heavy fire on election day.

In the present congress are 16 republican and 8 democratic senators from Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia and Delaware.

Thirteen of these seven republicans and six democrats—hold over from the present to the next congress, and Maine already has re-elected its republican senator. The senate seats are at stake Nov. 6, the candidates including seven republican and two democratic incumbents.

With democrats already counting a majority in the house from the eastern states, their spokesmen have predicted that this advantage not only will be enlarged but that the final senatorial count may

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—Stocks were somewhat depressed today in trading which was a bit more active. Prices began to slip after a steady rise to firm opening. The rails were leaders in the reaction. There were scattered firm spots, however, and most losses were moderate. The close was easy. Transfers approximated 560,000 shares.

He recalled kindness he received in his youth from Thomas Alva Edison, great American inventor, and Edison's wife.

Insull, appearing as the first witness in his own defense against charges of stock selling, prefaced his testimony with the familiar story of his success.

"Settling down in the witness stand, Insull began a slow autobiography, beginning with his boyhood in London and leading up to his rise in American business.

Insull told the jury about his first job.

"I became a sort of office boy at 5 shillings a week with a firm of auctioneers. Whilst there I learned shorthand."

As if quoting the memoirs he has just finished, the utility man put in asides about other business affairs. He worked as secretary for the publisher of Vanity Fair, English magazine, he said, adding that he had "I date my interest in public affairs and my love of good literature from that."

Discharged by the auctioneers, he answered an advertisement and found himself working for Thomas Alva Edison's London representative.

Then Insull told of coming to America to be Edison's secretary, and tears came to his eyes as he recalled "how good and kind, Mrs. Edison was to him when he visited their old brown house."

Regarding his compure, Insull spoke with a note of enthusiasm in his references to the inventor, introducing parenthetically as he told of his introduction in New York.

"And if I may be permitted to say so, it was then that I came under his spell."

Insull stressed that Edison placed considerable confidence in him and explained immediately that he needed money to continue his three plants, as he had been expanding rapidly. Edison needed $300,000, Insull said, and asked his new secretary for an advance on whether he should go to a friend in Paris or one in Budapest for it.

"My experience in handling the affairs of the inventor formed the real basis for my knowledge of business affairs in general," Insull said.

"Edison worked at all hours and particularly liked to work in the early hours of the morning. It was then I most liked to work with him, because then I could view him more intimately."

Insull said he asked Edison to propose him for membership in an "engineering society, which Edison did. In answering the application question as to the proposed member's education, he said Edison wrote, 'in the college of experience.'"

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1. (AP)—The Brooklyn club of the National league is not for sale. So says Steve McKeever, president of the club, in commenting upon reports that Col. T. L. Huston, former part-owner of the Yankees, would like to buy the Dodgers and make Babe Ruth manager.

whooped in the gala farewell. The closing sent many of the 25,000 employees to the ranks of the unemployed. Others had already secured new positions from commercial and industrial executives impressed with their ability to handle the 39,020-922 persons who visited the big show during the ten months it operated in 1933 and 1934.

The management experienced its most trying test in corralling the customers last night. Hundreds of patrons battered against the 18th street gates until they were admitted free to relieve the pressure. A total of 363,737 had checked through the turnstiles at 1 a. m.—the largest crowd of the season with the exception of the estimated 407,000 who stormed the entrances and climbed the fences on children's day last June. The throngs of visitors yesterday and last night boosted the 1934 attendance mark to 16,306,090.

President Rufus C. Dawes of the exposition, Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois and Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago spoke the formal adieus from the rostrum in the court of states. Those who shook their heads when Dawes launched the fair in the midst of the recession were there to shake his hand in congratulation.

BIRTHDAY TAX

said. "If you don't believe it ought to pass, kill it outright."

Duval expressed the opinion that the suggested levies would not hurt any industry and predicted the Centennial would be of lasting benefit to all parts of Texas by bringing thousands of permanent residents to the state. He estimated Centennial visitors would spend more money in Texas than is received from the cotton crop.

Cline also asserted the independent oil operators, as a whole, were not opposed to the bill but would accept the tax.

He expressed appreciation of the acceptance by certain industries of the taxes that would be levied on them, but urged rejection of a compromise offered by the racing industry. Representatives of the major Texas tracks offered to accept levies aggregating slightly in excess of $250,000 annually for two years. Cline estimated the tax on this industry should be about $500,000 annually for the Centennial.

"The race tracks are trying to get out too cheaply," he said. "If the taxes suggested by the Centennial commission are too high then theirs is too low."

FOOTE WILL UPHOLD

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 1. (P)—There was an opinion on record today from the fourth court of civil appeals which ruled a man has the right to will his property to his widow provided she did not marry again. The appellate court's decision affirmed a lower court decision from Bexar county. J. D. Foote, who died Oct. 5, 1927, stipulated in his will that his widow, Annie Foote, should receive $30,000 in properties if she did not remarry.

ROGERS-AYRES NUTAL

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1. (P)—Ginger Rogers, screen actress and Lew Ayres, leading man of the films, who have been "going together" for the past year and a half, disclosed today they would marry Nov. 10 or 11. OPERA MUSIC PRESENTED BY TREBLE CLEF CLUB FOR GUESTS

COSTUMES ADD TO EFFECTIVE PRESENTATION

THREE NEW MEMBERS ARE PRESENT ON GUEST DAY

Guests and new members heard with members of the Treble Clef club an interesting program on Italian opera yesterday afternoon. Music from two famous Italian operas formed a major program division.

Mrs. Frances Sturgeon, program chairman, told of the origin of the Italian opera to introduce the study. She was assisted by Mrs. F. L. Stallings and Mrs. L. N. McCullough, who defined the structure of the opera.

Mrs. Harry Hoare told the story of Verdi's "Il Trovatore" and selections from that opera were presented, each introduced with a brief resume of their place in the score by Mrs. Sturgeon.

The duet, Home to Our Mountains, was sung by Mrs. Alex Schneider and Mrs. Sturgeon, accompanied by Mrs. Walter F. G. Stein. Mmes. Bob McCoy, C. C. Dodd, and Sam Irwin, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Nelson, sang the Mincers. The popular Anvil Chorus was played as a piano solo by Mrs. Stein.

Mrs. Harry Nelson played a piano solo, Fantasia, by Dorn, as another program number.

The other opera studied was "Madame Butterfly," by Puccini. Mrs. Philip Wolfe sang the solo, One Fine Day, with Mrs. Stein as accompanist. A duet, Every Flower was sung by Mrs. Jimmy Engle and Mrs. Dorothy Dodd.

Several of the numbers, given in costume before the background of fall flowers, were especially effective. A greeting from the club was sent to the president, Mrs. W. A. Bratton, who has been ill for several days.

Guests introduced included Mmes. W. E. Chaffin, T. P. Morfitt, W. R. Ewing, Henry Stinson, Roland McSkimming, Fitzsimmons, George Briggs, D. D. McSkimming.

New members present were Mmes. W. L. Brummett, Frank Authur, and H. O. Roberts. Other members attending the program and social hour were Mmes. Schneider, Sturgeon, Lamar Jones, Stein, Harry E. Lyman, Hoare, McCoy, McCullough, Stallings, Wolfe, Ray Huling, Chaffin, Dodd, Irwin, Engle, Misses Jimma Searcy and Dorothy Dodd.

BELIEVE NEW FRENCH-NAZI WAR CERTAIN

France In Throes Of Fear. Claim Germany Is Ready To Send Army Into Saar.

PARIS, Nov. 1. (AP)—A war scare overshadowed the visits of French people to the graves of their military and civil dead in All-Saints day cemetery pilgrimages today.

Battle sounds of twenty years ago were recalled as fear of another conflict with Germany was aroused by official and private warnings.

The strength of Chancellor Hitler's army, said one newspaper, will be greater next spring than the one with which Germany entered the world war.

Preparations for defense increased the nation's dread of an air invasion, with its possible campaign of bombs, gas, and microbes.

The warning of Marshal Henri Petain, minister of war, that "Germany is ready," made to the finance committee of the Chamber of Deputies at a secret session Monday, was followed by the newspaper.

Matin's claim that the German army already is greater than that of France and has more than 2,000,000 men, with the full backing of tanks, artillery, and aerial fleet, ready to march next spring.

Petain in June gave similar figures but the war scare then died quickly in the face of political opponents' charges that the military party was "beating the drum" to get appropriations and unify the nation in the midst of the internal dissension and economic distress.

French preparations to send troops into the Saar territory if the League of Nations' governing commission seeks help centered attention on the disputed region, where violence might be the starting point of another war, often publicly said here to be "inevitable."

Baptists Again Invade Saloons Singing Hymns

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1. (AP)—It was hymn books versus beer here again today as delegates to the pre-millennial Baptist Bible school planned another invasion of the city's night clubs and beer gardens in a search for converts.

"Where is my wandering boy tonight?" and "the old time religion" were two of the songs the gospel singers planned to employ as the second drive to urge repentance for beer quaffers started.

Their first tour of the night spots ended successfully, the churchmen sold after a testimonial meeting. One man walked into the midst of the meeting and announced "the old time religion," as sung in a beer parlor while he drank, "had made a new man of him." He was going back to the family he had deserted 15 years ago in Memphis, Tenn., the men said.

The Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church, where the repenter was baptized, said "it all goes to show that the poor folks who go into these beer joints aren't altogether bad."

CLAREMORE, Okla., Nov. 1. (AP)—Clarence Faulkner, Chelsea, Okla., was shot and killed today at a Lake Claremore night club. The shooting was said by witnesses to have followed an alleged dispute between Faulkner and Merritt (Pat) Patterson, operator of the club. Faulkner was shot five times.

Improvement Seen In Business World

GREENSBORO, N. C., Nov. 1.—Business conditions are improving, and indications are that the upturn will continue at an even swifter pace during the fall and winter months, President L. Richardson of the Vick Chemical company declared in an interview here today.

As an evidence that the Vick company is backing this opinion, Mr. Richardson pointed out that Vicks advertising appropriation for this season is larger than ever before—over $2,500,000.

An additional evidence that Vicks considers present conditions particularly auspicious is the fact that it is introducing a new small size of one of its products—Vicks Va-tro-nol, the unique aid in preventing colds.

Mr. Richardson attributes much of the tremendous sales of Vick preparation—over 53,000,000 packages last season—to honest, consistent newspaper advertising of highly meritorious products.

"Our nearly 30 years of experience have convinced us that the newspaper provides the most flexible and reliable form of advertising," he stated. "Newspapers, as always, head the list of media we are using this season. Especially heavy schedules will be run in connection with introduction of the new size Va-tro-nol."

As a result of far-sighted planning by the company's management, Vick policies during the depression have been diametrically opposed to those of many other concerns. Since 1929, Vicks has tripled its advertising while some companies were drastically curtailing theirs—or eliminating it entirely. It has introduced three new products and continued the aggressive merchandising that has always characterized its sales policies. And during these five turbulent years, sales of Vick products have increased more than

EDITORIAL

CHANGING THE CURRICULUM

Statistics on divorce show a large proportion of failures among early marriages. Evidently the young folks of today are not prepared for home making. That's something for the schools to study, as indeed will superintendents in a meeting in Pampa tomorrow.

Much is being written and there is much discussion about curriculum changes.

Unless we revise our way of training children in the public schools, we may presently find that we have reared a generation of "jaded old youngsters" utterly devoid of a sense of value.

This is the warning Dr. William Ernest Hocking, professor of philosophy at Harvard, issued to a school teachers' convention in Ohio recently.

Teaching children how to solve problems in arithmetic, how to spell, how to reel off the names of the presidents, and how to bound the state of Kentucky, Dr. Hocking suggests, is pretty nearly useless unless, at the same time, we give them the mental and emotional training which will enable them to get something out of their lives besides the empty repetition of a monotonous routine.

Now the significant thing about this is the fact that the speaker seems to take it for granted that the youngsters are to get this kind of development in the school rather than in the home.

One of the most profound changes any human society could undergo has been taking place in this country in recent years, and most of us have hardly noticed it.

We have not only given to our schools the job of teaching our children how to read and write; we have, to a very great extent, also given them the task of developing our children's character, establishing their ideals, and suggesting to them the approaches to adulthood.

A homely illustration will show the trend. Hardly anyone spans his child any more; and while that may be an excellent thing, the old-time firmness of parental discipline has pretty largely vanished at the same time.

It has been transferred to the school room. The child whose parents "can't do a thing with him"—and his name is legion, nowadays—takes the mark in school very obediently.

He has to. He knows teachers will make it hot for him if he doesn't.

Now this is merely a symbol of the way in which we have transferred parental responsibilities to the school ma'am. The only reason why we are not raising the most spoiled brats the world ever knew is that the schools are doing our work for us.

It is for that reason that Dr. Hocking's warning is timely. It calls on the educators to recognize that they have been given a responsibility which, from time immemorial, has rested on the parent.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission:
"I will think—talk—write—live for Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

AUSTIN, Nov. 2. (Special)—Definite proposals of the Texas Centennial Commission for financing the celebrations in 1936 in Texas cities are embodied in an omnibus occupation tax measure and a revised franchise tax bill introduced in the house. The bills provide that the taxes shall be in effect from January 1, 1935, until December 31, 1936, although it is expected that amendments will be offered to terminate them when the sum agreed upon as an appropriation for the Centennial has been raised.

The franchise tax bill merely rewrites the existing statute and increases the amount by 20 per cent. There are modifications for companies now paying intangible taxes, which will be levied on the basis of the sum now proposed to be levied. Franchise taxes are levied on domestic and foreign corporations on the basis of that proportion of the outstanding capital stock, surplus and undivided profits, plus outstanding bonds, notes and debentures, in the relation that the gross receipts from the Texas business bear to the total gross receipts of the corporation. The rate usually is 60c on the $1,000 for each $1,000 up to $1,000,000 and 30c on each machine taking a 5c coin and $1 on each machine taking a 1c piece.

Gross receipts from electric energy, natural gas, artificial gas, telephone, telegraph, wireless and express companies would be assured 1 per cent under the terms of the other bill. Other rates in the schedule are: an additional tax of 1-4c a barrel on the production of crude oil; 1-4c a gallon on cereal beverages; 5c a gallon on grape juice; 2c a gallon on fruit juices, still drinks and mineral waters; and 2c a gallon on fountain syrups.

Levies are provided on marble and slot machines of $25 for ten machines, $50 for twenty machines, and $10 for each additional ten machines operated by one person or concern. This would be in addition to $1,000,000 and 30c on each machine taxing a 5c coin and $1 on each machine taking a 1c piece.

Other levies proposed are: 50c a barrel on beer; 5c per cent of the amount wagered by every person on horse racing wagers; 1c on each 10c charged for admission to horse racing, wrestling, boxing, dance halls, motorcycle and automobile races, skating rinks and similar amusements; 1c on each 10c and 50c charged for admission to theaters, football, baseball and tennis.

All the proposed taxes would be in addition to existing levies except as relates to coin-operated machines, for which the bill amends the existing provisions, but provides that there shall be no waiver of taxes now claimed but protested by the operators.

ABILENE, Nov. 2. (Special)—Abilene is planning a Western celebration to be held at its fair grounds for two weeks in the fall of 1936 when celebrations of the Texas Centennial are to be held in Texas cities. It is proposed that the celebration feature pageantry and displays portraying Indian life and culture, the era of Spanish exploration, the frontier days, early days of the cattleman, the advent of the farmer and kindred milestones in the progress of this immediate section of the state.

Reproduction of a Comanche village and its equipment, staging of a battle between the Comanches and a group of Comanches from Oklahoma, displays featuring evidences of prehistoric men and of the Indians, the earliest historic denizens of the West Texas area to be attractions.

The era of Spanish exploration will be represented in a series of topographical displays showing routes of the explorers including that of Coronado, first to visit the Concho and Colorado rivers, of Mendoza in 1684 and of Vial and Marcos. Reproduction of the temporary mission on the Concho and display of armor, weapons and accoutrements of Spanish soldiers and priests are planned.

To recall the frontier days, there are proposed a topographical display showing cordons of forts built across West Texas with a miniature reproduction of Fort Phantom Hill; a topographical display locating the principal engagements and peace conferences with Indians in this section and reproduction of a Concord coach and freight wagons to reacquaint the people with the pioneer mail service along the old Butterfield Trail between points to the northeast and southwest of Abilene.

PANHANDLE FARMERS TO BENEFIT FROM EROSION CONTROL PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2. (AP)—The soil erosion service disclosed today that 11 land owners in the Texas Panhandle had signed contracts with the government agreeing to place their land at its disposal in the newly-established wind-erosion control program in that area.

The sign-up figure was described as "encouraging" in view of the fact the service was able only recently to begin the actual offering of contracts by which the farmer agrees for a period of 5 years to furnish as much labor and material as possible for the experiment, to rotate crops as directed and even to require land permanently from cultivation if that course is deemed necessary. Each erosion official said other land owners would be signed rapidly.

The Panhandle project, the first direct effort at halting the destruction of land by high wind, will cover 15,000 acres of land similar to that in all the so-called high plains area covering parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

The principal purpose is to find a means applicable to all the plains section, of halting such fierce sand storms as swept the area during the drought last summer.

WASHINGTON—Another spectacular bust-up inside the AAA is something you can look forward to, though it may be staved off for months.

Temperatures are rising within the organization to a point reminiscent of the famous battle in which Dr. Tugwell, Jerome Frank and Fred Howe tangled with George Peek and managed to push him out of the farm recovery outfit along with many of his henchmen.

The issues haven't changed. Shall the processors and distributors of food write their own tickets when AAA marketing agreements are made—as industries wrote their own codes under NRA?

Or shall AAA insist on effective provisions for protection of the producing farmer and the otherwise helpless consumer?

The whole farm situation is so difficult, not to say disturbing, that Secretary Wallace is grimly bent on postponing the internal showdown which so many AAA people believe is inevitable.

The liberals are badly handicapped by opposition from certain bargaining co-operatives—especially in milk—whose officials are alleged to support the distributing corporations.

Early this year Einar Jensen, economist chiefly famed as an authority on the Danish co-operative system, was detailed from the Consumers Council's office to be federal administrator for the Boston milk market. The AAA milk policy called for a guaranteed price for milk to farmers.

Free competition in the Boston area had sent the retail price of milk down from 12 cents to 11 cents a quart.

Pressure was brought to get Jensen to agree to a fixed resale price which would destroy price competition. Jensen refused.

Soon Boston milk distributors were dealing directly with their friends in the AAA dairy section here. Co-op executives joined with them in demanding Jensen's removal.

Arthur Lauterbach, chief of the dairy section and an old co-op man, agreed to recall Jensen. The liberals organized their forces within AAA and fought and bled for Jensen.

But they were beaten. Jensen is coming back to Washington and AAA is figuring out how best to explain to consumer organizations in Boston—which will be enraged when they hear about it.

If you remember the Hon. J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama, who used to be a senator here, you'll be interested to hear that he is one of this year's campaign issues in a spot far removed from his native heath.

When Tom contested his defeat by John Bankhead in 1930, the Senate voted as to whether he should be seated and a few Republicans, who had thought it would be smart to embarrass the democrats by supporting this thorn in democratic flesh, voted to seat him. One of those Republicans was Senator Felix Herbert of Rhode Island.

Well, Rhode Island is just full of Irish and French folk who well remember the days when raiting Tom was trying to put the Catholic church out of business. And friends of ex-Senator Peter Garry, Herbert's opponent, are reminding the state of that Herbert vote.

The boys and girls are being told to vote against "Hoover, Heflin, and Herbert." And they probably will.

The government is going to let anyone inspect your income figures next year. It has not yet decided whether or not it will furnish the microscopes.

SALES TAX IS RAISING FUNDS IN 17 STATES

NUMEROUS STATES TO DECIDE ON ISSUE THIS YEAR

(Note to editors: The sales tax, a $200,000,000 problem, is facing many states this winter. This is the first of four articles dealing with it. The first is a general summary; the second describes the four types of sales tax as developed; and the third and fourth show how the four types are being adapted to local needs by states using them for additional revenue or to reduce other forms of taxation.)

By TAYLOR HENRY
NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—The problem of the sales tax, most controversial of revenue levies, awaits solution by many states throughout the union this winter.

Comparatively unheard of five years ago, sales taxes today produce revenue in excess of $200,000,000 annually in 17 states.

Many other states, faced with the need for additional revenue and already overburdened property taxes, are considering whether such a tax on sales answers their problem.

In the 17 states where the sales tax is already in effect, its opponents are as outspoken in condemnation as its proponents in praise. In virtually all of them, the new state governments to be elected on November 6 will have to determine in what form the sales tax laws are to be continued if a concerted opposition does not wipe them off the statute books.

Of the $200,000,000 being raised through sales taxes, $80,000,000 provides additional revenue, while the other $120,000,000 has been used to reduce other forms of taxation.

States that have sales taxes include Indiana, South Dakota, Washington, Michigan, Iowa, Arizona, Kentucky, North Carolina, Missouri, Oklahoma, Utah, Illinois, California, New Mexico, West Virginia, Mississippi and Vermont.

Pennsylvania imposed a sales tax for six months in 1932 for emergency unemployment relief and raised $10,000,000. Delaware considered a sales tax at the last session of the legislature but it failed of passage. Louisiana has compromised on a system of excise taxes producing $15,000,000 additional annual revenue.

The problem of the sales tax is current in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Pennsylvania. Officials of the four states are working on a plan for a simultaneous uniform tax to void the objection that such a tax drives business across state lines.

Proponents say that the sales tax is a quick revenue producer and an effective means of reaching all the people, in particular those who pay no direct levies. They said that it provides a more equitable distribution of taxation because it is a universally equal tax, and consequently increases mass interest in government.

Opponents call it a nuisance tax, socially unfair because the poor are taxed the same amount as the rich without regard to ability to pay. They charge that it drives business across state lines in a manner that does not actually decrease the amount of goods purchased.

CAPITOL CHATTER

AUSTIN, Nov. 2—Texas relief clients have taken such a fancy to "goats on the hoof" that it now appears few if any of these animals bought in the government program will be left for the meat canning plants. C. Z. Crain, head of the commodities distribution department of the Texas Relief commission, said today.

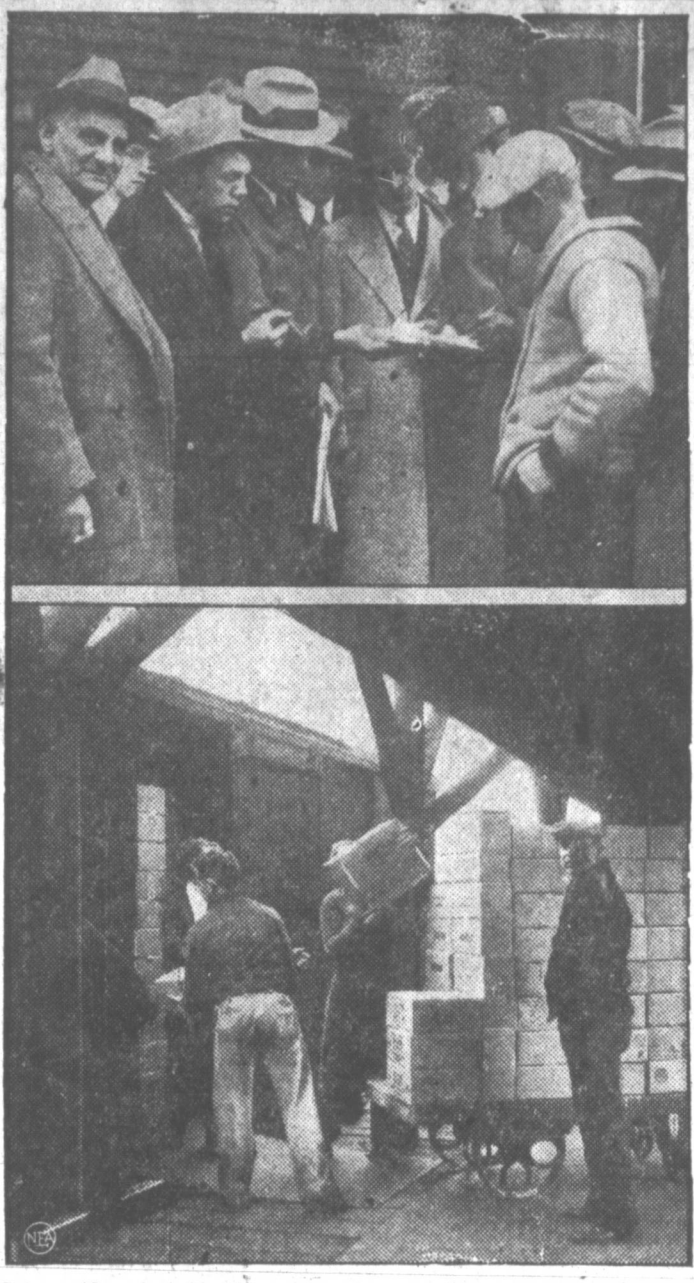

"We're issuing them alive to relief clients at the rate of 3,000 to 4,000 per day and this morning we haven't a surplus goat in our pens," Crain said. He estimated nearly 50,000 head have been disposed of in this manner. Clients themselves are required to slaughter the animal. They also must return the skin to the county administrator to indicate that the animal has not been resold. After the skin has been marked, it is returned to the client and he may use it as he sees fit.

Crain declared that skins are being used as floor coverings, and in some instances hides have been tanned and made into men's vests.

The federal government has set a quota of 400,000 goats in Texas. It is estimated that 100,000 of this number have been bought, counting condemnations. In contrast to the cattle and sheep programs, the federal surplus relief corporation is not receiving goats and the responsibility for disposing of them was placed on the Texas Relief commission. Officials first considered slaughtering the animals, but decided to try giving them away alive. The plan met instant success. Many goats dressed out 15 pounds of meat and some clients, looking to the winter months, have dried their meat for future consumption.

PINKNEY WORTH $74,000?
TORONTO—John Langley, youthful violinist, lost the index finger of his left hand. Because that digit is necessary to the chosen profession he seeks $74,000 outright or a payment of $70 a week for life from the Fidelity Assurance company. In court the company contested his suit, saying the injury does not constitute occupational disability and also claims the wound was self-inflicted.

Trying to Save Jobs

Grim evidence of the determination of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. to close permanently their 300 stores in Cleveland because of labor trouble was seen in the moving from Cleveland warehouses (lower picture) of huge food stocks for transfer to regional headquarters in Pittsburgh. Desperate at the prospect of losing their jobs, employees (upper picture) signed petitions to the mayor asking him to try to get the company to reconsider its action.

MARGIN OF 'NEW DEAL' WIN WATCHED BY POLITICAL SEERS

BY CECIL B. DICKSON
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—Stiff contests in a dozen states involving a score of national political figures dominate the national interest in the off-year election campaign ending November 6. With most trends pointing to a "new deal" victory, attention is being focused more on by what margin the democrats will win and which of the candidates in the heated campaigns will come out on top.

The spectacular gubernatorial race in California between Upton Sinclair, democrat, and Frank P. Merriam, republican; the peculiar political line-up behind Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., progressive, Wisconsin; the conflict between the old guard republican, Senator David A. Reed and Joseph P. Guffey, administration backed democrat in Pennsylvania; and the contest between the veteran G. O. P. leader, Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, and former Governor Vic Donahey, democrat, are four attracting national interest.

EPIC Fight in Spotlight
Sinclair and his EPIC (End Poverty in California) program feature the most discussed campaign. The former socialist won the democratic gubernatorial nomination after a hot fight. At first it appeared the administration was willing to go along with him but in the last days of the campaign some democrats felt that he was going too far to the left for President Roosevelt.

While the administration openly backed Senator Hiram W. Johnson, independent republican, in California, assuring his election when he obtained both G. O. P. and democratic nominations, it took no such stand in any other contest where "new deal" republican backers were involved.

Wagner Aids La Follette
Nevertheless, a strong administration supporter, Senator Robert F. Wagner, democrat, New York, went into Wisconsin to speak for Senator La Follette, who dropped his republican label and became head of the progressive ticket. That the administration does not favor John M. Callahan, the democratic nominee, was made known to many Wisconsin voters, who also have a republican candidate, John B. Chapple, to pass on.

Among other old-line republican states the democrats hope to invade Pennsylvania. The administration sent a hand to the candidacy of Democrat Guffey, who has predicted "new dealers" will take Senator Reed into camp. Reed has been spoken of as G. O. P. presidential timber and it has been

Gloomy Dean Cheery as He Quits His Title

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Very Rev. W. R. Inge may no longer be called "the gloomy dean." When he retired from the deanery of St. Paul's he automatically lost the title. Now he's plain "Dr. Inge."

He belied his reputation for gloominess at his last appearance as dean. He said: "I go on the dole tomorrow."

His last talk was punctuated with pithy remarks. "Too much of a busy clergyman's time is now occupied by filling in forms," he said. "Religion is caught, not taught," was an anchor of his remarks.

Wheeler County Demands $20,000 To Rebuild Fort

SHAMROCK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Wheeler county citizens have asked for an appropriation of $20,000 for restoration of old Fort Elliot as part of the Texas Centennial celebration.

Tearing down of Fort Elliot in 1900 destroyed one of the last old posts constructed for protection from Indians. The fort was situated two miles west of old Mobeetie, old town in the Texas Panhandle.

Mobeetie was first known as Hidetown, and when wagons loaded with lumber and other building material came down from Dodge City, Kans., in 1874, they stopped at Hidetown, then a supply station for Buffalo hunters.

About all that is left of Fort Elliot now is an inconspicuous marker and a flag pole. The flagpole now stands in the main street of Mobeetie.

When Fort Elliot was destroyed in 1900, the late J. J. Long, former member of the pony express from Dodge City, bought the flag pole and had it erected at Mobeetie. Long, who came to Mobeetie with the General Mills expedition in 1874, died in 1925.

Several old houses and the jail, built of stone in 1874, still stand at Mobeetie, and residents of the county pointed out in their petition to the legislature that a replica of Fort Elliot and restoration of part of the old fort "are within reach of a modest appropriation."

Mexico, Robinson also was slated to speak in Wyoming where Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney, former assistant postmaster general, is cosponsored by a popular republican, Representative Vincent Carter.

Besides the Sinclair-Merriam race in California the gubernatorial contest drawing the most attention is that between Mrs. William Langer republican, and Thomas H. Moodie, democrat. Mr. Langer is the wife of the deposed republican governor of North Dakota who was found guilty of misuse of federal relief funds.

Long A Thorny Issue
In his speech at Reno, Va., President Roosevelt inferentially stated that any bonus payments to war veterans should await at least the relief of millions of persons whose conditions were far worse than those of the average veteran. He also warned that the credit resources of the nation must be conserved.

The bonus was a thorny issue also for President Coolidge and Hoover.

Certificates are held by some 3,543,000 former service men, the value of the average certificate being $988. Loans on the certificates, however, have been made to 2,870,000 veterans, or 80 per cent of those holding certificates.

Adjusted service credit is computed on the basis of amount of active service in excess of 90 days in the military or naval forces after April 5, 1917, and before July 1, 1919. For each day of overseas service, $1.25 is allowed while for each day of home service the allowance is $1.

Advocates of cash payment contend it would boost the nation's purchasing power by putting money into circulation in all sections of the country.

FOUR FORMS OF SALES TAX ARE IN USE TODAY

Retail Sales Tax Is Most Popular And Most Condemned

BY TAYLOR HENRY.
NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Four forms of sales taxes are in use today in the 17 states that are committed to the sales tax principle. Most popular of the four is the retail sales tax, with the consumer's tax next in importance. The other two are a gross sales tax, levied on wholesalers as well as retailers, and a gross income tax, levied on all occupational income.

The retail sales tax, as the name implies, is a tax imposed on the sales of retail merchants and on certain direct services. The laws provide it shall not be passed on to the ultimate consumer. In most states where it is in effect the tax is considered as an expense of doing business and is carried on the books as overhead. In some states the tax is applied as an occupational privilege tax.

In all the states where it is operative, the retail sales tax is collected monthly by the state finance department or a special tax commission. Voluntary returns are accepted from merchants based on their own bookkeeping systems.

For checking purposes, occasional isolated audits are ordered by the state and where false returns are found, heavy penalties are imposed.

Merchants opposing the retail sales tax assert that reduced prices have already cut their profits to a minimum and the increase in taxation is driving them out of business. Proponents of the tax, on the other hand, point to reduced property taxes as offsetting the sales tax which, they claim, is a more equitable distribution of taxation.

The consumer's tax has drawn more adverse criticism than any of the other forms. In structure and operation, as far as the government is concerned, it is essentially the same as the retail tax. In fact, some states technically so label it with the tacit understanding that the tax will be added to the items sold.

In reality, the consumer pays the tax with the retailer acting as an intermediate tax collector for the state.

The very fact that it is a consumer tax is the focal point of the opposition to it. Proponents call it a "nuisance tax," "inverted income tax," and "a tax on property." The levy, they say, places the same tax burden on rich and poor alike; it prevents buying; and it drives business out of the state.

To this, its friends reply that the reduction in other taxes lessens its load and counteracts any tendency to drive money across state lines. They claim that it reaches persons who otherwise would contribute nothing to the support of government.

The gross sales tax is a tax on all sales of manufacturer, wholesaler, and retailer. It is a broader application of the retail sales tax and is administered in similar form. Likewise it draws similar arguments for and against it with the additional cry from its opponents of "double taxation." Its advocates counter with the claim that it falls less heavily on the individual because it is apportioned among more taxpayers.

The gross income tax is a combination of a gross sales tax and an income tax. It includes all occupational income no matter whether it be from sales, salaries, or services. Usually it is graduated so that it does not fall too heavily on the lower brackets.

BEN BERNIE TO BE IN AMARILLO NOVEMBER 17

AMARILLO, Tex.—Ben Bernie, the old Maestro and all the lads, will be in Amarillo in person on Saturday night, November 17, for a concert and dance engagement.

Ben Bernie, whose cable address is "Yowah," and who has the word copyrighted for use in radio programs, needs no introduction to radio, dance and stage fans. Not only is his orchestra one of the finest in the world, but Bernie is in a class by himself as a master of ceremonies. The Old Maestro, as he calls himself, appeared at the World's Fair in Chicago during its first year; has been a featured attraction on the radio for four years, and has one of the three highest-priced dance bands in America. He may be heard at 8 o'clock every Tuesday evening on the NBC chain.

Wilbur C. Hawk, who is bringing Bernie and his entertainers here, announces popular prices for the concert, which will begin at 8:15 o'clock. They are 25, 50 and 75 cents, $1 and $1.50. For the dance, which will follow at the Nat. $2.50 per person will be charged.

Reservations may be made now by writing Miss Lois Black, care of the News-Globe in Amarillo.

BEN BERNIE AND ALL THE LADS

General Topic: Christian Growth.
Scripture Lesson: Luke 2:42-52; 2 Peter 1:5-8.
Luke 2:42: And when he was 12 years old, they went up after the custom of the feast.
43. And when they had fulfilled the days, as they were returning, the boy Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem; and his parents knew it not;
44. But supposing him to be in the company, they went a day's journey; and they sought for him among their kinsfolk and acquaintances;
45. And when they found him not, they returned to Jerusalem, seeking for him.
46. And it came to pass, after three days they found him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers, both hearing them, and asking them questions;
47. And all that heard him were amazed at his understanding and his answers.
48. And when they saw him, they were astonished; and his mother said unto him, Son why hast thou thus dealt with us? Behold, thy father and I sought thee sorrowing.
49. And he said unto them, How is it that ye sought me? knew ye not that I must be in my Father's house?
50. And they understood not the saying which he spake unto them.
51. And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth; and he was subject unto them; and his mother kept all these sayings in her heart.
52. And Jesus advanced in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man.
2 Peter 1:5. Yea, and for this very cause adding to your part all diligence, in your faith supply virtue; and in your virtue knowledge;
6. And in your knowledge self-control; and in your self-control patience; and in your patience godliness;
7. And in your godliness brotherly kindness; and in your brotherly kindness love.
8. For if these things are yours and abound, they make you to be not idle nor unfruitful unto the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.
Golden Text: But grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.—2 Pet. 3:18.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

"A Jewish boy came of age, or was called 'a son of the law,' at thirteen, when he dressed as a man and put on phylacteries for daily prayers. From his twelfth birthday he began to be initiated into the observances of the law, and Luke tells us that when Jesus was twelve years old he went to Jerusalem with his parents to attend the passover, the feast that celebrated the deliverance of Israel from Egyptian bondage hundreds of years before."
—E. Francis Boulious.

A Jewish Custom

"They went up after the custom of the feast." Young folks can imagine with what feelings a young country boy from a town like Nazareth would set off on his first journey to a great city. As early as a child is able to comprehend, he should be introduced to the romance of religion; and in order to teach it, the parents must feel it themselves. "As they were returning, the boy Jesus tarried behind in Jerusalem. He did not mean to cause anxiety to his parents, but he was completely absorbed in what was going on in the temple."

A Day's Journey Without Jesus

"But supposing him to be in the company," v. 44. Parties were made up from the same village or from nearby villages. These, including relatives, would make a considerable number, and Mary may easily have thought that her boy was with some neighbor or friend. "They went a day's journey." From ten to fifteen miles, the entire company probably walking.

"And when they found him not, they returned to Jerusalem, seeking for him." "How anxious were they as to what might have become of the dear boy in the great city! 'They found him in the temple.' It was strange that they, including relatives, would make a considerable number, and Mary may easily have thought that her boy was with some neighbor or friend. "They went a day's journey." From ten to fifteen miles, the entire company probably walking.

Introduction

"The programme of Christianity is not made out for a pleasure trip; but it is made out for the conquest of new territory. There are frontiers to be won, and the virgin soil to be ploughed for the first time, houses to be built, savages to be tamed, wild beasts to drive out, the peace of civilization to bring in. It is not child's play. It is full grown man's work."—Dr. Charles M. Sheldon. After four lessons in Christian principles—fellowship with Christ, prayer, Bible study, and Christian standard of life—we come now to a lesson on progress in all these matters.—Christian Growth.

Growth by Church-Going

"And when he was twelve years old," v. 42. The growth of the child Jesus under the loving care of Joseph and Mary in Nazareth is summarized in three particulars, physical growth as the basis, mental progress and increase in spiritual knowledge and grace. No one of these three elements in growth can be omitted without disaster. Jesus' parents, we are told, were religious folk. Joseph adhered to the law which required the presence of every male Jew in Jerusalem at the feast of the passover, and Mary was in the habit of going with him. Children will go where parents lead the way. If we want church-going children, we must go to church ourselves.

HARNESSING OF RIO GRANDE IS BEGUN BY U. S.

Three Great Dams To Be Built Across River

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 2 (AP)—Uncle Sam has begun preliminary work upon the huge task of harnessing the Rio Grande.
This endeavor, involving expenditure of $220,000,000 is the initial step in a proposed vast program expected to cost $500,000,000 or more. It visualizes throwing three great dams across the turbulent border stream at intervals in its thousand-mile course, water storage for irrigation, power development and flood control.
Realization of the major plan, however, is predicated upon success in diplomacy. The Rio Grande being an international stream, a treaty with Mexico will be necessary before the present flow of the "Rio Bravo," as the Mexicans name the erratic river, can be tampered with. Negotiations looking to such a treaty are progressing and ambassador to Mexico, Josephus Daniels, inspected the lower reaches of the river this year while returning from leave to his post at Mexico, D. F.
Meanwhile, the federal government has set its hand to solving the pressing problem of flood control in that portion of the river's basin known as the lower valley. State and county agencies battled with it for years, spent $6,000,000 only to see their expensive handiwork crumple like a paper napkin under the first big flood test. Uncle Sam now is working 2,000 men, 400 mules and a dozen big dredges to safeguard the millions of citrus trees and vegetable farms from the ravages of "old muddy's" occasional rampages.
Flood control and irrigation are inseparable problems to the lower valley. Geology records that Texas, from the Sabine "uplift" markings the great East Texas oil pool westward, three times has been sea bottom. When the land rose from the third submergence the bed of the Rio Grande formed along a ridge with the land sloping away for miles. Water to irrigate the rich delta land created from river-deposited silt, will flow by gravity. Likewise, flood waters will sweep down the inclining terra and destroy in a moment what carefully controlled irrigation required a season to create.
The main engineering task was to develop channel capacity to the sea that would handle the river's surfeit. It is illustrated by comparing the Rio Grande's capacity, flow of 180,000 cubic feet a second at Mission, 75 miles northwest of Brownsville with a maximum of 30,000 cubic feet here. The engineers seek to find means to keep the surplus 150,000 second feet of flood water out of the orchards and off the farms.
Erection of levees alone on the American side would promptly force the water into Mexico and Mexico don't want it. Accordingly, the engineers decided the most efficient method would be to carry the surplus water off through great floodways across country to the sea. The state legislature granted tax remission to Hidalgo county and partial remission to Cameron county to meet the cost.
The main floodway was constructed with levees 60 feet at the base and ranging from 14 to 18 feet in height. It leaves the river southwest of Mission and extends along an ancient bed of the Rio Grande below the cities of McAllen, Pharr, San Juan, Donna and Weslaco. At Mercedes it forks, one branch extending south and out the Arroyo Colorado, the other north and east across the northern tip of Cameron county and through Willacy county to the coast. A smaller outlet is the

Whipped Cream Becomes Traffic Peril On Island

GALVESTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Add traffic perils—whipped cream!
Motorists cruising into a downtown street intersection here skidded dizzily in the wake of a delivery truck which had accidentally spilled a mass of the slippery goo over the stretch.
One driver piled his car on the sidewalk and others barely escaped disaster as they slithered through the treacherous area.
It took the fire boys with their trusty hoses to right the situation. And even they didn't quite make the intersection safe again, for it was necessary to spread a load of sand to completely restore traction.

SKIN ERUPTIONS
mean general poor health

The annoyance of pimples and skin blotches lies not only in the fact that they spoil beauty and appearance. They are also unmistakable signs of basic faults in the system—usually in the dietetic tract. The only sure way to find the source of the trouble and correct it is through the help of your physician. Skin eruptions may be a sign of far more important ailment. The wise and safe thing to do is use the experience and knowledge your doctor puts at your disposal to guard your health. LIQUOR INDICTMENTS, CONVICTIONS OVERTURNED UNDER NEW OPINION

AUSTIN, Nov. 2 (AP)—Numerous indictments and convictions for charges of violating the prohibition laws will be overturned under a new opinion handed down today by the Texas court of criminal appeals. The court ruled that convictions could not be sustained on indictments that merely charged a defendant with "possession of intoxicating liquor for the purposes of sale"...

Under this construction it was anticipated many convictions already obtained and many indictments already voted would be held void. Prior to adoption of the amendment it was necessary only to charge possession of intoxicating liquors without defining the type of liquor or the locality in which the offense was committed...
